Practical Ideas

Practical Ideas on Conservation Tillage will be the theme of a meeting at the Northeast Research and Extension Center in Concord tonight (Monday, June 22) starting at 7 p.m.

Practical Ideas on Conservation Tillage that will be presented include: a three year study — no till corn compared to plowed, disked and double disked corn; a rotation study of continuous corn, corn to soybeans and continuous corn with cover crop; pushup terraces; a demonstration on how to adjust your corn planter for conservation tillage (your old planter will probably work just fine if it is properly adjusted); and herbicide and insect control on conservation tillage.

The Dixon County Extension Service sponsors the meeting which will run from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Farmers will meet at the headquarters building.

Break a leg

The musical production "The Fantasticks" will be staged by the Wayne State College Theatre Department June 26 and 27 at 8 p.m. in Ley Theatre in the Brandenburg Education Building.

The family play, by Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt, concerns two fathers who pretend to feud, hoping the reverse psychology encourages their children to fall in love. Their plan, however, has complications.

Directed by Janet Roney, assistant professor of theatre, "The Fantasticks" has a cast of eight. Dean Fuelberth of Wayne, son of Darrel and Nancy Fuelberth of Wayne, and Erin Callaghan of Omaha play the lovers. Others from the area in the cast are Walter P. Hamilton, playing El Gallo/the Narrator, who will also be choreographing the production; DeWayne Todd Harrison, son of Darrell and Jane Harrison of Wayne, who plays Henry; and David Zahniser, son of Robert and Edith Zahniser of Wayne, who has the role of Mortimer.

Teleconference

Wayne State College will be a receiving site June 25 for a national satellite teleconference on hazardous materials, sponsored by the Environmental Protection Agency under Title III.

"The Community Emergency and Community Right to Know Act" is the title of the conference to be viewed on television monitors in the U.S. Conn Library on campus from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The target audience for the teleconference, which has a number of experts in the field of hazardous material, includes community and emergency officials who deal with hazardous materials, interested citizens and the media.

For additional information, persons may call Jim Maly, the Wayne State contact person, at 402/375-2200 extension 468, or Mike Swiggart of the Nebraska Department of Environmental Control at 402/471-4258.

Ike's Lake becomes popular spot

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

One doesn't need to travel far to catch the biggest fish around. And that's no fish tale.

On 18 acres located five miles north, two west and less than a mile south is Ike's Lake, property of the Wayne Izaak Walton League. And over the past few years, big catches have been recorded by local fishermen and captured in photo by The Wayne Herald — most of them caught within the confines of Ike's Lake.

Ike's Lake was first established in 1954, with the 62 charter members of the Izaak Walton organization working to assure a good fishing location for the Wayne area.

The Izaak Walton League is, according to the club's oath, "a national organization that strives for the purity of water, clarity of the air and wise stewardship of the land and its resources; striving to know the beauty and understanding of nature and the value of wildlife, woodlands and open space; and dedicated to the preservation of this heritage to man's sharing in it."

IKE'S LAKE and the Izaak Walton League formed at about the same time, according to Dick Baier, an original member of the Wayne organization who resides near the lake. He deeded his property, where Ike's Lake now stands, to the local organization in 1967.

The planning for Ike's Lake, in 1954, came at a time when the state of Nebraska was considering obtaining land for recreational facilities. The Game and Parks Commission had been given an offer to purchase the Ike's Lake property.

"They were considering it, but they didn't have the financing. So the local boys (members of the newly formed Izaak Walton League) thought they could handle it," Baier said.

The local people acknowledged that a recreational outdoor facility was needed. Other fishing locations were a great distance away.

Baier said the lake construction project also helped him eliminate a swampy area on his property. "Before it was Ike's Lake, it was a swamp area. I lost quite a few cattle in there," Baier mentioned.

Dog Town Creek had been straightened out prior to the lake construction, and what had to be done was to dam up the creek and pull out a lot of trees, according to Baier. Two more small ponds were made for rearing fish.

