At Redeemer Lutheran Church

Dramatizations enhance Lenten season

By LaVon Anderson
Assistant Editor

The church lights dim as a lone figure slowly makes his way down the aisle.

The spotlight this night will be on Judas — Judas Iscariot — a disciple who would later betray Jesus for 30 pieces of silver.

Judas has returned during the 1988 Lenten season to visit with the Rev. Wallace Wolff and members of Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wayne.

He is just one of five Biblical characters to stand before the congregation and explain the role he played in the passion story.

LENTEN SERVICES at Redeemer Lutheran began on Ash Wednesday with a sermon and communion service conducted by Pastor Wolff.

The dramatizations began the following Wednesday night and continued through March 23. Instead of the pastor giving a sermon, he would visit with the Biblical characters who introduced themselves and shared their messages.

Portraying Judas was Lyle Skov. Other members of the congregation taking part in the dramatizations were Dave Olson as Peter, Dean Bilslein as Herod, Donna Lutt as Claudia (Pilot's wife), and Keith Kopperud as the Centurion Longinus.

The Lenten theme was "Come to the Cross and the Way of the Cross."

"RESPONSE FROM the congregation has been wonderful," says Wolff, who has served as interim pastor at Redeemer Lutheran since last August.

Wolff added that attendance for Lent this year doubled and tripled from previous years.

"We're on a cloud here," smiles the pastor. "The talent and ability in this congregation is unbelievable, and it's been nice to tap those talents."

Wolff said members of the congregation selected to take part in the dramatizations worked hard studying their characters.

Their dramatizations were made more real through the use of make-up and hair styling done by Mitch

Nissen, and costumes created by Roberta Carman.

WOLFF SAID the idea for the Lenten dramatizations came about following a brainstorming session with members of the church's worship and music committee.

The pastor is quick to point out that this is not the first time the Lenten dramatizations have been used at Redeemer Lutheran, although it is a new experience for many members of the congregation.

Fifteen years ago the dramatizations were presented under the leadership of the late Rev. S. K. deFreese.

"We began a search for Pastor deFreese's original material and were fortunate enough to find his records," says Wolff, adding that although new material was added, much of it remains as written by deFreese 15 years ago.

THE SCRIPT was written in dialogue form with Biblical characters responding to questions from Pastor Wolff as well as visiting with the congregation concerning their roles around the cross.

The conversations, points out Wolff, are based almost exclusively on scripture. "The characters are presenting a message about themselves.

"SOMETHING LIKE this could not be done every year," says the pastor, "and it definitely could not be done without a lot of research, planning, cooperation and volunteer effort on the part of many people. It was much more work than I had anticipated.

"Fortunately, we found people who were very willing and worked very hard."

Wolff added that the mood at Redeemer Lutheran this Lenten season has been one of enthusiasm and appreciation as well as devotional. "The congregation seems to be filled with an attitude of worship and commitment."

THE PASTOR said it is also exciting to witness the reactions from the very old to the very young.

"Last week the Centurion Longinus entered from the back of the church. 'Pastor?', asked one of the children, 'Is he bad? Will he kill Jesus?'"

Pastor Wolff is especially pleased at the involvement of Sunday school children this Lenten season. In addition to Biblical characters visiting during Wednesday night worship services, the youngsters are also learning about each of Jesus' disciples in Sunday school. The theme has been "Disciples Around the Cross." Pastor Wolff has also talked about the disciples during his Sunday morning children's sermons.

THE LENTEN season at Redeemer Lutheran will continue tonight (Maundy Thursday) with communion services at 6:30 and 8 p.m.

Visiting the church for the Good Friday Tenebrae service at 7:30 p.m., entitled "I Was There," will be Doubt (Erna Karel), Sorrow (Ray Butts), Fear (Margaret Anderson), Shame (Vera Hummel), Agony (Bill Lueders), Hate (Norma Denking) and Death (Richard Mettfer).

"Each of these characters (of temptations)," explains Pastor Wolff, "will tell how they attempted to prevent Jesus from going the way of the cross. None succeed until death appears and declares his triumph."

Following death's declaration of triumph, Wolff said the church will be engulfed in darkness for several seconds before a flicker of light appears representing the light of Christ. Each of the characters (temptations) will reappear, having been forgiven and redeemed, and will light a candle from the Christ candle on the cross.

Although the Good Friday service is a very somber service, Wolff said he does not want it to end without hope.

The service will conclude with flickers of light appearing throughout the church inviting the congregation to return Easter morning to the place where Jesus lay.

The crosses of Lent

As Christians around the world turn their heads and hearts to the cross this Lenten season, worshippers at Redeemer Lutheran Church have gone one step further and responded to an invitation to share their "Crosses of Lent."

Hundreds of crosses adorn the narthex of the church — from very old to very new, from handmade to mass produced, from wooden twigs to gold and silver, and in all sizes.

"It's a wonderful thing going on here," says the Rev. Wallace Wolff. "I never dreamed the response would be this great when I asked members of the church to bring their crosses from home and share them with fellow worshippers."

IT ALL BEGAN early in the Lenten season when a large wooden cross, with a crown of thorns placed upon it, was erected on the church lawn. The cross was constructed by church member John Anderson and includes a spotlight at night.

As a result, Pastor Wolff asked members of the congregation to count the number of crosses located both inside and outside the church.

The pastor also approached the church council concerning an idea in which he would ask members of the church to bring their favorite crosses from home for display in the church.

"People didn't get enthusiastic about the idea at first," recalls Pastor Wolff. "Where will you place them? How will you put them up?" they asked.

On water project

City asks for bids

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

A resolution concerning the acceptance of the plans and specifications for the city's water system improvements, submitted by the Howard R. Green Company of Spirit Lake, Iowa, was approved Tuesday evening by the Wayne City Council.

The city council has established the date of April 26, at 7:40 p.m., for the bid opening on the water system improvements.

Improvements to the water system include the projects of constructing a transmission line from the well field (located approximately six miles north of the city) to the city of Wayne.

The estimated cost of the project will be $1.18 million, according to John Franklin, a representative of the Howard R. Green engineering firm.

At a council meeting earlier in March, the city council was told that there were high levels of iron and manganese near the new well field site.

However, after more tests were taken closer to the new well and procedures were closely observed by city personnel in obtaining samples, different results were tabulated and considered by the council as satisfactory.

The iron and manganese levels were significantly lower than what the maximum standard set by the Environmental Protection Agency.

"In these tests, the test hole was four inches [instead of two inches] and the hole was pumped for 24 hours before the sample was taken," said Franklin.

Franklin said the two samples from the most recent testing were taken at the end of 24 hours and sent to labs in Iowa and the Nebraska State Department of Health. "The results are that both of the tests are very similar," said Franklin.

"It showed that there is high quality water out there. The water there is better than what you're drinking [in the city] right now," he said.

Franklin said all the information on the well site samples have been forwarded to the Department of Health.

He said the depth of the well will be approximately 270 feet, to the bottom of the aquifer.

City Administrator Phil Kloster said he had visited the Department of Health officials about the depth of the well.

"At that depth, there is a lot less chance of suffering nitrate problems or other leeching problems that are often prevalent in shallow wells," said Kloster.

"Has the state Department of Health approved of all this?" asked Councilman Freeman Decker.

"Yes they have. They have all this data," replied Franklin.

Possible reasons for the variation in the water samples from tests previously were that the test holes should have been pumped before taking the samples; or that there may have been a problem with quality control; or that there may have been isolated pockets of iron and manganese in the aquifer.

Franklin said the plans and specifications for the transmission line to the city have been approved by the Department of Health.

Kloster told the council that although contractor bids may be lower than anticipated, he said the material costs seem to be inching upward. "I believe it is prudent to get the project in the bidder's hands soon," Kloster said.

The April 26 bid opening date is "about 30 days behind what we had hoped for," Kloster said.

Mark Dorcey

Dorcey seeks write-in vote

Mark Dorcey of Dakota City has announced he will be a write-in candidate for the Nebraska State Legislature from the 17th District, which represents Dakota, Dixon and Wayne Counties.

Dorcey had previously filed for the legislature using a facsimile, which was later ruled unacceptable by the Nebraska Attorney General's office.

Those who have already filed for the position are Incumbent Gerald Conway of Wayne and challenger Tore Nelsen of Emerson.

"The support and encouragement from the people in the 17th District has been overwhelming and was a contributing factor in making the decision to be a write-in candidate. I am looking forward to serving the people in the district," said Dorcey.

Dorcey was elected Register of Deeds for Dakota County in 1982 and was re-elected in 1986. He has served on the Board of Trustees, Wayne State Foundation; president of the Dakota County Board of Realtors; president of the Dakota County American Cancer Society; is a national sponsor of the Northeast Nebraska Ducks Unlimited; and was formerly state director of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

He is a graduate of Wayne State College and is a broker with Century 21 State National.

Dorcey is a Vietnam veteran. He is a member of the Dakota City Planning and Zoning Commission, South Sioux Eagles, South Sioux Kiwanis, Homebuilders Association, Knights of Columbus, South Sioux Chamber of Commerce, Dakota City Business Organization, and the VFW Post 10753 Hirschbach-Watson.

For energy improvements

School receives loan

The Nebraska Energy Office has earmarked $85,554 in no-interest loan funds from the Nebraska School Energy Efficiency Loan Program to make building improvements in the Wayne-Carroll High School building. Governor Kay Orr stated that the Nebraska School Energy Efficiency Loan Program is funded from a portion of the oil and natural gas severance tax collected by the state.

"This project," said Gary Rex, director of the Policy Research and Energy Office, "will add roofing and insulation, insulated glazing, a vestibule on the north side of the building, make lighting modifications in the auditorium and gymnasium, install night setback thermostats, add exhaust timers and weatherstripping." According to Rex, the projected first year savings on the project should equal $12,222. "Under the program, one-half of the savings is earmarked annually to repay the loan and the school district gets to keep the other half of the savings," said Rex. "We expect the loan will be repaid within 14 years."

The Wayne-Carroll School District received a $2,500 grant from the Energy Office which identified various building improvements being made. A federal grant of $12,495 from the Institutional Conservation Program, and $9,456 from the school district's cash resources, will be used to complete the project.

East of Wayne

Council rezones property

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

An ordinance rezoning a substantial parcel of property east of Wayne was approved by the Wayne City Council following a public hearing on the matter Tuesday night in the council chambers.

The McCright Subdivision rezoning from present B-3 or Light Industrial to Highway Business was recommended to the city for approval by the city's planning and zoning commission.

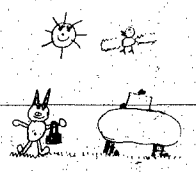

Businesses in the rezoning area, which covers property south of Highway 35 between Valley Drive and Centennial Road, include El Toro, Pizza Hut, Midland Equipment and the Wayne Veterinary Clinic. There was no opposition to the rezoning request during the city council public hearing or during the planning and zoning meeting when the recommendation was made.

