Break-in

The Wayne County Sheriff's Department reported a break-in early Saturday morning at the Farmers Co-op filling station in Winside.

Approximately $20 in change was taken.

An attempt had also been made to break into Oberle's Market, but entry was not gained.

It is believed that the incident happened around 3 a.m. Individuals heard vehicles squealing tires around that hour.

Anyone with information on the crime is asked to contact the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

Cookie sales

The time to purchase Girl Scout cookies is running out. The Prairie Hills Girl Scout Council's annual cookie sale will end Feb. 1.

Wayne residents who have not been contacted and would like to purchase cookies are asked to call Donnie Riedel, 375-3810.

Proceeds from the annual cookie sale make many learning and growing opportunities possible for girls, such as ballet, hiking, camping, theatre, travel and career exploration.

Logo chosen

Scott Jackson of Winside is the winner of the Winside Centennial Logo Contest. His logo contained a detailed sketch of the city park with the old gazebo, the first school, the old roller mills and the old train depot, as well as locating Winside inside an outline of Nebraska.

Nine entries were received and judged by Alice Rhode of Carroll, Shirley Fleer of Winside and Nancy Berns of Wayne.

The logo will be used for all commemorative items as well as the new Winside History Book that will be printed prior to the 1990 Centennial.

As winner, Scott will receive a $20 gift certificate to be used on any memorabilia.

Foiled again

The board of directors of Educational Service Unit One were unable to meet for the second week in a row last Tuesday night, due to adverse weather conditions.

The regular board meeting was scheduled Jan. 12 and was postponed one week due to cold weather and blowing snow. However, board members in the six-county area also were unable to meet Jan. 19 when a blizzard blasted the area.

Administrator Rodney Garwood said the January meeting has not been rescheduled.

Adoption

In observance of National Adoption Week, the Northeast District, Nebraska Department of Social Services has presented five area libraries with a VCR tape on Adoption entitled "Beyond Fear: Committing to Adoption."

The tape, which is highly recommended for any new or prospective adoptive parents, can be found at the public libraries in Wayne, Norfolk, Columbus, Fremont and South Sioux City.

The tape depicts the various problems that most new adoptive parents and families face and covers such important issues as expectations of adoption, adjustment and transition, the honeymoon period, loyalty to birth parents, grief and separation and communication.

Warners spread message about ham radios

By Chuck Hackenmillier

Managing Editor

Along a wall at the Allen home of Morey and Bonnie Warner are several aquariums filled with colorful tropical fish.

Raising tropical fish is one of their hobbies.

Also inside the house are Bonnie's voluminous collection of unique-shaped multi-colored rocks which she has gathered from all over the United States and elsewhere. The Warners enjoy traveling more than anything.

In most instances, just one of these hobbies (rock collection, raising tropical fish or traveling) would be enough to occupy the time of many retired young couples.

The Warners have another hobby, however, which they relish even more. Both Morey and Bonnie are ham radio amateurs.

Morey, age 69, is licensed as an advance amateur ham radio operator. His ham radio hobby has given him pleasure for at least 34 years.

Bonnie, age 60, has recently passed the test for novice and technician and is on her way toward receiving a general license in the operation of the ham radio.

There are well over 430,000 ham radio amateurs in the United States. In Dixon County, there are four, including Morey and Bonnie. Another resides in Dixon and the fourth lives in Ponca.

"Bonnie is the only female licensed amateur in Dixon County," said Morey.

In the 687 zip code area alone there are 191 amateurs.

Ham radios are a means for communication "when every thing else breaks down," he said. "We control more frequencies than commercial radio stations. Ham radio operations started before commercial radio stations."

"It's a great hobby. Our household centers around it," Morey mentioned.

USE OF THE ham radio station is varied, but one primary function of the air waves operation is to serve as a communication network among pools of amateurs who are able to radiate emergency messages across the country, particularly when other forms of communication fail.

One example is an incident that happened last year, when a tragic earthquake rocked Mexico City. A Mexican foreign exchange student who was staying in Allen was deeply concerned about the status of her parents and grandparents in that country following the quake.