However, the plans for rearing fish never panned out, according to Norris Weible, an officer of the Izaak Walton League.

"Someone had to be down there to feed them all the time," he said.

"We found out that the fish that were stocked in the lake could spawn and reproduce themselves," Baier said.

The boy scouts helped to plant trees at the lake site and area 4-H clubs planted the idle acres into food for wildlife.

A shelter house was built on the site in 1958. Several years later, a schoolhouse southeast of Wayne (School District 43) was moved to the lake site.

THE IZAAK Walton League organization also worked with pheasants, raising what they had received from the Game and Parks Commission and distributing the birds throughout the area.

Baier said Ike's Lake was renovated about 1970 for one particular purpose — to dispose of the overpopulated carp.

The game fish that was originally stocked in the lake, with the cooperation of the Game and Parks Commission, were bluegill, catfish and bass. Weible said that for the first seven or eight years of the lake's existence, the fish population was checked by the commission. "They don't do that anymore," he said.

"We've had bathtubs full of carp taken out of here before the renovation. Since the renovation, the lake has been fished very hard," Weible added. "I wish we could keep a tab of how many pounds of fish have been taken out of there every year since then."

Baier said it's not unusual for fishermen to catch up to five pound catfish or four to five pound bass. And there are plenty of bluegills.

Water hazard?

THIS GOLFER (we believe it was Ray Murray) wasn't about to quit playing with just two more holes left on his card to fill, despite the heavy rains that came down on the area late Thursday afternoon. Here he unleashes a healthy swing in rough waters at the Wayne Country Club. When he finished his round and said he shot a 41 for nine holes, we knew he was "all wet."

Storm sewer work approved

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

Wayne City Council members met in a special session late Thursday afternoon to take action on a liquor license, storm sewer construction and financial planning.

Currently the city is experiencing problems in the storm sewer's capacity at the corner of 3rd and Main in Wayne, according to City Administrator Phil Kloster.

City council members have decided that, instead of contracting another firm to have the storm sewer project done, the city public works crew could do the work in less time and at a greater savings.

Kloster said there would be "time constraints to get the road project done" before the Highway 15-Wayne Main Street road resurfacing project is started this year.

Work on that resurfacing project is tentatively scheduled for Aug. 15, according to Kloster.

Kloster said the storm sewer in question "doesn't have the capacity to get the water away from the corner of 3rd Street and Main Street fast enough."

THE PROJECT calls for approximately 440 feet of storm sewer to be put in from the west side of Main Street on 3rd Street to the east side of Logan Street near the junction box.

If the storm sewer project was contracted out, Kloster said the cost would be around $14,000 to $14,500.

There would also be the delay in completing the project because of the paperwork involved in publication dates and securing bids on the work.

"With the use of our own people, and taking into consideration the cost of materials (pipe and bed sand) and equipment rental, the cost would be an estimated $7,000 to $7,500," Kloster said.

IN OTHER ACTION, the city council approved a motion to consolidate two bond issues into one.

The approval came after a presentation by Phil A. Lorenzen, city fiscal agent, of Paine Webber.

According to Kloster, the combined value of the bond consolidation is $1,625,000. Consolidated was a 1983 bond issue dealing with the city's waste water treatment plant financing and a 1986 bond anticipation note that dealt with the city of Wayne water improvements.

"The consolidation will result in approximately $75,000 savings to the city of Wayne in interest costs."

Wayne and surrounding areas were in the path of a heavy downpour and several tornado sightings Thursday afternoon and into the evening hours.

Several sightings of tornadoes were reported in the Winslow-Pilger area, rural Wayne and near Wakefield.

Two Wayne County Commissioners, Jerry Pospisil and Bob Nissen, both had radioed to the county courthouse that they had seen a tornado come out of the clouds before 5 p.m. Thursday about four miles west and a few miles south of Wayne and at another location near Winslow.

Herman Topp of Pilger reported seeing a tornado dipping down as he was driving northwest of Pilger. He watched it until it went back into the clouds, as it never did touch down.

