Dog Days in Wayne is scheduled for this Saturday (July 30). So come on in and take advantage of the bargains made available, and check out the advertisements in today's edition.

Conserve water

The city has requested that all residents refrain from unnecessary water usage on Thursday (July 28) starting at 7 a.m.

At that time, construction crews working on the new water transmission line will be tying into the present lines near the Wayne Country Club. Well Six and Well Seven, serving Muhs Acres and the Country Club, will not be in operation at that time. These areas will be without water until the wells return to operation. Wells Three and Four will be in operation and the city has water reserves. However, since the replenishing outlets are fewer, residents are asked to conserve usage. It is estimated that the tie-in process, if no complications occur, could take up to six hours.

Car wash

Girl Scout Troop 243 is sponsoring a car wash, for fund raising purposes, on Friday, July 29 from 12 to 6 p.m.

Location of the car wash is at the Dairy Queen parking lot. Cost is $2 for car or $3 for pickup or van.

Arson charge

Gary Cornett of rural Laurel is scheduled to be arraigned in Cedar County District Court in Wellington on charges of second degree arson in connection with a fire that took place in November, 1986. He is scheduled to be arraigned on August 8.

Upon investigation by the state fire marshal's office, Cornett was charged with intentionally setting fire to his residence.

Second degree arson is a Class III felony.

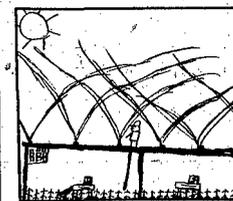

Need dolls

Christmas is less than five months away.

Remember the Toys for Tots program, which is an annual event at Christmas time, that gives gifts to needy children. This is done by adoption, collection of new toys, donations and the collection of good used dolls.

Now is the time for Goldenrod Hills to get ready for this project. Already, organizations have volunteered their services to help. What is needed now is good used dolls for organizations or private individuals to dress and get ready for Christmas.

Those that would like to donate to the Toys for Tots program should contact Goldenrod Hills in Wisner or the outreach worker that is in the area.

Wayne budget passes

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

A city budget of nearly $10.74 million was approved unanimously by the six of eight Wayne City Council members present during Tuesday night's regular meeting.

Unable to attend Tuesday night's meeting were council members Randy Pedersen and Sheryl Lindau.

At the hearing for the proposed budget Tuesday evening, no audience comments or written correspondence were given in favor or against the figures outlined in the proposal.

Tax askings for the city of Wayne will remain at the same level as last fiscal year at $352,650.

The city's entire budget is down approximately 17.8 percent from the previous year (about $2.33 million). Reflected in the decrease is a substantial reduction in capital improvements, primarily after completion of the new water tower and the start of the new well water transmission line.

No increases in water, utility and sewer rates are projected in the budget.

The city anticipates $10.74 million in revenue to offset the appropriations. In addition to tax askings, another $100,000 is expected in federal grants and another $80,000 is anticipated in state aid.

The amount budgeted for state aid is $19,000 more than what the city had budgeted for in 1987-88.

After the public hearing, the city council passed a resolution adopting the 1988-89 budget and then passed an ordinance for the annual appropriation bill.

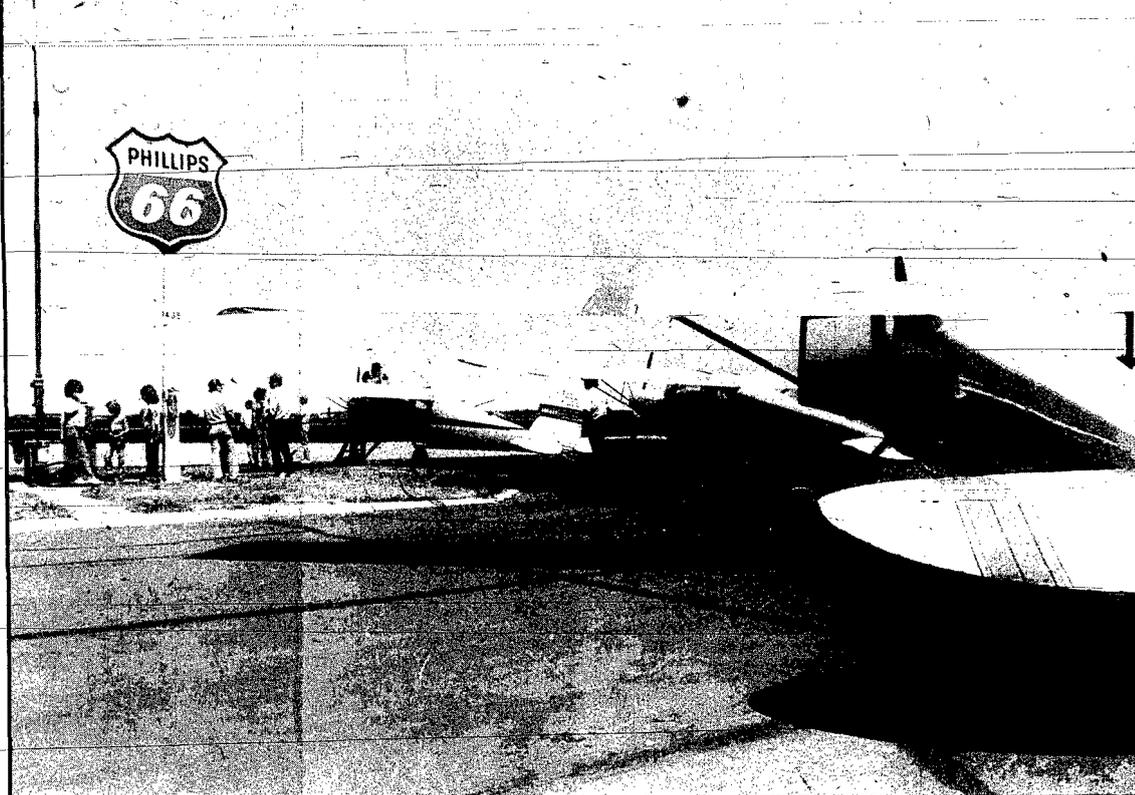

IN OTHER action, City Administrator Phil Kloster announced that letters have been sent out to property owners who reside along the new well field transmission line which runs approximately six miles north of Wayne along Highway 15.

