The Richard Carlson Fish Farm will be the featured "Farm Family of the Week" on television station-WOWT, Channel 6 of Omaha. The segment will appear on Friday, July 17 at 12:20 p.m., according to television station sources.

Die Kirche

Appearing in a recent West Germany newspaper was a picture of Kay House Moving-Wayne, relocating the Theophilus Church from rural Winside to the museum site near the Winside city park. Stories and photos of the church relocation also appeared in The Wayne Herald.

The AP photo of the church moving that appeared in an area publication has since graced the pages of many daily publications. A West Germany picture and story was mailed by Lydia Vahikamp of Disson, West Germany to Mrs. Albert Jaeger of Winside. Vahikamp and Jaeger are cousins.

Class I meeting

The Nebraska School Improvement Association is conducting a special area meeting for all Class I school district parents, teachers, school board members and taxpayers in Wayne County at the county courthouse on Monday, July 20 at 8 p.m.

The meeting will discuss vital educational subjects on legislation addressing school district mergers, nonresident high school tuition changes, the role of citizens in determining the future of local control, and their children's community school.

Exhibits will be distributed to those in attendance.

Gramly note

The Wayne Herald had recently featured DeWayne Gramly and his twin brother Paul Forbes, reunited twins after nearly a 70-year separation. Gramly is a graduate of Wayne State, and visited the campus in June.

Gramly wrote the following on July 5 to Editor Chuck Hackenmiller:

"It was a most thrilling event for the both of us, being in Wayne and particularly emotional for me as it was exactly 50 years ago to the day of my graduation from Wayne State. One of the great regrets of my brother's life had always been the fact he had only a high school education, though later he put one son through Harvard and another son and daughter through other schools of higher learning. So bestowing upon him the title of Honorary Alumnus was certainly one of the high points for both of us as we toured through Nebraska. We returned home with numerous pieces to fit into the huge jigsaw puzzle.

Every week, some new piece of information surfaces so life continues to be most exciting and we want never to close the book."

School calendar

The 1987-88 school calendar of the Wayne-Carroll public schools was reviewed Tuesday evening by the board of education. Students will begin school on Monday, August 31 and commencement is scheduled next year for May 15.

Shell shocked

AN UNIDENTIFIED contestant in the Chicken Show Egg Drop contest fails in an attempt to catch a falling raw egg, dropped from the city's cherry picker. A child who stood underneath the contestant gets splattered — certainly not what the contestant had 'egg-spected' in this daring 'egg-hibition.'

Chicken Show draws over 3,000 attendance

By Chuck Hackenmiller

Managing Editor

Fry chickens. Fly chickens. Imitate chickens. Judge chickens. Parade chickens. Design chickens. There was all of this and more during Saturday's Wayne Chicken Show. Highlighting the celebration was the annual National Cluck-off Competition, won this year by a Crete, Nebraska man.

Crete's Joel Vavra took over as the Cluck-off champion with his imitation in the rooster crowing contest. John Agler of Wayne, who had for five consecutive years won the Cluck-off event with his rooster crowing and had made an appearance on the Johnny Carson Show, was a judge for this year's contest.

Vavra's performance in the rooster crowing division, in his first appearance at the Wayne Chicken Show, had the audience raving about the authenticity of his imitation.

Vavra and his family reside on an acreage outside of Crete. He works for a well company in Exeter, some 30 miles from Crete. He doesn't farm, but he raises chickens and goats on the acreage.

He was born and raised in Exeter. For 12 years, he and his family have traveled across the country. They returned to Crete about three years ago to settle near the area they liked and where there was a country school in the vicinity.

HOW DID VAVRA become interested in the National Cluck-off competition?

By coincidence he saw Agler and Judith Kluge of Fairbury (a repeat champion in this year's hen imitation division for ages 13 and over) on the Johnny Carson Show and said: "I can do better."

He saw the 1987 Wayne Chicken Show date published in the Lincoln Journal newspaper and decided at "the spur of the moment" to join in on the festivities.

Vavra almost didn't get to perform. His rooster crowing.

He had earlier competed in the hen imitation event, but he said he was told upon registration that he could also compete in the rooster crowing event. Rules originally state that a contestant cannot compete in both events.

However, the judges voted to permit Vavra to do his rooster crowing; and to void his hen imitations done previously.

In the age 12 and under hen division of the Cluck-off contest, first place was won by Chad Evans of Winside. Second place was won by Tammi Schluns and J.D. O'Leary finished in third place.

Hen cluck-off placings in the ages 13 and over category were, first, Judith Kluge of Fairbury; second, Dar Shaw of Blair; and third, Riba Fredrickson of Omaha.

THOSE PLACING in the rooster cluck-off competition in the ages 12 and under division were: first, Mike March; second, Cory Erxleben; third, John Meyer.

In the 13 and over age category of the rooster cluck-off, the top places were Joel Vavra, first; Lyle George, second; and Ann Goeken of Stanton, third.

ESU budget hike proposed

By LaVon Anderson
Assistant Editor

Educational Service Unit One is seeking a 5.9 percent increase in its budget for the coming year — from $2,052,105.42 in 1986-87 to $2,173,472.22 in 1987-88.

That amount does not include the board's cash reserve, which has been upped from $225,000 in 1986-87 to $250,000 in 1987-88.

Board members met Tuesday night at headquarters in Wakefield to review the proposed budget and to set a date for a workshop and public hearing.

The workshop and hearing will take place in Wakefield at 7 p.m. on Aug. 11, preceding the board's regular monthly meeting at 8 p.m.

Counties served by ESU 1 include Cedar, Dakota, Dixon, Knox, Thurston and Wayne.

ESU ADMINISTRATOR Rodney Garwood told The Wayne Herald that next year's proposed increase of $121,368 comes primarily in the areas of special education and transfers.

Garwood added that the increase in special education is due to an increase in contracts with schools served by ESU 1.

The transfers, which are within the budget itself, include coop purchases and special education.

Garwood said the unit has earmarked money for special education in the event collections come in less than expected. Monies received from schools for coop purchases go into the unit's general fund and are then transferred to the coop fund.

PRELIMINARY ESTIMATED unit valuation figures for 1987-88 for 10 counties, including Cedar, Dakota, Dixon, Knox, Thurston, Wayne, Antelope, Pierce, Stanton and Cumming, total $1,462,713,321.72.

That compares with the 1986-87 figure of $1,492,564,614, for a total decrease in valuation of $29,851,292.28.

Based on these preliminary figures, the levy is expected to generate about $506,830 of the proposed budget.

Garwood stressed that the valuation figures are guesstimates and could change drastically.

Programs funded by the county levy include health services, staff development, media, board, administration, administrative supervision, business office, operation of plant, maintenance and transportation.

A COMPLETE breakdown of 1987-88 ESU 1 budget expenditures includes $1,304,492.00 in special education services; $565,230.23 in general levy services; and $303,750.00 in transfers, for total budget expenditures of $2,173,472.22.

The budget also calls for $250,000 in cash reserves, an increase of $25,000 over last year, bringing the total to $2,423,472.22.

Estimated revenues during 1987-88 include $354,900 in estimated cash carryover; $1,304,492.00 in special education contracts; $506,830.00 in total taxes; $13,500 in nursing contracts; $233,750 in transfers; and $10,000 in interest, for a total of $2,423,472.00.

ESU 1 BOARD members Tuesday night gave unanimous approval to a list of major budget items for 1987-88 as presented by Garwood.

Those items and estimated cost are: VCR, $1,800; laser printer, $4,000; lectern with sound, $1,200; audiometer (2), $2,300; Marris system, $1,500; audio equipment, $1,800; office furniture, $1,500; computer and printer, $2,500; and video presentation, $2,500.

IN OTHER business, the board voted unanimously to issue contracts for 1987-88 to Christine Bruder, psychologist who will be serving the South Sioux City Schools; Pam Stevens, speech clinician serving Randolph Schools; Michelle Purcell, Pre-K teacher working throughout the unit area; Debbie Conrad, speech intern serving South Sioux City Schools for the first semester; and Susan Urbanec, resource teacher serving Wayne County District 5.

Board members also voted unanimously to approve a contract with South Sioux City Schools of $14,000 for the use of Bryan School during the 1987-88 year. That cost is the same as during the 1986-87 year.

ADMINISTRATOR Garwood reported to the board that he had received a letter from Lionel Froseth, superintendent of Ponca Public School, seeking an alternative in nursing services.

Froseth's letter came following the resignation of ESU 1 school nurse Chris Surprenant, who is moving to Minnesota. Surprenant served Wynot, Newcastle and Ponca schools.

Froseth asked that ESU 1 consider not hiring or reassigning one of its present staff members to serve the school, but rather let Ponca Public School hire its own nurse, with ESU 1 reimbursing the cost to the district and providing equipment and supervision.

ALTHOUGH THE option proposed by Froseth does have some merit, Garwood stated that he could not recommend the proposed change at this time.

Shows 3 percent increase

School district budget reviewed

By Chuck Hackenmiller

Managing Editor

A proposed 1987-88 budget that suggests an approximate 3 percent increase over the current fiscal year was presented to the Wayne-Carroll Board of Education Tuesday night.

Also, local district property taxes (with homestead exemption not included) would increase from $1.37 million to $1.44 million — about a 5 percent increase.

In 1984-1985, local property tax was 53.2 percent of budget receipts. Haun anticipates the 1987-88 local property tax share of budget receipts to rise to 58.4 percent.

"Legislatures receive more pressure for tax relief from big business and industry in the state than they do from local taxpayers for broadening the property tax base for schools," Haun said.

HE SAID THE trend in Nebraska for a continued reduction in state financing of public education is in direct contrast to the action taken by some states surrounding Nebraska, which have increased state aid to education.

The Wayne-Carroll School District will gain up to $3 million more in assessed valuation as a result of petitioners transferring land into the district for 1987-88, Haun remarked.

Haun emphasized that the preliminary 1987-88 budget is susceptible to several changes. "We're still missing the exact amount of dollars authorized for tuition," he said. Prior to a change in the formula as set by the legislature, it was anticipated that there would be a loss of about $30,000 in high school tuition for tax purposes.

"And we still do not know what the salaries will be for next year," he added.

The board of education and the teachers have not reached a salary agreement for the 1987-88 school year. Haun, in his budget message, said that if a salary settlement is not reached, then the salaries will be set by the Court of Industrial Relations.

The findings and rulings of the court are binding on the school district, regardless of the amount of money in the budget, or the financial condition of the school district, according to Haun.

"Budget preparations, however, must proceed and tax levies must be set regardless of the guessing game which become a part of the budgeting process," he wrote in his budget message.

THE FIGURE USED in the proposed budget for teacher salary showed a 4.46 percent increase over the previous fiscal year in the elementary teacher level and 3.84 percent in the secondary education level.

The entire 1987-88 school district proposed budget calls for an increase, including federal programs

Water tower advertised for sale

By Chuck Hackenmiller

Managing Editor

Anyone want to buy a water tower? Wayne's city council authorized City Administrator Phil Kloster to begin steps to advertise for the sale of the city's nearly 72 year old water tower located east off of Main Street in the 800 block of Wayne.

Discussion of the old water tower was discussed after Roger Franklin of the Howard R. Green Company, an engineering firm working with the current city water works projects, notified the city council that the new water tower under construction east of Wayne will be finished soon. Painting of the tower is expected to be completed in August.

Completion date of the new water tower is slated for September, according to Franklin.

Councilman Freeman Decker then tossed out for discussion what should be done with the old water tower.

"It's looking pretty ratty," Decker said.

Kloster told the council that the city was considering the painting of the stand pipe on the west edge of the Wayne city limits. "We could paint the old water tower at the same time," he added.

However, Kloster was quick to add that the old 1915 water tower currently has little function in the city's water works except for storage when other stand pipes are checked.

Public Works Superintendent Vern Schulz said work on the old water tower would require a complete sandblasting this year, along with the painting. "It will be expensive to paint the tower this time," he said.

Mayor Wayne Marsh said he would be in favor of finding a market for the old water tower. "I would be in favor of seeing something done with it after our new tower is up and working," Marsh said.

