Others can join the two-day 150-mile tour or the one-day 75-mile race by calling 402/345-9026 for more information.

The sagged event will begin at Hayworth Park in Bellevue and travel through Iowa and Missouri, overnighting in Brownville, Nebraska where mansions, museums and novelty shops are just a few of the highlights. All water stops, snacks, meals, mechanics and baggage transportation will be provided by the Midlands Chapter, National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Boosters meet

The Wayne-Carroll Music Boosters will meet Monday, April 11, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school lecture hall.

Entertainment will be provided at the meeting.

Marketing

The Cedar County Livestock Feeders Association will be meeting on Monday, April 11, beginning at 6:30 p.m. with a cocktail hour and steak dinner at 7:30 p.m. at the VFW Clubroom in Hartington. The business meeting will follow the dinner.

A special program will be presented on livestock marketing. Jon Phillips and Doug Switzer, commodity brokers from Omaha, will present new, less expensive strategies in marketing livestock. They will also answer producer questions.

Spouses and guests are also invited to attend.

Fire calls

Area fire departments were busy the past week putting out grass fires in the area.

The Hoskins Volunteer Fire Department was called Wednesday noon to extinguish a grass fire across the road from the Peace Church southwest of Hoskins. Several large bales of hay were lost, but firemen were able to keep the fire from spreading to larger amounts of bales.

The Carroll Volunteer Fire Department were called about 3:45 p.m. Wednesday to the Wayne-Kerline farm, one mile west and two south of Carroll, where a trash fire was out of control and burned grass in a wide area east of the buildings.

The Wayne Volunteer Fire Department answered several calls since Wednesday to extinguish grass fires in the rural and city areas.

And at Winside, the fire department was called to a grass fire at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday two miles south and 1/2 miles west of Winside, on the Randy Jacobsen farm. Minor damages were reported.

There is a statewide burning ban currently in effect because of the dry, windy conditions throughout Nebraska. Those who wish to do some open burning, either in rural or city areas, should contact the fire chiefs of the respective fire departments for a permit.

Registering

Wayne County citizens can register to vote, for the upcoming primary election, in Carroll at Farmers State Bank; Commercial State Bank in Hoskins; Winside State Bank at Winside; the city clerk's office in Wakefield; and at the county clerk's office at the Wayne County Courthouse in Wayne.

Deadline for voter registration in Carroll, Winside, Hoskins and Wakefield is Thursday, April 28. Those registering at the county courthouse have a deadline of April 29 at 6 p.m.

To re-think programs

Library conference set

The needs of northeast Nebraska libraries will be addressed during an "Information Power" teleconference on Tuesday, April 12 from 1-3 p.m. in Conn Library on the Wayne State College campus.

"The conference is designed to determine what we can do to attain the goals that the teleconference will discuss," said Jack Middendorf, director of information services at Wayne State.

"The program points the direction school library media programs must move in order to meet the challenge for preparing students to be effective users of information in the 21st century.

"It will also help us re-think our local programs as they affect future programming for our schools."

Wayne State wants to determine what it can do to accommodate area high schools in the future, especially those which have limited library resources, added Middendorf.

Currently, the Wayne State Library facilitates area schools with its Periodical Access Wayne State program (PAWS), which is in its second year of successful operation.

PAWS sends photo copies of periodical articles to requesters from area high schools which don't have particular periodicals.

Librarians and media specialists from throughout northeast Nebraska are expected to attend the teleconference.

For more information, contact Jack Middendorf at 402/375-2200 extension 257.

Boy rescues dog

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

Thanks to the efforts of a six-year-old Wayne lad, a dog that was lost and fighting the jaws of death was found and brought back to the grateful pet owners.

Heidi, 15-year-old pet dog of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Jerman of Wayne, wandered away from the Jerman residence at 120 Crescent Thursday morning.

For most of the day, the Jermans sought the assistance of the media and the Wayne police department in locating Heidi — a dog who "meant the world to them" — but they couldn't find the animal.

That is, until young Dusty Soden came along.

After school, Dusty and a friend were riding their bicycles near the home of Dusty's grandmother, Mae Soden, around 118 South Douglas. As they biked south on the street, they noticed a dog, clinging for its life, near a storm sewer.

It was Heidi.

Dusty, on his stomach, reached into the storm sewer and pulled out the shaking, wet Heidi. He took Heidi to his grandmother's house, where attention was directed toward helping the dog recover from the harried episode.

