Brush pile burning on hold

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

A discussion on open burning in Wayne and the surrounding area led to another topic dealing with the city's transfer station during Tuesday night's city council meeting.

As of Tuesday evening, the entrance to the location where branches or logs have been dumped for burning (on the south edge of Wayne) had been closed off.

Two reasons for closing the brush site on the south edge of the city were because of the state-wide burning ban issued nearly two weeks ago and the awareness of damage that could be caused by "smoke going across the highway," said Wayne Volunteer Fire Department Chief Dale Preston during Tuesday's meeting.

Plans are to open the brush burning site again on Wednesday, Preston said.

The Wayne Fire Department has been busy with grass fires this spring; several of the fires originating without a burning permit from Preston or other representatives of the fire department.

"This spring, we were running around the county, within our fire district, putting out brush fires and grass fires. I'm not saying its getting out of control, but we've had a lot of them," said Preston.

"I and a couple of the chief assistants have decided that we're going to have to crack down, at least until we get some moisture or the grass greens up before we actually do have something serious happen," he added.

"What is good for the entire fire district is good for the city, also," he said.

HE SAID THERE should be no reason why individuals cannot obtain a permit before going ahead and burning rubbish or other items — both within the city limits or throughout the fire department's jurisdiction.

"There is no charge for a burning permit. The only thing that we ask is that the people come in and get it. That gives us the opportunity to maybe emphasize a little caution, offer an alternative or ask them to burn on a different date," said Preston.

"We will take into consideration the weather conditions for the next two or three days," he said.

Preston said he would not "stand up here and point fingers at any particular business or industry within the fire district."

"I would just like to see all burning stopped until we get some better conditions," he said.

"There's going to continue to be burning permits issued, based on the weather conditions at the time and that includes on which direction the wind is blowing," he added.

PRIOR TO THE state-wide burning ban, open burning by permit was allowed within the fire department's jurisdiction. Preston regularly issued burning permits for three industries within the Wayne community — Heritage Homes, Marra Home Improvement and Restful Knights.

There was one instance this spring when Heritage Homes had started a fire in its incinerator without a burning permit. The Wayne fire department extinguished the fire, according to Rod Tompkins, president of Heritage Homes.

Tompkins said the incinerator is state-approved, and the fire was contained.

"We have never, in nine years that I can recall, had anyone (from the city or city staff) complaining about the smoke," said Tompkins.

City council member Carolyn Filter said, however, that there have been instances at Providence Medical Center where the smoke has worried staff members at the hospital in regard to the health of patients with breathing difficulties.

"I'm sure a lot of other communities have the same problem with the industries. As the towns mature, they seem to grow around industry. What was probably a problem 15 years ago becomes a problem today. I think this is what we have here," said Preston.

Councilman Darrel Heier asked if there was a possible site location further away from the city for the wood pile burning. "The branches that

Relocation argued

USDA officials say more space needed

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

A proposal to relocate the United States Department of Agriculture Wayne County offices from its present building has brought on a petition campaign — with a request to have the offices remain in a downtown Wayne location.

During March, the Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) advertised in The Wayne Herald and Marketeer that they were "seeking a new office location with the city limit boundaries of 14th Street to the north; Centennial Road to the east; Logan Creek to the south; and Fairgrounds Road to the west."

Roy Coryell of Wayne has circulated a petition and gathered around 70 signatures, asking that the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) offices remain at their present location, or that they consider arrangements that would keep the offices of the ASCS, Soil Conservation Service (SCS) and Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) in the downtown Wayne area.

Coryell is also the landlord of the building which is rented by the USDA offices.

In the petition, it states that the present downtown Wayne location is desirable for the farm people who must deal with the USDA offices and it also benefits the businesses downtown.

Bids on the ASCS office space proposal were to have been submitted by Wednesday, April 13.

RAY BUTTS, COUNTY executive director with the Wayne County ASCS office, said one of the reasons for seeking bids on relocation was because they were running out of space in at least two of the three present offices (the ASCS and the SCS) in the Coryell buildings.

"We need more room, so we put bids out. Anybody could bid on a new or remodeling space, or an addition to this space (at 120 Logan Street)," said Butts.

Butts said the specifications on the bids call for the need of 5,053 square feet. "We currently have 3,833 square feet," he said.

The number of square feet that is needed, he said, is "determined by the number of people we have working here, so much for computer space, and so much for bookshelves and other supplies."

Butts said that three years ago, his staff included three full-time workers. Now, his staff has grown from three to 12 full-time members. Over the past two years, the ASCS office has added eight computers.

FARM PROGRAM changes have created more paperwork, he said, accounting for the additional staff hirings. Among those farm programs which he mentioned were the Conservation Reserve Program, regular feed grain programs, and dealing with PIK certificates.

Butts said that the bid specifications for the relocation proposal "does not take into account all the employees right now."

