Science Academy

Wayne State College will host the 1988 Spring Exposition of the Northeast Nebraska Junior Academy of Science on Friday, April 8.

Students and teachers of all public and private schools, and visitors, are invited to attend the exposition in the Carhart Math/Science Building on the college campus.

Registration for exhibits and papers is from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on the ground floor of the Carhart building.

"This is a follow-up to the winter workshops we held in December and it gives the students a chance to come back and present projects they talked about then," according to Dr. Robert McCue, professor of biology at Wayne State.

The outstanding project will be presented to the audience during an awards program from 4 to 5 p.m.

Ten projects will be selected to represent the Northeast Nebraska region at the state competition April 15 in Lincoln.

McCue said the Northeast Nebraska region has won the state competition the past two years.

Master's earned

Conn Library custodian Mabel Sommerfeld, an eight-year employee of Wayne State College, recently received her custodial master's degree from the Nebraska State Custodial School.

Sommerfeld completed 130 hours of classroom work over the past eight years to earn the degree.

The proper use of cleaning chemicals, shortcuts to maintaining buildings, effective ways to work around people, and floor care were a few of the areas stressed.

Sommerfeld is the wife of Wayne resident Roy Sommerfeld.

Superior rating

Wayne-Carroll High School's Jazz Band I and Jazz Band II, directed by Brad Weber, attended the Northeast Community College Jazz Festival on March 29. Jazz Band I received a superior rating from all three judges.

Receiving outstanding soloist awards were Brett Fuelberth, piano; Jed O'Leary, alto saxophone; and Martin Rump, trumpet.

The next appearance of Jazz Band I will be at the District Music Contest on April 22-23.

Photograph talk

Wayne Public Library has been awarded a grant from the Nebraska Committee for the Humanities in support of a public program, entitled "Understanding Family Photographs."

"Understanding Family Photographs" suggests ways of discerning information about families and family relationships by looking at commonplace family photograph albums.

The talk will be given by John Carter, curator of photographs for the Nebraska State Historical Society, who will discuss the program with the audience following his presentation.

The program is free of charge and open to the public and will take place on Monday, April 18 at 7 p.m. at the library.

To discuss state's economy

'New Seeds for Nebraska' town hall meeting scheduled

A special town hall meeting has been scheduled at Wayne State College to review the SRI International "New Seeds for Nebraska" report that was recently released.

The report was inserted in The Wayne Herald in February and distributed among the subscribers that have their newspaper delivered by carrier. The Nebraska Press Association sponsored the report and the Peter Kiewit Foundation paid for it.

Citizens from Wayne and the surrounding area are encouraged to attend the meeting on Tuesday, April 12 at 6:30 p.m. in the Student Center North Dining Room on the Wayne State campus.

Lyn Wallin-Ziegenbein, executive director of the Peter Kiewit Foundation, will be the facilitator.

SHE SAYS THE purpose of the meeting is to have a cross section of residents give their opinions on the proposed strategies for building the Nebraska economy.

After a general overview of the report, participants will be divided into several groups to discuss the report's findings.

"New Seeds for Nebraska" has stated that economic and social changes have hit Nebraska hard in recent years, and it's clear that Nebraska's economy is operating in a new environment.

The report also deals with the future of people, places and industries in Nebraska. A broad range of concerned Nebraskans served as a resource committee for the authors, and more than 200 individuals were interviewed in-depth.

SRI International is a research and consulting firm based in Menlo Park, California. They were asked to prepare a report that would help Nebraska think about their state and its future.

A FINAL REPORT about the study will be prepared by SRI International this spring after they incorporate comments, reactions and perspectives from a broad base of Nebraskans. Much of this information will be compiled at town hall meetings.

Wallin-Ziegenbein has been with Peter Kiewit Foundation for five years. She received a bachelor's degree in journalism from the University of Kansas and a law degree from Creighton University.