"There have been a number of requests and inquiries asking if the city would permit them to tap into the transmission line," he told the council.

Those deciding in favor of connecting to the transmission line, he said, should contact the city's water department or city clerk's office. "In most cases, it will save them money if they can get tapped in when the transmission line is being constructed near their place," said Kloster.

Costs to tap into the transmission line would be $500 for residential use and $1,500 for commercial use, according to Kloster.

County considerably lower

Wayne above average in retail pull factor

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

Pull factor. It has nothing to do with vehicles or farm implements with modified engines roaring down a dirt track pulling a heavily-weighted sled. Nor is it a tug-of-war.

In reality, pull factor is an important element in determining retail activity in a community or county.

Pull factor is determined through several steps — first by arriving at the retail sales figures of a community and dividing that total by the population of the community. Second, take the total retail sales figures of Nebraska and divide that by the Nebraska population.

Finally, divide the community's per capita figure by the state per capita figure and the result should be the community or county's pull factor.

FOR INSTANCE, if the annual retail sales per capita in Wayne was $7,000 (one person's average annual expenditures in Wayne) and the state was $6,000 per capita, then the pull factor would be 1.16.

When the pull factor is greater than 1.0, then the sales activity of that area exceeds its population in terms of full-time customer equivalent. In contrast, a pull factor below 1.0 means it is not acquiring sales activity relative to its population level.

A July report by the University of Nebraska's Department of Agricultural Economics, based on pull factor, recently verified what residents of rural Nebraska have been saying since the early 1980's — Nebraska's largest cities are capturing a greater portion of the total retail pie. Ag economists from the University of Nebraska, Bruce Johnson and Joel Young, have been tracing the patterns of taxable retail trade in Nebraska since 1970.

"In essence, those communities with a pull factor under 1.0 are experiencing a sales leakage," Johnson said.

"The city of Wayne is at a higher per capita and has a higher than average pull factor," said Johnson. But ranked among cities of similar size, Wayne's pull factor runs lower than other communities, falling at the lower end of the scale, he mentioned.

Ogallala, for instance, has a powerful pull factor of 2.096, which Johnson said could be attributed to a strong tourism economy. Falls City, with a population of 5,374 has a pull factor lower than Wayne.

"A 1.0 pull factor means that the community is servicing only its population," Johnson said.

WAYNE COUNTY'S pull factor figures have decreased nearly 25 percent from 1980 to 1987, according to figures tabulated by Johnson and Young. The county pull factor remains considerably lower than the city of Wayne's amount.

Pull factor figures for the city of Wayne reveal a 1.03 mark in 1970; 1.108 figure in 1975; 1.368 mark in 1980; 1.065 amount in 1985; and a 1.118 figure in 1987.

Taking the entire Wayne County as a whole, the pull factor figures were .609 in 1970; .623 in 1975; .776 in 1980; .595 in 1985; and .620 in 1987.

Listed as pull factor figures for Winslow were .761 in 1970; .506 in Care Centre residents take annual vacation

Wayne Care Centre residents recently returned from their annual vacation — a week in Alaska.

This year's vacation is the residents' third, with previous "travels" to Hawaii and Australia.

Last Monday, residents were treated to movies on the history and terrain of the 49th state; the native name of which is Alakshak.

Alaska is separated from Asia by the Bering Strait, was purchased from Russia in 1867, encompasses 586,400 square miles, and has a population of approximately 305,000.

Alaska was admitted to the Union in 1959 and its capital is Juneau (named for the old prospector J. Juneau).

THE MONTHLY birthday party at the Care Centre featured Baked Alaska, and a musicale on Tuesday included tunes from the Northland.

On Thursday evening, the residents were treated to a night out in Fairbanks. The local Pizza Hut brought in pizza as a community project, and the Care Centre furnished beer for those who wanted it.

Closing out the week's trip was a slide presentation and the showing of various artifacts/souvenirs by Carolyn and Veri Carlson. The Carlsons also featured a realistic arm puppet of a furry, baby bear cub, which had everyone fooled until the end of their program.

THE RESIDENT Council will decide in the spring where next year's annual vacation trip will take them.

Upcoming events for Care Centre residents include the Wayne County Fair on Aug. 6; an ice cream social on Aug. 25; and the women's annual style show on Sept. 25, this year featuring models ages one to 10.

Nebraska Game & Parks

Hunting dates established

The Nebraska Game and Parks Commission recently set the dates and regulations for the 1988 grouse, mourning dove, rail, snipe, woodcock and jackrabbit hunting seasons.

The 1988 grouse hunting season is expected to be another good one for Nebraska hunters, though Ken Johnson, Chief of the Commission's Wildlife Division, says he expects a slightly reduced harvest this year. "A study conducted this spring suggests poor production of birds within the study area, but we aren't sure why. We had reasonably good cover this spring, so we are hoping production in most of the Sandhills was about normal."

The 1988 grouse hunting season will be September 17-November 30. The daily bag limit will be three birds, the possession limit nine grouse.

The mourning dove season will open September 1, and continue through October 30. The daily bag limit will be 15, the possession limit 30 doves. Whether the statewide harvest will be larger or smaller than last year will depend on weather conditions.

"An abnormally cool weather period in the fall will trigger migration early and reduce harvest during the season. On the other hand, a long period of warm, dry weather will keep the birds in the area longer and result in a larger harvest than last year," Johnson said.

This year's rail season will be September 1-November 9. The daily bag limit will be 10, the possession limit 20.

The snipe season will open September 1, and continue through December 15. The daily bag limit is eight, the possession limit 16. Woodcock season will open September 15 and continue through November 18. The daily bag limit is five, the possession limit 10 woodcock.

