Looks to build enrollment

Mash anxious to begin president's tasks

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

Dr. Donald Mash, who officially began duties as president of Wayne State College on June 1, had been anxiously waiting to take on his new role.

Mash accepted, in late January, the Wayne State presidential post offered by the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State College.

During the months of February, formerly the executive vice president for administration at George Mason University in Fairfax, Virginia, has also attended numerous meetings of the board of trustees of the Nebraska State College.

"I've collected material [about Wayne State and the Wayne community] and have done my share of reading, to bring myself up to speed," he said in a telephone interview with the Wayne Herald last week.

THE OTHER members of the Mash family, who will be moving to Wayne in early July, include his wife Julia and daughters Maria and Christina.

Julia has been employed in the computer field for seven years. Maria is a student at the University of Virginia where she is considering a major in psychology. Christina is a 16-year-old sophomore who will attend Wayne-Carroll High School this fall.

Mash received his Bachelor of Science degree in Education from Indiana University of Pennsylvania; his Masters in Social Sciences from the University of Pittsburgh and Ph.D. in Administration from Ohio State University.

His professional experience includes instructor of Geography at the University of Pittsburgh-Bradford Campus from 1965-68; Dean for Student Services at Ohio Dominican College from 1968-75; Vice President for Student Affairs at George Mason University from 1975-85; and then Executive Vice President of Administration at George Mason University.

In a Wayne State College Willows article, Mash said his term at George Mason, where during his 13 year tenure the institution increased in enrollment from 5,000 to 18,000 students and endowments grew substantially, has been "an outstanding experience."

BUT HE FEELS he is ready for a change and new challenges.

"We are going to miss the University and our friends in Northern Virginia," Dr. Mash said. "At the same time we're looking forward to becoming a part of the northeast Nebraska community."

"We want to learn its traditions and the culture as quickly as we can. We are excited about the move and the anticipated new experiences."

Earlier, he had told the Wayne Herald: "I am confident that I can do what is required to help Wayne State College move along in the direction of a well-established and comprehensive college."

Mash said last week that he looks to refine some areas of the institution. "I'm concerned about the drop in enrollment last fall of traditional students. It may occur again this fall. A priority is to get the enrollment of the traditional students on the upswing," he said.

Enrollment, he said, ties into the image of Wayne State College.

"We need to work at sharpening the image of Wayne State," Mash said.

"Wayne State is a fine place. The institution has a good story to tell and we need to tell it better," he said.

"We have to look at what we can do in working with the financial resources from the public and private sectors," he added.

PRIVATE FUNDING, he said, can be derived from a variety of sources. He is encouraged by the current increase in private funding. In June of 1985, the foundation endowment was at $356,618. The total reached the $1 million mark in February of this year.

However, Mash said other areas need to be explored and he plans on consulting with the Wayne State College Foundation about these resources.

"I think Wayne State is fortunate to have excellent people who are associated with the foundation and serve on the foundation board. They are a fine collection of individuals," Mash said.

On public funding, Mash said he will "do what I can do to represent the needs of state colleges on a statewide basis and will work with the other presidents within the state college system."

MASH SAID he believes Wayne State already has strong regional support in northeast Nebraska. "We will need to build on that strength and the fine tradition of Wayne State," he said.

"I believe it is possible to develop special areas of service to the state of Nebraska, and I think it is conceivable that Wayne State College can become nationally recognized in some selected programs and activities," he mentioned.

Mash said his first day serving as president "on the Wayne State campus" will be Monday, June 6. He had attended state college board of trustee activities and meetings June 2 and 3 at Peru State College.

WHEN ASKED if there will be any personnel changes on campus, Mash replied he will look at the organization "to see if we have the resources in the right place, the people and the dollars."

"We need to pay attention to our enrollment, which is the lifeblood of the institution," he said.

He also would like to make the Wayne State campus more attractive to student housing. "We have to make it attractive for the students to stay on campus," he said. To do so may require directing additional funding for improvement of the dormitories.

"I believe my style is one people will support and get behind. I'm the kind of person who listens, who gets myself around campus," he said.

"And I do consult with the people on campus and in the community," he said.

"That is very much my style."

Mexican student finds Wayne to his liking

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

The confines of Wayne are quiet compared to Puebla Puebla, Mexico. Of course, 18-year-old Alejandro Arturo Calca Cabrera is looking at an overwhelming population difference between Wayne and his Mexican home — a difference of somewhere between 10 to 15 million people.