IN OTHER ACTION Tuesday evening the city council:

Received a letter from Jim Lakin, chairman of the board of Timpfe Industries, Incorporated. Lakin thanked the city of Wayne and Mayor Marsh for the key to the city that was presented to him last June by Timpfe, Inc. President Jim Remick of Wayne, and also thanked Marsh for designating the month of July as "Jim Lakin Month" in Wayne in honor of his 50 year anniversary with the Timpfe company.

Lakin wrote that he is "incentive that the choice of Wayne [for the Timpfe, Inc. manufacturing plant and corporate headquarters] was the right one."

"And I am confident that the second century will benefit Wayne and Timpfe," he added.

News Briefs

Nebraska future discussed

A total of 12 persons interested in economic development in northeastern Nebraska participated recently in a task force meeting of the Nebraska Futures Project in Norfolk.

The project, a year-long study of economic change in the state, is sponsored by the Nebraska Press Association and funded by the Kiewit Foundation, SRI International of Menlo Park, California is conducting the research.

J. Alan Cramer of Wayne and Elaine Wolf of Albion are members of the state-wide steering committee for the project.

They discussed economic conditions locally and the prospects for business, agriculture and higher education. The meeting was conducted by SRI Senior Policy analyst Ted Lyman and State Coordinator Jane Moody with Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Comments from the meeting will be incorporated into a draft report to be ready early in the fall. The task force will meet again at that time to review the initial finds of the study.

Creating visuals course offered

The graduate, one-credit-hour course Creating Visual Educational Units (EDU 596) is offered in three locations in August: Wayne, Fremont and O'Neill.

The course is a hands-on creative experience that provides practical materials for elementary and middle school teachers. The instructor is Marge Evans of Staples, Minn.

In Wayne, the course is offered on the Wayne State campus Aug. 11-12 from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. In Fremont, the course is offered at the junior high Aug. 13-14 also from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. The O'Neill course is scheduled Aug. 17-18 from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. at a site to be determined.

For additional information or to register, contact the Extended Campus Division at Wayne State at 402-375-2200 ext. 217.

Historical Society plans meeting

The Wayne County Historical Society will hold its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, July 21.

All interested persons are invited to attend the meeting at 7:30 p.m. at the museum, located at Seventh and Lincoln Sts.

Paving contract awarded in Wakefield

Northeast Sand and Gravel of Wayne has been awarded a storm sewer and paving contract by the Wakefield city council. The project, estimated at $102,000, is for approximately two blocks between Main St. and Highway 35. The area used to be the railroad right-of-way.

City Administrator Lowell Johnson said Northeast Sand and Gravel will be putting in the storm sewers this summer, with paving expected to begin next April.

The cost of the intersections on the project will be paid by the City of Wakefield, with work on the street paid by adjoining landowners.

Lightning strikes haystacks

Several haystacks were destroyed at the Carl Berg farm near Winside on July 10 after being struck by lightning. Mrs. Berg discovered the flames about 3 a.m. and notified the Winside Volunteer Fire Department.

The Berg farm is located two and three-fourths miles south and two east of Winside. No other damage was reported.

Nelhardt Day planned

The time is nearing for the 22nd annual Nelhardt Day, to take place Sunday, Aug. 2, at the Nelhardt Center at Bancroft.

This annual Nelhardt Day draws people to the Center from local and far-away places. Yet all have one thing in common: a passion for poetry and for the literary legacy of John G. Nelhardt.

Nelhardt lived at Bancroft during the years when he produced his greatest writings, the Lyric Poems, Short Stories and his great masterpiece, A Cycle of the West. These writings earned him the title of Nebraska Poet Laureate in 1921, an honor he held 52 years—until his death in 1973. In 1982, he was proclaimed Nebraska's Poet Laureate in Perpetuity.

"Shakers of the Sacred" is this year's theme. The outdoor program will begin promptly at 3 p.m., preceded by a welcome and introductions by Marie Vogt, president of the Nelhardt Foundation.

Fred Thomas, well known writer of the Omaha World-Herald, will serve as Master of Ceremonies.

Father Peter J. Powell of St. Augustine's Center of Chicago, Illinois will be the main speaker. Father Powell's entire scholarly and priestly ministry has been in the service of the American Indian. As a well known writer, he has shared his research on native Americans by authoring the books, "People of the Sacred Mountain," "Sweet Medicine" and "The Cheyennes." His academic honors include Phi Beta Kappa and four doctorate degrees.

The Nelhardt Day observance is sponsored by the John G. Nelhardt Foundation and the Nebraska State Historical Society.

Karnes toll-free line

U.S. Senator David Karnes announced July 8 the establishment of a statewide toll-free line to his Omaha office.

In making the announcement, Senator Karnes said, "Today I am establishing a statewide toll-free telephone service to my Omaha office. The new number is (800) 642-0032 and will be answered by a member of my staff from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday. On Thursdays, the line will be in service from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. I am instituting this service to provide all Nebraskans equal access to my office staff and to me.

This toll-free number should be of benefit to those Nebraskans, particularly rural Nebraskans, who are not within reasonable distance of a Karnes field office and need help or assistance. The very minimal expense of creating this service is well worth the access it will provide."

Senator Karnes announced earlier that he will be opening an office in Kearney to serve the Third Congressional District and has already moved his Omaha office to a more accessible location in order to provide expanded office hours.

Johar gets scholarship

Students in the College of Engineering and Technology at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln recently have been awarded scholarships for 1987-88.

Recipient of an Engineering Education for Minorities Scholarship was Navjot Johar, an electrical engineering major. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Jogindar Johar of Wayne.

Navjot's scholarship amount is $350.

Schafer on Dean's List

Beth Schafer of Wayne was one of 137 Nebraska Wesleyan students who made the Dean's List for academic achievement for the second semester 1986-87.

To make the list, a student must have a minimum grade point average of 3.75 on a 4.0 scale. She is a senior.

Completed youth program

Jennifer Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Johnson of Allen, recently completed the one-week Business Week for Youth program at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln June 21-26.

The program provides high school students with an introduction to important concepts in economics and business. It is sponsored by the Nebraska Council on Economic Education, the Lincoln Independent Business Association and the Nebraska Collectors Association.

Niobrara recreation area dedicated

The dedication and grand opening of the Niobrara State Park took place Saturday.

Speakers included Colonel Steven West, commander of the Army Corps of Engineers, Omaha district; State Senator Elroy Hafner; James Denney of the Omaha World-Herald; Paul Theierolf, Niobrara mayor; Margaret Green of Niobrara; and John Schulerberg, Superintendent of Niobrara State Park.

J. Alan Cramer of Wayne, a director with the Game and Parks Foundation, gave the dedication address at the grand opening. He opened his address by saying: "Everybody on one payroll of living in one state, or working for one organization, is on one boat. And I believe the presence of this magnificent park is evidence that the Game and Parks Commission—and Gene Mahoney—and his staff, recognize that we are, indeed, all in the same boat..."

"A recognition, if you will, that northeast Nebraskans are also in need of recreational facilities as much as are the citizens of Omaha, North Platte, Lincoln, Scottsbluff, Grand Island and Kearney," he added.

Cramer said there is no finer collection and variety of history, scenery and facilities in Nebraska or elsewhere than what can be enjoyed at Niobrara State Park. That history includes the Lewis and Clark Expedition, the fur traders and Ft. Mitchell, Niobrara community and its varied history, the Mormon camp site and canal, Chief Standing Bear and his historical landmark legal battle, the Ponca Indians and their infamous Trail of Tears saga.

HE SAID HE is "proud to be a part of the dedication and equally honored to be a member of the Nebraska Game and Parks Foundation Board of Directors."

"This is an organization that has solicited and received in excess of $6 million in gifts for the recreational use of all the citizens who sail aboard the 'good ship Nebraska,'" Cramer mentioned.

"Gifts of money vary—from a small rural school boy who baked brownies, conducted a bake sale and gave us his profit of $4.36—to many hundred of thousands of dollars from individuals and charitable foundations," he added.

Cramer said there have been gifts of over 100 horses; gifts of timbers to construct Ft. Atkinson; gifts of railroad cabooses; and gifts of land that include the Keller State Recreation Area, 7,000 acre Bowring Ranch, and Ash Fall, an archeological find of international significance recognized by the National Geographic Society.

Among the new additions to the Niobrara State Park complex, besides new all-weather cabins and new roads, is an interpretive shelter (a gift from Cramer) that honors the region's native American history.

The park offers a view of the Missouri and Niobrara river valleys.

New location

WHITE HORSE of Wayne, owned for the past nine years by Bill and Shirley Swinney of Wayne, moved to a different location, making the jump across the street north to what was the former Carl's Conoco Station. The business will be unique because of the combination of shoe repair and the selling of leaded, non-leaded fuel. The business will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Besides selling the leaded, non-leaded fuel (no diesel fuel will be sold) at the full service and self service pumps, White Horse also specializes in leather repair, shoe repair and same day repair service of men's and women's heels. An open house has been scheduled at White Horse for this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 16-18. Randy Davie will be operating the service bays in the White Horse facility.

Lawrence Quinn, 75, of Dixon died Tuesday, July 7, 1987 at a Sioux City hospital.

Services were held Saturday, July 11 at Immaculate Conception Catholic Church in Waterbury. The Rev. Patrick Carroll of Waterbury officiated.

Lawrence Quinn was born Feb. 19, 1912 at Waterbury. He married Evelyn M. Sullivan on April 16, 1935 at Ponca. He had farmed his entire life. He had made his home with his daughter and family, the Vincent Kavanaghs at Dixon, for the past several years. Mr. Quinn was a member of Immaculate Conception Catholic Church in Waterbury.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Vincent (Jeanie) Kavanagh of Dixon; two sisters, Mrs. Duane (Rose) Calvert of Allen and Mrs. Ralph (Pearl) Walsh of Waterbury; 12 grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

Preceding him in death were his wife on Oct. 15, 1980; one daughter, Mrs. Edmund Lux; and two sons, Jerry and Thomas Quinn.

Honorary pallbearers were William Haringfield, Bill Clough, Lloyd Pearson, Frank O'Neill, Ben Elgert, Frank Carnay and Ray Kyal.

Active pallbearers were Gary Kayl, Don Roeder, Harlan Mattes, Lyle Greenough, George Sullivan Jr. and Marty Mahler.

Burial was at South Creek Cemetery near Ponca with Larkin Funeral Home of Sioux City in charge of arrangements.

Harold Jeffrey

Harold Jeffrey of Seattle, Wash., died Friday, July 10, 1987 from a massive heart attack.

Harold C. Jeffrey had taught school in Concord and in Colorado and Alaska before retiring.

Survivors include his wife, Elizabeth; sisters, Helen Hupp of Wakefield and Florence Van of Madison.

Erma Moore

Erma Moore, 65, of Battle Creek, died Thursday, July 9, 1987 at a Norfolk hospital from a lingering illness.

Services were held Saturday, July 11 at St. Patrick's Catholic Church in Battle Creek. Father Richard Arkfeld of Randolph officiated.

Erma L. Moore, the daughter of Harry and Lela Van Kirk McCune, was born Dec. 27, 1921 at Randolph. She attended Randolph school and graduated from Randolph High School and Wayne State College. She married Frank Moore on Aug. 13, 1954 at Yankton, S.D. She taught school one year at Coleridge, four years at Madison and 33 years at Battle Creek, retiring June 1986.

Survivors include her father, Harry McCune of Randolph; husband, Frank of Battle Creek; two sons, Tom of Columbus and Richard of Norfolk; two sisters, Mrs. Ethel Hamm of Winside and Mrs. Fritz (Evelyn) Stahl of Sandy, Ore.; and one brother, Dale McCune of Kingsley, Iowa.

She was preceded in death by her mother.

Pallbearers were Mervin Hamm, Dan McCune, Bob Schnitzer, Dick Cleveland, Pete Krapp and Wayne McCormick.

Burial was in St. Patrick's Catholic Cemetery, Battle Creek, with Steffen Mortuary of Battle Creek in charge of arrangements.

A memorial fund has been established in her memory.

Opinion

Legislature OK's truck licensing law

Congress approved legislation in October, 1986, that requires the Secretary of Transportation to establish minimum standards for state testing and licensing of operators of commercial vehicles. The law, which contains a number of components, is to be implemented in several phases over the next five years.