The dog may have entered the storm sewer and escaped at the South Douglas location (southwest edge of Wayne), the owners (who reside at the northwest edge of Wayne) believe.

Heidi was returned to her owners. The Jermans gave Dusty a reward for his efforts in bringing back their pride and joy, with the dog a little shaken and sore from the experience — but a lot more at peace in his own abode.

On radioactive waste issue

Petition drive mounts

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

An initiative petition drive, relating to the low-level radioactive waste issue, has been launched and is being circulated by the Nebraskans For The Right to Vote committee members and volunteers.

The object of the petition is to enact a law to withdraw Nebraska from the Central Interstate Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact, and a second part of that — to require voter approval for construction of any low-level radioactive waste disposal facility within the state.

"We feel those are our basic requirements for our own protection," said Sam Welsch of Chadron, who with Deb Wragge of Creighton promoted the petition drive in a meeting Thursday evening at Wakefield.

"The bottom line is for our own protection — to protect our economic health, to protect the quality of our water, and to protect the future for our children," said Welsch.

Nebraska had been chosen to be the site of a five-state low-level radioactive waste facility for the Central Interstate Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact. Other states in the compact include Louisiana, Oklahoma, Kansas and Arkansas.

U.S. ECOLOGY of Louisville, Kentucky, has been selected as the developer of the site.

"When the Compact and U.S. Ecology are long gone, the dump and the waste are still going to be here, and so will the hazard, so will the liability. When the money runs out that they set aside, it's we the taxpayers that pick up the bill," Welsch mentioned.

"Our voter approval is going to help us assure any proposed facility will prevent contamination," he added.

Welsch read correspondence from a resident of Sheffield, Illinois, where a low-level radioactive dump site (which he said was operated by U.S. Ecology) closed after it was discovered that water had seeped into burial trenches and then flowed off the property. The writer urged Nebraskans, Welsch said, to "fight them—[U.S. Ecology] with everything you have before they get started."

Other low-level radioactive sites closed have been in West Valley, New York and Maxey Flats, Kentucky.

FACILITIES accepting low-level radioactive wastes are in Richland, Washington, Beatty, Nevada and Barnwell, North Carolina.

"We're now being told that experts have learned from their mistakes. Well, these experts have brought us waste that we can't get rid of, leaking dumps that we can't clean up and community acceptance that we can't vote on," Welsch said.

"I think it's time that we took the responsibility of these wastes into our own hands and get this issue on the ballot so that we can approve ourselves the right of final say before a dump can be built. It has to meet our acceptance," he remarked.

"It's time for us to be responsible for these wastes. And if we're going to be responsible for them, then we need the final say as to where and how it [the disposal facility] is going to be built."

Wragge, in her presentation before the 100 or more people at the low-level radioactive waste site meeting at the Wakefield High School, said that NPPD and OPPD are the largest negative forces against the Nebraskan For The Right To Vote.

SHE MENTIONED that the organization believes that NPPD and OPPD do not want to be withdrawn from the Compact because the power companies feel it would be cheaper to be maintained within the Compact.

"It may be cheaper, but not cheaper in the long run," said Wragge. If a low-level radioactive waste dump was located within 50 miles of the larger generators in the state, that would be less than an hour to transport the material to the site, she said.

"But for a truckload of nuclear waste to come from Louisiana into a site located in Nebraska, we're talking about 42 hours of travel time, many more miles and larger public exposure," Wragge said.

"This is one reason why I am so adamant about being withdrawn from the Compact. I want to have a choice," she added.

Wragge also expressed concern on the hazards of low-level radioactive wastes to children. She said Nebraska is not the only state questioning the Compact system. "Right now, our Compact is unique. We have two states that are petitioning for withdrawal — Arkansas and Nebraska," she said.

When two states withdraw from the Compact, the Compact becomes void, according to Wragge.

Facility explained

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

Roger Roemmich from the Columbus office of Nebraska Public Power District brought a Geiger counter to a March 31 meeting of the Wayne City Council.

Roemmich got readings from his Geiger counter on several colorful dishboards and the environment inside the city council chamber. He pointed out that there is radioactivity almost everywhere.

His point to the councilmen — that society is already exposed to radioactive activity and in some instances equal to that of what would go into a low-level radioactive waste storage facility.

"The issue [on low-level radioactive waste] has become extremely political, very emotional," said Roemmich.