With a relocation, remodeling or addition, Butts said there are no plans for additional hiring. He said the present downtown location "has its advantages." Disadvantages, he said, would include parking.

Warded into the specifications is an Aug. 1, 1988 possession date, according to Butts.

He said he will make the initial bid decision which the ASCS County Committee has to approve. The SCS staff director and FmHA County Supervisor also have to approve the bids. Then, all three USDA offices are required to submit their recommendations to their respective state offices for approval.

Ordinance introduced to restrict parking

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

The Nebraska Department of Roads has delivered some restricted parking signs to the city of Wayne.

On Tuesday night the Wayne City Council gave initial approval of an ordinance, by a 6-1 margin, to update and place signs prohibiting parking on the west side of Main Street, between 4th and 5th Street.

Months ago, the city council followed the recommendation of the Department of Transportation and voted to discontinue parking on the west side of Main Street, between 4th and 5th Street. Among the businesses or entities along that parking restriction area were the IDS Financial Services office, the Wayne Public Library and First Baptist Church of Wayne.

Representatives of the First Baptist Church congregation had requested that an exception be made on the parking restriction to allow for Sunday worship parking areas.

City Administrator Phil Kloster said that the restricted parking signs will read that "no parking will be allowed except from 8 a.m. to noon on Sundays in the restricted parking area."

Councilman Darrel Heier voted against the placement of the restricted parking signs. He said he believes that someday Main Street will have to be widened and parking will eventually be available on both sides.

Also, he said that there may be times when First Baptist Church may require parking along the restricted area on afternoons or evenings — more than just the Sunday morning exception.

A motion to waive the second and third reading of the ordinance did not gain enough votes for final passage. The second reading of the ordinance will take place at the next city council meeting on Tuesday, April 26.

Robinson finishes second in state spelling bee contest

Angie Robinson, daughter of Dennis and Melodie Robinson of Wayne, finished second in the Midwest Spelling Bee that took place at Millard North High School in Omaha.

Robinson and Jason Watkins, both 13 years old, were the final two contestants in the spelling bee. The contest was won by Watkins of Papillion, who was the winner of the Sarpy County Spelling Bee last month.

Ninety-six individuals competed in the event, which represented 75 counties in Nebraska, six counties in Iowa and four school districts in the Omaha-Council Bluffs metropolitan areas.

Robinson misspelled "hircline" — a word which means "resembling the smell of a goat."

Watkins then spelled the word correctly and then went on to spell

"pasmology" to win the Midwest Spelling Bee, sponsored annually by The World-Herald.

Watkins will compete in the National Spelling Bee in Washington, D.C. and also won $150 in cash. For her second place finish, Robinson (who represented Wayne County in the spelling bee) received the new edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

On Tuesday, Wayne County District 57 School surprised Robinson on Thursday with a special lockert, presented by the District 57 Board of Education, and a cake and ice cream party for the classmates.

Scott Johnson of Wakefield, Dixon County spelling bee representative, also was among the 12 spellers who qualified for the oral spelling exam after passing the written test.

Salmon leads Blue Devils

Golfers win Invite

Wayne-Carroll golfer Elliot Salmon was in prime shape last Saturday as he led the Wayne Blue Devils to a five-stroke victory over Oakland-Craig in the 13-team Plainview Invitational golf tournament.

The Invite was a virtual two-team dual to see who would capture the team honor. The top five individual medalists were either Wayne or Oakland-Craig golfers.

Salmon placed second individually behind Oakland-Craig's Jason Peterson who carded a 79. Salmon finished the round of 18 with an 80.

Placing third individually was Wayne's Robb Reeg with an 81. Oakland's Chad Peterson placed fourth with an 82, while rounding out the top five was Jed Reeg with an 83, thus the top five went Wayne-Oakland-Wayne-Oakland-Wayne.

Salmon used the aid of four birdies and six pars to reach his final game score. Wayne as a team fired a 328 while Oakland-Craig managed a 333. Others participating were third place Hartington Cedar Catholic with a 359; Stanton with a 371; Plainview with a 374; Neligh with a 402; Orchard with a 408; Hartington with a 412; O'Neill St. Mary with a 415; Plainview Reserves with a 416; O'Neill Reserves with a 418; Atkinson West Holt with a 420 and rounding out the field was Humphrey St. Francis with a 447.

The Blue Devils' Kevin Hausmann carded an 18-hole score of 84 to place seventh, while the fifth man of the varsity Eric Runestad fired an 85 to place ninth. Again the varsity carries five golfers, but only the top four are scored.

Wayne will now host Hartington Cedar Catholic's reserve and varsity this Thursday at 4:00. On Friday, the Blue Devils will travel to meet Norfolk at 4:30 p.m.

Wakefield's Stelling wins four golds

Both the Wakefield boys and girls track teams were in action last Saturday in the Plainview Invitational with a total of 15 teams competing.

