Bids submitted for water project

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

Bids for the water system improvement projects, submitted by 11 firms from several states, were accepted Tuesday evening by the Wayne City Council.

Consulting engineers of the projects, Howard R. Green Company of Spirit Lake, estimated the cost for the water system improvements at $1,185,315. Specifications call for 34,050 linear feet of 16" water transmission line and 6,930 linear feet of 12" pipe from the site on the Robert Fuoss property approximately six miles north of Wayne to the present city lines.

The bidding also entailed a cost for construction of a well house and piping at the new well field north of Wayne.

D.A. Davis Company of South Sioux City submitted the lowest bid on the project at $1,017,338.13. The next lowest bid was turned in by Winter Construction Company of Pipestone, Minnesota at $1,134,356.83.

OTHERS BIDDING on the project included Midland Contracting of Kearney at $1,197,600; Paulson Building and Supply of Cozad, $1,187,338; Van Hauen-Keller Construction of West Des Moines, Iowa, $1,374,281.50; GLC Inc. of Columbus, Nebraska, $1,388,589.50; Hopkins Contracting from Sloan, Iowa, $1,158,702; Douglas N. Higgins, Inc., Ann Arbor, Michigan, $1,214,720; Lundell Construction Company, Cherokee, Iowa, $1,226,476.50; Dobson Brothers Construction Company, Lincoln, $1,181,215.50; and H.R. Bookstrom Construction of Lincoln, $1,272,845.

John Franklin, representing the Howard R. Green Company, said it could "easily be a month away before the contract is signed for the project."

The construction period for the water system improvements is 190 days, according to City Administrator Phil Kloster.

The consulting engineers will present their recommendations for bid acceptance at the next city council meeting, scheduled for May 10.

IN OTHER action Tuesday, the city council passed an ordinance, waiving the third reading, that will prohibit parking on the west side of Main Street, between 4th and 5th Street.

The action will be enforced after the official ordinance has appeared in the city's legal newspaper (The Wayne Herald).

The parking signs will dictate that no parking will be allowed, except from 8 a.m. to noon on Sundays, in the restricted parking area.

Councilman Darrel Heier voted against the passage of the ordinance, citing that situations at First Baptist Church could require parking more than just the Sunday morning time frame. "I don't think we've come up with the right solution to this," he said.

The city council also:

Bereuter addresses Persian Gulf matters

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

Congressman Doug Bereuter appeared in Wayne Saturday evening, addressing current issues before Wayne County Farm Bureau members and guests during the organization's special banquet at the city auditorium.

Bereuter first spoke about the Persian Gulf (or Arabian Gulf) situation, where Iranian oil platforms and several Iranian ships had been sunk or badly damaged recently by retaliating United States military forces patrolling and protecting convoys and Kuwaiti ships.

Several weeks ago, an American ship in the Persian Gulf struck a mine and was badly damaged. The U.S. decided to retaliate against the Iranians for the laying of mines in international waters.

"The American naval presence in the Persian Gulf is not a new matter. We've been consistently there for the past 40 years," Bereuter said. Despite the fact that the U.S. receives only 5 to 8 percent of crude oil through the Persian Gulf, cutting off the source from Japan and Europe would still result in a skyrocketing price for American oil and gasoline, Bereuter said.

THE JAPANESE and the Germans are restricted from interfering with the conflicts in the Gulf. However, there are allies from western Europe joining the U.S. in patrolling the waters, he said.

Bereuter said the U.S. first retaliated by striking two Iranian oil platforms. Prior to the attack, they gave at least five minutes notice for the people on the platforms to evacuate.

The Iranians began to attack oil tankers and American ships in the Gulf. And the Americans retaliated. "The President has said the U.S. will come to the aid of merchant vessels under attack, no matter whose flag is flying," Bereuter said.

Then, Bereuter talked about another war. "We're losing the war on drugs in the United States. It is a major problem in this country," Bereuter said.

He has co-sponsored a bill that would call for utilizing the armed forces in identifying, interdicting and sharing intelligence about drug running to the U.S. and sharing the information with law enforcement officials. "The major opposition to this has been the Pentagon," he said.

He emphasized the most important legislation during this 100th Congress would be the Omnibus Trade Bill.

THE BILL GIVES the President unencumbered negotiating authority to reduce trade barriers and makes it easier to retaliate quickly against countries that engage in unfair trade practices. It also provides long-term agricultural trade strategy planning, and it includes stand-by powers that would implement marketing loan programs for wheat, feed grains and soybeans and an expanded Export Enhancement Program.

Mind the signs

People should take heed when children talk, or when parents get understandably defensive about how their child's safety is being jeopardized.

Over the past weeks, letters have appeared in The Wayne Herald concerning the fear that someday, a child pedestrian may be seriously injured or die because people disobey traffic signs.

The traffic sign we're discussing here is the one that signifies a crossing at Fifth Street and Main. The amber flashing light should remind motorists to read the sign, which says that if anyone is approaching the crosswalk, then the vehicles must stop to allow the pedestrians to pass.

Parents have gone on record witnessing how vehicles drive right through the crosswalk while the pedestrians wait to safely cross.

City officials have said the Department of Roads will be doing a traffic survey at the intersection to see what precautions are necessary.

