Crime report indicates a significant increase

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

Wayne Police Chief Vern Fairchild recapped 1986 as a "very good and challenging year" for the police department in his report distributed Tuesday evening at the Wayne City Council meeting.

"There was a significant increase in the number of crimes reported in 1986, with approximately the same percentage of crimes cleared," Fairchild said. The crime rate "went downhill" during the last six weeks of the year when the area was hit with a rash of vandalism and thefts from automobiles.

"Fortunately, we were able to clear most of those crimes," he said. "Our written activity showed almost a 24 percent increase over the previous year," Fairchild said in his report. "While a major portion of that increase can be attributed to an additional officer, our other officers also showed an increase."

"I am sure that our training programs played an important part in this increase."

The Wayne Police Department was in the process of training its newest officer, Alan Hart, at about the same time when the State National Bank burned to the ground in January, according to Fairchild.

"Our manpower was extremely pressed with the burning of the State National Bank and the necessity to provide them security for several weeks following the fire," Fairchild mentioned.

"We were fortunate to have been able to employ a trained and experienced officer," he added.

SIGNIFICANT increases were noted in the following areas:

- Misdemeanor assaults — 10 reported with four unfounded and six cleared (1985, three reported, two unfounded and one cleared).
- Stolen vehicles — five reported with four unfounded and one cleared (1985, one reported with one unfounded and none cleared).
- Lacey/Theft — 78 total reported, 14 unfounded and 12 cleared (1985, 63 reported, eight unfounded and 16 cleared).

•Vandalism — 58 total reported, one unfounded and six cleared (1985, 39 reported, one unfounded and two cleared).

•Arrests (with the exception of traffic) — 85 adults and 20 juveniles, totaling 105 (1985, 78 adults and 20 juveniles, totaling 98).

A breakdown of the 1986 arrests appear on the report as follows: speeding (275); no seat belt in use (48); minor in possession (28); no valid registration (26); dog at large (16); theft (15); stop sign violation (12); consuming alcohol on public way (11); no operator's license, traffic signal violation (each at nine); criminal mischief, negligent driving, procuring for a minor (each at eight); warrants (7); littering (6); disturbing the peace, improper passing, leaving scene of accident, obstructing traffic, operating without lights and driving while intoxicated (each at 4); careless driving, runaways, possession of stolen property (3); forgery, assault, reckless driving, refusal to obey police officer, violation of school permit (2); illegal u-turn, passing on the right, disorderly conduct, armed robbery, fictitious license plate, allowing dog to bark, willful reckless driving, fleeing to avoid arrest, failure to yield right of way, no license plate and no liability insurance (each at 1).

FAIRCHILD said in his report that legislation is being proposed in 1987 that will require a minimum amount of mandatory training each year for all police officers.

"While I feel that we have a very good start on meeting those requirements, it will remain to see what is passed in the final draft," mentioned Fairchild.

In anticipation of the legislation being passed, the police department has already scheduled most of the officers to meet or exceed the proposed training requirements during 1987.

"The members of the Wayne Police Department feel that Wayne is a healthy community on the grow. We look forward to making that growth with the rest of the community and we look forward to whatever 1987 brings," Fairchild said in his report.

Social Services office closings delayed

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

A bill has been introduced in the Nebraska Legislature to hold off closing any of the state's Department of Social Services branch offices, at least until June 30 of this year.

LB 392E, introduced by State Senator Jerry Miller and others, calls for the requiring of the Nebraska Department of Social Services to maintain its present branch offices.

Earlier, it had been reported in The Wayne Herald that the Department of Social Services proposed closing up to 46 social services offices statewide because of the upcoming budget cuts. Among those that the department planned to close included the Wayne County and Dixon County offices.

The target date for the closings was anticipated for Feb. 1 of this year.

HOWEVER, in early January, district administrators were ordered by the Department of Social Services not to implement the closing plans at the present time.

Kermit McMurray, recently appointed by Governor Kay Orr as the Department of Social Services director, wanted to review the department's plans before closing any of the offices.

Northeast Nebraska District Administrator Joan Albin informed The Wayne Herald on Thursday about the introduction of LB 392.

Albin also said an alternative plan was proposed by McMurray concerning the office closings which would allow the Wayne office to remain open.

Under the proposed new plan the office in Ponca would still be closed "The ball is in the court of the Legislature now," Albin said.

Bomb threat called in at Wayne State

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

A bomb threat received on Thursday forced individuals inside the Hahn Administration Building on the Wayne State College campus to evacuate from the premises for a short time.

Minutes before noon the operator at the college switchboard, located in the Hahn building, received a telephone message from a male caller. The caller notified the operator that there was a bomb in the building.

Moments later, the individual called back the switchboard operator and asked if the bomb had been found yet.

Dr. Thomas Coffey, president at Wayne State College, said that the campus security, city police and the fire department were called to the Hahn Administration Building.

"The people were evacuated, the building was locked and then secured by campus security," Coffey said.

The fire department, campus security and police department did a "wall to wall" inspection of the administration building, but found nothing. "The building was reopened at around 1 p.m.," Coffey said.

He praised the effort and quick response by the campus security, police department and particularly the fire department personnel in reacting to the bomb threat situation.

Wayne Fire Department Chief Dale Preston, who was called to the scene at approximately 12:45 p.m., said he was joined in the Thursday noon bomb search by Campus Security Officer Ivan Creighton, Police Officer Keith Adams and later by WSC Director of Administrative Services Randy Shaw.

"We looked for boxes or briefcases — anything out of the ordinary," Preston said. "The staff was later asked to look in their offices for unfamiliar objects, or anything that was out of place."

Wayne County Attorney Bob Enz said the penalty in "making an explosive to be detonated," a Class IV penalty, is a maximum five years in the state penitentiary or a $10,000 fine, or both.

Teach also gets new assignment

Chapman named WSC athletic director

By Gregg Dahlheim
Sports Editor

Wayne State College President Dr. Thomas A. Coffey announced the school's new athletic director at a press conference held Thursday at Rice Auditorium.

Pete Chapman was Coffey's choice to replace Ron Jones as the Wayne State AD effective July 1. Jones resigned from the post, which he held since 1982 on Oct. 24. Jones has been associated with Wayne State for the past 25 years.

Coffey said he took under advisement the considerations of faculty members within the division and had listened to a wide variety of comments from individuals of the community, which contributed to the decision-making process.

Chapman has been the Wildcat's head football coach since coming from Yankton College in 1983. He will still retain his current position as football coach.

In another move, Dr. Coffey named Frank Teach as the new assistant athletic director. The assistant director is a new position created to split up the duties of the current athletic director.

