John Vakoc of Wayne and Myron Olson of Wakefield were among the 200 business people from across Nebraska named by Governor Kay Orr as Ambassadors to the Governor's Business Development Summit on July 28 in Lincoln.

The Ambassadors have been invited by Gov. Orr to help identify priorities which will improve business development in the state.

During the one-day Summit, task force meetings will take place on 10 business development topics to determine needed action at state, regional and local levels. Topics will consist of: business assistance, entrepreneurial support, capital formation, training, industrial development and targeting, international opportunities, tourism, community and rural development, business climate and Initiative 300.

Last is nice

Among the 29 first class cities in Nebraska, with populations ranging from 5,166 to 39,000, Wayne was last in the "crime rate per 1,000 population" category during 1986, according to findings by the Wayne Police Department.

Wayne had a crime rate of 13.4 per 1,000 population. Scottsbluff had the highest crime rate listed at 79.7 per 1,000 population.

Breaking down crime rate in the 5,000 to 6,999 population areas, Chadron was first with 60.8 per population, followed by Galtville (41), Sidney (39.4), Nebraska City (31.8), Falls City (26.8), Plattsmouth (26.1), Holdrege (22.3), Blair (22), Seward (21), Ralston (19) and Wayne (13.4).

Bereuter stop

The session will begin with a 15 minute report from Bereuter, followed by 45 minutes for comments on issues and concerns from Wayne area residents and neighbors.

Members of Bereuter's staff will remain to listen to various problems and record constituents' requests.

Recreation Center gears for opening

by Steve Jones
WSC College Relations Director

The scope of recreation, intramural athletics and physical activity at Wayne State College will radically change when fall classes begin next month.

That's when the 56,000-square-foot Recreation Center officially opens for use.

The rectangular brown brick building, part of a $3.1 million complex financed without tax dollars, has given the college a recreation facility in which college officials say rivals that of any other college or university the size of Wayne State.

"The multi-use aspect of this building is what makes it so ideal," said Frank Teach, director of the Recreation Center and intramurals at Wayne State. "It's a first-class, first-rate facility."

Teach said the building is a true recreation facility for the students' use. He added that unlike at some colleges, the building was not constructed primarily for intercollegiate athletic use.

The Recreation Center is connected to the two current physical education/recreation buildings — Rice Auditorium and Carlson Natatorium — by a 4,500-square-foot entrance and lounge area. The addition of the building and the space it has opened in the other two buildings has given the college four new or partially-redone physical activity areas:

— The Recreation Center building has 37,600 square feet in its multipurpose court area which can be used for basketball, volleyball, tennis, badminton and other activities. A one-tenth mile, six-lane indoor track will be used by walkers, joggers and varsity runners. A long jump and triple jump pit and a pole vault area can also be used by track performers.

FOUR RACQUETBALL handball

courts, a 1,900-square-foot weight room, two conference rooms and two offices are on the east side of the building. A balcony along the east side of the court area offers viewing of the racquetball courts and the main floor.

A high-quality sound system is provided throughout the facility.

Carlson Natatorium has two dance-aerobics rooms where a small gymnasium was located until just recently. Locker room facilities in the lower-level have been completely remodeled and will be utilized by the Rec Center users. As the name implies, the college pool is in this building.

Rice Auditorium, the arena for varsity athletic events, will see less wear and tear. Many activities, because they had no other space, were held in Rice. Now they will be moved to the Rec Center. Thus, the basketball court will soon be refinished and repainted.

Six tennis courts constructed east of the football stadium have been in use for over a year. The Rec Center stands on the site of the old courts, which were rapidly deteriorating.

FUNDING FOR the project, which was completed under budget and ahead of schedule, comes from revenue bonds. The college had for several years requested state money, with no success, to remodel Rice Auditorium to accommodate the growing recreational needs on campus. During the same time, discussions were held in regard to the maturing of two major revenue bond series in 1988. The two situations came together and the Rec Center was on its way to becoming a reality.

The building was constructed for student use in intramurals and unstructured recreation. Some physical education classes and varsity athletic practices will also be held in the new building, but only when needed. Students, through their activity fees, will primarily pay for the building.

The complex is a community-use facility and is expected to be used by people from throughout northeast Nebraska. Membership will be sold to the general public, giving members access equal to that of the students. Annual general public memberships are $150 for individuals and $200 for families.

Senior citizen memberships, for those 55 and older, are $50 annually. Corporate memberships are $650 annually per five members.

The daily rate is $3 per person for the Recreation Center, and $2 per person for the pool.

Rental fees for groups who wish to rent the entire building have yet to be determined.

THE REC CENTER is tentatively scheduled to be open from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays, 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Fridays, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturdays and 1 to 9 p.m. on Sundays.

Pool hours will likely be the same as they are now: 7:9 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and 2-4 p.m.

Saturdays and Sundays. The pool is used during daytime hours for physical education classes.

Teach said these hours will probably be used until user patterns are set. "There may be some adjustments," he said. "We may have longer hours or shorter hours."

Teach said college breaks and certain athletic events may dictate different operating schedules.

