WEA rejects school board's final offer

Teacher negotiations reach impasse

By Chuck Hackenmiller

Wayne-Carroll's Board of Education has unanimously declared an impasse on teacher's salary negotiations for the 1987-88 school year.

Chairman of the school board's negotiation committee, board member Sid Hillier, said Tuesday night the Wayne Education Association (consisting of 62 members) has rejected the final offer of the school board.

Other members on the school board's negotiation committee are Becky Keidel, school board president, and Neil Sandahl.

Representatives of the Wayne Education Association (affiliated with the Nebraska State Education Association) include Duane Blomkamp, Faunell Bennett and Mike Mallette.

Hillier said the board offered $14,300 as a base salary, an increase of nearly 4.3 percent over the previous base salary of $13,700.

This is the first time that the teacher negotiations have gone past the fact-finding stage and into the hands of the Court of Industrial Relations, according to Superintendent Francis Haun.

In previous fact-finding stages, the board and the teacher representation would each select their own fact-finder and then both would come up with a third party.

Now, the fact-finder is appointed by the Court of Industrial Relations, according to Haun. The court provides seven names and the board and teachers representation alternately cross out the choices provided to them until one remains who becomes the official fact-finder.

AN AGREEMENT could come following the fact-finding session. However, if there still remains an impasse, then it is up to the Court of Industrial Relations to decide on a binding agreement in settling the negotiations.

Kelly Baker, an attorney from Nelson and Harding in Lincoln, was approved Tuesday evening by the board of education members as their legal counsel in the upcoming negotiations.

Negotiations on teachers salaries began in March of this year, Haun mentioned.

Blomkamp said Wayne Education Association's goal in negotiations for 1987-88 was primarily to obtain a salary that was comparable to schools of similar academic excellence, community size and where there was also a college in the community.

Wayne Education Association's last offer was a two-year package requesting base salaries of $14,500 and $14,100 during the two years.

DURING THE last two years, Blomkamp said the settlements were not that great — a 2.2 percent increase two years ago and a 1.6 percent increase last year.

"We feel our staff deserves a comparable salary. We're not asking for top salary. That's what the court will settle," mentioned Blomkamp. He said the Wayne Education Association wanted to negotiate "comparability" while the board of education negotiated on "the dollar figures that they felt they could afford."

"Negotiations were close at times, but we reached an area where either side could go any different than where they were," he added.

He said Wayne-Carroll, at one time, ranked first in the state in average salary. Now, out of 270 schools, that figure has dropped to 40th place.

"The meetings [with negotiation teams] was amiable. We just had different views on final dollars," Blomkamp remarked.

Also Tuesday evening, the board of education heard recommendations from Athletic Task Force Subcommittee member Danna Liska concerning Wayne-Carroll's athletic programs.

The recommendations, as presented are:

- The athletic task force subcommittee be placed on "on-call" status as a standing subcommittee.
- Begin an athletic trainer program with Wayne State College (having the trainer program students at Wayne State involved in a program at the Wayne-Carroll schools).
- Develop a larger training room by remodeling or relocating in another existing facility. One problem which currently exists is that larger

Tompkins home featured in Sunday historical tour

By LaVon Anderson
Assistant Editor

The fancy hardware and stained glass windows are perhaps two of the most unique features of the Rod and Loreta Tompkins home.

The Tompkins residence at 420 Douglas St. is one of three homes to be featured Sunday, Oct. 18 during Home Tours '87, sponsored by the Wayne County Historical Society and Confusable Collectables Questers Club.

TOUR PARTICIPANTS will enter the Tompkins home through double doors with stained glass windows. In to a reception hall with old-fashioned floral carpet leading up the open stairway to the second floor.

Located on the main floor are a family room, dining room-living room separated by pocket doors, a kitchen with a half bath and butler's pantry; and an enclosed back porch.

There is a desk alcove at the top of the open staircase leading to the second floor of the house. Rooms include a bath and four bedrooms, with a sun porch located off the master bedroom.

There also is a back stairs leading from the hired girl's back bedroom to the kitchen.

Among the many beautiful features of the Tompkins residence is the wraparound front porch decorated with a porch swing and white wicker furniture, with an array of colorful plants and flowers.

"We've really enjoyed the front porch," says Loreta, "especially on warm summer evenings."

TOMPKINS PURCHASED their home in 1978 and are the fifth owners.

The house was built by Frank Northrup in 1888. Northrup was Wayne's first city attorney and also served on the board of directors of the First National Bank.

That information was discovered by Loreta in an 1888 newspaper advertisement. In visiting with Wayne resident Helen Bressler, Loreta also has learned that Northrups were the parents of three children and moved from Wayne in 1908.

Mrs. Bressler also remembers visiting the Northrup residence with her mother to purchase milk.

In 1908, the house was purchased by Clara and Woodward Jones. Mrs. Jones continued to live there until her death in 1969 or 1970.

Owners since then have been Neil and Carol Edmonds, who purchased the home around 1971, and Dave and Diana Kincaid, who bought the house in 1977 and resided there about nine months.

ROD AND LORETA purchased the home in the spring of 1978 when they moved to Wayne to begin Heritage Homes, Inc., of which Rod serves as president.

Loreta is a native of Wayne and the former Loreta Damme, daughter of Val and Bernice Damme. Rod is a native of South Sioux City.

The Tompkins family includes three children. Son Dana resides in Austin, Texas. Daughter Jill is a junior majoring in architecture at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, and son Nathan is a ninth grader at Wayne-Carroll High School.

"ROD AND I HAD never lived in an old house before," says Loreta, "and we thought this house was really unique."

Loreta points out that the house wasn't abused by previous owners. As a result, there has been no major LONISE BIAS spoke to about 700 people who attended the presentation at Ramsey Theatre Monday afternoon.