"This appointment demonstrates my strong and firm recognition of the talents, energies and dedication of Mr. Chapman and Mr. Teach," Coffey said.

Chapman's career record is 27-35. He is 15-27 as the Wildcat's head coach. Among his assignments are Coach of the Year in 1984 in NAIA District II and the Central State Intercollegiate Conference (CSIC). He led the Cats to an 8-3 record that year, the best in 35 years. The coach was also named State College Coach of the Year in 1984-85 by the Omaha World Herald.

"I'm really looking forward to the challenges of leading the Wayne State Athletic Department," Chapman said. "It's a great opportunity to be able to work with all the programs."

Chapman and his wife Marcia, a teacher at Pender High School, have two children, Jennifer and Matt.

IN HIS NEW duties, Teach will be responsible for the workings of the intramural department plus the management of the athletic department facilities, which include Rice Auditorium, the new 50,000-square-foot Recreation and Convocation Center and Memorial Stadium scheduled to be open this September.

Teach, who is currently in charge of the intramural department and student activities, said he found out about his promotion at about 10 a.m. Thursday.

Teach, 42, has been at Wayne State since 1971. He's spent the last 15 years in his current position. The married father of two received both his undergraduate and graduate degrees from Wayne State.

Teach has been credited with the success of the intramural department. Nearly 70 percent of the students on campus have been involved in the intramural department.

COFFEY SAID the consistent downward draw of financial support by the state of Nebraska has forced the college to tighten its belt. He said the athletic department suffers from that but the future looks bright for Wayne State.

"The promotion of Chapman and Teach is the first step towards the college coming on line with the new athletic and recreation complex," Coffey said. "The college has made a strong commitment to athletics and recreation by providing students the opportunity to engage in life-long recreation and sports activities."

"We want to make sure these opportunities are available to all the students at Wayne State College," he added.

For Granz Liszt Orchestra performance

Tickets now on sale

The sounds of one of Europe's most-traveled chamber orchestras will be heard at Wayne State College of Nebraska on Wednesday, Feb. 18.

From Budapest, Hungary, the Granz Liszt Orchestra will be the first Black & Gold Series performance of 1987 at Wayne State. The 17-member orchestra will appear at Ramsey Theatre in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center at 8 p.m.

The highlight of the orchestra is flutist Alain Marion, a renowned soloist and music teacher in Europe who is also a soloist for Radio France.

Granz Liszt never composed a work for strings, but his name is synonymous with the establishment of Hungarian music. Thus, the Franz Liszt Orchestra of Budapest adopted the composer's name to pay homage to its countryman.

The orchestra has toured throughout the globe. On its current tour of North America—its sixth since 1974—the orchestra will have two appearances at Carnegie Hall in New York City.

MUSIC DIRECTOR Janos Rolla carries on the tradition of the late Frigyes Sandor, under whose guidance the orchestra was founded in 1962. The New York Times in a recent review of the Franz Liszt Orchestra, printed, "They played with enthusiasm and so freely that they were both entertaining and richly expressive."

Tickets to the Budapest Franz Liszt Orchestra will go on sale to the general public Feb. 2 at the Hahn Building Business Office. They are $4 for adults and $2 for those high school age and younger and are available weekdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Wayne State students, faculty and staff are admitted free by obtaining tickets in advance at the Black & Gold Series ticket window at the Business Office.

Tickets may be obtained by mail by writing the Black & Gold Series, Box 1910, Wayne State College of Nebraska, Wayne, NE 68787, or by calling 402-375-2200, ext. 517.

Provost authors book

Dr. Donald W. Whisenhunt, provost at Wayne State College of Nebraska, is the author of a new book just issued by Eakin Press of Austin, Texas. Entitled "Chronology of Texas History, Vol. 11," it is a day-by-day account of Texas history from 1921 to 1983.

This is the second volume in the series. Volume 1, covering the period from 900 A.D. to 1920, was published in 1982.

"This is a somewhat unique approach to history," said Dr. Whisenhunt, a native Texan. The books originated because he often needed to know what happened on a specific date in the state's history. Since there was no book with such information, "I decided to write my own."

The first volume ended in 1920 because more recent information was difficult to organize and because the publisher was unsure of the potential success for such a book. Since the first volume was successful, the publisher decided to go ahead with the second volume.

Dr. Whisenhunt, who has written several other books, has been a history teacher and administrator at colleges in Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Texas and New Mexico. He did his graduate work at Texas Tech University. His wife, Betsy, teaches English at Walthill High School. His two sons, Donald and Ben, are graduates of the Wayne High School and are currently in college.

Chapter 12 guidebook provided

Now available from the Center for Rural Affairs is a guidebook to the new Chapter 12 bankruptcy for family farmers who hope to salvage and reorganize their troubled operations.

"Rebuilding Family Farms Through Bankruptcy: A Guide To Chapter 12 Bankruptcy" explores this increasingly important option for farm and ranch operators.

"The guide is designed to help Nebraska's farm borrowers as they struggle to weigh their options and make informed decisions about their futures," said Center attorney Gene Severens. "It provides the kind of nuts and bolts information every farmer will need before pursuing the bankruptcy path."

While Chapter 12 is certainly no cure-all, it does provide an alternative to outdated state debt collection laws. These laws pit creditor against creditor and creditor against farmer in an arbitrary race to corner available assets.

"Too often the result is unnecessary displacement of the farm family from any kind of farming base," said Severens.

Chapter 12 provides procedures for reaching fair and realistic debt settlements while leaving open the possibility of rebuilding. Severens believes the long-term effect of Chapter 12 will be to give long-term lenders their due, local bankers a viable borrower, and local merchants a paying customer. "Chapter 12 is currently Nebraska's best hope for a farm survival strategy that can help us manage reinvestment in our rural economy and salvage our mutual future," he concluded.

Copies of the guidebook can be obtained for $5.00 from the Center for Rural Affairs, Box 405, Walthill, NE 68067. (402) 846-5428. The guidebooks will also be available at the free Family Farm Reorganization Workshops the Center is sponsoring.

The big jump

The Wayne City Council, during its regular meeting on Tuesday night, approved a resolution calling for an increase in the city's water rates. It is a substantial increase. The rates go from $4 "per quarter" minimum charge to $10 "per month" minimum charge.

There was an attempt in 1979 to raise the quarterly rate to $8, but for some reason or another the rate was kept to $4 quarterly minimum charge. Over the past two years, this editor has covered city council budget meetings and has listened to comments made to increase the water rates, because the water department had been operating at a loss. But there had been no action taken until Tuesday evening's meeting.