Wakefield residents were alerted to a tornado sighting south of Wakefield.

Rainfall amounts varied in the area between the hours of 5 p.m. Thursday to about 7 a.m. on Friday. At a farm located six miles west and two miles north of Wayne, about a 1/4 of an inch was received.

About an inch of rain was received at a location five miles north and 3 1/2 miles west of Wayne.

About 2 1/2 inches of rain fell at a location approximately eight miles east and five miles south of Wayne.

Wayne had received over 1.35 inches of rain on Thursday and early into Friday.

More rain fell on Friday and the chances of rain on Saturday are also high.

On the Record

'Hacken' Away

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Isn't it a coincidence that Father's Day falls this year on the first day of summer?

In the winter months, father and son (or daughter) can ski or go ice skating together, go to a gym and play basketball together, sit at home and watch videos and pop popcorn together, or open up Christmas presents.

In the spring, father and his children can watch winter melt away. Together they can plant a garden, or 250 acres of corn. They can fly a kite in the balmy spring breezes.

During autumn, dad and children can go driving through the countryside looking at the fall colors, go to football games or walk through corn fields and hunt for pheasants.

But summer, I believe, is the best month for dad and children.

That's when both parties can relax on a Sunday afternoon along the bank of a creek or river — and talk at length. To heck if the fish are biting or not.

SUMMER IS when vacations most commonly are scheduled. Dad can explain the historic areas to his children who instead are more interested in how the water fountain in the museum works than a piece of dinosaur art.

In the heat of the summer, visits to amusement parks will indicate to a child just how much courage and dare his or her father has — particularly after a ride on the roller coaster and all those other twisting, curling rides that you return to five minutes later to see if you left your stomach there.

Camping out can be fun, too, during the summer. Fathers teach their children all the basics of survival and how to rough it in the great outdoors.

The only modern convenience is a automobile, used only for emergencies — like driving to the next town where there is a Hardee's, Dairy Queen or McDonald's.

Summer is the time for father and children to do projects together at home. If the child is in 4-H, normally the father helps in raising livestock good enough for exhibiting at the county fair. Projects which also require cooperation between dad and the kids are painting projects or mowing the lawn.

IT'S AMAZING that when the child is four years old, they cry when they can't help dad push the lawn mower. But when they are teenagers, they put up almost a bigger fuss when they finally have the responsibility to mow the lawn.

Baseball, hot dogs and apple pie go along with summer, too.

How many fathers take the opportunity to grab a mitt and start throwing the baseball around to his son in the back yard, or pitch a softball to his daughter as she tries to hit it with a bat. Many a father's dream for a son to have a professional baseball career had begun on the grassy lawns of home.

Then there are things that some fathers do with their children, in the summer months or all year long, that the public probably doesn't notice.

How many fathers:
•Are brave enough to put on their swimming trunks and jump into the tiny inflated swimming pool with their young children.

•After playing a round of trivia pursuit or other intellectual adult games, take the time to play "Candyland" or "Mr. Potato Head" with the young ones.

•Still give their child some money to drop into the collection basket during church services.

•Explain to the teenagers what it was like when their father was growing up.

Of course, all this activity isn't limited to just dads. Moms take part, too.

You know, those days of summer, fatherhood and wonderful memories are hard to separate.

New look

A SECTION OF Wayne's Main Street is getting a new look. Joel Pedersen (second from right) and other Boy Scouts take on the construction of a park area just north of The Wayne Herald building, where the State National Bank previously stood. Pedersen is supervising the work as part of his Eagle Scout Project. Shrubs and plants are being placed in the plant area, and the scouts are also laying down the old brick to form walkways throughout the park. The above picture was photographed from on top of the newspaper building, before Thursday afternoon's downpour.

News Briefs

Area students gain academic honors

Several area students were named to the Term Honors List for spring, 1987, at Concordia College of Seward, Nebraska. They include Leann Janke, a senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Janke of Carroll; and Anne Sorensen, junior, and Lori Sorensen, sophomore, daughter of Lanora Sorensen of Wayne. In order to qualify for the Honors List, the recipient must be a full-time student with a grade point average of 3.5 or better.