The 1988 jackrabbit season will open September 1, and continue until February 28, 1989. It will be open in that portion of Nebraska north of U.S. Highway 30 and west of Nebraska Highway 15. The daily bag limit is eight, the possession limit 24.

Commission sets Turkey Season
Game and Parks Commissioners increased the total number of available permits by 700 for the 1988 shotgun turkey hunting season, set season dates, and adjusted unit boundaries by switching the former Wildcat Unit from the Southwest Unit to the Panhandle Unit for this year's season.

Dates for the 1988 fall shotgun season will be October 22-28 for early seasons in the Niobrara and Verdigre Units; October 29-November 11 for late seasons in the Niobrara and Verdigre Units; and October 22-November 11 in the panhandle and Southwest Units.

Permit numbers were increased in the Niobrara Unit (early season) from 1000 last year to 1200 for the 1988 season; in the Verdigre Unit (early season) from 900 to 1000; and from 900 last year to 1200 this year in the Verdigre Unit (late season). There will again be an unlimited number of permits available for the Niobrara Unit (late season) and in the Panhandle Unit.

Johnson says the change of the area formerly known as the Wildcat Unit from the Southwest Unit to the Panhandle Unit was made for the spring shotgun season and will remain in effect for the fall season. "He said there seems to have been normal production of turkeys in the western portion of the state this spring, but recent surveys indicate production may have fallen off a bit in the Niobrara and Verdigre Units."

"We may not have as high a production as last year, but we are still looking for another good hunting season." He expects the total harvest to be slightly below last year's 3910 birds. During that fall season 55 percent of the state's 6015 hunters filled their permits.

This year's fall archery turkey season will be October 1-November 11. During the 1987 fall archery season 663 permit holders took 197 turkeys, a hunter success rate of 29.7 percent.

Resident turkey hunting permits are $15, nonresident permits are $35. Residents who did not obtain a fall turkey hunting permit during the first or second drawing in 1987 may apply for a 1988 fall shotgun permit August 1-19. Hunters applying for permits in units with unlimited permits may apply anytime beginning August 1, as may those applying for landowner permits. There will be a permit drawing August 23.

All Nebraska residents may apply for permits September 1-16, and a drawing will be held for permits in over-subscribed units September 20.

If there are still permits available September 26, they will be issued on a first come, first served basis to both residents and nonresidents. Beginning October 3, hunters may apply for a second permit in units where permits remain. Hunters may apply for two fall turkey hunting permits. These may be two shotgun permits; two archery permits; or one of each.

Wayne Pony League wins

Wayne's Little League and Pony League teams grabbed a victory Tuesday afternoon against visiting Wisner.

In the first game, the Little League held off a rally by Wisner to win 7-6. Wayne scored six runs in the first two innings and the game looked to be in a state of leisuress for the host, before Wisner rallied back.

Wayne had just five hits in the game but was aided by Troy Bruns' single and triple, along with Kasey Korfh's two singles. Barner doubled to also aid the winners.

The Pony League team got a single from Brent Gamble, which was Wayne's only hit of the game, but Wayne defeated the visitors 6-3. Chris Fredrickson picked up the win from the mound.

Wayne finishes third at state

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

Wayne senior girls softball coach Darrell Bailey had been looking forward to this year's softball state tournament in Grand Island for many weeks before the weekend finally arrived.

Bailey obviously knew that his team when playing up to their potential, could be as fun to watch and compete as any in the state. Tradition, however, was not on Wayne's side heading into the 20-team tournament for the rights of being the best Class B team in the state. Wayne hasn't fared well in the state tournaments, placing ninth last season.

As it turned out, Bailey was all smiles when the tournament ended as Wayne finished in third place and brought home some hardware to prove it.

Any doubts of first game jitters that Wayne might suffer, even from being overly pumped up, was quickly put to rest as Wayne crunched first round foe Schuyler, 17-2. The locals scored four runs in the first inning and added five in the second to stretch a lead which would never be threatened.

Robin Lutt was sensational from the mound with a 2 hitter, striking out six and walking only one. "We were really pumped up to play that first game," Bailey said. "We knew however, that our success in the tournament depended very heavily on the first game."

Wayne responded offensively as well with 15 hits. Dana Nelson had two hits including a double in the first contest while Traci Gamble rapped a pair of singles. Suzie Lutt let Schuyler know early that she had power in her bat, and she did the talking with a pair of triples.

Robin Lutt not only pitched a good game, but hit a single and a double to aid her own cause. Tonya Erxleben also stroked a triple as well as a single, while Shelly Gilliland and Leslie Keating each rapped a pair of singles. Kristy Hansen was 1-3 in the first game with a double.

Wayne then had the rest of Friday off, and played at 2 p.m. Saturday against the Grand Island Eagles. Robin Lutt was again on the mound for Wayne and she again struck out six batters, and walked three. The result was a 12-7 victory by Wayne.

Wayne maintained a 5-3 lead until the fifth inning when they notched five runs that put the game out of reach for Grand Island.

Offensively Wayne had nine hits with eight different batters getting them. Shelly Gilliland was the game's only two hit performer with a couple of singles.

Dana Nelson was the game's only extra base hitter with her double. Traci Gamble, Suzie Lutt, Robin Lutt, Kristy Hansen, Marnie Bruggeman and Leslie Keating all recorded singles.

With two wins under their belt and no losses, Bailey and his squad were feeling confident of their chances. With some of the games running longer than normal, Wayne was forced to play at 11 p.m. Saturday against the odds on favorite to win the whole thing, North Platte Silver Bullets.

Wayne knew it had to buckle down and play at an even higher level than had perhaps all season. Robin Lutt decided to take things into her own from the pitchers mound, and tossed a brilliant 2-hit shutout against the Silver Bullets, as Wayne captured their third straight victory, 2-0.

Lutt struck out six batters and walked just two in a winning effort. Wayne was just granted five hits as North Platte struck out 12 Wayne batters. Tonya Erxleben had two hits to lead Wayne while Robin Lutt, Kristy Hansen and Marnie Bruggeman all notched singles.

