Lions seek talent entries

Elsewhere in this issue of The Wayne Herald is an entry blank for the annual Lions Club Amateur Talent Contest. The entries must be returned to Jay Hartman of Wayne by March 16.

The annual talent contest is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. at Ramsey Theatre on the Wayne State College campus on Sunday, April 5. All area youth are invited to enter the contest and the public is invited to attend the competition.

Contestants participating in this year's show will be divided into six divisions. Divisions are for eight years of age and under; ages 9, 10 and 11 year olds; 11 and under (groups of three through nine); 12-14 years of age; 15-18 years of age; and 12-18 years of age (groups of three through nine).

The contestant's age on Jan. 1, 1987 will determine the division in which he or she competes. The age of the oldest contestant in the group will determine the division in which that group competes.

Each performance will be limited to a minimum of four minutes, with a three minute warning signal. Judging will be based on talent (30 points), perfection of performance (20 points) and audience appeal (10 points).

No act using fire will be permitted.

Trophies for first and second place winners will be awarded in each division.

Also, the committee has set the third weekend in July of 1990 for Winside's Centennial Celebration.

Rose Janke is the 1987 Old Settlers Committee chairman. Joni Jaeger is secretary and Dean Mann is treasurer.

The next meeting will take place at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, March 17 at Lee and Rosie's in Winside. Anyone who has ideas, suggestions or would like to help with either the Old Settlers Celebration or the 1990 Centennial is invited to attend the next meeting.

Old Settlers date scheduled

This year's date for the Wayne County Old Settlers celebration in Winside will take place on Saturday, July 18, according to the eight members of the Old Settlers Committee that met on Feb. 11. Events discussed were the entertainment, craft show, car show, carnival booths, kiddie rides, grand parade, kiddie parade, pony rides, barbecue, beverage trucks, kid contests, lean dance, street dance, square dance, fun run, softball tournament, advertising, horse shoeing, water fights, balloon twirlers and the Winside Music department performance. ## City council members set goals for upcoming years

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

What type of goals should the city of Wayne governing officials establish for future years?

Wayne city council members and city administrators went on a "retreat" recently on Feb. 20 and 21 and came back with several short and long range goals which they would like to pursue in the upcoming fiscal year and on up to the year 1992.

The council came up with a list for a "program of action for the city of Wayne" during the retreat.

One of the goals has already been achieved—that of placing sales tax issue on the ballot for property tax relief and economic development.

Last Tuesday night the Wayne city council voted approval of a resolution to place the 1/2 sales and use tax proposal on the ballot, to be voted upon by Wayne residents, in a special election scheduled for Tuesday, May 12.

OTHER SHORT-range goals (for 1987-88) that the city council has listed include the following:

— Establishing a regularly scheduled report, by the city administrator, to the people forum by using the press as a vehicle.

— To pursue a theme for the Wayne community.

— To complete the Wayne Airport land acquisition project for the new North-South runway.

— To schedule at least one planning session with the Wayne County Commissioners.

— To develop a semi-annual delinquent special assessment list.

— To develop an employee physical (fitness program).

— Establishing a plan to investigate code violations on existing rental housing within the zoning jurisdiction of Wayne.

— To develop a conceptual plan for a multipurpose center.

— To complete a visual equipment review.

— To develop a program whereby the city council will be made aware of critical items affecting the city that are learned through conferences.

— To select a site selection for future development.

— Establishing a contest for use of the old water tower on North Main.

— And to locate the city's sidewalk master plan.

Long term goals, from 1987 to 1992, include the following:

• Establishing an economic development fund.

• Encouraging a formation of a "retention and expansion" capital group.

• Expanding the city of Wayne's efforts in working with the Wayne Chamber of Commerce and Wayne Industries.

• To complete the Wayne Airport's North-South runway project.

• To review and initiate the Wayne sidewalk master plan.

• To reduce the number of property tax supported vehicles in the city's fleet.

• To complete a formal review of the city of Wayne's comprehensive plans.

• To develop a long term sanitary sewer and storm sewer master plan.

• To complete a redistricting study.

• And to pursue an evaluation of the existing pool, auditorium, senior center and library.

City Administrator Phil Kioster said Tuesday night that none of the above mentioned goals are concrete. It is possible, he said, that the city council may not be able to address all of the issues which are listed in the short and long range program of action.

County social services office will maintain current operation

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

Wayne County's Social Service office will remain open and is in line for obtaining an additional staff member.

Northeast Nebraska District Administrator Joan Albin said she has received word that it would be possible to hire additional help in the Wayne office.

At one time it was reported that the Department of Social Services had proposed closing up to 46 social service offices statewide because of upcoming budget cuts. During a special session in December, the legislature had cut about $210,000 from the state Department of Social Services.

