Post office reducing window hours

By Chuck Hackenmiller

Window service weekday hours at the Wayne Post Office will be reduced, according to Wayne Postmäster

Current hours at the Wayne Post Office service window are from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., with the lobby open 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The new hours at the service win dow, from Monday through Friday, will be from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and from 12:15 to 4:30 p.m. The service window will be closed from 11:30 a.m. to 12:15 p.m.

"In a recent local survey, we found fewer people coming to the window between 8-8:30 a.m. and from 11:30 a.m. to 12:15 p.m.," said Postmaster

Jones said the current Saturday hours at the post office window will be changed, open from 8:30 to 10 a.m. He added that the lobby will remain open 24 hours each day, where a stamp vending machine, stamp booklet vending machine and a copy machine will be available. The post office box section will also be open at

City accepts paving petition

By Chuck Hackenmiller

On a snowy Tuesday evening, the Wayne City Council made quick work of a small agenda.

First action taken by the city councli was to approve a petition submit-ted for creation of a paving district on the east edge of Wayne, near the McCright property. City Administrator Phil Kloster said the Wayne Planning and Zoning Commission had approved the replat of the property. "Now they will have to consider rezoning it. It will be part of a rezoning area," said Kloster.

Kloster said the first thing that is scheduled to be built on the property will be a car wash, as was originally proposed last year by Dan McCright (to be located east of the Pizza Hut).

Next on the agenda was to set a date of Feb. 23 at 7:45 p.m. to receive bids on a police car.

Then, the council approved_seven.

chapters of a revised personnel policy manual, with more chapters to

The approved chapters covered such topics as to why a personnel manual is needed, responsibility and roles of the department heads, defin-ing affirmative action, special employment programs, temporary positions, process of filling vacancies, appointments, probationary period and employee evaluations.

PRIOR TO dealing with the agenda topics, Mayor Wayne Marsh read communications from Congressman Doug Bereuter Bereuter detailed the steps he had taken to assist the city of Wayne in gaining financing for cor rective measures which must be completed at the city's wastewater treatment plant.

The corrections are required to bring the city back into compliance with discharge regulations. Also during the meeting, City Ad-ministrator Phil Kloster was asked ministrator Phil Kloster was asked about what type of construction was taking place near the entry of the east side of City Hall

Kloster said the structure will be a glass-enclosed vestibule, designed to

Educational barriers to be removed

Wayne-Carroll Middle School and High School will undergo modifica-tion to remove educational barriers and make the school facilities more accessible to the disabled.

Major improvements will include installing chair lifts for three levels at the Middle School and lifts for two levels at the High School, according to Superintendent Francis Haun.

Haun said that the school district will be receiving $25,000 in upfront money for the barrier removal pro-jects. The total cost for all barrier emovals at the schools, where in the future at least two disabled students vill attend, is $102,000.

However, Haun said up to 95 per-cent of the expense in conforming to the standards prescribed will be reimbursable. "It should not cost the school district anything over $9,000,''

Other areas in the schools which will require modification include the restrooms, door handles and drink

Another consideration would be to purchase a multi-purpose van with a lift. Of the school district's two vans — only one can have a lift installed in it. And that van currently has over 100,000 miles on it, according to Haun.

Also on Tuesday, the board of education gave approval to proceed with the establishment of a Wayne-Carroll Public School Foundation.

CAP PETERSON, a member of the school board who with other board members Arnold Emry and Becky Keidel was on a committee to study the foundation issue, recommended that the board of education proceed

There are many things that attribute to a basketball team's success in a season. Of course a winning record is great, and being rated in the top ten in the state is definitely a statement about your team. However, there are a couple things that aren't as glamorous as the ratings and the records, but are more important. In fact, without them the records and ratings are meaningless.

The first is a team's ability to peak at the right time. Obviously, the ideal time-to-peak is districts, or right before districts so you have momentum going in.

Ideal #time-to-peak-is-districts, or right before districts so you have momentum going in.

You see, all the records are thrown out come district time, after of course the seedings are arranged. It's happened more than once where a team with a .500 record or close to it, has peaked at districts and have ended up downtown Lincoln in the Bob Devaney Sports Center.

The other area that seems to be a hoax is the rating system. What people fall to realize is that the ratings are based usually on one mans belief on who the top ten teams in the state are before the state tournaments begin.

On with the top to the begin.

Oh sure it's nice to read who they think is worthy of the top ten, but again, very seldom do you see the states top team in Class A and Class B win its final game of the season.

In Class C and D. it's usually the same way. However, this year Atking the Class C and D. it's usually the same way. However, this year Atking the Class C and D. it's usually the same way.

But even Atkinson has to watch out for the likes of Fairfield Sandy Creek who also owns a zero in the loss column.
Alliance seems to be atop the Class B standings right now, even though they are traditionally known as the wrestling capitol of the state.

