Motion Sickness

Surveys indicate that nine out of 10 people have experienced motion sickness at sometime in their lives. Symptoms include paleness of the skin, often followed by yawning, a cold sweat, or drowsiness. An upset stomach may be the final signal before vomiting occurs.

Prevention of motion sickness is better than treatment. Nondrug approaches include:

- focusing attention away from the motion of the vehicle or fast-moving surroundings looking at the horizon.
- getting in the area of a vehicle having the least detectable motion (e.g., middle of a boat or ship or over the wing of an airplane)
- · avoiding heavy meals, tobacco smoke, and food odors.

Antihistamine medicines, many of which are available without prescription, may help prevent motion sickness. These include dimenhydrinate and meclizine. Many studies indicate that the prescription medicine scopplamine, which is available as a skin patch to be worn behind the ear, is effective in preventing motion sickness in many adults. All of these medicines carry special presentions. medicines carry special precautions.

Hey, did you hear the one about the former University of Oklahoma admissions director who was busted for selling bogus college degrees?

Well it's true. An article in the Omaha World-Herald tast week stated Barbara Cousins and a male companion were arrested in West Palm Beach for selling six bogus college degrees.

What makes the story even more amazing is that two of the people she supposedly sold the degrees to were a former OU football player and a city councilman's daughter.

The 47-year old Cousins left Oklahoma in July after serving 11 years as admission director. She accepted a similar position at Florida Atlantic University.

"In a prepared statement university officials said they didn't think the scheme was widepread but that OU intends to "vigorously pursue these criminal charges."

The pair has been training together running about 50 miles a week in preperation for the race. About 8,000 runners are expected to participate. Good luck to both Sid and Terry.

I went 3-t in area high school games-last week to bring my season total to a respectable 10-4. Wayne will cross the border in search of its first win Friday night when they play LeMars. The Blue Devils will come home 0-6; Wakefield will be looking to climb over .500 when they host Beemer. The Bobcats are still furning over the upset last week and will win in a tight one; it will be another tough evening for Allen as they travel to Bancroft-Rosalle and the Eagles will come away 0-6; Laurel will not lose two in a row as they will beat Bloomfield at home; Winside will get a taste of home cookin' in a win over Newcastle.

Well the Gamecocks made it a lot closer than I thought which caused my prediction to be a bit out of kilter. This week KU better be thankful that the Cornhuskers are playing at home. That way more people will get to play which will help keep the score down. Last year Clete Blakeman started against the Jayhawks and led NU to a 70-0 win. The results should be similiar. I'll say 70-7.

Knee injuries 'part of game'

Injuries are as much a part of football as shoulder pads and first downs but Wayne State trainer Dan Sedory wishes they weren't.
Sedory has performed above and beyond the call of duty this season. Through five games six Wildcats have gone down with injured knees. Linebackers Greg Cavill and Brad Feverbacher all suffered forn ligaments. Defensive back Roger Bentz, wide receiver Glenn Mathews and kick refurner Orlando Clark received cartilage damage.

The trainer explained that there are basically three types of tigament damage to the knee.

A first-degree injury is a stretch to the ligament. Sedory said that degree of injury is painful, but there is no instability in the knee. The rehabilitation period is about one to two weeks. Second-degree damage is a partial tear in the ligament. It is more paintear in the ligament. It is more painful that first degree and slight instability exists in the knee. A four to six week rehabilitation period is necessary. The most severe is third-degree damage. A complete tear of the ligament has occurred with this injury. The knee has no stability and there is no pain because nerve damage also usually exists. A third-degree injury has a rehabilitation period of anywhere from six weeks to nine months. Only with a third-degree tear is surgery necessary to repair the damage.

priculum would be its heart. As you OF SCHOOL

If the school were a body, then the curriculum would be its heart. As you know it, our curriculum is made up of wide variety of programs and courses that we offer through our various departments. These offerings are described in our Education Planning, Handbook that we publish annually as you may know. However, this booklet and its descriptions represent only one dimension of our curriculum is, "all of the experiences which are offered to learners under the direction of the school." Our curriculum pumps the fluids of life into every event, activity, and classroom at Wayne High School.

Under this fuller definition, we answer the questions:

1. What is it that we want students to know and be able to do as a result of their experience at Wayne High School?

2. How will we structure and pre-

School?

2. How will we structure and pre-sent-the appropriate experiences so-that students can learn this

Thus students who are involved with our athletic teams, co-curricular clubs, students government, foreign language exchanges, plays, concerts, etc. etc. are as much involved with our curriculum as they are when they are in a more structured setting like a classroom.

Let me boast about the extent that our curriculum reaches our students.

Every student must take a minimum of six classes and this includes our seniors.

Every student must take a minimum of six classes and this includes our seniors.
40% of our students are members of an aithletic team.
58% of our students are involved in at least one activity, that extends beyond the regular school day.
I COULD GO ON.
Knowing about the curriculum is not enough. Our curriculum like any heart needs to be exercises. To keep ourselves fit and healthy, we need the freshness that comes with your involvement and support.
If you have any questions, ideas, comments, or suggestions about our curriculum, DON'T KEEP THEM TO YOURSELE. Take, the time to communicate them to us. If helps us to "keep in the pink."

IVERMECTIN FOR SWINE

Ivermectin is an injectible parasiticide for swine. The trade name is Ivomec Swine Formulation.

Ivomec is effective against mange, lice, round worms and lung worms.

These are 4 of the 6 major parasites that infect Nebraska pigs. Ivomec has a much lower efficacy against whipworms, the fifth major parasite in Nebraska and no efficacy at all against coccidiosis.

A Nebraska pork producer has several options in the use of Ivomec. Consultation with the local practicing veterinarian is recommended as the species of parasite on individual farms and management practices differ widely.

Pork producers should be cautioned against relying on this new produce to eradicate all parasite problems in their swine herds, particularly whipworms. In fact all the worms lay eggs that are waiting to re-infect pigs after the 14-day activity of Ivomec has worn off. In some cases, especially with dirt lots, multiple injections of flyomec would be required to control worms on a continuous basis because of massive re-infestation.

To eradicate mange and lice from a herd: Plan A: 1. Use the swine formulation of ivermectin. The withdrawal time in and adults. Rub the skin with the thumb when the needle has been withdrawn. This is to avoid leakage at the site of injection.

2. Inject all swine on the farm on the same day. The best time for successful eradiction would be during the hot, dry weather of July or August.

5. The eradication program will fail if a single animal is not treated.

6. All new swine brought to the farm should be injected on arrival and well isolated in a separate building or pen for 21 days before any contact with the rest of the herd is allowed. New untreated animals are the greatest source of rest or the net or a moved.

7. Increased rubbing and scratching should be anticipated a few days after the infested animals are injected. This is due to the breakdown of dead mites the infested animals are injected. This is due to the breakdown or dead mines and is Transitory.

Plan B. 1. Treat sows 2 to 3 weeks before farrowing - keep them away from other swine not treated.

2. After weaning, the pigs are moved to an isolated building or pen and grown out as mange and lice free.

3. If freated animals are kept away from untreated animals it would be possible to eventually eradicate mange and lice. Plan A is probably the plan of choice.

3. Inject subcutaneously, using a dosage of 1 ml. per 72 pounds of body
