At A Glance

Spring ahead

The Daylight Savings Time switchover is Sunday, April 5 at 2 a.m.
Don't forget to set the time on your clock ahead one hour.

Chemigation

The Cooperative Extension Service of the University of Nebraska will offer educational training for people interested in being certified by the Nebraska Department of Environmental Control in order to apply fertilizers and pesticides through irrigation systems, according to Don C. Spitze, Quad County Extension Agent.

This is a necessary requirement in order to comply with the new Nebraska Chemigation Act which became effective Jan. 1, 1987.

Three sessions will be conducted in April. Dates and locations are April 7, Norfolk, Villa Inn, 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.; April 8, O'Neill, Courthouse Annex, 1 p.m.; and April 10, Concord, Northeast Center at 12:30 p.m.

This is the last training opportunity prior to the 1987 crop season.

Talent contest

The annual Wayne Lions Club Talent Contest is scheduled to begin on Sunday, April 5 at 1:30 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre at Wayne State College.

There are six divisions in the contest, with trophies awarded to first and second place winners in each division.

The public is welcome to attend the competition.

Take a walk

The March of Dimes WalkAmerica has been postponed from April 4 to April 25. Registration is at 8 a.m. at Rice Auditorium. For more information, call 375-2142.

Pledge sheets are available at Hardee's or the Wayne State College dormitories.

Crusade meeting

The Wayne County unit of the American Cancer Society has scheduled its annual cancer crusade kickoff meeting today (Thursday) at 2 p.m. in the Wayne Woman's Club room, located in Wayne city auditorium.

This year's crusade will run from April 5-18 and will focus on mammography.

All persons interested in assisting with the crusade are invited to attend today's meeting. Materials will be distributed, and those attending the meeting will learn about mammography.

'Oklahoma'

Wayne-Carroll High School cast members of the musical "Oklahoma" are currently selling reserved seating tickets. Admission price is $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for students.

The musical will be presented April 10 and 11 at the Wayne High lecture hall. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

'Chix' are for kids

THE WAYNE Chicken Show Committee gave away over 100 exotic baby chicks Tuesday to youngsters and adults. It is hoped that the exotic chickens will be shown this year at the Wayne Chicken Show, scheduled for July 12, and at the Wayne County Fair. The committee hopes to identify each chick by breed, either before or after the Chicken Show. Some baby chick starter was provided by Feeder's Elevator in Wayne, to be given away with each group of baby chicks. Comments were favorable about the number of fancy chickens displayed last year at the Chicken Show and the Wayne County Fair. Above, Ann Ruwe holds an exotic chick before the bewildered eyes of her son Joshua, and B.J. Ruwe (right) closely inspects his baby chick which they picked up at committee member Gail Korn's residence south of Wayne.

WSC grad reunited with twin

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

Wayne State College graduate DeWayne Gramly of San Francisco and Paul Forbes of San Jose have more in common than being the same age of 70.

Or that they both live in California. They are twin brothers. But it took nearly 70 years before they were reunited. Both were adopted by different families at the age of four months.

For 22 years they lived within 40 miles of each other.

Both had a vague awareness they had a twin brother. But whether or not the twin brother still existed, and where he existed, remained a big question mark in both their lives.

Forbes tried 30 years ago to try and find his twin brother, making inquiries at the orphanage in Omaha where they were adopted. He got nowhere.

His sister joined the cause several years ago and, with the help of a social worker, tracked down Gramly's telephone number shortly thereafter in San Francisco.

Gramly and Forbes found each other in June, 1986. And since then they have been regarded as the longest "separated and then reunited" twins on record, unless disputed by the Guinness Book of World Records.

BOTH WERE TO appear in McNeil-Lehrer Report and on the Today Show. They will also be featured soon in U.S. News and World Report.

Dean Jacobs, director of alumni affairs and assistant to the president at Wayne State College, said he talked in March with WSC alumnus member Gramly during the annual Alumni Phonathon event.

Jacobs was then enlightened about the twin brother reunion.

"I thought it was a pretty interesting story," Jacobs said.

On Monday, The Wayne Herald received a letter from Gramly, detailing the reunion with his twin brother.

GRAMLY SAID he graduated from Wayne State (Teachers') College in May, 1937 with majors in Education, music and English — his degree was a Master of Fine Arts. "During those

City paving district request made for new business

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

A request to establish a paving district on property east of Wayne was reviewed Tuesday evening by the Wayne City Council.

Dan McCright of Seward, currently chief deputy with the Seward County Sheriff's Department, expressed to the city council an interest in constructing a four bay car wash east of Wayne, east of the Pizza Hut and on the south side of the road near the Tom McCright property.

Three of the bays of the car wash would be enclosed, and an outside bay would be used for big trucks or other equipment. It would also have vacuum cleaners for interior cleaning.

"If the business did well, then perhaps we could consider adding another bay," McCright said to the city council.

The paving district request to the city involves a road extension of Tomar Drive South and East 7th Avenue.

City Administrator Phil Kloster said it would take from 90 to 100 days to complete the paper work on the paving district request, if paper work began at the next city council meeting on April 14. The paper work includes conducting a public hearing on the need of a paving district, developing plans and specifications, design acceptance, allowing the bids to go out and later accepting bids on the proposed project.

ALSO TUESDAY evening, the city council passed a resolution approving a $50,000 Wayne Revolving Loan Fund Grant to Restful Knights, Inc. of Wayne.

At the March 10 council meeting, Restful Knights co-owners Rob Stuberger and Virgil Kardell appeared before the council to request up to $50,000 in revolving loan funding which is earmarked for the purchase and operation of a quilting machine.

The quilting machine will be used to make the material for the quilted mattress pads, which Restful Knights currently manufactures and markets.

Currently, the material is imported from other states. The actual cost of the quilting machine, and putting it into operation, is estimated at from $50,000 to $80,000. It is anticipated that four new jobs will be added with the purchase of the quilting machine.

The revolving loan of $50,000 was approved by the city council on the condition that Restful Knights comply with all of the rules, regulations and procedures of the Wayne Revolving Loan Fund, including that the requirement of funding should not exceed $15,000 per new job created by the loan.

Administrator Kloster told the council the full $50,000 is currently not on hand in the revolving loan fund, but will possibly be available in June. "Right now we're in limbo as to what the [Nebraska] Department of Economic Development is going to rule on revolving loan fund guidelines," Kloster said.

Kardell said Tuesday night he hopes the council's action will set a precedent for the use of the revolving loan fund, so that there will be more money available for other businesses.

"As we continue to grow, we would like to continue growing in Wayne," he added.

THE REVOLVING loan funding program allows business owners to borrow money from the city at a reduced interest. The money borrowed is paid back over a period of time so that more loans can be made for economic development purposes.

Also Tuesday evening, the city council:

•Reviewed bids on a new two-wheel drive pickup and a four-wheel drive pickup.

•Park Place of Lincoln submitted a bid on the two-wheel drive vehicle at $9,179.27 without trade-in, and the four-wheel drive was bid at $11,985.66.

•Ellingson Motors of Wayne turned in a bid for the two-wheel drive vehicle at $9,475, with trade-in $9,275. The four-wheel drive base bid from Ellingson Motors was $11,985.46.

The council tabled a decision on the vehicle purchase until the bids were reviewed by the city department officials.

•Appointed Paula Pfeuffer to the Wayne City Planning Commission and Board of Adjustment.

•Authorized the transfer of real estate. The city of Wayne traded some city property (across from the Gerhold Concrete Company, Inc. east of Wayne) to Gerhold. In return, the city has received property (the former Husker Concrete plant in Wayne) from Gerhold. No money was exchanged in the property for property sale.

THE CITY plans on using the former Husker Concrete plant building for storage. The property will eventually become part of the ballpark complex, according to Kloster.

•Approved a special liquor license permit request from the Eagles for an upcoming banquet and dance at the National Guard Armory.

•Learned that the Wayne Toastmasters have donated a bulletin board to the fourth floor meeting rooms at city hall.

•Were informed that the Wayne Police Department received $25 from the Wayne Woman's Club for the McGruff program.

•Was notified that an extension has been made of the Community Development Block Grant that was previously granted to Timpte, Inc. The draw down time frame of the $480,000 in block grant funding for start-up and job training has been extended to June 13 of this year.

•And listened to a presentation by Peoples Natural Gas district manager Tim Conneely concerning a review of 1986 activities.

Conneely said Peoples has been successful in purchasing lower-priced alternate supplies of natural gas which will reduce natural gas rates for the customers in Wayne. New federal regulations now allow distribution companies, such as Peoples, the option to buy natural gas supplies from either the traditional pipeline supplier or from other sources.

Costs and availability of today's natural gas will vary from month to month. Peoples provides retail natural gas service for over 6,400 residential, commercial and industrial customers in the Wayne area.

Conneely said Peoples made 3,160 service calls last year, with 1,075 service calls coming from the Wayne area.

Wayne Expo successful despite spring blizzard

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

A blizzard on Saturday and cold temperatures and blowing snow on Sunday didn't stop this year's version of the Wayne Expo from being as successful as the previous year.

Attendance was high on Friday night and the Saturday omelet feed drew more people than last year. The traffic through the city auditorium was also heavy on Sunday afternoon.

Linda Brown, executive vice president of the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce and of Wayne Industries, Inc., was optimistic about the Expo's success. Merchants she contacted were pleased with the event.

"In spite of the weather," she said. "Over 600 omelets were cooked up by Area Chamber of Commerce volunteers. The omelet mix was donated by the Milton G. Waldbaum Company of Wakefield."

"That amount served was considered more than last year. It continues to increase in popularity," she mentioned.

BROWN SAID the Expo had "a lot of diversity that covered different interests."

She said the Expo was a great way for the exhibitors to show and sell their products.

The Expo chairman was Bill Richardson of Wayne, and the omelet feed chairman was Sam Schroeder of Wayne.

During the three-day event, the Area Chamber of Commerce conducted drawings and distributed up to $200 in Chamber Bucks to those who registered at the Chamber booth.

Winning $15 each on Friday night were Verdel Luth and Lila Swanson of Wayne. The two $10 winners were Marvin Echtenkamp of Wakefield and Bob Bodenstedt of Wayne.

On Saturday, the four $15 winners were All Heckmati, Dale Dennis, Jim Keating and Pat Wattier, all of Wayne. Winning $10 were Ken Dunklau, Irvil Nelson, Lynden Vanderveen and Joyce Jensen, all of Wayne.