The first step became effective on July 1. It is now illegal for truck and bus drivers in the United States to have more than one commercial drivers license. That regulation applies to all operators of large trucks weighing more than 26,000 pounds, to drivers of vehicles designed to carry at least 15 passengers, and to drivers of vehicles that transport placarded hazardous materials.

In issuing this regulation, Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole said, "It is unconscionable that a truck or bus driver can obtain several drivers licenses from different states, then hide bad driving records by distributing traffic violations among them."

I agree with her. This regulation is needed. It applies not only to those drivers who operate in interstate commerce, but also to those who operate wholly within a state's borders.

During the next year, the Department of Transportation will be proposing further regulations with respect to the licensing of commercial vehicles. The issue of agricultural vehicles will be addressed at that time.

IN MAY, I wrote to Secretary Dole to alert her to a potential problem those of us from rural states could have if the regulations are too broad. Fortunately, the law permits the Secretary to waive any regulation for any particular class of drivers or class of vehicles if such a waiver would not diminish the safe operation of commercial vehicles.

Farm trucks present a different set of circumstances. Many operators drive short distances between the field and farmstead or local grain elevator, usually during daylight hours. Some family members only drive farm trucks for a short time during the harvest season. Imposing a requirement for a commercial drivers license in these circumstances is unnecessary and costly.

That is the message that I have sent to Secretary Dole and that I will continue to put forward during the next phase of regulatory activity. As long as a farmer and his family are hauling their product from one point to another, I do not believe that they should be forced to secure a commercial drivers license.

Time for AID to Move on Commodities Shipments

I was surprised and quite disappointed to learn that the Agency for International Development expects to fail to meet at least two requirements in the P.L. 480 (Food for Peace) law this fiscal year. The law requires the movement of at least 1.425 million tons of Title II commodities through nonemergency programs and it requires that at least 75% of this amount be in the form of processed or fortified products or bagged commodities.

According to AID officials, only about 1.3 million tons of the 1.425 million ton minimum requirement will be fulfilled in fiscal 1987, because of the inherent difficulty in mounting new feeding programs. And, the agency expects to fall short of the requirement that 75% of the value of non-emergency Title II commodities must be processed, fortified or bagged commodities.

I have written to Agency for International Development Administrator Peter McPherson to express my displeasure at this news and to let him know that the explanations for this failure are unsatisfactory. There remain various opportunities for AID to meet the legally required minimums in this fiscal year, and I have told Administrator McPherson that the agency had better act very promptly to meet these legal requirements.

These P.L. 480 programs are desirable not only for the assistance provided to needy populations overseas, but also for their benefits to U.S. agricultural exporting interests, including farmers, food processors and transporters in Nebraska.

Positive attitude

It's been fun receiving myriad suggestions from readers and advertisers concerning additional possible regular weekly features for the Wayne Herald.

Not only has this business "honeymoon" period been a time to meet people and begin friendships but it also has proved to be a time to gain constructive comments from residents on additional offerings they'd like to see in their local newspaper. (We stress no popular features will be eliminated but we're keeping an open mind concerning any new features people would like ADDED.)

We're not going to be able to implement these recommendations all at once but it might be realistic to predict most of the more popular proposals could be a part of this newspaper within the next 12 months.

To introduce -- and maintain -- these features will take a great deal of coordination and cooperation among the Herald's editorial and advertising departments and enthusiastic merchants but we think the effort will be well worth it for all concerned.

One of the new ideas, which debuted in Monday's newspaper, is the Business Focus on Page 3.

This regular weekly feature provides a half page space FREE OF CHARGE to any merchant and allows him to use it (in text and photo form) however he or she pleases!

The space is available for very positive public relations-type information and the material can be prepared either by the owner-manager of the business or a Herald writer.

Several visually attractive photos could be an integral part of the feature as was the case July 13 when Ellingson Motors led off the series.

To qualify for the program, a merchant must only advertise six weeks in one of the small spaces at the bottom of the page. Each week a different participating business will be given maximum exposure at the top half of the page.

After this first six-week ends, a new group of six merchants will start another cycle.

Staff member Patti Zrust is coordinating this "positive-outlook" program and don't hesitate to visit with her (or either of us) if you'd like more details about it. Already some businesses have reserved a spot on the next rotation.

Efforts are being made to coordinate the program to avoid similar businesses being involved in the same six week cycle. We'll stay in tune with merchants to determine how we can improve the feature as it evolves.

It's a program not only designed to open up the HERALD pages to any business but also to encourage businesses to think positive about themselves and PUBLICIZE that image to their customers. Don't be bashful.

Ask A Lawyer

A public service of the Nebraska State Bar Association

Q. My father remarried after my mother died many years ago. When my father died in 1971, my stepmother inherited everything and now she has died and her two children inherited all of the property. Do we have any recourse now after so much time has gone by? We never received any money or property or any of our father's personal belongings. His tools were sold at an auction and we were not informed of the time or place. Is there a statute of limitations on a situation such as mine?

A. You did not state whether your father left a will, but since all his property went to your stepmother, we assume that there was a will and that it left everything to your stepmother. If there had been no will, you and any sisters and brothers would have been eligible to receive part of your father's estate under the laws of intestate succession.

The sixteen years that have passed since your father's death defeat any claim you might have had on the property. Nebraska has a three-year statute of limitations on both formal and informal probate proceedings.

Q. Can I name both of my children (they are adults) in my will to serve as executors of my estate? One does not live in Nebraska, is that a problem?

The term "personal representative" is now used in place of "executor" or "executrix." You may name both of your children as co-personal representatives of your estate, or you may appoint one as a successor personal representative in the event the other cannot serve.

There is no legal requirement that the personal representative live in Nebraska. As long as the individual is qualified by age (19 or older), and is determined by the court to be suitable, he or she can be appointed.

If you have a legal question, write "Ask a Lawyer," P.O. Box 2529, Lincoln 68502. This column is intended to provide general legal information, not specific legal advice. "Ask a Lawyer" is a public service of the Nebraska State Bar Association.

Amusement ride regulation needed?

by State Senator Don Wesely

Due to recent events involving amusement rides in other states, concerns have been expressed regarding the safety of amusement rides operating in Nebraska and state regulations relating to amusement rides. Currently, there are no state regulations relating to the structural safety of amusement rides. The State Electrical Board and State Fire Marshal may inspect amusement rides for compliance with electrical and fire codes but have no authority to inspect the rides for structural safety.

However, the State of Nebraska will soon begin regulating amusement rides to help ensure their safe operation because of legislation passed during the 1987 legislative session. The Nebraska Amusement Ride Act, LB 226, introduced by Lincoln State Senator Don Wesely will require all amusement rides to be inspected when they are first put into operation and annually thereafter beginning January 1, 1988.

LB 226 requires that an amusement ride owner must receive an annual permit from the Department of Labor before the ride may be operated in Nebraska. Before a permit is issued, the owner must provide a certificate of inspection by a qualified inspector and proof of liability insurance as established by the Department of Labor, but the amount required may not exceed $1 million per occurrence. The Nebraska Amusement Ride Act will also prohibit anyone under the age of 16 from operating an amusement ride and require that an operator must be in attendance at all times that a ride is in use. All accident and injury reports must be filed by the amusement ride owner with the Department of Labor and the Department may request maintenance and inspection records and inspect any ride without notice at any time while the ride is operating in the state. The Department of Labor may suspend the permit of operation if the ride is found to be unsafe.

Wesely said the Nebraska amusement ride owners and operators have excellent safety records and that legislation was passed to provide additional assurance that all amusement rides continue to operate in Nebraska as safely as possible.

"Sharing our commitment to the safety of all amusement rides operating in the state," Wesely said, "Nebraska's amusement ride owners were very helpful in developing the Nebraska Amusement Act and served as a catalyst to the passage of this legislation."

Wesely said that although the Nebraska Amusement Act cannot guarantee there will not be any accidents involving amusement rides in Nebraska, this legislation takes a giant step forward in minimizing the chances that such an accident will occur.

Anyone who has questions about amusement ride inspections or would like to report a possible safety violation should contact the Division of Safety at the Department of Labor.

Letters

Protesting rates

I am incensed by the nonsense that telephone rates must be doubled in the Meadow Grove area.

In this, the year of the Bicentennial of our Constitution, citizens are still given the right to protest peacefully, by merely signing a complaint. We don't face a prison sentence for this act, nor are we censored in any way for doing so.

A letter sent with the last telephone bill gave all the facts. But did you catch the statement that if as few as 5% of the customers served formally sign a complaint, within 60 days of the letter, (ours was June 25) that the NE Public Service Commission can review the basic local exchange rates?

The letter also stated the present rate was $6.25, while it is actually $6.75. Perhaps the right hand doesn't know what the left hand is doing. "The complaint shall specifically set forth the specific rate as to which the review is requested, the reasons for the requested review, and the relief which the complainants desire. The complaint must be signed, dated, and include your telephone number." stated the letter from Huntel Systems....and be made within 60 days....

When our forefathers dumped English tea in the harbor they acted because they felt that enough was enough.

If the residents of Belden, Carroll, Macy, Meadow Grove, Osmond, Rosalie, Walthill and Winnebago do peacefully and with foresight, take this time to act, their voices will be heard. Do you personally feel that a 100% increase in rates is justified?

We received only one phone book, which is probably out in the shop now, for our phones this year. We receive instead, I guess, a newsletter called the Communicator. So out of the old phone book, I counted 360 numbers for Meadow Grove area. The necessary 5% would amount to only 18 patrons.

We will sign a protest stating that: 1. In regard to the rate proposed that would increase the residential rate from the present $6.75 to $12.95 and the business rate to increase from the present $9.25 to $19.95, 2. The reasons for the requested review are: The rate increase from the present $6.75 to $25 and to $12.95 and $19.95 is around 100% in relationship to the declining rate of return on investments over the past 7-10 years, we feel this increase to be totally, completely unreasonable.

3. The relief the complainants desire: The rate of increase of long distance rates has not been stated, only that the revenue from the rates has diminished. We feel the increase of the long distance rate increase should be borne by the current subscribers. However, we do not feel it reasonable or prudent to increase the rate at the present time to enhance greater profits for the Huntel company on their local investment.

Lowell and Lois Hale

Following orders?

"I was only following orders," says North, the same excuse used by Adolf Eichmann. Like Miniver Cheevy, little fascist Ollie was born too late. He embodies the Nazi SS mentality, but fortunately he is too big a bumbler ever to have made that obscene bunch of supervigilantes. What is more frightening than North, however, is the large number of Americans who apparently share his utter disregard for the rule of law and think him some kind of hero. The Boobus Americanus is hardly an endangered species....

Wayne-Carroll High School

Classmates return after 20 years

The Wayne-Carroll High School Class of 1967 held its 20-year reunion during the July 4 weekend. Over half of the classmates returned for the event with their spouses.

Weekend activities began Friday evening with an open house at The Varsity. Friends of classmates also attended.

The Middle School (former high school) was open on Saturday for those interested in touring the building. The Class of 1967 was the last class to graduate from the old high school.

A CATERED banquet was served Saturday evening at Wayne Country Club.

The evening's program consisted of a slide show, "Good Ol' Wayne High 20 Years Ago," created by the committee of John and Kay Claus, Ken and Anne Nolte, Robert and Mary Woehler, and Dave and Diane Zach.

Flowers were placed at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Wayne, in memory of classmate Rodney Reeg, and at the First United Methodist Church, Wayne, in memory of classmate Calvin Comstock.

Throughout the week, Wayne Radio KTCH played 1967 music during Dan Baddorf's "Oldies But Baddies" show. On July 2, Baddorf honored the class with a countdown of the tunes of 1967.

Steve Schram, along with his committee, volunteered to be in charge of the 25-year reunion.

