Commission meets to discuss strategy

The Wayne Civil Service Commis-sion, called an emergency meeting Tuesday, Jan. 5, to select a chairman of the commission and to discuss the appeal hearing of a three day suspen sion recently given to Wayne Police Officer Keith Adams. Joe Nuss was re-elected to serve as chairman of the commission by the two other board members — Robert Merchant and Clete Sharer.

Officer Adams filed an appeal on the city administration's recommen-dation of his suspension without pay on Dec. 27.

A written complaint by Sandy Atkins against actions of Adams was presented to the Wayne City Council last December. On Dec. 9, the matter was turned over to the Wayne Civil Service Commission.

An investigation by the Wayne Chief of Police, Vern Fairchild, and further evaluation by City Ad-ministrator Phil Kloster, resulted in a three day suspension without pay to Officer Adams.

Economic forecast given

Although economic forecasting has never been an exact science, the market's sharp drop on October 19 and its continued volatility has made the art of forecasting the economic future, more uncertain than ever. Here's a preview of what the re-search department of Edward D. Jones and Company based in St. Louis, Mo. believes lies in store for 1988, according to investment representative Paula Pfleuger.

THE ECONOMY:

THE ECONOMY:
Experts predict the economy's-real growth will remain near 1.5 per cent. While consumer spending accounts for about two-thirds of the total economy, or Gross National Product, growth in this area should remain slow but steady. The decline in the stock market will cause many individuals to increase their savings ratio from around 3 percent disposable income to 4 percent or more. Consumer fear may also have a negative affect on the purchase of durable goods, such as automobiles and houses.

On a more positive note, increased On a more positive note, increased exports, a result of a 41 percent drop in the value of the dollar since. E-ebe-uary, should help boost conomic growth in the upcoming months and lessen the trade deficit. More positive economic growth in the upcoming months and lessen the trade deficit. More positive economic economic months and lessen the trade deficit. More positive economic news includes increased output from the manufacturing sector due to increase demand for exports.

INFLATION: Initation should hold steady around 4 percent or 4.5 percent as economic groth slows and energy prices decline. Additional factors attributing to the control of inflation includes moderately rising wages and manufacturing capabilities remain-ing at a manageable level.

1987 was a year of records for the stock market as it experienced the four largest point gains and the four Jargest point losses in the history of the Dow Jones Industrial Average—and all in the span of just-six weeks. Despite this volatility, the market remains above its 1987 star-while experts believe the market will continue to be volatile, they are not predicting a 1988 recession nor do they foresee any major downside risks for the stock market.

Following are some of the recom-mendations of the firm's research department department:

*Although down 27 percent from its all-time high of 2722 in August of 1987, price earnings ratios and dividend yields do not indicate a significantly undervalued stock market.

*Earnings per share for the overall market will increase about 6 percent in 1988 after a strong earnings year in 1987.

*Solidly financed companies in interest sensitive areas, such as utilities and banks, and companies likely to grow in spite of the tough economic times are wise choices.

INTEREST RATES:
While interest rates will remain volatile, they should gradually lower thoughout the year for several reasons. Among these are slower consumer spending and an increase in personal savings, controlled inflation, and the probability the Federal Reserve will opt for lower interest rates to encourage continued economic growth.

As always, any investment in the stock market should be approached carefully. The best hedge for the future includes investing in financially strong companies in interest ly strong companies in interest-sensitive areas and in companies not strongly impacted by economic

Chamber Coffee

Sometimes there are opportunities that go unnoticed, ideas that are tossed to the wayside, or strategies unconquered because there was a lack of communication, or nobody available to listen.

Enter here the Wayne Chamber Coffee — an activity sponsored by the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce. At these weekly events, businessmen or Chamber members gather at a pre-determined location to have coffee and a roll and to mingle with others.

The primary purpose of the Chamber Coffee is to honor, for whatever announced reasons, the particular establishment where the event takes place. Another purpose is to allow those attending the Chamber Coffee to share ideas, opinions or have an enjoyable conversation with another.