Bias didn't come to eulogize

By Gregg Dahlheim
Sports Editor

"Len Bias has done more in death for this great nation than he could have ever done in life."

Those were the words of Lonise Bias on the death of her son, college all-American, Len Bias. Bias died June 18, 1986 of cocaine intoxication, three days after being the second player selected in the NBA college draft.

Mrs. Bias spoke to a crowd of about 700 at Ramsey Theatre on the campus of Wayne State College Monday afternoon. The presentation was in conjunction with Alcohol Awareness Month and the collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week.

Mrs. Bias, a born-again believer, focused most of her speech on the youth of the audience, which included college students and high school students from Wisner, Wakefield, Laurel, Norfolk, Tekamah-Herman.

The Landover, Md. mother of four said it is important to listen to the young people. She said parents should be open to their ideas.

Mrs. Bias, who at times preached to the crowd, said she didn't come to eulogize her son. She said she believed that she would again meet up with her son and "never have to say goodbye again." Bias said people don't know the time or how they will die. But she said what you have control over is the time in between the time you born and the time you die — your life.

Mrs. Bias said young people have to like themselves, be satisfied with their life. Kids have to march to their own beat.

"Anyone can go along with the crowd," Bias said, "but who will dare to be different?"

Dignity is the highest thing a man has, according to Bias.

"If you don't have your dignity somebody didn't take it from you. You gave it to them," she said.

She said life has been tough on her three children. But she added, "That's life."

Her son, Jay, has been through a lot of pain, she said. Jay, a 17-year old senior in high school, is three-times the basketball player Len Bias was when he was in high school. Mrs. Bias said, "He has encountered so many problems since his brother's death. Rude jokes and confrontations with opponents on the basketball court. Mrs. Bias said her son could have quit, but he didn't. He is getting on, along with his life."

Mrs. Bias closed by saying people have to say no to anything that is

Street assessment delayed

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

A resolution establishing assessments for a street improvement project completed in Wayne was put on hold following a public hearing Tuesday night before the city council, also serving as the city's board of equalization.

The public hearing before the board of equalization concerned the assessment of frontage property on a street improvement district completed several years ago south of Villa Wayne which goes east approximately three-quarters of a block. It extends to the city's waste water treatment plant and provides an access drive to the Jaycee Softball Complex.

During Tuesday's hearing, Clete Sharer of Wayne, representing the Villa Wayne board, said Villa Wayne's share of the special assessment was "either exorbitant or unnecessary."

Villa Wayne shares the cost of the assessment at $7,022.40. "We don't have the $7,000... although we may gain more than anyone else," Sharer said.

"Since we are the largest contributor (to the special assessments), we question if the need is there. We don't think we need it," he mentioned. The street improvement, he said, in addition to serving the city, also serves one other taxpayer, plus the road has become an access to the softball complex which is used by many, he said.

SHARER SAID there is an agreement between the city of Wayne and Villa Wayne, at the time of the creation of Villa Wayne, that the board pays the city an amount in-lieu-of-tax for relief of taxes, which could also affect Villa Wayne's share of special assessment.

City Attorney Kem Swarts said that special assessments can still be charged to those paying in-lieu-of-tax, particularly on special projects that benefit property located next to it. He said the amount is assessed over a period of 15 years, with the interest rate established at 9 1/2 percent.

Swarts said Villa Wayne had an opportunity to object to the street improvement project when the street improvement district was first established in 1984. If 50 percent or more of those property owners who had equal footage involved in the improvement project had objected to the establishment of the street improvement district, then the district would not have been approved.

Sharer said the Villa Wayne board had not received proper notification of the hearing. Swarts said that Villa Wayne had received sufficient information on the hearing because the procedure had followed legal requirements.

The board of equalization extended the public hearing to review the original agreement signed by the city of Wayne and Villa Wayne concerning the in-lieu-of-tax arrangement.

Also on Tuesday, the city council went into executive session for the purpose of discussing personnel matters. The Wayne Herald learned late Wednesday morning (before press time) that the purpose of the closed session was to discuss the wage package of full-time city employees.

The Wayne Herald will have a follow-up to this development in Monday's edition.

In other matters, the city council: Discussed a non-agenda item concerning skateboarding in the city of Wayne. An area to be designated as a place for skateboarding was discussed. Wayne City Police Chief Vern Fairchild said that the police department has been trying to chase off the skateboarders from the city streets and designated sidewalks where skateboarding is illegal, primarily for the protection of the skateboarder and for pedestrians as well.

"The city would be faced with a liability problem. Streets are not the place for them," Fairchild mentioned.

The same risk would be incurred by sled riding on streets in Wayne, according to some council members. No decision by the council was made on the skateboarding issue, but it will be discussed at a future regular meeting as an agenda item.

The Golden Years

by Gil Haase

When Russian author Leo Tolstoy was given his first bicycle at the age of 67, he immediately set about learning to ride it. His response to critics who said he was "too old" was, "I feel that I am entitled to my share of lightheartedness and there is nothing wrong with enjoying oneself simply, like a boy."

At a time when society often tends to paint all seniors with the same brush, Dr. Ruth Weg of the University of Southern California likes to emphasize that there are differences among older people. "The older we become," she wrote, "the more different we are from one another. With increasing age, each person is more uniquely expressive of the interplay between his or her hereditary characteristics and his or her environment. Older men and women cannot be regarded as homogenous, grown-up versions of children."

Grandstand Gab

by Gregg Dahlheim

Something kind of hit me funny as I sat and listened to Lonise Bias speak to a crowd of about 700 people in Ramsey Theatre Monday afternoon.

