She'll make history again May 9 at Wayne State when the state's chief adminstrator receives the first Doc tor of Laws honorary degree from Wayne State College during the color or Laws honorary degree from Wayne State College during the college's commencement ceremonies. She will also be Wayne State's commencement speaker.

"We are pleased to honor Gov. Orr with this, the college's highest honor," said Dr. Thomas A. Coffey, president of Wayne State. "Her dedication and commitment to government and the state of Nebraska for the last several years has been most impressive. Wayne State College is looking forward to the future and working closely with the governor and her administration."

The college's spring commencement begins at 2 p.m., with approximately 231 students expected to receive degrees.

Honorary degrees, which are con-Honorary degrees, which are conferred only upon approval from the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges, are designed to differ academic recognition to Individuals not actively associated with Wayne State who have distinguished themselves nationally or internationally.

Gov. Orr's visit to Wayne State is the beginning of what is hoped to be a long tradition at the college — in viting a first-term Nebraska governor to campus to receive an honorary degree, Dr. Coffey said.

ADDED TO THE tradition, with the assistance of the Wayne State Foundation through its Executive Board, a gift of the appropriate academic robe will be given to all new governors. The robe, which will incorporate the official seal of Wayne State College, will be "A lasting memorial to the governor's distinguished honor," Dr. Coffey sald.

With nitrates in water

Belden works to correct problem

The water in Belden really doesn't taste that bad, according to some of my other water in nearby communities.

But over the past year or two, Artene Graham of Belden Grocery has been selling bottled distilled water in gallon containers at a rate of about 20 gallons per week.

It isn't the taste of the water, but what is in the water, which has brought on the bottled distilled water increase in business at the grocery store.

Nitrate levels in the city's drinking water are currently above the state and federal guidelines of 10 parts per million. The nitrate level from the city of Belder's 12 to 15 year old well million. The nitrate level from the city of Belden's 12 to 15 year old well has reached as high as 28 parts per million, according to city mayor Bob McCain.
"The water still tastes good. I can-

OVER THE PAST two years, he said, the nitrate level count had averaged between 18 and 20 parts per million.

the nitrate level has been progressing up the ladder," said McLain. Belden city officials are not denying that the community has a problem with nitrate levels in the town's drinking water. They have been working to rectify the problem for several years and have followed all the necessary steps to comply with state regulations and guidelines. The public has been properly alerted quarterly about the problems with the nitrate. The availability of bottled water has been accessible to the community.

CITY OFFICIALS have also begun the process of digging a new well out-side of Belden. Once a month the city is required to send water samples to the Department of Health for the Department of Health for analysis. The new well will be located less than a half-mile south of Belden. McLain sald a nitrate level of 2 parts McLain sald a nitrate level of 2 parts per million would be ideal. The new well, which was selected after drilling and taking water samples from seven irrigation welfs within a five to six miler radius of Belden, had a fest rate of 4½ parts per million. "That was the lowest reading of all-of them." said McLain.

"The first test hole ended up being the best," he added.
McLain said the city could have gone seven or eight miles beyond the city limits, but that would not have been financially feasible for the size of the Belden.

Recently, Belden residents received a notice from the Department of Health, notifying the residents of the increased nitrate level and allowing the city, of Belden an exemption (within <sup>1</sup>d days upon receipt of the notice) to allow the city to operate its current supply system.

HOWEVER, THE notices distributed (which is a new format that must now be followed by the state after passage of the Clean Water Act) should not be too alarming to Belden residents. Pat Conneally, director of the Tri-County Council of Governments (Tri-COG) in Hartington, who assists communities in making grant applications, mentioned that city officials ig Belden should keep on doing what filey have been doing for the past few years.

what ffey have been doing for the past few years.

"For some time now, Beiden of ticlals have already been giving the residents notices of the nitrate-tware and furnishing water to pregnant women or infants," Connealy said.

One change is that the notices have to be published in a local newspaper in addition to being sent to the city residents, she said.

TRI-COG had assisted Belden city officials with the writing of a $250,600 grant based on a $327,000 projected

Faculty votes on confidence issue

Wayne State College faculty members, voting by secret ballot Tuesday afternoon at Ley Theatre, overwhelmingly gave a no confidence vote regarding the effectiveness of Dr. Thomas Coffey as president of Wayne State. Out of 113 possible voters, 108 ballots were cast. Eighty-eight had voted no confidence in Coffey's effectiveness as president. Seven had chosen to vote confidence in Coffey's effectiveness, while 13 others abstained from voting. Three of the votes were absentee ballots. Prior to distribution of the secret ballots, Dr. J.S. Johar had asked "on behalf of the faculty senate at Wayne State College" for the general ranked faculty of the college (which includes deans, division heads, directors, professional library staff in addition to

A General Accounting Office study completed in 1988 reports that the slow procedures of the Food and Drug Administration prevent it from stopping 45 percent of the contaminated food shipments headed for U.S. consumers. Pesticide inspectors aren't even on duty in the evenings or on Fridays and Saturdays at the major U.S. border crossing from Mexican exports in Nogales, Arizona. These gaps in our imported food testing procedures are serious and must be stopped. I am cosponsoring a bill that would improve and expand our testing and monitoring of imported fresh fruits and vegetables. It

Very simply, Nebraska coped. We know how to handle snow here.

IT'S DIFFERENT in Washington, D.C., from all reports. The capital gets a real winter only about one year in five. This was one of those, with one snowsform after another. The city is simply not prepared to do much of anything when the weather turns bad. When the snow falls down, the government closes down.

The city's equipment for cleaning snow from roads and streets is totally inadequate, and virtually no one in D.C. knows how to drive in snow. So snow. Keeps nearly everybody home schools dose, meetings are postponed and hardly anybody can get to work.