Some of the considerations discussed by the council included using a red flashing light to make sure vehicles stop or using a larger amber flashing light.

Maybe all it takes is a constant reminder or patrolling the crosswalk consistently by local law enforcement officers. Some communities have volunteer people to patrol and guide the young children across the busy intersections.

Another area of pedestrian safety which should not be overlooked by parents is to make sure their children safely cross Main Street as they head to the city library.

Parking has now been prohibited on the west side of Main Street between 4th and 5th Street, where currently businesses, a church and the city's public library are located.

The city has made an alley and parking lot available to the public on the west side of the city library to eliminate the street crossing and parents should be encouraged to use this public parking area.

Another angle to consider, parents, is to educate your children on the proper rules and regulations of bicycle riding in the city limits — to stop at the stop signs and obey all traffic laws.

Motorists should be aware of children on bicycles in their neighborhood, particularly when backing out of driveways or in driving the streets of Wayne.

Wayne has been fortunate to be without a pedestrian fatality, and the police department has received honors for its efforts in protection of pedestrians.

Let's keep that record going strong.

Letters

Dear Editor:

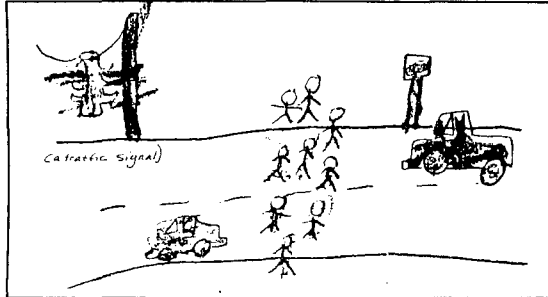

I think crossing that street is a dangerous thing. I think we should put up a sign so people would stop when we are crossing that street. I think little kids and big grownups also have this problem. I'm a little kid and I think it is really hard for me to cross.

My mom writes down all the people who don't wait when people are crossing.

I think it should make sense to put up that sign.

When looking to food

Marketplace opportunities studied

"It's a jungle out there" well describes the food marketplace. "It ain't what it used to be" also applies.

Anyone who's managed to stay out of a grocery store for 10 years — say a very fortunate husband, for example — would find that buying food for the week is no simple matter.

Part of the reason the grocery store has changed is to keep up with the food service industry. Even the stranger to the supermarket knows about the proliferation of fast food outlets and the increase in meals eaten away from home.

Those of us who do make regular pilgrimages to the grocery store have some general sense of changes in the food industry.

We know very well that there are now some 10,000 items in the store — we expect large groceries to also process film, rent videotapes, sell flowers, dispense prescriptions and take in dry cleaning, because by the time we fill the cart, we're disinclined to run any more errands.

You've heard the saying, "There's a helpful smile in every mile," perhaps.

CONSUMERS NOTICE a new product the first time they see it, but

Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation

by Cheryl Stubbendieck, Vice President/Information

quickly take it for granted. One week pre-cooked chicken patties debut in the meat department, next week it's crusts for two-person pies in the freezer case, then a new ethnic or gourmet product in gold foil packaging.

Dr. Steve Taylor, director of the University of Nebraska Food Processing Center, studies the trends in food marketing.

Add up the developments of the past 10 years and the change is phenomenal: new shelf-stable foods; aseptic processing, as in those little boxes of juice with the straw attached; modified atmosphere storage — fresh and pre-cooked items packaged with carbon dioxide; leaner meats and more fish in the meat department; hot food products in the deli; the microwave foods explosion; no-boil pasta; and the growth of perimeter shopping, wherein busy consumers visit the high-value departments, such as the deli, produce, bakery and meat departments and never venture into the bowels of the store where the Cheerios are located.

TAYLOR STUDIES the population trends, too. "Oinks" and "dinks" (one income, no kids; and two incomes, no kids) have lots of dollars to spend.

Only one-third of U.S. households have children, and 40 percent of kids have working mothers; they've got fewer dollars but also less time to spend.

No wonder then that half of all food sales are for quickly and easily fixed foods.

Ten or so years ago, the food marketplace was price-driven. Now, Taylor says, the consumer's goal is to get good value for the dollar spent.

and she and he will spend more for a high-quality product.

There's more niche-marketing, or production of an item for a narrow market segment. For example, at-home breakfast sandwiches to compete with those from fast food restaurants.

Taylor thinks there's a niche to be filled for convenience foods for kids, to be fixed by kids. The number of latch-key children is growing, and they will only eat macaroni and cheese so many times a week.

THESE TRENDS and others the Food Processing (and marketing) Center tracks point to opportunities for Nebraska.

Our state accounts for only three percent of food processing in the U.S., so there's plenty of room for growth.

The key to food processing success, Taylor says, is to recognize what consumers want and deliver superior solutions in advance of the competition.

If we can do that, we'll be a long way towards diversifying our economy.

Citizens' committee discusses radioactive waste

The citizens' committee assisting US Ecology in siting a low-level radioactive waste disposal facility in Nebraska held its first meeting Saturday, April 23, at the Lincoln Holiday Inn. The volunteer committee, which is facilitated by the Nebraska League of Women Voters, will work to identify key factors that must be addressed in siting a low-level radioactive waste disposal facility in Nebraska.

