Allen hosts storage facility meeting

By Chuck Hackenmiller

Managing Editor

Allen's Community Development Club recently hosted a presentation by Nebraska Department of Environmental Control representative Jim Neal who provided information on low-level radioactive waste and the storage facilities.

But the meeting, attended by about 30 individuals, was strictly informational, according to Dean Chase of Allen, president of the Community Development Club who is also sheriff of Dixon County.

There had been some speculation that Allen was in the running for the waste site.

However, Chase pointed out that guests are normally invited to speak at the club meetings. There had been a heavy interest in the issue of the low-level radioactive waste dump facility. "So we called to see if someone [from the Department of Environmental Control] could come up. The main reason was so that we could get some answers about the facility," he said.

"It would give people more information about what has been going on, and allow them to get as much information about this issue as possible," Chase said.

HE SAID THERE has been no interest expressed to him by the club members, following Neal's presentation, to submit an application to host the facility.

Neal, in a phone interview Monday, said the same presentation has been made to approximately 10 to 12 other locations throughout Nebraska. The presentation was also made to Bloomfield.

In the presentations, Neal said the Department of Environmental Control does not promote the low-level radioactive waste storage facility.

The Department of Environmental Control gives the communities an idea of the whole process involved in the selection of the site for the waste disposal facility; the type of design for the facility; some of the problems, particularly in the method of disposing of the waste; and changes in the federal rules and regulations.

Neal said the village of Allen has not contacted the Department of Environmental Control since the presentation was made last week.

A public meeting would likely be scheduled in Allen if interest was pursued in being a consideration for the low-level radioactive waste storage facility site, according to Neal.

Cattle appointed to state post

Wayne resident Kay Cattle has been appointed by Governor Kay Orr to serve on the State Interagency Coordinating Council.

The council is designed to advise and assist the State Department of Education in implementing services for handicapped children and their families.

Cattle, who received the appointment in October, is coordinator and teacher of pre-kindergarten services at Educational Service Unit One, headquartered in Wakefield. She has been employed with ESU 1 since 1976.

CATTLE SAID—the State Interagency Coordinating Council was formed to meet the requirements of a new federal law which mandates services to handicapped children and their families.

The new law requires states to provide services to handicapped children down to age three. Previous federal regulations only required states to provide services to handicapped children down to age five.

Cattle is quick to point out that Nebraska is one of the leading states in providing services to handicapped youngsters.

"Nebraska has been serving handicapped youngsters below age three since 1978," says Cattle, citing statistics from December 1986 which showed 486 birth to age three youngsters receiving special education services in the state.

Until the new federal law was passed Nebraska was among just seven states serving handicapped children below age three.

ALTHOUGH NEBRASKA has provided services to handicapped children below age three for nearly 10 years, Cattle said up until now the services were provided only through the State Department of Education and were geared to the handicapped child.

Because the new federal law now requires states to provide services to the entire family as well as the handicapped youngster, Cattle said one of the main goals of the council will be to coordinate services—among various state agencies, including the state departments of health and social services, as well as private agencies such as Head Start.

"THERE IS A wide range of services available to the handicapped child," said Cattle, "including evaluation, home-bound services, physical and occupational therapy.

"However," she added, "many times families need additional assistance such as financial aid or home health care and they need to be directed to the various agencies that can provide those services.

"Our goal is to be an informed council that can play an active role in increasing and coordinating services to children and their families through various state and private agencies."

IN ADDITION TO Cattle, the 20-member committee includes a state senator, physician, teachers, parents and various state agency representatives.

The committee, which will meet at least four times each year, held its first meeting last week in Lincoln to set goals.

"I think this is going to be a working committee," said Cattle, "and I feel very honored to be a member."

"Early intervention services are very important. It's a good cause and one I'm very much interested in."

Snow clearing policy reminders issued

By Chuck Hackenmiller

Managing Editor

The city of Wayne averages about 35 inches of snowfall annually.