Among the nine offices proposed for closing in the northeast district were the ones in Wayne and Ponca, and the target date for the closing was on Feb. 1.

However, in early January it was decided to hold off on the office closings until Kermit McMurry, the newly appointed director of the Department of Social Services, could review the plans.

Later in January, LB 392 was introduced in the Nebraska state legislature to restore $100,000 to the state Department of Social Services and to save the jobs of 33 caseworkers and their clerical staff. On Feb. 18 the bill was approved by the legislature and passed on to Governor Kay Orr.

Orr vetoed the bill. However, the state legislature had overridden Orr's veto, and the $100,000 was reinstated into the state Department of Social Services budget.

McMURRY clarified the effect on the Department in regard to the legislature's override, which reapropriates $100,000 from the state general fund and $177,000 of federal funding from the special session budget cut of last December.

"LB 392 does not require the Department to keep the 23 offices open which are scheduled to close on March 2. Nor does it require the 33 positions targeted for layoff to be reinstated," he mentioned in a news release.

He said the bill will allow the Department to hire people where they are needed the most in order to handle the increasing caseload.

"The override of LB 392 gives the Department the opportunity to look at what client services are needed and to put staff members where the need is the greatest. This will be done once we are able to reevaluate the situation," said McMurry.

Albin said the Wayne social services office currently has a "very large caseload and only one worker."

Thelma Moeller serves as supervisor for the Wayne and Hartington offices. "Obtaining a fulltime or part-time person would be helpful for these two offices," said Albin.

ALBIN SAID Friday that the Department will "go ahead with the original plan and close up the Ponca social service office."

"The caseload there is not as large and the office is very close to the Dakota City office," Albin said. "Other parts of Dixon County are also closer to Dakota City."

"We will continue sending workers to homes, for situations such as child welfare cases," she said. "Most of our business can now be done either through the mail or by telephone."

Albin said the social services department will also help with transportation to and from the office sites if necessary. "We will continue going to the places of the home-bound individuals," she said.

The closing of the Ponca office is scheduled to occur today (Monday, March 2) at the end of the business day. Another social service office in the northeast Nebraska district, Schuyler, will also be closed according to Albin.

Also on Monday, the social service office in West Point, Albin said, will become an itinerant site and will be open on Tuesdays every week from 9-12 in the morning and 1-4 in the afternoon.

Women have commanding lead

Weight-off updated

So how is the Great Allen "Weight-Off" contest going?

Since Jan. 5, the staff at the Allen Consolidated School has been engaged in a "weight-off" contest—an event which challenges the men against the women to see who can lose the most weight by May 1 of this year.

Presently, the women are ahead. They have lost 140 pounds, compared to the 20 pounds lost by the men.

Superintendent John Werner issued the challenge to staff members to "create a more physically fit staff and to provide an incentive for all staff to watch their weight."

When the contest deadline arrives, the average loss by the two teams will determine the winner. The losing team will treat the winners to a spring picnic.

Since the announcement of the "weight-off" contest, the school has been receiving positive publicity. The school was featured in The Wayne Herald, two television stations in Sloux City and a television station in Omaha.

American farmers losing in trade game

(by U.S. Senator Jim Exon)
Less than two days after the President in his State of the Union message said the U.S. would not be a trade patsy, the Reagan Administration caved at the bargaining table with the European Economic Community (EEC) and sold out the interests of American corn and sorghum farmers. Administration officials and their spokespeople lauded the agreement as a great success; in that it prevented a trade war. Nobody paid much attention to those of us who pointed out otherwise because it is still not fashionable to suggest that Administration policies have any remote relationship to the agricultural depression.

The new U.S.-EEC corn agreement comes as a bitter disappointment to Midwest farmers. The Administration again illustrated that there is a great gap between its rhetoric and its actions.
The entry of Spain and Portugal into the EEC in the spring of 1986 sparked a trade dispute between the U.S. and the EEC. Upon joining the EEC, Spain and Portugal placed restrictive tariffs on U.S. corn and sorghum products. Prior to entering the EEC, Spain and Portugal imported six million metric tons (MT) of corn and sorghum annually during the 1983-85 base period. This was the original basis of the dispute.

In the fall of 1986 the President agreed to a cooling off period which conveniently carried the Administration through the November elections, but also cooled American farmers' prospects at the bargaining table. The delay combined with the Administration's agreement to change the base period from 1983-85 to 1984-86 reduced the disputed amount from six million MT to 4.1 million MT. This change in the base period cost American farmers nearly two million MT even before serious negotiations began.