According to Rich Paton, vice president of US Ecology, the Citizens' Advisory Committee is only one means by which US Ecology will obtain input on site selection criteria.

During the meeting, committee members heard presentations from staff and consultants of US Ecology, the company selected to build the disposal site. Rich Migues, project geologist, outlined the general screening criteria which US Ecology is using to choose possible site areas. Specifically, any potential site must be:

- Outside 100-year flood plains;
- Outside high water and flood areas;
- Away from wetlands;

—Outside the influence of public water wells;

—Two or more miles from geologic faults;

—Outside boundaries of dedicated lands such as parks and wildlife refuges;

—Outside boundaries of threatened and endangered species habitat and away from sensitive species habitat;

—Away from National Register sites;

—Away from significant paleontological sites;

—Outside incompatible land uses;

—15 or more miles from urban areas with population of 100,000 or more;

—Two or more miles from urban areas with 5,000-100,000 population.

Committee members raised a number of factors during the meeting. In particular, the committee expressed concern about protecting the state's groundwater, saying that was one reason why US Ecology originally recommended the above-grade design which was adopted by the Central Interstate Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact.

According to US Ecology, the issue of groundwater protection is so important and complex that it will be a key study point during regional and local studies to be conducted in the coming months.

Committee members also recommended that US Ecology contact state and community planning officials regarding the buffer zone required around population centers.

Federal law requires that the facility be located no closer than 1.2 miles from the outer boundary of the nearest population center. US Ecology's understanding is that the requirement must be met during the 500-year hazardous life of the material in the facility.

Consequently, communities' population growth expectations will be taken into consideration when reviewing areas.

The Nebraska Citizen's Advisory Committee is composed of 12 Nebraskans of various backgrounds and from throughout Nebraska. Members are Ron Ellermeier, Glenview; Shirley Howell, Fairbury; Robert Johnston, Lincoln; Don Lied-

United Way installs officers

The United Way Board of Directors is a group of volunteers who serve their community by conducting a fund drive, and then allocating those funds to agencies that have requested fiscal support. The agencies currently being helped are Wayne Recreation Fund, Wayne Senior Citizen's Center, Prairie Hills Girl Scout Council, Mid-America Boy Scout Council, Red Cross and the Salvation Army.

Law on signs draws attention

The Nebraska Department of Roads has been collecting its usual share of political campaign signs, which have been illegally placed.

It is against the law to place political campaign signs on state right of way. Multi-colored, multi-shaped signs appear every two years near election time and are promptly removed.

Maintenance crews of the Nebraska Department of Roads will immediately remove any signs that are improperly placed within the state highway right of way. These signs will be stored for a period of time in Department Maintenance Yards across the state, where they can be reclaimed by the owners.

It is also illegal to place signs on private property unless the area is properly zoned. Candidates wanting information about state right of way limits should contact their nearest District Office of the Nebraska Department of Roads.

Air Patrol meeting conducted

The Wayne Civil Air Patrol met Monday night in the Dale Planetarium at Wayne State College. Members of the Norfolk Civil Air Patrol Squadron, along with several Wayne residents, were guests.

Captain Carl Rump gave a presentation, "First Light," which focused on the history of telescopes and the new space telescope to be launched.

Approximately 50 persons attended the program and discussed planets and stars which can be seen in the night sky this time of year.

Mike Wankum from KTIV Channel 4 also was scheduled to show tapes of a tornado which hit northeast Nebraska and northwest Iowa two years ago.

Wankum was unable to attend Monday night's program and has rescheduled his presentation for sometime in June.

NEXT MEETING of the Wayne Civil Air Patrol is tonight (Thursday) in Room 6 of the Carhart Science Building on the Wayne State College campus.

The squadron also will meet this Saturday to tour the Air National Guard Base in Sioux City. In addition to touring the briefing rooms, fire fighting facilities and mission coordinators, the squadron will visit with pilots and have a hands-on tour of an A-7 attack fighter.

On May 5, Wayne County Sheriff LeRoy Janssen will address the squadron on disaster preparedness. Janssen will talk about the sheriff department's role, along with civil defense authorities and civil air patrol authorities, during times of disaster.

PERSONS WHO would like more information about the Wayne Civil Air Patrol are asked to call Matthew Polhamus of Wayne, 375-2225, or Ron Lundahl of Laurel, 256-3041.

Dr. Joe Johar, chairman of the Wayne County Democratic Party, announced that Wayne County Democrats are endorsing Constitutional Amendment I calling for a salary increase to $12,000 per year for State Senators.

"State Senators now receive only $4,800 per year. They are among the lowest paid public servants in the nation. As the Omaha World-Herald editorial says, 'A pay increase is overdue. The $1,000 a month proposal is reasonable in terms of the demands of the job and responsibilities of the office. Fairness is one of the main reasons that Nebraskans should vote for the Constitutional Amendment I to raise the pay of the State Senators'."

"The increase in cost to the voters is insignificant. It will cost each Nebraskan an additional 22 cents, the price of one old postage stamp during the one year period to pay for this raise. I urge Democrats and all voters in Wayne County to vote for this necessary pay increase."