The prime contractor for the Rec Center was RaDec Construction Co. of Hartington. Other contractors involved were Castle Construction Co. of Columbus and Hesper Construction Co. of Norfolk.

Wayne Guard Unit achieves Eisenhower Award

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

It's been nearly 18 years since the Wayne National Guard Unit has won The Eisenhower Award.

But the Eisenhower Trophy, a national award named in honor of Army General Dwight D. Eisenhower, has returned to the Company A First Battalion (Mechanized) 134th Infantry in Wayne. The trophy was awarded to the Wayne unit as the most outstanding unit during the 1986 training year.

In June of this year, the Wayne unit was notified of the Eisenhower Award-honor. While in training this year at Ft. Carson, Colorado, the Company was presented the award, according to 1st Sergeant Denny Spangler, who is also the Unit Administrator.

The winning unit is selected by a board of officers that is appointed by the State Adjutant General. Wayne's unit had last received this coveted award, awarded by the Chief of the National Guard Bureau, in 1969, when Edward Mullen served as the unit commander.

PRESENT UNIT Commander of the Wayne Unit is 1st Lieutenant Blake Moritz of Omaha, a native of Osmond and a Wayne State College graduate. The Battalion Commander is Major Paul Sum of Omaha, who was Unit Commander at Wayne from October, 1974 to December, 1977.

The roster of the Wayne unit includes six officers and 121 enlisted people, Spangler said Friday.

To gain an Eisenhower Award, the company must also have previously earned a Superior Unit Award, according to Spangler.

Personnel qualifications to receive the Superior Unit Award, Spangler said, include: to have a monthly average of 95 percent in authorized strength; to have 95 percent of the soldiers "job qualified"; to have 95 percent of personnel present at drill attendance; and to have 95 percent of the company attending the annual training period.

Training qualifications for the Superior Unit Awards, Spangler mentioned, include: achieving training and readiness standards in accordance with current regulations; achieving an annual training rating of excellent or outstanding; having 95 percent of the personnel qualified with their individual weapons; achieving a satisfactory rating on its annual general inspection; receiving a rating of satisfactory on maintenance inspection; having a successful maintenance program; and gaining recommendation for the award by "all higher headquarters."

TO GAIN AN honor of even greater prestige (The Eisenhower Award), qualifications are: to achieve a Superior Unit Award; to have a number of unit members satisfactorily complete additional schooling or to further their military education; to meet the objectives of an effective safety program, training management program, supply economy program and cost consciousness program; to have a specific number of personnel achieve special skill badges; and to have a competitive marksmanship program.

Spangler said one of the Wayne unit's many strengths is in the area of marksmanship. "We presently have [in Wayne] the state machine gun team which will represent Nebraska in competition at Arkansas. We also have a state combat rifle team that will compete in Arkansas," Spangler said.

EARLIER THIS year, the M-60 machine gun shooting team participated in The All Army Shoot at Ft. Benning, Georgia and came in second.

"So marksmanship is one of our strong points," Spangler said.

Spangler said the Wayne unit has been bestowed an honor of a different nature. "The Unit has been assigned and selected for an additional annual training period, from July 30 to August 19, to the Army National Training Center at Ft. Irwin, California," Spangler mentioned.

"It's an honor to get this assignment. One unit out of the state of Nebraska [there are approximately 44 units in the state] has been selected to go," he added.

ONE HUNDRED seventeen individuals from Nebraska will be going to the training center — approximately 50 of those will be from the Wayne unit. "The majority of the leaders will come from the Wayne unit," Spangler said.

Other members will come from Norfolk, Columbus, O'Neill, Grand Island, Crete, Hastings, Beatrice, Falls City, Nebraska City, Auburn and Omaha.

Spangler said the National Training Center is "a sophisticated operation."

"They have high tech equipment and sensing devices which they use to evaluate combat leaders," he mentioned.

Spangler said the mission of the National Guard has become equally important in three phases — as peace enforcers, disaster relief and a greater emphasis on reserve forces. "We have to be prepared to go to war anytime," Spangler mentioned.

To prepare for military combat is one reason why Spangler and the Wayne unit are looking forward to the training in California.

Company A First Battalion (Mechanized) 134th Infantry in Wayne Unit District covers communities such as Wayne, Wakefield, Emerson, Pender, Wisner, Beemer, West Point, Hartington, Newcastle, Ponca, South Sioux City, Coleridge, Laurel, Allen, Osmond, Randolph and Waterbury.

Wakefield to let bids on lagoon expansion

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

Bid letting for the expansion of Wakefield's sewage lagoon will take place on July 29, according to City Administrator Lowell Johnson.

Expansion plans call for adding 20 acres of sewage lagoon area to the present 20-acre site that is located approximately a quarter mile east of Wakefield. The addition will hold up to 26.5 million gallons.

The plans and specifications for the lagoon enlargement were adopted by the Wakefield City Council in April. Boyd and Associates of Omaha are the engineers working with the city of Wakefield on the expansion project.

Johnson said the expansion will permit the city to get back into compliance regulations concerning the sewage discharge into Logan Creek.

Johnson said the city has outgrown its present lagoon system. "The original one was built in 1965. In 1977 we added on to it," he said.