HE SAID all low-level waste will be stored in solid form, placed into containers that are mixed with concrete. There would be no waste stored in water form, he said.

Roemmich presented a sketch of the proposed above grade low-level radioactive waste disposal facility designed by U.S. Ecology, outlining the precautions which were being emphasized in the construction and operation of the facility.

The facility grounds would cover approximately 200 acres (fenced area 165 acres) with vaults for low-level radioactive waste and vaults for mixed radioactive and chemical waste. The capacity of the facility would be 5 million cubic feet (or 30 years) of low-level radioactive waste.

Once the facility is filled, the facility is topped with concrete, synthetic lining, soil fill and roller compacted concrete.

"Nebraska will function as a host of the facility. At the end of 30 years, other states will be selected for operation of the facility for another 30 years," said Roemmich.

Some opponents argue, however, that states may decide to petition out of the Compact during Nebraska's host years, leaving the state as the only option to store low-level radioactive waste.

They also say that there is no legal way to limit other states, which are not members of the Compact, to also bring low-level waste to Nebraska.

ROEMMICH said that the state's nuclear power plants produce approximately 90 percent of the low-level radioactive waste. The other waste could come from hospitals and other industries where radiation is used.

The most common low-level waste, he said, is Type A. Ninety-seven percent of the low-level waste, he said, is in the Type A category and has time span of 200 years.

Type B waste has 300 years life and Type C waste lists 500 years.

Low-level radioactive waste means radioactive waste not classified as high-level, transuranic, spent nuclear fuel or byproduct material as defined in the 1954 Atomic Energy Act. Spent fuel rods, uranium tailings or nuclear weapons are not low-level waste.

News and Notes

by Mary Temme, Extension Agent-Home Ec.

Assessing your retirement readiness
Does retirement seem like a faraway dream to you? Or, are you making plans for that part of your life? Retirement can be the most enjoyable productive time of your life — if you start your retirement planning early. The farther ahead you plan, the more you prepare, the more money you save, the more relationships you develop, the more you'll enjoy your retirement. According to a survey by Duke University's Center for the Study of Aging, the happiest retirees are those who begin making careful plans five, 10 or even 20 years ahead of time.

WHAT SHOULD YOUR goals be for a pleasant trip through retirement? Many retirees would agree that the most important goals are: —Good health in your later years. Begin now to develop a healthy lifestyle. Establish good nutrition, exercise and health care habits.
—Housing that is suited to your pocketbook and your retirement lifestyle. In retirement, housing needs may change. Location and ease of care become more important.

—Varied interests and activities will help ease the transition from being a full-time employee. Some retirees plan for a part-time job to supplement income and occupy time.
—A satisfying relationship with your family and friends. Developing close friendships and maintaining family ties will insure someone is there to share in your retirement dreams.

—Enough income to pay for basic needs and special plans. Insufficient buying power can ruin your retirement. Estimating how much money you will need in retirement is difficult. But the result of making no plans may be hard to live with.

Maximizing retirement income
All of the goals listed are important and deserve thought and planning now whether you are 35, 45, 55 or 65 years old. Many people find financial planning is a difficult task. To help you begin planning for retirement, the Cooperative Extension Service is sponsoring a seminar on April 25 at 7:30 p.m. at the United Methodist Church in Wayne. The seminar will provide an overview of the financial resources you can draw upon in retirement. Professional investment counselors and financial planners will give presentations on individual retirement accounts, savings plans and investment strategies. Start planning for your retirement now by attending the Maximizing Retirement Income Seminar. Make sure you achieve your retirement goals.

The Wayne Greenhouse - roots go back to 1921

The Wayne Greenhouse was established by D. Hall in 1921, thus making it one of the oldest firms under the same family management in the Wayne area.

The years from 1921 to 1944 saw the construction of all the greenhouses located at 215 East 10th St.

Wilbur and Hattie Hall purchased the business in 1945 from his father, D. Hall, who retired.

Following Wilbur's death in 1950, Hattie Hall and son Kent operated the business until her retirement in 1966. In that year, Kent and Lois purchased the firm and have managed it until the present.

The existing flower shop was built in 1971.

The Wayne Greenhouse was incorporated in 1983. That same year the Plant Market was constructed one mile east on Highway 35.

The Plant Market is noted for its garden center sales each spring of garden and landscaping plants. Steve Hall is the manager of the Plant Market which is also noted state-wide for its excellent production of poinsettia plants for the Christmas wholesale trade.