CLASSMATES ATTENDING the 20-year reunion included:

Dennis and Ann (Bareman) Ross, Wichita, Kan.; Leone Coryell, Bellvue, Colo.; Larry and Susan Hamley, Pearland, Texas; Dave Jensen, Phoenix, Ariz.; Mark and Pramila Johnson, Bismarck, N. D.; Dennis and Connie (Lutt) Blecke, Brighton, Colo.; Carl and Mary Matson, Aloha, Ore.; Dan Rees, Tacoma, Wash.; Lee Sherry, Kaysville, Utah; Phil and Karen (Wills) Keiton,

Engagements

Starman-Clausen

Making plans for an Aug. 22 wedding at St. Mary's Catholic Church are Sharon Starman and Tim Clausen, both of Norfolk. Their engagement has been announced by their parents.

Miss Starman, daughter of Raymond and Beverly Starman of Norfolk, is a graduate of Norfolk Catholic High School and Wayne State College. She is employed with the Department of Social Services.

Her fiancé, son of Hugh and Gladys Maxey of Emerson, was graduated from Emerson Hubbard High School. He is employed with Moore's Transfer.

Oswald-Schoning

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Oswald of Allen announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Anne, to Jeff Schoning of Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schoning of Sheffield, Iowa.

Miss Oswald was graduated from Allen High School and is a sophomore at Wayne State College working to complete her BA degree in elementary education.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Sheffield-Chapin High School and Simpson College with a BA in mathematics. He is teaching and coaching at Allen High School.

The couple plans an Aug. 15 garden wedding at the Oswald residence in Allen. All current students and graduated students are invited to an open house reception from 3 to 8 p.m. at the Oswald residence.

In Arizona

Concord quiz team attends Free Church youth conference

Twelve teenagers from the Concord Evangelical Free Church Youth Fellowship (FCYF) attended the Free Church of America youth conference in Flagstaff, Ariz. on June 21-26.

Fifteen hundred teenagers from states west of the Mississippi attended the five-day conference on the campus of Northern Arizona University.

Daily schedules included morning and evening Bible hours, seminars, community outreach and festival events.

Lana Erwin of Concord participated in the Vocal Music Festival, receiving a superior rating for her songs, "Face to Faith" and "They Could Not."

A HIGHLIGHT of the convention for the Concord youths was participation in the Bible Quizzing Festival on the books of 1 Corinthians and Daniel. The 12 teens made up two teams which they called The STARS (Searching Through All Revealing Scripture).

The Lower Division team consisted of Diane and Vonda Boysen, Scott Carlson, Kristie and Jason Kvols and Tonya Kamrath, all of Laurel. They experienced two wins and two losses quizzing against teams from Kost, Coon Rapids and Minneapolis, Minn., and Ukiah, Calif.

Members of the Upper Division team were Lana Erwin and Diane Olson of Concord, Ranae Fuoss of Wayne, Scott Boysen and Julie Dickey of Laurel, and Shannon Arder of Coleridge. They had a one and three record in their quizzes with teams from Ukiah, Calif., Las Cruces, N. M., Seattle, Wash., and Minneapolis, Minn.

SEVERAL QUIZZERS also participated in a Bible Memory Festival, a verbal examination on over 100 memory verses, and Bible Knowledge Festival, a 100 question written test.

In Bible knowledge, Lana Erwin received a superior; Vonda Boysen, excellent; and Scott Carlson and Diane Olson, good.

In Bible memory, Lana Erwin and Vonda Boysen both received superior; Diane Olson, excellent; and Scott Carlson and Diane Boysen, good.

ACCOMPANYING THE teens to Flagstaff were Quiz Coach Judy Kvols of Laurel, and sponsors Judy Brenner and Mike Forsberg of Concord.

The Concord FCYF has set its sights on "Making History Denver '88" to be held in downtown Denver in July 1988. Attendance is expected to be 5,000 from across the United States.

The STARS began intensive study on July 12 of the Bible books of Hebrews and 1 and 11 Peter in anticipation of the 1988 district and national conferences.

Wakefield couple married 50 years

Wakefield residents Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Jensen celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last month with an open house reception at Salem Lutheran Church in Wakefield.

Over 270 friends and relatives attended the event and were greeted by the couple's son, Don of Dakota City and Randy of Emerson. There are six grandchildren.

MRS. RANDY Jensen was seated at the guest book and gift table and served as mistress of ceremonies for the afternoon program.

The Rev. Joe Marek gave a message and the couple repeated their marriage vows.

Elmer Carlson of Allen sang "One Day at a Time." Mrs. Robert Oberg and Aiden Johnson also sang several selections, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Fischer. Lesa Jensen read a poem, entitled "The Golden Years."

MR. AND MRS. Paul Fischer were hosts for the reception. Julie and Janie Jensen served punch, and Mrs. Francis Skipton and Mrs. Dale Anderson poured.

The church's reception committee was in charge of serving.

Guests attended from Kiowa, Colo.; Phoenix, Ariz.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Sioux City, Mo.; and Davenport, Iowa; Lincoln, Norfolk, Lindsay, Laurel, Ponca, Wayne, Emerson, Wakefield, Allen, South Sioux City, Rosalie, Wausa, Hubbard, Pender, Waterbury, Thurston and Homer.

Baptisms

Sean Michael McCormick

Sean Michael McCormick, three-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean McCormick of Wayne, was baptized July 5 at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne.

Sean's sponsors were Mike Warren of Houston, Texas and Nancy Jensen of Omaha.

A dinner was served at Geno's Steakhouse with friends and relatives in attendance. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Beltz, Plainview, and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis McCormick, Blair.

Area reunions

Doring reunion

Bressler Park in Wayne was the site of a Doring family reunion on July 12 with 66 attending.

The oldest present was Mrs. Emma Benjamin of Laurel, and the youngest was James Geewe of Wakefield. Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Thompson of Sebeka, Minn. attended from the furthest distance.

Five births were recorded during the past year. There were no deaths or marriages.

The next reunion will be the second Sunday in July 1988 at Bressler Park. Families of Max Brudigan will be in charge of arrangements.

Goldberg reunion

Goldberg family members attended a reunion on July 4 in the Wakefield city park.

Among those attending the picnic dinner were the Rev. and Mrs. Melvin Loggram of Singapore, here on furlough from missionary work.

Eighty-seven family members joined them from Rockford, Ill.; Shiner, Texas; Duluth and New Brighton, Minn.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Lakewood, Colo.; Postville, Essex, West Des Moines and Sioux City, Iowa; Omaha, Columbus, Sidney, Wakefield, Wayne, Laurel, Dixon and Concord.

The Golden Years by Gil Haase

People over 65 shouldn't assume that common troublesome discomforts are the inevitable result of aging, says Dr. Susan Calvert Finn of the American Dietetic Association. Such problems as loss of appetite, headaches, insomnia or a general lack of energy can be caused by marginal vitamin deficiencies, rather than by the aging process itself. Consult your physician or a dietician to find out whether you have a vitamin deficiency and how to correct it. Dr. Finn also advises seniors that most such deficiencies can be resolved by a simple change in diet.

In 1900, the average life expectancy in the United States was just 45 years. The life expectancy of a female child born today is more than 78 years and, for a male child, more than 71.

Where have all the home runs gone? In what many deemed as a home run derby turned into a defense struggle Tuesday night at the all-star game in Oakland.

The game which lasted late into the evening was viewed by the largest crowd ever to watch a baseball game at Oakland-Alameda County Stadium. The third longest all-star game in history came to a close when Lee Smith got Dave Winfield to groundout to third baseman Tim Lincecum.

Tim Raines was the hero for the National League, who was trying to avoid dropping two straight to the "Junior Circuit". The National League now leads the series 37-20. Raines entered the game 0-7 in the midsummer classic. Tuesday night he went 3-3 with the deciding blow being a two-run triple in the top of the 13th.

The defensive struggle allowed NBC announcers Vince Scully and Joe Garagiola to drift into the "land of trivia". I picked up all kinds of interesting junk.

Did you know that by being saddled with the loss Jay Howell of the Oakland Athletics became only the fourth all-star hurler to be the losing pitcher in his home ballpark? With Tuesday night's win the National League has won all eight games that went into extra innings.

Gargiolo probably came up with the most of the wall explanation of why there were no home runs hit in the classic. With tongue in cheek the ex-Major League backstop explained that in regular season games the teams play with balls signed by American League President Dr. Bobby Brown and National League President A. Bartlett Giamatti. In the all-star game, balls with Commissioner Peter Ueberroth's signature and the all-star logo were used. Garagiola said the obvious reason was that Ueberroth had more letters in his name making the ball heavier.

Everytime I saw Eric Davis and Keith Hernandez something didn't look right. It was the white shoes. They just didn't go with the gray uniforms of the Reds and Mets.

Another thing the extra-inning game did was allow the fans to see every all-star play with the exception of pitchers Bruce Hurst and Mike Witt.

Talk about a rocky start. How about Mark McGwire's first all-star game. He was almost the hero and the goat all in one game. McGwire replaced Don Mattingly and in his first at bat he launch a fly ball deep to right field that would have been the winning run, but Dale Murphy made a nice catch at the wall. An inning or two later with McGwire playing first base he threw the ball into leftfield after Dave Righetti had Raines picked off. The throw allowed Raines to advance to third but the American League got out of it when Juan Samuel and Jeffrey Leonard were retired.

Although parts of the game weren't too exciting it was nice to see in a year filled with home runs.

Congratulations to Winside track Coach Jim Winch. Winch will be honored at an awards and recognition banquet Aug. 7 at the Villager Convention Center by the Nebraska Coaches Association with a 25-year plaque signifying his years of service to coaching.

He and 24 other coaches from around the state will be recognized for their 25 years of service in the teaching and coaching profession.

Friends wishing to attend the banquet may call the NAC office at 476-9350 or write Nebraska Coaches Association, 625 S. 14th, Suite 205, Lincoln, NE 68508. Tickets are $11 and must be purchased in advance.

Wayne clubs split at O'Neill

By Gregg Dahlheim
Sports Editor

The Wayne Midgets and Junior Legion teams were involved in four tight contests Sunday and each team came away from the round-robin tournament in O'Neill with 1-1 marks.

Both teams got by their opponents from Rapid City, South Dakota to open the tournament but each dropped games to host O'Neill later in the day.

The Midgets started the day by handing Rapid City a 7-4 loss. Pitcher Matt Peterson went the distance to earn the win. He gave up the four runs on eight hits while striking out five.

The locals had trouble getting their offense started. Rapid City pitching kept the Wayne hitters scoreless through three innings. In the meantime they grabbed a 3-0 lead with a run in the top of the second and a two-run homer in the third.

Wayne got two of the runs back in the bottom of the fourth. Jess Zeiss and Jeff Luft each walked in the inning and scored on Rusty Hamer's sacrifice and a single by Corey Frye.

Both teams went down quietly in the fifth inning and Rapid City upped its lead to 4-2 in the top of the sixth.

Wayne won the game in the bottom half of the inning when five runs crossed the plate thanks to doubles by Zeiss, Luft, and Hamer and a single off the bat of Greg Schmidt.

Rapid City came back in the top of the seventh to load the bases but Peterson got the last two hitters to strikeout and fly out to end the game.

Rapid City outhit Wayne eight to six. Schmidt led the locals with a pair of singles.

The game against O'Neill was a pitchers' duel through the first five innings.

Wayne took a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the second. Gamble, who singled, scored on Ted McCright's fielder's choice.

O'Neill tied the score in the top of the fourth before the locals regained the lead at 2-1 in the bottom of the fourth. Longe led off with a walk, stole second and scored on an error. Wayne took a two-run lead in the fifth on Bill Landanger's solo home run.

O'Neill pushed across the winning runs in the top of the sixth on only one hit. Wayne contributed with four errors.

Wayne had one more chance in the bottom of the seventh to win the game. Mark Creighton got things started with a walk. With one out Lueders reached on an error by the shortstop. The runners advanced 90 feet on a past ball. After Longe grounded out to the pitcher, O'Neill intentionally walked Gamble to load the bases and set up a force play. Jason Jorgensen then ended the game when his swinging bunt was fielded by the catcher who stepped on the plate for the force.

Landanger and Gamble combined for four of the five Wayne hits. Lueders was credited with the other hit, a fifth-inning single.

Danielson suffered the loss after relieving Luft, who started the game, in the third inning. Danielson took the mound with the game tied 5-5. He held O'Neill scoreless in the fourth and fifth innings and allowed one run in each the sixth and seventh.