Wakefield was notified last July that it had received a $182,000 Community Development Block Grant for the sewage lagoon expansion project. City officials applied for the grant in May, 1986, and the application was reviewed in June of the same year. The funding wasn't released to the city until August, 1986.

Johnson estimated that the total cost of the lagoon expansion would be $434,000. The $182,000 which the city received in grant money, he said, will likely be used "for construction purposes."

The balance of the estimated cost to construct the lagoon addition would be picked up through user fees primarily paid by the Milton G. Waldbaum Company.

The completion date of the lagoon expansion is scheduled for Oct. 31 of this year, Johnson said.

"Expanding the lagoon system will allow the city to accommodate the industry that is already here," Johnson mentioned.

He said he doesn't expect any sewage discharge rate increases for Wakefield residents. He added that the water supply in Wakefield is "in good shape."

Recreation Center gears for opening

by Steve Jones
WSC College Relations Director

The scope of recreation, intramural athletics and physical activity at Wayne State College will radically change when fall classes begin next month.

That's when the 56,000-square-foot Recreation Center officially opens for use.

The rectangular brown brick building, part of a $3.1 million complex financed without tax dollars, has given the college a recreation facility in which college officials say rivals that of any other college or university the size of Wayne State.

"The multi-use aspect of this building is what makes it so ideal," said Frank Teach, director of the Recreation Center and intramurals at Wayne State. "It's a first-class, first-rate facility."

Teach said the building is a true recreation facility for the students' use. He added that unlike at some colleges, the building was not constructed primarily for intercollegiate athletic use.

The Recreation Center is connected to the two current physical education/recreation buildings — Rice Auditorium and Carlson Natatorium — by a 4,500-square-foot entrance and lounge area. The addition of the building and the space it has opened in the other two buildings has given the college four new or partially-redone physical activity areas:

— The Recreation Center building has 37,600 square feet in its multipurpose court area which can be used for basketball, volleyball, tennis, badminton and other activities. A one-tenth mile, six-lane indoor track will be used by walkers, joggers and varsity runners. A long jump and triple jump pit and a pole vault area can also be used by track performers.

FOUR RACQUETBALL-handball

courts, a 1,900-square-foot weight room, two conference rooms and two offices are on the east side of the building. A balcony along the east side of the court area offers viewing of the racquetball courts and the main floor.

A high-quality sound system is provided throughout the facility.

— Carlson Natatorium has two dance-aerobics rooms where a small gymnasium was located until just recently. Locker room facilities in the lower level have been completely remodeled and will be utilized by the Rec Center users. As the name implies, the college pool is in this building.

— Rice Auditorium, the arena for varsity athletic events, will see less wear and tear. Many activities, because they had no other space, were held in Rice. Now they will be moved to the Rec Center. Thus, the basketball court will soon be refinished and repainted.

Six tennis courts constructed east of the football stadium have been in use for over a year. The Rec Center stands on the site of the old courts, which were rapidly deteriorating.

FUNDING FOR the project, which was completed under budget and ahead of schedule, comes from revenue bonds. The college had for several years requested state money, with no success, to remodel Rice Auditorium to accommodate the growing recreational needs on campus. During the same time, discussions were held in regard to the maturing of two major revenue bond series in 1988. The two situations came together and the Rec Center was on its way to becoming a reality.

The building was constructed for student use in intramurals and unstructured recreation. Some physical education classes and varsity athletic practices will also be held in the new building, but only when needed. Students, through their activity fees, will primarily pay for the building.

The complex is a community-use facility and is expected to be used by people from throughout northeast Nebraska. Membership will be sold to the general public, giving members access equal to that of the students. Annual general public memberships are $150 for individuals and $200 for families.

Senior citizen memberships, for those 55 and older, are $50 annually. Corporate memberships are $650 annually per five members.

The daily rate is $3 per person for the Recreation Center, and $2 per person for the pool.

Rental fees for groups who wish to rent the entire building have yet to be determined.

THE REC CENTER is tentatively scheduled to be open from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays, 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Fridays, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturdays and 1 to 9 p.m. on Sundays.

Pool hours will likely be the same as they are now: 7-9 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and 2-4 p.m.

Saturdays and Sundays. The pool is used during daytime hours for physical education classes.

Teach said these hours will probably be used until user patterns are set. "There may be some adjustments," he said. "We may have longer hours or shorter hours."

Teach said college breaks and certain athletic events may dictate different operating schedules.

The prime contractor for the Rec Center was RaDec Construction Co. of Hartington. Other contractors involved were Castle Construction Co. of Columbus and Hesse Construction Co. of Norfolk.

Wayne Guard Unit achieves Eisenhower Award

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

It's been nearly 18 years since the Wayne National Guard Unit has won The Eisenhower Award.

But the Eisenhower Trophy, a national award named in honor of Army General Dwight D. Eisenhower, has returned to the Company A First Battalion (Mechanized) 134th Infantry in Wayne. The trophy was awarded to the Wayne unit as the most outstanding unit during the 1986 training year.