This deeply religious woman was actually making money off of her son's death. Len Bias died of cocaine intoxication three days after being drafted by the Boston Celtics in the first round of the NBA draft.

When I confronted her with this question she said that didn't bother her. She said she provided a service for other people. People that listened to her talk, which at times reminded me of a southern revival meeting, were taking her message with them, she said.

I'm not condemning her, because she truly believes what she is saying. But it just seems like a strange way to make a better than average living. Just scratching out the numbers, if she makes 200 speaking engagements a year, she would haul in about $100,000 for her efforts.

I recorded another 4-1 week as Winside let me down as the Wildcats dropped an overtime decision to NewCastle. This week Winside will have a chance at Wynot. Wynot enters with a 2-3 mark while Winside is 2-4. I'll give the nod to the Blue Devils because of the home-field advantage; it doesn't look good for Wayne as the Blue Devils travel to Battle Creek. The top-rated Braves will win going away; Allen will be in a close one against Winnebago. But the Indians will win — barely; Wakefield will win its first game on the road at Walhill; Laurel will keep its playoff hopes alive with a squeaker over Neligh.

I guess I was a little off on last week's win over the Jayhawks. My prediction would have been pretty close if the Huskers wouldn't had to settle for the two field goals. But that's life. This week I'm scared. Okie State hasn't beaten Nebraska for 25 years and they know it. The Cornhuskers will be playing a good Cowboy football team but the defense may be a little weak. The defensive front line for Coach Pat Jones is small and the constant beating the NU offensive front provides will wear the Cowboys out by the fourth quarter. The Cornhuskers will go 6-0, 4-0 on the tube, with a 38-24 win.

Late touchdowns doom Cats

I think Yogi Berra had the Wayne State-Ft. Hays State game in mind when he said "it ain't over till it's over."

The Fighting Tigers scored 13 points in 27 seconds late in the fourth quarter to take a 29-24 homecoming win.

It appeared the Cats were on their way to their first win of the season with about three minutes to play.

Wayne State clung to a 24-16 lead when Tony Wiese dropped back to punt. He was punting for Mark Priegnitz who was ejected from the game in the second quarter when he and a Ft. Hays player mixed it up on an extra-point attempt. The Hays player hit Wiese late and Priegnitz retaliated.

The snap to the Dodge punter was good but he couldn't come up with the ball. By the time he did he had to run for the first down. He was stopped short at the Wayne State 20-yard line.

From there it took the Tigers five plays before Tyrone Tracy scored from the 1-yard line to make the score 24-22 with 1:24 left in the game. Hays elected to go for two to tie the game. Quarterback Craig Moddemog was stopped short and the Cats still led.

All 6,012 people in attendance knew what was next — the onside kick. Wayne State Coach Pete Chapman had all of his sure-handed people in the front line but Tiger kicker Tom Odle pulled off the short kick and the Tigers were in business at the Wildcat 40-yard line. Moddemog completed his first pass to Tracy for a seven-yard gain. On second and three he went deep and found Dean Tenbrink in the end zone for the winning touchdown. Odle made the PAT and the Tigers led 29-24 with 57 seconds remaining.

Wayne State got the ball back at the 26-yard line. The Cats moved to the 48 before time ran out.

Chapman said he didn't know how his young team would bounce back after such a defeat.

"We told them it would be the hardest thing they would have to do all year," Chapman said. "It can crush a team. It will take some kind of person to bounce back next week."

In the early going it looked like Hays would run away with the game. The Tigers scored the first two times they had the ball on a 26-yard field goal by Steve Schroeder and a two-yard burst by running back Tim Winter. That is the way the first period ended.

The Cats started a drive at their own 20 near the end of the first quarter. The drive ended 11 plays later when Wiese hit a 27-yard field goal with 14:08 left in the half. The big play in the drive was a 34-yard run by Damon Ross which took the ball to the Tiger 12-yard line.

Ft. Hays looked to take a 17-3 lead when they drove the ball down to the 6-yard line before Moddemog turned the ball over to the Cats on a fumble.

Mark Volf's fourth interception of the season set up the Cats' tying touchdown. The Aurora junior picked off a Moddemog pass as the WSC 6-yard line and returned it back to the Wayne State 46.

A pair of 11-yard receptions by Brian Jepsen and a 15-yard penalty on the Tigers moved the ball to the FHS 10-yard line. On second and three at the 10, Scott Raue hit Daryl Mountain for a touchdown. Wiese's PAT made it 10-10 with 10 seconds left in the opening half.

The Cats' momentum carried over into the third quarter. The locals took their first lead of the game with 8:41 left in the third quarter. Five plays after Volf took a Hays punt on the Tiger 35-yard line, Raue hit Darrin Fulford with a 24-yard scoring strike. Wiese hit the PAT to give Wayne State a seven-point lead.

The hosts came right back when Moddemog connected with Tracy for a 36-yard touchdown pass. The drive covered 70 yards on six plays. Schroeder's extra-point attempt failed and the Cats led 17-16 with 7:04 left in the third quarter.

On the next possession the Cats took their biggest lead at 24-16 when Ross scored from one-yard out with 3:34 left in third. Wiese added the point after. A 44-yard completion from Raue to Jepsen was the big play in the drive. That was the last time the Cats would score.

Ft. Hays, 2-4, outgained Wayne State 459 yards to 298. The Tigers got 307 yards through the air and another 114 yards on the ground. Moddemog finished the game 22-34 for 314 yards. The freshman tossed two scoring strikes while throwing one interception.

Wayne State, who dropped to 0-5-1, offered a balanced attack. The Cats gained 157 yards passing and 141 yards on the ground. Raue completed 12-33 passes, including two TD passes. Brian Jepsen had seven receptions for 101 yards. The Sioux City sophomore has made 17 catches for 178 yards in the last two games.