Wayne jumped on top 3-0 in the top of the first. With two outs Wayne loaded the bases on consecutive walks to Zeiss, Luft and Jarrod Wood. Hamer then stepped to the plate and cleared the bases with a double. O'Neill got one in the bottom of the first before the locals made it 4-1 in the top of the second. Jason Mrsny was hit by a pitch. He went to third on walks to Danielson and Schmidt and he trotted home when Luft was issued a free pass after being beamed.

Wayne made it 5-2 in the top of the third when Hamer scored after starting the inning with a walk. Then the hosts tied the game up in the bottom of the inning on three hits.

The locals grabbed a 6-5 lead in the top half of the sixth. Danielson led off with a single and he scored on an error by the pitcher. O'Neill tied it up in the bottom of the sixth.

Wayne looked like it would put the game away in the top of the seventh when it loaded the bases with two outs. But lead-off hitter Kevin Hausmann struck out to end the threat. Then in the bottom of the seventh O'Neill pushed across the winning run.

The Wayne Juniors got complete games from Russ Longe and Ted Lueders. Longe checked Rapid City to six hits while striking out nine enroute to a 6-4 decision. In the second game Lueders was the tough-luck loser limiting O'Neill to just three singles in the 4-3 defeat. He also struck out eight hitters.

Rapid City jumped on Longe early and posted a 3-0 lead after one inning of play. After Longe had K'd the first two hitters the third man walked and the clean-up hitter and the number five man hit back-to-back doubles to account for the runs.

Wayne made it 3-1 in the top of the third when first baseman Scott Nichols hit the first of two home runs in the ballgame. Nichols also lifted a solo shot in the sixth inning.

Wayne tied the game in the fourth inning with a pair of runs. Longe led off with a single and scored on Rob Gamble's double. Gamble then scored on a single by Steve Luft.

The Juniors grabbed a 5-3 lead in the fifth on RB singles by Longe and Gamble. Nichols made it 6-3 in the sixth before Rapid City finished the scoring in the seventh.

Gamble paced Wayne with three hits while Nichols and Longe added two hits apiece.

LOREN HAMMER (22) of Tom's Body Shops swings at a pitch offered by the Windmill-Casey pitcher during the Class B tournament on Sunday. W-C won the game and the tournament.

Windmill-Casey's, Christian Crusaders and Doc & Eddy's win

Clouds hung above the Wayne County Jaycee Softball Complex for most of the weekend before the rain finally fell Sunday afternoon causing the remainder of the Wayne Chicken Show Tournament to be cancelled.

Thirty-five men's and women's teams played in the tournament which began Saturday morning. Play was divided into a women's division and two men's divisions (Class B and Class C).

Windmill-Casey's was crowned the winners of the B division since they were the only team that was still undefeated when play was interrupted. Windmill-Casey's defeated a pair of Wayne teams, Wayne Sporting Goods and Tom's Body Shop. W-C also downed Jake's Bar from Norfolk.

MACC from Blair earned second place. It and Wayne Sporting Goods were playing when it started to rain. Although WSG beat MACC in the first round the Wayne team agreed to give MACC the second-place because it had to travel to play in the tournament. Wayne Sporting Goods finished 3-1 to earn third place. It lost to Windmill-Casey's and beat Anderson Amoco, MACC and PBR. The fourth-place trophy was claimed by Anderson Amoco. The team from Gretna finished the weekend 3-2 with wins over Tom's Body Shop, Dave's Body Shop and The Entertainer and losses from Wayne Sporting Goods and MACC.

In the C division the Christian Crusaders, a charity group from Norfolk, went 4-0 in winning the first-place trophy. It beat King's Lanes of Norfolk in the semifinals 9-8.

The Corral Bar from Coleridge took second place by winning a coin toss over King's Lane. The Corral finished the tournament 4-1. King's Lanes placed third and completed play with a 2-1 mark.

Doc & Eddy's #1 of Norfolk won the women's portion of the tournament undefeated at 3-0. It beat Mel's Drive-In Liquor, also of Norfolk, 8-3 in the semifinals. Mel's, 3-1, downed Hoskins in the rain to finish second. Hoskins finished third compiling a 3-2 mark.

Several others Wayne teams participated in the tournament. In the women's division the Wayne Merchants finished 2-2 while The 4th Jug was eliminated after losing its first two games. In men's play in Class C Logan Valley Implement went 0-2 and KTCH finished 1-2. In Class B PBR went 2-2, Tom's Body Shop 2-2, Dave's Body Shop finished 2-2 and Sherman Construction and Vakoc Construction each finished 1-2. It was the second time in two years that the tournament didn't get finished. Last year it was cancelled due to darkness.

Thirty-five run in chicken race

Thirty-five runners started the seventh annual Wayne Chicken Run Saturday from the parking lot of The Milton G. Waldbaum Company parking lot in Wakefield.

Less than two hours and 10.5 miles later the last of the runners crossed the finish line near Bressler Park in Wayne. Several in the field of athletes received trophies and medals for their accomplishments. Race coordinators said they were pleased with the outcome of the race.

Trophies were given to the top three finishers and the overall top woman placer. Finishing in first place in a time of 61 minutes, two seconds was Arid Johnson of Dakota City. Right behind him was Mike Chamberlin of Fremont in a time of 61 minutes, six seconds. Ernie Nick, also of Fremont, placed third in a time of 61 minutes, 28 seconds. The top woman finisher was Janet Nielson of Fremont in a time of 73 minutes, 16 seconds.

Kim Dykshorn of Sioux City won the female 19 and under age group and placed 24th overall as she crossed the finish line in 83 minutes, 20 seconds. Connie Prince, also of Sioux City, won the women's 20-34 age group and finished 12th overall with a clocking of 75 minutes, 34 seconds. Nielson won the women's 35 and over division.

Johnson was the winner of the men's 20-29 group, Chamberlin took the men's 30-39 age group and Nick was the winner of the 50 and over division. Taking the top spot in the men's 40-49 division was Wayne's Sid Hillier. Hillier completed the course in 70 minutes.

Several other area runners also competed in the road run. Terry Meyer of Wayne placed fourth in the men's 30-39 age group and 14th overall in a time of 75 minutes, 36 seconds. Pat Finn finished second in the men's 50 and over division and 23rd overall. The Carroll runner turned in a time of 80 minutes, 43 seconds. Neil Peterson of Wakefield was fourth in the men's 50 and above group and 32nd overall in a time of 97 minutes and 30 seconds. Wayne's Shane Giese placed eighth in the men's 30-39 division and 33rd overall as he crossed the finish line in 99 minutes, 52 seconds. Arnold Marr of Wayne finished fifth in the men's 50 and over group and 35th overall touring the course in one hour, 49 minutes and 30 seconds.

Danielson gets win over Laurel

By Gregg Dahlheim

Sports Editor

The Wayne Midgets used a big first inning to hand Laurel an 8-6 loss at Hank Overlin Field Monday night. In the process the locals upped their season mark to 11-3.

Wayne tallied four runs in the bottom of the first inning on four hits. Greg Schmidt led off the bottom of the inning with a double. Jess Zeiss was awarded first after being hit by a pitch. Jeff Luft brought them both in on a double to left field that Laurel's Matt Jonas lost in the sun. Rusty Hamer followed with a triple to deep center field scoring Luft. Hamer ended the scoring when he came home on a base hit by Kevin Hausmann.

Laurel made it 4-2 in the top of the second when Troy Twohig and Dave Otterman scored after starting the inning with singles.

The locals got one back in the bottom of the second. Matt Peterson got to second on a throwing error by shortstop Twohig on Peterson's groundball. He went to third on Schmidt's single and scored on a third strike past ball to Luft.

Laurel made it 5-3 in the top of the third when Twohig scored thanks to a couple of Wayne errors. Wayne got three big runs in the bottom of the fourth. Schmidt, Zeiss and Jarrod Wood all singled in the inning. The visitors came back with a run in the fifth and two in the sixth but pitcher Jason Danielson got them in order in the top of the seventh.

Danielson earned the win by throwing five innings in relief. He allowed four runs on two hits while striking out six. Luft started the game for Wayne and gave up two runs on three hits in two innings of work. Doug Manz suffered the loss for Laurel as he went the distance.

Schmidt was the hitting star for Wayne. The shortstop went 3-4 at the plate and he scored two runs. Darrin Martinson collected a pair of hits for Laurel.

Friday the Midgets will host Emerson at 6:30 p.m. and on Sunday they will travel to Columbus for a 5:30 p.m. ballgame.

Wakefield nips league leader West Point 7-6

The Wakefield Town Team won what Coach Joe Coble called a "critical game" Tuesday night by downing the West Point Bombers 7-6 in 11 innings at Eaton Field.

The win improved Wakefield to 10-6 in the Dodge County League which puts them in a tie for fourth with Columbus. West Point still sits on top of the league with a 14-2 mark. The top four teams make the post-season playoffs.

Last week Wakefield dropped two of three games which made the West Point game a must-win situation. "Those two losses last week hurt us," Coble said. "That's why the West Point game was so critical. We can't afford to lose another game."

Wakefield dropped road games to Fremont 8-6 and to Blair 11-2 before rebounding at home Sunday night with a 16-6 win in seven innings against Arlington.

Brian Blatchford's second home run of the game gave the hosts the win over West Point. Blatchford led off the bottom of the 11th inning with a solo shot off of losing pitcher Eric Campbell. It was Campbell's first loss of the season. The Creighton University pitcher leads the league in wins and earned-run average.

Blatchford kept Wakefield in the contest with a three-run dinger off of Campbell in the seventh inning to tie the game at 6-6. Blatchford finished the game 3-6 with four RBIs.

Mike Meyer of Wayne also paced the winners. Meyers went 3-3 with two ribbles.

"Mike has been one of our offensive leaders in the last eight to 10 games," Coble said. "He's very dependable, he is one of our elder statesmen."

Joel Ankeny was the winning pitcher for Wakefield. The Wayne product went the distance in giving up six runs, five earned, on nine hits. Ankeny struck out eight and walked four Bombers.

The Town Team will be in Valley tonight (Thursday) for an 8:15 p.m. game and Wakefield will host Wisner Sunday evening with game time tentatively set for 8:15 p.m.

Tennis badges received by 47 participants

Seventy-six achievement badges were received by 47 participants during the 13th annual Wayne city recreation instructional tennis lessons which were completed last week.

Instructor Tom Roberts said this year's group was one of the better classes he has had. The participants had to pass tests regimented by the United States Tennis Association. Roberts said all participants can pick up where they left off at next year's lessons. The 76 badges received this year is up from the 37 earned in 1985. The young adult ladies didn't use the USA standards, instead they were on an accelerated program, according to Roberts.

The following is a list of all the participants and badge winners. All entrants received certificates for participating.

Okoboji tourney

Wayne's Tom Roberts was in action over the weekend at the University of Okoboji Tennis Classic. Roberts was entered in the men's 50 singles division and the men's 50 doubles division. Roberts went in as the tournament's top-seeded player. He went away with a second-place finish. Don Larson of Fort Dodge, Iowa downed Roberts in straight sets in the final match by scores of 6-3, 6-1. Roberts went in as the tournament's top-seeded player. He went away with a second-place finish. Don Larson of Fort Dodge, Iowa downed Roberts in straight sets in the final match by scores of 6-3, 6-1. The Wayne player opened the weekend with a 7-5, 7-6 (7-4) win over Bill Tull of Phoenix in the first round. In the second round Roberts downed Dan Comte of Sioux Falls 6-0, 6-4. Rain caused a backup in the matches so a 10-game pro set was used to help get the tournament back on schedule. In the third round Roberts beat the second seed, Reg Wackey of Sioux Falls 10-2, which set up the final match against Larson. Roberts teamed up with Wackey in doubles and the team was the third seed. In the first round they downed Fred Wilson and John Reed of Des Moines by scores of 6-1, 2-6, 6-4. The pair also won in the second round against Dan Pennell and Henry Cox of Spirit Lake 11-10 (7-4). They were ousted in the semifinals when Randy Duncan and Bill Reichart, ex-Iowa Hawkeye football players, of Des Moines beat them 10-5.