"We played a fantastic game against the Silver Bullets," said Bailey. North Platte had won their previous two games by huge margins before playing Wayne.

Bailey noted that Robin Lutt's diving tag at home plate to put a Silver Bullet runner out, epitomized the desire in Wayne's eyes to do well in the tournament.

Wayne was one of two undefeated teams left in the tournament following their win over North Platte.

Wayne downed by Wahoo
On Sunday, Wayne played a very talented Wahoo team. Wahoo handed Wayne a 16-7 setback. Wahoo however, would go on to capture first place in the tournament.

Robin Lutt lost her first game from the mound as Wahoo ripped 18 hits, to Wayne's 14. After four innings of play Wayne was only down 7-5, but Wahoo kicked in the afterburners and surged to an insurmountable lead.

Wayne had to do without the services of Tonya Erxleben Sunday because of prior commitments. Kari Lutt and Shannon Holdorf took her place and filled in marvelously. Lutt played the field and did a fine job catching some line drives while Holdorf batted for Erxleben and went 3-4 including a double.

Robin Lutt was also 3-4 from the plate including a triple while Kristy Hansen was consistently getting on base with two hits including a double. Dana Nelson and Traci Gamble each had a pair of singles while Marnie Bruggeman and Shelly Gilliland each rapped one single.

In the final game of the tournament for Wayne, Nebraska City's Rebels shut the locals out to win 5-0. "We just didn't get the timely hits," Bailey said. "We outhit Nebraska City 10-9, but we didn't even score."

Bailey noted that the pitching Wayne faced in the last game was slower than his team was used to facing. Robin Lutt, Shannon Holdorf and Kristy Hansen all had two hits apiece with Lutt and Holdorf grabbing a double.

Dana Nelson, Suzie Lutt, Shelly Gilliland and Leslie Keating all notched singles. Wayne ended up leaving 11 players on base for the game.

All in all it was a very deserving finish for Wayne as it will only help the program get stronger. Bailey is already thinking about a return trip to the state tournament next season with all but one of the girls returning to next season's squad.

Wayne's bench strength played an important role in this year's state tournament. The support the starters got each time they were in the field and while batting is not all in the coaching, it's the desire to be a part of a winning program.

Laxatives and the Elderly

Many elderly persons misuse laxative products by taking them every day for extended periods of time. This "laxative habit" may have started as a result of recent or long standing constipation problems. It may have begun, however, with the false notion, promoted in the early 1900s, that the absence of a daily bowel movement enhances the absorption of toxins into the body. For whatever reason, a large percentage of the $250 million spent on laxatives in the United States each year is spent by the elderly.

Constipation prevention includes obtaining daily exercise, drinking several glasses of water, and consuming an adequate intake of vegetable, grain, and fruit fiber.

Stimulant-type laxatives such as castor oil, senna and cascara may be "too harsh" for routine use. Saline laxatives (magnesium sulfate) should not be used by elderly persons having kidney problems. Lubricant laxatives (mineral oil) may interfere with the absorption of needed fat-soluble vitamins. The safest laxatives for the elderly appear to be the bulk-forming types (psyllium) and the stool softeners (docusate). Discuss laxative use with your physician and your pharmacist.

Wayne ends season with 9-10 mark

The Wayne Junior Legion saw its season come to halt Tuesday night, as they were eliminated in the area tournament by Pierce, 9-4.

Wayne opened up district play on Saturday, with a 5-4 setback at the hands of West Point. Scott Hammer was given the loss from the mound, but Wayne played well despite losing.

The locals came away with five hits which matched West Point's output, but came up short in the run category. Wayne held a 4-3 lead after six innings of play, but West Point got two in the final inning to advance in the winners bracket.

Jess Zeiss led Wayne with a 2-3 performance at the plate with a pair of singles. Corey Frye, Jason Mrsny and Adam Mrsny were the hitters for Wayne, with all notching base hits.

Wayne downs Albion

On Monday afternoon, Wayne played Albion in the losers bracket, and the locals blasted their foe, 11-5. The game was much more lopsided than the final score indicated as Wayne maintained an 8-0 lead heading into the bottom half of the sixth inning.

Greg Schmidt was on the mound for Wayne and was in top notch form striking out 13 Albion batters. Schmidt was relieved in the sixth inning after walking a couple of batters and giving up a pair of hits.

Scott Hammer then came on and shut the door on any possible rally hopes that Albion had planned. Hammer struck out three batters in the final one and one third innings he pitched.

Offensively, Wayne stroked 10 hits with Tom Baier and Scott Hammer each rapping a pair of them. Baier, the leadoff hitter hit a single and a double, while Hammer rapped a pair of doubles for two RBI's.

Corey Frye, Rob Sweetland, Greg Schmidt, Brian Sherman and Adam Mrsny all notched singles while Jess Zeiss, in perhaps the games most unusual hit, recorded a triple.

Zeiss, a switch hitter batting left handed, hit a towering ball into right field, undoubtedly going over the fence. The ball however, got hung up in the wires that cross a corner of the field, and wound up bouncing inside the fence.

With the win Wayne advanced to the next round against Pierce. Pierce jumped out to a quick three run lead after the first inning, and never looked back enroute to ending Wayne's season with a record of 9-10.

Brian Sherman was credited with the loss from the pitchers mound. Offensively, Wayne was only allotted five hits with Adam Mrsny being the game's most potent hitter with a pair of doubles.

Scott Hammer, Greg Schmidt and Jason Mrsny were the other three recording hits, all singles.

WAYNE PITCHER Greg Schmidt struck out 13 Albion batters before being relieved by Scott Hammer in the sixth inning.

SCOTT HAMMER delivers a crushing 2-run double against Albion.

Legion wins first game

Winside's Little League team raised its record to 3-9, with a 16-13 victory over Carroll last Wednesday. Chris Mann captured the win from the mound and offensively had a 3-hit, 3-RBI performance with a triple.

Meanwhile, John Hancock and Jeremy Jenkins also rapped three hits apiece. Scott Jacobsen sliced a pair of hits and drove in as many runs.