AMERICA HAS A HEALTHY RESPECT FOR NEBRASKANS.

Nebraska has always been known for its "good life" but our state is gaining a reputation nationwide for good health, too.

Currently, Nebraska boasts the sixth highest life expectancy of any state in the union (73.88 years). Part of the credit for this statistic has to be given to our excellent statewide health care. Nebraska places third nationally in the ratio of hospital beds to population. In addition, our medical costs are a very healthy 73% of the national average.

Of course, when you live in a state where air and water pollution are practically nonexistent, stress levels are barely measurable, and the crime rate is the sixth lowest in the U.S., you just naturally stay healthy.

So the next time you find yourself enjoying the good life here in Nebraska, take a little extra pleasure in the knowledge that you get to enjoy it longer too.

LET'S GET INTO A POSITIVE STATE.

Tore Nelson Legislative Candidate 17th District

Dear 17th District Voters:

I am Tore Nelson, Candidate for the Nebraska Legislature from the 17th District.

I am prepared to go to Lincoln as your state senator. Special interest groups are sufficiently represented. The 17th District needs a state senator who will represent the people who live and work here.

EDUCATION. Studies have shown a need for improving education in Nebraska. I support the call for better education. And I am convinced that improvements can be made without an increase in expenditures and without unnecessarily intrusive state regulation.

TAXES. We cannot continue to burden the individual, small businesses, and farmers with ever-increasing taxes, while giving huge tax breaks to large corporations which will not promise to stay in Nebraska permanently or to maintain their level of employment on a long term basis.

BUSINESS. Small businesses and family farms provide the greatest opportunities for employment in Nebraska. The Nebraska Legislature should concentrate on a search for the means to encourage growth and prosperity in these two areas.

INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS. Does the state have the duty to impose safety regulations on the individual in every aspect of a private citizen's life? No. There are some decisions that must be left to the individual to make in a democratic society. Whether to wear a seat belt or a motorcycle helmet, both of which are wise precautions, are choices the individual should make for himself or herself.

I need your support to succeed in the Primary Election May 10 and in the General Election in November.

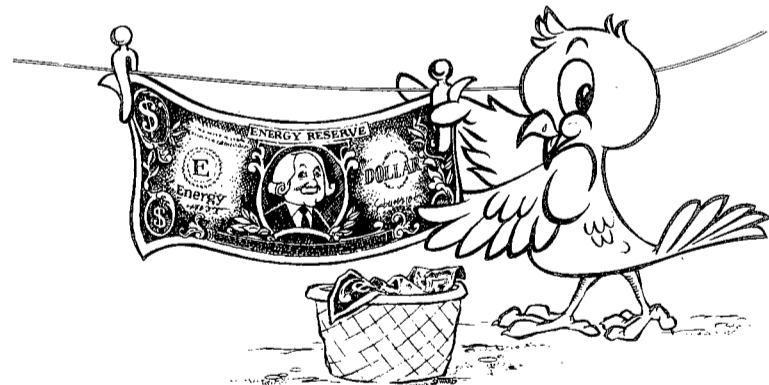

Please vote for Tore Nelson for State Legislature. With your support, we all can win!

Sincerely,

Tore Nelson

Sports

Statistics show WSC Men, Women on top

District 11 statistics for softball and baseball revealed last week that several Wayne State players are atop or among the categories mentioned.

In softball, Wayne State's trio of pitchers rank 1-2-3 in the top 11 mentioned in ERA. Roni Johnson heads the list with a 0.61 ERA, while Ronda Peck and Cyndi Karrick follow with 0.71 and 0.74 ERA's respectively.

Wayne State gives up an average of 0.69 earned runs per contest to lead the district. The Lady Wildcats rank third in team batting with an average of .272.

Kris Pestel is fifth in the district in batting percentage with her .375 effort while Natalie Highman ranks eighth with a .355 average. Paula Dohesh and Pestel also rank seventh and eighth in rbi's per game with 0.56.

Baseball team stats

Gale Bretschneider is currently second in the district in batting percentage with his .488 average. Mark Wewel and Craig Koehler rank fourth and fifth with averages of .465 and .433 respectively.

Destry Jaeger and Wewel rank in the top five in rbi's per game with each averaging over one per contest. Pat Salerno, Wewel and Jaeger all rank amongst the leaders in home runs hit while Jaeger and Salerno rank first and third in triples hit.

Dale Clayton leads the district in stolen bases with an 18-21 success ratio. Bretschneider ranks third in the same category with the same numbers.

Wayne State ranks first in team batting percentage with a .382 mark. Koehler, Bretschneider and Jaeger rank among the top 10 in hits per game, each averaging over one per contest.

As mentioned earlier, the Wildcats lead the district in hitting, but they also lead the district in pitching with a team ERA of 4.61. Kevin Boham and Jeff Pasold are a major reason as Boham leads all district pitchers with a 2.58 ERA while Pasold maintains a 4.25 mark.

39 hits recorded as Sluggers sweep twin bill

Lenny Klaver's Wayne State baseball team notched two more victories over the weekend as they tangled with Doane. In the opener, Kevin Boham recorded his sixth victory of the year against two losses and Corey Weinmaster earned his fourth save of the year as Wayne State outscored the host team in a football like ending, 21-13.