In June of this year, the Wayne unit was notified of the Eisenhower Award honor. While in training this year at Ft. Carson, Colorado, the Company was presented the award, according to 1st Sergeant Denny Spangler, who is also the Unit Administrator.

The winning unit is selected by a board of officers that is appointed by the State Adjutant General. Wayne's unit had last received this coveted award, awarded by the Chief of the National Guard Bureau, in 1969, when Edward Mullen served as the unit commander.

PRESENT UNIT Commander of the Wayne Unit is 1st Lieutenant Blake Moritz of Omaha, a native of Osmond and a Wayne State College graduate. The Battalion Commander is Major Paul Sum of Omaha, who was Unit Commander at Wayne from October, 1974 to December, 1977.

The roster of the Wayne unit includes six officers and 121 enlisted personnel, Spangler said Friday.

To gain an Eisenhower Award, the company must also have previously earned a Superior Unit Award, according to Spangler.

Personnel qualifications to receive the Superior Unit Award, Spangler said, include: to have a monthly average of 95 percent in authorized strength; to have 95 percent of the soldiers' job qualified; to have 95 percent of personnel present at drill attendance; and to have 95 percent of the company attending the annual training period.

Training qualifications for the Superior Unit Awards, Spangler mentioned, include: achieving training and readiness standards in accordance with current regulations; achieving an annual training rating of excellent or outstanding; having 95 percent of the personnel qualified with their individual weapons; achieving a satisfactory rating on its annual general inspection; receiving a rating of satisfactory on maintenance inspection; having a successful maintenance program; and gaining recommendation for the award by "all higher headquarters."

TO GAIN AN honor of even greater prestige (The Eisenhower Award), qualifications are: to achieve a Superior Unit Award; to have a number of unit members satisfactorily complete additional schooling or to further their military education; to meet the objectives of an effective safety program, training management program, supply economy program and cost consciousness program; to have a specific number of personnel achieve special skill badges; and to have a competitive marksmanship program.

Spangler said one of the Wayne unit's many strengths is in the area of marksmanship. "We presently have [in Wayne] the state machine gun team which will represent Nebraska in competition at Arkansas. We also have a state combat rifle team that will compete in Arkansas," Spangler said.

EARLIER THIS year, the M-60 machine gun shooting team participated in the All-Army Shoot at Ft. Benning, Georgia and came in second.

"So marksmanship is one of our strong points," Spangler said.

Spangler said the Wayne unit has been bestowed an honor of a different nature. "The Unit has been assigned and selected for an additional annual training period, from July 30 to Aug. 19, to the Army National Training Center at Ft. Irwin, California," Spangler mentioned.

"It's an honor to get this assignment. One unit out of the state of Nebraska [there are approximately 44 units in the state] has been selected to go," he added.

ONE HUNDRED seventeen individuals from Nebraska will be going to the training center — approximately 50 of those will be from the Wayne unit. "The majority of the leaders will come from the Wayne unit," Spangler said.

Other members will come from Norfolk, Columbus, O'Neill, Grand Island, Crete, Hastings, Beatrice, Falls City, Nebraska City, Auburn and Omaha.

Spangler said the National Training Center is "a sophisticated operation."

"They have high tech equipment and sensing devices which they use to evaluate combat leaders," he mentioned.

Spangler said the mission of the National Guard has become equally important in three phases — as peace enforcers, disaster relief and a greater emphasis on reserve forces. "We have to be prepared to go to war anytime," Spangler mentioned.

To prepare for military combat is one reason why Spangler and the Wayne unit are looking forward to the training in California.

Company A First Battalion (Mechanized) 134th Infantry in Wayne Unit District covers communities such as Wayne, Wakefield, Emerson, Pender, Wisner, Beemer, West Point, Hartington, Newcasttle, Ponca, South Sioux City, Coleridge, Laurel, Allen, Osmond, Randolph and Waterbury.

Wakefield to let bids on lagoon expansion

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

Bid letting for the expansion of Wakefield's sewage lagoon will take place on July 29, according to City Administrator Lowell Johnson.

Expansion plans call for adding 20 acres of sewage lagoon area to the present 20-acre site that is located approximately a quarter-mile east of Wakefield. The addition will hold up to 26.5 million gallons.

The plans and specifications for the lagoon enlargement were adopted by the Wakefield City Council in April. Boyd and Associates of Omaha are the engineers working with the city of Wakefield on the expansion project.

Johnson said the expansion will permit the city to get back into compliance regulations concerning the sewage discharge into Logan Creek.

Johnson said the city has outgrown its present lagoon system. "The original one was built in 1965. In 1977 we added on to it," he said.

Wakefield was notified last July that it had received a $182,000 Community Development Block Grant for the sewage lagoon expansion project. City officials applied for the grant in May, 1986 and the application was reviewed in June of the same year. The funding wasn't released to the city until August, 1986.

Johnson estimated that the total cost of the lagoon expansion would be $434,000. The $182,000 which the city received in grant money, he said, will likely be used "for construction purposes."

The balance of the estimated cost to construct the lagoon addition would be picked up through user fees primarily paid by the Milton G. Waldbaum Company.