City Administrator Phil Kloster said the water rate would be increased "four times" the amount of what residential customers were paying in the past. About 2 1/2 times of the "four times" would be needed just to break even.

There is no guarantee in the report that says the city of Wayne will be without water in eight years (the time estimated as to when the city's municipal well fields will fail). However, the report says production may start to decline that will produce a potential water shortage in the community.

Just the planned new well field development and distribution alone will cost over $2.6 million, according to the consulting engineer's estimates. Seventeen years is certainly a long time to go without a water rate increase. Previous city councils should have reviewed the rates and acted accordingly each year, although nobody can fault them for wanting to keep the water rates down for residents.

But now, when the money for city water projects are needed most, the increase must come from the water rates rather than from property tax dollars. And that is why the rate increase is so substantial. What about those who are on a fixed income, those people who simply cannot absorb a water rate increase without suffering some type of hardship because of limited income?

Would the city be interested in establishing some sort of fixed income water rates for individuals, governed by strict income qualification guidelines? We feel something must be done to help these people in absorbing their share.

Nobody likes a rate hike, particularly an increase that is substantially high. Council members are also homeowners and businessmen who must suffer the cost of the rate increase.

Based on the water project study by registered engineers and registered geologists, it is our understanding that the future of Wayne's water supply is in jeopardy. The city council members made their choice for Wayne's future. And it appears that we will have to live with their decision on what they felt was for the good of the community.

Farm accidents - a new look

Just as there are several ways for the economy to sound the death knell for farming as a way of life, there are several ways to die or be injured as a result of farm-related accidents. Since Jan. 1, 1965, 741 farm-related deaths have occurred in the state, according to Rollin Schneider, University of Nebraska-Lincoln extension safety specialist. Among the causes of death are tractor overturns, falling or being thrown from tractors, crushing and accidents involving animals, cornpickers, motor vehicles, hay balers, falling objects, electrocution, power take-offs and all-terrain vehicles.

Dave Morgan, UNL Department of Agricultural Engineering, has categorized and computerized statistics on farm-related deaths and accidents that have occurred since 1969. Information and details by type of accident, age, sex and name of the victim can be retrieved quickly and accurately. The advantage of having the statistics readily available on the computer is that safety education programs can be tailored for a specific area or group which has a high death or accident rate. Local extension agents, 4-H clubs and emergency medical personnel can be alerted to trends and can take measures to alleviate problems or deal with accidents more effectively. For example, a 15-year-old girl was writing a paper for class on deaths of people aged 15 and under," Schneider said. "Within five minutes we were able to tell her that 155 deaths, or approximately 20 percent of all farm-related deaths, had occurred in that age range since 1969. She lives in Platte County, which has the second highest death rate for youths. Her paper will, hopefully, make youths and parents more aware of the problem."

KNOX COUNTY reported 29 fatalities during the period, or almost two a year. Counties reporting one fatality or more per year were: Cedar, 23; Holt, 21; Saunders, 19; Custer, 17; and Boone and Buffalo, 16 each. No farm fatalities have occurred during the period in Banner, Logan and Thomas counties.

"With this kind of information in hand we've been able to work with extension agents, both on an individual and district-wide basis, on education programs," he said. "In addition, emergency medical technicians have been trained how to handle farm-related accidents that occur most often in their areas."

The most common accident resulting in fatalities has been tractor overturns. But tractor overturn statistics reveal the successful reduction of overturn fatalities in the state from 20 fatalities per year during 1965-1974 to less than 10 deaths per year during 1974-1985.

The majority of tractor overturn deaths involve older male operators driving older model tractors not equipped with roll-over protective structures. To date, there have been no fatalities in overturns where the protective structure has been in place," Schneider said.

Deaths from crushing have become more common in the recent past, most likely due to the increased size of machinery and equipment. Schneider said greater emphasis must be made on training operators to use safety locks or jack stands when they are working on or under raised equipment.

SUFFOCATION accidents can happen in a number of ways. Most common is the bridged-over grain accident, but suffocation can occur in alfalfa dehydration storage bins, in manure pits, in areas recently fumigated and in silos and grain bins.

The danger of suffocation is especially insidious since there is no way to tell what the atmosphere contains just by looking at it, Schneider said. Two slide sets entitled "Suffocation Hazards in Flowing Grain" and "Safe Storage and Handling of Grain" have been developed to address suffocation problems. They are available from the Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service.

What'll it be, paper or plastic?

by Cheryl Stubbendieck

There are weightier issues in the world than whether to bring your groceries home in a paper bag or a plastic sack. Probably it doesn't matter too much one way or another. But how many grocers are giving their customers a choice, and that's all we need, one more decision to make, after a half hour or even an hour of choosing 60 or 80 items and not choosing many times more.

Certainly, it's easier to say, "It doesn't matter" and let the grocery clerk decide. But, many people have strong feelings about paper vs. plastic. After all, getting the groceries home is only the half-life of the sack or bag.

The paper bag people will tell you you can get more into a flat-bottomed paper bag because you can pack square-cornered items into every available square inch; this forms an underlayer which can then support lighter-weight items. The result is a neat and tidy package which will sit upright in the car trunk and on the kitchen counter and won't go sneaking into the kitchen floor.

THE FULLY LOADED paper grocery bag also provides a check on the clerk's accuracy. Multiply the number of bags by $27.50 and you should come pretty close to your total, unless you've loaded up on dog food or diapers or something that doesn't go into a bag or sack.

The plastic sack advocates say you can get more into their preferred container because it stretches. And it handles so you can slide these over your arms and carry more sacks than you ever could paper bags. You don't have to worry about the milk or meat leaking. But there's no standard formula for calculating number of sacks times X dollars equals total.

ONCE YOU'VE GOTTEN the sacks or bags home, you've got more choices; you have to do something with them. Hardly anyone just throws them away. Either paper or plastic works well for the kitchen trash, depending on what you throw away, and how often you empty the kitchen trash.

Plastic sacks are usually superior for storing food, unless you want to ripen an avocado, in which case you need paper, but generally something smaller than a grocery bag. And you can't beat plastic when you're getting rid of something soggy or smelly, whether it's food or not. And one last thing about plastic sacks, they're easy to store and take up little space.

On the other hand, empty paper grocery bags have to be folded and take up quite a bit of space. But paper is vastly superior when you want to send a package through the mail. Or when you want to bake meringues and need something to line the cookie sheet. Or when the kids want to color and their books are all filled. Or when you've done something really stupid and want to hide your face. Still, who says it must be one or the other? You can alternate weeks or for real excitement - especially in a bag your own place - you can take your stuff in a box.