The two winners of $15 on Sunday were Donald Carlson and Deb Simmons, both of Wayne. Winning the $10 were Karla Hix and Virgil Loewe, both of Wayne.

CARHART Lumber sponsored the arrival of the Pink Panther character throughout the Expo, portrayed by Phil Reinhardt, a student at Wayne State College.

Winner of The Wayne Herald drawing of a steak dinner for two people was won by Irene Florine of Wayne.

The Wayne Lions Club conducted hearing tests and diabetes test during the Expo event. Providence Medical Center had a cholesterol screening to over 100 people during the Expo. Blood sugar and blood pressure checks were given all three days.

News Briefs

Heart Association meeting

The Wayne County Chapter of the American Heart Association will meet at Providence Medical Center on Monday, April 6 at 7:30 p.m.

Reading Association plans banquet

A special 20th anniversary banquet of the Northeast Council of the International Reading Association will be held Thursday, April 9 in the Student Union on the Wayne State College campus.

The 6:15 p.m. dinner will begin with special introductions to honor founding members and past presidents of the association.

Diane Borgum, librarian and teacher from Sioux Falls, S. D., will speak to the group on the art of storytelling.

Pest control seminar

A seminar covering the basics of developing a cost effective community-based mosquito and fly control program will be held in Norfolk on April 15 at Becker's Restaurant, N. Hwy. 81, from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. The seminar is co-sponsored by the Nebraska Department of Health and the Nebraska Mosquito and Vector Control Association.

Topics to be discussed include: recommendations on insecticides; pesticide safety; methods for controlling pests; state and federal laws regulating the use of insecticides; application methods; and new concepts in controlling mosquitoes.

The seminar is open to the public. The registration fee of $15 includes lunch and is payable at the door.

Lutheran Brotherhood branch meeting

Lutheran Brotherhood Branch 8212 will hold a dinner meeting on Monday, April 6 at the Wayne Vet's Club.

Dinner is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m., followed with a slide program at 7:45 by Helen Njus, branch advisor, on community needs and answers. Informal discussion will be held from 8:25 to 9:30 p.m.

Lutheran Brotherhood Branch 8212 serves the communities of Wayne, Winside, Hoskins, Pilger and Wakefield. Persons in those communities who have a special project or know of a person with special needs and are looking for ideas or funding are invited to attend Monday night's dinner meeting.

There is no cost for the first 45 people who call Les Youngmeyer, 375-3814, or Roy Sommerfeld, 375-4024.

Open house at Wakefield

The Wakefield Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad will host an open house at the fire hall on Sunday, April 5 from 2 to 5 p.m.

Marian Health Center of Sioux City will have their life flight helicopter on display during the afternoon, and cholesterol screening will be offered to visitors.

Persons attending the open house also will be served lunch, including sandwiches.

Plains writers' series

Poet David Dwyer will be at Wayne State College of Nebraska April 8-10 as a part of the Plains Writers' Series. He will give a reading of his works April 9 at 7:30 p.m. in the lounge of the Humanities Building.

Dwyer was raised in upstate New York and graduated from Lemoyne College in Syracuse, N.Y. His first book, Ariana Ollsvos: Her last Works and Days, won the Juniper Prize in 1976 from the University of Massachusetts Press.

For the last 10 years, Dwyer and his wife, poet Kathleen Norris, have resided in Lemmon, S.D., and have established a cable television business there. He has recently been doing work with computers and has written articles about computers.

Winside benefit correction

The Aid Association for Lutherans Branch 1960 of Winside is sponsoring a benefit spaghetti dinner on Sunday, April 5 to help defray medical bills resulting from the illness and death of Mrs. Wilfred (Verna) Miller.

A story in last Thursday's edition of The Wayne Herald incorrectly stated that serving would begin at 11 a.m. The article should have read that serving will be from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. in the Winside Elementary School multi-purpose room.

The menu includes spaghetti, lettuce salad, French bread and beverage, and the cost is $2.50 for adults, $1 for youngsters kindergarten through 10 years of age, and 50 cents for pre-schoolers.

Visiting artist coming to WSC

Printmaker Randy Strathman-Becker will make a presentation at Wayne State College of Nebraska tomorrow (Friday) as part of the college's Visiting Artist Program.

Strathman-Becker will discuss his evolution and involvement in art and his medium—color reduction block printing, a process related to late medieval block books. He will give a slide presentation at 10 a.m. followed by a display and discussion of his works at 11 a.m. At 1:30 p.m., the instructor from Westmar College in Le Mars, Iowa, will present the reduction process and other related topics.

The public is invited to attend any of the sessions, which will be held in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center.

Choir to perform with symphony

The Concert Choir of Wayne State College of Nebraska will perform with the Sioux City Symphony and Symphonic Chorus April in Sioux City. The Sioux City Symphony is under the direction of conductor Thomas Lewis.

Wayne State's concert choir will be singing a piece with the symphony entitled Belshazzar's Feast, written by 20th century composer William Walton.

According to Dr. Cornell Runestad, professor of music and director of the Wayne State Choir, the Wayne State choir is the only college choir that has performed with the Sioux City Symphony four times in the past 11 years. "That is the most that any college choir has done in this area," he added.

Runestad said that one of the reasons for performing with the symphony "is to give the college students an opportunity to work with professionals in music."

Area students pledged

Valerie Rahn and Valerie Bush of Wayne, currently students at Midland Lutheran College, were recently pledged to join Tri Phi Sorority.

Bush, a junior, is a business administration major and participates in Cardinal Key, Student Senate, Student Development Committee, Phi Beta Lambda Business Fraternity, choir, Beagle Dorm Board and Alpha Lambda Delta (as president).

Rahn, a freshman, is a business administration major and participates in band and the college newspaper.

Grain needs increasing in East Bloc

Developed countries like European countries and Japan are important markets for U.S. grain, but the demand for grain isn't likely to rise dramatically in those countries. And while the Third World has tremendous needs, these countries' debt loads limit their purchasing ability. Most experts do see significant and growing markets, however, in East Bloc countries like East Germany, Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Union.

Current U.S. law imposes higher duties on Soviet and East Bloc goods coming into the United States than are placed on the products from most other countries. Our law also prohibits the Soviets and some East European countries from receiving U.S. export credits. These restrictions on access to our markets also tend to limit our access to their markets. Trade, as the saying goes, is a two-way street.

Last week I introduced the Major Export Market Trade Equity Act, which could enhance our sales to East Bloc countries. This bill offers lower import duties to the USSR and other East Bloc countries which are major markets for U.S. exports—in effect, a new trade status which would be called Major Export Market (MEM) status.

THE MEM STATUS would not make the Soviets or other East European countries which do not have Most-Favored-Nation (MFN) status eligible for export credits. It would offer them the same import duties that we offer most of our other major customers. I believe that this legislative change would increase U.S. non-strategic agricultural exports, improve trade relations between the United States and the Eastern European countries, and give U.S. farmers an opportunity to expand their overseas markets.

The bill provides for non-discriminatory treatment for products shipped to the United States by a country which is ineligible for Most-Favored-Nation status, which is a major export market for U.S. goods, and which has a negative trade balance with the United States.

This will not contribute to the U.S. trade deficit because it provides for regular review of the MEM status to assure that countries which are affected continue to have a negative trade balance with the United States. This ensures that the MEM status will benefit us, because if we ever buy more from them than they buy from us, they lose their MEM status.

This new trade status could increase our non-strategic agricultural exports, improve trade relations between the United States and Eastern European countries and give our farmers an opportunity to expand their overseas markets.

This legislation is the result of work which I have done with the American Soybean Association, the National Corn Growers Association, the National Association of Wheatgrowers, and their Nebraska counterparts.

National Science and Technology Week

The third annual National Science and Technology Week begins on April 5. This observation is sponsored by the National Science Foundation and is intended to increase the public's awareness of science, engineering and mathematics and encourage young people to seek careers in those areas.

With economic competition increasing throughout the world, we must seek ways to make the excitement and opportunities in the sciences known to young students. It is upon them that our nation's future welfare depends.

Priority bills to be identified

With more than half of the legislative session finished, the Committee hearings have concluded and the Speaker has asked the senators to identify their priority bills. Priority status means that a specific time will be set aside during a given week for these bills so that they will be debated before the end of the session. Bills that have been voted out of committee but have not already been debated or are not specified as a priority will most likely be carried over until next year.

Each Senator is allowed to select our priority bill. Each committee selects two, and the Speaker picks the remainder based on what he believes are pressing issues. He also may give priority status to bills introduced on behalf of the Governor. This system makes for about one hundred bills that receive special treatment and must be heard before all others.

This year, I have identified LB 261 as my priority. The bill addresses sanctions for individuals that file frivolous law suits and will make an excellent vehicle to include other areas of tort law that should be changed. Since LB 425, the bill I originally introduced to accomplish these modifications was indefinitely postponed in committee. I have chosen LB 261 as an alternative. Even though the bill currently contains only the change to frivolous law suits, it can be amended on the floor. In the weeks to come, I will share with you the various aspects of tort reform—and why changes are necessary.

Capitol Views

by Sen. Gerald Conway

Another bill that is very important to northeast Nebraska that has been identified for priority status is LB 426. This bill, I cosponsored with several other senators including Senator Schellpeper from Stanton who has made it his priority. The bill was drafted to deal with the radioactive waste sites being considered for placement in Nebraska.

THE BILL is currently being rewritten because of both a recent state Attorney General's opinion that raised several questions regarding the bills form and because of the new information that has become available. The Attorney General's questions were not a surprise to any of us, since the bill was only drafted as a vehicle to make sure the issue would be before the Legislature. We knew there would be amendments offered as information was gathered.

Additional language already being drafted will prohibit shallow-land burial of radioactive waste and will require the license holder to be financially liable. A license applicant will also have to seek legislative approval for both his application and the site selection after fulfilling the other requirements that are associated with the Low-Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Act.

The states of Kansas and Arkansas are also reassessing their status as members of the Five-State Compact. The Governor of Arkansas stated that if Nebraska or Kansas withdraw from the Compact he will "lead the charge to withdraw from the Compact." The Kansas Legislature expects to debate a bill withdrawing from the Compact sometime in April. The Kansas House has recently passed a bill to ban shallow-land burial. This will remain an important issue until we can be sure of the safe disposal of these products.

Will state water be for sale?