This is the 10th anniversary of the Chamber Coffee. It was initiated by Gary Van Meter (owner of Mines Jewelry) who in Dec. 1977 had been hired as executive director of the Wayne Chamber. The first Chamber Coffee took place in January, 1978, which took place at the present George Phelp's IDS office location, where there was a craft store.

Van Meter said the Chamber Coffees were first organized to welcome new businesses to Wayne and to "let them know what was going on around town."

Since then, the stopping places for Chamber Coffees have grown to include not only new businesses and industry, but also to honor specific individuals, new employees and addi-tions or expansions of present businesses or industries.

The Chamber Coffee is also known to be a preview of upcoming special celebrations or attractions. Service organizations or other entities such as Region IV also schedule Chamber Coffees to tell of the accomplishments of past years and what's ahead in the future.

Current executive director of the Wayne Chamber, Linda Brown, said the Chamber Coffee is a tool used for business people to get together, discuss and share a comraderie among each other. It can be a worthwhile social event.

Reasons why people schedule a Chamber Coffee at their establishment cover a lot of territory, she said.

An example of this is the January schedule for Chamber Coffee. On Jan. 8, it will take place at the Black Knight, hosted by the Wayne Jaycees; Jan. 15, at State National Bank; Jan. 22, at Restful Knights East; and Jan. 29 at Wayne Sporting Good's new location.

Brown said Wayne's Chamber Coffee event is one of the strongest ones in the state and draws dedicated community

The Chamber Coffee is scheduled each Friday at 10 a.m. at a pre-determined location.

Brown mentioned that there is no problem in booking locations for the Friday morning event. "We're usually booked a couple of months in advance. More often than not we have two businesses who would like to host a Chamber Coffee on the same day. Some book the event a year in advance," said

Van Meter said a turning point in the success of the Chamber Coffee was when the Wayne State College administration and faculty members were encouraged to attend the weekly coffee.

Over the past 10 years, many people have been honored or businesses toasted during the Chamber Coffee. It is an anniversary that should be recognized, based on the accomplishments that the Chamber Coffees have achiev-

Expensive task

The suspension of Wayne Police Officer Keith Adams, without pay, is currently being appealed (as of Wednesday morning) to the Wayne Civil Service Commission.

It could be an expensive appeal. An attorney must be obtained to represent City Administrator Phil Kloster and the City of Wayne. City Attorney Kem Swarts cannot represent either party since a partner in the Olds, Swarts & Ensz firm could be called to be a witness in the appeal hearing.

The Wayne Civil Service Commission will have to look for an attorney to represent them (in regard to conducting the meeting) at the proposed hearing. It was recommened that a court reporter also be hired for the appeal hearing. That seems to be a lot of expense in fighting a three day suspension without pay.

But we realize that the civil service commission's obligation is to be fair to all employees regardless of time and

In a very low scoring game, The Wayne-Carroll Lady Blue Devils outlasted Pierce to capture first place in the Wayne State Holiday ent, by a 35-30 margin, last tournament, by a 35-30 margin, last Wednesday.

This was the second time these two teams faced each other this season. In the first contest, held at Pierce, Wayne lost by three.

Lady Blue Devil Head Coach Marlene Uhing noted that since the two teams had already-played-each other this season, that preparing for

"It was obvious that their game plan was to take away our 3-point shooting ability, and our game plan was to take away from their inside game," Uhing said. If that's the case, then both teams the two teams collided, but allowed -the-two-teams-collided,-but-allowed-only two this time around. On the op-posite side of the coin, Wayne allow-ed Pierce's bigger players to have a great game the first time around, but stiffened up this time. Wayne trailed Pierce 6-4 after one period of play, but rebounded in the second to take a 17-16 half-time lead-oning noted that although her team led at half, they were getting beat badly on the boards. "We were out rebounded 17-5, in the first half," out rebounded 1.-5, in the first half," Uhing said.

Wayne and Pierce each had trouble finding the ocean in the third quarter. Wayne outscored Pierce 5-3 to take a 22-19 lead into the final quarter.

Uhing felt that her team was a little tentative about shooting the ball to this point. "Even though. Pierce was guarding against our long shots, we weren't trying to penetrate and draw them off," Uhing said.