IN THE NEW agreement announced on January 30th, corn growers lost even more. The Administration, which had threatened to impose tariffs on European wines and cheeses in retaliation, backed off, based on an EEC promise to purchase 2.3 million MT of corn and sorghum in the world market and lower tariffs on 26 non-corn products. The Administration claims this is full compensation for the corn and sorghum interests, yet it is less than one-half of the original amount disputed. In reality, corn and sorghum purchases from the U.S. will be far less than 2.3 million MT because the EEC is allowed to purchase the corn and sorghum in the world market and the agreement does not guarantee the purchases will be from the United States.

The 2.3 million MT figure is also deceiving because the agreement allows the EEC to count corn gluten feed, citrus peels and brewing dregs against the corn and sorghum quota. The first corn shipment under the new agreement demonstrates the hollowness of the Administration's claims that the U.S. is being fully compensated. On February 4th, under the new agreement, Spain purchased 72,000 MT of corn in the world market; 50,000 MT from Argentina but only 12,000 MT from the United States. That is not the sign of a good deal.

The National Corn Growers Association reaction to the new agreement says it best: "We have lost considerable ground in another important feed grains export market because our U.S. government officials have once again failed to remain firm."
The Administration accepted tariff reductions on 26 other non-corn products in compensation for U.S. corn and sorghum losses. Besides agreeing to reduce U.S. exports, the Administration traded away Midwest corn and feedgrain markets for expanded opportunities for western agricultural products like nuts, avocados and fruit juices. With this type of representation at the negotiating table it is no wonder that the U.S. share of the world's course grain market fell from 72 percent in 1981 to 42 percent today.

ONCE AGAIN the Reagan Administration talked like Rambo, but acted like Whimpy on the trade front and the Midwest farmers paid the price.
The Administration will soon begin a new round of negotiations under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. If the EEC agreement is any indication of what can be expected from the Administration, the U.S. Senate must seriously consider outlining specific goals that our negotiators must accomplish for American agriculture. Farmers cannot afford to lose any more ground at the trade negotiating table.

What we would like to see is people approaching the issue with an open mind — to see both sides of the coin.
The city council has stated its strong intentions on how the city sales tax will be used when they passed two critical ordinances on Tuesday night — one dealing with the funds raised for economic development and the other dealing with property tax relief.
And those forthright intentions cannot be changed without a vote of the people.
Most assuredly, proponents and opponents of the city sales tax will be coming forth with information and arguments that could be an influence on your vote.
Your duty as a voter is to seek out the information and separate the facts from misinformation, then make a choice.

viewpoint
Ballot issue

Wayne's city council members took a bold step when they decided to place the issue of a "sales and use tax", at 1/2 percent, before the city voters on May 12.
The issue has been approached time and time again by the city council over the past years. It was a step, we feel, in the right direction to place the issue on the ballot.
And now, it is time for the voting population to become informed, and review the pros and cons of the issue.
We know that the tax will be applied to whatever the state of Nebraska taxes on items. But are we comfortable with our decision as to how the new sales tax will benefit, or not benefit, the homeowner, the renter, the landlord or the business owner? How important, or non-important, is that 1/2 cent for economic development? How much property tax relief will be coming to your household?

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Wayne Herald editor

I thought perhaps only a few would know about some vacation time recently spent in Colorado. Upon my return, I found out differently.
For instance, at the Wayne City Council meeting Tuesday night — several of the council members asked if I had enjoyed Colorado. They never responded as to how they found out I was gone.
It was an enjoyable vacation, visiting relatives and taking in the inspirational scenery that the mountains provide in the Fort Collins area.
Despite the pressure from the deadlines, I found myself still very much in the hunt for headlines and the issues among the other publications in the area.

One of the significant controversial topics there involves a dam construction project being proposed which naturalists fear will clutter and do away with much of the mountain beauty. It is understandable the concerns which the naturalists face, particularly after traveling up into the mountains with brother-in-law Tom Ortmeier (a former Wayne resident).
We "four-wheeled" our way to the peaks of the mountain during a snowy afternoon. The natural beauty of the snow-laden evergreen boughs and the rushing creeks which followed along the winding blacktop and gravel roads had made a lasting impression.
At the mountain top, we stepped out as I snapped a photograph. Each breath taken was almost as if the fresh mountain air was rejuvenating the entire body.
It is no wonder the Rocky Mountains has an overbearing drawing power to nature photographers and wildlife hunters.