Morey was able to contact a ham radio operator in Mexico, who days later relayed that the student's relatives had survived the earthquake.

"He [Morey] can talk to people all over the world," said Bonnie, who is licensed to use the ham radio on a more "regional basis with surrounding states."

BONNIE and Morey grew up in the Allen area. At the age of 18 Morey moved to California. He stayed there for about 45 years. "I was a member of management at North American Rockwell for 17 years," he said. He got his first ham radio equipment in 1954.

That equipment lasted for nearly 22 years, until it became outdated. The ham radio unit now at his home in Allen is nearly new, equipped with 68 controls on the front panel.

"You kind of trade them in like cars," said Morey.

"I worked through the Department of Forestry in California with ham radio when they were fighting fires in the mountains. The fire chief, when communications were jammed up, would often need to send a message to get equipment," said Morey.

"I also helped with communications during the great Alaskan earthquake that took place quite a few years ago," he added.

Morey returned to Allen three years ago. He and Bonnie, who worked at the Waldbaum Company for 25 years, married in 1985.

"I've always been interested in ham radio ever since I've known him," said Bonnie. "When we got married, he wanted me to learn. I was just a little bit afraid of it."

"But now, I think that's fantastic. I've worked hard at it, but I don't regret it one bit now," she added.

"I'm working on my general license now. After that, I can then get on almost all the bands that Morey's on now," she said.

MOREY is considering a step towards reaching the highest class among ham radio amateurs. "Just for the prestige," he said.

Amateur licenses at one time had to be renewed every four years. Now they are up for renewal every 10 years.

Those that think operating a ham radio is exactly like citizens band (CB) are wrong, Morey said.

"It's not like getting a citizen band radio license or something like that. There is no relation to a CB at all," he said. "And we monitor our own frequencies. There is no profanity allowed and nothing commercial can be aired."

Attached to the ham radio unit is a computer and teletype that can transmit and receive, converting signals into words on the computer screen.

But no matter how complicated the equipment, the amateur ham radio operators still have to know Morse Code. "The Morse Code is the last means of communication if nothing else can come through," said Morey.

Signaling out a 20 word per minute in Morse Code is a goal beyond many amateurs. As a general amateur, the goal is 13 words per minute.

Morey said, however, that now it's just like talking on a telephone when speaking to his friends in California and Pennsylvania.

HOWEVER, the scope of communication goes beyond the U.S. borders, into foreign lands. Morey has talked to people in Africa, Nova Scotia, Australia, New Zealand and other countries. "There's probably no spot in the world that you can't reach," he said.

Most of his contacts in foreign countries have some English speaking skills. But there is a code among amateurs, to be used as a back-up when the language barrier cannot be broken.

"We depend on 'Q' signals to carry on a minimum conversation. For instance QRD means you're going to quit conversation. QRX means stand by. QRM means you are being interfered with by other stations," Morey mentioned.

"When you want to know what the weather is like there, you say the code QWX. Most of the foreign countries such as Germany and France have someone who can speak English on the radio," he said.

What would Morey's typical conversation be with a foreigner in a country such as West Germany?

"I'd ask where they lived and what they did, if they had a family, how the weather was, what kind of car they drove or what their hobbies were," Morey answered.

And in communist countries? "We can talk to them too. However, they keep their conversation to a minimum, giving the weather, signal strength and things like that," he replied.

Both Bonnie and Morey like to catch up on the weather reports that come through on the ham radio, from east coast to west coast.

"We hear things before a radio station can read them on the air. I heard about the earthquake in California before it became national news," said Morey.

MOREY SAID he is willing to open his station to those people who are interested in become ham radio amateurs. The Red Cross Center in Sioux City teaches a classes one day each week for novices, helping them get a start in the hobby.

It is important, Morey said, to keep the number of ham radio amateurs steady or on the rise. "We have to keep the population up to stay alive," he said.

For KBOPBM (Bonnie) and KEOSF (Morey), the hobby of ham radio will provide all the entertainment necessary during their years of retirement.

"We almost never watch television. Never. Between our radio, raising tropical fish, rock collecting and travel, there's not enough time to get everything done," Bonnie said.