The Pony League team of Winside raised their record to 7-2 with victories over Carroll and the Norfolk YMCA.

Jason Krueger's fifth inning home run and Corey Millers sixth inning RBI double, led the winners attack at Carroll. Brian Thompson and Corey Jensen each had a pair of hits in the 6-5 victory. Jeff Gallop was credited with the win from the mound.

Gallop's 2-hit, 3-RBI effort against Norfolk, led Winside to its second win of the week. Winside jumped out to a 5-0 lead in the initial inning on Corey Jensen's triple and two RBI's, a Gallop single and a base hit by Brian Thompson. Chad Carlson was the winning pitcher.

Legion wins first game

Winside surprised host Coleridge Wednesday night with a 6-3 upset victory. The Wildcats thus won their first game of the season.

It was Coleridge, however, that jumped out quickly to a lead in the opening inning. Then the Bulldogs started the second inning with back-to-back singles and a walk followed by a sacrifice fly, giving the host a three run lead.

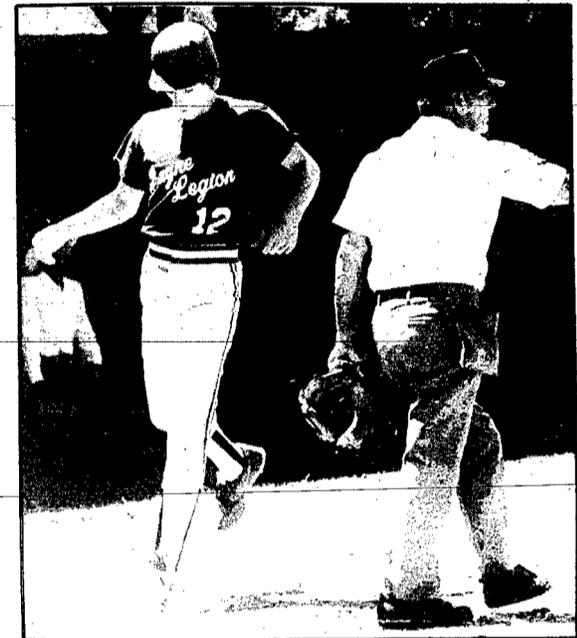

Jeff Gallop then shut the door on Coleridge for the rest of the evening, recording 10 strikeouts and yielding just five hits to complete his outing on the mound.

The Winside scoring started in the fifth inning as leadoff batter Jason Bargstad drew a walk. Darrin Wacker singled and Kerry Jaegar's free pass loaded the bases.

The next two batters, Gallop and Max Kant laced run scoring singles. Tim Jacobsen then layed down a picturesque suicide squeeze knotting the score at three apiece.

Jaegar led off the seventh inning with a single while Gallop drew a walk. Max Kant then singled which loaded the bases. Brian Thompson hit what turned out to be the game winning single, followed by Jason Krueger's icing on the cake 2-run single.

Winside finishes the year with a 1-4 record. Kerry Jaegar's 3-hit performance led the Winside offensive attack.

JASON MRSNY crosses the plate for Wayne's first run against Albion.

Wayne town team splits pair of games in three days

The Wayne town team hit the road Sunday, traveling to Sioux City to take on the Stingers. Offensive output in the game was minimal to say the least, as Wayne pitcher Joel Ankeny and Sioux City's pitcher, Johnson, battled it out to the end with Wayne coming out a 1-0 winner.

Ankeny scattered four hits while striking out three and walking just two. Incidentally all of Sioux City's hits were base hits.

Wayne's offense was granted eight hits and the first two batters in the lineup had five of those eight. Leadoff batter Rob Gamble stroked three singles in five at bats, while Steve Overin notched a pair of singles in four at bats.

Wayne's other three hits were all singles with one each by Mike Meyer, Shannon McKeever and Joel Ankeny.

Wayne's lone run came in the third inning. Jere Morris reached base via an error and then reached third by consecutive singles from Gamble and Overin. With bases loaded, Randy Lau hit a sacrifice fly ball to score the winning run.

On Tuesday evening at Overin Field, Wayne lost to Wakefield 15-5. Wayne was out-hit by the visitors 12-8. Mike Meyer was given the loss at pitcher.

Wakefield scored three runs in the fifth inning to start a rally that lasted four innings. They tallied four more in the sixth; two in the seventh and three additional runs in the eighth.

After four innings of play the score was tied at three. Wayne received the bulk of their hits from the first three batters. Jeff Pasold, Rob Gamble and Steve Overin all notched two hits apiece with Overin getting the games only extra base hit of a double for Wayne. Shannon McKeever and Ted Lueders each notched a single to make up the eight hits.

Wayne's record falls to 8-5, just one half game behind Wakefield's, 8-4. The Sioux City Saints lead the league, with Sloan and Sioux City Stingers rounding out the five.

In the ministry

Former area resident celebrates 25th year

The Rev. Larry Miller, a former resident of Winside, celebrated his 25th anniversary in the ministry during a special service and luncheon last month at Trinity Lutheran Church in Gardnerville, Nev.

Pastor Miller is the son of Mrs. Lena Miller of Winside and the late Alfred Miller.

Hawaii District of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. He also is a member of the district's board of directors.

THE WORSHIP service commemorating Pastor Miller's 25 years in the ministry included a solo by his daughter, Lori Koehler of Osmond.

Pastor Miller and his wife, Mary Ann, also are the parents of one son, Tim, who lives in Santa Barbara, Calif.

The sermon was delivered by the Rev. Stan Quebe of Anaheim, Calif., a close friend and associate of Pastor Miller's for many years.

Also participating as guest clergy was the Rev. Emil Leising, retired pastor of Trinity, now residing in Carson City, Nev.

A RECEPTION and luncheon followed in the parish hall. Tribute was paid to Pastor Miller by various members of the congregation, and he was presented a money tree in thanksgiving for his many years of service.