Ross also turned in his best day of his career. The Omaha freshman, playing with bruised ribs, rushed for 150 yards on 26 carries. Ross' longest carry of the day netted 34 yards.

A couple of defensive backs led Coach Dennis Danielson's defense. Freshman Bud Sachs had a busy day recording 11 solo and 11 assists. Volf, the Cats' free safety, was in on 11 solo stops and eight assists. He also came up with his fourth interception.

Chapman said even though it was a tough loss, it was a good experience for his team.

JV's end year with 32-0 romp of W.P.

The Wayne junior varsity ended its season on a happy note as they shutout West Point Monday afternoon 32-0.

The Blue Devils upped their record to 3-2 and ended the year with a three-game winning streak.

Wayne Coach Ron Carnes said he thought revenge played a big part in the win. The Wayne varsity was beaten by West Point 66-0 Sept. 25 at West Point.

"Revenge was a major factor," Carnes said. "The kids were embarrassed at West Point."

Wayne jumped to a 20-0 lead at halftime. The locals scored the first two times they had the ball after recovering a pair of Cadet fumbles. Chad Davis got the first of his two touchdowns on Wayne's opening possession on a four-yard run. The next time Wayne got the ball Davis scored again from two yards out. Kip Mau added the PAT on each of the two TD's. Wayne took a 20-0 lead in the second period when Willy Gross scored from 23 yards out. The extra point failed.

Wayne closed out its scoring in the fourth quarter. Kevin Hausmann scored when quarterback Greg Schmidt hit the junior with a 16-yard scoring strike. The score went to 32-0 on a two-yard run by Brian Moore.

The Blue Devils also turned in an outstanding defensive game. Coach Don Koenig's defense was led by Jason Cole, Chris Luft and Mau. The three were credited with 10 tackles apiece. The Wayne defense also forced four West Point turnovers. Gross picked off a pass and returned it 32 yards and Jarrod Wood, Jeff Luft and Daryl Lindsay each recovered fumbles.

Locals dumped by top-rated Cedar Hartington Cedar Catholic proved that it's the best team in Class B Tuesday night as they dumped Wayne in straight sets 15-4, 15-10.

Wayne Coach Marlene Uhing said Cedar Catholic has a solid team but she said the Lady Blue Devils didn't give the visitors their best shot.

"I hope the kids learned something from the match," Uhing said. "They always make it bigger than any other match and that only puts pressure on themselves."

Uhing said Sarah Peterson, Robin Luft and Karmyn Koenig played hard and aggressive but it wasn't a total team effort. Julie Wessel also did a good job coming off the bench for Uhing. Wayne didn't start playing to its capabilities until late in the second set. By that time it was too late. After dropping the first game, the locals trailed 11-2 in the second set before they got back into the game.

The Wayne coach said the Lady Blue Devils took themselves out of the game from the start. Cedar Catholic scored 12 of its 30 points on ace serves.

"We were worried about how we were going to play," Uhing said. "We played their rating not them."

Wayne hit only 83 percent of its serves. Peterson and Dana Nelson led the way as each girl scored four points while going 7-7 at the line. The locals were 29-40 in the spiking department. Peterson once again led the hosts hitting 7-12 with three aces. Luft contributed 5-7 with a pair of kills. Marnie Bruggeman was 26-28 setting the ball with seven assists.

Cedar Catholic's Brenda Becker caused some problems for Wayne. Uhing said the senior hitter is one of the top players in the state. She makes the rest of the Lady Trojans better just by being on the court, the Wayne coach said.

The Wayne junior varsity and C squad also lost to the Lady Trojans. The JV's pushed the guests to three sets before losing 9-15, 15-11, 4-15. Teresa Ellis was the top scorer with seven points. The C team lost in straight sets 9-15, 8-15. Rachel Haase was credited with five points.

The loss dropped Wayne, 9-8, to 1-1 in the Northern Activities Conference. The Lady Blue Devils last conference game is Oct. 27 at home against South Sioux City.

Prior to that the locals will play in the NAC Tournament set for Oct. 22 at Hartington. Cedar Catholic, 13-0, will go in as the top seeded team. The hosts will play O'Neill in the first round while Wayne and South Sioux meet in the other opening round game. The tournament will begin at 5 p.m. with the championship match set for 8 p.m.

Laurel loses for 9th time

There wasn't much good news from Laurel Tuesday night as the Lady Bears were beaten in a pair of games by Pierce, 15-4, 15-2.

Laurel Coach Carol Manganaro said it was obvious that her team didn't play well. She said the Lady Bears just couldn't get anything going. Laurel was still without the services of junior setter Kim Mathiason. She has missed the last couple of matches with a foot injury.

Amy Adkins turned in the best performance for the hosts. The sophomore was 3-3 serving the ball and 4-4 in spikes. The duo of Amy Newton and Deb Roeder went 10-13 in setting.

The Laurel JV's lost to Pierce in three sets 6-15, 15-10, 11-15. Deb Roeder and Marcy Strawn were the leading scorers with nine and eight point respectively. Sherri McCorkindale was the top spiker hitting 6-7 with three kills. Shana Carstensen was 5-5 spiking the ball and 34-36 passing. The hosts also lost the C match by scores of 9-11, 1-11. Sheila Bose tallied four points for the losers.

Laurel, 1-9, will host Coleridge Tuesday night. The last home match of the season will also be parents' night.

Two area girls have been named to the 1987-88 cheerleading squad at Wayne State College.

Eunice Wacker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wacker of Wayne, is a freshman at Wayne State. She is majoring in criminal justice.

Amy Morris is the daughter of Robert Morris of Laurel. Amy is in her second year as a Wayne State cheerleader. She is majoring in human service counseling.