But if you really want to have some fun and you're half mad that somebody's asked you to make another decision while you're already dreading unloading the sacks or bags, just tell the clerk: give me some of each.

Just how much can we rely on services?

by Richard L. Leshner, President Chamber of Commerce of the United States

It has become obvious to everyone in recent years that our country is undergoing profound economic change, but there is great debate about what it portends for our future.

Some contend we are losing our manufacturing base as our economy becomes more reliant upon the services sector. They regard this as a sinister trend that will eventually erode our economic vigor and standard of living.

It is true that we are losing many jobs in manufacturing industries. In 1950, manufacturing accounted for 26 percent of all the jobs in this country; today only 18.1 percent.

tion of our industrial base. Rather, the statistics suggest strongly our manufacturing industries are simply becoming more efficient, producing more with fewer people. That is a clear sign of health, not decay.

IT APPEARS to me we are undergoing the same type of change that our ancestors went through when this country entered the industrial age. Millions of workers left the farm to take jobs in factories. It certainly did not mean the end of our ability to produce agricultural products. To the contrary, we continue to produce more than we know what to do with.

To be sure, it was a difficult time for people who had to make radical readjustments of their lifestyles, learning new trades and skills and adapting to new environments. But the end result was a higher standard of living for everyone.

I see the same thing happening today as we move into a post-industrial age. We are not losing our manufacturing clout, but in the future, manufacturing will produce fewer and fewer job opportunities, as is the case with agriculture.

Service industries are clearly the wave of the future. They account for about 70 percent of our GNP and virtually all of the rapid job growth we have had since 1979. In 1983, U.S. exports of services equalled $132 billion, or 20 percent of total world trade in services.

It is foolish to denigrate the importance of services. Just as the machines of the industrial age represented an extension of the arm and back, our new high technology service industries represent an extension of the brain and nervous system.

And when you stop to think about it, the translation of thought into action is the highest activity known to our species. I for one do not dread the transition to a service economy. It simply means that humanity is making progress, and that our country is on the cutting edge of it.

This week's column won't take but a minute to read. I thought I would let my camera do the talking for me. The subject is bumper stickers. On a Friday afternoon I searched and found a few unique stickers on vehicles parked at Bill's GW, Wayne IGA, WSC parking lots, Providence Medical Center and along Wayne's Main Street.

Below are some bumper stickers that reflect humor in a mocking sort of way.....

Iowe, Iowe So off to work I go

I'M LOSE! But I'm Making Record Time

FUN YEA?

Valentine's Day is fast approaching, and these bumper stickers supply subtle hints about meeting that special kind of person.....

HONK A POLKA LOVER If you're a POLKA LOVER

SINGLE BUT LOOKING!

Some bumper stickers of a public service nature try to get a message across by playing on words.....

LET'S STOP TREATING OUR SOIL LIKE DIRT

NEBRASKA SAFETY BELT LAW IT'S A SNAP

There are stickers that appear on bumpers of old vehicles which either are criticizing the automobile's condition, or holding the bumper together.

Answer My Prayer, STEAL THIS CAR!

DON'T LAUGH! IT'S PAID FOR!

news and notes

Eggs are a favorite in southwestern fare. The cuisine of the American Southwest is rapidly becoming one of the "hottest" trends on the culinary scene. The traditional fare of Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico and southern California is nutritious, versatile and relatively inexpensive — a combination likely to draw enthusiasts.

Eggs are a popular ingredient in many Southwestern dishes. Their mild, unassuming flavor compliments and enhances the spicy tingle of a chill-laden dish as well as the more mellow, earthy, bean, cheese and vegetable combinations.

And, the high-quality protein of eggs compliments the incomplete protein of the vegetables with which they're most often prepared. Egg entrees are traditionally served for any meal of the day.

ONE OF THE most famous Southwestern egg dishes is huevos rancheros (ranch-style eggs). The standard version consists of sunny-side-up eggs placed on top of tostadas (crisp-fried tortillas) with a spicy salsa (sauce) and shredded cheese layered on top. Dieters have been known to poach the eggs and warm foil-wrapped tortillas in the oven to save calories.

As a final touch, a profusion of garnishes are popular, including chopped lettuce, tomato and green onion, sliced avocado, sour cream and chopped and canned jalapenos.

Scrambled eggs are another great favorite and they are commonly mixed with a variety of Southwestern ingredients such as chilaquiles (fried tortilla strips), chorizo (a fatty sausage) shredded beef, lightly cooked corn or zucchini, chopped green chilies, Monterey Jack or cheddar cheese, green onions, potatoes, tomatoes and hot peppers.

A typically hearty mixture including several of these items is then served as is, with hot corn tortillas on the side, or spooned into taco shells and garnished lavishly.

When the scramble is placed in a warm flour tortilla, topped with salsa and rolled up in the classic cylinder shape-you-have-a burrito desayuno (breakfast burrito) — another popular item.

CLASSIC CHILES rellenos owe their crisp coating to a beaten egg white-leavened batter in which the cheese-stuffed green chilies are dipped before frying.

As several delicate steps are involved in preparation, this dish is most often enjoyed in restaurants. However, you can duplicate the favored flavor combination of chiles, cheese and eggs in less-complicated fare.

Whole, roasted mild-green-chilies (either fresh or canned) stuffed with slivers of cheese can be laid down the middle of a French omelet before folding.

Another variation is to arrange the stuffed chilies in a shallow casserole and pour the egg-rich batter over them. The mixture will puff quite nicely as it bakes.

DEVILED EGGS ARE trendy party cuisine across the country. In the Southwest, the hard-cooked yolks might be mixed with sour cream, ground red chilies and minced garlic, or, perhaps, minced jalapeno pepper and finely chopped fresh cilantro (parsley) leaves.

It's easy to substitute green onion, mild green chilies, cheese or salsa and create combinations more suited to tastes in your area of the country.

HISPANIC COOKS love to make custards and a traditional New Mexican technique is to pour a stirred egg yolk custard over dollops of poached egg white, much like the classic Floating Island.

Flan is perhaps the most famous dessert to emigrate from Spain and is light enough to be enjoyed after the most filling meal. This caramel-capped baked egg custard has lent itself well to new additions of everything from tropical fruits to white cocoa.

Cats run out of time in loss

By Gregg Dahlheim
Sports Editor

The only thing the standing room only crowd at Rice Auditorium could have asked for was a happier ending Friday night as Kearney State downed the Cats 85-83 in the social outing of the season.

The mood of the crowd, estimated at 1,500, was festive at the beginning of the night. As the game wore on the fans became more intense and when the final buzzer went off many of the Wildcat faithful walked away in a stunned state.