The completion date of the lagoon expansion is scheduled for Oct. 31 of this year, Johnson said.

"Expanding the lagoon system will allow the city to accommodate the industry that is already here," Johnson mentioned.

He said he doesn't expect any sewage discharge rate increases for Wakefield residents. He added that the water supply in Wakefield is "in good shape."

Stop sibling squabbles

"It's mine," whines seven-year-old Sue. "It is not," counters her nine-year-old brother Billy. "It's mine, I had it first, Mom!"

Does this sound familiar? It's midsummer and your otherwise normal, healthy children fight all day long. The rest of the summer could be long and difficult.

Even a routine trip to the store turns into a major fight over who gets which seat in the car. Sometimes it appears that your children will do anything to annoy each other.

This type of bickering is typical in families with more than one child. When they become too frequent, the peace and harmony at home disappears. Some teasing, wrestling and squabbles are normal. It would be unrealistic to expect two or more children to get along without some fighting.

AS CHILDREN GROW older, they usually will argue less. But if your children are between two and 12, ten years is too long to wait for a little peace. Often arguments are a result of jealousy between siblings. Parents need to examine what they do that might increase jealousy. Praise children equally. You may be unaware that one child gets more favors or privileges, but the children can see these differences.

In addition to praising your children for their accomplishments, reward good behavior. Reinforce positive behavior with a kind word and a special treat. Give the child a balloon, read an extra story or take a walk to the park.

SOMETIMES IT'S necessary to let the children solve their own problems. Don't allow yourself to always be put in the position of being the judge. Try to suggest ways they could resolve their problems, but don't force them to take your advice.

Give the children a "time out." Separate them from each other for five minutes. This is not a punishment, it simply stops the fighting without you taking sides. Parents have been using this method for years when they tell a child to sit in the corner until the child calms down.

Encourage separate interests and activities. If the children have their own hobbies and friends they will not be competing with each other all of the time. Find some location in your home that will be your child's personal space. Make sure everyone knows that his space should not be disturbed by other family members.

Often the most bickering occurs during the evening hours when everyone is tired. Children are more likely to argue and parents are irritated more easily. Use this time for each parent to be alone with one child for a half hour.

Try some of these ideas and enjoy your summer vacation with a minimum of squabbles.

ATTENTION SENIOR CITIZENS! FREE ONE HOUR SEMINAR

JULY 21, 22, 23 — 10 a.m. & 2 p.m. — WAYNE CITY AUDITORIUM

In our community, I know that everyone is very concerned as to how they will pay for nursing home confinement should the need arise. Recent budget cuts by Congress have placed some of our seniors in the position that they must choose between their retirement assets, and their health. We need to do something about this!!

We of the State National Bank wish to announce a new group program now available called "Alternative Pay System." It is specifically designed to help offset the mounting costs of long term nursing home care.

We will have "special informational seminars" planned in the Wayne City Auditorium July 21st, 22nd and 23rd, 1987, to review this fine program! This program is endorsed by the Nebraska Health Care Association. Benefits are payable in over 200 nursing homes in Nebraska, including our local nursing home and those in surrounding communities, as well as similar nursing homes nationwide. Bank representatives, and others will be in attendance. The information you will receive at these meetings could prove to be extremely beneficial to you and your family.

We sincerely request your presence!! We feel that this is a very important and timely event. The number of people we can accommodate at each seminar is limited, so please contact: State National Insurance Agency at 375-4888 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. to reserve your time. Refreshments will be served.

Pre-arrange your funeral today as a gift of love for tomorrow.

Today, many people recognize the importance of estate planning. Wills and life insurance help ensure the financial and emotional well-being of survivors in the event of our death.

Through funeral planning in advance of need, and often pre-financing, many questions about death and funerals can be answered, and some of the problems associated with death can be minimized. For some people, planning in advance gives assurance of a funeral that will represent their personal beliefs or lifestyles. For others, it is a way to help their families deal knowledgeably with their death.

If you would like to discuss pre-planning or pre-financing for a funeral, contact your local Funeral Director. He will be glad to answer these questions and any other questions you might have.

Local gals take 2 from Norfolk

ROB GAMBLE gets ready to uncork a throw to first base during the first game of the doubleheader.

By Gregg Dahlheim
Sports Editor

The Wayne 18 and under girls softball team traveled to Liberty Bell Park in Norfolk and came away with two wins over the Norfolk gals Wednesday evening.

The locals took the first game 7-3 and came back in the nightcap to edge the hosts 16-15 in a game shortened to four innings.

In the opener Robin Luff earned the complete-game victory by allowing three runs on three singles. Luff retired nine of the first 10 batters to step to the plate, the other batter she walked.

Wayne scored first with a pair of runs in the top of the second. Tracy Gamble reached on an error and Amy Schluns walked and each scored without the services of a hit.

The locals made it 6-0 in the third inning. Kristy Hansen, Robin Luff and Tonya Erleben started the inning with singles. Hansen and Robin Luff scored along with Suzy Luff and Gamble. Suzy Luff's one-run triple in the top of the fourth made it 7-0. Norfolk made it 7-2 in the bottom of the fourth when a pair of fielding errors prolonged the inning. The hosts tallied its last run in the bottom of the fifth.