A notable exception of the "If snow, o go" sentiment is to be found among the staffs of the Nebraska Congressional delegations. Knowing their staff members, many of whom hall from Nebraska, do know how to drive on snow and Ice, Nebraska's U.S. Senators and Members of Congress have sometimes asked those folks to report when nobody else could.

The federal government has a policy during such snow emergencies which says only federal employees who are "essential" need turn up/for work. Snowy mornings must cause a for of indecision in Washington, as government workers balance seeing themselves as among the essential against the prospect of staying home and not facing off with the snow-From most reports, most folks determine they're not essential. But the question arises, very quickly, that is they're not essential, why is the government employing them in the first place?

Recently the city council has passed an ordinance outlawing the pit bull dog in Wayne.

The ordinance should be revised to get rid of "all vicious dogs" that reside with their owners in the community, or should be erased.

Can the city feel justified in knowing that there is no pit bull dog in town, when Dobermans or German Shepherds be just as mean and are allowed to be kept inside the city

The dog's upbringing, we feel, plays a large part in what type of behavorial pattern the animal will follow. Some dogs are just trained to be watchdogs and frighten away

Any animal when threatened can be frightened and bite back to protect itself. Even miniature poodles.

Dogs can be equally dangerous out in the country. I've read about young children in the country who have been attacked by dogs and critically injured. But can we limit what people can have for pets in the rural areas?

Give credit to the city for taking a preventive step to protect people from pit bull dog attacks. They are looking out for your children.

But what about the Dobermans? There are more of them

"It would have been nice to have this bill ten years ago when we had a problem," said Sen. Elroy Heiner of Coleridge during first-round debate on the bill. "Even in my area we have hilly ground broken up that shouldn't be."

There are many good farmers in the state, "good stewards of the soil. This bill is aimed at those who abuse the land," Heiner said.

TWO DEVELOPERS have offered site plans to the Compact. Regardless of the results of the now infamous Dames & Moore sitting study, any developer will have to find a site which is geologically sound (The Dames & Moore's study does not guarantee that the sites selected are going to survive further investigation). Also, a developer will have to find a location which is willing to accept a site. In light of the negative publicity this entire, situation has received, there is hardly any consensus that this will occur.

Because of the tremendous expenditure in terms of money and technology, the developers have said unofficially that they would prefer to go where they are wanted and have no real desire to locate where they might be subject to public opposition. I might add that nothing in the Compact rules or the State's Low-Level Radiation Disposal Act permits emisers down also preceded and according to be used.

In other matters, the state Income tax bill, LB 773, was debated on Select File this last week. Another attempt was made to retain the present system and to simply raise the state tax rate from 19% to 21% rather than rewrite the tax code with the schedules offered in the bill. Much of the tax problem we face as a state has risen because of the federal tax changes made over the last seven years.

Because Nebraska has simply fled its rate to the federal tax flability, state tax revenues decreased dramatically with the federal rate reductions while the cost of services has not. The Revenue Committee has done an extensive study on the effects of this plan and feel it is time to establish a stable system that is not continually altered by annual changes at the federal level.

In response to the apparent rejection of Dr. Coffey, president of Wayne State College, by the Faculty Señate, I urge that the Board of Trustees and Gerald Conway, our State Senator give Dr. Coffey a vote of confidence and retain him in his present position.

Grandstand

All good things must come to an end and thank God they did for the Milwaukee Brewers.

The "Brew Crew," who have been playing unconsciously since the start of the season, lost for the first time Tuesday night against the Chicago White Sox at Comiskey Park.

The Brewers, playing with several second and third-year players, were living on borrowd time thanks to numerous four and five-run rallies. They set a new American League record for most consecutive wins at the start of a season be religing five runs in the ninth inning against Texas on Sunday. They tied the major league mark of 13 straight with the 1982 Atlanta Braves by rallying to beat the White Sox 54 Monday night. Mixed in that streak was a no-hitter by Juan Nieves.

and Chicago, 5-8) Not exactly murderers row!

Another thing that must be Another thing that must be kind of discouraging for the Brewers is after winning 13 of the first 14 games they can look in the standings and see they are only two games ahead of the Yankees, who are currently in the process of an eight game win streak. The Brewers can't do anything but get worse after winning 13 in a row.

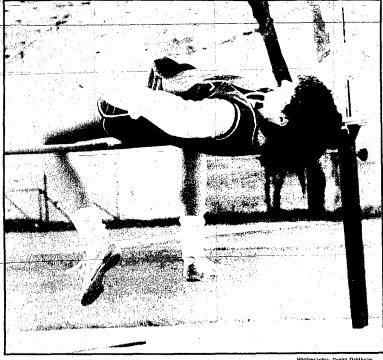

While we're talking baseball I'll got out on a limb and make my predictions for the four divisional races.

In the American League East it should come as no sur-prise who my pick is. The 1987 AL East winner will be the New York Yankees. The Yanks have gotten some help in the only weak area of the team — pitching. The addition of Rick Rhoden and Charlie Hudson in Rhoden and Charlie Hudson in the starting rotation and Cecilio Guante and Pat Clements in the bullpen doesn't give the Yanks the best pitching staff but it should be good enough.

The American League West should be a dog fight, to coin an old sports phrase. After the first two weeks of the season the Minnesota Twins look like the team to beat. The question the team to beat. The question is came they stay on top? California and Kansas Ctl? look to pose the toughest competition. The Angels boast the top pitching staff in the American League but they're playing a lot of young players in the field. Injuries are the key to the Royals success. On a whim I'll take the Minnesofta Twins to win it. Jeff Reardon is already paying off dividends for the Twinkles in the bullpen.

The defending World Cham-Mets, the other team in the Big Apple, have dropped six of its first 13 games. The Mets also have the dublous honor of hit-ling into the first triple play of the season against the Ptrates Tuesday. But as bad as it may be the only team that can challenge the Metropolitans are the St. Louis Cardinals. Everything that could of happened has happened to the poor Cards. With that kind of luck how can they hold on to the top spot. The New York Mets will win the National League East.