Other members of this year's squad are Jill Hancock of Fremont, Julie Jarman of Sioux City, Sherry Kramper of Dakota City, Kris Prosski of Omaha, Stacy Strawn of Garretson, S.D. and Jayne Wells of Rock Rapids, Iowa.

The squad attended the National Cheerleaders Association summer camp. The group will cheer at all home football and men's basketball games as well as acting as goodwill hostesses for the athletic department.

MARILYN OLSON, a top womens tennis player in Lincoln, and Henry Cox, a tennis pro at Woods Park Tennis in Lincoln, helped carry out Wayne-Carroll's United States Tennis Association School Curriculum Development program last Monday, teaching Wayne students and faculty some of the fundamentals of tennis. As participants in the program, Wayne-Carroll gains tennis rackets and "an opportunity to gain some excitement about the game of tennis." The program is a comprehensive effort to help high school systems offer tennis to students in the 4th through 8th grade levels.

Locals lose to Hartington teams

Hartington Holy Trinity came away with a pair of wins over Wayne in 7th and 8th grade volleyball action Oct. 8.

The Wayne 7th graders lost a tough three-set decision 11-15, 15-13, 10-15. In the second game the 8th grade locals lost in two sets by scores of 13-15, 2-15.

Grid contest

Mylet Bargholz of rural Wakefield was the winner of The Wayne Herald football contest this past week. She and Hilbert Johs, who finished second, each missed three games. Both were also over the tiebreaker question, total yards of Nebraska-Kansas game, but Bargholz was closer.

Wayne State women improve to 13-7

The Wayne State Lady Wildcats went on the road over the weekend winning one and losing one before returning home.

The Lady Cats traveled to Yankton, S.D. Friday for a match against the Lady Lancers of Mount Marty. Wayne State had beaten Mount Marty twice this season but this time was different as the hosts won in four sets 15-2, 4-15, 15-6, 16-14.

The match was played in a very small gym with a tile floor and a low ceiling. The match was supposed to be played in a new facility but it hasn't been completed. The playing conditions heavily favored the Lady Lancers. Twenty-six of Mount Marty's 49 points came after WSC passes hit the ceiling. Coach Marilyn Strate said there was nothing she could tell her team.

The Lady Cats had a lot of miles to cover before their match against Chadron State late Saturday afternoon.

The change in scenery did the locals good. They took the Lady Eagles in straight sets 15-7, 15-5. The victory was important. It gave the Lady Cats a 1-2 mark in the NAC as they fight for a good draw in the NAC playoffs Oct. 30-31 at Chadron State.

Shelle Lau was the top Wayne State hitter in the last 10 games. The Omaha senior has 39 kills in 76 attempts for 46 percent. Strate said anything over 40 percent is exceptional. Meg Hurlley has been the top blocker with 15 and Bev Moeller has 53 assists during that stretch. Amber Maeske is 52-52 serving the ball and Diane Hanus is 40-47 passing in the last 10 games.

Tuesday night Wayne State hosted Dordt College. The match was the Lady Cats last home match of the year; it was also parent's night at Rice Auditorium.

It wasn't a pleasant home finale for the Lady Cats as the Defenders downed the locals in four sets 15-10, 15-4, 9-15, 16-14.

The loss dropped Wayne State to 13-8. The Lady Cats will travel to Omaha tonight (Thursday) for an important NAC match against the College of St. Mary.

Lady Eagles clinch tie with win over Newcastle

The Allen Lady Eagles clinched a tie for the Lewis Division regular-season championship Tuesday night with an easy two-set win over Newcastle.

Allen, 9-3, fell behind 4-0 in the first set but rallied big to win 15-6, 15-8. The loss dropped the Lady Raiders to 5-7. A win over Homer next Tuesday would give the Lady Eagles the outright division title.

Coach Gary Troth said his team had fun in the match. In the second game the Lady Eagles installed some fake spikes and short sets into their offense. Troth said he wants to improve on those things so they can be a part of his regular offense.

Allen did everything well against the Lady Raiders. The hosts hit 36-40 serves and were 32-35 spiking the ball. Amy Noe and Lisa Boyle were Troth's top servers. They each hit 10-11 serves and scored six points. Missy Martinson added five points. Boyle and Candace Jones were the top hitters. Jones was 9-9 with four aces and Boyle also finished perfect in nine attempts. Martinson was among the leaders hitting 8-10 spikes with three kills. Noe and Angie Jones continued their consistent setting as they combined to get 27-27.

Troth said his team has to improve in serve reception as it gets ready for post-season tournaments.

Allen opened the night with the junior varsity dropping a 15-10, 15-9 decision to Newcastle. The Allen C squad put an end to the night with a three-set win over the Lady Raiders, 11-3, 3-11, 11-6.

Allen will host 4-6 Winside in a Lewis and Clark Conference match tonight (Thursday). The JV match will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Knights of Columbus Council 8579 of Wayne has earned the distinction of Star Council, the organization's top award, for the 1986-87 fraternal year as determined by the international headquarters located in New Haven, Conn.

The award recognizes overall excellence in the areas of membership recruitment, successful promotion of the fraternal insurance program, and sponsorship of activities that serve families, youth, church and community, as well as council members.

The award was presented to the membership by District 11 Director Bob Giese of South Sioux City during a special ceremony held Oct. 5.

IN ANNOUNCING the winner of the Star Council award, Virgil Dechant, president of the international organization, cited the dedication shown by the officers and members to the principles and aims of the Order.

Dechant asked that the award be a reminder and an inspiration to members of the council to continue to promote the ideals of Columbianism for the good of the church, community and Order.

THE KNIGHTS of Columbus is a Catholic, family, fraternal, service organization with 1.4 million dues-paying members and more than 9,000 councils worldwide.