Both teams struggled throughout the meet, although the girls did capture fourth place with 42 points. The Lady Trojans finished the meet with four first place finishes. Here's the catch! Sophomore specialist Theresa Stelling had a leg in all four of the first place finishes including two meet records established.

The foursome of Julie Greve, Cathie Larsen, Laurie Plendl and Stelling combined for a 10:33.2 mark in the 3200 meter relay which was good enough for a new record. Stelling also set the mark for the open 800 meter run with her time of 2:31.6.

Stelling served notice to the rest of class C that she will be ready come time for the state meet in Omaha come May. Not only did she own the 800 meter run, but she captured the 1600 and 3200 meter runs as well with times of 5:39.3 and 11:49.7 respectively.

Plendl was the only other female individualist who placed with her fifth place time of 6:10.0 in the mile.

Crofton won the girls portion of the meet bettering second place Bloomfield by eight points 72-64. Also finishing ahead of Wakefield in third place was Atkinson West Holt with 48 points. After Wakefield came fifth place Pierce with 41 points; O'Neill with 39 points; Wisner-Pilger with 37 points; Osmond with 32 points; Plainview with 25 points; Elkhorn Valley with 20 points; O'Neill St. Mary with 16 points; Creighton with 12 points; Laurel with 10 points; Norfolk Catholic with seven points and failing to score was Wynot.

The Wakefield boys could only muster four points and finished at the bottom of the 15-team field. The 400-meter relay team consisting of Mike Nelson, Brian Wagner, Todd Kratke and Kurt Boeckenhauer placed fifth with a time of 48.0 seconds. The Trojans had two individual sixth place finishes as Tony Krusemark ran to the time of 19.1 seconds in the 110 meter high hurdles, and Mike Tuller triple jumped 38'11".

O'Neill won the boys portion of the meet with 94 points. Well-ahead of second place Wisner-Pilger's 67 points. Others in order of finish included Pierce with 53 points; Atkinson West Holt with 50 points; Creighton with 48 points; Bloomfield with 45 points; Plainview with 29 points; Wausa with 28 points; Laurel with 27 points; Norfolk Catholic with 22 points; Crofton with 20 points; Wynot with 16 points; Elkhorn Valley with 12 points; O'Neill St. Mary with 12 points and Wakefield with four points.

fifth place while the foursome of Prescott, Nixon, Marquardt and Freeman ran to a fourth place finish of 3:46.5.

Sparkling the Bears was the 3200 meter relay team which now owns the best of the North East Nebraska times in class C with an 8:54.0 clocking. The foursome responsible for the gold medal performance are Darren Martinsen, Scott Marquardt, Kyle Nixon and Mike Freeman.

The Laurel girls found the going a little tougher at the Plainview invitational as they mustered only 10 team points on one third place finish, one fifth place finish and two sixth place finishes.

Other point winners for the Laurel boys included Marquardt's third place long jump of 19'5", and Brian Penne's 19' sixth place long jump effort.

Sophomore Amy Adkins took home two medals as she placed third in the 200 meter dash with a time of 30.2 seconds, and a sixth place finish in the 100 meter dash with a 14.0 clocking.

The 1600 meter relay team finished sixth with a time of 4:43.5 and Heather Thomas finished in a three way tie for fifth in the high jump with a jump of 4'6 1/2".

Baseball team hits snag in Mt. Marty, Kearney

By Kevin Peterson Sports Editor

The Wayne State baseball team ran into a couple snags this past weekend in Mount Marty College in Yankton and Kearney State College.

On Saturday Lenny Klaver's squad dropped the first game of the scheduled double header 8-1. Mike Kennedy took the loss at the mound for his first start of the season, (0-1). "They had a really strong pitcher throwing against us in the first game," Klaver said.

Wayne State was allotted five hits during the game but no extra base hits. Dale Clayton, Mark Wewel, Gale Bretschneider, Randy Yärke and Dale Irving all recorded singles during the seven inning contest with Clayton getting the games' only rbi for the Wildcats in the seventh inning.

Corey Weinmaster came in and relieved Kennedy in the fourth inning.

Wayne State has so much hitting potential that it is very difficult to contain them for very long periods of time. That was never more evident than in the second game when the Wildcats posted a 5-2 victory with the aid of freshman pitcher John Hagen. Hagen notched a three-hitter which raised his season record to 2-1. Offensively the Wildcats scattered 10 hits enroute to the five runs. Pat Salerno was the big stick with three hits in the game, including a double and a home run. Salerno recorded three of the five rbi's.

Craig Koehler and Irving also recorded two hits apiece while Desry Jaeger, Wewel and Yärke all recorded one hit.

Wildcats drop two to Kearney State

On Sunday, Klaver's team strode into Kearney for yet another twin bill. In the opening contest Klaver pitched Kevin Boham and he scattered five hits to the host team. However, Kearney State's hits were strung together enough to score four runs, while Wayne State scored but one run on five hits.

"Kearney's hits were really timely," Klaver noted. "We had just as many hits but they were strung out more."