Should Nebraska sell its water? That issue is emerging as one of the environmental issues of the next decade.

Sen. Loran Schmit of Bellwood says Nebraska would be foolish not to reap a financial harvest from the water lying beneath its soil. He dreams of the day when the revenue from the sale of water will build dams and sewer treatment facilities across the state.

Schmit has introduced two bills dealing with the sale of water. One calls for a study; the other is an ambitious measure that lays the groundwork for future sales.

Senators are expected to approve LB 146, the bill that authorizes a $50,000 study of water sale issues. They are not expected to go beyond that first step.

"I generally have a disdain for studies," says Michael Jess, director of the Nebraska Water Resources Department. "But this is a case where we need a study."

The state needs answers to many questions, Jess says. "Where do we have water we can sell? Where do we have areas of water shortages? Is there a market out there for water? Do we want to promote water sales to generate revenue?"

"We need to develop a political discussion about what the criteria should be for future permits to transfer water," Jess says.

THE POLITICAL discussion has already begun.

The Sierra Club would like to discourage all water transfers—within the state and across the state line. Farm groups like the Nebraska Farmers Union and the Nebraska

Farm Bureau Federation want to discourage transfer of water outside the Nebraska borders, though they would like to encourage transfers within the state.

The leaders of these farm groups know what their members want is probably legally impossible.

A 1922 U.S. Supreme Court decision made it clear that Nebraska cannot prohibit exporting water outside the state unless it also prohibits water transfers within the state.

The rules for water transfer must treat everyone alike. "We must treat people in Colorado the same as we treat those in Nebraska," Jess explains.

Thus simply stopping all transfers out of the state is not a viable option, he said.

These transfers have already begun. Seven irrigators pump water from Nebraska and use it for crops in Colorado.

"Seven isn't very many when you consider the 70,000 irrigation wells in the state," Jess admits. "But the day is coming when we will be faced with more of these applications. Seven may become 700 or 7,000."

AND THE WAY the current law is written it is almost impossible to reject a transfer request, he said.

There is a market for water, he says.

"Everybody in the Great Plains knows we're sitting on the Ogallala Aquifer. We've got more water than any of the surrounding states. It's just natural they're going to look here."

And when that happens the state must be prepared with an answer—will we sell our water?

"To do nothing is to ignore reality. This issue is not going to go away," Jess says. "Exporting water will happen. It may not happen until the next century. Or it may come sooner."

Letters

NRD defense

Some allegations were made during the debate on LB 148 that pertained to the lack of frugality of Natural Resource Districts. The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resource District does have the record and the policies to refute such allegations.

The number of employees has stayed the same for the past 15 years! This is remarkable considering the changing and increasing workload. Vehicles consist of 3 pickups and 4 compact cars. They have well over 100,000 miles when they are traded. Planting grass and trees require the ownership of 6 grass drills, 2 tractors and 4 tree planters. Office facilities are leased. The cost to the taxpayer is practically nothing as some office space is subleased to offset NRD cost. We do own 2 computers, 1 copier and other minor office equipment. Administration and equipment costs are minimal and efficient!

The workload and responsibilities of the NRD's have increased dramatically the past few years due to state and federal mandated programs. Conservation of soil and water has always been the primary mission of the Lower Elkhorn NRD. However that process has been accelerated with the conservation compliance provision of the 1985 Federal Farm Bill. Land treatment could be completed in about 50 years at current funding levels of the federal, state, and local governments. The Farm Bill requires completion in 9 years. The LENRD response has been to eliminate incentive programs, reduce cost share and to limit cost share to only the most efficient SCS practices.

The groundwater protection bill and the chernigation bill are state programs, most of the responsibilities have been delegated to the present staff. There will be 3 additional part time employees plus the necessity of more rapid replacement of vehicles.

The Nebraska Erosion and Sedimentation law will not require additional staff or equipment. The federal conservation compliance provisions of the farm law will reduce the impact of this law.

In conclusion:

The LENRD can cope with most of its responsibilities with minimal increases in staff and equipment by increasing efficiency and workload. There will be no increases in administrative overhead and equipment purchases as has been alleged.

The LENRD cannot cope with the increased demand for land treatment without drastic increases in revenue. Northeast Nebraska has a very large number of highly erosive acres. Some of this land will be enrolled in the Federal Conservation Reserve Program. But to accomplish the necessary land treatment of the remaining land, it will require huge expenditures from landowners and revenue from federal, state and local governments.

LB 148 can increase revenues in 1987 to approximately 1986 levels. But local tax revenues will be less in 1987 and 1988 due to decreased property valuations.

I do understand the impact of taxes on the rural economy! I also understand that farmers are beginning to feel a sense of frustration and urgency in dealing with conservation requirements.

The LENRD will do its best to get the job done—and it is not true that increased revenue would go to higher administrative costs and equipment. It will go to putting conservation on the land.

Director, LENRD

Viewpoint

New look

Our readers should take note of some changes of appearance and some new features, in this edition and future editions, of this publication.

One of the features we will introduce is a column entitled "At A Glance" which will be featured on the front page of each forthcoming issue. It will consist primarily of short news topics, upcoming community events and the weather report. What appears in the column will remain at the discretion of the editor or other editorial staff members.

Another feature that has been reintroduced, which will appear in the Monday editions on our editorial page will be "Way Back When"—a historical account of what was reported in our newspaper 10, 20, 30 and 40 years ago.

We have found, through our readership surveys, that this feature was one of those that was missed by our subscribers. And we are happy to begin it again.

Appearance-wise, our readers may detect a different look on the front page of our newspaper. In the box spaces will be references to inside articles that appear throughout the newspaper.

They are called "teasers", and that's just what they do. On the inside, we used a different style and point size of type for the page headings and made changes in the layout. In doing this, we hope that our readers will find the pages cleaner and easier to identify.

Other appearance changes involves use of pictures in the columns of the sports editor and news editor and changes in our "standing heads."

Why the change, especially when the newspaper has won general excellence awards and front page awards in the past?

First, because we like to offer our readers a refreshing change. People paint a room when they get tired of looking at the color over and over again, or they rearrange the furniture for a change of pace.

Likewise, we did some design changes to keep the readers' interest.

Second, it creates some enthusiasm among staff writers and composition staff members and will help, we hope, in presenting an even better product.

Through the work of the editorial staff, composition staff and darkroom technician, we have come up with what we feel are moderate, yet noticeable changes.

Some of the changes were incorporated from the ideas submitted through our readership surveys that have been mailed out with subscription renewal notices.

Other ideas from the surveys could possibly be used in the future.

We would certainly welcome comments on our new format, accepting criticism as well as compliments on our new arrangement.

Grand Expo

From different perspectives, the Wayne 1987 Expo can be marked down as successful.

One reason for the success can be attributed to the diverse exhibits and activities. The blood sugar, blood pressure and cholesterol testing by Providence Medical Center; the ear testing and diabetes screening by the Wayne Lions Club; and the omelet feed sponsored by the Area Chamber of Commerce were positive influences in drawing the crowd to the city auditorium.

All who helped or participated in the Expo should be commended for their efforts.

Briefly Speaking

Johnson observes 82nd year

Cliff Johnson of Wayne entertained his family at the Black Knight last Friday evening for his 82nd birthday. Following dinner, the group returned to the Johnson home.

Among those attending were his four children and their spouses, including Mr. and Mrs. Don (Barbara) Pedersen, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan (Hollis) Frese and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Johnson, all of Wayne, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim (Cheryl) Duff of Orchard.

Also attending were 10 grandchildren, along with their husbands and wives, and 10 great grandchildren.

The relatives came from Minneapolis, Kansas City, Orchard, Wakefield, O'Neill and Wayne.

Bake sale, luncheon in Laurel

The Immanuel Lutheran Women's Society of Laurel will hold a bake sale and luncheon on Saturday, April 4 in the Laurel City auditorium.

The bake sale begins at 10 a.m., and a lunch of casseroles, salads, pies and rolls will be served beginning at 11 a.m.

The public is invited to attend.

Quilt Guild to form

Quilters at any level of skill or interest are invited to an organizational meeting for an area Quilt Guild on Monday, April 13, beginning at 7:30 p.m. at the Norfolk Arts Center, 803 Norfolk Ave.

The guild will promote quilting through speakers, demonstrations, field trips and other activities. Members will share ideas, projects, skills and enthusiasm for the art of quilting.

Persons who would like additional information about the meeting are asked to call or write Diane Harris, 2704 Dover Dr., Norfolk, Neb., 68701, telephone 371-7543.

Compassionate Friends meeting

Mrs. Jan Heller of Atkinson will be guest speaker at the April 9 meeting of The Compassionate Friends. Mrs. Heller's presentation is entitled "Life is Fragile — Handle With Prayer."

The Hellers' son, Jeff, died of leukemia in 1971. In her presentation, Mrs. Heller tells about Jeff's illness and death and how they dealt with their grief. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Cafeteria Room A at Lutheran Community Hospital in Norfolk.

The Compassionate Friends is a support group for parents who have had a child die. Anyone is welcome to attend the meetings, whether the child's death has been recent or took place many years ago.

Persons who would like additional information about the organization are asked to call Rachel Nelson in Norfolk, 371-9515.

Guest attends Toastmasters

Del Peck of Harrington, Toastmasters Area Governor, was a guest at the March 24 meeting of Sunrise Toastmasters Club in the Wayne City Hall meeting room.

Darrell Miller served as toastmaster for the day. Fauneil Bennett gave her speech for the club's fall tale contest. Table topics were responded to by Kathy Rasmussen and Gerry Boatman. Boatman was named winner of the fall tale contest.

Sunrise Toastmasters meet each Tuesday at 6:30 a.m. at Wayne City Hall. All interested persons are invited.

Minerva meets in Lentz home

Hazel Lentz was hostess for the March 23 meeting of Minerva Club. Attending were eight members and two guests, Mrs. Dorothy Cull and Marie Skokan. Mrs. Skokan presented a program on her recent trip to India.

Arlene Ellermeier will be the April 13 hostess at 2 p.m. Norma Koeber will present the program on Afghanistan.

Immanuel Ladies Aid meets

The Rev. Steven Kramer led a continued study of the Lord's Supper during the March 19 meeting of Immanuel Lutheran Ladies Aid. Hazel Hank conducted the business meeting.

Alma Weiershauser asked for volunteers to assist with a quilt for LWML and set April 6 at 9 a.m. to complete it.