BUT THE mountains, known for beauty, can also be deadly. Word came across the newspapers and television stations about an avalanche that had buried four skiers.
Reports came in daily about the disaster, about the rescue efforts through the editorials about the incidents. The avalanche was caused by skiers who had gone out of bounds into fresh snow that had fallen on old snow. Most of the other skiers who had also disregarded the out of bounds markers were buried in the aftermath.
I know skiers who often disregard the out of bounds markers at ski resorts. The regular runs can be lumpy, hard and fast. Fresh snow is "skier's gold" and usually, they say, the only danger is avoiding the trees.
Perhaps the disaster will give skiers second thoughts about entering forbidden territory. But from reports in the newspapers, the thrill is in the danger.

ANOTHER ASPECT of the mountains is the isolation. That immediately came to mind when we drove high into the mountains and noticed the houses along the hillside. These are the places where people in the sun belt (such as in Phoenix or Florida) escape the heat of the summer. Just like people in this area who, in the winter, travel to the warmer climates.
As we traveled higher into the mountains, there was an elderly lady reaching into her mailbox. On a leash was a large white dog, equal or greater to the size of a St. Bernard. I waved, and she returned the wave.
How does she get down the mountains on snowy days when the weather is bad and she needs food items? Why is she living in an area where neighbors are far away and the road is treacherous?
People who live in or near the mountains evidently take it for granted. But all it takes is a trip to the mountain peaks and once again the appreciation swells.
It's fun to get back to nature again.

Farmer retraining bill introduced into House

A successful Nebraska Farmer retraining program is the basis for a bill introduced in the House of Representatives on Tuesday by Nebraska Representative Doug Bereuter and Wisconsin Representative Steve Gunderson.

Farmers, ranchers, and persons employed in agriculture-related businesses who have been severely affected or displaced by the troubled agricultural economy will benefit from the bill which is based on Nebraska's Farmer in Transition Program.
The Agriculture-in-Transition Act introduced by Bereuter and Gunderson is modeled after the Nebraska program that provided managerial assistance and job training to a variety of individuals whose lives have been disrupted by the distressed agricultural economy. This bill will assist two groups of people: those who seek managerial assistance to stay in business and those seeking alternative jobs.
"Our legislation recognizes that agriculture is in a very difficult period of transition, and some of those changes involved have been particularly devastating for rural families," Bereuter said at a press conference in Washington.
"I believe that Nebraska's experience with the pilot Ag-In-Transition program can be applied nationwide to offer support to both those who choose to stay in farming and those who choose or are compelled to leave agriculture and seek different career opportunities," Bereuter said.
Bereuter's bill sets up a new five-year grant program that is directed towards providing financial advice for farmers and ranchers, and retraining of farmers, ranchers, and agriculture-related workers.

Grants would go to states who meet certain economic indicators such as high levels of unemployment due to declining agricultural industry; high level of farmer-rancher economic hardship; and a concentration of low income farmers compared to statewide per capita income levels.
SERVICES WOULD be provided to two groups of persons: Farmers or ranchers who want to continue in their operations; and farmers and ranchers or individuals who are employed in agriculture related businesses and are displaced as a result of a distressed farm economy.
Types of services for farmers who are attempting to continue farming under Bereuter's bill include assistance in the evaluation of their financial condition of their operation, helping farmers prepare financial plans, and assistance in managing temporary crisis.
Bereuter's bill would also include services for individuals changing their occupation including: Vocational evaluation, basic skills and literacy evaluation and counseling; job search assistance; entrepreneurial training; and classroom, occupational skills, and on-the-job training.
Other supportive services necessary to enable an individual to participate in retraining such as transportation, health care special services and materials for the handicapped, dependent care, meals, temporary shelter, and other reasonable subsistence allowances would also be provided.

CO-AUTHORING the bill with Bereuter is Wisconsin's Representative Steve Gunderson, a member of the House Agriculture, and Education and Labor Committees. "I sought Representative Gunderson's help because of his expertise with the Job Training Partnership Act and worker retraining issues as well as his special sensitivity to agricultural concerns," said Bereuter. "With his help, I am quite confident we can move this legislation through committee and on to the House Floor this year."
Bereuter and Gunderson will introduce a companion bill to insure long-term financial stability for the program once the Bereuter transition bill phases out in five years.
"The existing Job Retraining Partnership law does not include farmers or agri-businesses. This bill will amend the existing law to make it more equitable for everybody," according to Bereuter. "The displaced farmer needs as much help as the steelworker in Indiana. Present law doesn't provide that and the economic hardships for the farmer are just as severe as the adverse impact the steelworkers have experienced. It is high time we correct this discriminatory treatment in the law. Our goal is to make sure that rural areas are not ignored in any national program that might be created and that we receive the priority attention we deserve."