Wayne city crews are responsible for snow removal and ice control on about 35 miles of streets and 12 miles of alleys, plus three cul-de-sac areas. They have nine on the crew who use eight units of equipment to remove the snow and ice.

So why is this mentioned? Because the city of Wayne snow clearing crews would like to remind people about the parking procedure on municipal streets during the winter months.

Here is what they would like residents to remember:

•If it becomes necessary, the city will declare a "snow emergency" based on current weather conditions or a forecast by the area weather bureau. Five hours after the declaration of a "snow emergency" has been announced, no car can be parked on any of the streets in Wayne. This will allow city crews to clean the streets the full width.

•Parking prohibition will go into effect automatically on any municipal street when there has been an accumulation of snow and ice of five inches or more, for at least an hour or more, for between 7 a.m. and 10 p.m. of any day.

Members of the police department and public works department have been authorized to remove vehicles from streets to the nearest garage or other places of safety when the vehicle violates the parking prohibition as stated in the written ordinance. That policy also extends to stalled vehicles if there is no effort to be removing it from the snow, sleet or ice-covered streets.

•Snow plow operators will not clear private drives. The snow that is placed in the driveways by the snow plows is the responsibility of the property owner to remove and snow from a private driveway may not be placed on a city street.

•And it is unlawful for property owners to allow snow, sleet, mud or ice to accumulate on any sidewalk abutting their lot. The sidewalks should be cleaned off within 24 hours after the storm.

Surveys and research in farm women study

The economic worth of farm women in Nebraska is the main subject of research being done by two Wayne State College professors.

Drs. Jean Karlen and Meenakshi Dalal of the Division of Social Sciences were awarded $1,000 each by the American Association of University Women Educational Foundation to study farm women across the state. The grant is the first of its kind awarded to Nebraska researchers.

The main objective of the study is to determine the worth of the farm woman, said Dalal. Usually a member of the labor force is paid, but though farm women work, have numerous responsibilities, and add to the economy, they are left out of the accounting, she said.

"The farm women are largely an invisible group of workers since they are not paid for their contribution on the farm and in the home," Dalal added.

Those women who have off-the-farm jobs are included in the research as well, because not all of their worth is figured into the economy.

Data for the research is being collected through a primary survey, with questionnaires sent out and returned. The entire state was covered by the survey.

Karlen and Dalal sent out 1,000 surveys to a list of randomly selected names given to them by the Nebraska Farmer magazine. A 50 percent return on the survey is expected. A follow-up postcard might be necessary if enough surveys are not returned, said Dalal, since the surveys were sent out during the harvesting season, the busiest time of the year for farmers.

ONCE THE surveys are returned, the data will be tabulated, entered into a computer and then placed on graphs. Types of questions asked included age, location, number of children, distance from urban area, what kinds of work is done on the farm, how often they work on the farm, what type of work the spouse does and whether either or both persons have an off-the-farm job.

Dr. Dalal, an economist, is looking for different things from the survey than is Dr. Karlen, a sociologist. Dalal is trying to quantify an economic worth of women's farm work. Information they would like to find out from the survey includes kinds of off-the-farm jobs, and what makes a farm wife take an extra job. "Many farm families need supplemental income and some farm women are willing to take a job, but are not close enough to a metropolitan area to make the endeavor pay off," said Dalal.

The two researchers sent out a pre-test of the survey in September to refine the final survey. Data should be compiled by January with a first report due out in June.

Results of the survey will be important to society's consciousness about women, said Dalal.

"In a capitalist society, everything is evaluated by monetary value. Women's equity is a central idea of the American Association of University Women Educational Foundation, and since we live in a conservative region, the survey will have a kind of exclusiveness," she said.

Crash survivor

Tony Noe, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Noe and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Noe, former Allen residents now residing in Melba, was a survivor of the ill-fated Denver-Boise, Idaho Flight No. 1713 which crashed on take-off Sunday afternoon, Nov. 15 at Denver's Stapleton Airport.