In the NL West it appears to be a three-team race for the ti-tle between the Cincinnati Reds, San Francisco Gianti and the Houston Astros. As much as I would like to see the Giants win if I think they will fade in the late summer's heat. So that leaves it between a good offensive team, the Reds and a tough pitching club, the Astros. I think it is a toss up but I'll give the edge to the Houston Astros because I like them better. I never have liked the Reds!

Kwankin, Uehling post records at Beemer meet

Lyons Decatur Northeast made a clean sweep, winning both the boys' and girls' division, at the Beemer Invitational at Memorial Stadium in Wayne Tuesday.

The L-D Northeast boys ran away with the first-place trophy by scoring 131 points. Host Beemer was second with 78 points followed by Ponca, Coleridge and Dodge rounding out the top five. In the area, Allen finished sixth with 37 points, Laurel was seventh with 31 points and Winside was ninth with 21 points in the 13-feam field.

sixth with 37 points and Winside was ninth with 21 points in the 13-team field.

The three area schools turned in four first-place finishes.

The Laurel 1,600-meter freshmen medley relay team of Matt Jonas, Darrin Martinson, Chad VanCleve and John Pehrson turned in a winning time of 4:21.1, almost five seconds ahead of the runner-up. Jyolf Kwankin of Allen was a double winner. The senior set new meet records by winning the 110-meter high hurdles in 15.4 and the 300-meter intermediate hurdles in a time of 41.8. The other championship performance came from Winside's Mace Kant. Kant led from start to finish as he claimed the first-place medal in the 3,200-meter run crossing the finish line In 10:52.4.

The Lyons-Decatur girls were pushed harder than the boys were. Northeast won the team champion-ship with 88 points outdistancing second-place Allen by six points. Ponca was third with 78, Winside wasfourth with 72 points and Coleridge finished eventh in the 12-team field tallying 26 points.

Allen sined six first-place finishes while Winside claimed two winning performances.

Allen's Deb Uehling won both the 1,600-meter run and the 3,200-meter run and the 3,200-meter run and she was a member of the winning 3,200-meter raley team. The senior turned in a new meet record time of 5:54.4 in the 1,600. Her time of 13:12.3 wasn't good enough for a meet record in the 3,200 but it was good enough to win the race without serious competition.

Uehling, Candace Jones, Pam Kennelly and Kristi Chase crossed the finish line in 11:08, 16.6 seconds shead of second-place Lyons-Decatur. Allen also won the 400-meter relay in a time of 54.2. The 400-meter relay in a firme of $4.2. The winning team was made up of Amy Noe, Jones, Missy Martinson and Chase. Jones and Martinson also claimed first-place medals. Jones won the 200-meter dash in a time of $8.1 while Martinson won the 100-meter dash crossing the finish line in 13.3.

Winside got both of its wins in the field events. Tracy Topp won the long lump with a leap of 15-5½ while Christi Thies won the high lump with a best jump of $-0.

Wildcats claw Cornhuskers

It was a story of David and Goliath. Monday when Wayne State took on Nebraska in a doubleheader at Buck Beltzer Field in Lincoln.
Once again David threw the knockout rock as the Cats upended the 16th and 18th-rated Cornhuskers 5-4 in the opener. Nebraska took revenge in the nightcap by dumpling the Cats 14-1.
Wayne State, 23-6, won for only the third time in the 25-game series between the two schools. The last time the Cats won was in 1976 when they scored on a single by designated nitter Pat Salerno.

The Cats stunned the Division I school with solid pitching and timely hitting in the opener. The locals outhit NU nine to seven. Wayne State scored first with a run in the top of the first. Leadoff hitter Date Clayton stroked, a double and scored on a single by designated hitter Pat Salerno.

The Cornhuskers tied the game in the bottom of the first and took the lead 2-1 in the second inning. Back came the Cats as they failled three runs in the top of the third.

After a leadoff strikeout the Cats but together hits by Craig Koehler, Salerno, Mike Hoffart and Gale Bretschneider which accounted for the runs. The host fied the game at 4-4 with a pair in the bottom of the third. But little did they know that would be the last time a Cornhusker would cross the plate in the nineinning game.

would cross the plate in the time inning game.

Wayne State pushed across the winning run in the top of the seventh inning without recording a hit. Hoffart reached base on an error by third baseman Ron Crowe who threw wildly to second base on a ground ball. After Destry Jaeger hit into a double play Bretschneider lofted a fly ball to outfielder Ken Ramos who dropped the ball allowing Hoffart to score.

In the ninth Inning the Huskers threatened to rally for the win. They had the bases loaded but pitcher Randy Raabe worked out of the jam and recorded the win.

Raabe went the distance allowing four runs on seven hits. He held the Cornhuskers scoreless for the last six' innings to up his record to 3-1.

Salerno was the hithing star of the lirst game. The junior was 3-4 with two RBI's and a run scored. Clayton and Bretschneider picked up two hits apiece for the Cats. Bretschneider also stole two bases.

Steve Gewecke, 0-2, took the loss for the Huskers.

Nebraska atoned for their misdoings by taking a 14-1 win in five innings in the second game.

Three Wayne State pitchers worked the game without much success. Jose Ruiz, 3-1, started the game and was given the loss. He worked the first two linnings giving up five runs on three hits. Corey Weinmaster came on and pitched two-thirds of an Inning giving up two runs on two hits. Paul Calvert finished the name in his came on and prinched two-tinings or an inning giving up two runs on two hits. Paul Calvert finished the game in his first pitching appearance of the season. The senior gave up seven runs on six hits.

Phil Lieberher gained the win for the Huskers as he allowed just four-hits and one run. Lieberher upped his-record to 4.0. Nebraska struck for four runs in Wobken, Salerno, Hoffart and Jaeger got the only Wildcat hits, each stroked a single. Wayne State will next be in action over the weekend when they will play in the three-team CSIC conference tournament. The fournament will be hosted by the winner of the Emporia State vs. Washburn game this week. The Cats will be a Miscrept Southern

Johnson loses 4-1

Errors lead to loss 'in doubleheader

Tough luck again struck down Wayne State pitcher Roni Johnson Monday in the first game of a doubleheader against Morningside College.