Disaster ahead
I was shocked when the map of the county appeared on the front page of the paper depicting possible locations of Nuclear Waste Dumps.
A yesterday's radio news report mentions 37 possible sites now listed as possible sites within the state's borders.
Upon attending our state's Natural Resources Committee meeting and listening to all the many testimonials given (from 1:30 until 8 p.m.) I came to these conclusions.
Past dumpsites show these waste materials will breach the containers. Subsequent rainfall will carry these radioactive materials away from the site contaminating the earth and ground water. Geologists and hydrologists estimate those ground waters as a lake the size of the state in area and 34 feet deep. Some of these wastes generated by nuclear reactors are so hot that they will easily breach stainless steel containers and will be radioactive for thousands of years.
Better methods of storing and containing these materials must be devised that will provide a total containment of all of the various radioactive materials for thousands of years before the State of Nebraska should consider hosting a nuclear dumpsite.
As the present law reads, Nebraskans do not have control over the location of the dumpsite nor how it will be operated, nor what type or quality of waste will be stored and received from other states. Nor does the present law state the liability or future costs.

We must convey our concerns to our governor and senator about this imminent disaster.
Keith Wickert

On net income
In regard to the proposed sales tax vote in Wayne, a person can have a million dollars in sales, but unless net income is produced in the transactions, there will be no money to pay taxes on anything else.
Or a person may have a million dollars worth of property, but unless it generates net income, it will not pay taxes or anything else.
Property, to the extent it is not mortgaged, probably usually does represent past net income, so may be available for payment of taxes, etc.
The further we deviate from a simple net income tax without loopholes, the more we contribute to a "Have" and "Have not" society.
ConAgri, a large corporation composed originally of several smaller businesses, and a subsidiary of a much larger corporation, Peter Kewitt corporation, their executives say they will not locate or stay where income taxes are not low.
So I guess the question is, how well do we need to treat our "Fat cats"?

A dirty situation?

According to a survey conducted by General Electric, consumers are happy with how their laundry appliances work. But they are beginning to have problems with clothes not getting as clean as they used to and stains not coming out as easily. General Electric looked at three changes that have had a significant impact on the laundry process.

FIRST CAME the transition from natural fibers to synthetics. Synthetics require a minimum amount of ironing and were very appealing to the consumers in the mid-60's. By the mid-70's, people were growing tired of 100 percent polyester knits. Consumers began to move toward woven synthetics and blend fabrics with natural and synthetics. A second change is the declining use of hot water for washing because of the rising cost of energy. The increasing use of synthetic fabrics led to care labels recommending a warm wash.

Third is the reduction of phosphates in detergents. In the late 1960's, cities and states began to take action on water pollution. Since some states passed laws banning phosphates in laundry detergents, manufacturers had no choice but to develop a substitute.

THE INDUSTRY has not yet found a substitute that can do all that phosphate could do. One substitute, sodium carbonate, forms small particles of calcium carbonate or limestone which can build up on washer parts and clothing. This impact can be lessened by softening the water with use of a phosphate-based water softener or by purchasing a home water softener. Changing to liquid detergents also will help. Lower water temperatures and more synthetics have caused an increase in what appears to be lint on freshly laundered clothes. This residue is actually the remains of undissolved detergent filtered through the garments. As the wash water is pumped out of the tub, synthetic fabrics tend to act as filters much more than all cotton fabrics.

ARE WE DOOMED to dingy laundry because of man-made fibers, lower water temperatures and non-phosphate detergents? Not really. Solutions include using hotter water to dissolve detergents then switching to a lower water temperature for the remainder of the wash load. It's important to add detergent to the wash water as it is running and then load with soiled clothes. You may even agitate the water and detergent before loading the clothes.

Finally, using a liquid instead of a powder may help dissolve detergent in lower water temperatures.

Six Cadette Girl Scouts will receive their silver awards, the second highest award in the Girl Scouting program. All 181 girls involved in Girl Scouting in Wayne will be involved in the activity.

ON THURSDAY, March 12, which is the Girl Scout Birthday, local scouts will have a promise-friendship circle at 4 p.m. at the track near West Elementary School. All former adult Girl Scouts and leaders are being invited to participate.

Mother-son social held at Redeemer

Fern Test welcomed the 65 persons attending a mother-son social on Feb. 15 at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wayne.

Mrs. Test gave a reading, entitled "Hugs." Special guest was Gil Haase, administrator at Wayne Care Centre, who presented a musical program.

Receiving awards were John Anderson, who had a picture of his mother in his billfold; LuAnn Ellington, most pictures of son in billfold; Tyler Anderson, youngest son; Harvey Rog, oldest son; Erna Karel, most generations; Lynette Karel, who gave flowers for Valentine's; Terry Meyer, with the birthday closest to Valentine's Day; and Viola Meyer, most sons.