Boham's season record dropped to 4-2. Wewel led the Wildcats with two hits, while Clayton, Bretschneider and Irving all notched one hit apiece.

In the nightcap Wayne State lost 5-4 in eight innings. The Wildcats were out hit 9-7 as Jeff Pasold fell to 2-1 on the year. Yeager and Koehler each recorded two hits in the game while Clayton, Wewel and Randy Lau all notched one hit apiece.

"Both games were even," Klaver said. "Kearney had the luxury of getting most of their hits in a string."

Wayne State's record fell to 14-10 on the year while Kearney State improved its record to 12-15.

Rec center shows rewards

Test results by Wayne State football players were much improved over last spring's testing and show an increase in the overall athletic ability of the football team, according to head coach Pete Chapman.

Two new school records were set in the agility run and the overall athletic index. Daryl Mountain, a senior wide receiver from Omaha, ran a 5.06 in the agility run while four Wayne State players broke the record of 2,950 points in the athletic index set last year by Mark Volf.

Mountain turned in the top score of 3,180 points while Damon Ross had 3,105 points. Glenn Sutton 3,082 and Rodney Harris 2,964 points. In all Mountain turned in the best performance in four of the seven testing categories. He ran a 4.49 in the 40 yard dash and a 55.05 in the 300 yard shuttle run to lead the team. Other leaders were Harry Hardner in the bench press at 380 lbs. and Dan Peterson in the seated shot put at 24'2".

"Overall, the kids turned in much better performances in all the tests," Chapman said. "We particularly noticed a difference in the agility run. Our new recreation center has given our players a place to train indoors during the off-season and that probably helped us as much as anything."

Wayne State is in the second week of spring football practices and will continue until April 30 when the annual alumni-varsity game is held in Memorial Stadium.

Wildcats devour sixth-rated Kearney State 3-1, 6-4

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

If the Wildcat softball team was looking for that one triumph to put them over the hump as they head down the stretch run of the season, it may have come Tuesday afternoon in Wayne as the Wildcats defeated sixth rated Kearney State in both games of a double header.

In fact, if statistics are your forte, Wayne State has won eight of its last nine games and its last three losses have been to the same team, St. Mary of Omaha.

However, Tuesday's twin bill against Kearney State was a chance for Wayne State to prove they are worthy of a top 20 rating in which they fell from last week.

In the opening game Roni Johnson baffled the Kearney State batters as she scattered four hits and allowed only one run enroute to her fourth straight pitching victory after starting out the season with three losses.

The Wildcats got all three of its runs in the first inning via an inside the park home run by Kris Pestel. Schumann led off the inning by reaching base after being hit by a pitch by Kearney State pitcher Phyllis Debuhr. Kathy Nickolite reached on a fielders choice and Pestel followed with the potent drive deep into the outfield.

Wayne State finished with five hits but suffered two errors. Cyndi Karrick came in to relieve Johnson in the final two innings to earn the save.

Wayne State wins nightcap 6-4
Ronda Peck began the second game on the mound for coach Marilyn Strate. Peck's counterpart

Susan Johnson of Kearney State was literally getting rapped by the Wayne State sluggers.

After a 1-0 lead by the visitors heading into the bottom of the second inning, Wayne State started to roll. Lisa Jacobsen and Shell Schumann each had hits in the second inning and Peck was walked. The Wildcats were also aided by Kelly Zierke's sacrifice bunt, and after two innings of play the score was knotted at one apiece.

In the fourth inning Wayne State built a 4-1 lead. Natalie Highman led off the inning with a single followed by Jacobsen's sacrifice.

With two out, the Wildcats put on a rally and scored three runs. Peck doubled, Zierke singled, and Schumann doubled in succession to give the host some breathing room.

In the sixth inning however, Kearney State battled back to tie the game. Strate had put reliever Cyndi Karrick into the game for Peck, and the Lopers rallied to knot the score.

Wayne State not to be denied, scored two runs in the bottom half of the inning aided by Zierke and Schumann's key hits.

The lead held in the final inning as Peck came back in to pitch, thus giving the Wildcats the sweep.

Both Schumann and Zierke had perfect games from the plate in the second game with a 3-3 and a 2-2 performance respectively. Nickolite and Highman both had two hits apiece also to lead the Wildcat effort.

Wayne State improves its record to 12-7, while Kearney State fell to 11-6.

PITCHER RONDA PECK was unsuccessful on her bid to slide home after a ball was hit into the outfield.

WAYNE STATE pitcher Roni Johnson was in top form Tuesday as she shut down Kearney State in game one, for her fourth straight victory. At left, a Wayne State infielder leaps off the bag to catch the incoming ball.

One thing Wayne State softball coach Marilyn Strate was hoping for in last weekend's tournament at St. Mary in Omaha was that her Wildcat squad would be in a pool where they would face St. Mary only in the finals.