The only Wildcat weakness in the game was in the third inning when they spotted Doane seven runs, all with two out. Wayne State also suffered three errors in that stint.

However, offensively there was no shortage of power from the Wayne State bats. A 22-hit performance led by Gale Bretschneider's three doubles and Randy Yarko's 3-run home run in the fifth inning highlighted the effort.

Pat Salerno recorded a pair of doubles and Mark Wewel had three rbi's to aid the team also.

In the nightcap Wayne State quieted down the Doane bats as they only allowed four hits and two runs. The Wildcat bats were far from silent however.

Wayne State again pounded out 17 hits for a two game total of 39. The final score of the nightcap was in Wayne State's favor, 10-2. Jeff Pasold recorded the victory, pushing his record to 5-1.

The Wildcats had a generous second inning as they scored six runs and recorded five hits in succession. Dale Clayton, Dale Irving and Dean Heying all notched doubles.

Cold slows thinclads

Despite a cold and windy day, Wayne-Carroll's boys' track team traveled to West Point's Invitational Thursday afternoon.

The Blue Devils placed fifth with 32 1/2 points which was high in the middle of the 10-team field. West Point captured its own invite with 135 points, 18 points ahead of South Sioux City who finished with 117.

Pierce finished third with 94 1/2 points while North Bend landed fourth with 75 points. Following Wayne was Tekamah-Herman with 27 1/2 points, Logan View, with 23 points, Norfolk Catholic, with 21 points, West Point Central Catholic, with 13 points and rounding out the field was Oakland-Craig who failed to score.

Wayne was without the services of high jumper Nick Engelson as he sat out with an injury. More bad news came when hurdler Seth Anderson came up limping after his win in the 110 meter high hurdles with a time of 16.3.

Eric Liska placed fourth for the Blue Devils in the discus with a throw of 126'6" while the 3200 meter relay team consisting of Craig Dyer, Willy Gross, Greg DeNaeyer and Matt Hillier ran to a third place time of 8:59.7.

DeNaeyer placed fourth in the open 400 meters with his effort of 54.8 while two relay teams, the 4X400 meter and the 4X110 meter squads finished fourth also.

Chad Davis, Mike Hillier, Kelly Mrsny and Jess Zeiss teamed up for 47.0 clocking in the 4X100 meter relay, while Craig Dyer, Casey Dyer, Gross and DeNaeyer combined for a 3:44.1 time in the 1600 meter relay.

Casey Dyer was also amidst a four-way tie for sixth place in the 300 intermediate hurdles with his 45.3 effort.

Wayne will be in action again on Monday as they host a triangular with Hartington Cedar Catholic and Emerson Hubbard. Both the boys and the girls will be competing.

WSC wins two

The Wayne State softball team swept a twin bill while on the road last Saturday as they visited the capital city to play Nebraska Wesleyan.

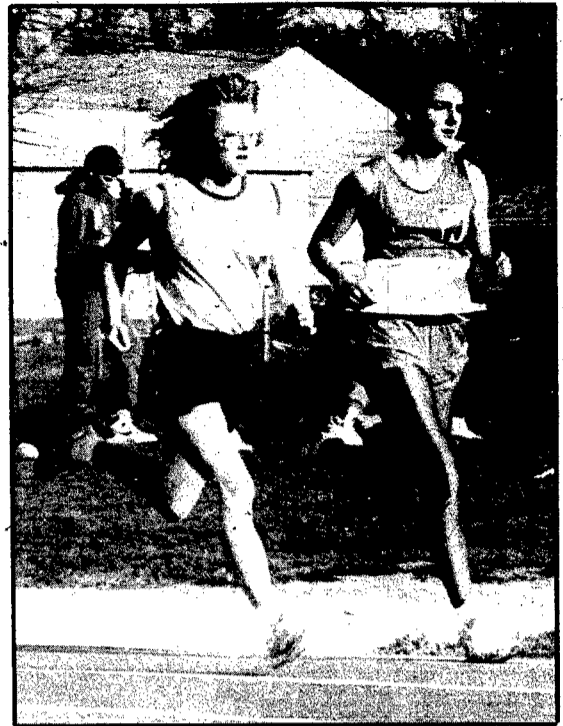

In the first game Cyndi Karrick took the mound and gave up only two hits enroute a 7-1 decision by the Wildcats.

Offensively the Wildcats pounded out 13 hits while suffering two errors. Lisa Jacobsen's solo home run in the fifth inning highlighted the Wayne State attack.

Jacobsen, Shell Schumann, Lori Rath, Kris Pestel and Laura Stuerman all enjoyed two hit performances in the game.

Wayne State enjoyed a 10-hit 10-run performance in the nightcap as they trounced the host team 10-1 behind the arm of Ronda Peck. Peck scattered five hits.

Offensively Schumann, Jacobsen and Ann Bauer all recorded two hits for the game. The Wildcat record improved to 24-11.

HOLLY PAIGE STAYS ONE STEP AHEAD of Emerson Hubbard's Sebade in the 800 meter run. Sebade eventually passed Paige and ran to victory while Paige's 2:42.61 time was enough for runner up honors.