Olds gains president-elect office

Kenneth M. Olds of Greeley, Colorado is the new president-elect of the Colorado Academy of Family Physicians. Dr. Olds, a native of Wayne, has been in private practice in Greeley since completing his military obligation in 1973. He is also Medical Director for Health Care Plans of Colorado, a wholly owned subsidiary of Hospital Corp. of America. He has been a member of the American Academy of Family Physicians Commission on Hospitals for the past three years.

Named to Kearney State honor roll

The names of Kearney State College students who have earned a place on the Dean's List for the spring semester were announced this week. Those from this area include Brian Cattle of Wayne (4.0 average); Kristal Clay and Jeffrey Coble of Wakefield; and Layne Luaders and Penny Palge of Wayne. Dean's List students must complete 12 or more hours with a grade average of 3.5 or better on a 4.0 scale.

On Midland College Dean's List

Eighty-one Midland Lutheran College students have been named to the dean's list for spring of 1987. According to Dr. Kahn, these students have achieved a minimum grade point average of 3.80 on a 4-point scale, placing them in the top 10 percent of Midland Students. Named to the Dean's List from this area is Valerie Rahn, daughter of Darrel and Phyllis Rahn of Wayne, freshman; Valerie Bush, daughter of James and Anita Bush of Carroll, junior; and John Warne, son of Maynard and Elda Warne of Wayne, who graduated in May with a history major.

Nichols, Harral on honor roll

Southeast Community College, Milford Campus, has announced the academic honor roll for the spring quarter ending June 10. Among those on the honor roll are Cheryl Schram Harral, Milford, computer programming technology; and Casey Nichols, Wayne, building construction technology. A grade point average of 3.5 must be achieved on a 4.0 scale to be honored.

Willers on honor roll

Trisha Willers, a senior at Doane College, has been named to the Dean's List for the 1987 spring semester. Students qualifying for the Dean's List must achieve a 3.4 or better grade point average on a 4.0 scale for at least 12 graded credit hours. Willers is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Willers of Wayne.

Maier gets extension post

Pamela Maier has been hired as an extension assistant in community development at Kansas State University. She is responsible for data management in the new DIRECT Program. The DIRECT Program provides development information, coordination and training to interested Kansas individuals and communities. Maier is a second year graduate student pursuing a masters degree in urban sociology and community development at Kansas State. Pam is a 1986 graduate of Wayne State College and the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Maier of Wayne.

Business Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Broderson of Wayne have just returned from a trip to St. Louis, Mo., where they were honored as being among the top 100 MoorMan sales representatives during the sales year 1986-87. Broderson took top honors.

These representatives and their spouses were singled out for special honors because of their outstanding performances during 1986-87. They arrived in St. Louis on June 5, coming from several states across the country.

Obituaries

Peggy Keith

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. John R. (Peggy) Keith in Pomona, Calif. on June 17 after brain surgery a month earlier. Her husband, John R. Keith, was formerly head of the Fine Arts department and conductor of both orchestra and band at Wayne State College. The Keiths moved to Pomona in 1949 where he was supervisor of all music in the Pomona public schools. Following his retirement, they had made their home at the Claremont Manor in Claremont, Calif.

EACH YEAR approximately 300 bass and 300 catfish are restocked into Ike's Lake. Also stocked in the lake are crappies and a few northerns.

Recently, some grass carp have been added to the stock of fish in the lake. However, these fish normally do not take to a fishing hook and are not legal to have in possession.

A portion of the lake was deepened in 1980, Weible said. Reason for that, Weible said, was because of the aquatic growth that had built up in the lake. "After so many years, you have to dredge it," he said.

Earlier this year, benches were placed along the lakeshore. Each year, the Izaak Walton League sponsors a fishing derby in the summer months. Usually in June. During one derby several years ago, one boy was able to catch 160 fish in Ike's Lake within a three hour time frame.