Since October of last year, foreign exchange student Alejandro has lived with the Bonna and Darrell Barner family while attending Wayne-Carroll High School. He and his host brother, Todd Barner, were both juniors in high school. He will be returning to Mexico this week.

The school year here had started much earlier than October. "We found out that they had more foreign exchange students than hosts, so we decided to take one in," said Todd.

Alejandro

"I like all of the things in Wayne," said Alejandro, whose parents work in tortilla factories in Mexico. He has an older brother and a younger sister.

"I really like it here because it's quiet, away from the noises of the city, traffic and the auto accidents," he said.

"And I will miss the food and the kinds of cookies that you have," he said.

There have been a lot of "firsts" for Alejandro — he had never seen snow before or had never gone on fishing trips. "And this is the first time I've heard of burritos. They don't have that down there [in Mexico]," he said.

ALEJANDRO'S favorite subject at Wayne-Carroll was science. The course he found most difficult, because of language differences, was English literature because he had to read a variety of novels.

His extra-curricular activities at Wayne-Carroll High School have included participation in Foreign Language Day. He went out for the track team, but experienced a foot injury.

Methods of instructing students, he said, are different from his school in Mexico. "There are differences in teachers and students, education programs and sports," he said.

"We have a lot of people [68] in the classroom and we stay in the same room all of the time. And we do not have school lunches," he added.

Students can attend classes at two time slots — from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. or from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. He works in the morning and attends the afternoon and evening class sessions. He wants a career in international relations — an ambassador, of sorts, he said.

"The quality of education here [in Wayne] is better. And there is a good relationship between the teachers and the students," he said.

Once he returns to Mexico, he will have to "take his junior year all over again."

WHAT HE really will miss, he said, is his Wayne family. "I had a lot of fun with them [the Barners]. I think they are the traditional USA family and they have done well to teach me the traditions of this country," said Alejandro.

"I'll be back," he said, mentioning that he plans to return to the states as soon as the opportunity is available.

Wayne to celebrate Country Store Days

Wayne will celebrate Country Store Days starting June 9 and ending June 11, featuring a free brat-wurst supper and many other special events.

The "customer appreciation event" is being sponsored by the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce and 98 participating chamber member businesses.

During the three days, a good share of the merchants will be participating in a "balloon-popping" venture. Customers, after making a purchase, can select and pop a balloon to receive a discount or prize that is listed inside the popped balloon. Prizes will be awarded to the business that best incorporates the "Country Store Days" theme.

Activities begin Thursday, June 9 with the Flower Show at the Wayne City Auditorium.

The theme of the show is "Celebrate Nebraska." Organizer is Gail Korn of Garden Perennials.

ENTRANTS ARE asked to think of ways to artfully capture the character of Nebraska in their exhibits. Entry categories include arrangements, bouquets, single specimens and potted plants.

All entries must be at the city auditorium between 8:30 and 10 a.m., with judging to take place from 10 a.m. to noon. The exhibits will be open to the public from noon to 9 p.m.

Ribbons will be awarded to each entry on its own merit, with special prizes of $10 each in Chamber Bucks for Best Expression of Theme, Wild Beauties (use of wildflowers) and Weeds.

Show judges are Emma Pederson, Dorothy Johnson and Mary Ferguson, all of Norfolk. The Roving Gardeners Club of Wayne will assist with the flower show event.

A Pie and Ice Cream Social will take place Thursday at the Women's Club Room in the City Auditorium, from noon to 9 p.m.

SITUATED in downtown Wayne on Thursday, beginning at 5 p.m., will be the Chicken Show stand, Flower and Plant Show stand, Refreshment stand. Celebrate Nebraska '88 stand, Beef Producers stand, Dairy Producers stand, Pork Producers stand and Poultry Producers stand.

Beef donation

CONNIE ROBERTS, an instructor at Allen and a representative of the Roberts Simmental farm, has donated a heifer to the Allen FFA Chapter. The heifer was presented to Brent Blohm for his FFA project. Blohm is a sophomore at Allen High School, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blohm. The first calf from the heifer will be presented to another FFA member, according to Tom Wilmes, Allen FFA advisor. Said Connie: "It's a good way to get young people started or interested in beef projects. From experience, we know how hard it is for young people to buy a calf." From left are Roberts, Blohm and Wilmes.

Field day scheduled

A Conservation Tillage Field Day has been scheduled for Thursday, June 9 from 1 to 4:30 p.m. in correlation with Country Store Days in Wayne.