The locals collected six hits in the ballgame. Hansen led the way with a pair of hits. Suzy Luff had the team's only extra-base hit when she tripled in the fourth.

The second game was a slugfest. Wayne pounded out 11 hits. Every Wayne hitter had at least one hit. Robin Luff added a pair of hits including a double.

The locals grabbed a 2-0 lead in the first inning. Hansen came home on a double by Amy Schluns and Schluns scored on Robin Luff's base hit.

Wayne took a convincing 10-0 lead in the top of the second. Robin Luff doubled and Hansen, Gamble, Suzy Luff and Kathy Mohlfeld singled in the frame. Eleven batters came to the plate during the inning.

Norfolk made it 10-1 in the bottom of the second but the locals upped the margin to 12-1 in the top of the third. Dana Nelson led off the inning with a single and she and Gamble, who walked, came around to score.

Norfolk didn't throw in the towel. The hosts chipped away at the lead in the bottom of the third inning when 10 girls crossed the plate to make it a 12-11 game. Norfolk came up with nine hits in the frame.

Wayne got four runs in the top of the fourth to add to the lead. Marnie Bruggeman knocked in two runs with a double. A Hansen single and a infield groundout scored the other two runs.

Norfolk wasn't done scoring either. Nelson retired the first two hitters before the hosts started their rally. Nelson walked the ninth hitter in the order to start the ball rolling. The next five girls reached base, three by hits and two on error. With the tying run at third Nelson got the sixth hitter to groundout to second baseman Leslie Keating to preserve the win.

Although Nelson surrendered 15 runs she was the winning pitcher. She gave up 13 hits while striking out four Norfolk hitters.

East no hits locals in first of two wins

The Wayne Junior Legion accounted for only two runs in a doubleheader loss to Sioux City East Thursday night at Hank Overin Field.

East blanked the Junior Legion B team 13-0 in the first game and came back in the nightcap and handed the top team an 8-2 setback. The losses dropped the Juniors to 8-14.

In the first game Brent Cabney tossed a no-hitter against the locals. A first-inning walk to Robbie Gamble was the only thing that stopped him from throwing a gem. Cabney kept the Wayne hitters off stride the entire game. He struck out 10 hitters, which included the side in the third inning.

Scott Hammer was the losing pitcher in the contest. Hammer went three and two-thirds innings giving up nine runs on eight hits. Jason Jorgensen came in and finished the game which was called on the 10-run rule after five innings.

Gamble was Wayne's only baserunner in the contest. He was thrown out trying to steal second in the first inning.

The locals collected seven hits in the second game. Bill Landanger and Gamble led the way with two hits apiece.

Wayne trailed 7-0 before it got on the board with a run in the bottom of the fourth. Jorgensen led off with a double and scored two outs later on a single by Scott Nichols. The locals got their last run in the bottom of the sixth when Steve Luff scored when East's leftfielder misplayed a flyball by Landanger.

Ted Lueders was saddled with the loss in the contest. He started the game and gave up five runs on five hits in three innings of work. Landanger came on in the fourth and finished the game. He was credited with three runs five hits.

Greckel hurls shutout for Wayne

A lone run in the top of the fifth inning spoiled Mike Greckel's shutout bid Wednesday night as the Wayne Independents went on to a 11-1 win over the town team from Lawton, Iowa.

The win gave the Independents a series sweep over Lawton and a 5-2 season mark. Greckel gave up one run on five hits. Greckel struck out six and walked four in his seven innings of work. He is the first Wayne pitcher to record a complete game. The contest was called after seven innings because of the 10-run rule.

Greckel also contributed with his bat. His three-run home run in the bottom of the first gave the locals a 3-0 lead. Greckel brought home Steve Overin and Mike Hoffart who singled earlier in the inning.

The hosts got four more in the bottom of the seventh. Kevin Hoffart collected a RBI single while Mike Hoffart and Pat Salerno doubled and Paul Calvert singled in the frame.

Wayne made it 8-0 in the fourth when Greckel collected his fourth ribble when he singled in Salerno who started the inning with a double. Lawton averted the whitewash by pushing across a run in the top of the fifth. Dean Cropley started the inning with a base on balls. Back-to-back singles by Dave Markowsky and Don Jorgensen chased Cropley home.

Wayne got the run back in the bottom of the sixth. Mike Hoffart doubled and scored and Mark Priegnetz singled. The Independents closed out the scoring with a pair of runs in the bottom of the seventh when Calvert doubled and scored and Jeff Coble walked and came around to score. The Wayne "nine" pounded out a dozen hits. Mike Hoffart led the way with three hits while Calvert, Salerno and Greckel added a pair of hits apiece.

Wayne sweeps by Emerson squads

By Gregg Dahlheim
Sports Editor

The Wayne Midgets and Junior Legion baseball teams had to battle rain and gusty winds on their way to a sweep over Emerson Friday evening at Hank Overin Field.

Just about as the first pitch was thrown in the Midget game the rain began to fall. It wasn't enough to call the game but it did tend to make the cleates a little heavy.