The Wayne freshman allowed just two hits but the Lady Wildcats dropped a 4-1 decision to the Lady Chlets in Stoux City. The locals rebounded in the second game to salvage an 8-2 win over Morningside. The two games left the women's record at 19-8.

Defense or lack of, caused problems for the Lady Cats. Coach Marilyn Strate said pitching and hitting haven't been the problem for her team after the first 27 games. "Our defense has let us down," she said. "Some of the errors are mental and some are not getting the breaks but it is something that is fixable." Morningside scored two runs off Johnson, 5-4-in the first linning without getting a hit. A one-out walk and a pair of errors on attempted bunts was all the Lady Chlefs needed in the first.

In the first.

Johnson came back and retired Morningside with relative ease in the second and third innings giving up only a one-out triple in the second inning. The hosts made the score 40 in the fourth inning as they scored a pair of runs on one hit with the aid of two more errors. All four of Morningside's runs were unearred.

Wayne State got its only run in the top of the state.

Peck remained unbeaten by tossing a four hitter to boost her record to 8-0. The junior from Beemer gave up two runs in the fourth inning and faced only five batters over the minimum. She retired the Lady Chiefs in five of the seven innings.

Wayne State collected eight runs on five hits. The Lady Cats took a 3-0 lead in the top of the second inning. Shelle Tomaszkiewicz, Shell Schumann and Lisa Jacobsen all scored on just one hit.

The hosts came back and cut the lead to one run with a two-run fourth inning. The locals got one run in the lead to one run with a two-run fourth inning. The locals got one run in the fifth inning when Govig started the frame with a walk and later scored on a single by Peck.

Wayne State put the game away in the top of the seventh inning when it scored four more runs. With one run already in Tomaszkiewicz Jaunched a three-run home run to score pinchrunner Keily Rich and Mary Lingelbach.

Peck also led the Wayne State hit ting attack by collecting two hits and two RBI's, she also scored one run. The Lady Cats stole five bases in the game, Michelle Blomberg had two thefts.

GALE BRETSCHNEIDER is tagged out by the Mount Marty second baseman on a hit-and-run attempt in the first game of the doubleheader. Wayne State dropped the first game but won the nightcap.

Home-run derby nets. split with Mount Marty

The first game of a doubleheader against Mount Marty started about four innings to soon for the Wayne State Wildcats.

Mounty Marty exploded for seven runs in the first four innings enroute to an 8-7 wint over the Cast in eight innings. The locals got even in a big way-in the hightcap at Hank Overin Field by dumping the Lancers 13-3 in five Innings.

The Cats came out flat against Mount Marty in the first game, something Coach Lenny Klaver said he worrled about after splitting a doubleheader with the University of Nebraska he day before.

The Lancers collected three runs in the first inning on two home runs to center field. Five of the Lancers' eight hits in the opener were home runs. Wayne State threatened in the bottom of the first but left runners at first and second.

first and second.
After a scoreless second and third Inning Mount Marty chased starting pitcher Omar Serghini from the game with four runs in the fourth InnIng. All of the runs came on two dingers. Dana Armentrout came on in relief and shut the Lancers down to close the gap to 7-4. Randy Yarke's ylwo-run homer accounted for the oftense. With one away in the top of the seventh Jeff Pasold came on to spell Armentrout. He set down'the last two Lancers in the inning.

The Cat's were down to their last three outs. Paul Calvert led off the bottom of the seventh with a base hit. He went to second on a single by Gale Bretschneider to make it 7-5. With two outs Irving unleashed his second triple of, the game scoring Dean Heying and Bretschneider to the the score. With Irving on third Koehler grounded out to the second baseman to send the game into extra linnings. The Lancers still had one home run left in their bats. With one out in the eighth first baseman Lance Oettling rippped a four bagger to give the visitors an 8-7 lead.

The Cat's had a chance to win the game in the bottom of the eighth.

game in the bottom of the eighth. Wayne State had the bases loaded with two outs but the Mounty Marty pitcher struck out Shultz to end the

The hosts took the lead in the third inning, with three runs. The Cats strung together four hits by Clayton, Koehler, Salerno and Mike Hoffart for the runs.

In the top of the fourth the Lancers pulled to within 4-3 with a single run on a pair of doubles.

The visitors should have nevertaken the field in the bottom of the fourth. After recording two outs Wayne State struck for seven runs to ice the game. The big blow of the frame was a three-run homer by Yarke, his second round tripper of the day. In all 10 locals came to the plate in the inning.

Wayne State ended the game on the to-run rule in the fifth when Kevin Hoffart singled to score Koehler, who doubled. Dale Clayton scored the first run of the trame with a home run. In all, a combined total of 10 home runs were hit in the doubleheader.

Several Wildcats turned in good days at the plate. Yarke, led the parade as he went 4-6 with two home runs and six RBI's. Salerno was 47. Koehler 4-8 with two RBI's, and Hoffart, Bretschnelder and Irving each finished with three hits.

The doubleheader split puts Wayne State at 24-7.

Wayne gals score 33 at Tekamah

The Wayne girls ran in the Tekamah-Herman Invitational Tuesday and tallied 33 points to finish sixth in the II-team meet.

South Sloux City won the invitational with 131 points. West Point was the runner-up scoring 76 points.

Coach Dougo Donnelson said he thought the week layoff hurt some of his team's performances.

The best finish of the day for Wayne was a second place in the 4x100-meter relay. The team of Cindy—Brown; Tonya Erxleben, Dana Nelson and Kristy-Hansen turned in their best performance of the year with a time of 54.2.