Jacobsen qualifies for nationals

Jennifer Jacobsen of Winside will be taking a vacation to Provo, Utah from July 23-25. But her time there won't be all play.

Jacobsen will be competing at the Junior Olympics National Meet in Provo on the strength of her performance at the Region VIII Junior Olympics meet held in Ralston on Saturday. Jacobsen qualified for the national meet in three events. She won the youth girls (13-14) division long jump with a leap of 15-5/4. She beat the second-place performer, Tina Erps of Le Claire, Wisconsin, by more than three inches. Jacobsen finished second in the 100- and 200-meter dashes. She ran the 100 in 13.63 and the 200 in a time of 27.63.

Jacobsen said she was disappointed in her times but she said they were running into the wind. The 100 is the 13-year old's favorite race. Jacobsen is the daughter of Donna and Randy Jacobsen of rural Winside.

Pyrantel for Pinworms
Pinworms go by a variety of names including seat worms and threadworms. In the United States, it is estimated that one out of five persons will have pinworm infections each year. Many of those affected will be of school age.
In as little as 15 days, the female pinworm residing in the human intestine develops and accumulates as many as ten thousand eggs. She migrates to the outside of the rectum, lays her eggs, and then dies. Eggs may adhere to children's fingers or under the fingernails after scratching or handling contaminated clothing. Eggs may be passed from person to person on foods. The eggs are unknowingly swallowed, new worms hatch when the eggs are passed to the large intestine, and the cycle repeats itself.
Pyrantel pamoate, which is available without prescription, is one of the most effective agents for pinworms — and it is safe. The drug paralyzes the worms which causes them to become released from the intestinal wall so that they are passed in the stool. According to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, pyrantel has been used by more than 100 million persons worldwide without serious side effects.
In Nebraska, Pyrantel is available only by prescription.

Grant program extension to Timpte, Inc., of Wayne.

Kloster said this is the third time a request has come in from Timpte. He said Timpte had originally received Community Development Block Grant funding of $480,000 for job training purposes. They currently have approximately $150,000 remaining to be drawn down.

Agreed to turn over to the county commissioners a request for a special designated liquor permit for Kenneth Jorgensen, owner of the 4th Jug. The liquor permit will be used at the county fairgrounds (Rose Garden) during the Wayne County Fair.

And recessed to Tuesday, July 21, when the work sessions on the fiscal 1987-88 city budget will begin. The morning meeting place has not yet been determined.

Prior to adjourning, Mayor Marsh made the following appointments to city boards and commissions:

Planning Commission — Jack Hausmann, Virgil Kardell, Merle Sieler, Ken Berglund, Sam Schroeder and George Phelps.

Board of Adjustment — Merd Mordhorst.

Board of Appeals — Ken Slutz, Kurt Offe and Norb Brugger.

Housing Authority — Doris Walker.

"A piecemeal approach in order to be experimental or in order to satisfy one party could create a situation that in the end would satisfy no one and create havoc in an excellent service," said Garwood.

Board member John Post said any changes in nursing services would have to be very well planned and coordinated. "We may at some point be able to strike on a brilliant idea," said Post, "but at the present time, statutorily, I don't think this is legal."

Post made a motion, which was unanimously approved by the board, to continue the present policy on nursing services and to continue to explore any reasonable nursing alternatives that may be presented in the future.

BOARD MEMBERS Tuesday night also heard several committee reports.

Marvin Borg, representing the building committee, reported that outside renovation work has been completed at ESU 1 headquarters and he has received nothing but compliments. Matching work will be done on the entryway.

Randy Shaw, a member of the board policy committee, said proposed changes in board policy will be mailed to board members for their comments and suggestions. The committee will then meet prior to next month's board meeting. Board members voted to rescind the rule requiring two readings of policy changes so that if approved next month, the changes can be in effect when the school year starts in September.

Board Chairman Ken Lahrs reported that a search committee is still seeking a replacement for board member Dr. Ervin DeBoer of Wallhill, who resigned last month as a representative from Thurston County.

Lahrs said the committee hopes to have a recommendation for a replacement for DeBoer by next month's board meeting.

BEFORE ADJOURNING, the board gave unanimous approval for three years verification of successful teaching for Mary Rastede, ESU 1 nurse since 1983.

Next meeting of the ESU 1 board of directors will be Aug. 11 at 8 p.m., following a budget workshop and hearing at 7 p.m.

of $80,103, up 3 percent from the previous fiscal year. Approximately $45,000 of the increase is in the instructional budget.

Most of the remaining significant budget increases appear in special education, where $30,000 has been budgeted for the removal of education barriers at the middle and high school.

Haun mentioned that these special education costs must be budgeted for the year incurred, even though it is expected that the district will gain 85 percent reimbursement the following year.

In the instruction areas, decreases were noted in budgeted disbursements (compared to the previous fiscal year) in the areas of teaching supplies, furniture and equipment, typewriters, shop and physical education equipment.

OTHER AREAS OF the proposed 1987-88 budget revealed:

A 1.1 percent increase in the driver education program during the school year and a 4.15 percent increase over the previous fiscal year for the summer driver education program.

About a 7 percent increase in the guidance salary line item.

No increase in health services.

Approximately 8.61 percent increase in other pupil support services, with the increases recorded in health and disability insurance for the cooks, furniture and equipment for the high school lunch room, and band and choir travel. Decreases were marked in the areas of life insurance for the cooks, furniture and equipment in the elementary school lunch room, athletic equipment for the elementary school, and speech and drama travel.

A 1.7 percent increase in the line item "librarian salary—elementary" and 4.3 percent increase in line item "librarian salary—secondary".

A 17.23 percent increase in board of education disbursements. The greatest increase in this area was for legal service—attorney, budgeted $2,000 more than the $1,500 that was in the budget for this fiscal year.

Increasing the superintendent's salary by 4 percent, and the principals' salary in the elementary, middle school and high school by an average of 4.4 percent.

Increasing custodial salary—elementary by 3.3 percent and secondary by 4.7 percent.

A budgeted decrease in the areas of fuel and electricity disbursements over the previous fiscal year. However, an increase of 32 percent budgeted for water-sewer at the elementary and secondary levels has been proposed.

A decrease recorded in the proposed budget of 15.6 percent in the area of regular pupil transportation costs. Haun anticipates no new buses will have to be purchased in 1987-88.

SUPERINTENDENT Haun predicted that a tax levy increase of under 4 percent can be expected. This takes into account the lowering of the district's cash reserve from $750,000 to $729,000.

Haun also added in his budget message that, according to data compiled by researchers at the University of Nebraska, the Wayne school district in comparison to 281 K-12 districts ranks 186 (one is high) in tax rates per resident pupil, with a total tax rate of 1.40.

The highest rate listed is 2.82 (Crawford) and the lowest is 0.76 (Harrisburg). The district, he mentioned, ranks 206 in actual valuation per resident pupil.

Board plans to repair roof

By Chuck Hackenmiller

Wayne-Carroll High School will be undergoing a major insulation and repair project on the school's 20 year old east wing roof.

The east wing roof [of the high school] has just deteriorated," said Superintendent Francis Haun during Tuesday evening's board of education meeting.

There were six different room leaks [on the east wing] this spring that we didn't expect at all," he added.

The board of education authorized Haun to begin the paperwork and obtain architect figures on the roof project. Haun anticipates the roof project to be started in September, if the weather cooperates.

Haun estimated that the roof project for the east wing will cost approximately $30,000. Bidding for the project will be divided into insulation and for the roofing.

He said the federal government will be financing one half of the cost for the insulation and the labor to install it. The remaining balance for the insulation costs would be picked up, through a low interest loan, from the state energy office, Haun mentioned.

The school district would be required to pay for the roof replacement (which will be a rubber-like roofing material) — approximately 67 percent of the total cost of the east wing roof project.

ALSO TUESDAY evening a committee was formed, consisting of three board of education members, to study established foundations of area schools.

An establishment of a foundation corporation for the Wayne-Carroll School District has been proposed to the board of education. The foundation status, according to Haun, will allow private individuals or industries to donate funds to the school district on a tax-free basis.

Wayne Attorney Ken Olds was present at Tuesday's meeting to spell out the purpose of foundations and to discuss with the board the forming of a corporation to establish the public school foundation.

Haun said distribution of the donations to the foundation could be comprehensive in nature, or could be allocated specifically toward education or athletics.

Appointed to serve on the foundation study committee were Cap Peterson, Becky Keidel and Arnold Emry. "They will research other schools that have foundations that would be similar to our situation," said Haun.

In other action, the board of education:

- Approved the half-time hiring of

Diane Lindsay as instructor, appointed Bob Uhing as special education director and accepted the resignation of Sally McNeill.

And reviewed the May 18, 1987 agreement of the Lueders Incorporated Scholarship Fund, which requests that five annual scholarships be established at Wayne High School in the amount of $200, and that Lueders Incorporated will annually donate to the Wayne State Foundation $1,000 for the purpose of funding these annual scholarships.

The purpose in making this gift is to establish scholarships for a Wayne High School student attending Wayne State College.

Chicken

The National Cluck-off winner is determined after the judges listen to the four division winners one more time.

Two other events — the free omelet feed and the chicken feed — also proved to be successful, according to Chicken Show Committee Member Jane O'Leary.

Nearly 1,800 free omelets were served before 11 a.m. on Saturday, and all 1,000 tickets that were printed for the chicken feed, sponsored by the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce, were sold out.

This year's Chicken Show parade was larger than previous years, featuring a variety of children's entries, Shriners, band music, classy cars and fancy floats.

PARADE WINNERS were as follows: Best Commercial Float Entry — Chicken Feet (Dairy Queen Cone); Best Organization Entry — Class of '57'; Best Individual Child Entry — Brent Meyer as "Chicken"; Best Group of Children Entry — Music (Chicken) Man (Timpfe); Best Overall Theme — Chickens in the Movies' Entry — Scarlett O'Hen in "Gone with the Chickens" (Jennifer Schmidt); Best Chicken Related Overall Entry — Designer Chicken (Randy Roger from Iowa City).

Results and placings of other Chicken Show events are as follows:

Spots lose

Despite the 'scrambling' efforts of The Wayne Herald team in the Chicken Olympecks at Saturday's Chicken Show 1987, the results 'boiled' down to a 'bottom of the frying pan' finish in the four-team event that concluded the day's chicken-related activities.

Wayne Herald's team (the Ink Spots) consisted of Gary Wright, Rich Zrust, Chuck Hackenmiller, Patti Zrust, LaVon Anderson and Tracy Topp (who competed in place of Judi Topp, who 'chickened' out of the competition).

Finishing first in competition, at the top of the 'pecking order' was the Drama Jocks. Trailers of the Drama Jocks, of finishing in second place, was a team from Timpfe. Pamida proved it was not a 'feather-weight' by taking third.

'Laying an egg' and finishing in last place was the Ink Spots.

The first event, the 'shoe scramble', had people 'tied up in knots' as the Wayne Herald 'got off on the wrong foot' and the other teams were an easy 'shoe-in'.

Once again the Ink Spots were 'shelled' and finished last in the next event, the spoon race. The Ink Spots were also the last to 'eggxit' in the 'egg on face' relay race.

'We thought we might have placed well in the egg toss competition,' said Ink Spot team member Hackenmiller. In this event, team members play a game of catch from spreading distances. However, the team found their strategy 'cracking up' and finished at the bottom one more time.

The final event which the Ink Spots competed in was almost a 'running yoke (joke)' as the newspaper team again found a home at the bottom of the roost' in the three legged race competition.

Hackenmiller characterized the Wayne Herald's performance in seven words:

"It was certainly nothing to 'crow' about. But it was a lot of fun."

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR HORSES FEET

When horses are not used extensively, the feet usually show evidence of neglect. These problems must be corrected as the horses feed his foundation. Feet must receive periodic maintenance to keep them in good health. Hooves are structured, not only for locomotion, but also to absorb shock, help pump blood, resist wear and provide traction. The healthy foot actually flexes when weight is applied and must do all of the above for the horse to function effectively.