Helen Echtenkamp presented an estimate she had obtained for redoing the kitchen walls. Painting is scheduled to begin soon.

It was decided to continue visiting the Wakefield Health Care Center every month. Bonnie Nelson is to check with Wayne Care Centre about monthly visits there.

It was announced that Aid members who have belonged for 35 years or more will be honored with a program at the May meeting.

Serving on the cleaning committee for April are Kelly Heithold, Alta Meyer, Vernell Nelson and Neva Echtenkamp.

Nila Schuttler and Vernell Nelson served lunch to the 18 members.

Policy on Weddings

The Wayne Herald welcomes news accounts and photographs of weddings involving families living in the Wayne area.

We feel there is widespread interest in local and area weddings and are happy to make space available for their publication.

Because our readers are interested in current news, we ask that all weddings and photographs offered for publication be in our office within 10 days after the date of the ceremony. Information submitted with a picture after that deadline will not be carried as a story but will be used in a cutline underneath the picture. Wedding pictures submitted after the story appears in the paper must be in our office within three weeks after the ceremony.

Cornhusker Boys, Girls State delegates named from Wayne

Matt Hillier and Katy Griess have been selected to represent Wayne at the 1987 session of Cornhusker Boys and Girls State.

The event, which is designed to teach youth constructive attitudes toward American government, will be held June 7-13 on the campus of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Hillier is sponsored by American Legion Irwin L. Sears, Post 43 of Wayne, and Griess is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, VFW Auxiliary, and Wayne Federated Woman's Club.

Chosen as alternates to attend Cornhusker Boys and Girls State were Joel Pedersen and Amy Anderson. All four students are juniors at Wayne-Carroll High School.

HILLIER, 17, is the son of Sidney and Kathleen Hillier of Wayne.

An honor roll student all three years at Wayne High, he has participated in both track and cross country for three years. He also serves on annual staff and is a member of the Wayne Swim Club.

He participated in band and choir for two years, and was a member of Spanish Club two years.

He is a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne and lists reading and drawing among his many hobbies.

MISS GRIESS, 17, is the daughter of Phil and Jean Griess of Wayne. She is a member of the Wayne Presbyterian Church and Presbyterian Youth Fellowship.

An honor roll student throughout high school, she serves as vice president of her junior class and secretary of W-Club, where she also participates in the Big Brother-Big Sister program.

She also is a member of Spanish Club and the high school golf team. She played in band her freshman and sophomore years.

BOYS STATE alternate Joel Pedersen, 16-year-old son of Randy and Rozan Pedersen of Wayne, has participated in football, wrestling and golf throughout high school, lettering one year in football.

He also is a member of the school's W-Club and Boy Scout Troop 174.

GIRLS STATE alternate Amy Anderson is the 17-year-old daughter of Mrs. Pat Malcom of Wayne and Tom Anderson of Wakefield.

She is a straight A honor roll student at Wayne High and serves as president of her junior class, president of Spanish Club and secretary-treasurer of Student Council. In addition, she has served as track manager for the past three years.

Miss Anderson participated in choir one year and served as a flag girl one year. She was treasurer of her freshman class, vice president of her sophomore class, and Wayne's representative to the Hugh O'Brien Youth Leadership Seminar last summer in Omaha.

She is a member of Salem Lutheran Church in Wakefield.

WAYNE'S BOYS and Girls State delegates will be among some 30,000 high school juniors who will participate in this year's program in similar civics workshops throughout the nation.

In Nebraska, over 400 high school juniors are expected to attend the session.

The Boys and Girls State program developed from the concept that youth should be offered a better perspective of practical operation of government, and that the individual is an integral part of and has a corresponding responsibility for the character and success of government.

The candidates and alternates for Cornhusker Boys and Girls State were selected from among students who exhibited the most outstanding qualities of leadership, character, scholarship, loyalty and service to their school.

ORIENTATION FOR Boys and Girls State delegates and alternates is scheduled Sunday, April 26 in Emerson from 2 to 4 p.m.

Lutheran Brotherhood branch officers meet

Lutheran Brotherhood Branch 8212 held a branch officers supper meeting on March 21 at the Wayne Vet's Club.

President Mable Sommerfeld conducted the meeting which opened with a "Lighting the Three Candles" ceremony, assisted by Rosemary Severson, secretary, Lanora Sorensen, publicity counselor, and Gertrude Vahlkamp, family life counselor.

The green candle signifies the unity and joy of Christian sharing and service learned in the home. The purple candle recognizes the Lutheran Brotherhood branch's service to the community of Christ's people committed to aid the Lutheran church for special help needed, and the blue candle symbolizes the branch's service to community and country.

AMONG THE 19 members and guests attending the meeting were Helen Njus of Story City, Iowa, Lutheran Brotherhood unit advisor, and Wayne Langemeier, fraternal branch consultant.

Projects were introduced in the areas of using the Branch Challenge Fund, Disaster Relief, Friends in Deed, and Care and Share projects, to be chosen and put into effect before Nov. 30, 1987.

Njus advised on projects introduced. She also told about Lutheran Brotherhood Friends in Deed Day slated June 13 at Okoboji, Iowa, and introduced the new baptismal medallion pilot program.

Rosemary Severson of Hoskins explained the National Friends in Deeds projects for June 13, and Friends of Lutheran Institutions projects.

ALSO DURING the evening, plans were made for the Lutheran Brotherhood Branch 8212 dinner meeting scheduled April 6 at the Wayne Vet's Club.

Dinner will begin at 7 p.m., followed with a program by Helen Njus at 7:45, and informal discussion at 8:25. Lutheran Brotherhood Branch 8212 serves the communities of Wayne, Winside, Hoskins, Pillger and Wakefield.

Engagements

Pochop-Knepprath

The engagement of Tracy Pochop of Hoskins to Roger Knepprath of Mequon, Wisc. has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Virgil and Verna Pochop of Aberdeen, S. D.

The couple plans a June 20 wedding at Trinity Lutheran Church in Hoskins.

Miss Pochop is a graduate of Wayne-Carroll High School and Dr. Martin Luther College, New Ulm, Minn. She is a teacher at Trinity Lutheran School in Hoskins.

Her fiancé is the son of Mrs. Lucille Knepprath of Saukville, Wisc., and the late William Knepprath. He graduated from Kettle Moraine Lutheran High School, Jackson, Wisc., and attended Northwestern College, Watertown, Wisc. He presently is a student at the Wisconsin Lutheran Seminary, Mequon, Wisc.

Nuss-Gentzler

Mr. and Mrs. Jean Nuss of Wayne announce the engagement of their daughter, Lisa, to Craig Gentzler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gentzler Jr. of Plainview.

Miss Nuss is a 1978 graduate of Wayne-Carroll High School and received her bachelor of science degree in community service counseling from Wayne State College in 1982. She is employed with Brookings Area Adjustment Services as a community living facility instructor in Brookings, S. D.

Her fiancé graduated from Plainview High School in 1978 and received an associate degree in business management from the University of South Dakota-Springfield in 1980. He received his bachelor of science degree in business management from Wayne State College in 1982, and is employed as merchandise manager at Pamida, Inc., Brookings, S. D.

The couple plans a May 23 wedding at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne.

Dixon County

Cultural Arts Contest entries due April 14

Official entry forms for the Dixon County Cultural Arts Contest are due in the County Extension Office by April 14. Judging will take place on April 20.

Sponsored by Dixon County Home Extension Clubs, the contest features two categories — photography and quilted items.

Photography entries should depict "Nebraska the Good Life," classified in Division A (black and white) and Division B (color).

Quilted items will be classified in Division A (quilts of all sizes) and Division B (quilted items as vests, pillows, hangings, etc.).

ALL INTERESTED persons, youth and adults, are invited to enter the contest. Adults need not be a member of a home extension club. All entries must be pre-entered by submitting the official entry form to the Dixon County Extension Office by 5 p.m. on April 14.

Exhibits should be brought to the Dixon County Extension Office for judging at 4 p.m. on Monday, April 20. First and second place prizes will be awarded in each division.

Contest details and official entry forms are available at the Dixon County Extension Office.

ALL ENTRIES will be on display from 6 to 9 p.m. on April 20 at the Northeast Research and Extension Center near Concord.

The public is invited to visit the display and have refreshments served by Dixon County Home Extension Clubs.

Members of the Cultural Arts Contest committee are Vandelyn Hanson and Judy Martindale, both of Concord.

Parenting conference scheduled in Lincoln

"Parenting: Positive Perspectives" is the theme for the 16th annual Nebraska La Leche League Conference slated April 10-11 at Lincoln's Comhusker Hotel.

Banquet speaker Friday night will be Fiora Colao, author of "Your Children Should Know," and co-director for the Safety and Fitness Exchange Children's Creative Safety Programs. Her address will focus on how to protect our children and help them protect themselves from attack and abuse.

Presenting the opening address on Saturday will be Marian Tompson, a founding mother and first president of La Leche League International.

Tompson is a published author, has testified before congressional hearings on health, nutrition and science, is internationally sought as a speaker, and has made numerous television appearances.

Tompson serves as executive director of the Alternative Birth Crisis Coalition and is on the advisory board of the National Association of Parents and Professionals for Safe Alternatives in Childbirth.

OTHER SPECIAL guests on Saturday include Ardelle Margrave, nutrition counselor and Montessori teacher, Omaha; Dr. John Campbell, M.D., Lincoln; Dr. Paul Nelson, M.D., Omaha; Pam Ahearn, regional administrator of La Leche League International, Indiana; and Herb Lingren, extension specialist, University of Nebraska.

The program also will feature over 30 different panels and workshops covering many aspects of family life.

Discussion will center around such topics as parenting each age from birth to teens, discipline, nutrition, schooling, allergies, keeping your children safe from crime, grief, birth options, and the basics of breastfeeding.

Special activities are planned for children four years old and up.

CONTINUING Education Units are being offered for nurses in conjunction with the conference.

For more information and registration materials contact Karen Heimes, Hartington, or Sally Olson, 6811 Sunshine Dr., Omaha, Neb., 68107.

The Golden Years by Gil Haase

Debbie Lowery, a designer of retirement communities for the past ten years, teaches classes at the Fashion Institute of Design and Merchandising. So they can better understand the problems faced by the elderly and handicapped, Lowery has her students simulate being wheelchair-bound or having poor eyesight by taking three-hour field trips to department stores in wheelchairs or wearing vaseline-coated eyeglasses to simulate cataracts. "I could explain older persons' problems all day long to my students," she says, "but they'd never understand until they experienced the predicaments for themselves."