Tony, who attends college in Moscow, Idaho, had joined high school students and sponsors from Melba High School for the trip to Kansas City to attend the Future Farmers of America Convention. They were returning home when the accident happened. Several of the group from Melba were killed in the crash.

Tony had won a special award of the convention. His twin brothers had planned to attend the convention, but had cancelled because of a basketball commitment.

Warrants issued

The Saloon in Laurel and John Manganaro, proprietor of the Saloon, were served warrants Monday evening in regard to alleged gambling violations.

Warrants were issued as a result of alleged gambling violations under investigation by the Omaha Police Department. Members of the FBI, assisted by the Norfolk Highway Patrol, delivered the warrants to the business and to the proprietor's residence around 6:45 p.m. Monday.

Evidence of gambling was recovered, but there were no arrests made.

ALICE DIETZ SHOWS first graders at West Elementary School in Wayne some of the forest animals the Pilgrim Fathers may have encountered when they landed at Plymouth Rock in 1620.

First graders visit Mayflower, pilgrims

By LaVon Anderson
Assistant Editor

Alice Dietz of Norfolk may not have been aboard the Mayflower, however she and first graders of West Elementary School in Wayne spent an entertaining afternoon recently traveling back to a day in 1620 when the Pilgrim Fathers set foot on Plymouth Rock.

Dietz visited West Elementary School last Wednesday afternoon. Dressed in Pilgrim garb, she took the youngsters back in time and described what life must have been like for the 102 men, women and children who set sail for America from Plymouth, England in 1620.

IN ADDITION to introducing the youngsters to various individuals aboard the Mayflower, Dietz told about the hardships and friends they encountered upon reaching America.

"If not for the help of the Indians," pointed out Dietz, "the Pilgrims would have died the first year."

THE FIRST GRADERS were especially fascinated to meet and pet the forest animals Dietz brought along with her.

"There were lots of forest animals around when the Pilgrims landed," said Dietz, "and I'd like you to meet some of them."

"Now don't be too wild or rough with the animals," warned Dietz. "Remember they come from the forest, and as soon as I'm done today I'm going to return them to the forest."

One by one, from a sturdy cardboard box, Dietz brought out a rabbit, an opossum, a wolf, a fox, a bear, a squirrel and last, but not least, a skunk.

The stuffed animals were passed from youngster to youngster as they shared information about the Pilgrims and their new life in the colonies.

DIETZ, a former pre-school teacher for 17 years, travels throughout the Norfolk area presenting programs for children about various historical, legendary and fictional characters.

Each month, her program focuses on a different character, including Johnny Appleseed, Indians, Mary, mother of Jesus, Martha Washington, Mrs. Santa Claus, the Easter Bunny and Smokey the Bear.

Others on the All Area Football Team include: Wayne-Carroll — Chris Lutt, Joel Pedersen, Tom Baier, Eric Liska and Scott Pokett; Wakefield — Mike Nelson; Allen — Kent Chase and Jeff Green; Laurel — John Schutte, Scott Marquardt and Steve Schmitt; and Winside — Tim Jacobsen, Mace Kant, Max Kant and Steve Jorgensen.

150 lbs., So., Allen
Chase averaged 3.8 yards per carry this fall for the Allen Eagles, carrying 444 yards on 114 attempts. As quarterback, he was 57 of 122 in passing for a total of 494 yards. He accounted for four Eagle touchdowns running and three touchdowns passing.

He also returned two kick-offs for touchdowns during the season.

Uldrich's comments: "Kent really developed quickly the final half of the season. He had two 100-plus yard games against Winnebago and Hartington. He is going to be a threat as a big play man for us and he will also be a fine leader. Kent has a nice throwing arm and quick feet, and he works hard at all times."

Jeff Green

150 lbs., Sr., Allen
Green was on the receiving end of the Eagle offensive strategy. He hauled in 30 receptions for 279 yards, an average of 9.3 per catch, and had one touchdown reception.

Defensively, Green had 87 tackles, with three interceptions and four fumble recoveries.