TIM CONNEALY and Gene Dunklau shake hands on fund raising agreement.

Peoples lends assistance in fund raising efforts

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

Peoples Natural Gas is cooperating with Goldenrod Hills Community Action Agency, headquartered in Wisner, in a project designed to provide assistance to the elderly or handicapped individuals in paying their home heating bills.

Peoples customers will be given the opportunity, as they pay their own bill for October, to help in defraying home heating costs this winter for low income people in need of financial assistance who are finding their heating bill unaffordable.

On the October billing will be this message: "Goldenrod Hills, our local community action agency, is raising money to assist low-income families, particularly the elderly and handicapped. One of the greatest needs this time of year is money for winter heating bills.

"If you would like to help, simply add an extra amount to your gas bill payment and note the amount on the return part of your bill. Donations will be forwarded to Goldenrod Hills for distribution."

The fund raising effort is tied in to a $25,000 Hands Across America for the Homeless and Hungry Grant which Goldenrod Hills received in January, according to Gene Dunklau of Wayne. Purpose of the grant was to help find the homeless homes, a job or provide education so that the person can be self-sufficient.

The referral list of homeless families came from social services, the police department and other agencies.

NINETEEN FAMILIES from Goldenrod Hills' 12 county area have benefited from the grant money. Rent and utility payments had been paid for the families. However, Goldenrod Hills "is required to do fund raising to carry out the program," according to Dunklau.

Wayne Peoples Natural Gas company manager Tim Connealy emphasized that the volunteer donations collected will not be distributed by the Peoples firm. "Goldenrod Hills will determine where it goes," Connealy mentioned.

Dunklau said the idea, associating the fund raiser with the gas company, stemmed from a practice currently being carried out by the Omaha Metropolitan Utilities District, where people can add a dollar to their bill "to pay a utility bill for an older person."

The fund raising effort will also be conducted with Peoples firms in the Emerson, Wakefield and Bancroft district.

Connealy said the donation requests will be only on the October bills, for now. "At this point, we'll try it once and see what happens — to see if it is successful or not successful. We might do it again in a couple of months," Connealy mentioned.

Wayne Area Merchants!

Put Your Business In The Spotlight!

By Featuring Its Operation In The
WAYNE HERALD'S Weekly

BUSINESS FOCUS

Take advantage of the BUSINESS FOCUS' soft-sell approach to promote your goals and services.

In addition to publicizing the offerings of your business in ad form, this program allows you to emphasize the very positive aspects of your operation on the entire top half of the newspaper page in news story and photo form. You may write your own article or our WAYNE HERALD editorial staff will assist you in the wording.

Already 18* local merchants have taken advantage of this unique opportunity. Here's what 3 of the participants say about the program:

"ELLINGSON MOTORS AND ELLINGSON E-Z SERVICE have found the Wayne Herald Business Focus as a positive way to show our outstanding line of automobiles and trucks, and to tell about the many services that we provide.

It was a good way for our business to let the public know what we have to offer in sales and services."

KUHN'S manager Rich Zrust believes his Business Focus message published in the July 19 edition of The Wayne Herald assisted in informing the community of merchandise and services available at Kuhn's.

"I feel the Wayne Herald's Business Focus is a very popular feature in the newspaper," said Zrust, "and the evidence is in the remarks we've heard from customers."

"Response has been good," said Brent Pedersen, owner of COUNTRY NURSERY following his Business Focus story which appeared in the Aug. 24th edition of The Wayne Herald.

Pedersen said since then Country Nursery has received several requests for landscaping and sales of nursery items.

Sign up now is underway for the next BUSINESS FOCUS rotation period involving a 4th set of 6 merchants. Deadline for reserving a spot in this rotation is TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 10 for the WAYNE HERALD issues of NOVEMBER 16, 23 and 30, DECEMBER 7, 14 and 21.

Contact HERALD staffers Patti Zrust or Gary Wright for further details, phone 375-2600.

*Merchants participating in the BUSINESS FOCUS to date include: 1) Ellingson Motors; 2) Kuhn's; 3) Stoltenberg Partners; 4) State National Insurance; 5) McBride-Wiltse Mortuary; 6) Dairy Queen/Brazier; 7) Country Nursery; 8) Complete Computer Systems; 9) Mines Jewelers; 10) Trio Travel; 11) Schumacher Funeral Home; 12) Sav-Mar Pharmacy; 13) Gay Theatre - Hollywood Video; 14) Sunnyhill Apartments; 15) Casey's General Store; 16) Pamela; 17) Office Connection; and 18) Edward D. Tickets available for tour

Area residents will have a unique opportunity to view several of Wayne's older homes and buildings during a historical tour on Sunday, Oct. 18, sponsored by the Wayne County Historical Society and Confusable Collectables Questers Club.

The tour, which runs from 1 to 5 p.m., includes the Jim and Virginia Remick home at 518 Lincoln St., the Ron and Jan Brown home at 210 Lincoln St., and the Rod and Loreta Tompkins home at 420 Douglas St.

The tour also will include the Wayne Presbyterian Church, the exterior of the Wayne County Courthouse, and the Wayne County Historical Museum, where participants will be served tea and cookies by members of the Questers Club.

A spokesman for the tour committee said participants may visit the sites in whichever order they choose between the hours of 1 and 5.

Tickets for the tour are $5 and may be purchased in Wayne at the First National and State National Banks, Griess Rexall, Sav-Mor Pharmacy and Wall to Wall Decorating. Tickets also may be purchased in Hoskins at the Commercial State Bank, in Winside at the Winside State Bank, in Carroll at Farmers State Bank, and in Wakefield at Wakefield Drug Store.

All proceeds from the tour will be used for improvements at the county museum.