Early retirement is a popular trend. According to a government survey of new Social Security recipients, only 9 percent of men and 4 percent of women are delaying their retirements until age 66 or later.

Remember When? 1934 - The smash hit Broadway musical of that season was "Anything Goes"; the music was written by Cole Porter.

Three-point
goal lives

Starting next fall high schoolers will join their college counterparts in the three-point assault.

March 24 the National Federation of High School Athletic Association adopted the three-point field goal for all high schools across the country. The rule will become mandatory for boys and girls next season.

Most of the coaches and administrators I talked to were in favor of the rule change. They also agreed that the three-point shot will add yet more strategy to the game.

James Riley, executive director of the Nebraska School Activities Association, said he thought the three-point rule would have eventually been installed in the state of Nebraska.

Riley said on March 19 the NSAA sent out questionnaires to state high schools to see if there was enough interest in the three-point shot. He said looking through some of the early responses the three-point rule was favored on two of every three questionnaires. Last season eight states used the shot in high school games. Iowa was one of the states with the three-point shot.

Wayne boys' basketball Coach Bob Uhing said the new rule will help Nebraska basketball. He said kids will have to practice shooting more and develop a weight program to become good outside shooters.

"It will add more strategy to the game," he said. "Late in the game when you're up by three points you may decide to foul and let them shoot two free throws rather than allow a three-point shot."

On the other hand Marlene Uhing, girls' basketball coach at Wayne, said it wouldn't hurt her feelings if they didn't change the rule. But she said it will add a good dimension for fans and players.

"The guards will love it," she said. "The girls are already excited about it."

She said the 19.9 shot won't be for all girls. The coach said many of the girls won't be strong enough to hit the shot. Wayne State women's Coach Len Klaver agreed with Uhing. He said he doesn't think that many high school girls will be able to hit the shot consistently.

The CSC and District 11 used the three-point shot on an experimental basis for the women. The Lady Cats hit 49.170 three pointers this year.

Wayne State men's Coach Steve Aggers said he didn't vote for the rule at the college level last year but after playing with it for a year he is in favor of it.

"It did what they said it was going to do," he said. "It increased scoring and made the fans more aware."

But Aggers continued by saying he is a little leary of the rule at the high school level. He said he would rather see the kids work on fundamentals while in high school.

Bob Uhing said the three-point rule may allow some athletes to play on the college level who otherwise aren't quick enough or tall enough to play college ball. He said the rule will really benefit the kids who play ball year-around.

Marlene Uhing said the rule will become critical at the end of the game.

"Six points used to be three possessions, now with the new rule it cuts it to two possessions."

The coaches said they hope the implementation of this rule won't lead to the national federation making other wholesale changes on an already good game.

"I think it was a good decision by the national federation. Rather than having some states try it and others not, it's better to unify the entire high school program."

Bob Uhing said a team that shoots 33 percent from three-point range will outscore a team that hits 50 percent of its two-point field goals. Is that good or bad?

A hurdler and his dog

DARIN BLACKBURN, hurdler at Wayne State, takes a four over the hurdle during practice Tuesday. The junior from Malvern, Iowa was accompanied by his puppy. Blackburn and teammates were putting in last minute preparation for the Kearney State Invitational on Saturday.

Koenig honored

The Wayne-Carroll Winter Sports Banquet was held Tuesday night at the high school.

Don Koenig was presented a plaque by W Club President Bill Liska. The special award was given to Koenig for his volunteer services as W Club sponsor, organizer of the Big Brother Big Sister Program in Wayne, athletic trainer and assistant football and wrestling coach.

Letters and certificates were also given to students out for winter sports. Sixteen seniors, five juniors, 17 sophomores and five freshmen were honored.

350 expected

Blizzard cuts crowd at wrestling tournament

The blizzard that hit most of Nebraska and Iowa over the weekend put a damper on the Wayne Little Kids Wrestling Tournament Saturday at Wayne-Carroll High School.

Many of the 90 kids had a tougher time wrestling their way to the tournament than they did competing against other wrestlers.

Tournament officials expected more than 350 kids to compete in the one-day tournament. As it turned out only about one-fourth of the expected number showed up the day of the meet.

Wrestlers from as far away as Little Sioux, Iowa, Stanton and Battle Creek braved the elements to compete in the state-qualifying tournament. The top four wrestlers from each division will move on to the state meet this Saturday at the Bob Devaney Sports Complex in Lincoln.

Locally, 50 Wayne wrestlers and three Winside grapplers qualified for the state meet during Saturday's competition. Wayne had 18 division winners and Winside had one champion.

First place finishers were Matthew Meyer, Michael Gries, Brendon Huffman, Jeremy Meyer, Ryan Korh, Cory Exlieben, Nathan Robins, Chad Fries, Kurt Lantz, Joey Bartholomaeus, Matt Robins, Regg Carnes, Jim Hoffman, Chris Janke, Mike DeNaeyer, Jeff Struve, Rusty Hamer and Jason Ehrhardt of Wayne and Jaimey Holdorf of Winside.

Second-place finishers were John Webb, Toby Thompson, Terry Hamer, Chris Davis, Travis Koester, Andrew Rise, Chris Headley, Jeff Hamer, Chad Stalling, Randy Kaup, Jason Wehrer, Craig Hudson, Randy Johnson, Jason Fink, Eric Cole, Trevor Weber, Dave Howitt and Matt Bruggeman of Wayne and Marc Janssen of Winside.

Third-place qualifiers were Rob Sturm, Micky Rutenbeck, Lucas Shultheiser, Jeff Smalley, Ryan Wheeler, Ryder Hoffman, Matt Rise, Brent Gamble, Jason Henseleit and Brian Gamble of Wayne. Fourth-place finishers were Andy Brasch, Zachary Pierce, John Lempe and Troy Kaup of Wayne and Ben Fate of Winside.

Several other Wayne and Winside wrestlers qualified for the state meet at other tournaments during the season.

Roberts places second

Wayne resident Tom Roberts earned a second-place finish in the USA Arrowhead Open in Glendale, Arizona last weekend.

Roberts, seeded second in the men's 50 division, received a first-round bye. He advanced to the finals by blanking George Bruce in straight sets 6-0, 6-0. In the finals against Joe Schone Roberts came out strong winning the first set 6-4. He lost the championship by dropping the last two sets by identical 6-3 scores.

Allen weight training

The staff at Allen Consolidated Schools is currently working on a weight training program that will be used for both physical education classes and as a strength and endurance conditioning program for those students out for Allen athletics.

In order to purchase additional equipment the school is asking for donations. All contributions can be made out to Weight Fund, Allen Public Schools.

The donations will be used towards the purchase of a universal weight machine and additional weight equipment.

Powerlifting
championship

Wayne State College will be the site of the 1987 Nebraska State Powerlifting Championship hosted by the Wayne State Barbell Club.

Competition will begin at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at Rice Auditorium, according to co-chairmen Levi Webb and Rich Brandt.

Lady Cats go 1-1 at Emporia State tourney

The weather permitted the Wayne State women to get in only two games over the weekend at the Emporia State Invitational Tournament before wet conditions cancelled the tournament.

The 12th-rated Lady Wildcats split their two games. In the opener they downed Morningside College 9-4. The locals dropped the second game to CSIC by Missouri Western 2-1. The two-game split upped the Lady Cats' record to 7-4.

Against Morningside the locals exploded for four runs in the first inning. The first four batters reached base and scored for the Lady Cats. The big blow was a two-run single by junior Kathy Didier. For the game the first baseman finished with three ribbies and two hits.

Morningside responded with four runs in its half of the first inning to tie the score. But from there pitcher Rhonda Peck shut down the Lady Chiefs on just four hits in the last six innings.

Wayne State took the lead for good in the fifth with a pair of runs. Michelle Blomberg reached on a single, stole second and scored on a base hit by Mary Jean Guenther. Guenther collected the second stolen base of the inning and came home on a hit by Didier.

The Lady Cats closed out the scoring with three runs in the sixth inning. Shell Schumann started the frame with a base hit. She advanced to second on a bunt by Peck. With runners on first and second Coach Marilyn Strate called for a double steal, both Schumann and Peck were safe. Schumann then scored on a sacrifice by Paula Dolesh and Peck came around on a past ball. The scoring came to a close when Blomberg reached base on a walk, stole second and scored on a double by Guenther.

Guenther, a West Point native, had the big stick. The senior second baseman was 3-4 with two RBI and two runs scored. Peck was the winning pitcher. She got the win by allowing only two runs in eight innings while walking only two. The Beemer native raised her record to 3-0.

In the game against Western, the Lady Griffons pushed across a run in the top of the seventh to earn a 2-1 decision.

The game was a defensive struggle. The Lady Cats collected six hits while Western stroked five hits. The locals took the early lead with a single run in the fourth inning. Shelle Tomaszklewicz scored after she ripped a triple and came across on a double by Mary Lingelbach.

The Lady Griffons knocked the score in the fifth inning when left-fielder Lori Flaherty tripped and scored on a sacrifice.

The Lady Cats had a chance to take the lead in the sixth inning. Wayne State had three baserunners in the inning but couldn't push across a run.

Western started the winning rally when April McDaniel opened the top of the seventh with a single. She scored the winning run on two consecutive errors by the Lady Cats. Wayne State went down in order in the bottom of the seventh.

Wayne native Ron Johnson took the loss after pitching well. The freshman came on in relief of Lingelbach in the fifth inning. She gave up two runs, one earned run, on three hits. Johnson's record dropped to 2-2. Both of her losses have been close decisions. Her previous loss was by a 3-1 score to the University of Texas-Arlington March 5. Lingelbach allowed only two hits in her four-inning stint.

The Lady Cats were scheduled to play Briar Cliff College on Wednesday. This weekend the women will travel to Sioux Falls, South Dakota to play in a tournament at Augustana College.

Four Cats honorable mention

Hurley on all-state team

Scott Hurley of Wayne State was the only junior named to the 1987 Omaha World Herald All-State Small College First Team as announced Sunday.

Hurley, who was named to the NAIA All-American Honorable Mention Team last week, was the only Wildcat on the first or second team. Four Cats, Byron Haas, Mike McNamara, Russ Rosenquist and Vincent White, were honorable mention selections.