Wayne State was trying to make it two in a row over the Lopers at Rice. Last year the Cats downed Kearney State 73-64 in the friendly confines.

The game was up tempo for the entire 40 minutes, a pace that was advantageous to the Loper scoring machine. Kearney came into the game averaging 91.8 points a game in CSIC play.

Wayne State Coach Steve Aggers started a three guard lineup for the first time this season. Scott Hurley, Russ Rosenquist and Vince White provided the Cats with some outside punch.

Wayne State led most of the first half as they jumped to a 7-2 lead on a three pointer by Hurley. The Lopers took their first lead of the evening at 29-28 on a basket by Jon Karn with 7:16 left in the half.

Both teams see-sawed back and forth until Kearney State took its biggest lead of the first half on a hoop by Bart Kofoed to make the score 38-33 with 4:05 left. The Cats battled back and took the lead at halftime as Hurley canned a basket at the buzzer to give the locals a 45-44 lead at intermission.

Wayne State had the lead at halftime on the strength of its three-point shooting. The Cats hit 5-7 from three-point land. The visitors shot 59 percent from the field hitting 19-32 shots.

Hurley led all scorers with 17 first-half points. The junior from Anaconda, Montana poured in 33 points by game's end.

Another important statistic was rebounding. Wayne had 22 rebounds, 12 on the offensive end while the Lopers had 15 boards at halftime.

The Cats came out in the second half and scored the first five points to take a 50-44 lead. They held the lead until Todd Johnson's basket with 12:32 gave Kearney a 64-63 lead. The visitors led the rest of the way.

Things looked like they could have gotten out of hand when Kearney State posted its biggest lead of the game at 78-71 with 4:44 left. But the hosts scored the next five points on a three pointer by Hurley and a hoop by Rosenquist to cut the lead.

The Cats trailed by one point with less than a minute-to-play and had a chance to take the lead. Wayne State lost the opportunity when Kearney State's Gary Shoup intercepted a pass. Al Maxey Jr. scored on the other end to give the Lopers an 84-81 lead with 30 seconds to play.

The Cats worked the ball and got it to Rosenquist who put up a three pointer that would have tied the game. The shot rimmed out and Byron Haas was there for the put in with four seconds left. But Wayne was still a point shy. The locals fouled Maxey and the sophomore hit one of two free throws to give Kearney an 85-83 lead.

The Cats got the ball with one second left. Keith Berg threw a court-length pass to Rosenquist who threw up a desperation shot that failed at the buzzer.

After the game Aggers said he couldn't fault the effort of his kids. He said they played with real intensity.

Aggers said the difference in this year's and last year's game was Kearney's bench. The coach said last year the Lopers basically played five players. In Friday's game Coach Jerry Hueser went 10 deep.

The Cats shot 51 percent from the field. They were 9-16 from beyond 19 feet. They outrebounded the Lopers 32-26. Besides Hurley, Wayne State had three others in double figures. Haas finished with 13 points while "Rosey" and Mike McNamara added 12 and 10 points respectively.

Kearney State was led by its All-American candidate Bart Kofoed. The senior hit for 20 points, eight under his average. Karn added 11 points and Joel Hueser chipped in 10 points. Five other Lopers rounded out the balanced attack with either eight or nine points apiece.

Wayne State goes to 9-12 on the season. They drop to 3-4 in the CSIC and 2-3 in the NAC. The Lopers improve to 16-5 overall. They are 5-1 in the CSIC and 4-1 in the NAC.

WAYNE STATE'S Scott Hurley is surrounded by hostile Antelopes in Friday night's game against Kearney State. Hurley led all scorers with 33 points in the 85-83 loss.

Free throws propel Lady Cats to win over KSC

The Wayne State Lady Cats got the evening going on the right foot as they scored an 83-77 win over Kearney State Friday night at Rice Auditorium.

The girls won on the strength of a 51-point second half which included 25-28 at the free-throw line in the half. The girls hit 88 percent from the line for the game as they canned 30-34 attempts.

The win ended a four-game skid in the conference and sent the Lady Cats to 9-9. Wayne State improved to 3-4 in the CSIC. Kearney State dropped to 10-6 overall and 2-4 in the conference.

The visitors took a 37-32 lead at halftime by hitting 41 percent from the field. The Lady Lopers jumped up big early as they scored the first 10 points of the game. The Lady Cats slowly worked on the lead and cut it to 15-12 with 11:18 to play on a basket by Dawnn Berni. Kearney State built the lead back to seven points for the remainder of the half.

Kearney's Brenda Van Lengen led all scorers at halftime with 12 points. Michelle Blomberg had nine for the Lady Cats.

Wayne State came out in the second half and again erased the Lady Loper lead. They got within one point on two free throws by Linda Schnitzler with 17:24 left in the game. Wayne State took its first lead of the ballgame when Mary Beth Eberhorn hit a layup with 7:07 left to give the locals a 60-59 lead.

Both teams exchanged baskets until the Lady Cats went on their free throw binge. In the last six minutes the girls hit 20-21 free throws. Blomberg led the way going 8-8 in that stretch. Kris Smith was 6-6 in the clutch. Kearney State was whittled for 29 personal fouls, compared to 21 for the hosts.

Four Lady Cats finished in double figures. Blomberg was the top scorer with 21 points. Next in line was Berni with 17 points while Smith and Schnitzler finished with 16 points each. Wayne State outrebounded the Lady Lopers 39-35. Smith topped that category with 12 boards. Berni and Blomberg added nine and eight respectively.

Van Lengen led all scorers with 32 points. The senior from Roseland used her height to post up the shorter Wayne State defenders. Kearney's leading scorer LaNell Cox was limited to 16 points.

Coach Len Klaver said his girls showed a lot of guts in the win. "After a sluggish first half we came out and played our hearts out in the second half," he said. "We hit some key free throws under pressure."

Klaver said he thought the large crowd helped pump up his team. He said it was the largest crowd he can remember at a Lady Wildcat game.

TROY WOOD pulls down a rebound as teammates Corey Dahl (50) and Jason Jorgensen look on. Wayne won the game 49-46 over West Point.

13-0 run boost Wayne Blue Devils to victory over West Point 49-46

The Wayne Blue Devils have reached the .500 mark for the first time this season as they nipped West Point 49-46 Friday evening.

The Blue Devils stopped some hearts as they recovered from an eight-point deficit with 2:44 to play. The locals outscored the Cadets down the stretch 13-0.

West Point got the lead to eight points after they converted a rare five-point play on a couple of free throws and an intentional foul.

That's when Wayne applied full-court pressure. The strategy paid off. Ted Lueders came down and converted a three-point play after he was fouled on a made basket. Then it was Lueders again as he gave Wayne the lead on a jumper in the closing minute.