All the demonstrations will take place at one site — at the Duane Lutt farm four miles east and one mile north of the junction of Highways 15 and 35 in Wayne.

There will be signs and volunteers directing the traffic to the demonstration destination.

The event is being sponsored by the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce AgriBusiness Council, in cooperation with the University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service and the Soil Conservation Service.

AMONG THE activities planned at the conservation tillage site are: estimating residue cover; farm machinery demonstrations; use of the rain simulator; demonstration of tillage practices to improve water storage; sprayer calibration; preplant herbicide treatment; fertility needs utilizing deep soil sampling; and conservation plans.

Refreshments will be available at the tillage demonstration, provided by a local 4-H Club.

Ken Liska, chairman of the Chamber ag committee, considers the conservation tour as "timely."

He said interest has been in past years with regard to conservation practices and the type of equipment used for conservation tillage. That interest has escalated because of federal mandates which require conservation practices be followed, or else government program fundings could be jeopardized.

The rain date for the field day has been set for Thursday, June 16.

Talk on dinosaurs planned Wayne library schedules summer reading program

Wayne Public Library has announced two summer reading programs designed for youngsters of all ages. The theme is "Dino-soaring Into Books."

Older children are invited to participate in the program by reading books and reporting on them, or drawing a picture about the book. For children who cannot yet read, the library will have a read-to-me storytime. Children must be at least three years old to attend. Registration for both programs will be June 6-11 at the library.

TO KICK OFF the summer reading program, Dr. Michael Voorhies, curator of vertebrate paleontology at the Nebraska State Museum, will talk to the children on "Dinosaurs Old and New." His talk will be presented outside of the library at 3 p.m. on Monday, June 13. In the event of rain, the talk will be presented in Wayne city auditorium.

OLDER CHILDREN in the reading program will decide on how many books he or she can read and report on during the program. At least six books must be read, and all books must come from Wayne Public Library.

The reader will sign a contract with the library for the number of books he or she plans to read. When the reader has read and reported on the number of books signed in the contract, he or she can select a paperback book as a gift.

For every book read, the reader can also enter his or her name in a contest for a jar of candy. Readers can report on only three books a day. Books should be on their reading level. Reports will not be accepted the first 15 minutes the library is open or the last 15 minutes before closing.

All youngsters who complete the program will be invited to attend a party on July 13 at 2 p.m. Children attending the closing program are asked to come dressed as a dinosaur.

THE READ-TO-ME storytimes will be held on Mondays, June 20, June 27 and July 11 at 2 p.m. Due to the Fourth of July, the storytime that week will take place on Tuesday, July 5.

Parents are asked to keep a record of the books that have been read to the child at home. For each book read, the child can enter his or her name in the contest for a jar of candy. Books must be from Wayne Public Library.

Last year, parents read over 700 books to their children.

Time for mold and mildew to appear

When the humidity and temperature begins to climb, mildew may begin to grow more rapidly.

Mildew is a mold that has the capacity to decompose cellulose and produce an unpleasant odor. Mildew attacks paper and fabrics made with cellulose. Wood, paint, glue, leather, cotton and linen are just a few other household furnishings that mildew attacks.

There are many varieties of mildew, but generally the following conditions contribute to mildew growth. Mildew needs something organic to grow on, humidity between 70 and 93 percent, and temperatures between 77 and 86 degrees F are best for growth. Combined, they create suitable conditions for rapid mildew growth.

MILDEW SPORES ARE almost always present, so there are three main ways to control mildew growth in your home. First, keep things clean. Mildew will feed on natural fibers and other items that may have soil on the surface. Even the residue of some soaps left on the shower curtain can provide enough nutrients for mildew growth. Walls, closets, basement areas and other textile furnishings where mildew is likely to grow should be kept clean.

Second, control the temperature. Air conditioning will reduce interior temperatures, but these temperatures may not be uniformly low enough to stop mildew growth if the air is humid.

Third, control the moisture in the air. This can be done with air conditioners, dehumidifiers and by using moisture absorbent chemicals.

Besides these three basic steps, there are some commercial fungicidal products in pressurized cans that provide some mildew protection. As always, check the label before using to see what it claims to do and how to use it safely and effectively.

IF AFTER FOLLOWING these steps, a mildew problem is discovered on home furnishings items, the first step is to try vacuuming the area and then, if the bag is disposable, dispose of the vacuum bag to avoid spreading the mildew spores. Sunlight also is a good mildew inhibitor. Dry the item in the sun if possible.