Nebraska is known throughout the Midwest for its abundant opportunities to fish, hunt, and enjoy a variety of outdoor recreation. We at the Nebraska Public Power District share a "powerful pride" in this reputation. After all, throughout its many years of service to the state, public power has been a major contributor to and developer of Nebraska's great outdoors. Public power created the waters of such popular lakes as McConaughy, Johnson and Maloney. Parks and campground areas have been developed around those and other lakes. Miles of canals are available for fishing and hunting, and we continue to maintain grasslands and habitat for wildlife and game across the state.

This year, as we Celebrate Nebraska '88, we'd like to help you invite friends and family from out of state to come and experience the advantages of Nebraska's great outdoors. Just fill out the attached coupon and the Nebraska Department of Economic Development, Division of Tourism, will send free information and materials to invite your friends back to experience our state. It's all a part of NPPD's continued support and "powerful pride" in Nebraska, and our continued pledge of service to you. Together with three lay team couples, the Marburgers shared a series of presentations which provide a tool for improving communication in married relationships.

Thirteen couples from Indiana, Wisconsin and Illinois completed the weekend.

The next marriage encounter weekend closest to this area will be Sept. 16-18 in Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Early registrations are advised, and persons who would like more information about the event are asked to contact Duane and Bonnie Marburger, P.O. Box 86, Concord, Neb., 68728, phone 584-2467, or Verlan and Vicky Hingsi, P.O. Box 224, Allen, Neb., 68710, phone 635-2365.

Says candidate Dorcey

Public input important

By Chuck Hackenmiller

Managing Editor
Mark Dorcey, formerly of Wayne and currently register of deeds in Dakota County, feels strongly about his reasons for opposing incumbent Gerald Conway for the District 17 state legislative post.

"I supported Conway the last time he ran for legislature. But I feel he hasn't represented and stayed in touch with his district. The more I travel in the district, I find that the case," said Dorcey.

Dorcey said he has no major differences about the legislative accomplishments of Conway, he said. Some disagreements, he said, fall in the areas of Conway's voting to pay Nebraska football players a stipend; and the vote by Conway favoring authorization of wiretapping only for felony crimes.

"But it's more than just being at the legislative chambers. They have to get around to find out what's on the district constituents' minds," he said.

June 15. Among the new features he will introduce at the Dearborn Mall location will be chiropractic physical therapy, along with full x-ray equipment, expanded treatment rooms and expanded hours.

Bill Lueders, president of Lueders, Inc., said there is considerably more space available at Dearborn Mall for those interested in a leasing arrangement. "We can build space to meet the needs of an interested office or retail business," said Lueders.

If elected, Dorcey said he would sponsor a Wayne Day, Emerson Day or Winside Day often.

Dorcey said he would work to keep a pulse on the pressing issues of the districts.

Tore Nelson of Emerson has also filed for the District 17 post.

Issues which Nelson feels are important are to support better education with improvements that can be made without increased expenditures; lessen the tax burden for individuals, small businesses and farmers; find ways to help small businesses and family farms to grow; and enforcement of individual rights.

ENFN Mark Wurdinger, son of Richard and Diane Wurdinger arrived home April 20 for a 40 day leave. Mark entered the U.S. Navy Aug. 15, 1986 for a three year tour of duty. He graduated from boot camp Oct. 10.

Since then he has had apprenticeship training school for a four week period. This covered propulsion engineering. He then reported to the USS Midway Aircraft Carrier 41 home port at Yokosuka, Japan. For thirteen months he operated on the South China Sea as well as the Indian Ocean.

He then returned to the Great Lakes, Ill., and entered a 15 week Class "A" school for engineering. This covered Propulsion Engineering Basics as well as Theory and hands on training of Diesel Engines. Mark graduated April 20 which is equivalent to seven credit hours towards a bachelors degree in engineering.

He will remain home for a 40 day leave and then report back to Japan on the USS Midway for another year of duty.

Mark is a 1986 graduate of Wayne Carroll High School.

Army National Guard Private Eunice L. Wacker, daughter of Elmer H. and Ruth H. Wacker of Wayne, has completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S.C.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

She is a 1987 graduate of Wayne-Carroll High School, Wayne.

the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission, of a liquor license application submitted by Contemporary Industries Mid-America, Inc. (for the 7 Eleven business at the corner of 7th and Main Street in Wayne).

Introduced an ordinance to allow business owners to locate trailers on their business property for the sale of food items, such as popcorn.

— And appointed Johnson, Erickson, O'Brien and Associates of Lincoln as the special engineers for the street improvement project of Tomar Drive. The engineering firm submitted a bid of $1,650. Bruce Gilmore and Associates also submitted a bid ($2,250) on the project.

Bereuter feels that Reagan will veto the bill, but he added that he will vote to over-ride the veto. The veto will come about primarily because of the plant closing provisions.

"There has to be a 60-day notice to employees anytime a [manufacturing] plant closes down," said Bereuter.

"But in my judgement, the [Omnibus] bill is pro-employer, pro-economic development, pro-business and pro-agriculture," he said.

"Farm Bureau has come out in support of this bill."