Serving on the committee for the mother-son social were Betty Heller, Pat Carnes, Florence Geewe, DeAnn Behlers, Cleo Ellis, Viola Meyer and Fern Test.

policy on weddings

The Wayne Herald welcomes news accounts and photographs of weddings involving families living in the Wayne area.

We feel there is widespread interest in local and area weddings and are happy to make space available for their publication.

Because our readers are interested in current news, we ask that all weddings and photographs offered for publication be in our office within 10 days after the date of the ceremony. Information submitted with a picture after that deadline will not be carried as a story but will be used in a collage underneath the picture. Wedding pictures submitted after the story appears in the paper must be in our office within three weeks after the ceremony.

Cats advance after 84-75 win over Dana College

By Gregg Dahlheim
Sports Editor

The Wayne State Wildcats survived the first round of the District 11 playoffs when they dumped Dana College 84-75 at Rice Auditorium Thursday night.

Wayne State, 15-17, used red hot shooting to end Dana's season. The Cats hit 60 percent of their two-point shots and 57 percent from three-point range. The Wayne State defense limited Dana to 40 percent shooting. The Vikings managed only 2-10 from three-point land.

The game was marred by fouls. Officials Jim Vincent and Rick Koch whistled the Cats for 29 fouls while Dana was called for 16 personals. The Vikings were sent to the line 35 times. They converted 23 gift shots for 66 percent. In the first half Dana was 15-20 from the line while Wayne State shot only two free throws, missing both.

"The officials didn't want to let the game get out of control," Wildcat Coach Steve Aggers said. "The thing is we've had the same two officials before and they've called a loose game."

The Cats never pulled in the contest. Mike McNamara put the hosts on top early with the game's first basket after Scott Hurley stole the ball on a bad pass. The Cats went up 8-2 on a slam dunk by Russ Rosenquist. "Rosey" got the hoop after Vincent White stole the ball from the Vikings. The Sioux City junior finished the night with three break away slams.

Wayne State posted leads of 11 points twice in the first half and each time Dana would claw its way back. Aggers said that was one negative aspect of the game, the Cats inability to hold the big lead.

Wayne State took a 38-31 lead at halftime. "Rosey" tallied 15 first-half points while Hurley added nine points on three, three-point goals. Dana was led by its leading scorer Todd Hinkle who also had 15 first-half points. The Vikings held a 25-18 margin on the glass after the first 20 minutes.

Wayne State started off slow in the second half. The Cats didn't score their first basket until the 16:19 mark. At that point the hosts led 41-34. The Cats got the lead back to 11 points at 45:34 before Dana charged back. The Vikings got to within one point at 49:48 on a basket by Dan Vorthmann with 10:51 left.

The game stayed tight until the Cats started to pull away in the last seven minutes. Wayne State's biggest lead of the game came on a three pointer by Hurley to give the Cats a 12-point lead with 3:49 left.

Hurley finished as the game's top scorer... The Anaconda, Montana junior hit for 30 points. Hurley was 7-11 from beyond 19 feet.

Guards White and Rosenquist and small forward Hurley combined for 65 of the team's 84 points. The trio hit 64 percent of their two pointers and 57 percent of their three-point shots. Rosenquist finished with 24 points while White chipped in 11 points.

Aggers said he felt Dana's strength was inside. The Vikings were susceptible from the perimeter. The Wayne State skipper said he thought his team's depth was a big advantage over the Vikings. Guard Wade Behlen came off the bench and was credited with eight assists.

Aggers also credited McNamara with a fine defensive effort on Dana center Scott Kaiser. McNamara limited the 6-7 Kaiser to one field goal in the first half. The Viking finished the game with 11 points, five coming from the free-throw line.

Hinkle led 17-18 Dana with 29 points. The Vikings outrebounded Wayne State 42-34. The visitors held a large edge on the offensive glass where they gathered 17 boards compared to the Cats' three.

The win allowed Wayne State to advance to the second round of the playoffs. The Cats traveled to Hastings Saturday for a game with the Broncos. Hastings, coached by first-year Coach Mike Trader, sports a 17-9 record. The Broncos were the champions of the NIAC.

Greve tallies 14

Wakefield held the high-octane offense of Ponca in check for three quarters but the Indians scored 16 fourth-quarter points to edge the Trojans 47-44 in the final of the Class C1-9 subdistrict tournament at South Sioux City Thursday night.

Underdog Wakefield led for a good part of the game before Ponca made its run. The game was tied 11-11 after the first period and the Indians jumped to a 23-20 lead at halftime.