The Lady Blue Devils also placed in two other relays. The 4x800-meter relay team of Marnie Bruggeman, Holly Palge, Theresa Ellis and Sara Peterson placed fourth. Jennifer Wessel, Karmyn Koenig, Ellis and Peterson finished fifth in the 4x400-meter relay.

Peterson funned in the best individual finish. She was third in the 3,200-meter run clocked at 13:23. She also placed fifth in the 1,600-meter run.

A number of Lady Blue Devils

also placed fifth in the 1.600-meter run.

A number of Lady Blue Devils claimed fifth-place finishes. Koenig was fifth in the shot put and sixth in the 400-meter dash. Wessel finished fifth in the 100-meter low hurdles. Erxleben was fifth in the 200-meter dash and Paige placed fifth in the 800-meter run. Sixth-place points came from Heldl Reeg in the shot put and Hänsen in the 200-meter dash.

The girls will host a triangular with Emerson-Hubbard, and Hartlington Cedar Catholic on Monday. It will be the last home meet of the season for both the boys and girls varsity. There

Dr. Donald Whisenhunt, provost and vice president of academic affairs, presided over the meeting of the general faculty. Normal procedure on voting situations, he said, is to count the ballots and then anounce the results after all the other business on the general faculty meeting agenda has been completed. However, a motion was made and passed to have the taily announced immediately after the ballots had been tabulated. "The action here is to express the construction costs (based on engineers' estimates of a 800 foot deep new well and the transmission lines leading into the city), according to Connealy.

Belden's $250,600 grant request was approved. However, another engineer's recommendation was followed to, dig a shallower well, which greatly reduced the projected costs to approximately $196,000.

That figure could be even less, according to McLain.
Connealy said the state will keep whatever of its grant portion is not used up in the construction process. The community development block grant pays up to 75 percent of the project cost, while the remaining 25 percent is absorbed by the city.

She anticipates the new well to be on line by the end of July or the first part of August.

"The people in Belden have been

From rust to plastic

The process of laying new water mains on Sixth Street east from Main continues as men and machines dig up long-settled soil over rusted and leaking old iron pipes. Then they Replace them with plastic pipe, which among other qualities is much lighter than iron. Two men can carry a length of eight-inch pipe about 20 feet long, shown here, though it's about all they care to lift. They say two could not handle larger plastic mains.

Dove will be in residence at Wayne State April 22:24 as part of the college's 10th annual Plains Writers' Series Her Thursday reading is free and the public is invited. Dove is also the recipient of a Fulbright scholarship and of fellowships from the National Endowment for the Arts and the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation. She served as Portia Pittman fellow at Tuskegee institute.

CURRENTLY leaching creative writing at Arizona State University, Dove received word of her Pulitzer on Thursday. She was unaware she was in contention for the award, said Dr. Jo Taylor, division head of humanities at Wayne State and a friend of Dove's.

Among her poetry books are The Yellow House on the Corner, published in 1980; Museum, published in 1983; and Thomas and Beulah. She has also published a collection of Dove was born in Akron, Ohlo, in 1952 and was educated at Miami University (Ohio) and Universitat Tubinger (West Germany).

She received the Lavan Younger Poet Award in 1986. In selecting her, poet Robert Warren Penn commented, "The Lavan Award is unique. It is for falent and achievement of a poet under 40 whose work has not been properly recognized. Rita Dove, at a much earlier age, with impressive achievement, strikes me as clearly deserving this — and I predict higher — award."

THOSE PESKY WEED SEEDS

THOSE PESKY WEED SEEDS
Seeds are the only means of reproduction for annual weeds and it's the way any perennials spread to new areas. If you thought your field was clean last are you may still be in for problems this year.
Some weeds produce thousands of seeds but that's not all the problem: Addinative weeds have built-in, dormancy, and longevity mechanisms. Wild ickwheat can produce nearly 12,000 seeds from a single plant; green foxtall, 000: Jambsquarters, 72,000; and pigweed plants may produce over 2 million those shiny black seeds.

2.4-D STORED OVER WINTER

Cold temperatures will not deteriorate the active ingredient in any of our ommonly used herbicides including 2.4-D. Low temperatures may cause separation of the ingredients through crystallizations or separation of liquids. If this occurred placing the container in sunlight at room temperature and rolling the container periodically will reconstitute the formulation. The herbicide will not have lost its effectiveness as a result of the low temperature storage.

DO YOU NEED POTASH?

The soil test for potassium measures what is considered to be available potassium. The "available potassium" measured by the soil is sometimes called "exchangeable potassium" is associated with the soil clays and organic matter in the soil. There is also a large amount of potassium in the soil that is not available or it "non-exchangeable". This potassium is found primarily in soil minerals that become only slowly available with weathering. It is this large mineral supply of potassium that is unavailable to plants. Actually fertilizer potassium (or often referred to as potash) applied to most Nebrasks soils will probably revert to non-available forms. This is because most Nebrasks soils contain large amounts of both exchangeable and non-exchangeable potassium. We do not have any evidence that fertilizer potassium will reduce the incidence of stalk rot in corn unless the available potassium level in the soil is low. Since we have few low potassium soils in Nebraska. It is very doubtful that such applications will be of any value.

No-till planting options available

by Don C. Spitze

Extension Agent-Agriculture
No till planting corn or milo info soybean residue is one of the easiest ways to incorporate a conservation tillage system into a conventional farm operation.
Conservation tillage is defined as any tillage and planting method which leaves at least a 20 to 30 percent residue cover on the soil surface after planting. However, because soybean residue is fragile and there is usually less of it, no fill is the only method recommended in soybean residue, saaid Elbert Dickey, Extension Agricultural Engineer with University of Nebraska-Lincoln.
No fill planting corn or milo into soybeans is a good choice for first time users. Dickey said, because the ground is usually loose and mellow and the fragile residue is less apt to togo the planter. In addition, farmers often can use their conventional planting equipment with few, if any modifications.
Planters with disk type seed furrow openers can be used without a coulter or row cleaning device if the residue was uniformly spread behind the combine. The disks themselves an cut the fragile residue and penetrate the mellow soil surface. If using a runner type seed furrow opener, a residue-cutting coulter penetrate the mellow soll surface. If using a runner type seed furrow operner, a residue-cutting coulter may be beneficial. If the soybean residue was not well distributed behind the combine, coulters are a good addition for most planters. Rather than coulters, some producers are using their disk type fertilizer opener as a residue-cutting device. They move the opener directly in front of the runner or disks to cut the residue and create a slot for the seed furrow opener to operate in.