If other methods fail to solve a mildew problem, one can try sponging the textile item with a cloth moistened with a mixture of one cup each of water and rubbing alcohol. When using the alcohol mixture, it should first be tested in an inconspicuous spot on the item for any evidence of a color change.

Whether you crave a traditional pizza or one not so traditional — such as the new bacon-cheeseburger pizza — Godfather's Pizza in Wayne is out to satisfy each and every customer.

Manager Ken Kwapnioski says that while the Combo (beef, sausage, pepperoni, mushrooms, onions and black olives) remains one of the most popular pizzas on Godfather's menu, non-traditional pizzas, such as the new Bacon-Cheeseburger, Taco, Vegetarian, Humble Pie (Italian sausage, pepperoni, onion and green pepper) and Hot Stuff (Italian sausage, pepperoni, beef, onion and Jalapeno peppers) also are becoming increasingly popular among pizza lovers.

Kwapnioski has managed Godfather's Pizza since it opened on June 7, 1981 in the former Burlington-Northern railroad depot at 106 South Main St.

He and his wife Karen, a nurse at Providence Medical Center, moved to Wayne in 1981 from Columbus, where Ken had worked at Godfather's Pizza there since 1976. Kwapnioskis are the parents of seven-month-old twins Kyle and Kelli.

IN ADDITION TO original and thin crust pizza, Godfather's also serves up sandwiches and features a fresh salad bar.

And for the lunchtime crowd, from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., Godfather's features a buffet including pizza, lasagna, spaghetti, dessert pizza, a drink and salad bar.

While Godfather's Pizza offers a spacious dining area indoors, Kwapnioski said that during the warm weather many customers prefer to eat outdoors in the pizza garden located along the south and east sides of the building. Kwapnioski added that the pizza garden is especially popular for parties.

GODFATHER'S PIZZA offers a variety of services, including free delivery daily from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., and from 5 p.m. to closing. And for the young ones, Godfather's features a Birthday Club offering a free mini pizza and drink to each child who registers.

Family Night each Thursday from 5 to 10 p.m. features a large two-topping pizza, two salads for mom and dad, and a pitcher of pop. Within the next few weeks, Godfather's also plans to feature a Singles Night — any single topping large pizza for just $7.99.

Kwapnioski said residents should also watch the outdoor marquee for other daily specials.

On Thursday, June 9, during Country Store Days in Wayne, Godfather's Pizza will feature a beer garden, horseshoe pitching and free old-time movies outdoors after dark.

"WE BELIEVE IN providing the best service we can to the community," stresses Kwapnioski. "If there is any way we can assist a club or organization, let us know and we'll try to work something out."

Hours at Godfather's Pizza are 11 a.m. to midnight Sunday through Thursday, and 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. each Friday and Saturday.

Employees include Supervisor Melinda Kelley, Delores Bahns, Nancy Bahns, Randy Prescott, Kelly Sullivan, Lori Stapleton, John Dammon, Kent Rosicky and Diane Hoppner.

Girls softball teams loses opener 6-1

The Wayne girls softball teams finally got to play their first game of the season Thursday night against defending class C state champions Emerson.

The three previously scheduled games of the season were rained out and that may have had an effect on the play of Darrell Bailey's team.

"We were hoping we could have gotten some games in by the time we played Emerson," Bailey lamented. "After playing them and losing 6-1, I truly believe that Emerson is beatable and with some more games under our belt, we could give them a strong outing."

Robin Luff was on the mound for the 18 and under team and Bailey had nothing but praise for her performance for the first time-out this season. "Robin pitched a very good game," Bailey said. "Take away some of our fielding errors and we lose 2-1." Luff struck out four and walked four in a losing cause.

Wayne had the same amount of hits as the defending state champions, but could not cross the plate. The four total hits came from Dana Nelson, Marnie Bruggeman and two from Luff.

Emerson scored two runs in the first inning, one in the third, two in the fourth and one in the fifth for their six runs. Wayne scored its lone run in the sixth inning.

15 and under win big. In the game preceding the 18 and under contest, Wayne's 15 and under team used three innings to defeat Emerson by 10 runs, 21-11. The winning pitcher was Liz Reeg.

The highlight for the team came in the third inning when Shannon Holdorf hit a grand slam home run. "We played over 20 girls in the game," Bailey said. "The nice thing was that everyone crossed the plate to score a run."

Bailey's philosophy in coaching the 15 and under team is that everyone is going to play at least a couple of innings. "At this stage of the game I believe the importance is that every girl plays. The emphasis on winning is there but not at all costs," Bailey said.