Membership to the Izaak Walton League, and for use to Ike's Lake, is $20 a year. Dues and a pancake feed are the major fund raisers for the organization, used in covering the expenses of restocking the lake, paying for electricity, and mowing the grass at the facility.

Sometimes the money must be used to replace objects ruined by vandalism, which has been curtailed recently primarily because of a gate that now blocks the entry to the lake. Previously, signs have been stolen and there had been forced entry into the facility's buildings.

HERB H. HANSEN, president of the Wayne Izaak Walton League, said there are no firearms permitted on the lake grounds, and no alcoholic beverage is permitted on the property.

"We object to having to pick up the beverage cans at the site," mentioned Hansen.

The facilities are used for family reunions and for picnics. Scouts have used the recreational area for practicing the sport of canoeing, according to Baier.

There is also a wildlife habitat on the Ike's Lake acreage which had been developed recently, planted into sunflowers, milo and sorghum.

But primarily, the recreational area is used for fishing — for the young and old.

"It provides the area people with a quiet place to go, relax and fish, or do whatever they want," Weible said. "Some people use it just to get away from the rat race in town," he added.

Most importantly, Hansen said, Ike's Lake offers the area a good place to fish. "And you don't have to spend a lot of money doing it."

"You can see wildlife and birds all around you, and the place still has its original prairie grass and wildflowers," Hansen remarked.

"It's a wonderful place for education, too," Baier said. "The college biology groups come out here many times a year. It's a wonderful place to get an education on wildlife."

Kloster mentioned. Also on Thursday, the city council approved a special liquor license permit to the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department.

The fire department is planning a free dance at the National Guard Armory on Friday evening, July 3, to commemorate the department's 75th anniversary.

New officers elected

Lion's Club members gain special honors

At the June 16 social meeting of the Wayne Lions Club, the following officers for the 1987-88 year were installed by Deputy District Governor J.S. Johar: President, Russell L. Rasmussen; Vice President, William (Skip) Kinslow; Secretary, Hilbert Johs; and Treasurer, Jack Imdieke.

The June meeting included an awards ceremony in which more than 40 certificates were distributed to recognize members who were deeply involved in one or more of the dozen Lions service projects.

Retiring president Fred Mann also presented special plaque awards to four Lions for their outstanding contributions and long-term commitment to the Club. Those receiving plaques were Jack Imdieke, J.S. Johar, Hilbert Johs and Fred Webber.

The guest speaker for the evening was Stanley Johnson, whose timely presentation about his hobby, antique clocks and watches, was well received.

County fair changes

Home Extension Council plans new display for holiday crafts

The Wayne County Home Extension Council has announced changes in the domestic products and arts divisions of the 1987 Wayne County Fair, slated to run Aug. 6-9.

The council is going to sponsor a special area in the educational building to exhibit holiday crafts. A different holiday will be featured each year.

This year's holiday is Christmas, and any craft done in a Christmas theme can be displayed in the designated area.

The new area will be open to all persons. There are no age limits or divisions, however exhibitors will have to pick up their exhibitor's number in their respective buildings. The items will be judged against all other entries in that department only. Items cannot be entered in any other department.

A fair premium of $1 for a blue ribbon and 75 cents for a red ribbon will be awarded.

Special awards in the holiday department include $5 for the best overall holiday craft; $3 for the second overall holiday craft; and $1 for the third overall holiday craft.

ENTRIES in the children under 12 department will again be exhibited in the educational building. The special awards being offered this year, at $2 each, are as follows:

Class H (foods) — Best chocolate chip cookie; best chocolate brownies. Class K (arts and crafts) — Best dough art; best crayon picture, must be framed; best wall hanging, edges must be finished (not stitchery hangings); best refrigerator magnet; best stenciling craft; best fabric toy.

News and Notes

Treating summer stains can help save clothes

Being outdoors, going on picnics and working in the yard this summer can be fun for the moment, but frustrating when it comes time to do the laundry.

The caretaker of the family's clothes needs to either look for stains or make sure family members point out specific stains.