WEIGHTS OR down pressure springs also may need to be added to some plantens to improve soil penetration. Dickey said. Springs transfer weight from the planter frame to the row units to ensure uniform penetration. The frame must be heavy enough to prevent the springs from lifting the drive wheels off the ground. If necessary, weights may be added to the frame or if

Shapiro gets honor

Ruwe attends conference

Pam Ruwe, daughter of Harlan and Beverly Ruwe, of Wayne, was one of 18 University of Nebraska-Lincoln 4-H Club members who attended the National Collegiate 4-H Conference held April 9-12 at Ohio State University in Columbus, Ohio.

During the conference delegates attended leadership and informational workshops, two banquest, regional and national business meetings, and had tours of the campus and city. A highlight of the convention was a talent show held Saturday night which featured delegates from different states, including the UNL 4-H Club.

At a luncheon on the East Campus of the University of Nebraska-incoin recently. Charles A. Shapiro, Extension Solis Specialist at the fortheast Research and Extension Center in Concord, was awarded an xcellence in Programming Award by the Nebraska Cooperative Exten-

Excellence in Programming Award by the result dans cooperations of Service.

The award was given to the entire soil fertility staff for their work in conducting an efficient fertilitizer use program based on a comparison fertilitizer recommendations from the University and comercial soil testing laboratories.

This work, started in northeast Nebraska in 1974 by George Rehm, former Extension Soils Specialist, has shown that proper use of soil testing can maintain high yields and decrease per acre fertilizer, costs. Proper use of a soil test includes correct sampling and the proper interpretation of the results.

Anhydrous ammonla or liquid fertillzer can be successfully applied pre-plant or side dressed in the fragile soybean residue without modifying the applicator. Soil tests should be used to determine fertilizer rates.

Obviously, previous weed pressures in the soybean field will influence the decision to no till corn or milo. Dickey said. A relatively clean soybean field makes no till an easy choice.

when No-Till planting milo.

ariy pre-plant herbicide treatments will help ensure a weed-free field at planting time, said Alex Martin, Extension Weeds Specialist in Agronomy at UN-L. The herbicides should be applied before the weed seeds germinate. However, no-till of either corn or milo may not be the best choice if large infestations of shaftercane were present in the previous soybean crop.

Another advantage of no-till planting forn or milo into soybean residue is that the available herbicides are quite economical and in most cases, they are the same herbicides that the tarmers are using with their conventional tillage systems Martin said.

When trying no-till for the first time. Dickey suggested several time, Dickey suggested several steps: •Plan ahead, particularly on site selection. Select a well-drained field that does not have substantial weed pressures.

that does not neve suppressures.

Be flexible. If weed problems develop before planting, tillage or a "burn down" herbicide may be required. By careful planning, the most economical herbicide program can be used. An early preplant herbicide application can be used to control weeds before planting, especially with crops such as mile having later planting dates.

Hog numbers expected to rise

Bellet that sow farrowing expansion is underway is confirmed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture hogs and pigs report that shows a slightly larger inventory than had been expected, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln extension economist said.

Al Wellman, a livesbock marketing specialist, said larger than expected hog slaughter during the second and third quarters of this year may cause downward pressure on prices.

The number of hogs on farms in-10 major hog states March 1 was estimated at 39.2 million, 3 percent more than in 1968. Breeding stock was estimated to be up 6 percent from last year and market hogs were up 2 percent.

The market hog inventory included 5 percent more hogs weighing less than 60 pounds and 1 percent more hogs weighing the shan 60 pounds and 1 percent more hogs weighing more than 60 pounds.

The number of gills retained from the September to November pig cropfor the breeding herd also has increased, he said.

dicates that hog expansion may pick up momentum in the last half of 1986. Sow farrowings from December to February were up an estimated 5 percent from the previous year. Tenslate, farrowing intentions are estimated at 7 percent higher than last year for March to May and 8 percent higher from June to August.

"It would not be surprising to see actual farrowings exceed these intentions," Wellman commented.

The number of hogs slaughtered this April to June is expected to be about the same as the number slaughtered during the same period last year. Wellman said. Third quarter slaughtereould increase 6 percent to 8 percent from last year, with little seasonal decline from April to June.

nigner increase continuing in the first quarter of 1988, Wellman said. Omaha market prices for barrows and gilts in mid-April ranged in the low $50s. Prices are likely to weaken moderately by late April and probably, will be in the mid to upper $40s. The economist said prices in the high $40s are fikely in the summer with the average for the third quarter expected to be in the high $40s. Prices probably will-drop in late summer and fall, with the fourth quarter average in the low $40s.

In addition to increased pork supplies, coftnued sizable increases in poultry supplies are likely. Broller production during the second and third quarters is expected to be about

The Farmer's Wife

12P died this week. Since cows are worth more these days, Doc Rademacher posted her and found that she'd died of a heart attack. She was carrying fwin bull calves.

12P isn't even ours. She's a Gielbvich cow that belongs to Cal Ward. But she was born here and the kids all thought she was special because she was so affectionate. She wasn't intelligent, we knew that from the beginning. It took three weeks of work to gel her to eat from her mother. In fact, she was just plain slow.

Doris Ward used to bring calf treats to her, and rub her head while she ake. Eventually, everyone could pet her.