Uldrich's comments: "Jeff is defensively one of our best hitters. He gave us some good 'sticks' on some of the better people we played on our schedule. His ability will be missed."

Randy Sherry

180 lbs., Sr., Laurel-Concord
Sherry was named to the first team of the NENAC All Conference selections. He led the Laurel Bears in tackles with 108 and is a solid choice on both offense and defense.

Hrabik's comments: "Randy is an excellent offensive guard and linebacker. Most of our yards on the ground this year came behind Randy. He punished people even when he was on offense."

Brad Prescott

175 lbs., Sr., Laurel-Concord
Prescott, also a first team selection to the NENAC All Conference, rushed for 849 yards this year, which amounted to a 5.0 average. He was second in tackles on the Bears' team with 63.

Hrabik's comments: "Most of Brad's rushing yards were tough up the middle. He was a very difficult runner to bring down. He also had two fumble recoveries and one interception."

Steve Schmitt

165 lbs., Sr., Laurel-Concord
Schmitt led the Bears in interceptions with three. He also gained 386 yards rushing, the second highest on the team.

Hrabik's comments: "Steve's main asset was his defensive play at safety. He ran the defense, making many touchdown-saving tackles."

Scott Marquardt

165 lbs., Sr., Laurel-Concord
Marquardt was named to the All Conference NENAC first team this fall. Although he missed two games, he still passed for 271 yards while running for 263 more.

Hrabik's comments: "Scott played most of the year with a fractured thumb. He is a three year starter and the kind of kid anyone would want to build a program around."

Tim Jacobsen

150 lbs., Jr., Winside
Jacobsen was considered one of the best throwing quarterbacks in the area. The Lewis and Clark West 8-Man Football All Conference player passed 188 times, completed 71 for a total of 858 yards and 14 touchdowns.

Rushing, Jacobsen carried the football 125 times for 247 yards and five touchdowns. He accounted for 1,105 yards of total offense for the Wildcats. As a defensive back, Jacobsen had 65 total tackles, with six interceptions.

Geier's comments: "I am looking forward to working with Tim next year. His quickness caused other teams a lot of problems. He has a good work ethic, good attitude and is a good passing and option quarterback."

Mace Kant

145 lbs., Sr., Winside
Kant was also named to the Lewis and Clark West 8-Man Football All Conference team and was on the receiving end for the Wildcats this year. He had 35 catches for 499 yards, scored 10 touchdowns and three PAT's. As a defensive back, Kant made 81 total tackles and he had four interceptions. He also rushed six times for 35 yards.

Geier's comments: "Mace is a hard worker and a good athlete. He has excellent hands and is a winner."

Steve Jorgensen

175 pounds, Sr., Winside
Jorgensen was Winside's tackling leader until he became injured. He had 61 total tackles this season for the Wildcats as defensive tackle. He was also the team's offensive center.

Geier's comments: "Steve had a good attitude and worked very hard. He has good technique and is a tough kid. His season was cut short with a broken arm in our seventh game. There are no stats for center, but he did a great job for us. He came off the ball well and he had good footwork with quickness."

Max Kant

140 lbs., So., Winside
Kant served as an all-purpose back for Winside. He rushed for 493 yards on 146 carries (an average of 3.3 yards) and scored five touchdowns and three PAT's.

As a receiver, he caught 11 passes for 143 yards and one touchdown. He also passed the football and hit on three of five attempts for 24 yards.

Kant also registered 25 yards a return on kick-offs. As linebacker, he was the Wildcats' leading tackler, with 94 total and he had two interceptions.

Geier's comments: "Max has an excellent attitude and future. He is a quick, tough runner who works hard and is very quick. He is a hard hitter for 140 pounds."

John Schutte

205 lbs., So., Laurel-Concord
Hrabik's comments: "John was our offensive and defensive tackle. We ran to his side most of the time. During the season he had 47 tackles and one interception."

Wildcats lose two in Hardrocker

Wayne State had a couple of hard luckers at the Hardrocker this past weekend in Rapid City, South Dakota.