The tournament, which began Friday, was rained out on Saturday and then played on Sunday. Through it all, with teams failing to come back on Sunday and other intangible affairs, the Wayne State mentor got her wish.

However, first Wayne State ran past a stubborn South Dakota State University 6-4. Ronda Peck picked up the win on the mound for her Wildcat team. Peck also aided her own effort by slapping out a single and a triple on the offensive end.

"We really had some timely hits against SDSU," Strate said. "Peck really pitched a good game despite the four runs. She did a marvelous job of hitting for us."

Kris Pestel also rapped a double to help out her team's cause. Strate did note that a couple of defensive infield errors hurt the team in the fifth inning but her squad responded for the victory.

In the second game Wayne State was propelled by a 13-hit attack against Northwestern of Iowa. The Wildcats used a six run third inning to rout their foe 10-3 after five innings of play due to the seven run rule after five inning rule.

Cyndi Karrick took the honors from the mound where she too pitched a very good game. Karrick however, could not help but enjoy the way her teammates strung five consecutive hits together in the third inning which was capped by Shell Schumann's 3-run triple.

Former Wayne graduate Lisa Jacobsen rapped out three hits for her Wildcats while Pestel went 3-3 from the plate.

Wayne State wins pool play
As mentioned earlier, Saturday's competition was rained out, so the tournament was postponed until the following morning.

Since Wayne State won its pool play they were allotted a bye, which meant SDSU was to play Dana. SDSU defeated the Nebraska foe by 1-run which in turn gave Wayne State a second go-around with them.

In this game however, Strate's squad came out firing with Roni Johnson. Johnson pitched a 1-hit shut out, while at the same time her teammates were making things very tough for SDSU to catch up, even if they could.

The Wildcats recorded six hits including shortstop Paula Dolesh's 3-3 effort. Schumann, Pestel and Ann Bauer recorded the other four.

"I thought our defensive performance was very good during this game," Strate said. "We didn't suffer any errors."

St. Mary vs. Wayne State
So the stage was set for what Strate was hoping for, a rematch with one of the top ranked teams in America in St. Mary. St. Mary defeated the Wildcats in both ends of a double header just over a week earlier in Wayne.

Wayne State sent Ronda Peck to the mound and in the very first inning St. Mary rapped Peck for three hits and scored three runs which would hold up for the rest of the contest, thus giving St. Mary the win and the championship, 4-0.

Potassium and Blood Pressure

Will taking a potassium supplement reduce my blood pressure if I do not have high blood pressure?

Many experts believe that a diet high in sodium and low in potassium is a contributing factor in the development of high blood pressure (hypertension). Animal studies show that potassium supplements have a mild blood pressure reducing effect in animals that have high blood pressure. In animals that do not have high blood pressure, potassium supplements have no effect on blood pressure.

Many people who do not have high blood pressure take potassium supplements. To determine the effect of potassium in such individuals, researchers at the Indiana University School of Medicine recruited 38 families (white adults and children) and gave them potassium supplements for a four-week period. All study participants were allowed to consume their "normal" diets which contained as much sodium as desired.

The researchers found that potassium supplements had no significant effect on blood pressure in individuals who did not have high blood pressure.

Crosswalk danger

Close your eyes and picture this scene. Four people are standing at the crosswalk located at 5th Street and Main, three of them are small children. The crosswalk is plainly marked with white stripes on the pavement, huge yellow caution signs and flashing yellow lights demanding motorists' attention. The pedestrians wait (luckily one of them is an adult) while exactly 11 cars break the law and drive through the intersection seemingly oblivious to the situation. By the way, for those motorists who can't (or won't) read, the huge yellow signs say "STOP FOR PEDESTRIANS IN CROSSWALK." Car number 11 has words written on the side. The words say "Student Driver"!!!!

Unbelievable? I'm the adult who was with those kids and they are my kids and they always have trouble getting across the street at that crosswalk. AND maybe 40 or so other kids have trouble crossing there, not once in a while, but twice a day every single school day all school year.

Well, parental complaints haven't helped. I made my first complaints in 1983 when my daughter was in first grade, but I know people in this section of town who have complained to the school and to the police department even years before that. Nothing is being done to upgrade the safety of these children who are the most vulnerable and unpredictable creatures on this earth.

Two weeks ago another Mom from this section witnessed a pickup truck narrowly miss two small children in that crosswalk. The truck didn't even slow down even though these small kids were still several steps from the curb. He obviously didn't see any of the warnings the city has placed there to protect such children, maybe he didn't even see the first and third graders!!

This is by far not the first close call at that location. There have been many. Last year I stopped for a pedestrian who was crossing there. The motorist behind me thought that I was turning but had forgotten to signal so he decided to show a poor driver how real people drive. He passed me on the left going around me very fast to show his disgust and missed hitting someone's grandmother by inches!

If motorists and the people of Wayne continue to just ignore this law (remember your drivers manual you take out every now and then when you need to take the written test to renew your license?) someone is going to be seriously injured or killed before there will be any action taken to upgrade that crosswalk to a point where it is safe.