The next year, when they preq she ale. Eventually, everyone could pet her.

The next year, when they preg tested, 12P was open. She wasn't going to produce a calt. Around here, you don't get a second chance. But because she was so special. 12P got another chance. This time, she produced a calf and did a fair job of mothering it.

But the stress of twins must have been too much. Doc says she probably had a congenital heart, meaning she was born with a bad heart. In our eyes, she had a good heart. We'll miss her friendly bovine ways!

MOST OF THE cows are in such good shape from the mild winter that calving has been easy.

Farmers are buying grass seed to comply with regulations of the Farm Program. As one fellow said, "We're farming the Program now." Seed that cost the Big Farmer 30¢ a pound two years ago is now $2 a pound.

I think the part that really irks me is all the marginal land in Western. Nebraska that was broken up and irrigated with government dollars and will now be reseeded with the same. And it probably should have been left in native grass in the first place.

It's difficult to understand all the overproduction when Kay comes home after hearing a speaker on the population explosion.

He claims that even the oceans are growing and taking over more land. I guess this is true, judging from news I've read lately.

But it still boils down to the old problems of distribution and economics.

who don't have food, and he was going to start right here in America. I don't see much TV and seldom watch 20/20. But a lot of people have commented about the segment on chicken slaughtering a couple of weeks ago. Apparently, it wasn't too sanitary in the plant they were in. 20/20 does sensationalize. I've come to realize that they present only one side of an issue. They had a program on the helicopters that fly critically ill people to major treatment centers. They say they have a high accident rate because of tog little sleep and too many miles.

So, last week, the new copter from Marian Health Center landed in the hospital lot. I asked the pilot, a jaunty fellow with a Southern accent, how much sleep he'd had and how many miles he'd logged this week.
He just grinned a crooked grin and replied, "Is it true that all nurses are addlets?"

Rabbit owners clinic held in Concord

Sixty-three Dixon and Wayne County 4-H members, their families, and project animals participated in a Rabbit Ownership Clinic held on April 11 at the Northeast Research and Extension Center east of Concord. Mrs. Karen Hettie, and her daughters, of Wisner, conducted the workshop. Mrs. Heftie is a member of the American Rabbit Breeders Association.

Reducing tillage

I wenry years ago, a crisp, spring day was reason enough for the irist lillage operation of the season. Soil erosion and operating costs seemed less important that the reward of watching the rich, black soil run over behind the tractor.

Because of the current farm economy, however, today's famers should question the need and purpose of each and every trip over the field. They need to use only those tillage operations which are necessary to achieve specific goals.

need to use only those tillage operations which are necessary to achieve specific goals.

Unnecessary "recreational tillage" will destroy soil-protecting residue, consumer fuel, waste time, wear out equipment, and expose the soil to erosion and moisture losses. The use of conservation tillage, however, can reduce these losses.

While notifil offers the greatest savings, tillage may be necessary to achieve specific goals:

1. To incorporate lime, non-mobile nutrients of herbicides. Certian fer-tilizer or herbicide programs require complete soil mixing for incorporation. However, application techniques such as duel placement of fertilizer or the knife-type applications and surface applied herbicides may be preferred since they don't require tillage.

2. To control emerged weeds. Historically, tillage has been used to control weeds, however, with current leconomic conditions, producers should make cost comparisons between herbicide treatments and tillage since some weeds may be more economically controlled with herbicides. Advances in herbicide development and early pre-plant applications have made weed control easier, thus further reducing the need for tillage.

Advances in herbicide development and early pre-plant applications have made weed control easier, thus further reducing the need for fillage.

3. To smooth or level the field. When switching from an tillage system with wide spaced rews to a system with narrower row spacings, tillage may be necessary to level ridges, particularly when planting drilled crops. Tillage also may be necessary to fill eroded guilles. However, without correcting the source of erosion, the soil lossened by tillage is easily washed away.

4. To reduce compaction. If examination of plant roots indicates soil compaction is a problem tillage below the compacted layer may be beneficial and allow roots to penatrate deeper into the soil. The best shattering of a compacted layer occurs when the soil is dry, which is usually in the fall. For compaction problems more than 2 to 3 inches below the soil surface, very little benefit is achieved by disking. Deeper tillage may be necessary if the compaction is restricting root growth. The best way to minimize compaction is not filling or driving on wet soils.

5. To reduce the amount of residue. Tillage may be used to cut up and partially bury corn, grain sorghum and small grain residue to allow the operation of grain drills which aren't designed to handler residue. However, this is not necessary for planters since adding a coulter usually enables conventional planting equipment to operate in residue. Reducing residue may be desirable for furrow irrigators when residue is causing non-uniform irrigation applications.

Provided tillage is needed to meet one of these criteria, make the most of the Investment. Use tillage after a crop which produces a large amount of residue and select tillage methods which acheive the desired resolut, use the least amount of fuel and labor and provide the greatest erosion control.

For applying conservation

Sodbuster waivers available

Secretary of Agriculture Richard Lyng recently announced that some farmers may get a waiver-from apilying conservation on Koodbysted cropland for the 1987 crop year.

"The waiver is on-the-requirement for farmers to have an approved and established conservation system on 'sodbusted' cropland,' sald Ron Hendricks, Soil Conservation Service state conservationist for Nebraska. Hendricks explained the waiver is based on two criteria. Those criteria are:

The 'sodbusted' cropland was in alfalfa, other legumes, or grasses cultivated for seed production, and the land is in a previously established crop rotation; and secondly,

A request for SCS technical assistance was submitted prior to March 30, 1987, but due to the large number of requests to service the Food Security Act, SCS was unable to provide technical services before March 30.

A request for assistance from a farmer is the submission of an 'AD-1026. Highly Erodible and Wetland Conservation Certification' form. A USDA employee and the farmer would have filled out the form when a farmer was signing up for program participation. The form would then have been sent to SCS for a welland or highly erodible land determination.