The victors scored 10 runs in the first inning and after going scoreless in the second, scored 11 runs in the third inning which ended the game.

The 18 and under team is currently in a round robin tournament in Pender this Saturday and Sunday. The locals are scheduled to play seven games, four on Saturday and three on Sunday. The teams they will face in order are Pender, Emerson, Wisner, Norfolk Seniors, Stanton, Pierce and Norfolk A team.

Games are slated for 1:15-3:00-6:30 and 8:15 p.m. on Saturday, and 11:30 a.m., 3:00 and 6:30 p.m. on Sunday.

Jordan to visit Lincoln

Nebraska basketball fans will get an added bonus next fall. Michael Jordan and the Chicago Bulls will meet the New Jersey Nets in a pre-season game at the Bob Devaney Sports Center. The game is set for Friday, October 28.

Jordan, recently named the NBA's Most Valuable Player, and the Bulls have consistently played in front of sellout crowds at college sites around the country.

"Basketball enthusiasm really starts booming about that time, and when we had a chance to bring in the Chicago Bulls with Michael Jordan, we felt the Nebraska fans would enjoy a live NBA game," said Don Bryant, director of the Devaney Center. "Athletic Director Bob Devaney and Coach Danny Nee concurred that a game between the Bulls and the Nets would be fun for the fans, so we arranged for the game."

Husker basketball season ticket holders are currently being given an early opportunity to purchase tickets, with general public sales slated to start on July 18. UNL ticket director Joe Selig announced.

Grain quality provisions passed

When the House Committee on Agriculture's Subcommittee on Wheat, Soybeans, and Feed Grains took action on the Federal Grain Inspection Service Authorization Act (H.R. 4345), it added provisions from a proposal that I introduced last year as part of H.R. 3342, the Grain Quality Incentive Act of 1987. Last week the House of Representatives passed that measure, including the grain quality provisions.

The bill passed by the House would establish a Grain Advisory Board appointed by the Secretary of Agriculture for the purpose of developing economic incentives that will improve the performance and sanitation quality of grain. It allows for a one-year pilot project that will offer incentives for the delivery, storage, and exportation of clean quality grain. The pilot project would include no less than three multi-county demonstration areas representing our three major export commodities—wheat, corn and soybeans.

The bill that I introduced also would have permitted the payment of premiums in the form of PIK certificates to farmers who forfeit exceptionally clean, high quality grain to the CCC. Warehousemen who clean grain that they are storing for the CCC also would be eligible for the premiums. Exporters would be eligible for premiums if the grain they deliver to foreign purchasers is of high quality and exceptionally clean. I hope that these provisions from my bill will be given further consideration by the Committee on Agriculture.

The measures that have been incorporated into the bill passed last week represent a good first step in assisting grain quality efforts. I will continue to work with the leadership of the House Committee on Agriculture and with farm groups and commodity groups to strengthen this legislation. Some small amount of financial resources should be devoted on a trial basis to assist those interested in producing, marketing and exporting high quality American grain.

Consumer Information on Home Equity Loans

An open-ended home loan provides a line of credit that is secured by the borrower's home. The borrower can use the equity, which is the difference between the value of the home and the amount still owed on it, as one would use a checking account. If the loan goes into default, the borrower risks losing the home.

The House Banking Committee, on which I serve, has approved a bill which would require lenders to provide home equity loan borrowers with specific information about the loans, including annual interest rates, fees, repayment options and possible risks, at the time that they make the loan agreement. Except in certain cases, the lender would be prohibited from changing the terms of a loan after it has been signed or from calling it in before full repayment was due.

The lender could freeze or reduce the amount of credit available if the value of the home declines, if the borrower's financial circumstances change, or if bank regulators prevent the lender from continuing to charge the annual interest rate included in the contract. The lender could demand immediate repayment if the borrower was to default on his first mortgage.

The bill also requires advertisements for home equity loans to include information about interest rates that are low initially and then become higher, and about loans which require the borrower to pay only interest and require a payment of principal and interest at the end of the loan period.

Newspapers reach high percentage of adults

You don't have to be an older, higher-income, college graduate to appreciate — and read — Nebraska newspapers.

That was one of many facts revealed by a recent study of 1,001 Nebraskans conducted by Consumer Data Service of Oklahoma City. The study was sponsored by the Nebraska Press Association (NPA) and encompassed residents of all but Lancaster, Douglas and Sarpy counties.