And finally, Bereuter discussed the nation's ag policy. The 1985 farm bill, he said, hasn't solved everybody's problem.

However, he added that farm income has come up to the level it was in 1979 and exports are up 30 percent. "Subsidies to Nebraska are the fourth highest in the nation," he added.

He added that the establishment of a secondary mortgage market, for farm operations or real estate, will also be significant legislation.

"Borrowers can go beyond the credit institutions and to the banks on Main Street in Wayne or Carroll. Long term competition is good," Bereuter said.

Glucose Control In Diabetics

Control of blood glucose levels is absolutely essential in the person with diabetes. If levels get too high, for any reason, the body may start to break down fat. The ketones that are produced, when fat is broken down over a period of time, are toxic to the body. High ketone levels can cause upset stomach, vomiting, deep and hard breathing, and stomach cramps. In addition to these problems, some anti-infective and anti-fungal medicines are rendered ineffective in the presence of high blood glucose levels.

If, on the other hand, blood levels of glucose get too low (often due to excessive doses or too frequent dosing of medication), the diabetic may experience profuse sweating, confusion, headaches, pounding of the heart, nervousness, irritability, and even loss of consciousness.

In order to maintain blood glucose at the correct level, the diabetic should always eat a proper diet at the right time of day, exercise after meals or eat a snack before exercising, and take insulin or oral diabetes tablets at the correct times. The diabetic should also consider purchasing a portable blood glucose meter and learning how to monitor blood glucose levels.

Conway to chair conference

Senator Jerry Conway, Wayne, has been chosen to chair a 12 state regional conference on economic development May 13-14 in Chicago. Conway is the chairman of the Council of State Government's Business Development Committee. The twelve state region includes: Nebraska, Iowa, North and South Dakota, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Conway described the conference as, "an opportunity to explore alternatives to tax incentives and competition for business." The two day meeting will provide a forum to address why business incentives are used and how effective they are in influencing business location and expansion. "Through the sharing of ideas and innovative solutions, legislators will be better prepared to make sound and effective policy decisions when they return to their own states," said Conway.

Topics will include the role of the local community in designing incentive packages and the respective roles of the legislative and executive branches of government. "This regional meeting is being planned to give legislators a chance to interact with corporate executives, economic development directors and tax officials, to exchange information and to address the many questions relating to pressures placed on states to provide tax incentives," Conway added.

Conway, who will be providing the opening address said he is very pleased with the program. "Anytime you can pull together some of the top corporate officials in the U.S. with key legislative leaders and top it off with a keynote speaker like Gov. Richard Celeste from Ohio, it is bound to be a valuable experience."

Press convention scheduled

Four staff members from the Wayne Herald and Marketer will be among more than 600 editors, publishers, reporters, photographers and others associated with Nebraska's newspapers converging in Lincoln April 29-30.

Members of the Nebraska Press Association (NPA) meet at the Cornhusker Hotel for an annual convention, featuring workshops and related events that attracted a record 629 participants two years ago. Herald staffers attending will be Publishers Gary and Peggy Wright, Managing Editor Chuck Hackenmiller and Advertising representative Patti Zrust. Also attending from Wayne will be spouses Mary Ann Hackenmiller and Rich Zrust.

Highlights of the convention include:

- speeches by former Oklahoma governor, George Nigh, and State Senator Ernie Chambers;
- a Friday night banquet honoring winners of the NPA's Better Newspaper Contest, a competition for outstate dailies and 185 weeklies;
- naming of the 1988 Master Editor-

Publisher, the highest NPA honor, presented Saturday night by Gov. Kay Orr;

- announcement of winners of outstanding Service to Agriculture and Service to Community awards, presented by Ak-Sar-Ben;

- workshops Friday and Saturday focusing on improved newswriting, advertising sales, management of small newspapers and photojournalism.

Also scheduled, according to NPA's president, G. A. (Shorty) Miles, publisher of the Holt County Independent at O'Neill, are results of a statewide readership study of 1,000 Nebraskans. "This scientific study," said Miles, "shows the impact newspapers have on the buying habits and voting decisions made by subscribers of our products." He said that the study showed that 95.2 percent of adult respondents regularly read a local newspaper.

On Saturday new officers of NPA and its affiliate, the Nebraska Press Advertising Service (NPAS), will elect officers.

judicial system. Holding on to the bars are, from left, Daniel Roeder, Kenneth Kopperud and Heidi Echtenkamp. The main concern by the students was "whether or not the prisoners can watch cartoons on Saturday mornings."

Mrs. Dudley Blatchford 584-2588

Approximately 100 people attended the meeting at the Newcastle Firehall April 18 and heard Dr. Jim Green of Vermillion speak on the need of a bridge across the Missouri River from Vermillion to the Nebraska side, in the Maskell-Newcastle area.

The meeting was conducted by Earl Rowland, Newcastle, farmer and member of Dixon County Board of Supervisors. Mr. Green, representing the Vermillion Area Booster Club, along with other members of the club made the 1 1/2 hour trip from Vermillion to Newcastle, which is only 15 air miles away.

With the proposed bridge, South Dakota residents would have easier access to the Ponca State Park, Sportsman's Steak House near Obert as well as other scenic areas in Northeast Nebraska.