That didn't effect Wayne as the Midgets blasted Emerson 13-3 in four and a half innings. Jeff Luff was the winning pitcher for Wayne. Luff came on in the second inning for starter Matt Peterson. Peterson left the game with a sore leg. A fifth-inning double was the only hit Luff allowed.

The locals went on top 3-1 in the first inning behind a double by Jess Zeiss and singles by Kevin Hausmann and Greg Schmidt. Wayne made it 5-1 in the second inning on a two run single by Schmidt. Hausmann and Zeiss also collected hits in the frame.

Wayne upped its lead to 7-1 in the third inning. Rusty Hamer led off with a triple. He came home on a sacrifice by Corey Frye. Jason Mrsny also scored after reaching base on a walk.

Wayne put the game out of reach with a six-run fourth inning. The locals got doubles from Luff and Frye and a base hit from Schmidt, his third of the game.

The win upped Wayne to 12-3 overall and it assured the Midgets of at least a tie for the Ralph Bishop League title.

The Junior Legion squad also disposed of Emerson in four and a half innings. The Legion ran its record to 9-14 with a 12-1 win. The win also insured Wayne of no worse than a tie in Ralph Bishop League action.

Russ Longe went the distance on the mound to earn the win. He surrendered one run on three hits. All three of Emerson's hits came in the third inning when it scored its only run.

Jason Jorgensen and Rob Gamble doubled in the first and Longe singled to account for Wayne's three-run first.

The locals came right back with six more in the second inning to grab a 9-0 lead. Ted Lueders added a two-run triple in the inning. Wayne closed out the scoring in the bottom of the third with a three spot to make the score 12-1. Gamble and Longe collected RBI singles in the frame. Lueders was credited with the other ribble.

Wayne stroked eight hits in the game. Longe and Gamble led the way with a pair of hits each.

Four CSIC schools to join MIAA in 1989-90

The news that everyone in the Central State Intercollegiate Conference (CSIC) has been talking about for the last year or two finally came to reality this week.

The Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association (MIAA) announced Wednesday that it will expand to a 12-team conference by accepting Missouri Southern, Missouri Western, Pittsburg State and Washburn, CSIC schools, to the conference effective the 1989-90 academic year.

The four schools have also applied for acceptance into the NCAA Division II. The CSIC schools are members of the NAIA.

The schools remaining in the CSIC are Wayne State, Kearney State, Emporia State and Fort Hays State. What will be done amongst those schools is still under discussion. It is possible that the CSIC may stay together and look for schools interested in joining the conference.

Wayne State Coach Pete Chapman was unavailable for comment but in an earlier interview with Chapman he said Wayne State is still looking over its options. Wayne State is at a disadvantage due to its geographic location. There are not many schools on the same athletic level as Wayne State which are geographically favorable to Wayne State.

What will become of the CSIC, which has been in existence for more than a decade? That will be the topic of discussion around the conference for the next couple of years.

Young girls end year with loss; while older gals down W.P.

One season ended while another continued for the Wayne girls softball teams.

The 15 and under team concluded its season with a 7-7 record after West Point knocked off the locals 12-0 Thursday night in West Point.

The 18 and under squad continued to fine tune for the state tournament set for July 24-26 at North Platte by handing West Point a 9-4 defeat. The older girls improved their record to 20-8.

Robin Luff was on the mound for the 18 and under team. She limited West Point to four runs on nine hits while striking out eight.

Wayne spotted West Point a 4-0 lead after four innings. The locals finally got on the board in the fifth inning single by Shannon Holdorf, a single in the third by Kari Lutt and a fifth-inning single off the bat of Shawn Schroeder were the only three hits Wayne came up with.

The girls most serious threats came in the third and fifth innings. Shannon Holdorf got as far as third base in the third inning before Tara Erxleben struck out to end the inning. In the fifth the locals had the bases loaded but Erxleben was again the victim of a strike out.

Jennifer Hammer also had a rough outing on the mound for Wayne. Hammer pitched the complete game giving up only two hits but in the process she walked eight West Point batters. She was also the victim of five Wayne errors.

Scott Miller led the Wakefield offense with three hits and four RBIs. One of Miller's hits was a three-run home run. Two of Miller's teammates, Wayne Guy and Mark Kubik, also ripped home runs in the contest.

'Hacken' Away

by Chuck Hackenmiller

Everyone needs something like a "Wayne Chicken Show" in their life. Most of us need a break from the usual routines we face each day. It gives us something to laugh about when things aren't going the way we like. It is a refreshing way to enjoy the country — without being in the country.

Along comes the Chicken Show. Sure enough, it is a show filled with activity that borders on the edge of high level competition to near insanity.

But not many communities can copy it. The National Cluck-off takes place right here in Wayne. Last year John Agler of Wayne and Judith Kluge of Fairbury appeared on stage with Johnny Carson. One wonders whether that type of exposure led to a bigger attendance at this year's event.

This year's rooster crower winner, Joel Vavra of Crete, has already been interviewed by a Los Angeles radio station. Agler has already warned Vavra of the national recognition he will receive for winning the Cluck-Off competition, according to Vavra's wife.