"We want to measure the pulse of non-metropolitan residents," said Jack Tarr, publisher of the David City Banner-Press and president of NPA. Residents of the three most populous counties, he said, are regularly surveyed by newspapers published there.

The study shows that 95.2 percent of Nebraskans aged 18 or older read local newspapers. "That outstanding response is made even more important by the fact that 82 percent of the respondents live in a household occupied by more than one person," Tarr said.

"Our theme," he said, "is that 'Nebraskans Depend on Newspapers' and we have not been guilty of exaggeration."

According to Tarr, the study showed that 58 percent responding during the 15 minute telephone interviews said newspapers provided the most complete coverage of local news. "Television may provide all the news you want about New York City, but it isn't where people turn for community news."

BARRY NEWTON of Oklahoma City, director of the study made by Consumer Data Service, said that "Nebraska ranks as one of the highest of the states we have researched when it comes to the percent of adults who regularly read newspapers." He said that his firm has conducted similar studies in other states and some would be "envious of Nebraska's newspaper readership."

Newton said the percentage responses from the survey have a plus-minus 3.2-percent margin of error at the 95 percent confidence level.

In addition to reading habits, the survey questioned respondents about their use of competitive mediums (radio, television, direct mail), buying habits, voting patterns and where they run for advertising information.

Questions were constructed by Dr. Ernest F. Larkin of the University of Oklahoma and the survey was developed "independent of the sponsoring press association," Newton said.

THE STUDY shows that:

- almost two-thirds of Nebraskans turn to newspapers for information on where to shop and that 64.7 percent responding use the same source for product cost information.

- the largest percentage of readers are between ages 50-64, but 95.8 percent interviewed between ages 18 and 24 also are regular newspaper readers.

- sixteen percent of respondents earned between $25,000-$35,000 a year and 97.5 percent of them read newspapers.

- of the respondents earning less than $10,000 a year, 96 percent read newspapers regularly.

- by levels of education, 43.1 percent of respondents had completed high school and 94 percent of them were readers. Almost 97 percent of those sampled who had not finished high school were readers of newspapers.

"That refutes some myths about newspapers, that they are only for the rich, older and more educated population," said Tarr. "We now have convincing evidence that adult Nebraskans, regardless of categories, read our products."

The NPA, sponsor of the research, has a membership of 199 daily and weekly newspapers with a combined circulation of 885,190, according to its manager, Jim Raglin. NPA is headquartered at 1120 K St., Lincoln.

Heartfelt thanks

On this Memorial Day May 30, 1988 the members of Irwin L. Sears Unit 43 would like to extend our heartfelt thanks to the flower bearers Jessica and Kala Henschke, Laura and Chrystal Bauermeister and the Wayne Herald for their help.

ST. LUKE'S MAKES TREATING KIDNEY STONES AS EASY AS REMOVING MARBLES FROM A JAR.

Imagine A Machine That Can Do That

The machine we're talking about is called a lithotripter, and its purpose isn't removing marbles from jars. A lithotripter is used to break up stones (inside the kidney) without surgery and without the risks, pain or recovery time of surgery.

Now St. Luke's Regional Medical Center in Sioux City has a lithotripter available to make kidney stone sufferers feel better faster. Having a lithotripter in Sioux City benefits many Nebraskans, because it makes St. Luke's the closest stone treatment center in the region. That's not all! The lithotripter at St. Luke's is so advanced in its technology that it's actually changed the treatment of kidney stones. With older lithotripters, patients had to lay in a tub of water. Ours is not a "bathtub" treatment. At St. Luke's patients simply lay on a water-filled cushion so lithotripsy is safer and faster.

A Complete Kidney Stone Program

A lithotripter isn't all you need to treat kidney stones, so St. Luke's has developed a comprehensive program of care for sufferers. It includes diagnostic testing, a risk profile, education and nutrition counseling. All to help prevent recurrence of kidney stones. Imagine that!

For more information about the St. Luke's kidney stone program and the lithotripter, ask your family physician or call St. Luke's Regional Medical Center. Toll Free in Nebraska: 1-800-541-2304, ext. 3959 Toll Free in Iowa: 1-800-352-4660, ext. 3959

Metro Shopping

... an archaic, hazardous and costly practice

Today's rising perils and costs of travel, plus modern merchandis-goods at about the same prices in stores here at home, make the old-fashioned practice of going to some bigger city to shop as out of date as low taxes.

And... every time you shop at home you make home a better place to shop... and to live.