It was then Bill Liska's turn to shine. The senior hustled for a rebound and was fouled. Liska canned both free throws that gave the Blue Devils the final three-point lead.

Wayne Coach Bob Uhing said his team lacked aggressiveness until the last four minutes of the game.

"If we could play the whole game like we played the last four minutes we'd be a great team," Uhing said.

The game was tight all the way through. The teams were tied after the first quarter at 12-12. The locals took a 24-23 lead into the locker room at halftime. The Cadets came back to tie the game 31-31 heading into the fourth stanza.

Wayne's Bill Liska put together his best game of the season. The 6-3 senior scored 13 points and pulled down a game-high 15 rebounds. Uhing said Liska has been playing well for the last six or seven games.

"Bill has gotten to the point where he knows he can score inside," Uhing said.

Lueders led all scorers with 15 points. Wayne also got 10 points from senior Jason Jorgensen. The Blue Devils outscored West Point on the field 42-36 but were doubled at the free-throw line 14-7.

West Point got 14 points from Chad Batenhorst.

The Wayne JV's won in an earlier contest over West Point 68-38. Wayne wasn't challenged as it ran its record to 7-5. The junior Blue Devils had three scorers in double figures. Doug Larsen led the way with 16 points. Jarrod Wood followed with 15 points and Scott Hammer added 13 markers.

Wayne will be looking to go over .500 when they meet Crofton Tuesday night on the road. The Blue Devils will enter conference tournament play Friday night when they host South Sioux City.

Wayne girls nipped by CC

The Lady Blue Devil's nine-game winning streak came to a half Tuesday night when Wayne journeyed to Hartington Cedar Catholic to do battle with the Lady Trojans.

The locals rebounded from a sluggish first half and fought their way back before falling to the second-rated team in Class B 44-40.

Wayne trailed by 10 points at halftime, 24-14. The girls got it back together in the second half and outscored the hosts 26-20.

An odd thing happened in the first half for the Lady Blue Devils. Only one player got into the scoring column. Senior Kecia Corbit accounted for all 14 of Wayne's first-half points.

Wayne Coach Marlene Uhing said the team didn't do a good job of adjusting in the first half. On defense, the locals didn't adjust to the Lady Trojans quickness which resulted in several baskets off of offensive rebounds. Offensively, the Lady Blue Devils didn't adapt to Cedar Catholic's tough man-to-man defense.

The visitors were charged with 14 first-half turnovers which also led to the halftime deficit. Many of the miscues came as a result of the Lady Trojan's full-court pressure.

In the second half the girls cut down on the number of turnovers and began attacking the opponents defense. Uhing said her team outplayed the Lady Trojans in the last 16 minutes. They made 13 field goals compared to seven for the Lady Trojans.

Uhing said she was really pleased with the girls in the second half. She said they never gave up and showed a lot of heart in the loss.

In the end it was free throws. Wayne was forced to foul and Cedar Catholic was up to the challenge by canning its free throws. In the fourth quarter the hosts scored five of its 13 points from the free-throw line.

Overall, the Lady Trojans were 8-16 from the charity stripe.

On the other hand Wayne didn't get to the free-throw line all night long. Cedar Catholic was whistled for only seven fouls. Wayne was never in the bonus. Uhing said, although the officiating didn't lose the game, she found it hard to believe that as many times as her team went inside they didn't get fouled.

Uhing said she was happy with the support her team got. She said the vocal Lady Blue Devil following was nice to see in the opponents gym.

Uhing said going into the game their game plan was not to get beat by the Cedar Catholic scorers. She said they accomplished that. The Wayne defense held the opponents three offensive threats, Diane and Brenda Becker and Jane Kuehn, in check. Kathy Kinney and Colette Miller did the damage as they combined for 25 points.

Wayne was led by Corbit's game-high 20 points. Shelly Pick finished with 10 points. Wayne was out-rebounded by Hartington 32-28. Once again it was Corbit and Pick as they gathered nine and seven rebounds respectively.

Wayne, 11-2 and rated ninth in Class B by the Lincoln Journal Star, may get another shot at Cedar Catholic as early as Feb. 7. If both teams win the opening round of the Northern Activities Conference Tournament they would meet in the finals to be held in Wayne.

Allen improves to 9-3

Lady Eagles clinch division tie with 52-42 win

The Allen girls clinched at least a tie for the Lewis Division title by downing Emerson-Hubbard Thursday night 52-42.

Allen, 9-3, can win the crown outright with a win over Beemer in their regular-season finale Feb. 12. But the girls must play in the Lewis and Clark Conference Tournament and against Wakefield before they can set their sights on the title.

The Lady Eagles had their second good shooting performance, in as many nights. Allen shot close to 50 percent in its win over Coleridge on Tuesday. Against the Lady Pirates the hosts hit a crisp 51 percent from the floor, connecting on 22-43 shots.

The percentage could have been better but the Lady Eagles made just 2-11 shots in the second quarter.

Barb Hansen put together her best game of the season for the Lady Eagles. The senior led all scorers with 22 points and was the top rebounder with 10 boards. Hansen became the fourth Lady Eagle to score more than 20 points in a game.

Hansen's production helped pick up the slack on offense. Allen's two leading scorers, Lana Erwin and Kristi Chase, suffered through a tough shooting night as the two went 4-16 combined.

Both teams played on even terms in the first half. Allen led after one quarter 12-10 but they were outscored in the second period and went to halftime trailing 18-16.

The Lady Eagles broke the game open in the third quarter as they outscored Emerson-Hubbard 18-3 to take a commanding 34-21 lead.

Allen Coach Gary Troth said his team let up defensively in the fourth quarter as the visitors scored 21 points in the frame. Overall, Troth was pleased with the girl's defensive effort.

The skipper said his team appears to have gotten back the confidence that they lost earlier in the season.

Emerson-Hubbard shot only 32 percent from the field, making 19-58 shots. The Lady Pirates were led by Sara Paulsen with 14 points.

The Allen JV's boosted its record to 7-0 with a 31-23 win over the Emerson-Hubbard junior varsity. Missy Martinson led the way with 10 points.

Wakefield captures OT win over Laurel

The third time was a charm for the Wakefield Trojans as they nipped Laurel in overtime 49-48.

The game was the third overtime contest of the season for the Trojans. They lost their previous two extra-period games.

Wakefield Coach Paul Eaton said the difference in this game was his team put themselves in a position to win down the stretch.

"I didn't look that way with less than a minute to play. Laurel had a four-point lead with about 20 seconds to play. Scott Lund hit a jumper with 19 seconds to cut the lead to two points. The Bears got the ball in play but it was stolen and Lund tied the game with four seconds to play.