In his first year at Wayne State after transferring from Montana State, Hurley was the Cats' top scorer averaging 17.7 points a game. The Anaconda, Montana native also was Wayne State's leading three-point bomber. He hit 46 percent, 116,249, from beyond 19.9.

Hurley joined Bart Kofod of Kearney State, Brian Hoffman of Doane, Rodney Freeman of Concordia and Todd Hinkle of Dana on the first team. Kofod was selected as the squad's honorary captain. The Omaha senior averaged 26.2 points a game while scoring 902 points this season.

Several other record-setting performances were turned in by the first-team selections. Hinkle closed out his career by setting a new career scoring record at Dana with 2,278 points and Hoffman became the state's all-time leading collegiate scorer with 2,505 points. Kofod also set school marks for field goals in a season, assists in a season, career assists and single-season scoring average.

Second-team selections are Hopson Hawkins of Bellevue College, Gary Shoup of Kearney State, Scott DeBoer of Hastings, Ted Briemann of Chadron State and Brian Cunningham of Concordia.

Honorable mention picks are John Eckerman of Bellevue; Scott Blachly and Phil Tepsira of Chadron State; Dennis Bopp, Scott Kaiser and Dan Vorfmann of Dana; Alexander Kump and John Sikkels of Concordia; Dwight Nicholson, Brad Oltmans and Ken Stadovnik of Doane; Lee Craig Frhm, Bill Gravers and Lee Keller of Hastings; Darren Soucie of Kearney State; Bill King and Mark Williams of Midland; Steve Brugman, Scott Miller and Bill Weed of Nebraska Wesleyan; and James Collins, Kevin Mowery and Mike Yates of Peru State.

Stelling of Wakefield topples two records at B-R Invitational meet

The Wakefield girls' track team opened the 1987 season in fine fashion Friday by placing second at the Bancroft-Rosalie Invitational Track Meet held at Lyons-Decatur Northeast.

Lyons-Decatur won the girls' division with 136 points. The Lady Trojans followed with 110 points. Emerson-Hubbard finished a distant third with 64 points followed by Tekamah-Herman and Beemer rounding out the top five.

Wakefield won five events in its second-place finish and set two new school records. The Lady Trojans claimed first in the 1,600 and 3,200-meter relays. The team of Theresa Stelling, Laurie Plendl, Sheila Anderson and Cathi Larsen ran a 4:38.9 in the 1,600 and a 10:55.5 in the 3,200. The Lady Trojans placed second in the 400-meter relay in a time of 57.2.

Kodi Nelson earned third place in the discus with a toss of 95.5. Kim Hayes of Lyons-Decatur won with a throw of 111.6.

Stelling and Larson continued to rack up points in the individual events. Larson ran a 2:40.6 for first place in the 800-meter run while Stelling won both the 1,600 and 3,200-meter runs in record time.

The freshman ran an 11:50.3 in the 3,200-meter run, breaking the old school record set by Carla Stelling in 1982. She came back in the day and ran a 5:44.1 in the 1,600 to break the old mark set by Raquel Lueth in 1985. The Lady Trojans rounded out their scoring by finishing two, three in the 400-meter dash. Plendl finished second with a time of 65.4 and Julie Greve placed third in 65.8.

The boys had a rougher go of it. They finished 10th in the 11-team field with five points. The meet was won by Tekamah-Herman with 154 points. Lyons-Decatur placed second with 103½. Omaha Brownell Talbot, Bancroft-Rosalie and St. Edward

Winside, Laurel split
in dual meet at WSC

Winside and Laurel opened their high school track season Friday when the two schools met in a dual meet that was cancelled before its completion.

The boys completed eight events and the girls seven events before cold temperatures forced the remainder of the meet to be cancelled.

Laurel won the boys portion of the meet 41-13 while the Winside girls downed Laurel 51-8.

The Laurel boys dominated the field events. The Bears took the top three places in the shot put and finished one, two in the discus and long jump.

The reverse was true for the Winside girls. They recorded wins in the two-mile relay, shot put discus, long jump, high jump, 100-meter hurdles and the 100-meter dash.

Both teams will be in action Saturday. Winside will compete in the Coleridge Invitational at Wayne State College and Laurel will run in the Plainview Invitational.

"We plan to be in Wayne part of May 21 and 22 at which time we shall hopefully meet with Dean Jacobs. I have been in correspondence with him for some time now," Gramly mentioned.

"Incidentally, my father, Luther W. Gramly, also graduated from Wayne State — in January, 1938," he said.

"At the same time he and my mother, Docia Gramly (now at the

"At that time, I would guess that it was quite unusual for a parent and a child to graduate at the same time."

Jacobs said the college is planning to put together a special reception to the reunited twin brothers when they arrive in Wayne.

PERENNIALS

One of the "in-groups" of plants today are the perennials. The number of perennials carried by garden stores has increased dramatically in the last few years.

These non-woody plants that live three or more years under local conditions can provide color and interest in the garden or landscape throughout the growing season — if given proper attention.

While perennials do not require replanting each year as do annuals, they still require care. Planting a perennial garden is important to ensure continued bloom and desired combinations of color and height.

If you haven't planted perennials previously or haven't succeeded with them, here's a list of the better perennials adapted to Nebraska conditions. These perennials have relatively few insect pests, have a long blooming season and good foliage.

Basket of Gold, Chrysanthemum, Day Lily, Gas Plant, Glorioso Daisy, Garden Phlox, Iris, Peony, Perennial Candytuft, Purple and White Rockcress, New England Aster, and Gallardia.

Oriental poppies are very popular and do well in Nebraska, although they flower for a relatively short time.

The most important factor in determining the success of a perennial planting is soil preparation.

A new NebGuide, Growing Perennials, G87-828, is available at the extension office. It details planning and soil preparation, as well as site selection, planting, watering, fertilization, maintenance, winter protection and dividing and transplanting. It was written by James Locklear, Curator of Plants for the Nebraska State Arboretum; and Donald Stellegger, University of Nebraska-Lincoln extension horticulturist.

Goes in effect Oct. 1

Pseudorabies bill reviewed

The Nebraska Pseudorabies Control Bill, which goes into effect Oct. 1, 1987, contains three key provisions designed to control and eventually eradicate the pseudorabies virus (PRV).

The first provision will affect regulations concerning the sale of breeding swine within the state. Alex Hogg, University of Nebraska-Lincoln extension veterinarian, said the law requires either a PRV-negative herd or be from a pseudorabies-controlled vaccinated herd. This allows a pork producer to choose from these three options.

The second provision governs the interstate and intrastate movement of feeder pigs. Under this provision a new herd status called a "PRV Monitored Herd" will be established for feeder pig producers. A random sample of the breeding herd must be conducted once a year and found negative. The size of the herd will determine how many sows must be tested, but it will vary from five to 30 sows.

"The feeder pig program is divided into two phases," Hogg said. "Phase One runs from Oct. 1, 1987 through Dec. 31, 1988. During this transition period, auction markets will be required to separately pen all feeder pigs sold from PRV-qualified-free herds, PRV-monitored herds, or lots of pigs tested 30 days prior to the sale based on the same percentages of sows that were tested in the random sample. At sale time, these pigs must be identified as to their PRV herd status. These pigs with a PRV status must be sold first."

PHASE TWO begins Jan. 1, 1989 when all feeder pigs sold or imported into Nebraska must be from either a PRV-qualified-free herd, a PRV-monitored herd or lots of pigs delivered and tested 30 days prior to the sale based on the same percentages as in Phase One.

All testing expenses will be the responsibility of the seller, Hogg said.

The final provision states that veterinarians may stock vaccine in advance and that the vaccine can be administered by the veterinarians may stock vaccine in advance and Nebraskans overwhelmingly consider beef their favorite meat due to its taste, convenience, health, and nutrition characteristics.

Results of a study evaluating consumer attitudes in the state by SRI Research Center, Lincoln, were presented to members of the Nebraska Beef Board Thursday in Kearney. Six-hundred adult heads of household were interviewed by telephone during February to determine their meat preferences.

When asked what meat is most convenient to cook, 65 percent said beef while 14 percent named poultry. Seventy-seven percent said beef offered the most cooking variations with poultry second at 12 percent. Respondents said poultry and beef clearly were the best value for what they pay at the grocery store. Sixty-nine percent enjoy cooking beef the most with female respondents choosing beef 4 to 1 over poultry and male cooks were more emphatic in their cooking choice.

Nearly half of those surveyed said they had no concerns about eating beef or red meat. Specific unaltered advantages of beef included: Taste, 34 percent; Protein, 25 percent; Vitamins/Iron, 15 percent; and Healthy/Nutritious, 13 percent. The majority said quality of beef at the grocery store had not changed in the past two years. However, 27 percent said it had improved mainly because it is "leaner" but also "healthier," "packaging" was more attractive, and "appearance" was better.

RESPONDENTS WERE asked whether their beef consumption had changed in the past two years. A net response of 13 percent had noted a decrease. When looking two years ahead, respondents predicted their beef consumption would increase by a net change of three percent.

"We're not out of the woods yet," Beef Board member Lois Jean Hartmann, Hooper, cautioned. "There are some who expect to decrease beef consumption, those from Lincoln in particular, and many of them are pointing to health-related reasons." Hartmann reemphasized USDA's nutrition information showing beef, pork, and chicken were almost identical in cholesterol levels and a recent American Meat Institute study revealing Americans consume 26 percent less fat from meat than just ten years ago. A net nine percent of respondents from Omaha plan to increase beef consumption which represented the largest increase by area in the study.

"It's particularly interesting to me," said Hartmann. "The main reasons for increasing or decreasing beef consumption are both health-related." Referring to misconceptions about beef a few years ago Hartmann observed, "I think we've come a long way in regaining confidence that beef does deserve a place in balanced, healthy diets."

THE STUDY also determined that beef is the favorite meat both in-home and at restaurants in Nebraska. Ninety-four percent of those surveyed said beef was served in the home at least once in the past two weeks and 67 percent in the same time period ate beef in a restaurant. Beef is served approximately once for every time any other meat is served in Nebraska.

Generally, Nebraskans are very active and health-conscious with nearly two-thirds saying they exercise regularly, two of five watching calories, for five watching fat intake, and three of five being cautious about cholesterol.

A surprisingly high fifty-eight percent said they would be somewhat or much more likely to eat more beef as lean beef becomes available. The industry continues to develop breed and feeding combinations that produce leaner animals without affecting the popular taste of beef.