Farmers who have not previously requested SCS assistance and may have sodbusted land will still need to get and start a conservation plan before cropping the land, if they are going to take part in most USDA farm progress.

before cropping the land, if they are going to take part in most USDA farm programs.

THIS WAIVER, said Hendricks, does not apply to producers who sodbust range, hay or pasture land.

"SCS will now have additional time to develop a conservation plan with the farmer, and the farmer will not be kept out of any USDA farm programs In 1987 because he is wating on us," said Hendricks.

"However, those farmers who already have developed a conservation plan with SCS before the March 30 date, will have to apply the necessary conservation practices," he said.

This change in molley could help several hundred Nebraska farmers remain eligible for USDA farm programs this year. Most Nebraska farmers take part in USDA farm programs.

The 1985 Food Security Act, also farmers take per in a signary.

The 1985 Food Security Act, also know as the farm bill, requires farmers who broke out alfalfa or grass land on highly erodible soil, to have a conservation plan and have it implemented, if they want to take part in many USDA farm programs.

Today's farmers need to diversify their crop production if they expect agriculture to prosper.

One way is to convert our farms from strictly grain production to grain and livestock operations...and better use our labor.

We also can find new uses for corn. The National Corn Growers Association, which represents corn producers everywhere, is spending lots of time and energy to promote a wide variety of industrial uses such as ethanol and other oxygenated fuels, high fructose corn sugar, CMA instead of salt as a road decier and forbiodegradable plastics.

Weed control for no-till considered

Weed control is a key to success with no-till crop production. Control of weeds established at planting time as well as later developing weeds is required. New developments make economical effective weed control programs available for most situations. One approach is to combine a postemergence and a residual herbicide applied at planting time. Another is to make an early preplant application of residucal herbicides and eliminate the postemergence application and eliminate the postemergence herbicide.

PLANTING TIME TREATMENTS
Because of the early planting date with corn, emerged weeds are usually small or not present at planting time. Most preemergence corn herbicide treatments containing a triazine will control small annual grass and broadleat weeds. Because of the later planting date with soybeans and sorghum, emerged weeds are more likely to be present. For control of these larger weeds it is usually necessary to add a postemergence herbicide such as Gramoxone or Roundup to the preemergence material.

The Golden Years

For the first time since 18-year-olds got the right to vote in 1972. America's oldest voters now outnumber its youngest ones, according to figures released by the U.S. Census Bureau. A record 178 million Americans were of voting age last November. More than 28,530,000 were over age 65, while 28,492,000 were between 18 and 21. Thanks in part to improved medical care, the generation of Americans aged 65 and over has grown II percent since 1980.

An individual who retires on Social Security this year will have invested a little more than $50,000 into the system during his or her working lifetime. If that person receives last year's average monthly payment of $594, it will take approximately seven years to get back the amount put in.

Remember When? March 9, 1933

— The U.S. Congress passed the Emergency Banking Act, which authorized the Secretary of the Treasury to call in all gold coins, certificates and bullion from the public. In return the Treasury gave an equivalent amount in other U.S. bills or coins.

popular. When is the best time to apply these treatments? Too early an application can be just as bad as too late. The key to timing the application is germination of the weeds. With early preplant treatments the objective is to have the herbicide in place prior to weed seed germination especially grasses. Broadleaf weeds are not as much of a concern because most treatments include a triazine (atrazine. Bladex, Lexone, Bencor) which will kill emerged broadleaf weeds especially when combined with 2, 4-D. Having the herbiclde in place to 2 weeks before weed seed germination allows time for rainfall to activate the herbicide before it is need. Summer annual grasses normally don't germinate in no-till fields before May in east central Nebraska and progressively later northward and westward.

Applying treatments several weeks before weed seed germination can shorten the period of control after germination. This concern applies particularly to shorter-lived herbicides including Bladex, Lexone, and Sencor. With very early applications of these herbicides a decrease in weed control after planting may occur. A split application with one portion early and the other at planting time helps maintain control. Prowl, and particularly Surflan, are long lasting and require substantial rainfall for activation. Performance of these herbicides benefits from early application as this increases the likelihood of ample rainfall prior to weed seed germination.

We tend to hear a lot about the potential adverse efwe tend to near a lot about the potential awarese effects to the unborn that may occur if mothers drink or smoke during pregnancy. Less seems to be said about use of medicines during pregnancy. Pregnant women should take only those medicines which have been approved by their physicians. This caution applies to both prescription and nonprescription medicines.

both prescription and nonprescription medicines.

It is not possible for many women to avoid all medicines during pregnancy. It is important for the health of mother and child for chronic health problems such as high blood pressure, depression, seizure-related conditions, and heart problems to be controlled during pregnancy. Not controlling these health problems may be of greater harm to the unborn child than would be the risks associated with use of certain medicines. of certain medicines.

According to an article in a recent issue of British Medical Journal, the cause of most birth defects is still unknown. It is believed by many authorities, however, that only two to three percent of all birth defects result from the use of prescribed medicines. Unnecessary medicine should be avoided by everyone. This caution is especially appropriate for pregnant women.

THE RESIDENTS and staff of the Wayne Care Centre wish to express their warm-felt thanks, for the generosity of the Wayne State College Student Senate and also to the Greek Council. The Student Senate delivered personally to each resident Easter baskets filled with goodles on Palm Sunday while the Greek Council furnished brightly colored eggs on Good Friday for all to enjoy. The love and compassion from the Wayne State students for our elderly residents is hereby acknowledged and greatly appreciated. May God bless! Git Haase, Administrator.

A BIG THANK YOU to the cast, directors and all those who took part in putting on the play "Oklahoma" at the high school last weekend. It was great entertainment, Raberta (Mom) Welte.

WORDS CANNOT EXPRESS out thanks to all our friends and relatives for your kind expressions of sym-pathy, your thoughtfullness is great ly appreciated. Dorthea Grosse & Family. A23