Wakefield came out smoking in the third period and outscored its opponents 17-8 in the third period to take a 37-31 lead into the fourth period.

In the fourth quarter Ponca applied a trapping-pressure defense to the Wakefield guards and came up with several turnovers. Trojan Coach Paul Eaton said the reason the defense worked was because Ponca trapped the smaller Wakefield guards with taller players and the officials let both teams play, which favored Ponca.

"We were well prepared and the kids carried out the game plan but we got some tough breaks in the fourth quarter," Eaton said.

team's depth was a big advantage over the Vikings. Guard Wade Behlen came off the bench and was credited with eight assists.

Aggers also credited McNamara with a fine defensive effort on Dana center Scott Kaiser. McNamara limited the 6-7 Kaiser to one field goal in the first half. The Viking finished the game with 11 points, five coming from the free-throw line.

Hinkle led 17-18 Dana with 29 points. The Vikings outrebounded Wayne State 42-34. The visitors held a large edge on the offensive glass where they gathered 17 boards compared to the Cats' three.

The win allowed Wayne State to advance to the second round of the playoffs. The Cats traveled to Hastings Saturday for a game with the Broncos. Hastings, coached by first-year Coach Mike Trader, sports a 17-9 record. The Broncos were the champions of the NIAC.

Wakefield ousted by Ponca

Eaton was happy with his team's defense. Wakefield held Ponca to 31 points after three quarters. The Indians scored 109 points Friday night in a win against Pender. The Trojans defense gave up 27 points to 6-1 senior Brian Wellenstein but no other Indian scored more than five points.

Once again Kevin Greve led Wakefield. The senior hit for a team-high 14 points in his last game as a Trojan. He also led the team with nine rebounds. Greve got help offensively from Scott Lund. Lund tossed in 13 points before fouling out.

The game marked the second time this season that Ponca has beaten Wakefield. The Indians dumped the Trojans 45-39 on Jan. 26.

The Trojans finished the year with a 7-12 mark. Wakefield won seven of its last 14 games after starting the season 0-5.

Ponca will now advance to the district finals where they will meet Stanton, the winner of the Class C1-10 subdistrict.

Women finish 12-18

Midland ends Lady Cats' season

The Midland College Lady Warriors ended the Wayne State women's basketball season Wednesday night as they dumped the Lady Cats 67-52 in the semifinals of the District 11 playoffs.

Host Midland took a five-point lead at halftime at 36-31 before outscoring Wayne State 31-21 in the second half. The 21 points is the fewest Wayne State has scored in a half all season. The previous low was 25 points in the second half of a 77-57 loss to Washburn on Jan. 23.

Wayne State Coach Lenny Klaver said his team played well defensively but they didn't play good enough on offense to win.

The Lady Cats came out in the second half and cut the lead to one point with about 10 minutes left in the game. Klaver said at that point his team went cold from the field. The Lady Warriors outscored Wayne State 22-8 down the stretch to advance to the district finals against Kearney State on Thursday.

Both teams played evenly from the field. The Lady Cats were 23-53 for 43 percent while Midland hit 26-59 field goals for 44 percent accuracy. The big difference came from the free-throw line where the Lady Warriors hit 15-19 gift shots while Wayne State was only 6-11 from the charity stripe. The Lady Cats also suffered in the turnover department. The locals turned the ball over five more times than Midland.

Dawnn Bernst and Michelle Blomberg paced the Lady Cats with 17 and 16 points respectively. Bernst also led the team in rebounds with six boards.

Wayne State's leading scorer Linda Schnitzler was limited to eight points. In the teams' first meeting, in which Midland won 86-73, Schnitzler tossed in 24 points.

The Lady Warriors were led by their scoring leader Lori Briscoe. The junior guard from Shickley fessed in 20 points. In the first game Briscoe burned the Lady Cats for 34 points.

Wayne State made positive strides this season as they finished 12-18. They improved drastically from last year's squad that finished 3-24 overall and 0-14 in the CSIC. Klaver will have all his guns back next year as everyone returns.

Two advance to championships

WSC tracksters run at Kearney

Members of the Wayne State men's and women's track team competed in the NAIA District 11 Indoor Track and Field Championships held at Kearney State on Feb. 21.

The women's entry tallied 15 1/2 points to finish seventh in the eight-team meet while the men scored 16 points for their eighth-place finish in the nine-team field.

The women's division was won by host Kearney State with 157 points. Doane was a distant second with 87 1/2 points.

The Lady Wildcats best finish came in the mile relay where the women finished fourth in a time of 4:17.4, 10.9 seconds off the winners.