An auto and truck wash is being planned for the McCright property. The developer of the car wash said the business will have three car bays and one open bay for trucks. There will be wand-type sprayers in the bays for people to manually wash their vehicles, along with brushes in each bay, soap, wax and high pressure rinsing.

Property within the proposed rezoning site has already been spot zoned highway business recently, specifically in the location where a proposed motel was to be built.

There have been no property transfers relating to the sale of the property for the motel, as of Tuesday, and there hasn't been any indication that the motel would or would not be built on the site.

The city council also passed an ordinance giving notice of creation of a street improvement district, which would serve the proposed truck and car wash on the McCright premises.

At A Glance

Spring ahead!

People will be losing an hour of sleep this weekend. The conversion to Daylight Savings Time takes place late on Saturday evening or early Easter morning — whichever you prefer.

Our readers are reminded to move the clock hands ahead an hour.

New rates

The new postal rate increases will take place on Sunday, April 3.

The cost of a First-Class stamp will be 25 cents for the first ounce; 20 cents for each additional ounce. The Express Mail rate has been reduced to $.75 for the first half-pound. Priority Mail items weighing up to two pounds will remain unchanged at $2.40.

Postal cards will cost 15 cents. Certified mail will be 85 cents and Insured Mail (for up to $500 in liability) will be 70 cents and up.

Out for votes

Dixon County Farm Bureau is again sponsoring a "Meet the Candidates Night" at the Allen School Auditorium Monday evening, April 4 at 7:30 p.m.

This is an opportunity for all the voters in Dixon County to meet the candidates from all political parties who will be on the ballot at the primary election in May — for national, state or county-wide office.

The candidates have been invited to appear in person, or have someone representing them, to present their campaign platform.

There will be an opportunity for the candidates to respond to questions from the audience and there will also be a coffee hour for informal visiting.

Tillage talk

Frank Morse and Rod Patient, extension agents in the Quad County area, announced to upcoming coffee shop meetings on Tuesday, April 5 to discuss conservation tillage.

The meetings will be at the Carroll Steakhouse in Carroll at 9:30 a.m. and at the Winside Stop Inn in Winside at 2:30 p.m.

These informal question and answer meetings are designed to provide more personalized assistance to producers with questions concerning planting equipment, weed control, conservation plans and other aspects of conservation tillage.

Bryn Dolech, Paul Jasa and Dave Shelton, extension specialists, will answer questions and share information on how producers have adopted conservation tillage and no-till. Larry Wetterberg of the Wayne County SCS will be available to answer questions on conservation tillage and other conservation practices in relation to the government programs and conservation plans.

Grass fire

The Winside Volunteer Fire Department responded to a grass fire call on Friday afternoon, March 25. The fire consumed about 20 acres of grassland and was located three south, one west and 1/2 mile south of Winside.

Just aluminum

Region IV only accepts aluminum beer or pop cans, not aluminum foil or wire which can cause damage to the crusher.

Be sure that you have only aluminum pop or beer cans in the sack when taking the items to Region IV for recycling.

Grant

Dr. Randy Shaw and Dennis Linster, professor and assistant professor of applied science at Wayne State College of Nebraska, have had their grant proposal approved by AutoDesk Incorporated, Sausalito, Calif.

The grant includes over $15,000 worth of computer-aided drafting (CAD) software and related literature. The advent of CAD has opened fields relating to drafting and design to many physically handicapped individuals.

Presents paper

At the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences annual meeting in San Francisco next month, Dr. Paul V. Campbell of Wayne State College will present a paper which he and Michael A. Stoley, criminal justice instructor of Northeast Community College and WSC, authored. The paper is titled "Integrating Security Management into the Criminal Justice Degree."

Criminal justice is a cooperative program between Northeast and WSC. Northeast offers the first two years of a four-year program with options in corrections, law enforcement and security management. The upper division courses are offered at Wayne.

Reminder to readers

If your address label on the front of your Wayne Herald reads "4-88", and you have not yet renewed your subscription, your subscription will expire after this issue.

Renewal notice postcards no longer will be sent to subscribers receiving The Wayne Herald via U.S. Postal Service delivery. Instead, readers are asked to observe their mailing label which clearly shows when their annual payment is due.

This procedure is modeled after numerous newspapers in Nebraska and elsewhere who have successfully implemented this cost-saving measure.

Local subscribers who receive their newspaper by Herald carriers still will receive a renewal notice postcard (since those newspapers do not include an address label).

Annual subscription rates are published each issue in the staff listing masthead and include: $21.89 for readers with addresses in Wayne, Cedar, Dixon, Cuming, Stanton, Madison, Thurston and Pierce Counties; $24.20 for other Nebraska addresses and; $29.40 for readers with out-of-state addresses.

Price of purchasing single issue copies of the newspaper over the newsstand each time costs approximately 60 percent more than the regular subscription rate.

Service Station

Chris Wieseler

Marine Corporal Chris A. Wieseler of Wayne was awarded the 1987 "Marine of the Year" award for the Eastern Puerto Rico Council of the Navy League.

Corporal Wieseler was stationed at Marine Barrack, Puerto Rico from July, 1986 till January, 1988. While stationed there, the Marines guarded top officials that included Secretary of State George Schultz, Secretary of Navy Jack Webb, and they also escorted Miss USA.

Also leaving Puerto Rico was the rest of the area "Nebraska Connection" including Lance Corporals Joel S. Jorgensen, Dwight D. Schultz, Kory J. Lesberg and Rick Haase, all departing for Camp Pendleton, Calif., California.

All five Marines joined the Marine Corps together, went to boot camp and school together and in June, 1986 all reported to the Marine Corps Security Force Company in Puerto Rico.

In Puerto Rico, the five Marines were considered the "Nebraska Connection" from Wayne, Nebraska.

Gary Jacobsen

Navy Seaman Gary L. Jacobsen, son of James A. Jacobsen of Laurel has completed recruit training at Recruit Training Command, Orlando, Fla.

During Jacobsen's eight-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic fields.

Jacobsen's studies included seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

A 1987 graduate of Coleridge Community High School, Coleridge, he joined the Navy in December 1987.

Elizabeth A. Engstedt, daughter of Dennis D. and Roberta L. Engstedt of Wakefield, has been promoted in the U.S. Army to the rank of specialist four.

Engstedt is a light wheel vehicle mechanic with the 524th Military Intelligence Battalion in South Korea. She is a 1986 graduate of Wakefield High School.

Opinion

Licensing requirement needs amending.

I am cosponsoring a bill that will amend the Commercial Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1986 to exempt drivers of emergency service vehicles from the requirement that they hold a special, Federal chauffeur license. This requirement, which was part of the legislation passed in 1986, is costly. The cost of licensing each driver is between $200 and $300.

This provision is the result of concern that drivers of emergency vehicles might not have the qualifications to drive such vehicles. In fact, organizations that use volunteers to drive fire engines and ambulances conduct extensive training programs for their drivers, just as they do for medical volunteers and other volunteers.

Before Congress imposes this expensive licensing scheme on such organizations, it is important that we determine whether a problem exists with emergency vehicle drivers. This licensing requirement can cut deeply into the operating budgets of volunteer fire and other emergency service organizations. Certainly we should strive not to hurt those volunteer organizations that are most essential to Americans—especially rural Americans.

Trade and Aid Program to Develop Agriculture Export Markets

The Agricultural Aid and Trade Missions Act, passed by Congress last year, establishes a program that will not only address the food needs of designated countries, but also help those countries become larger markets for U.S. farmers.

The program will send missions offering specially designed packages of U.S. trade and food assistance to foreign countries. Each mission will include representatives from USDA, the State Department, the U.S. Agency for International Development, and the private sector.

Each mission has the following assignment:

- ★ Meet with appropriate foreign and U.S. officials in each country to help in planning the extent to which U.S. trade and aid can be used to meet the food and economic needs in that country.

- ★ Provide technical help to obtain firm commitments for food aid programs and commodity sales.
- ★ Help obtain firm commitments for food aid programs and commodity sales.

The ultimate purpose of this program is to lay the groundwork for expanded business with developing countries which have the potential for significant market growth.

Last week Congress passed some technical corrections that will get the trade-and-aid program started. The technical corrections bill also includes a two-year extension of the authorization for the Farmer-to-Farmer Program which I implemented two years ago. The Farmer-to-Farmer Program is designed to offer short-term technical and managerial assistance by U.S. farmer volunteers to farmers in developing countries. The program is directed toward the most basic, subsistence levels of agriculture.

Goodbye Ray

This is an emotionally difficult commentary for us to write. It's a farewell to someone who's been a fixture at The Wayne Herald for FOUR DECADES.

After nearly 40 years of service to the newspaper, Ray Murray will retire April 1 as press foreman. Ray's knees just can't walk any more miles back and forth on the torturous cement floor in the pressroom.

Ray made his retirement plans known to the staff about two months ago so all of us at the Herald thought we'd be "adjusted" to the fact by now...but we're not. Now that the time for Ray to step aside is finally here, we all are searching for various emotional ways to personally handle his departure.

There's no way for any of us at the Herald not to have a few lumps in our throats as we say goodbye to a respected friend and co-worker who has sacrificed and faithfully given his ALL to the company.

Just in the nine months we have known Ray after purchasing the business we quickly have grown to admire him. There's not many things in this world that are "absolutes" but it was obvious to us from the very beginning that Ray Murray represented everything that goes along with being a master craftsman AND a tremendously likeable individual in his own right. It's a dynamite combination you just don't find in many people.

Saturday evening a surprise retirement party was held for Ray involving close friends, past and present printing customers and current and former Herald workers. It was truly a memorable occasion as 40 years of local newspaper history unfolded via interesting anecdotes involving Ray's career offered by several speakers.

Gifts were presented, letters read and myriad stories told...Put simply, it was WONDERFUL to see how the near-overflow crowd came together to honor Ray. He deserved every minute of the four and a half hour gathering.

Some of the comments Saturday were humorous, some took a more serious approach. What they all had in common, however, was a genuine wish for Ray to enjoy his retirement to the fullest because he has EARNED it.

Managing Editor Chuck Hackenmiller's full page feature elsewhere in this issue does a wonderful job documenting biographical "facts" about Ray and his far-reaching career at the Herald. But to just know those objective details about Ray Murray doesn't do justice to the man who goes so much "deeper" than superficial highlights.

One of the letters from a former Herald employee hit the nail on the head Saturday evening when she figuratively noted her pleasure for being able to "travel" -- at least for a few years -- on the same "train" with Ray Murray during their "journey" through life.

Ray, we echo those sentiments. It was our DISTINCT pleasure and privilege to work with you and know you personally.

Concerns of state's tort laws being addressed

Earlier this month I wrote that my priority bill, LB 1178 had advanced from the Judiciary Committee. The bill would make substantial changes in Nebraska's tort laws, both in joint and several liability and in comparative negligence. Under current law, there is the so-called "deep-pocket" aspect of joint liability for an entire damage award even if his degree of fault is only minimal.