The Kiewit Foundation was founded in 1980 upon the death of Peter Kiewit. Currently, the Foundation has assets in excess of $180 million and use those funds to make charitable grants.

Copies of the "New Seeds for Nebraska" report are available at The Wayne Herald.

Trophies for the show were sponsored by First National Bank, Walthill; Glover Painting of South Sioux City; Norco Feed; Pender Veterinary Clinic; Farmers Union Co-op, Pender; Neil Krumwiede, Golden Harvest Seeds; Security National Bank, Laurel; and the Dakota County 4-H Council.

Enroute to Korea

8,000 mile march underway

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

The Wayne middle school physical education department, under the direction of Don Koenig, has come up with perhaps the most unique idea of promoting the Summer Olympic Games in Seoul, South Korea of anyone in the state of Nebraska.

The idea consists of students in grades 5-8 to collectively walk, jog or run the total distance between Wayne, Nebraska and Seoul, South Korea. The distance, approximately 8,000 miles between the two, will be measured by the students beginning April 1, and lasting until May 31.

"This is a total school project," Koenig said. "Anytime a student walks to school and back home again, the distance will be measured and counted. If the parents walk to school with their children, it will count double. This is a chance for not only the students, but the parents to get involved," Koenig added.

Students are also encouraged to run outside of school and keep track of their total distance.

Koenig pointed out that there are three objectives to the promotion of both physical fitness and the summer games in Korea. "The first objective is to promote physical fitness, especially that of the cardio-vascular fitness," Koenig said.

"The second objective is to promote community pride via the students, and the third objective is to create an opportunity for parents and students to work together," Koenig added.

There is no cost to students or parents and any student who records 100 miles in the two month span will receive special recognition.

As mentioned, this is a total school project. The math department at the middle school will keep track of the total amount of miles each week.

The English department will be in charge of the themes. They will also have a map of the world, and each week they will have it marked at where they would be in association with adding the total amount of miles the students and parents have walked or ran.

The history department will be in charge of coming up with a brief history of the country where they pause at the end of each week.

IT'S NIP AND TUCK TO THE finish between sixth graders Johnny Smutzler and Twila Schindler. The sixth grade students in Don Koenig's physical education class will now begin keeping track of the mileage they walk to and from school, the running outside of school and the running in P.E. classes.

The rules for participation are very easy to follow: 1. Any student in grades kindergarten through eighth grade may enter. 2. All miles in or out of school can be used. 3. No wheeled forms of transportation can be used. 4. Adults are encouraged to walk with the students. Adult miles can be recorded as students miles if they are done together. 5. A card with the mileage must be turned in weekly to the school office.

The Wayne Herald will be receiving weekly updates, and will be publishing them in the paper to let people know where they are during each week and how much more they need to go to accomplish the feat.

It may be 8,000 miles to Seoul, South Korea, but if the feat is accomplished in the next two months, during the opening ceremonies which prelude the Olympics, every student and parent who participates in the event, may well feel that they are present for the opening of the games.

Good Friday processional

THE REV. KEITH JOHNSON of the First United Methodist Church was among several Wayne ministers and residents taking part in a community Good Friday processional service. The service, which was sponsored by the Wayne City Ministerial Association, was entitled "The Way of the Cross" and included a processional up Main Street from The Lumber Company to the Methodist Church. Stops along the way were at the old State National Bank park site and the First Baptist Church.

30th Children's Play slated

The 30th annual Children's Play "No Place Like Home" will be presented by the Wayne State College Theatre Department April 14-21 in Ramsey Theatre.

The production, a beloved children's play from Latvia, has been adapted for an American children's audience by theatre director, Dr. Andre Sedriks, a native of Latvia.

production since it's the first time it's been performed in English.

"No Place Like Home" tells the story about Tom, a little farm boy who can't get along with his ill-tempered stepmother, so he leaves home to seek fame and fortune.