Ruzicka, Cole, Berns attend art course

Jackie Ruzicka and Julie Cole, both of Wayne, and Nancy Berns, Winside, were three of 24 art teachers, instructors, and educators who recently attended the Discipline-Based Art Education (DBAE)/Curriculum Development course held at Wayne State College.

The purpose of the course was to develop a sequential kindergarten through high school art program using the DBAE approach, according to Dr. Pearl Hansen, associate professor of art at Wayne State.

A goal for this project is that, in five years, art teachers will be implementing the DBAE approach in every school throughout Nebraska, said Hansen. Nebraska has received a $625,000 grant from the John Paul Getty Foundation for DBAE promotional purposes and other corporations have provided matching funds.

"Dedication, hard work, and a commitment to art education and their students is what motivated these teachers throughout this course," said Hansen. "They are capable of serving as art leaders for other schools. Nebraska is the first state to incorporate the DBAE program and is now serving as a model for the rest of the nation."

Retail

1975; .525 in 1980; .350 in 1985; and .288 in 1987.

Only three years of pull factor figures were recorded in Hoskins — .387 in 1980; .256 in 1985; and .324 in 1987.

Just one year of pull factor figures was kept for Carroll in Johnson's study. That year was in 1975, when the pull factor was .538.

Dixon County experienced approximately a 20 percent dip in the retail pull factor from 1980-87. The pull factor rate in Dixon County during 1970 was .419; .366 in 1975; .348 in 1980; .277 in 1985; and .290 in 1987.

The city of Wakefield had a pull factor rate of .907 in 1970; .771 in 1975; .797 in 1980; .685 in 1985; and .772 in 1987.

Laurel experienced an above average pull factor rate, posting a 1.666 in 1970; a 1.646 in 1975; a 1.561 in 1980; a .892 in 1985; and a 1.060 in 1987.

THIS AREA'S closest city of 20,000 population — Norfolk — carried the second highest pull factor figure in its population class, being out-distanced only by Scottsbluff.

Norfolk's pull factor rate was 1.728 in 1970; 2.016 in 1975; 1.800 in 1980; 1.662 in 1985; and 1.760 in 1987. "This city is carrying a good part of northeast Nebraska," said Johnson.

"Most of the communities or counties that have been higher [in pull factors] are those that live along the interstate corridors or are fairly remote," Johnson said.

The pull factor carries "so many influences," he said, such as the state's farm economy or the taste in consumer preferences.

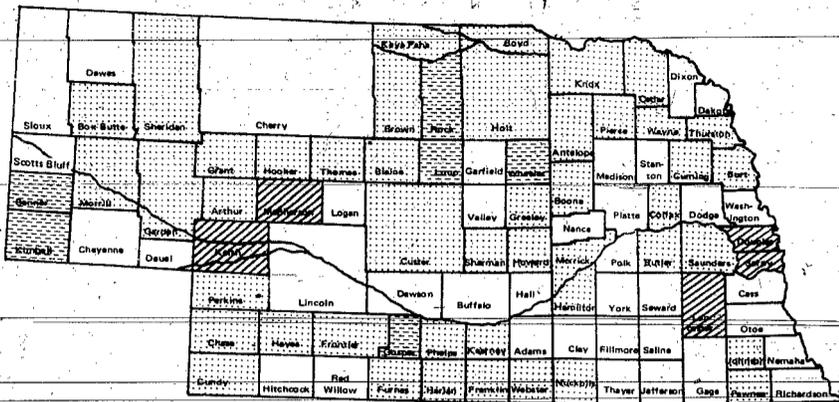

Pull factor numbers during the first six months of 1988 appear to be higher, as very robust activity occurs across the state, mentioned Johnson.

Johnson related that the agricultural-dependent counties, where farm earnings account for 20 percent or more of the total labor and proprietor income, have been hardest hit. The 1987 average pull factor for this group was .59 and ranged from .02 in Banner County to 1.07 in York County.

DETERIORATION some small cities are experiencing may not be short-term.

"While production agriculture eventually will return to more normal profit levels, its structure, as we knew it a few years ago, will not," Johnson said.

A possible scenario: fewer farm families are likely to remain in the community; implement dealerships and other supportive businesses will be gone and a reduced volume of agricultural export activity may well flow out of the local economy; rural residents, accustomed to certain retailing services and other amenities, travel greater distances often bypassing their local trade community.

Steps communities can take, Johnson listed, are:

- To diversify their basic economies and coordinate efforts regionally.
- Have rural business people think of their towns as satellites of a large center. In doing so, they may identify functions where location and convenience may continue to offer them a competitive edge.

— To consider, as retail trends evolve, diversification of their respective businesses to capture a larger trade volume.

— Establish cooperative action within the communities to enhance the retail business climate. Special events, such as farmers' markets and Saturday night retailing can create a progressive business environment, Johnson said. Communities may also be able to try to attract clientele through tourism, historical and cultural activities.

— Encourage follow-up legislation for economic development in rural Nebraska and its trade centers. Johnson said the current package seems to "weigh heavily in favor of economic development in this state's metropolitan areas."

JOHNSON SAID he expects the report to be "open for criticism." But he added that the recent report can give communities or counties a good indication, or shed further light, on the erosion of retail activity in their area.

The full report of "Trends in Sales of Retail Goods Across Nebraska's Counties and Communities" can be obtained by mailing a check for $3 to the Department of Agricultural Economics, Room 217 Filley Hall, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Lincoln, NE 68583-0922.

Budget

The city council reviewed the list of "bad debts" that have accrued from delinquent bills. Reason for the review and approval of the bad debts list is so that the auditors can adjust for the bad debts for accounting purposes: "This does not mean that the bad debts are lost. We encourage the city council, if they know of any of these individuals, to contact us if they know where the individuals can be located," said Kloster.

The total in bad debts, $1,760.32, is considerably lower than the bad debts reviewed in 1987 and 1986. Kloster attributed that statistic to the city's computer system which allows for "better tracking" and speedier follow-up on the delinquent bills.