A bicycle built for McCués

THE McCUE YOUNGSTERS of Wayne aren't about to give up cold cereal in the morning. Within the past several months they have won both a watch and a bicycle through cereal boxes. Pictured with their most recent prize, a Roadmaster BMX Bike, are, from left, eight-year-old Katie McCue, 12-year-old Kerry McCue and six-year-old Bobby McCue. They are the children of Dr. Robert and Marla McCue. The bicycle, which arrived Christmas Eve, was claimed by the McCués when they received a U-WIN license plate inside a box of Post Honey-Comb cereal. One hundred bicycles were given away and the McCués odds of winning, as listed on the box, were 1 in 60,000. Retail value of the bicycle is approximately $100. Bobby also won a watch earlier in a box of Golden Graham cereal. His chances of winning were 1 in 15.

News and Notes

by Mary Temme, Extension Agent-Home Ec.

No such thing as junk food
(On the other hand, there are junk diets)

Junk food. Hardly a day goes by that we don't hear the term. Ten years ago, however, it wasn't even part of our vocabulary. Just what is junk food — pizza, ice cream, soda? Is the term used rationally? Most important, does it have any real meaning?

Some nutritionists contend that there is no such thing as junk food — a totally worthless food — any more than there is such a thing as a perfect food — one that meets all our nutritional needs.

Some foods contribute more essential nutrients and dietary factors than others. But not many foods don't have some redeeming value under the right circumstances.

The problem rises when these so-called junk foods become so important in our diet that other foods of higher nutritional value are excluded. The result is an inadequate junk diet.

It is equally possible to eat a poor selection of our most sacred nutritious foods and wind up with a diet overburdened with some nutrients, yet deficient in others — another example of a junk diet.

THERE ARE, OF course, foods of low nutrient density — those that contribute more calories than nutrients to our diet. These foods don't carry their weight nutritionally.

For example, in some cakes and cookies most of the calories come from ingredients like fat and sugar. Relatively few come from milk, flour and eggs.

However, if eating a cookie means that a child also drinks milk or fruit juice, then we must look at cookie and milk, and cookie and juice as a unit, and judge them together rather than condemn one and applaud the other.

For an eight-year-old, milk and three cookies make a nutritious combination. Milk and five cookies, though, swing the balance to the point where there are more calories than nutrients — and in these circumstances, the combination must be considered lower in nutrition.

POTATO CHIPS ARE another example of a food that is valuable in the right context. Eaten alone, potato chips add vitamin C, vitamin B and copper to our diet. Eaten with a sandwich, potato chips become part of a balanced meal.

But if we stuff ourselves with so many potato chips that we're too full to eat dinner, we are misusing them.

What about the salt, you ask? One ounce of potato chips provides about one-fourth of a gram of sodium — less than the bread in our sandwich and considerably less than two slices of bread with salted butter. Just because we see and taste the salt doesn't mean potato chips contain an excess of it.

For another example, take an objective look at pizza. From one angle some people may see it as a junk food — high in calories and in cholesterol. But pizza has the same nutritional merits as a meat and cheese sandwich served with tomato. Perhaps pizza's problem is that it tastes too good to be good.

HOW ABOUT THE classically "healthful" foods — milk, eggs, orange juice and oatmeal for example? Are they always desirable? Surprisingly, no.

Milk, especially non-fat milk, has one of the most impressive nutrient profiles of any food. That means that milk does an exceptionally good job of supplying both nutrients and calories in our dietary requirements.

But milk is not perfect. While it is high in calcium, protein and riboflavin, it is low in iron and vitamin C. In contrast, oranges are high in iron and vitamin C, but low in calcium, protein and riboflavin.

What does this have to do with junk food? If a food doesn't meet an immediate nutritional need, then it is of limited nutritional value. After an adult has had two or three glasses of milk (which meet many of his nutritional needs), additional milk becomes less and less useful.

And if the milk (which does not provide vitamin C) replaces fruit juice (which does), the milk is worthless except as a source of calories. In this context, milk qualifies as "junk" food.

Hence, we cannot judge a food in isolation. We must rate it in relation to the total diet and the needs of the individual at that particular time.