The Wildcats dropped two games during the Hardrocker Classic, losing first to National College on Friday night 83-71 and then falling in overtime 74-73 to tournament host, the South Dakota Tech Hardrockers, in overtime.

National College, which this season and over a part of last season had won 21 of 22 games, proved to be a tough "opening game of the season" foe for the Wildcats.

Wayne State held a 39-37 lead on National College at halftime, but were outscored in the second half by a 46-32 margin.

"First game jitters, mental mistakes and errors hurt us the most," said WSC Head Basketball Coach Steve Aggers.

Aggers said there was a new NCAA rule that didn't allow his squad to scrimmage other schools or junior colleges this year prior to the start of the regular season. The basketball season began for Wayne State on Oct. 15. "Last year at this time we had five scrimmage games against junior colleges or other schools, plus the alumni game," Aggers mentioned.

Against National College, Aggers said his team "just didn't have the bugs worked out."

"And I wasn't pleased with the team's intensity or execution," he added.

The Wildcats were led in scoring by Russ Rosenquist and Scott Hurley, each with 16 points. Rosenquist was 6 of 14 from the field, drilling 4 of 7 three-pointers. Hurley was 4 of 14 from the field, making only 4 of 13 three-point goals.

Bryon Haas was the only other WSC player in double figures with 12 points.

BOBBY PARKER and Mike McNamara (who had seven assists in the game) each pulled down six rebounds for the Wildcats and Rosenquist was credited with five steals.

As a team, Wayne State shot just 39 percent from the field — only 8 of 23 from the three point range. National College shot over 60 percent in the game.

Twenty three turnovers were committed by National College, while Wayne State had 16 miscues. "The second night of the tournament (against South Dakota Tech), we played much better — by leaps and bounds," said Aggers, even though his team lost in overtime 74-73.

South Dakota Tech has now won 12 straight games at home in Rapid City.

The Wildcats had a 71-65 lead in the overtime period, but South Dakota

Tech came back with a three-point field goal that cut Wayne State's lead to three. The Wildcats missed two free throws and Tech took advantage with a field goal.

On Wayne State's next possession, they missed a shot and fouled a Hardrocker player, who made the one and one which gave them the lead. A last second shot by Hurley was off the mark.

HURLEY WAS 7 of 17 from the field (2 of 3 from three-point range) and 1 of 1 from the charity stripe to score 17 points, leading the Wildcat scoring. Others in double figures were McNamara and Haas, each with 14 points, and Rosenquist (who was a perfect 3 of 3 from three-point land) with 13 points.

Wayne State shot a total 52 percent from the field — 5 of 8 in three-point attempts.

They outrebounded the Hardrockers 28-32, with McNamara pulling down eight — more than any other Wildcat.

Aggers said the Wildcats are still in the process of trying to find a point guard leader. Working in that spot now are Wade Behlen and Steve Dunbar. During the two games, Dunbar scored more points, but Behlen had more assists.

"Our front line also needs to become more physical and aggressive," said Aggers.

Aggers said McNamara "played very well both nights." In the two games, McNamara averaged 11 points, six rebounds and four assists.

Next action for Wayne State College is tonight (Tuesday, Nov. 24) against Dana College. Junior varsity starts play at 5:15, with the varsity to follow at 7:30 p.m.

THIS WILL BE the Wildcats last home game this semester (until January), Aggers said. Wayne State had to trim their schedule from 30 games to 28 games because of NCAA regulations, so they were required to drop two WSC home games this season.

The Wildcats will travel to Billings, Montana on Friday and Saturday (Nov. 27 and 28) to compete in the Tip Off Tournament. Teams which the Wildcats will play in the tournament include Rocky Mountain College and Western Montana College.

The trip to Billings returns several Wildcats back to their home territory. Aggers coached at the College of Great Falls for six seasons before coming to Wayne State. Three Wildcat players — Hurley, Keith Berg and McNamara — are from Montana.