For perspiration stains, sponge or rinse the fabric with cool water. Then neutralize the acid by applying a paste of baking soda and water. Diluted ammonia (1/2 water) also can be applied to neutralize acids. Rinse with cool water and launder.

Get latex paint out of a shirt while it is still wet. Flush thoroughly under running water, rub liquid detergent into the stain, and launder.

Oil stains are sometimes impossible to remove after they have set into a fabric. No one method will remove all stains. Read the label on the can of paint to learn the suggested solvent.

Try the solvent in an inconspicuous area to be sure that it will not damage the garment fiber, then carefully sponge the paint area with the solvent, rinse with clear water, and launder.

GRASS STAINS are a common summer sight. Pretreat these stains on washable garments before laundering, using one of the following methods.

Use a prewash soil and stain remover, an enzyme presoak product, oxygen bleach, or rub the area with detergent or bar soap. Read and follow directions on the product package for best results. Always launder items after pretreating.

If grass stains persist, use chlorine bleach if safe for the fabric and launder.

FOR OIL-BASED stains from mayonnaise, salad dressing and suntan oil, use heavy-duty detergent with hot water. Work the full-strength, heavy-duty liquid detergent into the stain, then wash the garment using water as hot as is safe for the fabric.

Use the recommended amount of detergent for a regular laundry load, rinse and inspect before drying. Repeat this treatment if removal is incomplete the first time.

Summer is also berry season and time for fruit juice and soft drinks. To remove these stains, work as quickly as possible. Wash with detergent in hot water as is safe for the fabric. Old stains may need bleaching for more complete removal.

Picnic time often includes food requiring the use of mustard and catsup. Pretreat the stain with heavy-duty liquid detergent, then rinse thoroughly. Soak the stained garment in a diluted solution of all-fabric powdered bleach, rinse, then launder.

First Trinity LWML meets

The Lutheran Women's Missionary League of First Trinity Lutheran Church, Altona, met during June with Mrs. James Youngmeyer as hostess.

Attending were 11 members and one guest, Mrs. Jon Wilson of Los Alamos, N. M.

Policy on Weddings

The Wayne Herald welcomes news accounts and photographs of weddings involving families living in the Wayne area.

We feel there is widespread interest in local and area weddings and are happy to make space available for their publication.

Because our readers are interested in current news, we ask that all weddings and photographs offered for publication be in our office within 10 days after the date of the ceremony. Information submitted with a picture after that deadline will not be carried as a story but will be used in a cutline underneath the picture. Wedding pictures submitted after the story appears in the paper must be in our office within three weeks after the ceremony.

Town team edged by Saints 9-4

The Wayne Independents traveled to Sioux City Wednesday night in search of their third win of the season, instead the locals suffered their first loss of the year.

The Sioux City Saints downed the Independents 9-4 in a game that was closer than the final score indicated. The win allowed the Saints to remain undefeated on the year. The locals couldn't get their offense in gear until the late innings.

The Saints jumped out to a 5-0 lead with single runs in the first, third and fifth innings and two runs in the fourth frame before Wayne got on the scoreboard.

The Independents struck for three runs in the top of the sixth to cut the lead to 5-3. Mike Hoffart and Mike Greckel each reached base on walks. Both advanced 90 feet on a past ball. One out later shortstop Jeff Pasold ripped a two-run triple. Pasold scored on Kevin Maly's RBI single. Maly stole second and was stranded on third.

Both teams went scoreless in the seventh inning. In the top of the eighth the locals cut the lead to 5-4. Pasold opened the inning with a base hit. He went to second on a walk to Kevin Hoffart and came home on a single by Pat Salerno. That was all the closer Wayne could get. Sioux City came up with four runs in the bottom of the eighth when nine batters came to the plate. Wayne got a two-out hit from Mark Prlegnetz in the ninth but the game ended when Pasold popped out to the third baseman.

Greckel, 0-1, started the game on the mound for the Independents. He threw three innings giving up four runs on six hits. Kevin Hoffart came in and pitched the fourth, fifth and sixth innings before giving way to Prlegnetz who completed the game.