Hoof growth is affected by individual differences, genetic characteristics, age, season, injury, eating habits, nutrition, terrain, exercise and even variations in conformation. Differences in hoof growth from front to hind feet can be quite variable, especially in the very young. One pair may need to be trimmed more often than the other.

To maintain foot health, a qualified person should trim the hoof periodically. Keep the horse bedding and housing dry, clean and free of manure-build-up. Feed properly to avoid founder which nearly always causes abnormal hoof growth.

During times of high rainfall and moisture, the horse's foot is softer, making the foot trim an easier job. The moisture balance also is important to keep hooves from becoming excessively hard and brittle.

In extremely dry areas, standing in water periodically will provide moisture for a healthy foot, but to avoid filthy wet areas, in the event of injury or puncture wound to the foot, consult with a veterinarian as serious complications such as tetanus or septicemia may occur.

AG SUBSIDIES

"Agricultural subsidies are as much involved with social issues as with economic issues according to Llyn Lutgen, extension economist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Ending agricultural subsidies is not the type of thing that can be done tomorrow," he said.

Lutgen said there are three basic reasons, other than economic, why nations choose subsidies as a policy.

In many countries, such as those in western Europe, the society has chosen to maintain a small, social agricultural setting. "This is a social decision on their part and they're willing to pay for it," Lutgen said.

Subsidies also are used by countries to give their populations an inexpensive supply of food. "A country wants its people to have inexpensive food and subsidies can provide that through surpluses," he said.

Lutgen also pointed out that subsidies, in some cases, may actually save the government money. He used Mexico as an example.

The Mexican government used to heavily subsidize wheat producers in that country. The reasoning was that it was better to have a farmer getting a government subsidy than to have his farm go under and force him to move to the city where he would add to an already severe overpopulation problem.

Lutgen emphasized that the issue of subsidies is a complex one. "It's not just a dollar and cents thing," he said. "There are a lot of social issues tied to it."

Crow count

A VARIETY of rooster breeds were entered in the Wayne Chicken Show Roster Crowing Contest early Saturday morning. Matt and Andrew Jensen's rooster crowed 79 times and took first place.

CCC payment delay draws criticism

by U.S. Senator David Karnes

Now that we know the ASCS offices will not be shut down as threatened, and that within days CCC payments should be arriving to Nebraska's farmers, it is time to take a look at this terrible situation and look for some solutions to the way the CCC is funded by the federal government. This year's problem may be over, but now we need to look ahead, as we all must do in these tough times, and look for ways to prevent this from happening again.

The problem exists because Congress has failed to address the CCC Supplemental bill on its merits. The CCC has always had strong support in the Congress and because of this, has been viewed as a Christmas tree of sorts, with legislators tacking on pet projects and amendments, "ornaments," which have nothing at all to do with the needs of the American farmer. In fact, the major sticking point in the House-Senate conference on this supplemental bill has been an arms control provision.

I have introduced a major piece of legislation (S. 1414) that would cure this sticking point. This bill would restore the CCC from the appropriations process and will not require emergency legislation to keep the program alive every year.

The time has come to bring this shoddy and irresponsible way of doing business with our farm citizens to a halt. There is no good reason to ask our farmers to leave their farming operations to the whims of the congressional appropriations process year after year.

S. 1414 specifies what is known as a "current, indefinite" appropriation for the CCC. The CCC receives funds as needed throughout the year. The officers of the corporation are required to make regular reports to the Appropriations Committees. These committees retain oversight authority over the operations of the CCC, but with this amendment, a separate bill will not be required every time the CCC needs money.

LAST WEEK, I redrafted S. 1414 as an amendment and offered it on the Senate floor during debate on the Trade Bill. By a vote of 80 yeas to 15 nays, I was successful in adding the CCC provision to the Senate version of the trade legislation. Of course, it is not in the House-passed version of the Trade Bill, so my staff and I are now laying the groundwork to keep this important provision when the House and Senate meet to work out their differences in the Trade Bill.

I expect a fight over this matter, because my CCC provision requires Congress to give up some of its usual meddling with even routine matters every year. During my time in the Senate I have noticed that some of these traditions die hard, even when they work to the detriment of important parts of our economy - like our farmers. I hope that all citizens who are interested in seeing farmers receive their CCC payments on time will help me fight this battle by letting House Democrats on the Appropriations Committee know of their support for assuring the stability and the reliability of the CCC program.

I know many of you have been affected by the late payments from the CCC either through storage costs or the uncertainty of the possible closing of vital ASCS offices. I feel that when the citizens sign a contract with the government - and that's exactly what a farmer does each year with the CCC - they are entitled to prompt fulfillment of the contract and nothing less.

FIVE TIMES IN the last two years, the Federal Government has stopped issuing Federal farm program payment checks, failing to meet its contractual agreement. It is outrageous that this has become a regular occurrence. And the irony of the situation is that there is no valid reason that the CCC has been forced to stop issuing payments.

The Congressional Budget Office has determined that this bill budget deficit-neutral - it will have no effect at all on the federal deficit. All it does is ensure that American farmers receive the payments due them from the CCC promptly.

My commitment to agriculture, as a farm owner, a member of the agriculture committee, and most of all, as a Senator from Nebraska, is unwavering. This amendment goes a long way in guaranteeing the fair treatment that Nebraska's agriculture community deserves.

PAUL BRENTLINGER, Allen, backs the tractor through the course at the recent 4-H tractor driving contest in Concord.

Tractor driving skills tested

The area 4-H Tractor Driving and Small Engines contests took place Thursday, July 9, in Concord.

Mike Anderson, Wakefield, was the high scorer among the Dixon county participants. Mike, the son of Marla and Bob Anderson, will receive a blue ribbon and a trophy sponsored by the Logan Valley Implement Company of Wayne.

The contest consisted of driving a tractor and two-wheeled trailer through a staked course of turns and required backing. In addition, contestants examined another tractor to diagnose 10 mechanical problems. They also completed a written examination to test their knowledge of tractor safety, tractor laws, mechanics and maintenance. Mike is eligible to represent Dixon County as a contestant in the Nebraska State Fair driving competition in Lincoln, September 5.

Other participants from Dixon County were Paul and Pat Brentlinger, Allen.

Small Engines contest participants completed a written examination, a tool identification and an engine troubleshooting exercise. Paul Brentlinger, son of Sharon and Ray Brentlinger, was the high scorer for Dixon County and earned a blue ribbon.

Earning a purple ribbon for Wayne County in the contest was Craig Evans, son of Dennis and Gloria Evans of Winside.

CARROLLINERS
The Carrolliners 4-H Club met July 6 at the Dan Hansen home. Angela Hansen was hostess and there were 14 present.

President Heidi Hansen was in charge of repeating the pledges. Members answered roll call with their favorite garden fruit or vegetable.

The club discussed plans for a theme booth and making a sign for the entrance gate at the Wayne County Fairgrounds.

On July 15, the club will sing for Wayne Senior Citizens. Members are asked to be at Bressler Park by 10:30 a.m. to practice songs. A luncheon of hot dogs will be served and members are asked to bring their own drinks.

The club also will meet on July 20 at 8 p.m. to practice songs for the 4-H song contest, style show and dress revue slated July 21 in Wayne. Angela Hansen, news reporter.

SPRING BRANCH
Cammy and Tad Behmer, members of the Spring Branch 4-H Club, attended a District Horse Show at Madison on June 29.

Cammy was awarded a blue ribbon and Tad a red ribbon in the western pleasure division. In horsemanship, Cammy also received a blue ribbon and Tad a red ribbon. In pole bending and barrel racing, both received red ribbons.

Cammy also competed at the State Horse Show in Grand Island on July 13-15.

Nine members of the horse project met July 8 at the Roger Langenberg arena for a lesson in riding. They also met July 15 at the Bob Hoffman home to work on showmanship. The next riding lesson will be July 22 at the Langenberg arena.

Seven members of the Spring Branch 4-H Club attended Home Ec Judging Day at Wayne State College on July 7. All were awarded ribbons.

Six members of the vet science project met recently at Dr. J. A. Rademacher's home in Winside for a lesson on animal attitude and behavior. Lunch was served by Jane Rademacher. They planned to meet there again on July 15.

Poultry judging held

Ten-year-old Matthew Jensen of Winside received a purple ribbon and the second highest score in the junior division judging contest at the 4-H Poultry Judging Clinic and Contest held July 8 at Northeast Community College in Norfolk.

The event was sponsored by the Madison County Extension Service. Instructor was John Struve of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Department of Agriculture.

Approximately 30 participants, ages eight and older, attended from several surrounding communities.

MATTHEW, SON of Norman and Mary Jensen of Winside, has been a 4-H member for three years and has raised chickens the past two years. He has 17 varieties of fancy breed chickens.

The chickens are purchased from a hatchery in Webster City, Iowa by mail order during the winter months for delivery by parcel post in the spring.

"Most of the chickens we've received are two days old," said Matthew's mother, adding that the cost ranges from 75 cents to $4 each.

Five of the chickens were donated in April 1987 by the Wayne Chicken Show committee and were big enough to display at the July 11 event.

Matthew also plans to enter the chickens in the Wayne County Fair. At last year's fair he received five blue (first place) ribbons and one blue for showmanship in the open class division.

WHILE AT THE Northeast Community College clinic, participants were instructed how to candle eggs, how to judge broken out eggs, shell eggs, broiler carcasses, and live birds for post egg production.

Youths then individually had a judging contest of their knowledge. They also were shown how to wash and groom a chicken for showing.

by Pat McLehenry

Yesterday, I could hardly tolerate the heat and humidity. Today, I went back into the house for a jacket, it was so cool. Good old Nebraska weather.

And good old Nebraska variety, I mused as I listened to the car radio and made my patient rounds this morning.

Yesterday, the 11th of July, you had scores of choices. You could have played slow-pitch softball in any of several tournaments.

You could have attended the dedication and reopening of Niobrara State Park. I've been to the old one a couple of times; now we'll have to see the new.

You could have attended a centennial celebration at Petersburg and there are more coming up yet.

You could have thrown buffalo chips at Fur Trader Days at Chadron or watched the Miss Nebraska pageant at North Platte.

You could have been a spectator at the Region VIII Jr. Olympics at Ralston. This region includes Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

Winside's junior high schooler, Jennifer Jacobsen, won the long jump and came in second in the 100 and 200, so she qualified for the National meet at Provo, Utah in all three events. I find that both amazing and exciting.

JENNIFER HAS an older brother, Tim, who is going to take advantage of the new 3 point shot at high school level next year. He is a "cool-hand Luke" whose mother used to tell me about his practicing "lay-ups" through the house with a small ball and a hoop that hung over the door.

And, of course, you could have taken in Wayne's Chicken Show, which continues to attract publicity. We watched Chad Evans demonstrate his "cluck-off" ability on Sioux City TV last night.

We've never made it to the Chicken Show and according to the stories I hear, we miss a lot of fun. Do you know which side of the chicken has more feathers? It's the outside, of course!

Yesterday, somewhere, the world's five-billionth person was born. The United Nations Fund for Population Activities proclaimed it a day of celebration and a Yugoslavian baby was proclaimed as the 5 billionth because 129 countries are represented there for the World University Games. That's one track meet we'll miss.

They say world population is growing at 150 a minute or 220,000 a day. It does seem as if that would be a large potential for Ag products.

ONE-DAY outpatient surgery is a common thing now. I suppose it's okay if you go to surgery at 8 a.m. and leave the hospital after supper. But I have a friend who recently had an operation at noon and was dismissed at 4 p.m. That's expecting a fast wake-up from anesthesia.

She says she knows what it means when they say that the sense of hearing is the last to go.

She was in recovery, struggling to open her eyes, when she heard the nurses discussing a new salad they had tried. One voice said, "It's called Frog-Eye and you make it with a certain kind of pasta. I can't remember what it's called. It comes in a blue box and has a funny name."

My friend is quite a cook who has made Frog-Eye salad many times. She sleepily volunteered, "Asin de pepe."

The nurse hurried over and comforted her by saying, "It's okay, dear, I'll get a bedpan!"

Crop water use

Listed below are the average daily crop water use rates in inches per day for the past week for the Wayne area. The average crop water use rates are determined for corn at two emergence dates, May 5 and May 20, soybeans with an emergence date of May 22, and alfalfa with an emergence date of April 15.