IF WE MEET ALL our nutrient needs for the day except for calories, then we can get the rest of our calorie requirements from any food.

Again, moderation is a virtue. Getting a maximum of 10 to 15 percent of our total daily calories from foods of limited nutritional value seems reasonable. Observe Food and Fitness Week by observing your diet.

How to live with loss of bladder control

Incontinence, the loss of bladder control, is a common problem. It affects more than 4,600 people in Siouxland alone. It often causes extreme embarrassment. So much so, sufferers often refuse to leave the safety and security of their homes.

Fortunately, with proper medical help from St. Luke's, almost every form of incontinence is treatable, manageable — even curable!

To help those affected by incontinence, St. Luke's is holding a free, confidential, educational program. On Wednesday, January 27 at 2 p.m. a panel of health care experts — including urologists, gynecologists and nurse educators — will discuss the causes and treatment of incontinence. Perhaps more importantly, they'll discuss its emotional and psychological aspects.

St. Luke's wants you to know that if you suffer from incontinence, you can still lead a normal, happy, active life. Find out how by attending our program on incontinence. For more information, call (712) 279-3543.

Weander bowls 300

The American Bowling Congress has been associated with giving incentives to bowlers for as long as its existence.

To reward those who have crossed the barrier, ABC has given a diamond stadium ring to any bowler rolling a 300 or an 800 series.

Lee Weander

For avid bowlers, a 300 game is a dream of a dream, and rarely happens. A very small percentage experience the height of being perfect in any game.

To receive one, the bowler is among the elitists. To receive a ring for each, is separating the good from the great.

Wayne resident Lee Weander will receive a ring for each. Earlier this season, Weander bowled an 800 series. Tuesday night, Weander bowled his first 300 game.

"It was exciting," Weander said. "Everyone was pretty quiet as I was throwing my last ball." Weander bowled a 774 series for the evening, with the 300 coming in the last game.

Val Kienast, owner of Melodee Lanes notes that this is about the sixth perfect game rolled at Melodee Lanes, since he became associated with lanes, about 18 years ago.

"We've had a few 300's out here," Kienast said. The last being Barry Dahlkoetter. Other than that, Kienast has bowled a couple 300 games himself. The two others making up the six are Larry Echtenkamp and Kevin Peters.

Final shot dumps Wayne

A last second shot by the home team Hartington Cedar Catholic, left the Wayne High Blue Devils with a 7-5 record, Friday night.

Wayne Head Coach Bob Uhing was pleased with the way his team played down the stretch. "I thought our kids played smart down the stretch," Uhing said. "Our problem was that we dug ourselves a hole too deep to get out of."

What Uhing is referring to, is Hartington's quick start.

"There were four things that had an affect on the outcome of the game," Uhing said. "First, the rebounding. We were outboarded 35-24 for the game. Second, in the first four minutes of the game, Hartington built a 12 point lead. Third, we didn't hit our free throws like we are capable of doing. Fourth, Engelson had foul trouble most of the game, and ended up only playing about half the game."

Uhing also noted that when his team was in foul trouble, the kids weren't getting the boards in the front line.

As mentioned earlier, Wayne got down early in the first quarter, but managed to cut the margin to four by first quarters end, 19-15.

In the second quarter Wayne was outgunned 13-12, to trail by five at intermission. The home team stretched the lead by one more at third quarters end, 46-40.

The Blue Devils clawed their way back in the fourth quarter, and with 10 seconds remaining in regulation, they had knotted the score at 63.

Hartington took the ball the length of the court, penetrated inside the paint, and dishd off to an open player, who netted the winning shot.

Wayne's Scott Hammer continued his hot hand for the Blue Devils, as he more than filled in for the scoring absence of Engelson by burning the nets for 25 points. Hammer also put on his expedition of long range shooting by nailing four 3-point field goals.

Jarrod Wood also played a good game. Wood netted 13 points, but more importantly, he hauled down 12 rebounds. Meanwhile the only other Blue Devil in double figures was Doug Larson tossing in 11.