Pasold led the Wayne offense knocking in two runs on two hits and scoring twice. Salerno and Mike Hoffart also contributed two hits apiece.

Dale Rode led the Saints with a 4-4 night which included a solo home run in the bottom of the first. Rode played linebacker at Northwestern University of the Big 10. He was also drafted in the Major League draft.

Wayne's next game will be Tuesday evening when the Independents travel to Wakefield for an 8 p.m. contest.

Trio attends camp

Three Wayne boys recently returned home after completing the Kearney State Basketball Camp from May 31-June 4.

Craig Sharpe, Scott Hammer and Brian Lentz attended the camp and received several honors at the camp.

Sharpe was named the most valuable player in the 6th-9th grade division. He also made the all-star team and finished third in the tip-off contest in his age group. Hammer was named to the 10th-12th grade all-star team and he placed third in the free-throw contest. Lentz placed second in the free-throw contest in the 6th-9th grade division.

Wayne girls drop game to Norfolk

A seventh-inning rally by Wayne fell two runs short as the 15 and under girls dropped a 12-10 decision to the Norfolk Junior B team Wednesday evening at Hank Overin Field.

Wayne, 3-3, went into the bottom of the seventh trailing 12-7. The girls scored three runs thanks to four walks by the Norfolk pitcher. But after that she settled down and struck out the next three hitters to end the game.

Norfolk jumped to a 3-0 lead in the top of the first. The locals came right back and tied the score in the bottom of the frame. With one out Holly Holdorf, Shannon Holdorf and Jennifer Hammer reached base on two hits and an error. All three came around to score.

Norfolk got single runs in the second, third and fourth innings and struck for four more in the fifth to take a commanding 10-3 lead.

The local girls chipped away at the lead in the bottom of the fifth by tallying four runs to make it a 10-7 contest. After the first two hitters were retired Holly Holdorf, Shannon Holdorf, Hammer and Kerl Lutt all singled and later came around to score.

Both teams went down quietly in the sixth inning to set up the seventh-inning fireworks.

Norfolk scored a pair of runs on a base hit before being retired.

Once again it was the trio of Holly Holdorf, Shannon Holdorf and Jennifer Hammer that did the damage for Wayne. All three walked and scored to make the final count 12-10.

Shannon Holdorf pitched the entire game for Wayne. She gave up 12 runs on seven hits. Holdorf struck out three and walked four Norfolk hitters.

Wayne finished the game with six hits, all singles. Holly and Shannon Holdorf each finished with a pair of hits while Hammer and Lutt added one hit apiece.

Norfolk downs Wakefield in a pair

The Wakefield Junior and Midget teams dropped two games to Norfolk Wednesday at Eaton Field.

Norfolk Wendys nipped the Junior Legion 4-2 and the visiting Midgets downed Wakefield 11-3.

Todd Krafke took the loss for the Junior Legion squad by tossing a seven hitter.

Norfolk tallied two runs in the third and single runs in the fourth and seventh innings.

The hosts collected their only two runs in the bottom of the seventh. Mark Johnson and Doug Roberts scored after reaching base on a double and walk respectively. The game ended with the bases full of Wakefield runners. Johnson had the only extra base hit for Wakefield who finished with a total of five hits.

The Wakefield Midgets started the game in a hole. Norfolk accounted for four first-inning runs and never trailed in the contest.

The hosts cut the lead in half in the second inning by stringing together three hits. Mike Mogus and Matt Tappe scored in the frame.

By the time the next Wakefield runner crossed the plate Norfolk had a commanding 9-2 lead. The hosts scored their last run in the bottom of the sixth. Tappe led off with a walk, advanced to second on an error by the pitcher and he scored on an RBI single by Shawn Meyer. Norfolk scored two in the top of the seventh to make the final count 11-3.

Tappe started the game on the hill for Wakefield. He pitched into the sixth inning and was the losing pitcher. Chris Loofe and Tony Brown also threw in the game.