If I were a gambling man, I'd bet that Alliance won't see the finals of this years state basketball tournament.
Looking at the area schools, I see four teams that have the ability to go along way come district time if the pieces all fit together. In fact a couple of my four teams seem to be peaking right about now which will undoubtedly pay dividends if it keeps up.
The first is Laurel. Head Coach Mark Hrabik has his Bears growling in their past few games. In the most recent action, Laurel traveled to Coleridge to take on the third rated team in the state, and beat them by 10 on the Bultdoop home court. the Bulldogs home court.

Not only have they won the last two ball games by a combined margin of 40 points, the balanced scoring attack is what stands out the most.

Sophomore John Schutte is beginning to give opponents headaches. Schutte the big gun on the inside for the Bears has an excellent field of vision on the court, and as soon as the defense collapses on him, he has the ability to find the open tearmmate for a 12-15 footer.

And boy do they have some shooters. Point guard Doug Manz is always a potential threat for the 3-pointer as is Scott Marquardt and Kyle Nixon.

Joedy Cunningham also has the ability to go inside as well as shoot the

The Bears have a quality mix of speed and shooting and inside

The Bears have a quality mix of speed and shooting and inside strength that could make them a darkhorse in districts. My second feam that is coming on is the Wayne Blue Devils. Wayne coming off winning the conference championship has tasted victory on the likes of two teams that had beaten them earlier, and my guess is that hey will continue to improve. Head Coach Bob Uhing seems to have his squad in sync, and with Nick Engelson playing two roles, in scoring and rebounding, the Blue Devils are that much more of a threat. Senior Scott Hammer is quietly becoming a potential scoring threat from everywhere on the court. Meanwhile Jess Zeiss is doing a great job of controlling the tempo for the Blue Devils. Jarrod Wood continually hauls down double figures in rebounds in most of the games and Doug Larson seems to be getting better every game, and offsets Wood very Larson seems to be getting better every game, and offsets Wood very

Through the eyes of this writer, the Blue Devils chances rest with the bench. If they get qualify minutes from the subs by resting Engelson, Hammer, and Wood, then the Blue Devils could well be on their way. ... The Lady Blue Devils are my third team that has a chance to go far if they peak at the right time. Head Coach Marlene Uhing saw her team suffer a setback with the loss of Marnie Bruggemann with a sprained ankle ankle.

Bruggemann will be back for the Blue Devils by next week at the latest. Besides the consistent hustle and scoring ability of Dana Nelson, it seems that Hotti Patge has broken out of a recent scoring slump by scoring 14 against O'Neill.

Patge's ability to pop the 3-pointer at any time along with Nelson's ball handling and defensive stealing ability, plus her ability to pop the three pointer as well as hit the shot on the move, can spell doom for many operants.

Kristy Hansen and Heidi Reeg offset each other very well on the in-side. Hansen enjoyed a 17 point, ten rebound performance in the consola-tion game of the Conference Tournament.

The last of the four teams that seemingly continues to improve is Wakefield and Head Coach Paul Eaton.

To tell you the truth, there is nothing about Wakefield's team that I don't like. They have good inside strength with junior Stuart Clark.

They definitely have good outside shooting from seniors Scott Lund and Mike Nelson. Todd Kratke offsets the other guards well and although he doesen't score a lot of points, his defense is noticeable. Brion Larson is the fifth starter of the Trojans who also plays excellent defense.

Wakefield also sports a deep bench, made mostly of sophomore contributors. Players like Andy McQuistan, Matt Tappe, Chris Loofe and Mark Johnson will be the key to Wakefields success in district play.

The records of these four teams isn't breath taking, but who knows, they may end up being the mouse that roars the loudest come district.

Laurel's most recent back-to-back victories came in convincing fashion. Last Friday, the Bears preyed on visiting Bloomfield.

The Bears showed respect to the visitors for the first quarter of play. Then under the direction of sophomore John Schutte, Laurel caught fire and never looked back enroute to the 30 point win, 72-42.

Schutte dominated the inside and netted 25 points while hauling down 17 rebounds.

"We really picked it up in the second quarter." Hrabik said. "We got up by 12 but then we slacked off and let Bloomfield back into the game with some full court drives for lay-ups."

Farm survey underway

Marge Hassler of Hubbard will be calling on several farm families beginning Feb. 15, and throughout the next six weeks, asking for cooperation in filling out the fourth annual Farm Cost and Returns

Farmers with both large and smaller operations were selected to participate in the survey, which will be used to collect information from up to 24,000 farmers and ranchers nationalide.

Hassler will collect data on farm expenses, finances, capital purchases and 1987 costs of production. The information will be used to assess the economic well-being of dif ferent sizes and types of farms in dif-ferent parts of the country.

Survey findings will also be used to estimate costs and returns for producing individual commodities.

"Being a farm wife myself, I know how busy farmers are, and I know that surveys can be time consum-ing." said Hassler. "But I also know how important it is to have accurate, detailed, up-to-date information of financial conditions throughout agriculture. A lot of people depend on it, and reliable, current information has to come from the source — the farmers themselves."