Wrestlers defeat Wisner in dual

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

The Wayne Blue Devil grapplers were in action Thursday night, as they duald Wisner. This was to be the Blue Devils last chance to improve before Saturday's conference meet to be held in South Sioux City.

The locals came out on top in the Wisner dual, 45-21. Wayne Wrestling Head Coach John Murtaugh felt his team was a little sluggish. "It must have been the two day snow lay off," Murtaugh said. "But Wisner had two days off too, so that's no excuse. We didn't wrestle as sharp as we are capable of," Murtaugh added.

Although Murtaugh wasn't extremely excited about his team's performance, he was very pleased to come out on top. "A win is a win," Murtaugh said. "I'm not disappointed enough to say we didn't wrestle well enough to win. I just felt that we have looked better."

The evening started with two reserve matches. In the first one, Jesse Broderson faced Wisner's Matt Goeller, in the 145 lb. match. Goeller defeated Broderson 12-2.

The second match had Wayne's Tom Sievers pitted against Wisner's Gene Saterer. Sievers needed but 25 seconds to finish Saterer off, and record the pin.

In varsity action, Wayne's Mike DeNaeyer received a bye in the 103 lb. division. In the 112 lb. match, Wayne's Chris Janke duald Jerry Hill. Janke lost to Hill 5-3.

Wisner's Chad Raasch defeated Trevor Wehrer of Wayne in the 119 lb. match, 9-7. However in the 125 lb. match Wayne's Jeff Struve received a bye.

The first varsity pin of the evening came when Wisner's Steve Olf pinned Wayne's Cory Wieseler in 2:51, of the 130 lb. match.

In the 135 lb. division Wayne

WAYNE'S TOM ETTER (bottom) finds the going a little rougher than he wanted. Etter lost to Todd Heller 4-0.

forfeited to Wisner. In 140 lb. action, Wayne's Tom Etter lost 4-0 to Todd Heller.

Shane Geiger received a forfeit in the 145 lb. match, as Wisner's Mark Dinklage, previously scheduled at 145, was moved to 152.

That meant Jason Earhardt had the privilege of wrestling Dinklage.

Earhardt came out on top 4-2.

Wayne's Rusty Hamer received a bye in the 160 lb. division, while in the 171 lb. division, Jason Cole won by technical fall over Wisner's James Buderas, 17-2.

Wayne's hot streak continued in the 189 lb. division, as Chris Luff recorded Wayne's first pin of the evening as he pinned Keith Radford in 3:23.

In the final category of the evening, the red hot Brian Nelsen faced Wisner's Kyle Borgelt. Nelsen stuck Borgelt in 4:26.

Nelsen continues his trek toward the district meet next month, looking for a top seed.

Winside Wildcat grapplers split in double dual

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

The Winside grapplers won one and lost one in the double dual make up held Thursday at Osmond.

The Wildcats defeated Plainview 38-18, but lost to the home team Osmond, 36-24. Winside Head Coach Paul Sok had a hard time measuring how good his team did overall.

"We only had 12 matches in the two duals combined," Sok said. "We wrestled five matches against Plainview, and seven against Osmond."

In the 103 lb. category, Winside's Chad Carlson wrestled twice on the day and finished at .500. In the first match against Plainview, Carlson defeated Arlt 9-5. However, in the match against Osmond's Aschoff, Carlson dropped a 7-4 decision, after having Aschoff nearly pinned in the second period.

"I didn't think Chad was mentally prepared for this match," Sok said.

In the 112 lb. category, Doug Heinemann lost to Schmidt of Osmond by way of pin. In the previous match against Plainview's Wagner, Heinemann earned a tie, at 7-7.

Sok noted that Heinemann's inexperience, played a key role in Heinemann's wrestling.

Shane Frahm coming off his sickness, wrestled at 125 lbs. Frahm only wrestled once, after receiving a forfeit against Osmond. Ranke of Plainview beat Frahm 12-6.

"Shane got way behind Ranke early," Sok said. "He was down seven points in the first period, and from then on, he was forced to play catch up which is tough."

Doug Paulsen recorded two pins for Winside in the 130 lb. category. "Doug's first match against Kroeger of Plainview was really a good match for him," Sok said. "He did a good job technically. However, he seemed to get a little sloppy in the second match against Beacom of Osmond," Sok added.