Under LB 1178, this would be limited. Also, the state's outmoded "slight versus gross" negligence standard would be changed to a modified comparative fault standard. Under this measure a plaintiff would collect damages so long as his share of the fault did not exceed 49 percent of the damages. For example, if the damages amounted to $100,000 and the plaintiff's negligence was found to be 40 percent, he would recover $60,000 from the defendant under the proposed change.

The Legislature debated LB 1178 on General File (first stage of floor debate) last Thursday and advanced the bill to Select File (second stage) without opposition. After I answered their questions, Senators appeared satisfied that many of their particular concerns about the state's tort

by Sen. Gerald Conway

laws are being addressed satisfactorily. With the most serious debate usually exercised during general file, I am confident that this very significant bill will pass this year. I believe these changes in our laws will be good for all Nebraskans.

Every year there seems to be one bill which erupts into a time-consuming and troublesome issue. This session, the Governor's pickle card bill, LB 1232 has turned into a battle-royal. The Governor sought to severely restrict and tax pickle card gambling in her original version of LB 1232. Since the bill was introduced, amendments have been argued and voted on. As of last Thursday, the bill has been amended to make the following changes:

- Pickle cards will be permitted to be sold on charity premises, at bingo halls, and in establishments with on-sale liquor licenses. Currently, pickles can be sold anywhere. This change outlaws pickle parlors and excluded such retail outlets as convenience stores.

• Traditional charities, veterans groups, unions, and volunteer fire departments that have been in existence in Nebraska at least five years will be able to sell pickles for income. Presently, any non-profit group can sell pickle cards.

• The amended bill also provides a minimum 65 percent and maximum 75 percent payback to players. Currently the law has a 65 percent minimum and no maximum. Higher paybacks mean less money for charities.

• The amended version also provides a new method of determining taxes based on the face-value of cards sold. The state tax will be 16 percent of definite profits whereas the present tax on the face-value of cards is 3 percent. The new 16 percent tax on definite profits is equivalent to a 4.4 percent tax on the card's face-value.

In an earlier column, I reported that the Legislature gave first-round approval to LB 1207 which would modify a law passed in 1985 (LB271). LB 1207 attempts to respond to a recent Nebraska Supreme Court ruling casting doubt on the legality of the method of valuing agricultural land (known as Amendment 4 in the state constitution). I voted against LB 271 in 1985 because of the adverse effect it would have on northeast Nebraska land values and my analysis of its flaws. The Supreme Court's ruling confirmed my earlier suspicions.

I did not vote to support LB 1207 for the same reasons and the State Attorney General has just issued a legal opinion which cast considerable doubt on the constitutionality of LB 1207. This still leaves LR 249 before the Legislature which is intended to address this problem. LR 249 would place the agricultural land valuation issue back on the ballot in November for the voters to clarify their willingness for the change. The Legislature advanced this proposal from General File with my support. This seems to be the best way to resolve the constitutional question.

Day care

As working parents in a rural community, we have recently had cause to review the Nebraska rules for family day care. It is not surprising that we have a severe shortage of persons interested in giving child care in rural Nebraska.

Nebraska laws require registration for anyone caring for more than three children under age 12 from different families. This includes the caregiver's own children. To become registered there are 96 criteria which must be met, plus a $25 fee. The caregiver's home is then subject to unannounced inspections by social services representatives.

We contend that the state is interfering with our right as parents to determine who will care for our children while we work. We do not feel that registration of a caregiver is a guarantee that our children will receive the best possible care. In a recent case in Norfolk, parents found the operator of a registered day care center guilty of mistreatment of their children -- not the state. Our children will be better off with a caregiver we personally know and trust to keep them safe, happy and healthy.

A comparison of Nebraska's regulations with those of our neighboring states is very enlightening. South Dakota requires licensure only for day care centers (facilities caring for 12 or more children). Iowa has a voluntary registration program. An individual may care for up to six children without being registered. In Missouri an individual may care for up to four children. In Kansas an individual must register to care for up to six children but no visits are made by social services representatives unless requested. Registration requires much less regulation than licensure, which is required for up to 10 children. In these states a big incentive for registration is being eligible for funds from the Child Care Food Program. In this instance we feel that regulations should be imposed and followed.

We feel that in Nebraska the family day care home should not be classified as a day care center and should not have the same regulations. The state of Iowa recognizes that "persons who provide care for children in their own homes are providing one of the most valuable services in the community." They are not expected to change their family's home into a mini-day care center and they remain in control of their own home. We believe that Nebraska should adopt the attitude of our surrounding states in child care, and that a more reasonable number of children be allowed in a family day care home before restrictions are imposed. Anyone adversely affected by these laws should take the time to write to their senator expressing their views.

Loose dogs

I am a paper carrier and sometimes I get nervous when I see a 3-ft. dog on the loose. I think dogs should be chained at all times. I don't think you should let your dogs run loose unless you live on a farm. Sometimes if you let your dog outside when you're not around, you don't know what they do. I've been barked at, snipped at, chased and bitten. Please keep your dogs chained up.

Skateboard

I think kids should be allowed to ride their skateboards on the streets. There's no place to ride them. On the sidewalk it's either too bumpy or too rough. Now, most of the time kids are smart enough to know when a car is coming.

Another thing is, ramps are pretty dangerous. Not many people know how to build a ramp. It should be that you can ride a skateboard anywhere.

Child abuse

I think child abuse should be stopped. The reason I think it should be stopped is because -- why can't the parents go to get help? Why can't they tell someone so they can help them? Some of the children might run away from their parents.

The children may move in with a friend. Many parents, I think, should think about what they are doing before they do it. What they are doing is taking their anger out on their children. People should report it if they see it happen or if they suspect something.

A message from the Nebraska Bankers in your hometown.

TODAY, THE MOST IMPORTANT THING GROWING ON NEBRASKA'S FARMS IS OPTIMISM.

Just as Nebraska agricultural producers rely on banks for their financial services, we count on them as our valued customers...and the reason we are in business.

As part of that commitment, Nebraska's banks have played a key role in developing a new source for long-term fixed rate mortgages on farmland through the new "Farmer Mac" secondary market. We continue to work with several progressive farm organizations toward establishing public policy that enhances the availability of credit for most farm operations.

These events are examples of our faith in Nebraska's agriculture...a faith that we know is shared by the citizens of Nebraska from border to border as we "honor America's providers."

Agriculture Week's theme this year was "Honoring America's Providers." No one supports this idea with more enthusiasm than Nebraskans. The economic health of agriculture affects each of us. Our entire state depends on the productivity and success of farmers and ranchers.

The bankers of Nebraska salute men and women in agriculture not only for their productivity but for their ability to adapt to a changing economic environment. Our agricultural-based economy has been through tough times and bankers have shared that concern. But now, throughout the state, the signs of growing confidence can be seen. Farmers and ranchers are approaching the future with a realistic view of what it will take to survive and succeed in the years ahead.

Track teams fare well at Invite

The Wayne-Carroll boys and girls track teams opened up their 1988 track campaigns by participating in the first ever indoor hosted Wayne High Track Meet, at the Recreation Center of Wayne State College.

The five teams participating in the meet included Wayne, Battle Creek, Madison, Hartington Cedar Catholic and Laurel.

On the girls' side, Wayne battled it out with Battle Creek most of the way. However, it was Battle Creek coming out on top with 122 points. Wayne finished second with 114 points, while Hartington Cedar Catholic finished third with 66 points.

Madison and Laurel finished fourth and fifth respectively with 46 and 24 points.

Sophomore Teresa Ellis captured Wayne's only individual first place medal by winning the 1600 meter run in a time of 6:00.8. Ellis easily out-distanced second place Amy Kuchar of Battle Creek by 23 seconds.

The Lady Blue Devils also had a first place relay team in the 3200 meter relay. The foursome, consisting of Sarah Peterson, Tara Erxleben, Holly Paige and Teresa Ellis captured first place with a time of 11:28.62.

Wayne's 3200 meter relay time was approximately 35 seconds ahead of second place Battle Creek. Paige running the third leg of the four person relay, made up a seemingly insurmountable lead by Battle Creek, and when she handed the baton to Ellis, the Blue Devils had surged ahead.

There were eight second place finishes on the day for the Lady Blue Devils. Amy Wriedt took two second place medals. One in the long jump with a leap of 14'7 3/4", and the other in the 300 meter dash with a time of 48.0 seconds, one tenth of a second behind the winner, Stefanie Samuelson of Hartington.

Tonya Erxleben also received a second place medal by jumping 4'10" in the high jump. Kelli Davis captured second place in the shot put with a put of 28'6", while Sarah Peterson earned second place in the 3200 meter run with a time of 14:13.5.

Paige ran to a second place finish in the 800 meter run with a 2:45.1 clocking. Paige finished 1.3 seconds behind Hartington's Samuelson.

The Lady Blue Devils had two relay teams which finished in second place. The 4x1 lap relay team finished behind Battle Creek with a time of 1:36.9, while the 1600 meter relay team finished behind Hartington Cedar Catholic with a time of 4:48.8.

Kristy Hansen ended the day with two individual third place medals with 7.9 clocking in the 55 meter dash, and a 48.2 clocking in the 300 meter dash. Tonya Erxleben finished third in the 400 meter dash with a time of 1:12.5

Ellis finished fourth in the high jump with a leap of 4'4". There were three fifth place finishes for Wayne. Julie Wessel finished fifth in the 35 meter hurdles with a time of 10.9 seconds.

Edith Janke finished fifth in the 1600 meter run with a 7:19.1 time. Traci Gamble finished fifth in the shot put with a toss of 27'23/4".

Sixth place finishes went to Tonya Erxleben in the 55 meter dash with a time of 8.2 seconds, Rachel Haase in the 400 meter dash, 1:18.1, and Tara Erxleben in the 800 meter run, 3:11.3.

Dale Hochstein, coach of the girls team said he was really pleased with the performance his girls put forth. "We had 13 of the 15 girls on the team place in one event or another," Hochstein said.

Hochstein also received positive news from two athletes who lettered last season who joined the team this week. Heidi Reeg will return to the weight events and Dana Nelson will return to the sprint races and long jump.

Boys finish third

In the boy's meet, Wayne finished third behind Battle Creek's 150 points for first, and Madison's 90 second place points. Wayne finished with 80 points while Laurel and Hartington Cedar Catholic finished in fourth and fifth respectively with 68 and 37 points.

Nick Engelson was Wayne's only individualist gold medal winner. Engelson leaped 6'2" in the high jump to easily defeat a four way tie for second place at 5'8".

The 3200 meter relay team finished second behind Laurel with a time of 9:07.0. Other second place finishes went to Matt Hillier in the 1600 meter run with a time of 5:13.4, and Craig Dyer in the 400 meter dash with a time of 58.1 seconds.