Laurel's chance to win in regulation failed when Brent Haisch's shot hit the back of the rim at the buzzer. Wakefield outscored the Bears in overtime 6-4. Lund hit a pair of free throws to give the Trojans a three-point lead at 49-46. Laurel came down and got the last hoop to cut it to the final one-point margin.

Lund led all scorers with 20 points. Teammate Kevin Greve added 13 points and 11 rebounds for the 5-9 Trojans.

Eaton said he was happy for his team.

"We've really been playing good but we haven't been fortunate to win many of the close games," he said.

Laurel Coach Mark Hrabik echoed Eaton's thoughts. He said the game was important for his team. He said a win would have gotten them to .500 rather than 4-6. Hrabik said the game was a tough defensive struggle that could have went either way.

"The game went exactly as I expected it to," Hrabik said. "It was a tough, defensive battle."

Laurel took a two-point lead after the first quarter, 14-12. Brad Lund hit a 50 foot shot at the half-time buzzer to pull Wakefield even with the Bears at 20-20. Laurel outscored the Trojans in the third quarter 14-12 but the hosts made up the difference in the fourth period to send the game into the overtime period.

Laurel was led in scoring by Haisch. The senior hit for 14 points on seven field goals. Scott Marquardt added 13 for the Bears. Haisch was also the top rebounder with 12 boards.

Both teams' next game will be in the opening round of the Lewis and Clark Tournament starting tonight (Monday). Laurel will travel to Osmond to play the Tigers while Wakefield hits the road to do battle with Wynot.

Winside drops to 8-6 after loss to Hartington girls

The Winside girls basketball team has fallen upon hard times in its last several games. The girls dropped a tight decision to Hartington Thursday night by a 46-39 count.

The game was closer than the seven-point margin indicated. Winside led 4-3 after one quarter and 16-15 at halftime before the visitors tied the score at 33-33 at the end of the third quarter. Hartington went on to outscore the Wildcats 13-10 in the fourth period to gain the win.

The defeat dropped Winside to 8-6. The girls have lost three in a row and four of their last five games.

Winside Coach Jill Stenwall said her team was outthrust in the fourth quarter. She said the girls have lost their aggressiveness in their recent swoon. The hosts also committed some very costly turnovers in the fourth quarter. In all, the Wildcats were charged with 15 turnovers.

Stenwall said lack of rebounding strength inside hurt her team. Winside was only outrebounded 46-44 but many of Hartington's baskets in the second half came on offensive rebounds.

Winside struggled from the field but managed to place two girls in double figures. Ann Meierhenry led all scorers with 13 points. It was the junior's season high. Christi Thies added 10 points on five field goals. Carmen Reeg chipped in nine points from inside the paint. Reeg was also the leading rebounder for Winside with 10 boards.

Planning Strategy

by Tom Smith - nebraska outdoor sports

Eagle population is on upswing

Have you ever seen an eagle in the wild? Most Nebraskans probably haven't, but this winter there are many opportunities for them to observe eagles in various areas of the state.

Greg Wingfield, Game and Parks Commission Nongame Biologist in the North Platte office, says people who enjoy watching birds should include an eagle watching trip in their January birding schedule, because there are currently unusually high numbers of wintering eagles using the state's waterways.

Over 1,000 bald eagles were observed by Commission biologists during aerial surveys between Jan. 4 and 10. Ground counts conducted by conservation officers, bird club members and other amateur and professional agency personnel may boost that figure to 1,200 or more. The previous high survey total of 746 was tallied in 1985, and Wingfield says though the final results of this year's midwinter eagle survey are not in, the preliminary figures indicate a modern day high wintering population in the state this year.

Nebraska's mild winter conditions have allowed most rivers and large reservoirs to remain ice free, giving eagles access to their preferred diet of fish and waterfowl. When harsher winter conditions occur eagles migrate further south in search of open water or alternate food sources.

While wintering eagles were found along the Niobrara, Missouri, North Platte and Platte Rivers, finding a spot to view the birds can be difficult unless the observer has a good set of county road maps or knowledge of the local terrain. Western Nebraska residents may find viewing opportunities along Highway 30 between Lisco and Lewellen or along the north shore of Lake McConaughy were approximately 50 bald eagles were seen. Southwestern residents may want to visit Swanson Reservoir or Sutherland Reservoir.

Further east, viewing opportunities can be good from county roads along the south side of the Platte River between Lexington and Elm Creek. Harlan County Reservoir in south central Nebraska is currently home to approximately 175 eagles. Good luck can be had near the north end of the dam area and along the south sides of the Republican River downstream of the dam. Eastern Nebraska residents may want to concentrate their time along the Loup and Platte rivers in the Columbus and DeSoto Bend National Wildlife Refuge in Washington County.

Wingfield suggests anyone wanting to take advantage of the large wintering population should do so before prolonged harsh weather conditions cause significant shifts in eagle concentrations. And remember, a good set of binoculars is a must and a spotting scope can prove invaluable.

Allen gains second win in fight one

A balanced scoring attack and good defense gave Allen its second win of the season as they nipped Emerson-Hubbard 49-48 Friday night.

Allen, 2-10, got 18 points from Max Oswald, 14 from Jeff Gotch and eight points from Craig Hoffman to pace the Eagles.

Oswald was held under his average but Coach Dave Uldrich said at times he was being triple teamed.

"I have to give Max a lot of credit," Uldrich said. "When they would triple team him he would give up the ball to Jeff or Craig for easy baskets."

The Allen coach said Gotch and Hoffman played their best game of the season against the Pirates.

Things didn't start that way for Allen as Emerson-Hubbard jumped to an 8-0 lead. The Eagles scored the next five points and trailed after the first quarter 18-11. Allen kept up their aggressive play and cut the Pirate lead to one point at halftime at 26-25. The visitors got a little breathing room in the third quarter as they took a 42-37 lead into the fourth quarter.

In the final period the Allen defense limited the Pirates to six points while scoring 13 points for the win.

The Eagles trailed 48-41 with 3:30 left in the contest. Emerson-Hubbard pulled the ball out to take some time off the clock. The plan backfired as Allen extended its defense and came up with the ball.

Oswald hit the winning hoop with eight seconds to play off of a rebound of his own missed shot. The Pirates had two chances to tie the game but came up short.

Another key was free throws. Allen kept the visitors off of the free-throw line. The Pirates shot only five gift shots in the entire game. The hosts were 14-22 from the line.