It's 3:30 and my daughters will cross there (along with lots of other people's sons and daughters) any minute now. Will the motorists see them, will they stop like the signs say and the children have been told they should? If my phone rings will it be the police informing me of a tragedy?

I began this letter with "close your eyes." Now it's time to open your eyes. Now that the weather is warmer lots of Wayne citizens will use that crosswalk regularly. Please obey the law. City police, will you please help insure that they do? City of Wayne, what will you do if they don't?

by Pat Meierhenry

From 86 degrees to 36 degrees in 12 hours is quite a change! Should we put the sweaters away, or not? People have been running around in shorts and the wind blows and blows.

The Big Farmer reports there are 35 new calves. So far, no serious problems. But they do like warm weather. Warm, dry weather.

A week ago, a gal from a Chicago company that does business with our Home Health agency called to see how we were doing on our joint venture.

As we ended the conversation, I asked, "What's the weather like in Chicago today?" She said it was cold and windy and I responded, "If it's any comfort, it is here too. And the little calves don't like this weather."

She asked, "You have little calves?" I could hear interest and disbelief in her voice, so I took advantage. "Oh, yes. It's that time of year here."

She asked another question. "And you have something to do with that?" I have not touched one calf yet this year, but I lied. "Well, I used to be an obstetrical nurse, so it comes in handy."

SHE WAS amazed! So I added to her education that day. "Since you are in the home infusion business, you'd be interested in this. When the calves get sick from cold, damp weather, we tube-feed them. We use a bag and plastic tubing and make a salt and sugar formula. Or we get electrolytes from the vet and replace what has been lost." Now I could hear awe and surprise in the young lady's voice. "Really! I didn't know that. You have made my day."

Then I made my last point. "So make mine, and have a hamburger for lunch." She promised she would and hung up. And I mused again about the importance of communication and people in agriculture telling every aspect of the story.

There's a lot of controversy among beef producers over the check-off and the advertising dollars that have been spent on Cybill Shephard and James Garner. Something has helped boost beef prices, but we're not sure it's the TV ads. One study says, "Taste makes beef lovers, but price and trimness make beef buyers."

THE NEWEST issue of Beef magazine features an interview with Nolan Ryan of the Houston Astros. He eats beef five to six times a week. He owns cows and says working his cattle overcomes the "burnout" of pressure on the diamond.

Does it also work in the reverse, causing farmers to play softball all summer?

I don't know if Danny Manning eats beef, but I bet he does. That was one heck of a ball game and shows what emotion can do.

I heard one announcer say "Mrs. Billy Tubbs complained to her husband that he loved basketball more than he loved her. He is supposed to have said, "But I don't love track more than you!"

Willard Scott is also quoted in Beef. "I eat two steaks a week and one meal of pot roast. When I get to heaven, I don't really care about fancy rooms. All I want at least once a week is good fresh carrots and potatoes and onions and a pot roast cooked about seven hours. That, with banana pudding for dessert, and I'd be, excuse the expression, in hog heaven." We'll try to accommodate Willard.

Solid thinking

Where will all the branches go?

What will we do when we have some heavy rocks or other debris that we need to get rid of?

Tuesday night the Wayne City Council was confronted with the issue of open burning and the problems that it can entail. The talk eventually shifted to what lies ahead for the city of Wayne in ridding itself of solid waste.

For at least a year or more, City Administrator Phil Kloster has been talking about the poor condition of the transfer station and the boxes where the solid waste is compacted.

With the brush fire issue now burning, it apparently seems to be the right time to discuss the throwing of branches into a more modified version of a transfer station.

Or as a member of the audience at Tuesday's city council meeting mentioned — perhaps a solution would be to open a landfill nearby.

The landfill issue, although not talked about in length on Tuesday evening, is something that the council should review. Solid waste disposal appears headed to become one key issue which must be addressed in Nebraska's future.

But like the issue of who would like to have a highly-regulated radioactive waste dump site on their property, just exactly who would want the hazards of solid waste dumped near their location?

Will the advantages of operating a landfill outweigh the disadvantages? Certainly the landfill should be licensed and strictly regulated. But will DEC regulations remain the same on landfill sites as the years progress?

The Nebraska Department of Environmental Control is already studying 106 unlicensed or private solid waste dumps within the state to see how the sites have affected the surrounding environment.

We would hope to see the brush pile site remain at its present location for the time being. It will until the solid waste issue can be addressed.

And until a solution is found for industries within the Wayne city limits to expose their solid waste, it appears they will have to go on burning (as long as they receive the permits from the local fire department).

As far as fix-up of the transfer station, the city council must be prepared to take measures of handling the solid waste problems of the future.

But with the current modifications that need to be done at the wastewater treatment plant or the costs to bear for bringing water from another source into Wayne, maybe the city of Wayne isn't ready to tackle another project at this time.