Mace and Max Kant only wrestled once between them in the double dual. Mace received two forfeits, while Mace pinned another of the Beacoms of Osmond.

In the 145 lb. division, Kerry Yeager received one forfeit, and lost to Nelson of Osmond by way of pin.

Jeff Gallup wrestled at 152 lbs. for Winside. He also received a forfeit, and lost to Weber of Osmond. "30 seconds into the match, Jeff had the Osmond wrestler on his back, but he ended up getting pinned in the next 30 seconds," Sok said.

Finally in the 189 lb. division, Brian Thompson lost to Osmond's Bahr by way of pin, but decisioned Plainview's heavyweight Acklie.

"Brian improved his strength, and overall things are looking positive for him," Sok said.

Allen defeated by Walthill for second time in two weeks

The Allen Eagles traveled to Walthill, Friday night, to play a team that had beaten them by 53 points on a neutral court earlier in the season.

After everything was said and done, the Eagles had made it closer, but not by much as Walthill routed the Eagles 73-41.

Allen Head Coach Dave Uldrich says his team again turn the ball over entirely too much. "We had 41 turnovers," Uldrich said. "That is way too many, especially when your opponent has only committed 20."

Uldrich also noted that the free throw shooting may have told a similar story that led to the surmise of the Eagles. "We hit 40 percent of our free throws," Uldrich said. "Several of our misses were front end of one-and-ones."

Allen started the evening by sticking right to the heavily favored Walthill. Midway through the first quarter the score was tied at four.

That was as close as the Eagles would come. Walthill went on a 16-2 spurt to end the quarter leading by 14, at 20-6.

By intermission, Walthill had stretched its lead to 16, at 33-17. Allen unable to muster any offensive threat in the game, saw the second half end similar to the way things were in the first meeting between the two squads.

Walthill outscored the Eagles 40-24 in the second half to route Allen by 32 points.

Uldrich found a couple bright spots on the evening. "I felt early in the game we were really doing some things well," Uldrich said. "Then we had a couple quick turnovers which led to easy buckets, and they were off."

The second area that pleased Uldrich was the defense they played on Walthill's Dan Wigert. "Last time we played them, he had about 25 points," Uldrich said. "This time we gave him only one bucket."

Allen had but one player in double figures, as Tyler Harder notched 13 points on the evening. Allen will try to get that first win this Friday when they play Emerson-Hubbard.

Laurel girls lose home game

Laurel defeats Hartington

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

The Laurel Bears may not have won pretty, but the end result was a victory Thursday night, as they defeated visiting Hartington 59-52.

Laurel Head Coach Mark Hrabik was not critical of his team's performance, but he thought that they played a little sluggish after the two day lay off due to the inclement weather.

"We only shot 35 percent from the field," Hrabik said. "It seemed like we really came out flat. Overall I think our play was just a little below normal," Hrabik added.

The smaller Hartington team came out in a man-to-man defense against Laurel, and the toll was somewhat costly in the beginning.

"We really had the size advantage," Hrabik said. "When they came out in a man defense, we just took the ball inside and got some easy shots."

The Bears jumped out to a 19-12 lead after one quarter of play. In the second quarter, Hartington seemed to find in its best interest to get out of the man defense and get into a zone.

"When they went to a zone, they packed the middle really well," Hrabik said. "We weren't hitting the outside shot, so their zone was working."

At intermission, Hrabik's Bears held a 31-25 lead. In the third and fourth quarter, Hartington could not overcome the early deficit they had gotten themselves into.

Although Hrabik was not overly impressed with the victory, he was pleased with the win and the play of Scott Marquardt.

"Scott is the type of player who does what he has to do to get the job done," Hrabik said. "It seems when the other players are struggling, Marquardt takes the leadership role. When the other players are on, Marquardt accepts that, and lets it happen," Hrabik added.

Never-the-less, Marquardt came out with the hot hand for the Bears.

He ended the contest with a game high 20 points, including two 3-point field goals.