Nebraska students attending the University of South Dakota and also South Dakota students enrolled at Wayne State College would find it a tremendous savings in traveling time and expense with the building of a new bridge. It would also be to an advantage for interchanging activities between the two schools.

More than 40 years ago studies were conducted by the Omaha District Corps of Engineers on building a bridge across the Missouri, but have been interrupted for various reasons, even so, ideas have been periodically reconsidered.

The Vermillion delegation urged that Nebraska residents consider all ideas and prospects with the group that volunteered at the Monday night meeting including Bill Blatchford, Maskell, J.C. Conrad and Monte Miller, Newcastle, and Marie George, Dixon. These people may be contacted to indicate your interest for future meetings.

by Pat McHenry

The Buick has kept the highways hot this month. I wish I had a helicopter.

One of our Home Health Care Satellites is at Osmond and our staff meeting was there last week. Over coffee with the administrator and Dr. Johnson, we discussed farming.

I have long been of the opinion that overproduction could be curbed if we simply followed the Biblical prescription to let the land lay fallow every seven years. It would be good for the ground too. The farmers could use that year to paint, repair equipment, and pay attention to their wives.

Anyway, it seems there was an elderly Presbyterian Minister at Osmond who incorporated this practice in his gardening. They say he always had wonderful gardens, too.

We never did decide if the farmers should rotate taking ground out of production, or if they should all take the same year off. And, of course, this would only apply to grain productions. Another thing for ASCS to keep track of.

It's the season for Mother-Daughter banquets. My friend, Virginia Von Seggern, belongs to a lovely country church near Venus, Nebraska. I had heard of the Venus Store, but had never been there.

I'D NEVER BEEN to Winnetoon either. I knew of a lady there who refurbishes trunks, and I had two old ones in great need of refurbishing.

So, on Wednesday after work, I followed Highway 13 out of Pierce to Plainview, then north to Creighton, and west again. After you cross over Highway 14, the countryside changes dramatically. It looks extremely desolate.

I enjoyed a salad supper, gave my generic talk, and then was entertained by a short fashion show.

It wasn't quite as complete as the "Tootsie" show in Hoskins last week, but it did feature male models. If laughter is healthy, I should be good for another month.

My friend's husband, Burnell, was a bride in a white sheet, with an "Off-the-shoulder" effect. The sunburn lines and white legs of these farmers were a real kill.

Monday, I came home after work, and then drove to Winside for a concert, followed by a trip back to Norfolk for a talk to the Hospice volunteers.

Today, I listened to the concert band at 9 a.m. They got a one! Then a drive to Norfolk for work, and got back to Wayne at 4 p.m. In time for stage band. Tomorrow, it's another trip to Wayne for mixed choir and back to Norfolk for work. The gas tank says "E" again.

I nursed a couple of geraniums in the basement all winter, put them on the porch last week, and they froze. We need this moisture, but not the cold and snow.

I guess it could be worse. They still talk about the Memorial Day storm 40 years ago.

I met a female high jumper from Verdigré at the dinner. She's going 5'4" consistently, and has a PR of 5'6". Amy Wattler from Norfolk has achieved that height, too. And there are two boys who are jumping 6'10" in the same meets. It should be a year for high jumpers and shot put throwers at State Track. Happy May Day!

The GOLDEN YEARS

by Lee DeWitt

According to information revealed at a recent conference of the Gerontology Institute of New Jersey, manufacturers are working on ways to make packaging more appealing to seniors. One designer's suggestions included easier opening devices for sealed boxes and bags; fish and sardine cans with more easily removed lids; larger type in package labeling; and shrink bands and adhesive closures with larger sized tabs for removal.

Federal government help to further protect senior citizens from the costs of a catastrophic illness is still a possibility. According to Dr. Philip Lee, head of the Physician Payment Review Commission, an independent federal board, "There's a grass-roots movement now developing around national health insurance."

Remember When? 1940 — World-famous comedian Bob Hope teamed up with crooner Bing Crosby and actress Dorothy Lamour to star in "Road to Singapore," the first of seven "Road" pictures they made together.

Presented as a public service to our senior citizens, and the people who care about them by the Wayne Care Centre, 918 Main Street, Wayne, Nebraska 68787.

WSC concert choir to tour Europe

Concert Choir students at Wayne State College are preparing for a May European Choir Tour, according to Dr. Cornell Runestad, conductor.

The 57-member group will sing in churches, concert halls and universities in Austria and Hungary from May 18 to June 1.

"Our choir has reached a new level of achievement," Runestad said. "The impetus for travel is not just for travel, but it is to reach a higher level of excellence for our choir."

Runestad said the tour will provide students with a cultural, educational and musical experience. "I am anxious for students to have the chance to visit an Eastern block country in order that they have opportunity to compare, first hand, the difference between their political system and ours."

This year's tour marks the sixth time in 10 years that Wayne State's choir has traveled internationally. In 1978, it traveled to Mexico, Europe in '80, Canada in '83, Switzerland in '84, and the Madrigal Singers toured England and Wales in 1986.

Runestad said all expenses are paid by students, and no tax dollars are used. Some funds are raised by the sale of cassettes and other fund raising activities.