The Blue Devils also had three third place finishes. Jess Zeiss finished third in the long jump with a leap of 19'3 1/4". Kelly Mrsny finished third in the 300 meter dash with a 40.3 clocking. Wayne finished third in the 4x1 lap relay with a time of 1:22.0.

Fourth place finishes went to Brian Lentz in the 800 meter run with a time of 2:23.2, and the 1600 meter relay team finished fourth with a 3:58.8 clocking.

Wayne's Eric Liska finished fifth in the shot put with a toss of 38'9 1/2". Ben Tierney finished fifth in the 3200 meter run with a time of 13:24.9, while Willy Gross finished fifth in the 400 meter dash with a 1:00.4 clocking.

Wayne had four sixth place finishes including Zeiss in the 55 meter dash with a time of 7.2 seconds. Others finishing sixth were Dan Wiseman in the 3200 meter run, 13:56.3, Shane Geiger in the 1600 meter run, 5:24.0, and Casey Dyer in the 400 meter dash, 1:01.0.

NICK ENGELSON clears the bar at 6'2" to win the high jump at the Wayne Indoor Invitational last Friday.

Jorgensen Coach of the Year

Gordon Jorgensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jorgensen of Wayne, was recently named as one of the five Iowa district coaches of the year. Jorgensen, a 1968 graduate of Wayne High School, and a 1972 graduate of Wayne State College has been coaching at Milford Iowa High School for the past 16 years.

However he still led the Milford team to an 18-3 record.

Jorgensen will now be one of the five guest of honors at a banquet to be held in Des Moines on April 11, where it will be announced which of the five district coaches of the year will be the Iowa High School Coach of the Year.

Jorgensen and his wife Mary Jo have two sons and one daughter.

Gordon Jorgensen

This season Jorgensen's team was boosted to the division of AA which involved playing bigger schools.

Correction

It was erroneously written in the Wayne-Carroll girls track preview last week that Doug Donnelson was beginning his first year at the helm.

Actually, it is Dale Hochstein entering his first year as mentor, replacing Donnelson. Hochstein has been a biology teacher at Wayne since December of 1979.

Hochstein is also the assistant volleyball coach to Marlene Uning, and the past three seasons he had been the junior high girls track coach.

Sports Briefs

Deadline set

The deadline for all new teams of the Wayne Womens Softball League is April 15. There is a strong need for umpires. If interested contact Joan Sperry at 375-4815 or Dawn Creamer at 375-4262.

Soccer to premiere

Hank Overin announced that the Wayne City Recreational Program will incorporate Soccer this spring as a trial sport. If successful this season, soccer will become a permanent part of the recreational program.

Sign-up for the new program will be April 11-12, south of Wayne High School on the field by the elementary school.

Third and fourth grade kids will be playing on Monday's and Wednesday's from 3:45-5:00 p.m. Fifth and sixth grade kids will be playing on Tuesday's and Thursday's from 4:00-5:15 p.m.

Overin noted that on warm days, kids should wear shorts, T-shirts and tennis shoes, and on cold days they should wear old play pants, sweat shirts and tennis shoes.

If you are not able to sign up on the scheduled days, you can still sign up on the second day of practice, but early sign-up is encouraged. Anyone who attends public, catholic or rural schools is eligible to play. However, anyone outside the Wayne city limits participating will be asked to pay a one time fee of $10. The fee is good for one year and it covers all activities that the Rec-program offers.

Anyone wishing to help coach the youngsters and having any soccer background is encouraged to contact Overin. For further information contact Hank Overin at 375-2584, or Jere Morris at 375-5435.

Winside youth place

The Winside Youth Wrestling Association placed 12 of its 20 wrestlers at Battle Creek Saturday. Four of the future Wildcat grapplers earned first place medals.

Justin Bowers, Scott Jacobsen, David Paulsen and Jason Kreuger took championship honors. Gaining second place medals were Gerrin Miller, Jeff Jacobsen and Shaun Magwire.

Placing third for Winside were Justin Koch, Doug Auhler and Chris Mann. Meanwhile fourth place finishes went to Steve Rabe and Jason Magwire.

Incidentally, Scott Jacobsen, a Winside fifth grader, brought his season record total to 10-0 and won his 100th career match in Saturday's first match. Jacobsen has a current record of 102-8.

Powerlifting championships to be held

The Nebraska State Powerlifting Championships will be held in Rice Auditorium on Saturday, April 9 beginning at 10:00 a.m. The championships are being co-hosted by the Wayne State Barbell Club and Health Works of Norfolk.

Approximately 50 participants are expected to compete in the championships in 12 weight classes. They will compete in three events, the bench press, the deadlift and the squat.

Guest lifter will be World Champion Mike Nelson of Omaha. Nelson set four unofficial world records in the 114 lb. weight class December 19 in Omaha. His demonstration is expected to begin at 10:00 a.m.

Admission to the championships is $1.50. Students with a valid identification card will be admitted free.

Laurel Thinclads compete

The Laurel boys track team finished fourth in the Wayne High indoor track meet Friday. The Bears finished with 68 points, aided by three first place finishes.

Joe Finn finished first in the 3200 meter run with a time of 12:15.4. Darin Martinsen earned Laurel's second first place medal with a 5:13.4 clocking in the 1600 meter run.

Laurel's 3200 meter relay team finished four seconds ahead of Wayne to capture first place honors. Second place finishes went to Brian Penne in the long jump with a leap of 20'5", and Kyle Nixon in the 800 meter run with a time of 2:11.5.

Laurel's 1600 meter relay team finished second with a time of 3:50.6. Jon Pherson finished the 3200 meter run in third place with a time of 13:04.1.

Randy Sherry finished fourth in the shot put with a toss of 41'11 3/4". The Bears had two fifth place finishes which included Scott Marquardt in the long jump, 19'1 1/2" and Marc Bathke in the 55 meter dash, 7.2 seconds.

The girls team finished fifth in the five team field of the same meet. The Lady Bears could only muster 24 points.

The 3200 meter relay finished third with a time of 12:20.45 seconds, while Emily McBride finished third in the 800 meter run with a time of 2:53.5.

Puttin' up with Pete

by Kevin Peterson

Now that track season is upon us, thoughts of what transcended through the basketball and wrestling seasons are more or less gone. After all, we've had all the honors bestowed on the athletes which deserved praise.

We've seen the Omaha World Herald and the Lincoln Journal & Star's version of the all-state, the all-conference's and even my version of the all-area teams.

You would think that would be plenty right? Well actually not. This column is dedicated to some of the athletes who did not get so many honors, but whose contributions to the team were every bit as important as the ones who scored the points or grabbed the rebounds.

Before we get into that however, it was brought to my attention as to why there wasn't an all-area wrestling team.

When you have only two area teams which have wrestling in its system, it is very difficult to come up with an all-area team. Not only would it be rather silly, but the athletes who would be named to it, would only have the satisfaction of knowing they beat out only one person.

And another thing, there might be a weight class in which both Wayne and Winside have excellent performers, then what do you do? For instance, the 105 pound weight class throughout the state is dominated by freshman. In fact, in the state tournament this year, over half of the 64 qualifiers in all four classes in the 105 pound division were dominated by freshman.

The reason for the domination is that maintaining a 105 pound figure on a young man as he ages from 14-17 is very difficult and in many cases impossible.

Never-the-less, Wayne and Winside both had outstanding wrestlers in the 105 pound weight class. Chris Janke, Wayne and Chad Carlson, Winside, both qualified for the state meet.

Carlson received a medal for placing fifth while Janke was defeated in his final round to qualify for a medal. Both of these freshman athletes were vital to the success of each others team. So I ask you, how do you decide who makes all-area and who doesn't?

If there were just one more team in the area that offered wrestling, then it would be feasible to have the all-area wrestling team.

Role players invaluable

Anyone who has ever had the most minute interest in basketball on the collegiate level has heard of the infamous Dick Vitale of ESPN. Vitale's irrational behavior while bragging up one team or putting down another has earned him both praise and criticism by some of college basketball's finest coaches.

There is one thing however, that Vitale does, which in this writer's opinion is very worthy. He gives credit to athletes who don't have all the stats, but are invaluable to the team's success.

Following up on Vitale's honor system, I have selected what I call the all-area role players team. This team of athletes contributed to their team in a number of ways.

They may have been the point guard or the rebounder or just a consistent performer throughout the season.

We'll start with the boys team. From Allen High School I have selected Matt Hingst. Hingst, only a sophomore was not only the point guard that the Eagles looked too, but he provided much leadership which you can't coach.

From Laurel, I have selected Kyle Nixon. Nixon was a vital role in Laurel's play. He hardly ever led the team in scoring or rebounding, but he could always be counted on for a 100 percent effort. In this writer's opinion, Nixon was key because if he was hitting the outside jumper, defenses were forced to come out on him and that left sophomore sensation John Schutte open on the inside.

From Wakefield, I have selected Brian Larson. Larson was a very intense defender for the Trojans. He usually guarded one of the opponent's top scorers and did a real nice job throughout the season for Paul Eaton.

From Winside, I have selected two players because many times they substituted for each other. Darren Wacker and Gary Mundil were the ones who were asked to guard players such as Wausa's Ken Clausen and other prolific scorers. According to Winside Head Coach Randy Geier, both of these guys did a nice job offsetting each other.

I have also selected two players from Wayne that I feel deserve to be noted as fulfilling their roles to the fullest. Jess Zeiss and Doug Larson. Zeiss was the quarterback for the Blue Devils. His precision accuracy on the fast break and ability to control the tempo of the game is not only athletic but instinct.

Larson on the other hand, could always be counted on for a consistent performance. Only a junior, Larson will have to provide some of the leadership responsibility if Wayne is to become a contender again in 89.

Turning to the girls team, I have selected Marnie Bruggemann from Wayne. Bruggemann was very valuable to the cohesiveness the Lady Blue Devils displayed on the court. Standing only 5'2 or 5'3, Bruggemann was asked to play in the middle with much taller girls. However, her competitiveness allowed her to play much taller than her stature.

From Laurel, I felt that Holli Helgren was a vital link in the Lady Bears offense. Helgren relied on her quickness to be her asset.

Karen Halstrom from Wakefield more than fulfilled her role this season. Halstrom was another that helped her team be a more cohesive unit. Her ability to help out on the press as well as crash the boards was a bonus for Eliie Studer.

Although the role player honors are for the players who don't get so much recognition for the important things they do. However, sometimes a team has a player who is the role player and also the awards getter. Such is the case with Allen's Lana Erwin. Erwin seemed to be the psychological upper for Gary Troih's Lady Eagles. When Erwin was hurt, Allen would sometimes look like a team in disarray. Even if Erwin played hurt, it lifted the team. Her role was very noticeable.

For Winside the role player was Michelle Thies. This started every game for the Wildcats and never led in scoring once. However, her consistency by hitting the boards or helping out on the press did not go unnoticed.

Well there you have it, the first version of the all role players. There is one more player I would like to mention as a role player. Wayne's Teresa Ellis proved more than once this season to be the spark plug that got the Lady Blue Devils going. Congratulations players for a season of excitement and for aiding your team in your own way.