Work which has been done by Loreta includes re-wallpapering every room in the house, except for the kitchen, in wallpaper reflecting the period in which the house was constructed.

The wallpaper in the family room, dining room and upstairs hall are reproductions of an 1880's wallpaper found in an Arkansas home.

Rod's interest in the house is reflected in the bookshelves and stereo cabinet he made, located downstairs, along with a combination dresser-bookshelf in his son's bedroom upstairs.

"Material was expensive in those days," points out Loreta, "and labor was cheap. I suppose they thought they would cut costs by not having solid oak doors."

AN ACTIVE MEMBER of the Wayne County Historical Society and Confusable Collectables Questers Club, a national organization for persons interested in antiques and historical preservation, Loreta says she has had great fun researching the history of her home.

In her research, Loreta has discovered that the house, including the fancy hardware, reflects the ideas of noted English architect Charles Eastlake.

Of the original 12 stained glass windows, nine are left and are all located downstairs, except for one on the upstairs landing.

"All of the stained glass windows are of the art nouveau style," says Loreta, "with graceful flowing lines rather than geometric lines."

The history of the house also is evident in the charred areas on the undermantle of the fireplace, caused by the prolonged use of chimney lamps.

AMONG THE MANY BEAUTIFUL features of the Rod and Loreta Tompkins home is the oak fireplace located on the first floor. Above, Loreta relaxes on the wraparound front porch.

- Have the high school graduates evaluate the school's athletic programs.
- Assist students in providing a variety of activities in which they have an interest.
- And provide a practice area for athletic squads.

Liska also provided a list for continuation of implemented recommendations which include:

- School continue to meet with the Wayne City Recreation Board to coordinate their respective programs.
- School continue the drug and alcohol abuse programs for students and parents.
- Continue the intramural program.
- Continue to add seats to the school football field.
- And continue to provide opportunity for athletic training for coaches and students.

THE BOARD took no action on the recommendations, but agreed to look at the proposals when it comes time to establish the school system's goals for future years.

Also Tuesday evening, the school board:

wrong, choose love. She left the stage to a standing ovation.

After the presentation Mrs. Bias was available for questions in the lower level of the student center.

She said she made her first public appearance speaking against drugs on the 700 Club, a week after her son's death. She has been on the road for a majority of the time ever since then.

"Whatever adverse circumstances you go through you can make it," she said. "You must make it, because I made it."

She said people tend to flinch when you mention God and spiritual things. But she said that is what has gotten her through it.

She said she still isn't convinced that her son took the drugs that killed him. She said cocaine was found in

The committee was first formed in 1978, when there had been a problem with a movie which was shown in the home economics department, according to Sandahl.

Represented on the committee would be one media representative, physician, nurse, lawyer, clergyman, guidance counselor, three lay citizens, three parents and possibly a librarian and someone associated with the health field from the school.

No individuals have been picked for the committee yet, according to Sandahl, which would be established to get a good cross-section from the community. One item which the committee would likely confront deals with the upcoming curriculum from the state concerning AIDS.

Individuals recommended to serve on the the Sensitive Issues Committee will be announced at the next regular meeting on Nov. 10.

- Received bids of $154 monthly ($1,848) annually from C&D G-Men and $392 monthly ($3,592 annually) from Mnsry for the collection of the school district's refuse.
- Approved the mileage rate recommended to correspond with the Internal Revenue Service of 22 1/2 cents.
- And approved the enrollment of foreign student Alejandro Arturo Cajica at Wayne-Carroll High School. His host family is Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Barner.

Cajica is from Mexico and enjoys basketball, soccer, football, volleyball, running and swimming.

- Also discussed a problem, brought up by Councilman Darrel Heier, concerning the vehicles parked on the terraces at Ellingson Motors and Arnies Ford-Mercury in Wayne which make the intersection sometimes blind for motorists. Media attention to the problem may eliminate the blind intersection problem, Heier mentioned.
- Was notified by Councilmember Sheryl Lindau about complaints concerning the way city crews had trimmed trees around utility wires in Wayne.

City Administrator Phil Kloster said he will stress to the crews to do a better job of rounding off the tree. "If we don't trim them, we could be exposed to a liability problem," he said.

FLEAS AROUND THE HOME

Fleas are among the most annoying pests known to humans. Adult fleas are primarily external parasites of cats and dogs but, in the absence of their preferred pets, will bite humans. Bites are painful and result in blood loss, irritation, itching and extreme discomfort. In addition, fleas, can carry disease organisms and serve as intermediate hosts for tapeworms that occasionally infest humans.

Flea bites most often occur on legs, particularly around the ankles. Some people react severely to bites, while others hardly notice them. Children under 10 years old are more sensitive to flea bites than are older persons. Flea bites usually cause a small hard, red, slightly raised, itching spot with a light-colored center.

Successful flea control requires simultaneous treatment of the infested pets, inside the home and in the lawn.

Treatment of pets: There are many brand name insecticides formulated as shampoos, aerosols, dips, dusts (powders), and flea collars for use on pets. Among these insecticides are Sevin, Vapona, Precor and Baygon.

Treatment in the home: Flea control starts with good sanitation and a thorough vacuuming. Vacuum rugs, carpets, upholstered furniture and pet resting areas.

Insecticides may also be used. Bear in mind, the effectiveness of the insecticide directly relates to the thoroughness of the application. Before using insecticides, always read, understand and follow all label instructions and precautions. Among brand names for inside use are: Sevin, Dursban, Precor and Baygon.

Treatment of outdoor areas: During the warm season, it may be advisable to apply insecticides to lawns or yards, under porches, in crawl spaces, garages, and outbuildings. These areas must also be kept free of animal manure and debris. Insecticides commonly available for outdoor use are: Sevin, Dursban, Diazinon and Malathion. Follow insecticide label directions and precautions.