Along the way, Tom gets a magic whistle and stick, encounters a man-

Sedriks said the play is a premiere

Keep America Beautiful city cleanup scheduled

The Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a community-wide "clean-up, fix-up, paint-up" campaign to be held April 17-23 in honor of Keep America Beautiful week.

Businesses and citizens are encouraged to clean up their premises during this week. Yards can be raked, leaves and debris from the winter can be picked up and any on their property can be disposed of at that time.

To assist the clean-up efforts, residents are encouraged to call the Chamber of Commerce at 375-2230 to "Rent-A-Scout" to reserve time for a Boy or Girl Scout to help in the clean-up efforts. Donations will be accepted to the individual scouting organizations in Wayne.

All debris items need to be placed on the curb-side by noon on Sunday, April 24. Bill's G-Men and Mrsny's Sanitation will provide free pick up on that day only.

Businesses will be holding a clean-up, fix-up, paint-up promotion on April 14-16 to assist residents in the community in getting the necessary items they need.

METHODIST WOMEN

The Laurel United Methodist Women's Club met on March 16 at 2 p.m. Deb Mursick was the only guest present. A Logan Center UMW thank you letter from the family of Lela Tuttle was read. Members are to let the president know if they plan on attending a spring event at Elgin on April 19. The United Methodist Church members are invited to a mother-daughter tea at 7:30 p.m. on April 23. The entertainment for the evening will be the Treble Clef Singers from Wayne.

The April 17 service will be done by the United Methodist Women. They will also do the April 21 service at Hillcrest at 7 p.m. On March 27 cookies were furnished for Cantata with Sandy Chace in charge. "The Shadow Lengths" was presented by Marj Ward and Diann Laké with Suzie Wacker as pianist. During the program Deb Mursick consecrated the elements and communion was served.

Floréne Tuttle served as hostess. The serving committee was Joyce Thompson, Lavonne Madsen and Grace Reynolds.

SPEECH COMPETITION

Students on the Laurel-Concord speech team participated in the state speech competition held in Lincoln over the March 25 weekend. Eighty-three schools participated in the competition and Laurel ranked fourth out of all those schools.

The four Laurel-Concord state qualifiers for the contest were Amy Adkins, Jessie Monson, Julie Dickey and Gena Schutte, all of whom did an excellent job in representing the Laurel-Concord speech team.

Adkins received a first place with her informative speech and a fourth place with her extemporaneous speech. Jessie Monson took third place in the entertainment division. Laurel-Concord teachers Barb Richardson and Sue Brandow were the coaches for the state speech team qualifiers.

CONTEMPORARIES

The Laurel Contemporaries Extension Club on March 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Sue Stingley with seven members present. After dues were collected it was asked that state convention books and favors will be worked on at the next meeting and that club banners also be made. Members should bring ideas and materials needed to the next meeting.

Assignments and plans for salad days were discussed.

Roundup

DURING KINDERGARTEN roundup, Lutt said the school will be working with the child with the assistance of Educational Service Unit One.

Parents are required by law to show proof of birth before their child may attend school. A copy will be made for parents who bring their child's birth certificate to registration.

Parents also are required by law to have a social security number for their child and their child's immunization records.

The nurse will be making a presentation at kindergarten roundups in both Wayne and Carroll.

PARENTS WITH questions regarding kindergarten roundup are asked to call the school office.

Marcia Haisch will hold the next meeting in her home on Tuesday, April 19 at 7:30 p.m. Hosting the event will be Judy Pehrson. A lesson was given on "How Safe is Your Water?" by Lynette Joslin.

TOASTMASTERS

The Laurel-Concord Good Morning Toastmasters met on March 22 in the school board room. Keith Volkers gave the main speech of the evening of "Legal Premeditated Murder - Abortion."