Softball team wins three of four

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

The Wayne State College women's softball team hosted Dordt College out of Iowa on Saturday in their first home game of the season.

The Lady Wildcats were victorious in the first game of the twin bill behind the batting eye of Kathy Nickolite.

With the score tied at three in the sixth inning, Nickolite led off Wayne State's half of the inning with a home run. The Wildcats added two more runs in the inning which proved to be more than enough in the 6-4 victory.

Cyndi Karrick picked up the win on the mound after relieving starter Ronda Peck. Peck pitched the first five innings but left the game when the score was tied, thus giving the win to Karrick.

Lisa Jacobsen also connected for a home run for the Wildcats in the first inning to help Wayne State to a two-run opening inning.

Peck was the leading hitter for the Lady Wildcats with a 2-3 performance.

Wildcats lose nightcap

In the second game Wayne State suffered a case of the "drowsies." The host team suffered eight errors enroute to dropping the game 8-4 to the visitors from Iowa.

"We out-hit them 11-7," Head Coach Marilyn Strate said. "It was like a chain reaction with all the errors though."

Roni Johnson took the loss at the mound for Strate's Wildcats. Johnson's season record fell to 0-2, and the team record dropped to 2-4.

"We started off the game real well," Strate said. "Shell Schumann led off with a first inning home run, and eventually we scored three first inning runs."

Ann Bauer was the hot stick for the Wildcats going 3-4 at the plate. Peck finished the second game by going 2-4.

Wildcats sweep twin bill

On Monday, Strate's sluggers traveled to Sioux City Iowa, to play Briar Cliff. The Lady Wildcats swept both games from the hosts evening the season record to 4-4.

In the opening game, Wayne State out slugged Briar Cliff 10-0 in the shortened 10-run rule contest. Cyndi Karrick was in fine form on the mound allowing only one hit to the home team.

"Karrick gave up her only hit in the last inning," Strate said. "And that hit was a little blooper past the shortstop."

Karrick also only walked one batter. "Karrick was two batters away from a perfect game," Strate said.

Strate picked out the number nine batter Jodie Gillfillan as being the spark plug for her Wildcats. "Gillfillan came up with a clutch second inning hit with a triple when there was two out and runners on first and third base.

"Gillfillan's hit sparked a three-run two-out rally," Strate said. Wayne State came back in the fourth inning and batted around the order with Paula Dolesh belting a triple and Natalie Highman connecting with a double to spark the seven run inning.

With the win, Karrick moved to season record to 3-1.

In the nightcap Wayne State defeated Briar Cliff 7-3. Peck picked up the win on the mound evening her record at 1-1 on the season.

hitter Schumann's triple. "We used 10 batters in the first inning," Strate lamented. "We didn't score again until the sixth inning."

Lori Rath and Lisa Jacobsen each went 2-3 at the plate to aid the Wildcats twin bill sweep. Schumann and Kris Pestel each went 2-4.

WSC sluggers even record at 7-7

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

The Wayne State College baseball team traveled to Concordia College in Seward on Friday and swept a double header from the host.

In the first game coach Lenny Klavers' squad used a solid defense and powerful offense to win 15-4. "We didn't have any errors," Klaver said. "We played a pretty good game all around."

Freshman catcher Mark Wewel was the thorn in the side for Concordia as he hit a fourth inning grand slam home run enroute to his 3-3 performance at the plate, along with six rbi's.

Dale Clayton belted a triple and added a single to aid the Wildcats, while teammate, Gale Bretschneider also recorded a triple and a single.

Freshman pitcher John Hagen picked up the win from the mound to even his record at 1-1 on the season. Mike Emory came in to relieve Hagen in the fifth inning.

In the nightcap Wayne State scattered 13 hits and the result was a rout of 17-5 by the Wildcats. Don Graham picked up the pitching win, while relievers Aaron Campbell and Mike Kennedy each pitched one inning.

Clayton belted a home run and a double to go along with his single and triple in the first game. Craig Koehler, Dean Heying and Bretschneider each recorded two hits. Pat Salerno also cracked a home run for the Wildcats who moved to 7-5 on the year.

Briar Cliff sweeps Wildcats

On Monday Klaver's Wildcats traveled to Briar Cliff College in Sioux City only to play what Klaver called some of the worst baseball his team has played to date.

"Everything went wrong," Klaver exclaimed. "We suffered four or five errors in the first inning and spotted the home team 11 runs after the first inning."

Klaver was pleased with the comeback effort of his Wildcats. "We ended up out-hitting them 14-11," Klaver said. "The story of the game though was already told in the first inning."

Wayne State dropped the opening game, 11-9. Junior Destry Jaeger smacked two home runs in the opening game. Randy Yarkie went 3-3 from the plate while Clayton, Jaeger, Bretschneider and Dale Irving all collected two hits.

Kevin Hoffart took the loss on the mound for Wayne State dropping his record to 1-2.

In the nightcap Wayne State defeated 9-3. Jeff Sharp took the loss for Klavers' squad dropping his season record total to 1-2.

Jaeger led the Wildcats with a 2-2 performance with another home run to make three in the two games.

"Again we suffered five errors and that's too many," Klaver said.

Irving supplied two rbi's for the Cats on his fourth inning double.

After Hoffart was relieved in the first inning, reliever Kevin Boham came in and gave up only one hit the rest of the way.

Wayne State's record fell to 7-7.

Winside takes fifth at State

The Winside High School Speech team got a fifth place finish and brought home two first place awards following the Class D State Speech Contest last Friday in Lincoln.

Seventy-five schools were represented in the competition. Arnold captured first with 204 points, followed by Humboldt with 141; North Loup, Scotia, 132; Hayes Center, 119; and Winside, 103.

Tinia Hartmann captured a first place finish in the Poetry event. Darren Wacker and Hartmann also placed first in the Duet Acting event.

The Oral Interpretation of Drama group from Winside finished in tenth place. Team members include Shawn Janke, Chris Nau, Doree Brogren, Christina Bloomfield and Jason Bargstadt.

Others competing at the state contest were Tami Jenkins and Wendy Boldt.

Members of the Winside Speech Team will put on a public performance, with all students doing their speeches, on Thursday, April 14 at 7 p.m. in the Winside school.

WINSIDE STUDENTS Tinia Hartmann and Darren Wacker captured first place in their events at Friday's Class D State Speech Contest in Lincoln.

News Briefs

Scholarships awarded

One hundred forty-three Nebraska high school seniors have been awarded the 1988 Board of Trustees Scholarship by the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges.

The scholarship, which provides full tuition up to four years at Wayne State College, Chadron State College, Peru State College or Kearney State College, recognizes the scholarship and potential for future contributions of outstanding high school seniors throughout Nebraska.

The award is based upon high school academic records, college entrance examinations and written recommendations.

The 1988-89 recipients of the Board of Trustees' Scholarship are: Mollie Greve, Wakefield; and Steven Schmitt, Laurel.

"The high school students who receive these awards exemplify the finest in academic achievement in Nebraska," Peter G. Kotsiopoulos, chairman of the Board of Trustees, said in announcing the awards. "These scholarships emphasize the high regard which the four State Colleges place upon academic performance."

Echtenkamp on special list

Kelly Echtenkamp of Wayne has been included in the 1988 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges. He is a student from southeast Community College-Milford who has been selected as national outstanding campus leader.

Melherhenry gets academic honor

Creighton University student Sue A. Melherhenry of Hoskins was recently honored during the University's annual Student Honors Banquet for exceptional academic achievement.

Students honored at the banquet received one of the top two grade-point averages awarded by their school or college at Creighton during the past two semesters.

The Golden Years by Gil Haase

The newly discovered chemical, aminoguanidine, must undergo years of testing before it can be labeled effective and safe for humans, but researchers at Rockefeller University are confident that the drug will one day help to prolong the lives of some people who otherwise would die prematurely. Scientists believe it will eventually be used to combat such problems as cardiovascular disease, blindness, and loss of kidney, muscle and nerve functions common in people with advanced diabetes, and among the elderly.

The National Institute on Aging conducted a study to "investigate the extent to which commercial restaurants function to integrate or segregate the elderly and other age groups in an urban community." After two years of research, it was concluded that seniors go out to eat because they enjoy being around other people, and that there was no evidence of restaurant discrimination against the elderly.

Remember When? 1939 — Henry Louis (Doc) Gehrig, famed New York Yankee baseball player known as "The Iron Horse," played in his record-setting 2,130th game on May 2nd.

OPEN DOORS
Based on John 20:19-23

Open doors are a threat to those who live in fear. "Better," they say, "to bar our doors and keep the menacing world out. Better to close them so that what we do and say may be kept safe from prying eyes and ears. Better to lock them tightly, than to be bothered by the unwanted intrusions of those who want something from us. Closed doors make us feel secure and safe."

Closed doors keep many things out, however. They bar us from God's pure grace, and shut us off from love. They lock our spirit in, keeping us from the joy of true freedom. Christ came into the world to open all our doors, to be the access to the forgiveness of God, to admit us to His love, and to grant us perfect freedom. He came to tear away the things that would bar us from our neighbor, life and hope. He is the open door to God; the way into everlasting joy, and the way out of our inhospitable self-interest.

II

The truth of this is plainly seen in His resurrection and appearance to His disciples. They had very real reasons to be fearful of their world. It was out to destroy them. There were a great many, menacing things outside the doors that night, as they huddled together in anxiety and confusion.

But the one who threw open the doors to death would throw open the doors to life. Jesus comes and stands in their midst, and shows His wounds to them. We do this passage a grave disservice if we think of it as simply being a magical appearance, as if the resurrected Jesus were somehow able to pass through walls. The passage does not even imply that the Risen Body is not subject to its former limitations.

This is no ghost that appears to the disciples. It is a real person, in a real body. He has mass. He occupies space. He does not ooze through keyholes. He opens the doors and stands in their midst.

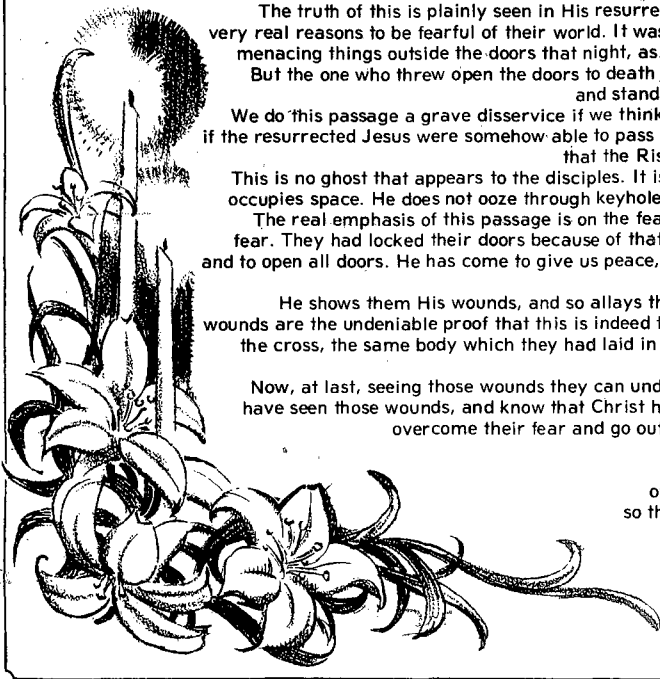

The real emphasis of this passage is on the fear of the disciples, and how Jesus overcame that fear. They had locked their doors because of that fear. But Jesus has come to overcome all fear, and to open all doors. He has come to give us peace, a peace that passes all understanding. And this is His greeting to them — "Peace be with you."