Wayne State opens the CSIC portion of their season on Wednesday, Dec. 2, when they travel to St. Joseph, Missouri and take on Missouri Western.

Contest winners

Two West Point guessers missed six in the Wayne Herald Football Contest, but that was good enough to win during this past week of upset games.

Steven Hedell guessed the closest yardage figure of the Oklahoma-Nebraska game to claim first place. Second place went to Dwaine Hedell, of the same address as Steven.

The Dec. 3 edition of The Wayne Herald will carry the last football contest of the season.

Schedule change

Wayne-Carroll High School has made some schedule changes in basketball.

In the Friday, Dec. 18 home game against Wisner-Pfizer, both reserve and varsity boys and girls basketball teams will be playing.

The reserve boys game begins at 4 p.m., to be followed by the girls reserve game, then girls varsity game, and the last game of the evening featuring the boys varsity game.

Morningside to play Lady Wildcats

Last year the game was a shoot-out. This year's game should provide the same amount of explosiveness.

Wayne State's Lady Wildcats will take on Morningside College Tuesday, Dec. 3 at Rice Auditorium, with tip-off slated for 7:30 p.m.

Last year, Morningside defeated the Lady Wildcats 106-94.

Morningside has eight letterwinners returning from last year's 20-10 team, led by 6-1 all conference junior center Paula Hunter who averaged 14.9 points and 10.9 rebounds per game last year.

The Lady Wildcats play Peru State in Peru today (Tuesday, Nov. 24), following the win last Friday night against Doane College. Michelle Blomberg has moved into first place on the career assists list in the Doane game with her six assists. With her 317 career assists (since 1984) she has broken the old record of 315 set by Julie Brinkman. Blomberg also holds the school record in single game assists with 12.

Rec basketball sign-up scheduled

Those interested in playing Mens Recreation League Basketball in Wayne this winter should be aware of the upcoming sign-up dates and practice sessions, as was released Monday by Hank Overin.

Sign-up and practice for A League Players (ages 27 and under) will be Monday, Dec. 7.

Practice and sign-up for B League

Players (those who are 28 and older) will be Tuesday, Dec. 8. Overin said a C League will also be tried this year, and that registration and sign up is scheduled for Wednesday, Dec. 9.

"The C League is for those who don't want to play the competition of B League, and for those who are not able to play on Tuesday nights," said Overin.

Those who have never played city rec basketball before, or those not contacted by Overin, are asked to come to the first sessions on each of the three sign-up nights. The first session is from 7 to 8:30 p.m. The second sessions of each league night are from 8:30 to 10 p.m.

All the league games will be played at the Wayne City Auditorium. The recreation department will pick all the teams for this program, and everyone signed up will be given the opportunity to play. There is a $15 fee to participate in the recreational basketball program.

Overin said the rec basketball program is not open to college students, but WSC faculty and Wayne High graduates are welcome to participate.

KEEP YOUR DISTANCE

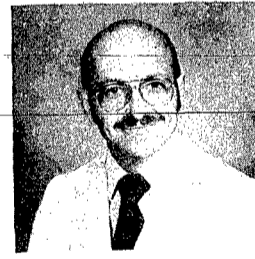

The safest way to avoid problems with broken power lines this winter is to stay away — and be sure that other people and livestock stay away. If you're inside a vehicle that is in contact with a broken line — stay inside until the line is safely moved. And, if you're outside, never attempt to touch the vehicle. If you see a broken power line, contact your local power supplier immediately. Above all, never assume that a power line laying on the ground is "dead" — it could be "deadly."

Remember, you'll have a safer winter if you keep your distance from broken power lines.

Use Antibiotics Wisely

During the 1940s, when antibiotics first became available, they were often referred to as the wonder drugs of modern medicine. Today we are able to treat infections for which there were no previous treatments. The use of antibiotics has become so common place that we often do not follow important rules to help ensure the safety and effectiveness. Here are three:

Follow Directions: If the instructions are to "take before meals," it often means that food has the potential of interfering with the effectiveness of the antibiotic. Other instructions should also be followed. And do not stop taking the drug just because you begin to "feel better."