What should be stressed here is safe burning in the rural and city areas, and that permits are obtained through the Wayne fire department.

We can understand that the dry conditions, and the hazards of burning, are good reasons why the brush pile site south of Wayne has not been ignited.

The gate to the brush site south of Wayne has been open and branches can be brought in to the site. Hopefully, the dry conditions won't last forever and once again it will be safe to do some open burning.

Until then, we should all know the laws that are mandated by the state-wide burning ban and all should exercise common sense in regard to the open burning.

By Chuck Hackenmiller

Burning

come from town have to go somewhere. The people in town have a need and somehow that has to be handled," said Heier.

"As far as the fire department is concerned, there is no problem. But there are problems that go beyond your local fire department," answered Preston.

"What you would end up with is an open landfill and that has an entirely new set of regulations," he added.

THAT LINE OF discussion led to a topic disclosed by City Administrator Phil Kloster on the condition of the city's transfer station. "We've been working for the last couple of years on ideas of what to do with the transfer station. We have to modify something because it is having structural problems," Kloster said.

The large boxes, which hold the compacted refuse, is taken from the landfill to a landfill site in Norfolk. "The wheels are coming off the boxes. The boxes are literally falling apart," Kloster said.

One of the systems proposed, using the current transfer station system but with modifications, would take the brush normally hauled to south of Logan Creek. But it would not be able to take in the large logs, Kloster said.

Another approach to log removal in the city limits, Kloster said, would be to arrange with someone in the county to have a "log-type landfill", where residents of the city could take their logs; or have a collection spot in the city where the city would eventually haul the logs to the landfill site.

Another system on the horizon would be to use a relatively new system that would burn everything including the logs, salvaging by-products while allowing the rest to turn into ashes on a self-sustaining basis. "But that's still a ways off," Kloster said.

KLOSTER SAID "without question" the issues which the city of Wayne will face in future years will be the disposal of solid waste. "The Environmental Protection Agency is going to change their laissez-faire [meaning the practice or doctrine of noninterference in the affairs of others] attitude about landfills and what the communities do with their garbage," Kloster said. "With the state's water system in danger as it is, they are going to force all communities to handle solid waste in an acceptable method."

Tompkins then discussed more of the open burning issue, saying that Heritage Homes has always been careful about burning. "We've been burning for nine years and we hadn't received one complaint about our smoke," he mentioned.

He said the fires are started in the morning and that the fire is out before nightfall. It is not like the city who lights its brush fire and allows it to smolder at night, he added.

"Our total cost would vary from $9,000 to $14,000 to not burn our trash, which is a lot of money. I don't want that to happen," Tompkins said.

Tompkins suggested that the compactor at the transfer be closed down and that the city of Wayne open up a landfill, meeting all the requirements of the state.

PRESTON SAID the current brush site will be opened and the burning permit for the brush site will be issued based on the weather conditions of that day and wind direction.

"The actual burning itself will be more closely monitored. If the wind blows in a direction not considered safe, then things are going to have to be mounded up until the ideal day comes up [to burn]," Preston mentioned.

In other action Tuesday after a public hearing on a mini bus grant, the city council voted by a 6-1 margin to approve a resolution authorizing application for federal funding for the purchase of a mini-bus to replace the current mini-bus being used in transporting senior citizens throughout the city.

The new vehicle will have an estimated cost of $18,500 — which includes the $2,500 for the wheel chair lift. Currently, the vehicle has 33,000 miles since it was purchased about four years ago.

Four years ago, the federal match for the purchase of the vehicle was 80 percent. This year, the match has decreased to 60 percent and next year will likely be a 50 percent match, according to city personnel. The city's share of the purchase price for the new van will be approximately $7,400.

"We have to remember that we're losing about 10 percent per year in matching funds, and we'll lose that much more in letting it get older," said Mayor Wayne Marsh.

Councilman Randy Pedersen voted against the proposal, saying that 33,000 miles is not enough to warrant the purchase of another vehicle.

Students reach quarter mark to Korea

After only one week had elapsed for the Middle Schools assault on Seoul, South Korea, Physical Education Instructor Don Koenig reported that the participants have completed a little over 25 percent of the 8,000 mile hike.

"We recorded 2,050 miles after one week of keeping track of all the walking, jogging and P.E. classes," Koenig said.

As mentioned earlier, the students in grades K-8 are keeping track of all the mileage walked or ran in the eight weeks between April 1, and the approximate end of May. The object is to come up with a total that exceeds or meets the approximate distance between Wayne, Nebraska and the site of the 1988 summer olympics in Seoul, South Korea.

Parents have been getting involved as well as teachers according to Dan Johnson, history teacher for the seventh and eighth grade classes in the Middle School.

Johnson currently has his classes following the imaginary trek across the country to the olympic site by following a map of where they would be by adding up the distance by the students participating.