He shows them His wounds, and so allays their fears that this is some strange intruder. His wounds are the undeniable proof that this is indeed the same person whom they had seen hung upon the cross, the same body which they had laid in the tomb. The very Christ who had said that He must suffer for the life of the world.

Now, at last, seeing those wounds they can understand what this meant. And it is because they have seen those wounds, and know that Christ has overcome death and the grave, that they can overcome their fear and go out into that menacing world to spread the Gospel.

In a very real sense, that same Jesus comes to stand before us today, in the preaching of His word. He comes and shows us His wounds, so that seeing them we may go out and truly see the wounds of the world, and leave the confines of our lives to live for others.

Yes, Jesus opens all doors, because He alone is the door.
Dr. John G. Mitchell, pastor
Wayne Presbyterian Church

Good Friday processional planned

The Wayne community Good Friday service, sponsored by the Wayne City Ministerial Association, will take place on Friday, April 1 and will include a processional on Main St. The service is entitled "The Way of the Cross," with reflections from each of the Gospels. Persons wishing to take part in the service are asked to meet in front of The Lumber Company at 11:45 a.m. The processional will begin at noon and will include stops at the park (old State National Bank site), the First Baptist Church and the First United Methodist Church. The United Methodist bus will be available to take participants back to the Lumber Company following the service at 1 p.m. The service will be canceled in the event of rain.

The Rainbow Kids 4-H Club met at the Haskins fire hall on March 25. President Jennifer Hoefler called the meeting to order, and Sharmin Allen and Emily Barton led the flag salutes.

Community projects were discussed. Jason Gillespie and John Gallop will help prepare the flower beds for planting.

The group also discussed plans for a bowling party on April 16. Deb Austin and Nita Gubbels reported on the leader training workshop they attended recently in Concord. Bake and Take stickers were handed out.

Marci Svatos and Jason Gillespie gave a project talk on rabbit showmanship. Door prizes were won by Jeremy Langenberg and Catherine Bussey, and treats were served by Kim Brudigan.

Next meeting will be April 22. Tracie Orr, news reporter.
Marci Svatos and Jason Gillespie, senior members enrolled in the rabbit project, met with leader Rosemary Severson. They began work on their showmanship and took a quiz on rabbit anatomy.

Junior members were to meet March 29 to work on their showmanship routine.

PLEASURE AND PROFIT
President Christy Philbrick called to order the March 23 meeting of Pleasure and Profit 4-H Club. Members answered roll call with their favorite olympic sport.

A game was played with each person having to guess what was written on their back. The tags consisted of different 4-H entries.

Mrs. Darlene Roberts gave a demonstration on the improper way to measure flour. Lunch was served by Bobby, Megan and Jeremy Kumm.

Next meeting was scheduled March 29 at the Allen school.

On area risk crops

Disaster insurance available

Farmers seeking disaster emergency loans from the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) for losses will again need to have all risk crop insurance if it is available. FmHA State Director K. Kirk Jamison said.

"All family-size farmers should be aware the provision of the 1985 farm bill that prohibits our making emergency loans for crop losses that should have been insured under all risk crop insurance programs sponsored by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC)," Jamison said. "Therefore, I urge every family-size farmer in the State of Nebraska to seriously take into account this relationship between all risk insurance coverage and emergency loan eligibility."

Federally subsidized all risk crop insurance is now available for wheat, corn, barley, grain sorghum, oats, sugar beets, dry edible beans and soybeans, plus additional specialty crops in most growing areas. The government subsidy reduces the program costs to the farmer by about 30 percent, Jamison said, making all risk crop insurance a worthwhile option to consider regardless of the required tie-in with Emergency Loan eligibility.

If a farmer obtains the insurance required on all eligible crops and has suffered a loss of 30 percent or more, the operation could be eligible for consideration for an emergency loan.

The 1985 Farm Bill will affect crops planted in 1987 and 1988 and harvested in 1988. Insurance must be all risk, covering most forms of disaster, rather than hail-only.

The closing date for insurance sales on spring-planted crops in Nebraska is April 15, 1988. Jamison urged farmers to contact their local insurance agents promptly.

Information is also available at FCIC field offices.

Crosses

"It was real risky," smiles the pastor. "I had no idea what would happen, but we went ahead anyway."

Pastor Wolff began by asking Sunday school children to share their crosses. Then, he invited the entire congregation to join in.

"Then good things began to happen," says the pastor, adding that the same Sunday he made the announcement a family brought a large hanging banner salvaged from a church bombed in southern Germany in 1941.

SINCE THEN, worshippers at Redeemer Lutheran have shared over 100 crosses. All of them are displayed in the church's narthex. "The idea caught on," smiles Pastor Wolff.

The feedback was so positive that one member of the congregation volunteered to make small wooden crosses for each of the nearly 90 Sunday school children, along with church choir members.

"I told the children they had to wear their crosses every Sunday," says the pastor, recalling how one youngster took the cross made for him and added it to the display in the narthex. And when an adult member of the congregation said he too wanted a handmade cross, another young child offered his own cross. "I told that child I would see he got another one," says the Pastor.

AMONG THE MANY unique crosses on display in the narthex is an Ethiopian cross estimated to be more than 400 years old. The cross was presented as a gift to Pastor Wolff from an orthodox priest in Ethiopia when he and his wife Ruth visited there last year.

"There are so many wonderful crosses displayed," says Pastor Wolff, "and some of the most beautiful are also the most simple."

Among them is a cross constructed from two twigs located in the back yard of an elderly church member who is also a lover of nature. "I have a lot of fancy crosses," said the woman, "but I wanted to make a cross from where my birds and other friends live."

Another church member, a woodworker, told Pastor Wolff he had worked with wood all his life but had never made a cross. "I'm making a cross this year."

"You just can't measure that kind of love," smiles the pastor.

PASTOR WOLFF said everyone is welcome to come and view the display of crosses at Redeemer.

"There are crosses from all occasions," says the pastor, including a confirmation cross dating back to 1913, a cross made by Sunday school children from pictures of the 12 apostles, and a cross symbolizing the new women's organization of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America.

Pastor Wolff said he also has had the privilege of wearing a different cross each Sunday and telling about it.

Worshippers also are introduced to various crosses in their weekly Sunday bulletins.

"Every week I come into the church and find new crosses," says the pastor. "It's a wonderful, wonderful thing."

Close-Up

ON A BUSY print day, Murray engages the ink fountain rollers on the Goss Community press.

MURRAY AND Bill Rischmueller, publisher of The Wakefield Republican of Wakefield (seated), demonstrate the functions of the Linotype. Rischmueller still makes use of the hot lead from his Linotype in his commercial printing business. His off-set newspaper is printed Wednesdays at The Wayne Herald.

Career spans nearly 40 years

Murray retires as pressman; started in the 'Linotype era'

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

Bring on the days of the Linotype, where dedicated workers plied their trade, proudly producing a quality newspaper that recorded history as it was made.

Their skilled hands moved like a blur, as each slug was tightened in the chase. The lead-laden pages were rushed to the press, as printers rushed to win the deadline race.

These noble workers found their jobs not always the most pleasant or the best. Sweat poured off of them in summer's warmth. On press day, the job offered little rest.

Lead in the Linotype's melting pot was melted to form the letters, and the hot lead was placed into the chase, by the "printer's devil" or typesetters.

The Linotype was rather bulky and loud when compared to today's modern tools. Now pages can be produced at a quicker pace and there's no waiting for lead to cool.

But those who worked with the Linotypes, still marvel at how the machine can last. They appreciate the new, but they still cling to the Linotype era of the past.

Ray Murray of Wayne certainly has an appreciation of the Linotype days.

In his early days of his career at The Wayne Herald, he joined others who learned the trade of working with the slugs that the Linotype produced; and he was one who placed a high priority on putting out a quality newspaper.

Those Linotype days were discontinued in the 1960's, and Murray was confronted with learning the more-modern version of newspaper production with the use of offset lithography and the Goss Community offset press. He mastered the offset form of printing — the photo screens, the four-color separations, advertising layouts and numerous other aspects of newspaper production — to become a highly respected pressman.

THE LAST PAGES will be rolling off the offset press this week for the 63-year-old pressman. Murray will be retiring from The Wayne Herald after nearly 40 years as a valued company employee. His last day of work at the Herald will be Thursday, March 31, when he will hang up his printer's apron and pass on his pica pole to those who take his place.

MURRAY IS a 1943-graduate of Wayne High School, where he excelled as an athlete in both basketball and football. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Murray (both deceased). From eighth grade on up, Murray assisted his father in the printing business until April of 1943, when he joined the U.S. Navy.

He served in the Navy until March of 1946, spending most of his military duty on the cruiser ship, the USS Reno.

He was on the warship, near Formosa, when a Japanese torpedo blew a hole 20 by 60 feet in the ship's port side and crashed into part of the crew's sleeping quarters. The ship didn't sink, but there were casualties from the attack.

While in the Navy, Murray achieved the rank of Coxswain — defined as a seaman in charge of a ship's boat in the absence of an officer.

When his tour of duty was up, he returned to Wayne, did some painting in the summer months and in October, 1948, he became an employee of The Wayne Herald. "I became what you would call a 'printer's devil,'" Murray said.

At the time, the newspaper was under the ownership of Mark Cramer, who had purchased the newspaper from Eugene W. Huse in 1947.

After Mark Cramer died in 1954, his son J. Alan Cramer purchased the newspaper in 1957 from his mother, the late Margaret E. Cramer and sister, Mrs. Bob Wohlers of Lincoln. On July 1, 1987 the newspaper was sold by J. Alan Cramer to current owners, Gary and Peggy Wright.

MURRAY SAID he had received his early training on newspaper production, in the Linotype days, from his employer, Mark Cramer, and fellow employees Warren Price, Glen Wade, Lloyd Manske, Howard Witt, Bill Richardson and others who were skilled in their positions.

"I helped put together thousands of pages made up of melted lead," said Murray. "Eventually, I started making up ads and did some routing. I later became a pressman and worked up the pages and the ads."

The making up of 16 to 18 pages each week entailed hard work.

"We still used hot type then, when there was no air conditioning. Sometimes it would get 110 degrees in the building we worked in [which is now the dentist office of Dr. George Goblirsch]," Murray said.