The consumer study is the first of a three-part project conducted by the Nebraska Beef Board to better understand the preferences Nebraska consumers have about beef and to strategically plan marketing efforts funded by a marketing and promotion assessment paid by all producers.

The Farmer's Wife

by Pat Melerhenry

I finally got my "Snow Day." Only problem is, I meant for it to happen on a day when I was supposed to go to work, not to church. I had a friend stranded at the Ft. Kearney Inn for three days. Why couldn't that happen to me?

Actually, we had been hearing about the blizzards in the west with amazement, wondering how we could continue to miss out. There really is a direct correlation between our calving and spring snowstorms. It's what you get for starting in March, I guess.

The Big Farmer had to get help this morning for a baby whose foot was turned. Doc Rademacher couldn't get here, but Dick managed to get it somehow. Even Monte and Sue were in the barn at 6:30 a.m.

The trouble with being snowed in with extra people around is that I have to keep cooking and baking. Even now, the cinnamon rolls are raising.

Neighbor Chick does the same thing; and delivered a plate of kolaches at 4 p.m. This does nothing for the diet.

I'M WORRYING less about the excess poundage these days. I've been reading articles that say that fashion magazines have been dictating an extremely slim female body the past decade.

They point out that the pin-ups of the 50's had considerably more curves and pounds than today's models.

And they emphasized that the Metropolitan Life height and weight charts have been revised, realistically.

There is even some evidence that shows increased longevity when women are 20 percent over their young weight.

I was at Bryan Hospital last month and picked up an interesting magazine in the waiting room. It's called BBW and stands for Big Beautiful Women.

There were letters to the editor that broke my heart: stories of diet pills prescribed at an early age, guilt feelings and awful jokes made about being overweight.

THERE WERE articles about having self esteem and being satisfied with the people we are and bright, bold fashionable clothes modeled by "Big Beautiful Women."

Just one thing bugged me: all the male models in the ads were slim and trim. I couldn't decide what message that gave.

Something I read this afternoon stated that Michael J. Fox is 5'4" and Dudley Moore is 5'3". Another reminder not to judge by body size, height or whatever.

Think I'll sample the cinnamon rolls now!

I've referred to the "black humor" that has helped rural people cope with the hard times. Ag secretary John Block has been the object of some of the jokes.

One says that Block and his aides were circling the Iowa State stadium during a farm rally. The secretary was stricken by a burst of compassion.

"I think I'll throw this $100 bill out the window and make one farmer happy," he said.

"Wait, Mr. Secretary," an aide said, "I've got two $50 bills. You could throw them out the window and make two farmers happy."

The pilot, hearing all this, couldn't resist, "Why don't you open the door and all jump out? You'd make everybody happy."

Allen receives education package

Students at Allen Consolidated School will have an opportunity to study soil and water conservation with a computerized education package donated by Larry Koester, sales representative for Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc.

The educational tool, "Farm and Food Bytes — Soil and Water Conservation," is designed to educate students about agriculture. Program material can be tied to existing math, science, social studies, history and language art classes.

Exercises include spelling conservation related terms like erosion, topsoil and terraces, or teaching facts about how soil is formed. There also is an agricultural games section.

Varying skill levels within the program allow students to progress from simple to more difficult tasks, learning about agricultural conservation and computers.

Funding to develop the computer package, which includes a computer disk, teacher's guide and student workbook, was provided by Pioneer Agri-Education, Inc., an Iowa based company, developed the learning package.

"Super Cow" awards

A Holstein cow owned by John Trimble of Humboldt outscored her nearest competitor by over 10 points to win the 1986 Nebraska "Super Cow" competition.

The award was presented to Trimble at the annual meeting of the Nebraska State Dairymen's Association in Columbus March 17.

The top 20 finishers in the 1986 Nebraska Super Cow competition and their cows' scores included Laurence Sprouts, Wayne, who finished at 19 with a score of 10%.

Area farmers attend AMPI meeting

Five area farmers attended the 18th annual meeting of Associated Milk Producers, Inc. (AMPI) in Miamapolis, Minn. on March 23-26.

Attending from this area were Doug Krite and Frank Wickelt of Laurel, Floyd Miller of Belden, Gary Frerichs of Coleridge, and Fred Temme of Wayne. Theme was "Dairy Families Joining Together."

Some 2,000 AMPI delegates, elected officials, management staff and guests convened to review past progress and discuss the future direction of the nation's largest dairy farmer cooperative.

Dairy Herd awards

The Nebraska State Dairymen's Association presented awards in Lincoln recently to Nebraska official Dairy Herd Improvement Association herds for high average butterfat content of milk during 1986.

Area gold award winners (625 pounds and above average) included Dallas and Rebecca Graham of Belden, 633; Anderson Holsteins, Wayne, 689; Donal Nau, Wayne, 657; Lawrence Sproust, Wayne, 662; and Vernon and Carol Bauermeister, Wayne, at 645.

Silver award winners (average 575-624) included Ronald Kittle of Winside, 624. Bronze award winners (average 525-574) were Lane Marotz of Hoskins, 542; and Valli View Farm of Laurel, 546.

Area 4-H'ers play conference

Two Laurel 4-H'ers were selected among 13 4-H'ers to help plan and administer the 1987 Nebraska State 4-H Conference, which will be conducted June 15-19 at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln East Campus. The 91st annual conference, entitled "We the People" will focus on citizenship.

Sara Adkins of Laurel is one of the conference coordinators and Amy Adkins serves as conference assistant.

Nebraska youths ages 14-19 interested in attending the 1987 State 4-H Conference should apply through their local Cooperative Extension Service office.

that the vaccine can be administered by the veterinarian or by the owner when prescribed by a veterinarian. Prior approval must be obtained from the State Department of Agriculture before anyone will be allowed to use the vaccine.

Permission will be granted for infected herds and for herds in which clinical signs have been diagnosed by a veterinarian. Additionally, permission will be given for herds which have tested negative prior to vaccinating: 1-5 sows, all are tested; 6-10 sows, 6 are tested; 10-35 sows, 10 head are tested; 36 or more sows, 30 percent or 30 head, whichever is fewer, are tested.

All herds will be required to test the same numbers listed above once each year to receive continued approval for vaccine use.

"Since swine do become infected with PRV after a monitoring or qualifying test whether vaccinated or not, it is prudent for all pork producers to strictly isolate newly arriving animals and retest them after 21-30 days of isolation," Hogg said.

Queen candidates sought

The Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association is seeking candidates for their local queen to be crowned at the annual banquet in Wayne April 26. She must be the daughter of a feeder who is a member of the association.

In late fall the local queen will compete at the state convention in Kearney.

The present Northeast Feeders queen is Krista Ring, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Ring of Wayne.

Candidates must be between the ages of 17 and 21.

For more information contact Mrs. Ervin Lamplot of Thurston, NE 68062, phone 385-2508 by April 15.

Ron Magnuson

Magnuson honored

Arbie Feeds, Marshalltown, Iowa, recently honored Ron Magnuson of Carroll by presenting him with a unique Deaton Fisher casting of a boy feeding a calf.

The casting is mounted on a block of finished wood containing a personalized plate with Ron's name and the inscription, WE CAME A LONG WAY TOGETHER, FARMER-DEALER SINCE 1976.

Dairymen awards

THE NEBRASKA STATE Dairymen's Association presented awards to owners of herds with high, long-term butterfat production at its annual meeting in Columbus March 17. Five-year silver plaques were awarded to owners of official Dairy Herd Improvement Association herds whose production averaged 510 pounds of butterfat for five consecutive years. Five-year bars for the silver plaques were awarded for continued high production for the second or subsequent five consecutive years. Anderson Holsteins of Wayne received a third silver bar for 20 years, on the basis of 580 pounds for a 85-cow herd. Accepting the award is John Anderson. Donald Nau of Wayne received a first silver bar for 10 years, on the basis of 528 pounds of butterfat for a 32-cow herd.

For crop loss

Insurance deadline nears

Nebraska farmers who want insurance protection for this year's crops must apply by April 15, according to Leo B. Holthaus, Director, Lincoln Field Operations Office, FCIC.

The policies, which provide a backup source of income in case of crop loss, are available on barley, corn, hybrid seed corn, dry beans, grain sorghum, oats, popcorn, potatoes, soybeans and sugarcorn.

Mr. Holthaus points out that crop insurance is available through private insurance companies and independent agents and that the policies are fully supported by the federal government. To assist farmers in carrying the protection, he adds, the government has reduced the producer premium costs by as much as 30 percent.

Although drought continues to rank as the major cause of crop damage, roughly equal to all other causes combined, Mr. Holthaus says tens of millions of dollars in indemnity payments are made each year to policyholders whose crops have been damaged or destroyed by such causes as excess moisture, hail, disease, insects, wind and frost and freeze damage. For most crops, the policies offer insurance protection against all unavoidable causes of loss.

A list of companies who are authorized to write crop insurance policies in your county is available at SCS offices, according to Holthaus. For many farmers, he adds, the decision to purchase insurance could prove to be the most important financial decision they will make during the entire year.

Insect damage likely

Insect damage to corn and soybean seed often is enhanced by prolonged periods of cool, moist weather after planting or other conditions which delay germination.

Fred Baxendale, University of Nebraska-Lincoln extension entomologist, said the major seed-feeding insects in Nebraska are wireworms, seedcorn maggots and seedcorn beetles.

Once seed is planted, there is nothing a producer can do to control seed-attacking insects. "The way to reduce injury from seed-feeding insects is to use an approved seed treatment containing an insecticide such as diazinon or lindane prior to planting," Baxendale said.

In-furrow applications of certain soil insecticides also are reasonably effective. "Finally," he said, "the use of high quality seed and planting into a warm, moist seedbed to ensure good germination are wise practices," he said. "If stands are seriously reduced, replanting is the only feasible recourse."

Wireworm damage most frequently occurs in rotations to corn from legumes, pasture or small grains. Feeding on germinating seed results in stand losses. Wireworms also may feed just below ground level on newly-emerged plants. Wireworm larvae are one-fourth inch to one-fourth inches in length and range in color from light yellow to dark brown.

Seedcorn beetles are one-third inch long and are dark brown with a black oval-shaped marking on each wing cover. Adults will feed on corn seed if other food (insects) is not available. Slender seedcorn beetles, one-quarter inch in length and reddish-brown in color, also attack seed corn and have become increasingly important in the central Corn Belt in recent years.