The Flower Shop and Greenhouse, located at 215 East 10th St., is known for its complete line of cut flower arrangements and plants for all occasions, and its outstanding selection of gifts. Many of the cut flowers used in arrangements are grown in these greenhouses.

In 1986, Kent's Photo Lab was started. It is located in the flower shop and provides a complete line of photo services including one hour developing and enlarging, plus camera and film sales.

Softballers successful

The Wayne State softball team got its first taste of on-call softball last Wednesday at Dana College in Blair.

The games were previously scheduled for Monday, but were rained out. On Wednesday afternoon Strate received a phone call from Blair asking if they could be ready to play ball in an hour.

The somewhat shocked Strate said yes and got her team assembled and took off for Blair. In the first game the Wildcats rode the pitching arm of Ronda Peck, whom Strate revealed pitched one of her hardest games.

Peck tossed a two hitter and recorded a shut-out 4-0. Shell Schumann scored Wayne State's only run until the seventh inning, with her triple in the first inning. She scored later on a wild pitch.

Ann Bauer recorded the Wildcats' second hit of the three they earned in the first game with a single in the fifth inning. Natalie Highman reached base in the seventh inning by way of a single. Wayne State scored three runs in the seventh inning off one hit.

Peck struck out six batters and walked two.

Karrick wins nightcap

Cyndi Karrick propelled the Wildcat Lady Sluggers in the second game as she flirted with a no-hitter until the final inning as Wayne State swept a pair from the host team Dana.

Offensively Wayne State recorded five hits. Schumann again proved to be the spark plug for Strate as she connected on two hits for the game giving her a 3-6 performance on the day.

Kris Pestel also recorded a two-hit performance in the nightcap and Paula Dolesh recorded the fifth hit for the victorious Wildcats.

MACE KANT (at left) runs smoothly during the two-mile relay. Seth Anderson (middle) concentrates on the finish line while Kelly Mrsny stretches his lead over his opposition of his 200 meter heat. Mrsny placed fourth in the finals behind teammates Jess Zeiss and Chad Davis. Of the area teams competing, Wayne scored the most points, 87. Winside scored 80 and Wakefield 51 in their respective classes. Allen also competed, but the lack of the number of boys out hindered their performance.

JUST IMAGINE WHAT WE CAN DO IF WE'RE ALL CONVINCED IT'S HALF FULL.

Nebraska has experienced some of the same economic downturns that have impacted all of middle America. However, just consider the good news that's filling conversations across Nebraska:

- A 9.8% growth in metropolitan employment over the past two years alone.
- Designation as the second best manufacturing environment within the 48 contiguous states.
- Record production in cash crops and livestock of $8 billion, ranking Nebraska #5 nationally.
- Passage of tax incentive legislation that has produced projected company investments in Nebraska over $1 billion and over 9,100 new jobs.
- Cost-of-living indexes among the lowest in the nation.
- 25% growth in Nebraska's service industries (including transportation, communication, trade, utilities, finance, insurance and real estate).

WSC sluggers rout visiting Dana

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

Lenny Klaver's Wildcat baseball team is definitely making noise in their district. Wayne State bombed visiting Dana College Thursday afternoon 13-2 in the first game and 25-2 in the nightcap.

Since the southern swing in March, Klaver's squad has won 10 of their last 12 games and are currently on a six game winning streak.

In the opening game against Dana the Wildcats exploded for four second inning runs and five fifth inning runs while ending the game on a sixth inning home run by Gale Bretschneider, which made the 10-run rule effective.

The biggest hit of the game may have been a 400-foot line drive home run by second baseman Dale Irving. The senior Minnesota native connected on his first home run of his career as a Wildcat.

Irving also recorded a double as well as finishing the opening contest with four rbi's. Destrly Jaeger also belted in four rbi's on the game with the aid of his double and triple. Bretschneider was credited with three rbi's, two of which came on the game ending home run.

Kevin Hoffart picked up the win for the Wildcats pitching the last three innings. Jeff Sharp went the first three innings. Hoffart improved his record to 3-2 on the season.

14-run explosion lifts Wayne State
In the nightcap Klaver's Wildcats kept the pressure on the visitors from Blair. After scoring two runs each in the first two innings, Wayne State chased away three Dana pitchers in the third inning, sparking a 14-run 10-hit inning.