Uhing told her team to keep shooting, and in the fourth quarter, Wayne outscored Pierce 13-11, to add to the slim lead.

Uhing felt that the key to the game Uhing feit that the key to the game was the play of the post position. "Tonya (Erxleben), played very well for us." Uhing said. Heldl Reeg and Amy Bliven also played key roles in the successful second half rebounding. Wayne out rebounded Pierce in the second half 33-22.

Turnovers in the championship contest were very even with Pierce committing 17, to Wayne's 16

A very key factor to the final score was free throw shooting. Wayne was 11-16 from the charity stripe, compared to a 4-14 effort by Pierce.

Kristy Hansen actually closed the door on any possible come back by Pierce. Hansen stepped to the line in a one-and-one situation twice in the final minutes of the game and sank four straight free throws for the Lady Blue Devils.

Wayne again had balanced sorging.

Wayne again had balanced scoring as Holly Paige led the way with nine.

Teresa Ellis and Dana Nelson added seven points apiece.

Uhing is pleased with the way the season is progressing for her team.

'To have a 4-2 record at this point, when not many of the girls have had much varsity experience is really something," Uhing said.

. Uhing's Lady Blue Devils will travel to Laurel this Thursday night to play the Lady Bears.

Puttin'up with Pete

The Wayne State Holiday Tournament is now history. South Sloux City defeated Wayne-Carroll 70-56, to win the Class B boys title. The Wayne Carroll Lady Blue Devils captured the Class B girls title by defeating Wisner-Pilger defeated previously rated Bancroft-Rosalie 56-52, to win the Class C boys championship, and Stanton defeated Lyons-Decature 56-53, in the girls Class C championship.

Along with the tournament comes the all-tourney selections, based on

... Along with the tournament comes the all-fourney selections, based on what the coaches feel were the outstanding players of the tournament. I have no problem with the coaches selecting the players. The problem is that the coaches only play two of the three teams. And unless the coach of any of the four-schools in each class is paying more attention to the other school, which he is not playing, to see who its stars are, they have no way of knowing who is doing what.

There are arguments that if a coach is scouting a game, then it is possible to see all the teams play. However, if you are scouting the game, you are not looking for outstanding players but weaknesses and strengths of the team.

are not looking for constanting purposes the team.

I wouldn't have even brought this subject to light if I hadn't seen that Eikhorn Mount Michael placed two players in the all-tourney team. For those of you with short-memorles, Elkhorn finished third in the tournation.

Pierce's Michelle Krueger also deserves to be mentioned. Guard Megan Dolesh also keyed the Pierce attack.

In boys Class C, Wisner-Pilger's Darrin Brand and Mark Brahmer played key roles which affected the outcome of the finale, in which Wisner-Pilger defeated Bancroff-Rosaile.

Stanton's Shane Patterson also had a solid performance in the tournament, which deserves recognition.

Of all the tourney selections, the boys Class B selections was the hardest to swallow. South Sloux City's Shane Slaughter made the all-tourney team, but I'm telling you right now, without guards Jeremy Archert, and Troy Glasser, South Sloux wouldn't have won a game.

Archer played brilliantly. His clutch shooting and look-away passing, along with his precision bounce passes from 25 feet or more, eventually proved to much for Eikhorn and Wayne.

All Glasser did was stand around the 16-foot area and consistently sink two pointers, which in turn, sunk any comeback hopes of Wayne in the finals.

Scott Hammer played well enough in the tournament to deserve recognition. Hammer outscored Engelson 34-32. Hammer's hustle on the defensive side of the ball, as well as the offensive side, prevailed. And how about Jarrod Wood, who according to Head Coach Bob Uhing.

had the best tournament of all the Wayne players. Wood scored 26 points in the tournament and led the Blue Devils in rebounding.

My key player on the Wayne team did not score very many points, but accounted for several with his back court play and look-away passes on the fast break. Jess Zeiss proved to me to be the most valuable asset on the Blue Devil squad in the two tournament games.