Crop Water Use Rate (Inch/Day)	Average July 7-13
Corn (5/5)	.21
(5/20)	.38
Soybeans (5/22)	.17
Alfalfa (4/15)	.25

Host homes needed

A new and unique international youth program is in need of host families for a six-month period beginning Aug. 15.

The national 4-H Council program, the Central American Peace Scholarship Program (CAPS), is bringing approximately 50 Costa Rican 4-H'ers to the U.S. for an educational and cross-cultural experience in American homes, according to John Orr, University of Nebraska-Lincoln extension 4-H specialist.

"The CAPS program uniquely offers special funding for the participants," he said. "The youth will receive special school, clothing and personal allowances," funded by the U.S. Agency for International Development.

"There's still time for Nebraska families to participate," Orr said. Applications for participation are available from local Cooperative Extension Service offices.

The deadline for applications is July 24.

Work has begun on the 1988 Northeast Nebraska Visitor's Guide, the tourism publication of the Northeast Nebraska Travel Council.

Theme for the 1988 tabloid will be, "Northeast Nebraska: You're Gonna Love It Here!" The 40-page publication will include information on special events, historical and tourist attractions in the 18-county area of northeast Nebraska, as well as advertisements from civic organizations and area businesses.

Those who wish information about it, I would also like to receive information about historical sites or tourist attractions in the various areas. "While we will certainly attempt to contact individuals in each community, it will be very helpful if we can receive as much information from the towns as possible. We're also looking for black and white photos of activities and sites in northeast Nebraska to include in the Visitor's Guide."

The Visitor's Guide, which will be printed in December, will be the third annual publication of the travel council. A total of 35,000 copies will be printed for distribution at travel shows in neighboring states, as well as at Interstate 80 rest areas, and through local community groups. Judy Johnson of Johnson Public Relations, West Point, will produce the Visitor's Guide.

Those who wish information for the 1988 Visitor's Guide, or those wishing to advertise in the publication, should contact: Judy Johnson, Johnson Public Relations, 917 Centennial Road, West Point, Nebraska 68788. The telephone number is (402) 372-2290.

"We will be contacting groups and individuals in the 18-county area this summer and fall," Johnson said. "If communities are planning something special for 1988—whether a centennial celebration, an ethnic or community festival—I'd really appreciate getting information about it. I would also like to receive information about historical sites or tourist attractions in the various areas. "While we will certainly attempt to contact individuals in each community, it will be very helpful if we can receive as much information from the towns as possible. Compact states choose developer

Allen News

Mrs. Ken Linafelter
635-2403

The Central Interstate Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact Commission chose U.S. Ecology Nuclear (USEN) as the developer for a LLRW disposal facility for use by the compact states.

The vote was 3-2 in favor of USEN, with Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma voting for USEN and Arkansas and Louisiana voting for Westinghouse.

Dennis Grams, Nebraska's Compact Commissioner, said that upcoming negotiations between the compact and USEN are as important as the choice of the developer.

"That's when we'll spell out what the compact will require of USEN and when we'll find out what they're willing to agree to. I felt that USEN was more willing to negotiate on the important issues of liability and financing," said Grams.

Grams said that the technical aspects of the proposals were important factors in his decision to vote for USEN.

"The technical committee Nebraska set up to review strictly the technical merits of the proposals felt that both companies were technically capable, but in reviewing the comments from the committee, I came away feeling the USEN's proposal was better from the design standpoint. The technical committee had fewer unanswered questions about the USEN proposal," said Grams.

USEN's choice of Bechtel National, Inc. as the prime subcontractor that will construct the facility was another factor in USEN's favor, according to Grams.

"I'm impressed with Bechtel. They're a well-known, solid, reputable company. During the meeting, Bechtel made it clear that they had no intention of walking away from the project if USEN went under. They said they wouldn't rule out the possibility of assisting financially if that became necessary," he said.

"USEN's financial commitment is substantial. They are willing to put $1.1 million in equity and bear the debt for the facility, with the exception of $10 million the compact has agreed to contribute," said Grams.

PUBLIC participation and community involvement also played key parts in Grams' decision.

"USEN's program of public participation used in their California siting process impressed me, especially the use of a citizen's committee to actually pick the sites for study. During a meeting in Columbus, USEN stated that they intended to develop a similar program for use in our compact," said Grams.

The compact's next step will be to set up a team to negotiate the contract with USEN. The team will include a representative from each state and will be chaired by Ray Peery, the executive director of the compact. In addition, the commissioners agreed to hire a firm from outside the compact states with expertise in contract negotiations to assist the compact negotiating team.

During contract negotiation, a public information program will be established to be put into operation prior to the host state for the facility being chosen. Both USEN and Westinghouse stated prior to the compact vote that a recent round of meetings in the compact states showed clearly that a need was present to provide the public and key decision-makers in all compact states with information regarding the nature of low-level radioactive wastes, the specifics of the facility design, information about the developer, and processes for the selection of the host state and ultimate siting.

The compact and USEN will soon be developing a set of criteria for selection of the host state, said Grams.

"USEN said that the criteria would likely differ from that used in the Dames & Moore study. Some of Dames & Moore's criteria may not be used and additional criteria may be added. USEN agrees with the commissioners that the criteria for host state selection has to be something that everyone, the developer, the commissioners, and most important, the public, feels is proper and fair," said Grams.

For mentally retarded client services

Waiver approval provides added options

Nebraska's appeal to the Health Care Financing Administration for a Medicaid waiver that will offer additional options to mentally retarded clients in need of community based services is now assured, according to Representative Doug Bereuter.

Following a Thursday meeting involving Bereuter staff and State officials at Health Care Financing Administration headquarters in Baltimore, Bereuter said that the waiver will be approved.

The waiver, already utilized by 47 states, will allow Nebraska to provide community services such as adult group homes or vocational training within a community setting for over 300 persons who are currently in Intermediate Care Facilities for the Mentally Retarded (ICFMRs). The waiver would also allow Nebraska to expand current community services for more than 400 individuals who have been waiting for services in Nebraska's community-based mental retardation programs.

The meeting was called at Bereuter's request to resolve problems that HCFA had with Nebraska's waiver application. Four major problems were addressed at the meeting: 1) HCFA felt that the scope of the waiver was too broad; 2) Nebraska's Department of Public Institutions was designated as sole provider when Federal Statute prohibits designation of a sole provider; 3) Nebraska and HCFA were not in agreement about the scope of the services that would be provided; and 4) there was disagreement about the formula to be used for calculation of reimbursement rates.

At the Baltimore meeting these differences and other minor problems were resolved, according to Bereuter. The waiver will be revised to include the changes agreed on at the meeting and returned to HCFA with a letter from the Governor. The Director of the Office of Coverage Policy for HCFA has assured Bereuter that he will recommend approval for the revised waiver, and that official approval should be in hand by the middle of August. All persons currently receiving services, as well as all 397 persons on the waiting lists should be receiving services within three years.

"Without this meeting, resolution of our major differences would likely have taken months," said a HCFA official who attended the day-long meeting.

Since December of 1985 Bereuter has been encouraging state officials to make use of this Federal option.

"It has been my contention that the State must provide services to all who need them, rather than to allow a situation to persist that by its exclusion of some individuals appears to be discriminatory," Bereuter said. "I am extremely pleased by the approval of this waiver. Nebraska has a fine reputation both nationally and internationally in the provision of community-based services for individuals suffering from developmental disabilities. The approval of this waiver is important for the sake of those individuals awaiting services in Intermediate Care Facilities for the Mentally Retarded as well as those languishing on the state's waiting list."

NPPD proposes industrial incentives

The Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) proposed a special industrial incentive electric rate to enhance the state's position in attracting new industries and the expansion of existing industries.

"While we have not completely worked out the details, we would expect the rate to be contingent upon the customer making appropriate levels of investment and making available appropriate numbers of jobs in the new or expanding installation," said Don Schaufelberger, NPPD president and chief executive officer.

"Final details will be worked out with the NPPD Board of Directors which has final authority over rate setting."

Schaufelberger indicated that the criteria established for new or expanding industries could be patterned along the lines of LB 775, the industrial tax incentive bill passed earlier this year by the Nebraska Legislature.

However, enabling legislation would be required before NPPD could establish its proposed industrial incentive rate.

"For the effort to be successful," Schaufelberger said, "the necessary cooperation must be forthcoming from NPPD's wholesale customers, the Legislature, the Governor's office and the Nebraska Department of Economic Development so that enabling legislation can be jointly developed to accomplish the task."

Nebraska statutes currently require that rates for all classes of customers must be "fair, reasonable and non-discriminatory."

An industrial development incentive rate has been specifically proposed for the P.J. Taggares Company of Omaha, Wash., which has indicated a strong interest in establishing a potato processing plant in the north-central Nebraska area. However, an incentive rate would apply to any new or existing expanding industrial customer, whether served directly by NPPD or by one of the District's wholesale customers.

The NPPD plan would enact a firm incentive electric rate for qualifying customers for a period of three years.

Schaufelberger said that NPPD has done "some creative thinking" about ways to provide Taggares Company and other new or expanding industries some assurance regarding the stability of electric rates as encouragement for locating or expanding in the state.

"We believe that the benefits of this approach are very significant and NPPD is prepared to proceed diligently to establish such an industrial incentive rate," Schaufelberger said. NPPD has had an active and successful economic development department for many years and the department has been recognized by others in the state as a leader in attracting industry. The current keen competition among states for developing industry has prompted NPPD to consider other innovative ways to encourage industrial expansion.

"We want to show the people of this state that our new slogan 'Pride in Nebraska' adopted earlier this year is not just mere words but signals our intent to take appropriate action to help bring about a vibrant and orderly economic growth to our state," Schaufelberger said.

Outdoor summer burn prevention tips stressed

With summer here, the number of burn injuries caused by outdoor activities has jumped.

Camping, boating and grilling accidents have brought burn victims to the Burn Care Facility at St. Luke's Regional Medical Center.

"People never think a burn accident will happen to them. But, by following some simple safety precautions, a lot of burn accidents can be avoided," said Deb Motz, R.N. at St. Luke's Burn Unit.

Accidents also occur when you're refueling your boat or if your tent or trailer should catch on fire. When camping remember that no tent is completely flameproof, even those that are made of flame resistant fabric. Tenting rules are:

- Pitch your tent at least 15 feet up ward from grills and fireplaces.
- Only use battery-operated lights in or near tents.

- Have an escape plan; be prepared to cut your way out of the tent if a fire occurs.
- If you're camping in a trailer, follow these safety rules:
 - Use only electrically operated lights.
 - Keep combustibles away from cooking and heating equipment.
 - Check and maintain gas connections and fume vents.
 - Develop a fire escape plan; keep a small axe handy to assist in emergency escapes.
 - Fire spreads quickly in trailers, so get everyone to safety before calling for help.

EXPLOSIONS and fire on boats can be terrifying experiences, often resulting in serious burns or even death. Waterways such as the Missouri River are prime places for boating accidents to occur.

Most fires or explosions occur immediately after boat motors have been refueled. But, with common sense and proper precautions, boat fires can be prevented.

- Don't smoke when using gasoline; shut down engines, motors, fans and heating devices before fueling.
- Leave room in the tank for fuel expansion.
- Wipe up spills.
- Refill portable tanks on shore and wipe off spillage before placing them aboard.
- Check bilges for leakage, fuel odors; ventilate until fuel odor is gone.

Flammable liquids are frequently used in summer activities, such as lawn care and camping. Follow these suggestions to keep yourself and your family safe from flammable liquid accidents:

- Store all flammable liquids in well-ventilated areas, never in the trunk of your car or inside a camper or trailer.
- Never use gasoline to start any fire including starting grills for a cookout.

Once your campfire is started be sure to wear shoes around the area. Hot coals and flying sparks can cause serious burns to your feet. Treat any burns on the hands, face and feet as serious.

"If a minor burn has occurred, run cool water over the area. Do not apply ointments, butter or fats. If the burn is larger or the burned area is blistered or without sensation, cover it and go to your doctor or the emergency room of a medical center immediately," said Motz.