Other players in double figures for the Bears include John Schutte's 13 points, and Kyle Nixon's 11 points. Laurel did not rebound Hartington 37-27. Turnovers may have told the story for the winning Bears. Laurel committed 13 turnovers, while Hartington suffered 22.

"Hartington really played hard," Hrabik said. "They were aggressive and they really hustled."

However, the downfall for Hartington seemed to be the size disadvantage and the quick spurt by Laurel in the first quarter.

Everybody has a bad game some time. For Laurel's Lady Bears, the result of playing a less than appealing game on both sides of the ball, ended in a 49-32 loss at the hands of visiting Hartington Thursday night.

Laurel Head Coach Pam Thies offered no excuses for the way her team played. "We just didn't play a good game," Thies said. "It's obvious that the two days off from practice really affected the girls."

This said that there wasn't any one person that stood out for her Bears. "No one had that great of a game," Thies said.

From the opening tip off, Hartington was off and running. The visitors jumped out to a 12-4 lead after one quarter of play. "We didn't shoot that much," Thies said. "I really don't know what the girls were running. It seemed like we were free lancing, and then we would turn it over," Thies added.

The bright spot for the Lady Bears was the second quarter. Laurel outgained Hartington 10-3 in the second quarter to draw within one at intermission, 15-14.

However, the second half, was less than pretty for the home team. Laurel was outscored 34-18 in the third and fourth quarters combined to give the visitors a 17 point victory. Thies noted the play of Hartington's Jill Harbolsheimer. "They got some quality points out of Harbolsheimer," Thies said. "She scored 12 of her game high 22 points in the fourth quarter alone."

Leading the scoring for the Lady Bears was Becky Christensen. The senior post player netted 10 points while hauling down 13 rebounds. Dawn Addison was right behind Christensen in both categories, scoring eight points and grabbing 12 rebounds.

Kim Mathiason added six points in a losing cause for the Lady Bears. As a team, Laurel was not rebounded by five at 39-34. Perhaps the key to Laurel's loss was the 31 turnovers they suffered.

"It seemed like they used a switch defense the whole game," Thies said. "We couldn't overcome it and we suffered too many turnovers."

Wildcat players among CSC leaders

The Central States Intercollegiate Conference, recently came out with statistical leaders through games played to Jan. 16.

In men's play, Wayne State is averaging 74.7 points per game, while giving up 76.1. The Wildcats are shooting nearly 46 percent from the floor.

The free throw shooting percentage fell off the pace from what it was earlier in the season. Wayne State is hitting 68 percent of its charity tosses.

Individually, Scott Hurley is fifth in the CSC in scoring, averaging 18.2 points per game. Hurley trails Jeff Greene, Pittsburg State, who leads the conference in scoring averaging 24.3 points per contest.

Hurley is fourth in the conference in 3 point field goal percentage, connecting on nearly 41 percent of his attempts, 42-103.

Hurley is yet in another category, this being free throw percentage. Hurley is sixth, with a shooting percentage of 80 percent from the line, hitting 53-66.

Mike McNamara is in four statistical categories. McNamara is third in field goal percentage, hitting nearly 59 percent of his shots. McNamara is also seventh in the conference in rebounding, averaging 7.2 caroms per contest. He is eighth in assists, averaging 3.1 per game.

McNamara is 20th in scoring with 11.1 points per game.

Russ Rosenquist is also 20th in scoring in the CSC with 11.1 points per contests. Wade Behlen, is Wayne State's final representative among the category leaders with assists. Behlen is ninth averaging 3.0 per game.

In women's play, the Lady Wildcats are averaging 69.0 points per game, while giving up 63.0. Wayne State is hitting 64 percent of its free throws, connecting on 155-242 attempts.

Individually, Michelle Blomberg is ranked in four categories. Blomberg is first in free throw percentage, netting nearly 87 percent of her shots.

Blomberg is second in 3-point percentage. She has made more 3 pointers than anyone in the conference, but she has more than doubled the closest competitor in attempts. Blomberg has hit 32 percent of her long range attempts.

Blomberg is fourth in assists in the conference, dishing out nearly five per contest, while in scoring, she is 13th, averaging nearly 13 points per game.