Whether you agree with my possible honorees for all-tourney or not, isn't the point. This is just this writer's view of what he witnessed in the 1987-Wayne State Holiday Tournament.

Full court press haunts Wildcats

Turnovers hurt Winside

After leading by one point at the end of the first half over Walthill, the Winside Wildcats girls basketball team suffered a bad case of the tur-novers in the third quarter which led to a 46-38 loss Tuesday night.

Winside led at the end of the first quarter, 9-8, and at half-time, 16-15. However, the Wildcats got outscored by Walthill 31-22 in the second half. What led to the demise was a third quarter that showed Winside turning over the ball too many times against full court pressure by Walthill. "Eight of our 17 total turnovers came during that third quarter." said Jill Stenwall, coach of the Wildcats.

'We made some bad passes fumbles and even a five-second call on an inbounds play that went against us," she sald. "They pressed us right away at the start of the second half and we threw it away.

good job at a fair price," Dave said.
His business has grown from a three stall business structure to a building that has six stalls and a paint room, located on Fairgrounds Avenue in the southeast section of

"I've even added a used car business," said Dave.

Dave has 16 years of work ex-perience in the auto body repair business to firmly back up his motto. Six of those first years, starting in 1972, he worked at the former Roy Hurd Ford Mercury dealership. He was employed at the Roy Coryell auto dealership for five years before shop in Denver, Colorado.

He worked there, supervising the work of 23 others, until the spring of 1986, when he returned to open a body

"It's really nice to be back home in Wayne," Dave said. "Denver can be a real zoo."

Dave does most of the auto body work himself. At times he hires some part-time help to assist in the business operation. "But our customers will find that they will always have that personal touch," he mentioned.

Among the many services that Dave's Auto Body and Used Cars provides are body work, painting, all glass work, heater repair, air condi-tioner repair, radiator repair, minor adjustments, polishing, waxing, welding or complete rebuilding. "We also do free estimates and ad-that can get the job done for us."

He began operating his Wayne business in the small three stall building on Fairgrounds Avenue on April, 1986. Since then, the business operation was moved (on Jan. 1, 1987) to a building next door. He ob-tained a license for selling used cars in October, 1987.

This has been a busy year, Dave sald, which may require him to hire a permanent full-time helper if the brisk business continues.

Plans are in the making for a grand opening-anniversary celebration event at Dave's Body Shop and Used Cars this spring, Dave said.

Elementary Latin class offered

A noncredit course in elementary Latin is being offered by Northeast Community College as part of the adult education evening program at the Norfolk campus and at Wayne.

At Wayne the class will be held-in Room 209 of the high school starting Thursday, Feb. 4, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. It will meet for eight weeks. According to the instructor, Tom Carraher, this Latin course is offered in response to a national renewal of interest in languages and the classics.

As an aid to French and Spanish, this course will emphasize the continental method of pronunciation as well as the classical. The student will gain a better understanding and deeper appreciation of the many Latin phrases and inscriptions which abound in the western world.

More information and registration is available by calling the Community Services Division, 644-0435, for the Norfolk class, and Terry Munson, 375-3150, for the Wayne class.

The Farmer's Wife by Pat Melerhenry

It is the third of January, and we are still opening Christmas cards. We are also having a hard time adjusting to the cold weather after spending ten days in the South. Our family made a trip to Uncle Jim's for Christmas.

Aunt Linda is quite a hostess, and a praye one. They've already hosted have one. They've already hosted Aunt Linda is quire a nosiress, anue brave one. They've already hosted Uncle Don and Aunt Mary over Easter, and a group of 15 relatives in June. It helps that they have a little "bunk house" in the back yard, so the "bunk house" in the back yard, so the girls had their own space.

There is also a trampoline, and Jim got some unusual shots of amateurs with his new videocamera. In fact, he got some unusual shots, period; beginning on Christmas Eve when he opened his package.

The last time we visited South Carolina was 15 years ago, when Jim was in the Navy. I still haven't figured out how a guy from Nebraska came to be such a lover of water. But came to be such a lover of water. But he spent a good part of his Navy career in nuclear-powered sub-marines, and still thinks he has to be close to the ocean

We foured a WWII sub, and it seemed like mighty small quarters. As we climbed through the openings and bumped our heads. Kay wondered, "How is David Robinson going to do this?"