The Wayne Herald, Thursday, February 11, 1988

THE NEBRASKA survey is being conducted by the Nebraska Agricultureal Statistics Service in Lincoln, headed by Jack Aschwege.

"This survey," Aschwege said, "is one of our most Important because it reflects the economic health of Nebraska's most important resource - agriculture."

To make the survey interviews as convenient as possible for par-ticipating farmers, Hassler will con-duct the interviews in the farmer's home. Most farmers selected for interviews have already been notified by mail, and Hassler will try to set up by mail, and Hassier will try to set up a convenient time.

Responses to the survey are confidential. After the survey data is reviewed and summarized, the Nebraska Agricultural Statistics Service will destroy the individual-farm questionnaires.

Those that participate in the survey will receive a summary of the results on a state, regional or na-tional level and also "Nebraska Agri-Facts," a useful bimonthly release covering agricultural estimates and forecasts

News Briefs

Loans not extended

Nine-month 1987 crop wheat, feed grains and soybean price support loans will not be extended for an additional one-year period.

As these 1987 crop loans mature, producers can either repay the loan; use commodity which has been pledged as collateral for the loan; or deliver the loan collateral to the CCC in full settlement of the loan.

Also 1985 and 1986 crop wheat, feed grains and soybean loans that have been extended will not be extended further when they mature.

Producers with these loans have the same options available to them as producers with 1987 crop loans.

Poll study conducted on race

If a vote were held today, Democrat Bob Kerrey would have a decided edge over either of two possible Republican opponents for a seat in the U.S. Senate.

That was one of the results of That was one of the results of a telephone poll taken in January-for the Nebraska Press Association by Consumers Data Service of Oklahoma City.
The study also showed incumbent Sen: "David Karnes holding an edge over his opponent, Rep. Hal Daub, for the Republican nomination."

nent, Rep. Hal Daub, for the Republican nomination. The telephone poll surveyed 1,001 registered voters in all Nebraska counties except Lan-caster, Douglas and Sarpy.

It asked of 421 registered epublicans: ''If the registered Republicans: ''If the Republicans: ''If the Republican U.S. Senate primary election were held today and David Karnes and Hal Daub were the candidates, which wold you vote for?''

Karnes was named by 26.1 percent; Daub by 22.3; 33.7 percent were undecided; 17.8 percent did not respond.

Of 1,001 registered voters from both parties the question was: "If the U.S. Senate general election were held today and you had a choice of David Karnes, Hal Daub and Bob Kerrey, which one would you vote for?"

Kerrey was favored by 38 percent; Karnes by 11.7; Daub, 9.5; undecided, 31.7; no

Daub, 9.5; undecided, 31.7; no response, 9.2 percent.
Barry Newton, director of the poll, said the responses had a 3.2 percent margin of error.
Out of 62 questions only two focused on politics, he said.
The remainder centered on readership of non-metropolitan daily and weekly newspapers in Nebraska.

The Golden Years by Gil Haase

If you're a senior citizen who's thinking about going back to school, or just taking an adult education course or two, you're in good company. The Center for Education Statistics reported that the number of people 65 and older enrolled in such academic activity jumped from 765,000 to 866,000 from 1981 to 1984. And, says one gerontologist, older people. says one gerontologist, older peo-ple make excellent students ple make excellent students because they've resolved a lot of the social and sexual issues that occupy their younger class

The job market for older people will improve greatly within the next 10 years, according to futurists. Many of these job haven't been invented yet. The transition itself will-create tions that will have to be filled by knowledgeable seniors. Older knowledgeable seniors. Older people could work as "technoguides," suggests Drexel University sociologist Arthur Shostak. They could test new high-tech advances, offer suggestions on how they might be made practical for consumers, and then assist in their use.

New Type of Contact Lens

Although the first plastic contact lens were officially introduced in the United States in the late 1940s, it was not until the mid-1950s that such lens began to be widely accepted. In the 1970s soft contact lens were introduced and became popular almost immediately. Other developments in contact lens included oxygen ard lens, tortic astigmatism, tinted lens, and the more recent extended-wear lens.

The newest development in contact lens was announced recently by the Food and Drug Administration in the approval of lens which protect the eyes from the potentially harmful effects of ultraviolet (UV) light. The manufacturer of the new lens is CooperVision, a California-based company that has been selling the UV light-blocking lens in Canada and other European countries during the last year. The company has been approved to market the new lens for daily wear and extended wear.

The lens contains a UV light absorbing material which is placed into the lens during the manufactur-ing process. The material absorbs light in the UV range while allowing visible light to pass through.

they told him there weren't enough pats on the back. I did an inservice for the Norfolk firemen last week and they com-plained of the same thing. We're all used to hearing from our peers and/or our supervisors when we mess up; but we'd like to hear about the times we did things right!

I've noticed some little changes at school activities this year and I'd like to publicly affirm them. Fans have been standing and cheering more frequently. They've been applauding the teams, win or lose. We've thanked the players for participating. Last week Winside guys and gals played top-seeded teams and they played them tough. They can feel good about how they performed.