The club's next meeting will be held in the board room on April 12 at 7:30 p.m. with Harold Carlson giving the ice-breaker speech. Jodi Volker will be in charge of table topics. Judy Brenner will be the grammarian and ah counter. Timer will be Eleanor Carlson, word master Naoma Quist, jokemaster Jerome Mackey and general evaluator Marcia Lipp. Guests encouraged to attend.

STATE BOWLING

Three bowling teams represented Laurel businesses. Hillside Bowl, The Saloon and Urwiler Oil, the weekend of March 25, at the Nebraska State Bowling Tournament in Omaha.

Bowling for Hillside Bowl were Pat Schaefer, Faye Loeb, Phyl Dirks, Mary Rae McCorkindale and Marcia (Hirschmann) Bequette. Bowling for the Saloon were Nancy Sherman, Sally Roberts, Vee Lage, Mina Swanson and Kristy Otte. The Urwiler Oil team was Cherry Urwiler, Dolores Erwin, Katie Neese, Judy Jensen and Jean Gadeken. Linda Heitman bowled in the doubles and singles.

Rolling 200 games were Judy Jensen (211) and Kristy Otte (200).

TUESDAY CLUB

The Laurel Tuesday Women's Club will hear a guest speaker at the Laurel Senior Center tomorrow (Tuesday) at 7:30 p.m. The speaker, Mr. Myron Wasson, will be speaking on the topic of "You and North-western Bell." He hopes to be able to clarify people's understanding of commercial options that are available today. The public is invited.

ARTHRITIS FOUNDATION

Anita Gade of Laurel has been announced as the Arthritis Foundation's Nebraska Chapter house-to-house campaign chairperson for Laurel. Mrs. Gade will be calling on friends and neighbors of the community to support the foundation's services and program and also to educate people on the chronic disease. She will be paying visits during the month of May.

Students attend Farm Bureau seminars

Several area high school students attended the Farm Bureau Youth Citizenship/Safety Seminar March 20-22 at the Youth Leadership Development Center in Aurora, Nebraska.

Wayne County Farm Bureau's representatives to the Citizenship Seminar were Sally Burmester of Randolph, a junior at Randolph High School; and Marta Sandahl, a junior at Wayne-Carroll High School.

Kelly Boswell and Ben Jackson, students at Allen High School, were Dixon County Farm Bureau's representatives to the citizenship seminar.

In addition to sessions on Nebraska heritage by Dr. Robert Manley, retired professor of history at UNL; "How a Bill Becomes Law"; and inspirational and motivational workshops, the students traveled to Lincoln by bus March 21 to tour the State Capitol and sit in the state legislature.

Wayne County representatives to the Safety Seminar were Heidi Hansen, Carroll, sophomore at Wayne-Carroll High School; and Margo Sandahl, Wakefield, junior at Wayne-Carroll.

In addition to session on gun and railroad safety, the students traveled to Lincoln by bus on March 21 to hear Extension Safety Specialist of UNL, Rollie Schneider, speak on farm safety.

They they joined the citizenship students for a luncheon with State Senator Jacklyn Smith of Hastings and later met with Governor Kay Orr, Secretary of State Allen Beermann, Supreme Court Justice William Hastings and Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation President Bryce Neidig.

All students joined for a discussion of the future and first aid. Dr. Maria Grovas, Wayne, told students what America means to her and said never to take freedom for granted. She also told of how she and her family came to America from Cuba.

Marta Sandahl and Boswell each were selected 2nd Place winners and both were given $75 scholarships to attend the 1988 Emerging Leaders' Conference (sponsored by the Kansas Farm Bureau) in Hutchinson, Kansas April 8-10.

Margo Sandahl was chosen alternate to attend the Youth Conference of the National Safety Congress held Oct. 15-18 in Orlando, Florida.

The youth seminars are an annual project of Nebraska Farm Bureau women. County Farm Bureau women's committees are responsible for selecting qualified high school sophomores or juniors to participate. Students do not need to be from Farm Bureau families to be eligible.