THE COUNCIL also approved a change order in the water system improvement project. Winter Construction, builders of the transmission line, have proposed that if the city pay directly for materials from the pipe company, it would result in the city's saving of approximately $11,464.

Farm programs reviewed

Except for oats, limited cross compliance requirements will be in effect for all 1989 program crops, according to Dean Owens, Chairman of the Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

"This means to participate in the program for one crop on a farm, the producer will be prohibited from planting in excess of the crop acreage base for each other program crop on the farm," Mr. Owens said.

He said offsetting compliance will not apply, meaning that eligibility for a program payment and a loan will not be affected by actions taken with respect to that commodity on another farm.

The 1989 wheat and feed grain programs also prohibit farmers from producing nonprogram crops on land removed from production by the acreage reduction programs.

Dean Owens said grazing of acreage conservation reserve (ACR) and conservation use (CU) land is permitted except during a five-consecutive-month period designated by the State ASC committee. "Haying of these acres in the same period will not be permitted unless the State ASC committee determines that haying will not have an adverse economic effect in the State."

As in 1988, the ASCS official said 1989 farm program participants will not be allowed to upwardly adjust any crop acreage base with a corresponding downward adjustment in other crop acreage bases on the farm.

Other 1989 farm program determinations such as the enrollment period and advance deficiency payments will be announced later.

BRIGHT IDEAS FOR SAFETY

Safety Matters On The Farm.

When working in the fields, your mind is on a lot of things. One of those things should be electric safety.

Overhead lines are normally safely out of reach. But every time you move ladders, irrigation pipe, grain augers or other tall equipment, you risk contact with the wires above.

Think ahead. Remember to be careful with the lines that bring you electricity. When moving large objects, plan around electrical wires. And, if you see problems you cannot avoid, contact your local power supplier for help.

Safety matters, whether you're in the field, or in the home. Learn how to prevent accidents by learning about electric safety.

Attacked again?

On December 7, 1941 Americans were stunned to find out that we had been attacked at Pearl Harbor.

Once again the majority of Americans have been attacked and don't even know it. On July 12, 1988 MCA-Universal Pictures launched an assault in New York by previewing the movie, "The Last Temptation of Christ." The movie takes the factual and historical character of Jesus Christ and presents Him totally out of character. According to Tim Penland (former liaison for MCA-Universal) the movie depicts Jesus as a mentally and emotionally weak man who desires and fantasizes about a sexual encounter with Mary Magdalene. The explicit scenes and made up conversations are not only unhistorical, THEY BLATANTLY DEFAEME THE PERSON OF JESUS CHRIST!

shown many times that the vast majority of Americans believe that the historical Jesus was and is the Son of God. If that is the case why then did MCA-Universal produce a film degrading the man who is the central figure of our faith? The answer is obvious. MCA-Universal does not accept the standards of Jesus Christ and they want you to reject them also.

The film will be released by MCA-Universal and Cineplex Odeon films in September. That is unless they have a change of heart or realize that they might lose more money by releasing the film than they will make.

Pray that they will reconsider. Also call your local theater to express your thoughts and write to MCA-Universal in Universal City, CA. That will make the difference in overcoming this attack.

The GOLDEN YEARS

Retired executives are scoring new successes — for young entrepreneurs with great ideas and no business experience. SCORE, the Service Corps of Retired Business Executives, is sponsored by the U.S. Small Business Administration. At no charge, SCORE volunteers provide managerial expertise that small businesses ordinarily can't afford. Started in 1964, SCORE now has 13,000 volunteers in more than 600 communities. "Because of the expertise they have acquired over the years, retired executives are in a position to be excellent counselors," says SCORE president John H. Tittle.

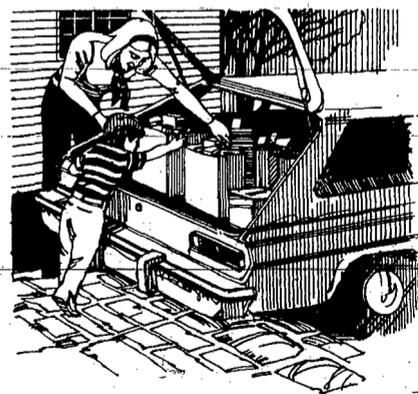

More than 30 percent of all prescription drugs are for men and women 65 and over who spend about $9 billion a year for them, according to the American Association of Retired Persons.

Remember when? 1938 — The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was organized to conquer polio, spurred by President Franklin D. Roosevelt's own experience with the disease. Eddie Cantor suggested radio appeals asking Americans to fund the effort by sending dimes to the White House: "We could call it the March of Dimes," he said.

Cong. Doug Bereuter After complaints Bereuter tours Omaha post office

Representative Doug Bereuter, who toured the main post office in Omaha recently said that rural residents have some legitimate concerns about the movement of mail through the Omaha post office. Many of Bereuter's rural constituents have complained about excessive delays in mail service because mail posted in a number of small towns must move through the Omaha Post Office.

"Constituents have told me about mail that took four days to travel to a destination 20 miles from where it was mailed," Bereuter said. "One item reached a destination 13 miles from where it was mailed in seven days."

Bereuter had his own complaint about mail service through the Omaha Post Office. In March he scheduled "Hear the Citizen" meetings in Tecumseh, Auburn and Pawnee City, and mailed post cards to notify local residents of the meetings. The meeting notice cards traveled from Washington to the Omaha Post Office in two days. The cards mailed to one town in Nemaha County arrived within another day. The remainder of the cards, mailed to residents of four counties, disappeared for two weeks. They arrived at local post offices well after the meetings were scheduled.

"In the eyes of many rural Nebraskans, postal service is deteriorating," Bereuter said. "Early this year, many post offices were forced to curtail window hours, and Sunday mail collection and sorting were discontinued to accommodate a $1.2 billion budget cut. Postmaster General Preston Robert Tisch resigned in February — the third consecutive postmaster to leave within a year of taking office. We faced a round of stiff postal rate hikes in April."