The most impressive thing about the third inning triumph was that all of the hits and runs came with two outs.

Kevin Boham picked up his fourth win of the season on the mound against one loss. Jeff Pasold pitched the first two innings and Mark Van Houten pitched the fifth inning.

"Everything we did was right today," Klaver said. "Some days everything bounces right."

And bounce right it did. Wayne State finished the contest with 25 hits. The Wildcat pitchers however, held Dana to just two hits in each of the games.

Of the Wildcats 25 total hits in game two, 11 were for extra bases, including seven doubles, one triple and three home runs.

Craig Koehler, Mark Wewel, Randy Yarke, Bretschneider and Jaeger all recorded doubles and Rick Roberts connected on a pair of doubles.

Koehler belted the triple while Wewel, Yarke and Bretschneider each recorded the home runs. Incidentally, Bretschneider's home run was his second in two games.

Yarke, Roberts and Koehler all led the team with three rbi's apiece. The wins left the Wildcats with a season record of 13-7, while Dana fell to 2-16.

DALE IRVING and Pat Salerno both call for the pop up.

Sluggers are on fire

Wayne State's baseball team seems to be gelling together nicely as the season rapidly progresses into the middle of the season. The Wildcats have been monstrous to opponent's pitchers so far this season.

In the 20 recorded games to date, Wayne State has a team batting average of .389. The Wildcats have often displayed their power by hitting home runs this year. They are averaging just over one round-tripper a game.

Klaver's squad averages over nine runs per game and with the consistent pitching Klaver is getting right now, it is doubtful that many teams will be able to outscore the Wildcats once they hit their average of nine runs per game.

Gale Bretschneider is Klaver's number one hitter at the present time with a .508 batting average. Incidentally, five of the top nine at-the-plate appearances by the Wayne State crew, have an average of over .400.

Craig Koehler is currently averaging .471, while Destrly Jaeger sits with a .466 average. Freshman Mark Wewel is batting .458 and Randy Yarke is currently hitting at the clip of .439.

Koehler has recorded 33 hits so far this season counting 27 singles. Bretschneider has recorded 32 hits including 26 singles. Jaeger and Wewel have both collected 27 hits to date, and each of the two lead the team in home runs and extra base hits.

Wewel has recorded five round-trippers while Jaeger has recorded four. Jaeger leads the team in triples with four and Wewel leads the team in doubles as well as home runs with seven.

Jaeger is the team's leading rbi man with 27 to date, while Wewel trails him by only two with 25. Koehler has 19 rbi's on the season and Yarke has recorded 18.

As a team, Wayne State has been successful on 51 of its 56 steal attempts. Dale Clayton seems to be the Wildcats' master base runner who has yet to be caught yet this season on 15 attempts.

The only other one with more than 10 is Bretschneider with 11 steals on 12 attempts.

In the pitching department Kevin Boham has recorded the most victories with four. Kevin Hoffart has three victories under his belt, while Jeff Pasold and Jeff Sharp each have two.

Don Graham has Wayne State's lowest ERA with a 1.86. Boham follows with a 2.22 runs per game allotted.

Boham and Jeff Sharp have each recorded 16 strike outs to lead the Wildcat pitchers.

SAFE!!! An unidentified Wayne State runner dives head first into third base. The Wildcats used effective base running as well as their potent batting averages to chase three Dana pitchers out of the third inning of the second game. Wayne State has now won their last six games and 10 of their last 12.

Waste

Currently, Nebraska Legislative Bill 1042 is in a very weak form, she said.

AS THE BILL stands now, Nebraskans will be unable to elect whether to accept a low-level radioactive waste disposal facility in their community. Language in the bill says that the developer — U.S. Ecology — will make every effort to build the facility where community support is evident.

A recent amendment to the bill will allow landowners within a three-mile radius of the facility to receive compensation if they can prove their land value has declined as a result of the facility. The bill would provide the community selected as the site with $300,000 annually. The money would come from the Compact.

Welsch said the Nebraskans For The Right To Vote organization needs at least 39,510 valid signatures on the initiative petition to bring the question of Compact withdrawal to the voters in the November election. The petition drive has to conclude on July 7 in order to be on the November ballot, according to Welsch.

As of Thursday, approximately one-quarter or a third of the amount of signatures needed had been placed on the petition.

"We plan, by mid-May, to get all of the signatures collected," he said.