The Herald received a telephone call from Sandy Breitkreutz, a former employee of this newspaper and now managing editor of The Crete News, who requested one of our photos of Vavra as he performed his rooster crowing.

IF I WERE Johnny Carson's program manager, I would again invite the National Cluck-Off competitors, but I think it would be more exciting for television viewers to see the egg drop competition. Bring Steve Moore of Elkhorn, two-time winner of the egg/drop catch event of the Chicken Show, to the television studio and start dropping the eggs from the studio rafters — just so people can get a glimpse of his skills. He could compete against Carson.

And then have Moore go for breaking the egg drop/catch record of 54 feet. Normally, this writer usually hides behind a camera and notebook when it comes to participating in these events, limiting myself to playing in the slow pitch softball tournament.

But this year was different. I entered the hen clucking contest and didn't even place. That's understandable.

Lyle George, who participates in the hen clucking or rooster crowing Cluck-Off contest each year, commented that this year's contestants made the field extremely competitive — more so than other years.

It's not as easy as it looks. I practiced my hen clucking in the shower and it sounded quite good. But 'hen clucking' performing before hundreds of spectators at the Chicken Show was not my destiny. Matter of fact, I felt rather silly.

THE WAYNE HERALD also had a team in the Chicken Olympics. Now I consider myself at least slightly athletic, but these Olympics events rarely tested grace and agility, of which I have none.

I couldn't find my shoes in the shoe scramble, being the last to tie the laces and return back to the team.

That got us off on the wrong foot right away.

Rich Zrust, playing with the Herald team, pulled a trick on his wife Patli, our advertising rep. In the egg toss team event, Rich caught the egg in his hand from a Herald teammate and noticed there was a crack that was very visible across the shell.

Rich had to toss the egg back to another teammate. He knew the egg would break upon contact with another hand. He looked across and saw his wife, Patli, standing in line to catch the egg.

Rich threw the egg anyway. It broke in Patli's hands — yokes and all. But that wasn't as bad as the team next to us. A raw egg exploded into the face of a woman near us.

Crazy? Perhaps. But give some credit to the committee who worked so hard in preparing the Chicken Show, and letting the people of the community, and across the nation, enjoy a moment of madness.

Way Back When

10 years ago

July 18, 1977: Carol Dohrman of Wayne became a naturalized citizen of the United States after an eight year wait. Dohrman is a native of New Zealand. Susan Rethwisch of rural Wayne was named grand champion of the Wayne County 4-H Style Revue. Alternate to the grand champion was Cindy Bull of rural Wayne. A grand opening was held for the Wayne Eagles Club at its building on Main Street. A country western act, Jack and Dorothy, provided the music. The Wayne City Council proposed a $4.7 million dollar budget for the 1977-78 fiscal year.

20 years ago

July 24, 1967: Dixon, Thurston and Wayne were among the Nebraska counties hosting visitors from 49 states and Puerto Rico. The National Agricultural Youth Institute made all the arrangements. Dennis Eckberg of Wayne hosted a visiting family from Middletown Springs, Vermont. Al Svenningson, basketball coach at Wayne State since 1959, resigned to become the head basketball coach at the University of Alaska. While at Wayne State his teams had compiled an overall record of 121-73. The Hoskins Engineering and Manufacturing Company opened its doors for business. Loren Apfel managed the business and he was assisted by Curt Beitz and Gary Evert of Norfolk.

30 years ago

July 18, 1957: More than 100 women from Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota played in the annual golf invitational at the Wayne Country Club. The top four finishers in the event were Mrs. Evelyn Miller of Wayne, Mrs. Ethel Schulz of Yankton, Mrs. Andy Titterton of Norfolk, and Mrs. Erwin Ulrich of Hoskins. Mrs. Erwin Ulrich of Hoskins was elected the 1958 chairman of the Wayne County Home Extension Council at a meeting held at the Wayne County Courthouse. Mrs. Eric Meierhenry was named vice-chairman and Mrs. Gus Longe was elected secretary-treasurer. A tentative levy of 6.44 mills to meet the 1957 Wayne County budget has been calculated by County Clerk C.A. Bard. The adopted budget would cause county taxpayers to pay about $35,000 more than they did a year ago.

40 years ago

July 17, 1947: The Clyde Beatty Wild Animal Circus, badly crippled by a railroad accident at Hubbard pulled into Sioux City. Engagements in Norfolk, Fremont and Lincoln had to be cancelled after eight cars of the circus train were derailed, killing one man and injuring six. Clarence Kuhn of Wayne was elected second vice president of the Northeast Nebraska Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting held in Fremont. Presentation of new flags to the Kiwanis Club by Professor O.R. Bowen and a message on the audiometer by Dr. H.E. Peterka made up the program for the local club. It was July, 1929, just 18 years ago, when Ernest Folsom of Lincoln presented the local club with the American and Canadian flags which have hung on the wall since. Stanton's third annual music festival will feature a 600-piece band made up of musicians from Clarkson, Howells, Madison, Neligh, Norfolk, Pierce, Plainview, Wakefield and Wayne.