"We have chosen two different routes to South Korea," Johnson stated. "One land route and one water route." As of right now traveling by land the students would be right above Prince George in Canada. Traveling by the water route Johnson stated that the students would be right on the edge of California and the Pacific Ocean.

Some of the cities they have passed during the brief amount of time since they started have been Sioux Falls, South Dakota; Pierre, South Dakota; Miles City, Montana; Alberta, Canada; Calgary, Canada and British Columbia in Canada.

Traveling by the way of the water route the students have crossed all of Nebraska, Cheyenne, Wyoming; Laramie, Wyoming; the border of Colorado; Salt Lake and Salt Lake City, Utah; Just above Reno, Nevada; Now they are on the 40th latitude.

Incidentally, traveling the land route, the students will travel right through the site of the 1988 winter olympics which concluded approximately six weeks ago in Montreal, Canada.

HISTORY TEACHER Dan Johnson points to the site of the past Winter Olympics in Calgary, which the students have already surpassed in miles enroute to the summer games in South Korea.

In liability lawsuits

Law will give fair treatment

Legislators put in 12 to 14 hour days this past week in order to complete the business before then this session. The Legislature adjourned "sine die" at 10:08 p.m., April 8th. For a so-called short session (60 days) most senators feel a great deal has been accomplished. That may be due in part to the fact that much of this years work carried over from a very active session last year. For instance, three of my bills that were signed into law this year, were initiated last year, but the session ended before the Legislature was able to act on them.

On the final day of the legislative session, the Legislature overwhelmingly passed my priority bill, LB 1178, which substantially changes the state's civil liability laws. The bill creates a level playing field for all citizens as plaintiffs and defendants in determining the fault of parties in a lawsuit. I believe it will alter the state's laws to truly treat all parties fairly and equitably in our legal system.

During the last week of the session, the Legislature considered several bills of particular interest. One of these bills, LB 926, would have allowed school districts to use a "lease-purchase" method of financing building projects without receiving the approval of the district's voters. The ordinary method of building financing with a bond issue requires a vote if the amount involved is more than $25,000.

Ag specialist says

Check for black cutworm

Farmers in eastern Nebraska should begin checking their fields this month for black cutworm larvae, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln entomology technician said.

The moth form of the cutworm will migrate from Louisiana to Midwestern states like Nebraska this month.

Once in Nebraska, the moths will lay eggs in wet and cool low-lying grasses.

Capitol Views

by Sen. Gerald Conway

The lease-purchase method was advocated primarily by the city of Lincoln school district as being more "flexible" in terms of financing. I and a majority of the Legislature did not vote to support this legislation. It is my belief that school financing measures should not be undertaken without the consent of a school district's taxpayers. The lease-purchase method can always be offered under the present law as long as there is voter approval. Bypassing the voters in school financing is not a wise nor proper policy in my judgment.

The Legislature also did not support LB 972 which would have exempted farm machinery from sales tax. Most of the states surrounding Nebraska do not have this tax. We often are faced with the difficulties of "border-bleeding" when neighboring states can offer a lower effective cost to a purchaser. However, the Legislature's rejection in this case seemed to fall more into the category of concern for narrowing the tax base than it did for the extent that the exemption would stimulate economic activity.

A major issue approved by the Legislature was the passage of a bond measure to improve Nebraska's road system. LB 632 approves $50 million in bonds to help rebuild and expand Nebraska highway system. In light of accelerating cutbacks in available federal monies for highway construction and the definite link between a state's transportation system and its ability to improve its economic status, the Legislature approved this method of financing. The body was convinced that without this method we may fall behind in maintenance, let alone the ability to improve our system.

As of this writing, many of the bills that were passed by the Legislature are still awaiting the Governor's signature in order to become law. She has five days to sign or veto legislation after it is put on her desk. Next week's column should therefore be a good opportunity to share with you the highlights of this legislative session.

Later this month my staff and I will be scheduling meetings throughout the district to discuss effects of this year's legislation and to provide you the opportunity to begin shaping legislation for the next session.

LET'S ALL SUPPORT AN INDUSTRY THAT HARVESTS $8 BILLION ANNUALLY.

Enthusiasm for agriculture is growing again in Nebraska. After all, the success of our state's economy is strongly tied to the strength of our ag industry. Almost one-third of our economic activity is related to the production of ag commodities or ag services.

Nebraska has always been a leading crop production state and now ranks among the top five in cash receipts for ag commodities nationally—third in corn production, third in sorghum, ninth in wheat, eighth in soybeans, and fifth in rye and beans.

Recently, Nebraska produced a record 954 million bushels of corn (11 percent of the U.S. total) with total cash crop marketing of $3.3 billion and $4.6 billion in livestock marketing. In fact, cattle and calf production in Nebraska amounts to 12 percent of the U.S. total, placing Nebraska second only to Texas.

So, if you think Nebraska ranks nationally only in football, maybe it's time to remember why we're called the Cornhuskers.

LET'S GET INTO A POSITIVE STATE.