Those who worked in the Linotype era found themselves developing muscles as well as sharpening their skills.

The pages, completely filled with melted lead, "weighed from 100 to 125 pounds a page," mentioned Murray.

Attached to the Linotype was a lead melting pot. Temperature in the pot had to reach 550 degrees in order for the lead to melt, which is one reason why the environment surrounding the Linotype was rather warm.

CHASES WERE used to hold page layouts together. A chase is a rectangular iron frame in which composed type is secured or locked for printing or plate-making.

"You had to learn to read letters that were upside down or backward in the chase," he said.

"We were able to run eight pages at a time off of our duplex press — four pages on the top deck and four pages on the bottom deck," he said.

The Thursday, Aug. 4, 1966 edition of The Wayne Herald marked the end of the letterpress method of printing in the old building and began the offset printing inside the current "Newspaper Building" at 114 Main Street in Wayne.

Excerpts from the story on the conversion are as follows: "When the new typesetting machines are installed, the present system of setting on the Linotypes will be discontinued for the most part. The Herald will then have an entirely different appearance as far as body type is concerned."

"What I'm going to miss the most is the people [crew] at The Wayne Herald. I'm going to miss trampin' in every day. Things are going to be a little different for me now."

— Ray Murray

"Readers will notice the pictures, advertising and drawings all are much clearer this week. This will be one of the main advantages of the offset method of printing."

Instead of straining to lift heavy pages of hot type, Murray said "the pages could be lifted with just two fingers."

THE BUSINESS expanded to become a central printing plant for surrounding newspapers. The Stanton Register, published by Marlin Waechter, was the first newspaper to use the Herald central plant facilities (in 1967), Murray mentioned.

The company now prints newspapers from the communities of Coleridge, Pierce, Stanton, Wausa, Pender, Walthill, Ponca, Wakefield, Emerson and also the Wayne Stater newspaper. They also print the Morning Shopper, Hartington Shopper, Pawnee Scout of Columbus and numerous other commercial publications.

"We had been averaging about 2 1/2 truckloads of newsprint a month," said Murray.

Current press foreman, Al Pippitt, and commercial printing foreman, Dave Diediker, are two of many individuals who have learned the trade of operating the Goss press through the expertise shared by Murray.

On Saturday evening, Murray and his wife, Mary, were guest of honor at a retirement reception at the Wayne Vet's Club. They were married in November, 1948. Their son, Rex, resides in Charleston, West Virginia where he is a research chemist with Union Carbide.

Former staff members of The Wayne Herald, and current print customers, were present at the reception to point out some of the highlights of Ray's newspaper career.

AMONG THE speakers were J. Alan Cramer and James Marsh, Gary Wright, Marlin Waechter, former managing editor Randy Hascall and former bookkeeper Dorothy Aurich.

"What I'm going to miss the most is the people [crew] at The Wayne Herald," Murray said. "I'm going to miss trampin' in every day. Things are going to be a little different for me now."

He said the years of "pounding the concrete" in the press room has affected his knees, one of the reasons why he has announced his retirement. But that won't stop him from fulfilling his retirement plans of doing some house painting and — most of all — doing some fishing and golfing.

"I would like to thank Wayne Herald co-owners Gary and Peggy Wright, J. Alan Cramer and Jim Marsh, the Wayne Herald crew — both present and past —, print customers, friends and all those others who were involved in surprising me with the retirement party Saturday night," said Murray.

"Had it not been for my knees, I would have enjoyed working another 40 years with the new owners and the crew at The Wayne Herald," he added.

Those who have worked at the newspaper with Murray — from the front office all the way back to the pressroom — will miss him not only for his skills as a pressman, but also as a friend to count on, said a spokesman from the Herald.

He will no longer need to contend with hands or clothes filled with newspaper ink, no more 14 to 16 hour work days and no more worry about meeting the deadlines. It will be a time for some long-earned relaxation.

But one thing for certain. It will be difficult for him to remove all the printer's ink that, as the saying goes, "stays in the veins."

Particularly after nearly 40 years in the business.

THIS PHOTO, taken in 1952, shows Murray's technique of handset advertising copy with type stored in old type drawers. The old type drawers are now being sold as shadow boxes by The Wayne Herald.

RAY AND HIS wife, Mary, were guest of honor at a surprise retirement reception Saturday night at the Wayne Vet's Club, where they were presented a special cake and other gifts from friends and fellow employees.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

It is once again that time of year when the community joins together in celebrating the Passion of Holy Week. The ministerial association has made plans to have the annual Good Friday Service at the Christian Church, 3rd and Johnson, this year. The time of the service is 8 p.m.

There will be a musical special brought to the worshippers by various members of the organizations of the community of Wakefield. The speaker for the service will be Pastor Joe Marek of Salem Lutheran Church.

As in previous Good Friday services, a free will offering will be taken to be placed in the treasury of the Wakefield Ministerial Association. The Treasury is used by all the churches in Wakefield to help people who are in need.

On Easter Sunday there will be a Sunrise Service at the United Presbyterian Church at 6:30 a.m. Pastor Bruce Peterson, intern pastor of Salem Lutheran Church will be the speaker.

The entire community of Wakefield, is invited to attend both or either of these services.

EASTER EGG HUNT

Members of the Gamma Tau will once again sponsor an Easter Egg Hunt for youngsters of the Wakefield Community on Saturday, April 2. The hunt will take place at 1 p.m. at the Wakefield City Park. In case of inclement weather the hunt will be held at the Wakefield Health Care Center.

There will be three age divisions including three and four year olds; five and six year olds and seven and eight year olds. Youngsters are asked to bring their own baskets.

Prizes will be awarded in each division and Gamma Tau members will be available to assist the younger children. Colored eggs for the Easter Egg Hunt are being donated by the Milton G. Waldbaum Company.

SPEECH STUDENTS

Wakefield High School speech students finished first in the district contest and will send seven entries to state. Students taking part in the district contest held at Homer Tuesday, March 15 were Sheila Anderson, Kelli Thies, Buffany Blecke, Jeremy Muffin, Susan Nuernberger, Jana Ekberg, Mollie Greve and Karen Witt, Cristl Oswald, Lana Ekberg, Dwight Fischer, Brian Larson, Perre Neilan, Brenda Meier and Scott Woods. The students are coached by Val Bard.

State qualifiers include the Oral Interpretation of Drama group of Brian Larson, Lana Ekberg, Mollie Greve, Perre Neilan and Buffany Blecke who received a first place superior in the District Contest; Karen Witt received a first place superior for her poetry; Buffany Blecke a first place superior in humorous prose; Dwight Fischer first place superior in Original Public Address; Brenda Meier a second place superior in entertainment speaking; Scott Woods a first place excellent in Extemporaneous Speaking; and Jeremy Muffin a second place excellent also in Extemporaneous Speaking.

LEGION AUXILIARY

The American Legion Auxiliary met March 14 at the Legion Hall with four officers and 15 members present. Lois Schlines performed the duties of chaplain in the absence of Bonnie Swagerty. The business meeting was conducted by President Carol Ulrich.

Emily Gustafson, Americanism Chairman, reported on the 1888 blizzard on the east coast. Community service chairman Betty Bressler reported that two volunteers were needed at the sunrise service and a motion was made to send a monetary contribution to the Wakefield Ministerium in thanks for their service to the community. Applications for Girls State have been sent to the department.

Poppy Days will be held May 20-21 with the bake sale and coffee and rolls sold at the Legion Hall on Saturday morning. All Auxiliary members will contribute to the bake sale. A thank you was issued to Margaret Cisney and her committee for the Poppy corsages and centerpiece that were made for the district meeting in Emerson. A list of needs for the Norfolk Veterans Home was read by the president. Alice Johnson reported on the flag code etiquette.

July 15 will be the annual pillow cleaning day. The president announced ed Department Convention to be held June 24, 25, and 26 in Omaha at the New Tower Inn. A new department of Nebraska cookbook will be sold at this time.

Lunch was served by Linnea Olson, Iris Larson and Ellen Wriedt.

LEGION BIRTHDAY

In honor of the 69th birthday of the American Legion, a potluck supper was held at the Legion Hall on March 20 with 22 in attendance. Auxiliary President Carol Ulrich welcomed the members, spouses and honored guest, Past District President Arlene Lundahl and her husband LeRoy of Emerson. Jon Ulrich led in the table prayer.

Beverly Herbolzheimer presented a program on the history of the American Legion's Local Post 81, drawing attention to the moments of the servicemen that were brought in to share. Several veterans responded with remarks on their experiences. Among those responding were Luti Hyspe, Everett VanCleave and Derwood Wriedt. Articles of interest were read by Emily Gustafson and Carol Ulrich. After the program, birthday cake and ice cream were served.

ADVENTURE DAY

Wakefield Brownies are planning to take part in two fun-filled events sponsored by the Prairie Hills Girl Scout Council. The Annual Brownie Adventure Day will be held at the Creighton City Hall on April 16 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. This special event is not only for Brownie Girl Scouts but for all girls in the first through third grades.

Storyteller Nancy Duncan will be performing two stories. Following Nancy's performance, the girls will have lunch, participate in games, singing and complete a craft. The cost for the entire day is $9 including registration and lunch. Pre-registration is required by April 1.

CONTRIBUTES TO FUND

Dan Fischer of Denver, Colo., who grew up playing baseball in Wakefield this past week made a $50 contribution to the Little League uniform fund. Currently the fund drive is being conducted to raise approximately $600 for the uniforms.

Others who made contributions include Harry and Ardyth Mills, Jim and Lisa Salmon, Duane and Olga Tappe and Terry's Home and Lawn. The additional donations added $110 to the bank account with the total raised to date $380.

Anyone who would like to make a donation may do so at the Wakefield National Bank or by contacting Diane Keim at the Educational Service Unit Office.

TRUCK OUTING

The Tiger Cub Troop recently treated a look inside and a ride in a truck tractor from the Milton G. Waldbaum Company. They are Jon Ulrich, Justin Paulsen, Josh Vanderveen, Justin Meyer, Eric Thompson, Shaun Hammer, Brett Brownell, Cory Jensen, Austin Brown, Josh Petersen, Brett Downey and J. J. Salmon.

Tigers is the youngest group of Boy Scouting and boys meet once a month. Parents of the group are taking turns at planning an outing or activity for each troop meeting.

COACH STILL NEEDED

Members of the Winside Summer Recreation Committee met Thursday following the showing of the AAL film "Get Involved Before Your Kids Do."

Fifteen parents were present. Coaches have been hired for all but the high school boys baseball team. Anyone who would be interested in coaching these boys should contact Dan Jaeger 286-4852.

Leon Koch will be the boys age 9-14 coach, Darci Frahm the girls age 9-14 coach, and the T-Ball ages 6-9 coach will be Brian Hoffman, Steve Deck and Dave Jaeger.