"With all of the recent increases in postage, most people haven't seen an improvement in mail service and some customers see their service getting worse," Bereuter said. "Most rural post offices are performing a vital service and performing as well as they can with the required cut-backs, but the problems we are seeing in the Omaha Post Office must be corrected."

Bereuter expressed concern that continued problems with the U.S. Postal Service provide ammunition for those who want to see a change in law so that private firms can deliver first and third-class mail.

"Giving the private sector responsibility for mail delivery could ultimately mean the end of universal mail service at a flat rate," Bereuter said. "Rural parts of the country would have the most to lose under a private mail delivery system. Rural communities and rural states such as Nebraska would suffer drastic increases in costs for mail delivery and serious reductions in service under such a system. For that reason, I am absolutely opposed to privatization of the Postal Service."

Representative Phil Crane of Illinois has introduced a bill that would eliminate the postal monopoly and allow privatization of postal services. Congress has not yet taken any action on the bill.

"USER FRIENDLY" COMPUTER TERMS AND DEFINITIONS

What is word processing? Word processing is the act of using a computer to prepare a letter, manuscript, or other document. There are several advantages to using a computer word processing system for writing. Without a word processor, revision of a document is a lot of work because the entire document must be retyped. With a word processor you can make your revision and then have the computer print out the entire final document.

You need three parts for a word processing system. First you need a computer. Second, you need a word processing program. There are many different programs available, to fit different needs, such as professional, or ones suitable for students. Finally you will need a printer, to print out your documents. The important thing is to get the one that will serve your needs. Consult with your local dealer, they can tell you about the different programs available.

Olson gets training at Wayne business

Douglas Olson of rural Concord recently completed his fourth quarter Farm Diesel work experience and is now back on campus at Southeast Community College, Milford.

Doug got his on-the-job training at Logan Valley Implement of Wayne under the supervision of shop foreman Alan Finn. In addition to Finn's assistance, Doug said he got help from all the mechanics at Logan Valley. They would tell him how to do it whenever he faced something not yet covered at Milford.

And he got lots of different experience, Doug said. He had set up all types of farm machinery, including planters, cultivators, balers, shredders and sprayers. Tractor work involved power trains, hydraulic pumps, injection pumps and timing. And in electrical he did trouble shooting and wiring, Doug added. He was also involved in machinery pickup and delivery in the Logan Valley area.

From his own experience, Doug felt that three quarters at Milford were enough for the work quarter. "Getting the basics (of Farm Diesel) are most important," he said.

"Maybe more electrical before going out," Doug added, "but there were no glaring weaknesses." He takes advanced electrical courses this quarter. His immediate plans include graduating in December and returning to the family farm. His folks have a grain and livestock operation, he said. Long range plans involve farming and using his training at Milford Campus to cut down operating costs. Olson is a 1987 graduate of Laurel High School. His parents are Arden and Ave Olson of Concord.

DOUG OLSON at work at Logan Valley Implement.

Dairy clinic conducted

Thirty-one Dixon and Wayne County 4-H members and their families attended a Dairy Fitting and Showing Clinic on Friday afternoon, July 15 at the Wayne County Fairgrounds west of Wayne. The program began at 1 p.m.

Participants had the opportunity to view the new University of Nebraska Extension video series on washing, clipping, grooming and showing dairy animals. A live animal demonstration on each of these components to preparing an animal for show was presented by Jack and Rhonda Warner.

Dr. Ken Liska, Wayne Veterinary Clinic, was available to discuss nutrition requirements of dairy heifers and disease control. Prepared materials on dairy rations were distributed to participants.

Showmanship skills were refined through hands-on experience and help. Members were shown how to maximize the individual qualities of their dairy animals. The 4-H'ers either brought their own animals to work with or used a provided heifer.

The Nebraska Dairy Women, Norfolk Chapter, provided ice cream and lemonade for the group. Members will have a chance to use their new knowledge before the county fairs at the District 4-H Dairy Show in Madison on Aug. 1.

The Farmer's Wife by Pat Meierhenry

Though scattered, our area has been fortunate to have rain and cool weather lately. We've had to use a blanket at night, and it's amazing the way the pastures and lawns have turned green again.

Wedding plans are going full steam ahead at our house. It's about time, because I guess it's only seven weeks away.

When you plan a wedding in Nebraska in the fall, you check the football schedule first. Especially if the wedding is in Lincoln. You couldn't have it the day of a home game. Now our Father is giving the bride a bad time because Nebraska plays UCLA, and it will be on television!

We attended the wedding of a friend of Sue's in Norfolk on a football Saturday last year and the organist had a radio ear phone in! The bride almost came in to "There Is No Place Like Nebraska" instead of the Bridal March!

A neighbor boy was married the afternoon of the Oklahoma shoot out two years ago, and the Big Farmer only made it to the dance.

When Sue and Monte picked the date, they also reasoned that the state fair would be almost finished. They forgot to check the entertainment schedule. Randy Travis is at the Devaney Center at 3 p.m.; the Ceremony commences at the University Chapel at 15th and Que at 4:00. You definitely cannot win them all!

History repeats itself; they'll be living in an old farm house. Since Monte works in Yankton, Sue sought employment in Sioux City, and Vermillion seemed half-way for both to drive.

They found an acreage-for-rent that is just one mile from the big old barn and lots of out buildings. Of course, there are lots of weeds, too. And the house is just a wee bit neglected, you know the kind! So they have been busy painting and cleaning and sanding.

Why in the world these homes have all these doors and long windows, I'll never understand!

On the plus side, there is a screened-in porch along the south side, sliding doors to the "parlor," and a golf course half a mile away.

In addition, it's all on level ground; and there is a circle drive on the yard, so they don't need to back into mud to drive out.

As always, the original wedding party has been enlarged. We've agonized over invitation lists. Will someone be hurt if they don't receive one, or relieved that they don't need to buy a gift?

One friend leaves for Boston the end of August, another for Thailand, and Aunt Linda will be in Europe, so there will be some folks missing.

There are shocks registered at cost of flowers and photos and reception halls. Poor Dad is already wearing a befuddled expression.