Store Antibiotics Correctly: Many of the liquid antibiotics that are prescribed for children must be refrigerated to preserve the potency of the antibiotic. Remember to keep the tops on medicines when they are not being used.

Discard Unused Antibiotics: Sometimes the medicine container will indicate when the medicine is to be thrown away. Most liquids stay "fresh" for only about two weeks. If there is no expiration date, keep antibiotic tablets and capsules for no longer than a few months.

The 13th annual legislative assembly of the Nebraska State Student Association (NSSA) took place at Wayne State College Nov. 13 and 14, according to Mike McMorrow, chairman of the NSSA board of directors.

Student representatives from the seven state-supported colleges and universities were at the conference. The representatives discussed the issues considered to be of vital importance to higher education in Nebraska, said McMorrow.

"Faculty salaries seems to be the number one priority issue on all the campuses," said McMorrow, a Wayne State senior. Other items on the NSSA agenda included a policy platform and communication with the Legislature and governing boards.

The NSSA is an organization of students dedicated to the promotion of quality, accessible higher education in Nebraska.

Confidence vote

The vote by some 200 Timpete employees on whether or not they should unionize showed overwhelming favor to abandon the union representation.

It's important here that we make mention that it was the employees of Timpete...and only the employees...who had to make the choice concerning whether or not union representation would be good or bad for the company and the community.

Keep in mind that the Timpete, Inc. management, Allied Industrial Workers and others from the outside have written letters, held meetings and conveyed to the media the concerns of what a union would do to the manufacturing facility and the community.

But it was the employees who sorted out this tremendous amount of information, dissected it piece by piece and made their decisions based on how it would benefit themselves, their families and community.

That is really all that could be asked of them. And it isn't asking too much, we feel, to show in return some confidence in the Timpete employees and their ability to do what they feel is right.

Some community members have feared that union representation of this caliber would have discouraged future industry from settling into the area. Some might have expressed concern that union representation would create employment problems with other businesses.

Did the employees of Timpete need the added pressures from the business community? Was there some doubt about the integrity of the workers? Was there an element of "confidence" missing?

One Timpete employee (who for all logical reasons didn't want his name mentioned), said some employees of Timpete have even better pay, better benefits and security at Timpete than they had at their previous place of employment. This person took offense at these same businessmen who were not confident that the Timpete employees could judge for themselves what the consequences of a union would be.

We think that the business community had legitimate fears. But we should not have sold the employees of Timpete short.

The employees have the right to organize if the workers feel that the present employment conditions merit change. The National Labor Relations Board says that most emphatically in the pamphlets that were distributed.

However, a vote of the employees settled the issue. They have said, in strength through ballot, that union representation is not desired right now.

It is our feeling that they deserve respect, and a vote of utmost confidence, on the decision that they have made.

Heartfelt thanks

On Monday morning before heading to work, as I was about ready to leave home with my four-year-old son, he posed the innocent question: "Did God make me?"

And I thought to myself: "How does a father handle this one? He hasn't even read through the book "Bambi" yet, so how can I tell him about the birds and the bees?"

I didn't have to worry. He must have known that my answer wasn't on line with what a theologian would say. My son said: "Maybe he just puts the heart in. Right Dad?"

All day Monday his words got me thinking.

The heart: it's more than a life-providing organ. It breaks when there's deep sadness; it rejoices when there's gladness; it sees and accepts kindness; it recognizes goodness; it aches when disappointments arrive; it hurts when another hurts; it tugs at your emotions; it builds friendships; it scorns hatred; it endures love; it thrives on helping those who are poor and hungry; it sings with the closeness of the holidays like Thanksgiving and Christmas; it beats loudly at frightening noises; it pumps violently over unforgotten angry words; it aches for peace for all mankind.

Maybe my son is right. Hearts are so special, they have to come from God!