We also walked through a destroyer and an aircraft carrier, and visited Ft. Moultrie, and picked up shells on the beach.

Plus, we ate sea food! We took a cooler full of beet; and filled upon crab, shrimp, lobstey, and cod fish. We even sampled she crab soup. We toured a WWII sub, and it

CHRISTMAS is a blur of a choir and handbell confert, sweaters, sweat shirts, and books. And the lights! The South makes up for its lack of snow with lights: on trees, in windows, outlining houses, and reflecting in lakes. There were also green wreaths tied with big red bows, poinsettias by the thousands, and mistletce growing on trees. mistletoe growing on trees.

Revolutionary and Civil War history blends; the open market in Charleston hosts women weaving sweet water baskets with broken

The Gamecock football fans cried, the Husker fans cried, and even the Sooner fans saw their team shut down. The Aggles embarrassed the Irish, and Penn State was surprised

We traveled in a rented van, and ended up paying for 3500 miles. We watched those football games in their condo in the Blue Ridge Mountains in North Carolina. Four people skied, two swam and sat in a hot tub, and three stayed in front of the fire.

We lucked out for weather, had no car trouble, experienced southern hospitality, and came to an apprecia-tion of Uncle Jim's civilian job. We'll tell you about that next week.

Meanwhile, we have a stack of newspapers to read. It was a great vacation, but Home looked very good, even with the snow cover and cold temperatures.

Tomorrow, its' back to the salt mines. Hope I can tolerate a day of work!

Diet Instead Of Drugs?

I read in a magazine or newspaper that a low-protein diet eliminates the need for taking drugs in Parkinson's disease. Any truthto this?

You may have read about a study that was recently study, 11 individuals with Parkinson's disease were placed on low-protein diets. There was no protein in the morning or noon meals and only 7 grams of protein in the evening meal.

Nine persons experienced marked relief of Parkinson's symptoms, and eight required a reduction in the dosage of their medicine (levodopa). The average amount of medicine reduction was 41 percent. The need for medicine use was not, however, eliminated in any person in this small study.

The dietary change in this study had a significant efrect on drug therapy. Changes in diet are also important in other health problems including high blood pressure (sodium restriction), diabetes (calorie restriction), and constipation (increase in fiber). Changes in diet usually do not totally eliminate the need for medicines, however.

This will be done, however, only after those who do register are given the opportunity to continue the course in such cases for a slightly higher fee or for fewer sessions.

Junior and senior high students may attend by permission only.

Registration not complete until all charges paid. Fees will be collected the first evening of classes. Please p all fees by check made payable to Northeast Community, College. Persons enrolling may call the office of counselor between 8:30 a.m. 4:00 p.m. daily Monday-Friday. Persons may enroll at the first sessio if pre-registration numbers are sufficient to have the class.

For Pre-Registration Call 375-3150 or 375-5382 Terry Munson

The Golden Years by Gil Haase

Retirement may be good for your health if you've been a "Type A" person during your career, according to a recent study. Type A's are highly competitive, displaying a behavioral pattern of impatience and aggressioners. The tience and aggressiveness. The study indicates that Type A's may become less-aggressive Type B's after just one year of retirement. "Most Type A behavior is a function of one's nemaytor is a function of one's work environment," says John H. Howard, D.B.A., professor at the University of Western Ontario's School of Business Administra-tion. "If you take the work away, you take the Type A behavior away." away."

The mature cast of TV's popular "The Golden Girls" reasserts each week that the elderly are capable of a full, rewarding life, cording to Jane Porcing according to Jane Porcino, Ph.D., director of the National Action Forum for Midlife and Older Women in New York. "They have gray hair and wrinkles, aches and pains, yet they are full of energy, zest, laughter and love."

Remember When? 1921 — Insulin was successfully isolated from the mammalian pancreas by Sir Frederick Banting and Dr. Charles H. Best of Canada. User extensively in diabetes treat-ment, the drug was eventually synthesized in 1964.