Allen was outscored from the field 46-34. Emerson-Hubbard put up 34 more shots than the Eagles did. One of the reasons was the guests pulled down 22 offensive rebounds. The Pirates outboarded the Eagles 37-30. Oswald was the top man for Allen with 15 caroms.

Emerson Hubbard placed two in double figures. Brad Oetken took game-high honors with 20 points while Michael Henderson added 16.

Allen travels to Ponca tonight (Monday) for its first-round game in the Lewis and Clark Conference Tournament. The Indians will be without two of their top scorers.

Inside play powers Lady Bears to victory

The Laurel Lady Bears used superior inside strength to down Wakefield Thursday night 47-31.

Laurel's two inside players, Gail Twiford and Becky Christensen, combined for 31 points and 15 rebounds. Laurel Coach Pam Thies said Christensen played her best game of the season in the win.

Laurel jumped on top early and led 10-5 after the first quarter. The Lady Trojans had trouble breaking the Laurel full-court press in the early going. Wakefield committed four turnovers in the opening period as a result of the Laurel press.

Midway through the second quarter the Lady Bears went on a 12-3 run to take a 22-8 lead. They maintained that margin and led at halftime 24-12.

Wakefield came out in the third quarter and hit a couple of shots while Laurel went cold from the field. The Lady Trojans also did a better job of rebounding. The hosts cut the lead to eight points at 26-18 with 3:52 left in the third period.

Laurel again applied its press and got two quick baskets to build the lead to 30-18. The quarter ended with Laurel holding a 36-22 lead.

Thies also got good performances from Sara and Amy Adkins. Amy gave the Lady Bears some added scoring punch from the wing as she chipped in eight points. Sara, Laurel's floor general, dished off six assists and was credited with nine thefts. The senior also added four points. The win improved Laurel to 8-4.

Marci Greve led 1-12 Wakefield with 10 points. The Lady Trojans' next regular season game is at home against Allen on Feb. 10. Laurel will next be in action Feb. 12 in its regular-season finale against Wausa. Both teams participated in the Lewis and Clark Tournament Jan. 31-Feb. 7.

Further Wakefield team results were unavailable at press time.

Wildcats shoot 67 percent in 63-55 win

The Winside Wildcats broke a 10-game losing streak with torrid shooting as the hosts downed Hartington Thursday night 63-55.

Winside hit an amazing 67 percent from the field as they made 23-34 shots. Wildcat Coach Mark Freburg said his team didn't put up a lot of shots but they made them count.

Defense was the key to the high shooting percentage. Freburg said, Winside got a big chunk of its points off of layups. Most of the layups came as a result of steals and good defensive play.

The hosts jumped out to a good start as they led 20-12 after the first quarter. Sophomore Tim Jacobsen scored 11 of his game-high 25 points in the opening eight minutes. The Wildcats went to the locker room at halftime leading 31-25. Winside outscored Hartington 32-30 in the second half to hang on for their second win in 12 tries.

Freburg said he felt his team had control of the game from the first quarter on. Winside led by as many as 14 points before the visitors whittled the lead to six points in the final quarter.

Clutch free-throw shooting iced the game for Winside. The Wildcats hit 9-14 gift shots down the stretch. In all, Winside connected on 17-25 free throws while Hartington hit only 7-9.

The Wildcats also got some offensive production from Kevin Jaeger. The senior scored 12 points from the inside. He was also the top Winside rebounder with 14 boards. The teams fought to a draw in the rebounding department as both squads pulled down 26 caroms.

The Wildcats' next game is set for today (Monday). Winside will have its hands full when they travel to Coleridge to do battle with the Bulldogs in the first round of the Lewis and Clark Conference Tournament.

Contamination seminar set

Is there a relationship between ground water contamination and an increase in certain cancer cases in Nebraska?

This will be the main topic of a seminar open to the public on Feb. 11, 7:30 p.m., Room 100B, McClay Building, Northeast Technical College in Norfolk.

This meeting is open to anyone interested and is sponsored jointly by the Madison County Joint Planning Commission, Norfolk Planning Commission, Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District and Northeast Technical College. It is being sponsored for the specific purpose of information for the general public and everyone is welcome. Dr. Welsberger promises that his talk is geared to lay people, farm people and will be interesting even to those who have heard him before.

Stan Staab, General Manager of the lower ELKhorn Natural Resources District will continue the program by informing those in attendance about a ground water monitoring and sampling program started last fall in conjunction with the Nebraska State Department of Health. A message from the Nebraska Bankers in your hometown.

LET'S NOT FORGET WHAT'S MADE AMERICA WORK FOR OVER 200 YEARS.

This country was built on strong ideals: At their core is the concept of individual freedom. Nowhere is that American freedom more cherished than here in America's heartland. We've always understood that with that freedom come both responsibility and risk which we have willingly accepted.

Now, because of the economic problems facing agricultural America, some voices are beginning to question the most basic principles of the free enterprise system. And that should concern all of us.

Among the valued privileges of our American system is the ability to borrow money. Over the years, money loaned to Nebraskans by Nebraskans has helped build businesses, farms, towns and better lives for families across the state.

Nebraska's full-service banks have been the primary source of that money. In fact, today banks have over $8 billion on loan to people, farms and businesses of Nebraska.

That money has been loaned to Nebraskans on the strength of a very simple promise. It's the promise that the loan will be paid back in accordance with the contract to which both lender and borrower agree. It's a concept as old as civilization itself. And it's a vital component of free enterprise.

But today a few have altered the system to the detriment of the majority. They've pushed for and achieved liberalized bankruptcy policies and are calling for further changes including "legislated debt relief" to avoid repayment of obligations.

If these voices continue to be heeded, the results could be devastating to our already troubled state economy for one very simple reason. Banks will be forced to seriously cur-tempt to remove the obligation to repay debts is not the answer. Nor is it consistent with the basic principles that have guided America since its inception.

Anytime debts go unpaid, somebody else foots the bill. We hope you'll agree that our government leaders should not create an environment where it's expedient for a borrower to escape his or her financial responsibilities.

Should that day ever come, this country will have taken a giant step backward, and we'll all pay the consequences. We want you to know that as Nebraska's banks, we're concerned about these potentially dangerous trends. They're contrary to the principles that have guided America's success...principles we hope we'll never forget.

The money a bank lends is the money entrusted to it by depositors. And keeping that money safe is a primary obligation. Without the legal guarantee of loan repayment, banks would be unable to safely loan money.

No group has a greater concern for the economic health of this state and its citizens than its bankers. Last year alone Nebraska's banks took losses of $228 million in unpaid loans.

Clearly, Nebraska's banks have a strong commitment to seek solutions to our state's economic problems. But just as clearly, an at-