Tammi Miller finished fifth in the 300-meter dash in a time of 39.3. Carol Bailey of Concordia won the race setting a new meet record in a time of 35.29. Wayne State's Ann Eisenmeyer ran a 38.6 to finish sixth in the dash. Eisenmeyer also placed sixth in the 400-meter dash in a time of 62.5. Gina Jochim of Doane won the race in 59.3.

Kathy Meyer of Wayne State tied for fifth place in the high jump with Brenda Stinson of Doane. Both jumpers turned in jumps of 5-2. Doane's Jill Mosley won the event with a leap of 5-6. The Lady Wildcats also got a sixth-place finish from Diana Asay in the shot put. Asay turned in a toss of 41-39.

Mark Vollmer was the Wildcats' top finisher. Vollmer earned second place in the triple jump with a leap of 45-4 1/2. Chris Bodley of Concordia won the event with a jump of 47-1 1/2.

Darin Blackburn finished fifth in the 60-meter hurdles in a time of 7.8. Mike Auman of Doane won the race in a time of 7.6. The rest of the men's points came from relay entries. The distance medley finished fourth while the mile and two-mile relays finished sixth.

Two Wayne State tracksters participated in the NAIA Indoor Cham-ionships in Kansas City on Friday and Saturday. Asay competed in the shot put and Vollmer in the triple jump.

WHAT IS THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE?
 It is the only organization whose sole purpose is the betterment of business. The Chamber provides a talented and professional staff who, together with volunteers, serve area businesses with unique programs and services. The Wayne Area Chamber's mission is more jobs, more dollars for our community.

The Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce

..... building together
 177 members and growing...

The Chamber And You!

In Legislative Issues . . . The legislative council in 1987 will hold forums on issues creating visibility and leadership. In February, 14 community business people attended the NACI 75th annual meeting in Lincoln. The Legislative Council monitors bills and takes a leadership role in special issues, sponsoring forums with the NACI and state senators.

CHECK WAYNE FIRST

In Retail . . . Your chamber, with the Wayne First theme in mind, will again hold four major promotions. They will work toward Christmas decoration improvement and build together to encourage a cooperative attitude and united front in building the Wayne area economy together.

WAYNE AMBASSADORS

The 26 Wayne Ambassadors, now one year old, and a very positive arm of the Chamber, have incorporated a "Congeniality Award" given to an employee of a Chamber member who goes above and beyond the call of duty to serve the public. They visit new businesses, businesses with a change of ownership and businesses with major remodeling. Building an image of welcome and support to the Wayne area.

Agribusiness Support . . . Your Chamber agribusiness council is striving to continue to work with farmers and ag related business people, to have twilight tours of farms, hold appreciation type ag related functions and obtain Wayne area farm/ag related members.

Internal Development . . . This new council is in charge of the facility planning and development, general monthly and annual membership meeting, Business after Hours, Friday Chamber coffees, Board of Directors retreats, newsletter, Chamber Shopper Gift Certificates, Membership Blitz and member retention.

Small Business Development Council . . . is working to improve Wayne as a better place to do all business, improve upon the business we now have and attract new. We will hold informational seminars for various aspects pertaining to community needs and desires for community and business improvement.

In Visitor and Newcomers Service . . . Your Chamber is working to promote visitors to Wayne, with a tourist information center, Welcome to Wayne signs, working with the Nebraska Community Improvement Program and with the BRAN '87 (Bicycle Riders Across Nebraska) tour. Wayne is a great place to work and live.

WAYNE STATE COLLEGE OF NEBRASKA

Educational Community Relations . . . Your Chamber is building a unity between school and business community. The chamber welcomes faculty members with a Business after Hours in their honor, Chamber coffees welcoming new faculty, the Chamber co-sponsors the Wayne State College Band Day parade with scholarships, hosts the college students with a welcome back dance, we are building with the students to formulate a student/business development committee and attending the appropriations legislative meetings in Lincoln.

Wayne Industries Inc.

In Small Business Assistance . . . Your Chamber works with Wayne Industries in coordinating efforts for Small Business Development (SBA) funding, Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD), Department of Economic Development (DED), revolving loan funding, grants and subsidies, Nebraska Business Development Center (NBDC), SCORE, and Wayne State College.

As we remember past accomplishments and successes in 1986 . . . we dwell on increased involvement in business development, increased involvement with Wayne Industries and its efforts, increased awareness of development of your community with state legislators, very successful retail events, including Expo '86, Country Store Days, Ping Pong Drop and Holiday Magic, exciting and new appreciation activities for town and country families and increased opportunity for member involvement in your Chamber of Commerce.

Who Can Join The Chamber Of Commerce? YOU CAN

If interested, contact the Wayne Area Chamber Office, 375-2240, or any of the members listed below.