Work of League of Human Dignity Tearing down barriers

by William L. Rush
League of Human Dignity Volunteer
People who experience limitations in doing daily activities due to paralysis from an accident, a stroke, hearing impairment, or aging can find the resources to help them. Their physical limitations do not have to prevent them from living their life as they choose, with dignity and self-confidence.

The League of Human Dignity is a private, non-profit organization established in Lincoln. Since its founding in 1971, its service area has expanded to 23 Nebraska counties and is a resource in your area.

League Independent Living Advisors work directly with people to assist them to identify and achieve their goals in order to obtain and maintain their independence. For some it may be living on one's own after living in an institution or having lived with one's family; others may need to obtain equipment or hire an attendant; others are learning to cope with a disability for the first time.

When three persons from York and surrounding communities contacted Jeanne Walter, the league's Independent Advisor, for assistance things started to change. The citizens needed access to services available in York, including shopping, banking and social and recreational activities. The barriers that hindered their participation were a lack of curb cuts, designated parking spaces for persons with disabilities, and accessible transportation and building. There was also no existing telephone answering service for those with hearing impairments.

When a number of consumers had similar goals, working together as a group was the most effective and efficient approach. The League held a town meeting in York to see how many people needed the League's help, according to Walters. About 30 concerned citizens gathered to discuss the needs of people with disabilities that were not being addressed in their community.

Walters said that because the League of Human Dignity was founded by a similar group of persons with the same goals as those in York, the group decided to become a chapter of the League. As a chapter, the York group would be able to use the League's resources. The services provided by the League to the York group included information and training regarding the rights of person with disabilities, federal and state accessibility regulations and standards, and advocacy.

The purpose and the philosophy of the York chapter are summed up by Karen Radcliff, the Chapter's first chairperson. "There always seem to be battles among the disabled and the non-disabled, as the disabled have to fight for their rights. Not until you are a disabled person, or a member or friend of a family where someone is disabled are you totally aware of barriers."

"Sometimes there are victories and sometimes failures," Radcliff continues, "but knowing you are working toward something for all the disabled makes the battle worth it." The York chapter has been in existence for almost two years. Stan Dinkelmann, the present chairperson, lists the group's achievements.

- Accessible transportation today includes a wheelchair lift equipped van, and the Busy Wheels, a joint project of the York County Aging Services and the York College. Busy Wheels provides rides five days a week in a station wagon.
- After representatives from the York chapter of the League talked to a local store, the management purchased a cart that can be used by a person shopping from a wheelchair. Two other stores have since purchased the carts.
- A proposal made to the County Commissioners to install a TDD (a device which enables people who are deaf to use the telephone) for emergencies resulted in the installation of TDDs in the sheriff's office and in the police station.
- Dinkelmann said that the York Chapter did so much in so little time because large numbers of people together are listened to, and when you are listened to, there is more public awareness. Public officials in York were then responsive to the identified needs when they became aware.
- He advises others wanting to make their communities more accessible, "Just try not to build barriers, but work with the community to tear them down."
- If you, or your community have similar needs and would like assistance, call the League Advisor for your area, Peg Wheeler, (402) 371-4475.

NOTICE OF ELECTION

The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) County Committee election this year will be held on June 30, 1987. The ballot below must be filled out, detached and mailed and received or returned in person to FmHA, P.O. Box 200, Wayne, NE not later than June 30, 1987. If you do not vote in person you should mail your ballot inside a blank envelope marked ballot to ensure a secret ballot. This blank envelope should be placed inside the envelope you use to mail your ballot. Your name and address must be legible on the outer envelope. Failure to provide this information will render your ballot invalid. Ballots and envelopes may also be obtained from your local FmHA office.

The slate of nominees for Wayne/Stanton Counties are listed in the ballot below. The qualifications of persons voting are described in the "Voter Certification Statement." For further information regarding voting and voter eligibility, see the county office listed above. FmHA elections are open to all eligible voters without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, political affiliation, marital status, sex, and/or handicap.