SPRAY MUSK THISTLE NOW

This is an excellent time to spray musk thistle, which is probably the worst of all weed pests in Nebraska.

Research and field trials have shown that 2, 4-D works well against musk thistle, from now until freeze-up. The new plants — growing in "rosette" form close to the ground — will absorb this chemical, which will be translocated into the root system during winter and result in an effective kill.

The danger of 2,4-D damage to desirable plants nearby is reduced at this time of year. Unlike musk thistle, many of them have dropped their leaves after the first frost and they will absorb little, if any, spray that accidentally drifts onto them.

Bob Wesley of Payette, Idaho came Oct. 6 to visit his mother, Mrs. Irene Tunick, the Marvin Kleensangs and other area relatives.

It's Sunday evening again, and I'm having another glass of cider. The Big Farmer is watching the baseball game with a glazed look on his face. One can only tolerate so many innings of baseball in one day.

He and Dick finished picking apples and pears and now they are spread all over the basement. I have the dehydrator out, but can't figure when I'm going to get them all cored, peeled, and cut up.

I've only read half of the Sunday World Herald, had to snort at a description of a remodeling project in Omaha when the lady of the house says there are workmen around all day. Bet she doesn't feed them!

Remodeling the kitchen was an especially trying time. The stove and refrigerator were in the dining room, and we washed dishes in the bath tub.

The dishwasher that was new that summer has already conked out and we are finding again what a luxury it is. I cleaned up an entire weekend's worth of dishes tonight, and they are drying on towels all over the counters.

ON THE sports page, Mike Kelly

reports that Kansas' coach instructed his players to skip the handshakes after the game because his team "didn't deserve to mingle around the field after the game."

There have been some top-sided high school scores; causing me to wonder, too, how some of these teams could even be in the same conference.

But the kids showed up for practice every day, and came to the game, and participated. Therefore, they deserve our respect, and that of their coaches.

We lose sight of what the extra-curriculars are about, and what exactly it is we want athletics to accomplish.

I heard a speaker last week who described the "Nodia Cominical Syndrome" as something child psychologists are seeing: burned out, over-achieving children.

A friend told of a wrestling match between two ten year olds. When the boy who had lost, by two points, came to sit beside his mother, she announced "I'm so ashamed of you," and he burst into tears. It makes me cry, too.

ON A LIGHTER note, I also got the comics read. I enjoy Funky Winkerbean. Today's strip shows Funky taking a Biology test. The teacher says, "define cholesterol," and he answers, "a substance in the bloodstream that causes you to eat salads!"

A columnist for the Baltimore Sun reports he spent a few days at a beef cook-off in Sun Valley, Idaho, and tasted all kinds of beef recipes.

He fell for the barbecued type, big hunks of top round cooked on a spit over charcoal. In fact, he reports he had four helpings and found it great for his mental health.

"After the fourth helping," he writes, "I was stress-free. And stress, I have always believed, is the real killer."

I'll elaborate on that by adding that if really isn't a stressful event that harms, but our perception of the event.

In other words, "It's not what you eat, but what eats you!" One advantage of growing older has been that fewer events "eat" me. Most of the things I worry about will not alter the course of events on this planet one bit.

tee received 13 responses from the balloons that were released, all from Iowa.

These Drugs Can Cause Constipation

Although there are many causes of constipation, the lack of adequate fiber in the diet is probably the most common. Some constipation may result from taking certain medications. Drug-induced constipation can occur with both prescription and nonprescription medicines.

Aluminum-containing antacids are a major offender, especially among many older individuals. Manufacturers often add magnesium-type antacids to help minimize the constipating effects that can occur with aluminum.

Atropine-like drugs, which are often used to control spasms of the gastrointestinal tract, antidepressants, and medicines used for Parkinsonism can cause constipation by slowing the movement of the bowel. Narcotic pain relievers such as codeine and morphine can also cause a reduction in the normal movement of the intestine which results in constipation.

There are several approaches to coping with the constipation that occurs with medicines. Talk with your pharmacist or physician if you think your medicines may be causing problems.

FIRST FEDERAL LINCOLN

ROCK SOLID

Charles H. Thorne,
Chairman and Chief Executive Officer

L.F. Roschewski,
President and Chief Operating Officer

The directors, officers, and staff of First Federal Lincoln are pleased to report the highest earnings year in the 80-year history of the Association.

While high earnings are a source of great pride in any organization, as a financial institution, it is our $52 million reserve fund, substantially more than required by regulators, which is a source of particular pride. This reserve fund reflects First Federal's promise to offer our customers strength and stability. This reserve is in addition to each account's insurance by FS LIC.

Over the years our directors and management team have developed and executed a plan for slowed growth which has enabled First Federal to build capital and raise our net worth ratio. Our long-range goal is to expand, but using our "controlled growth" pattern, so that profits continue to increase reserves. This plan will allow us to provide additional security for our depositors.

First Federal also has a diversified investment portfolio, managed by our own investment professionals, which when combined with conservative operating strategies, contributes favorably to our earnings picture.

In the future, First Federal will continue to offer our customers high quality products and services along with the "Rock Solid" assurance that their investments are safe.

In addition, we will serve more communities, both across Nebraska and in neighboring states. Customers will also see many present locations expanded to offer more convenience through longer hours, drive-up windows and ATM's.

This message would not be complete without a "thank you" to our First Federal customers. You have shown your faith in us by allowing us to serve your financial needs—whether it was to finance a new home, choosing among our many savings and investment plans, seeking a loan for a specific purpose, or taking advantage of the many special services we offer to make management of your finances just a bit easier—it is our pleasure to serve you.