Happy Thanksgiving everyone. And may your heart be in the right place!

by Pat McLehenny

You all know I'm not a Country Western fan. But I heard a group this weekend that could make me one. You haven't heard of them, nor can you buy their tapes at local stores.

They are three guys, Bob, Doug and John, who call themselves Brethren, and work as teachers and youth directors in real life. They provided much of the fun and excitement and message at a "Gathering" I attended.

It was not a convention, there were no business meetings. There were 1500 attendees and three-fourths were high school students. This madness took place at the Holiday Inn on 72nd Street in Omaha.

These gatherings happen every other year in our church and an amazing thing about them is that some of the youth counselors keep coming back.

There is swimming, singing and sermonizing, but no sleeping.

Students gain posts

Twenty-four Wayne State College students have been selected as Wayne State College Student Ambassadors, according to Curt Frye, associate dean of students.

The Ambassadors are selected based on academic performance, college involvement and personality. They participate in freshman orientation as leaders of small groups, give campus tours for prospective students and alumni, and serves as ushers, and ticket takers at Wayne State's Black and Gold Series performances.

Area Student Ambassadors include Amy Gross, daughter of Pat and Mary Jo Gross of Wayne, who is a Human Service Counseling and Psychology major with minors in Sociology and Spanish; and Lisa Jacobsen, daughter of Duaine and Donna Jacobsen of Wayne, who is a Business major, a member of Delta Sigma Pi and the varsity softball team.

Other Ambassadors include: Bryan Hunsalt of Burwell; Nancy Grimm of Wadsworth; Iowa; Kimberly A. Margens of Papillion; Thomas Lee Heerco of Hawarden; Ronald R. Holt of Millard; Frank J. Husker of Redburn, Missouri; Don Johnson of Sioux City; Mike R. Jones of Nebraska; Michael McMorrow of Omaha; Kandra Meyer of Keston; Julie Kay Matz of Omaha; Michelle Oertel of Overland Park, Kansas; Also, Jacquelyn M. Brusius of Stapleton; Krash Gustard of Elkhorn; Ann Ellis of Seward; A. Craig Florian of Glenwood, Iowa; David Flynn of Norfolk; Jodi Fox of Aurora; Mike Soltys of Omaha; Julie Ann Tiller of Lincoln; John Wethermark of Pochonoxie, Iowa; and Lance Zach of Columbus.

Twelve hundred teens in a motel means 5000 cans of pop and 1000 pizzas, the latter delivered by scurrying kids pledged to get it there within 30 minutes after the call to order it.

It means jeans and sweatshirts and all kinds of athletic shoes; walkmen and videos and hair blowers.

THERE WAS a long break for The Game and a big screen TV to watch it on. Most elected to watch in their rooms, spread out for comfort.

All the sliding glass doors around the pool were open, and the noise after the first touchdown was a stereophonic roar.

I won't even comment about the sounds of gloom that were heard during the second half.

We had purchased a paper early on Saturday and knew that Coleridge had kept its record intact and won the crown. Their quarterback, who must have had a great night, and their leading rusher were supposed to be in the All-State Choir on Saturday, of course, they couldn't make it, but that's real versatility.

Our county sheriff was there, folks; just acting as a sponsor, which I thought was pretty nice. Marsha Fale and Bonnie Hansen each stayed home with kids so their husbands could be there. The Big Farmer cooked for himself.

THE ONLY think that was too bad was we missed all the great weather. The only time I left was to get doughnuts for breakfast and more pop.

It's amazing that we are almost to Thanksgiving and the temperature was 60°.

The other fun thing I did this week also involved teens. That was the conference vocal clinic concert on Monday. These kids compete all year except at music clinics. Their combined voices make quite a choir.

There is a small music group in schools that did not exist when I was in high school. It's called swing choir. It's such a show when these kids dress up in coordinated outfits and put choreography to their songs.

I could say lots of positive things about teens today. They have so many opportunities and so many temptations. I feel more optimistic about them after "The Gathering."

It's National Family Week. My wish for you would be for a blessed Thanksgiving and may the snow stay away for another month.