Seedcorn maggots attack corn and soybean seed shortly after planting. The pale-yellow to white, quarter-inch long insects are legless and lack distinct heads. Injury from maggots is usually restricted to northern regions of the state where soybeans are more likely to be planted into cool, wet soils.

Whisenhunt books published on five states of Texas

Two new books by Donald W. Whisenhunt, provost at Wayne State College of Nebraska, have just been released by the publishers.
The first one, The Five States of Texas: An Immodest Proposal, was published by Eakin Press of Austin, Texas. In this book Dr. Whisenhunt suggests that the State of Texas should be divided into five separate states. A quirk of the law allows Texas to divide without the permission of Congress. Dr. Whisenhunt suggests this "an idea whose time has come."
"I may never be able to go back to Texas," Dr. Whisenhunt said, since Texans probably will not like the idea. "As a native Texan, I probably have more credibility in making such a suggestion than a non-Texan would," he added.
The second book, entitled Administrative Time Management: Tips for Administrators and Aspiring Administrators, was published by University Press of America. As the title indicates, this book deals with the issue of time management and makes suggestions how college and university administrators can manage their time better.
One of the reasons for writing the book, Whisenhunt said, was that he was regularly asked how he could continue to research and write while serving as a college official.
"The answer," he said, "is good time management. I decided it was time to explain how I do it."
THIS BOOK IS for practicing administrators and those who think they might want to be administrators. When asked if it would be appropriate for students in higher education administration programs, Whisenhunt said, "It would be especially valuable for such students to understand how their time will be committed when and if they become administrators."
When asked how it feels to have two books published within one week, Whisenhunt answered, "It's a bit embarrassing. Some people might think I do nothing else." In fact, according to Whisenhunt, he has had four books published since September.
"These four books represent about six years' work," he said. Publishers work at their own pace, he added, and it was simply coincidence that four have been published in one year.
"That will never happen again," Whisenhunt said.
Dr. Whisenhunt has been provost and vice president at Wayne State College since 1983. He is a professional historian as well as college administrator. He has been a teacher and/or administrator at colleges in Kentucky, Pennsylvania, New Mexico and Texas. His wife, Betsy, teaches high school at Walthill. His two sons, Donald and Ben, are graduates of Wayne High School and are both in college.

Choosing A Pain Reliever

Americans currently spend about two billion dollars each year for nonprescription tablets, capsules, and other dosage forms taken by mouth for pain relief. Even though there are virtually hundreds of products, most contain aspirin, acetaminophen, or ibuprofen. Television commercials constantly remind us which is "the" best brand of pain reliever.

However, there is no one pain reliever product that is best for everyone and every type of pain. Arthritis pain, for example, responds best to a pain reliever that also relieves inflammation (aspirin or ibuprofen). Sinus headaches may require a decongestant and a pain reliever.

Persons taking certain prescription medicines, such as blood thinners, should avoid aspirin. Use of aspirin in infants and young children may also be unwise due to the connection between aspirin use and Reye's syndrome. Aspirin may also not be best for individuals who have gastrointestinal ulcers.

Some products contain extra ingredients that may cause side effects in sensitive individuals. Pain relievers that contain caffeine, for example, may delay falling asleep if taken during the evening hours. Products containing antihistamines may cause drowsiness.

Boys, Girls State

Winside delegates, alternates chosen

Mace Kant and Carmen Reeg, juniors at Winside High School, have been selected to attend Cornhusker Boys and Girls State at Lincoln on June 7-13.

They are sponsored by Winside Roy Reed American Legion Post 252 and its auxiliary.

Alternates from Winside are Steve Jorgensen and Cindy Van Houten, also juniors.

KANT, SON of Gary and Julie Kant of Winside, is an honor roll student and serves as treasurer of his junior class.

He is active in Student Council, band, stage band, swing choir, mixed chorus, Fine Arts, annual staff and W-Club.

He has represented his class for the past six years in the mathematics contest, has received science awards for academics the past four years.

and was vice president of his freshman class.

He has lettered in football two years, track one year, and wrestling three years. He attended State Wrestling Tournaments in Lincoln all three years and received a fourth place medal as a freshman and a third place medal as a sophomore.

Kant also participates in summer baseball. As a member of the youth group of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, he has been named to the Society of Distinguished American High School Students.

REEG, WHO serves as junior class vice president is the daughter of Harvey and Janet Reeg of rural Wayne.

She too is an honor roll student and is active in drama, W-Club, band, volleyball, basketball, track, vocal music, Fine Arts, swing choir and annual staff.

She was a Student Council member two years and held a class office as a freshman. In addition, she serves as secretary of the Wayne County 4-H Council and has been active in 4-H for nine years.

She is a member of Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wayne, where she is active in the church youth group and has taught vacation Bible school.

Reeg plans to attend college following graduation.

JORGENSEN, SON of Gene and Carol Jorgensen, is active in band, W-Club, football and wrestling.

He previously served as a class officer and has participated in swing choir two years, and Fine Arts and vocal music one year. Jorgensen lettered in football and wrestling two years, and in his sophomore year qualified for the State Wrestling Tournament in Lincoln.

He is a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church and is active in the church youth group.

AN HONOR roll student and member of annual staff, Van Houten is the daughter of Dennis and Bonnie Van Houten.

She is a former Girl Scout and received a service bar for volunteer community services.

THE BOYS AND Girls State program gives students a firsthand education in the workings of the democratic process.

Lectures will focus on the federal system of government, and the students will form mock political parties, elect leaders, and pass legislation on imaginary issues in a mock legislature.

April 1, 1987

Dear 1987 Graduate:

Congratulations on your approaching graduation! The Diamond Center is offering an unusual opportunity for you to earn credit toward the purchase of anything in our store.

As a graduate of a high school in our trade area, we will be glad to place your name on our credit board. Each credit is worth 1 mil in our store. One hundred credits will be given to you for each dollar spent by anyone naming you their senior.

Every senior can be a winner and all can benefit from this promotion. If you or your friends or relatives spend enough to give you 50,000 credits, you will have $50.00 to spend on anything at the Diamond Center, no strings attached. The amount you have to spend will depend on how many credits you have accumulated by May 30, 1987.

Credits begin April 1, 1987, will stop on May 30, 1987, and must be spent by June 30, 1987.

Sincerely,

OUR LITERACY REPORT CARD.

How literate are America's young adults? The answer depends on what standard you use. If the standard of literacy is that of 100 years ago — that is, the ability to sign one's name — then virtually all our young adults are literate.

If the standard of the World War I era is applied, almost 95 percent of them meet or exceed the performance of fourth-grade students. Or if applying the "War on Poverty" standard of 25 years ago, 80 percent meet or exceed the performance of students in eighth grade.

But what about today's standards? The National Assessment of Educational Progress, with support from a U.S. Department of Education grant, attempted to answer that question "by evaluating a nationally representative sample of 3,600 young American adults, 21-to-25-years-old." A variety of tasks was used to simulate the diversity of literacy activities that people encounter.

"The were judged on how well they could perform such real world skills as reading a map, interpreting a newspaper article, determining the amount of interest from a loan advertisement and filling out a job application.

The report, entitled "Literacy: Profiles of America's Young Adults," concludes that while the overwhelming majority of young adults adequately perform tasks at the lower levels of proficiency, "sizeable numbers appear unable to do well on tasks of even moderate complexity. Only a relatively small percentage of this group is estimated to perform at levels typified by the more complex and challenging tasks."

WHILE YOUNG adults were found to be better educated than at any time in our history, some ominous information was uncovered:

- About four out of five young Americans were unable to use a bus-schedule to select an appropriate bus for departures and arrivals;
- Approximately 63 percent could not follow directions to travel from one location to another using a map;
- Only about 27 percent could interpret a lengthy feature story in a newspaper;
- Roughly 28 percent were unable to write a letter to state that an error had been made in billing;
- About 3 percent could not be expected to enter personal information on a job application, and almost 4 percent could not write a few lines about a job that interests them;
- Approximately 21 percent were unable to locate the gross pay-to-date on a pay stub;
- About 16 percent had trouble completing an address on an order form; and
- Some 34 percent had problems summarizing in writing an argument made in a lengthy newspaper editorial.

IN ADDITION, some of the 3,600 young adults were randomly given oral tasks to evaluate their speaking skills.

One exercise involved a potentially important survival skill — providing sufficient information to the fire department about a fire at home. Thirteen percent did not respond with adequate information for the fire department.

In another exercise, these same young adults were tested on how well they could give directions to the grocery store. Fifty-three percent were judged inadequate; they could not give proper directions. And, almost half (46.3 percent) were unable to provide an adequate description of a movie or TV show.

The study was conducted by the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, New Jersey.

AAL MEETING
A.A.L.—Branch 3019 will host an Educational meeting Saturday evening April 4 with a roast beef supper preceding to be served at 7 p.m. at the Lutheran Church fellowship hall.

Members of the congregation are invited to attend and each family may invite a guest family and bring a salad and a dessert for the supper. All other food for the supper will be furnished.

Gary Miller who is employed at the Northeast Station will speak on "Nebraska History from a Mountain Man's point of view."

Cards of Thanks

I want to take this opportunity to thank the people of Wayne who have meant so much to me during the past five years. I especially want to express my deepest appreciation to those special people who I have enjoyed as patients. I will truly miss you all.

*Thanks again,
Dr. Gene Lodes*

THANK YOU. The only words I can say. I want to thank everyone for their prayers, cards, flowers, and food given me during the past months. To all of you that took me to Sioux City everyday for my treatments, and all of the doctors and staff at Providence Medical Center. Also thanks to my bosses and co-workers at Wayne State College. I could never have made it without my children Todd, Lisa, and Sonja. A very special thanks to my wonderful husband Larry for being so supportive. Vicky Skokan. A2

OUR SINCEREST THANKS to friends, family, and relatives for the cards, flowers, gifts, and the many acts of kindness shown during our time of sorrow. Special thanks to Mr. & Mrs. Myron Jenness, Melvin Lamb, Dr. Willis Wiseman, Pastor Monson, and to the LCW. All was much appreciated and will long be remembered. God bless you all. The family of Curtis Foote. A2

I WISH TO thank all friends and relatives for cards, phone calls and visits while in Omaha hospital and since returning home. Special thanks to Pastor Monson and Pastor Stanton for their prayers and visits. Chris Bargholz. A2