More information and sign up sheets will be forthcoming. The Summer Recreation Committee will be sponsoring Baton Twirling lessons. The Village of Winside will donate the city auditorium for the lessons. This information will also come later.

The next committee meeting will be Tuesday, April 26, at Lee and Rosies at 8 p.m. All parents are welcome to attend.

GIRL SCOUTS

Nineteen girl scouts met Thursday with leader Peg Eckert. The girls set up a work schedule for making cassette tapes of childrens stories as part of their "Helping Your Community" project. The tapes and books when completed will be loaned to children in the community.

Book markers were also made by the girls and permission slips were handed out for the April 4 roller skating party.

There will not be a meeting Thursday, March 31. The next meeting date will be April 7 at the firehall at 3:45 p.m. Denise Nelson and Jessica Jaeger will bring treats.

Treats were served by Monica Sievers and Kristy Oberle.

Alethea Fale, News Reporter.

LEADER NEEDED

If anyone in the Winside area would be interested in being a Daisy Girl Scout leader for Kindergarten girls please contact Peg Eckert as soon as possible. If a leader is found and there is an interest by the girls a new group will be formed in Winside. This information will be available at Kindergarten Roundup.

COOKING CLASS

Twelve ladies participated in the cooking with Herbs and Spices class held March 24 in the Winside High School home economics room. Mrs. Myrna DuBois of Winside instructed the class. Mrs. DuBois is with the Stanton County Extension Office Home Economics.

A number of recipes were cooked and sampled by all. Informational sheets as well as the recipes were provided.

The adult education class was sponsored by the Winside Advisory Council in cooperation with Winside Public Schools.

WORKSHOPS IN NELIGH

Winside Girl Scout leader Peg Eckert and four scouts attended a two day sixth grade Bridge and Cadets workshop in Neligh March 25 and 26. The event started at 7 p.m. on Friday and concluded at 11 a.m. Saturday. Twenty towns were represented by the 156 juniors, adults, cadets and seniors in attendance.

The main purpose of the event was to teach the junior girl scouts what cadet girl scouting is all about. The workshops were put on by the cadets and seniors.

Winside junior girl scouts have two more steps to complete their bridging work.

BEARS

Cathy Holtgrew led the Bear Cub Scouts at their March 23 meeting. The lesson was on the constellations and the North Star. Each boy made a miniature star gazer. They also learned how to put up a tent and camp safely rules.

Mrs. Joni Jaeger held a uniform inspection of the boys. Mrs. Holtgrew served treats.

Mrs. Marian Iversen hosted the G.T. Pinochle Club Friday with three guests; Irene Iversen, Arlene Rabe and Mary Brogren.

Prizes were won by Elsie Janke and Ida Fenske. The next meeting will be Friday, April 8 at Elta Jaeger's.

Leader training conducted

4-H leaders from a five-county area were introduced to "Sewing For Fun" and five other new 4-H home economics projects at the area 4-H Leader Training day recently held Saturday at the Northeast Research and Extension Center near Concord.

Maureen Bruening Jensen and Ann Adams, Quad County Extension Assistants, provided project information, teaching materials and techniques and exhibit guidelines for the six clothing and home environment projects available to Nebraska 4-H'ers for the first time this year.

Leaders had the opportunity to expand their subject matter expertise through presentations by area businesses and individuals and by previewing visual teaching materials available through the University of Nebraska.

Workshops offered were: "Sewing Techniques"; Michelle and Mary Kay Otte, Wakefield; "Modeling Fundamentals"; Jayne Wells, professional model; "Design Principles of Floral Accessories"; Connie Hall of the Wayne Greenhouse staff; "Matting and Framing Wall Accessories"; Carolyn Vakoc of the "Final Touch"; and "Identifying Your Style in Interior Design": Kate Luff, senior Interior Design student.

For more information on the new projects or on how to become a 4-H volunteer, contact the Wayne or Dixon County Extension Service.

CONNIE HALL, of the Wayne Greenhouse staff, gives leaders new exhibit ideas for home environment projects at the 4-H leader training day.

HOSKINS HAS A NEW LOOK
New street signs have been placed in Hoskins this past week.

The streets were named when the town was chartered in 1892 but signs had never been put up. Streets that have their original names are: Main, Willis, Spencer, Riverside Drive and Washington Street.

In the new East Road addition are Langenberg Circle and Kollath Circle.

House numbers are planned in the future.

GARDEN CLUB
The Hoskins Garden Club met with Mrs. George Wittler, Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Carl Hinzman, president, conducted the meeting and read an article, "Usefulness," followed by group singing of the hostess' chosen song, "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The president also read a poem "March Elf." Roll call was, "What I like to do best on a Stormy March Day."

Mrs. George Wittler read the report of the previous meeting and gave the treasurer's report.

Mrs. LaVern Walker had the comprehensive study on "Sauzaro Cactus."

The lesson on "Figs" was given by Mrs. Hazel Wittler.

The hostess conducted quizzes and card bingo for entertainment.

Watchword for the day was "Success depends on your back bone, not your wish bone."

For the next meeting on April 28, plans are to have a noon no-host salad bar luncheon at the home of Mrs. Carl Hinzman.

CONFIRMATION
Confirmation services were held at the Peace United Church of Christ, Sunday.

Confirmants were Jennifer Puls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Puls; Nicola Cushing; daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Cushing; Dean Asmus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Asmus and William Kohlf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Kohlfhof.

Relief for Wrinkled Skin?

Researchers at the University of Michigan reported in January that they have found a topical medicine that may repair sun-damaged skin and remove age spots, giving the skin and complexion a new look. The report, which appeared in the Journal of the American Medical Association, evaluated a prescription drug known as tretinoin, a topical medicine which has been used for more than 15-years in the treatment of acne.

Fifteen individuals in a four-month study applied tretinoin to their faces and forearms. Fifteen other individuals (control group) applied a cream base containing no active ingredient. Fourteen of the 15 who used tretinoin cream had fewer "fine wrinkles." Six of the group had "slight improvement" in "course wrinkles." There were no improvements observed in the cream base-treated group.

Although some news stories have referred to the cream as a "new youth cream" or "fountain of youth," researchers are being cautious. It is not known, for example, if the smoothed skin will wrinkle again in the future. And the highly irritating nature of tretinoin is of some concern.

The Farmer's Wife

By Pat Meierhenry

Looking back, I can't say we did anything special to celebrate Ag Week at our house. Every week is ag week at our house! We've enjoyed the balmy weather, even though some are already worried about it being too dry.

I want you to know that Nancy Reagan, Michael Jackson, and Tom Pederson and I all had laryngitis last week—and those other guys all cancelled appearances! My toughest was at the Bancroft Fire Hall, but I made it. My only trouble was, I had Ann's car, and the heater wasn't working, which made it a long ride home. Probably didn't help the throat either.

The Big Farmer is still watching baseball by following the NCAA. Big Eight teams have done well, but he says he isn't rooting for anyone unless Nebraska is playing. The Huskers don't seem to do as well in baseball as in that other game. We buzzed over to Osmond last weekend to hear the conference band clinic concert, a real Big Band sound. We have a traveling trophy for the school that brings the most fans to these things, and Wakefield always seems to get it. The only time Winside got it was last fall when Wakefield hosted the clinic and was ineligible.

Then, on Monday night, Coleridge hosted a swing choir clinic for the 11th year in a row. It all started when the son of the local veterinarian sang in the Wesleyan swing choir and he invited them to perform there. Now it's a tradition, and we look forward to it.

Ponca's group sang a song called "Love in any language pulls us all together," and illustrated with sign language. Laurel did a beautiful piece called "We're gonna lift you up."

And for the first time in many years, there were guys in Wakefield's swing choir, which really added a lot.

NWU does a fun version of "Rubber Duckie" annually, which is always fun. Two of their numbers I really appreciated were "Goodbye Old Friend" and "The Colors of My Life."

The song they did as a group, with all the swing choirs in attendance, said "We are the Magic—we need to help each other". Isn't it true?

INCIDENTALLY, I'm president of Tom Westfall's fan club. He's a kid from Meadow Grove singing his way through NWU, the audience loved him.

Still trying to catch up on reading. The new Farm Journal has an interesting article on Loneliness which really caught my attention.

Some research done at UNL indicates that urban girls who are seniors in high school are the most lonely people tested and elderly are the least!

One explanation was that if you expect the world and don't get it, you are going to be lonely. The elderly have lived their life and are content with the life they are leading now. With adolescents, everything has to be perfect in a perfect world.

The researcher, John Woodward, says loneliness is a personal feeling, a disease of the image that comes from within, not without. There is a big difference between loneliness and solitude.

The least lonely shared characteristics such as: enough money to buy what they needed, happily married, a close relationship with their family, satisfied with current employer, make friends easily, and were satisfied with their life.

The article concludes: "If you are not getting along with your family, maybe you had better take a look at yourself. You may be part of the problem. Try to get back with your family, because our research shows it is very important in relieving loneliness." Good advice.

Cards of Thanks

OUR SINCERE "Thank You" to the Carroll Fire Department who responded so quickly and did their job so well, we are so thankful that it wasn't any worse, special thanks to our family, friends and neighbors who discovered the fire and called the fire department, for food brought in and to all those who helped in many ways. We are so lucky to live in a community where everyone cares. God bless you all. John and Donna Bowers. M31

THE FAMILY OF Alice Holman wishes to thank everyone for the flowers, memorials, and other kindnesses extended to her through her long illness. Thanks to Rev. Johnson for his kind words. M31

I WISH TO express my great appreciation to my many friends and relatives who have remembered me with visits, cards, and flowers since I fell in my home and broke my pelvis. Special thank you's are to be given to Dr. Bob Benfack, Martin, West and Dr. Meyers of Norfolk and to the nurses and Sister Gertrud of Providence Medical Center for their extreme kindness and performance of duty. Also to Pastor Marvin Coffey of the Winside Methodist Church for his many visits and spiritual comfort and to my great granddaughter, Jennifer Wacker, for calling the rescue unit. A big thanks to the Winside Rescue Squad for their prompt and courteous response. I am temporarily at the Wayne Care Centre in Wayne. Elsie Reed. M31

WE WOULD LIKE to thank all of our friends and relatives for the cards, gifts, and flowers during our stay in the hospital and returning home. A special thank you to Dr. Wiseman and Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Creighton for their help and support during Travis' arrival. Thank you to all the nurses and staff of Providence Medical Center for all the great care we received. Diane & Travis Heftli. M31

A SPECIAL THANKS to my dear friends and relatives who came to my 90th birthday open house. Thanks to all who sent cards. A special thanks to Pastor & Mrs. Marburger and to all who gave greetings. Thanks to the Elizabeth Circle, Diane Olson, and Bud & Lola for making it a very special day for me. I will never forget it. Carol Erwin. M31

SINCERE THANKS to all of the friends and neighbors and relatives for the food, flowers, memorials, and many acts of kindness during the illness and death of our loved one. The family of August Longe. M31