Seven players earn 3.0 GPA's

Seven Wayne State men's basketball players finished the first semester with grade points above 3.0, according to Head Men's Basketball Coach Steve Aggers.

The seven included three named to the Dean's List and Honor Roll. Leading the way was sophomore point guard Wade Behlen with a 3.729 G.P.A., qualifying him for the President's Honor Roll.

Behlen is a business major from Columbus.

Keith Berg, a senior from Martinsdale, Mont., earned a 3.367 G.P.A., and was named to the Dean's List. Also on the Dean's List was sophomore guard Tim Wobken of Scribner, at 3.338.

As a team the Wildcats finished with a semester grade point of 2.640.

"These players have a definite commitment to their classes and our program emphasizes hard work in the classroom as well as on the court," Aggers said. "Their performances in the first semester reflect that hard work and dedication."

BUSINESS FOCUS

State National Bank and Trust is state's only fourth generation bank

In 1881 Henry Ley and his family moved from Jordan, Minnesota to Wayne, Nebraska where he opened a general store. The store was housed in a two-story brick building on the northeast corner of Third and Main Streets, named The German Store.

In 1892 he applied for a bank charter. This charter was approved for The State Bank of Wayne. The bank opened for business on the southwest corner of Second and Main Streets.

In 1929 Rollie W. Ley, the son of Henry Ley and President of the bank at that time, applied to the Comptroller of the Currency for a national charter. The application was approved and the State Bank was converted into The State National Bank on Jan. 6, 1930.

In 1967, Henry E. Ley, the grandson of Henry Ley and President of the bank at that time, applied for Trust Powers which were granted on Dec. 29, 1967. The name was then changed to its present State National Bank and Trust Company.

In 1970 David Ley, the grandson of Henry Ley and present President of the bank, joined the bank making it the only fourth generation bank in Nebraska.

This bank has always been a believer in public service and during the years its leaders have devoted much time to this purpose, including: Henry Ley, State Legislator, 1889; Rollie W. Ley, State Guarantee Fund Commissioner from 1923 to 1928; and Henry E. Ley, State Director of Banking from 1964-67 and 1971-74.

At the present time, bank officers and employees continue to serve in many capacities throughout the community. The bank has been supported during its history either in its active operation or on its Board of Directors by such pioneers and local residents as Robert Skiles, John F. Sherban, C.A. Chase, J.W. Fox and Fred S. Berry. Other more recent eminent directors have been Herman Lundberg; former governor Val Peterson; Carl Nuss; A.L. Swan and John C. Carhart.

The present Board of Directors, besides operational officers includes such illustrious people as J. Alan Cramer, publisher of many newspapers; Dr. J.J. Liska of Wayne Veterinary Clinic; Kenneth M. Olds of Olds, Swarts and Ensz Law Office; Dean C. Pierson of Northeast Insurance Agency; and Harold E. Hein, retired banker, as Advisory Director.

The bank has grown and prospered under these managements and associates. The oldest recorded certified statement is that of Dec. 1, 1898, showing capital structure of $34,787.38 and total assets of $79,831.05. From this small beginning, it has grown in 96 years to an asset valuation of over $50 million with a capital structure of over $4.5 million.

The main bank was completely destroyed by fire on Jan. 2, 1986. Business continued at the Drive-in Facility at 10th and Main Streets until Jan. 6, when the main bank opened its temporary location at 116 West First Street.

Customers and townspeople were very cooperative and understanding of the adversity encountered and at present the bank is functioning comfortably at this location.

Financial institutions build their operation on various principals. Our approach is simple. This bank, nor any interest in it, is owned or controlled by individuals who have not had a family or director relationship. No officer or director owns any interest in any other bank. Accordingly, the product of our labor strengthens one bank, its employees, the City of Wayne and the surrounding territory. A simple formula for the benefit of all concerned is always the best. This has been our history, and will be our future.

PEACE OF MIND

A safety deposit box protects your valuables and important documents from loss, theft or being destroyed by fire. You'll never have to worry where they are, and always know that they're safely tucked away for just pennies a day. It's a small price to pay for a whole lot of security.
