Base to increase 4.67 percent WEA, Board ratify new salary package

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

A settlement between the Wayne Education Association and the Wayne-Carroll Board of Education on the 1988-89 salary and fringe benefit package was ratified Monday evening by both negotiating parties.

The base salary for teachers will increase 4.67 percent during 1988-89, from $14,904 to $15,600. Ratification of the 1988-89 agreement culminates the process of negotiations which began in March of this year.

Chairman of the Wayne-Carroll Board of Education negotiating team was board member Sid Hillier. Duane Blomenkamp chaired the Wayne Education Association negotiating committee.

Single dental insurance has been added to the benefit package for Wayne-Carroll instructors at a cost of $9.30 monthly. On Monday night, the Wayne-Carroll Board of Education approved a health insurance package from United of Omaha at $230.13 per month for family coverage and $81.34 per month for single coverage.

The negotiated agreement between the Wayne Education Association and the board of education for 1988-89 authorizes the district to pay full costs of family and (or) single coverage health insurance. The combined increase in the salary base and benefit package during 1988-89 will be approximately 6.38 percent.

WITH THE BASE at $15,600, the highest one can receive on the 15-step pay scale is $29,796.

Also on Monday evening, the board of education approved a pay increase of an average 5 percent for classified staff and administrators and a 4.8 percent salary hike for the superintendent position.

This category includes bus drivers, secretaries, teacher aides, cooks and custodians. The administration includes the school district's three principals and the superintendent.

The elementary principal will receive $34,913; middle school principal, $36,824; and secondary principal, $40,263. The superintendent's salary was approved at $48,732.

In other action, the school board: — Will research the options on the installation of a light or lights near the school district's track located south of the elementary school. School board members were informed that many people use the track at nights and some were asked about installation of lights.

— Approved the enrollment of Astrid Schimmel from the Netherlands as a foreign exchange student who will be staying at the home of Gordon and Norma Davis.

— Appointed Jerry Malcom as auditor of school accounts.

— Accepted the bid of Gillette Dairy, Inc. for supplying milk to the school district during the 1988-89 school year. Other bids were submitted by Roberts Dairy Co. and Borden Meadow Gold. Gillette Dairy will also be furnishing one cooler.

— Established the school lunch prices for 1988-89. There is no change in prices from the previous year. Rates are $5.75 for high school and middle school weekly and $1.20 daily; $5.25 for elementary weekly and $1.10 daily; $1.45 for adults daily; and milk tickets will be $1.50 (10 punches).

— And appointed Dean Newton and Dennis Mitchell as designated asbestos coordinators.

Liska appointed to Wayne-Carroll Board

Kenneth Liska has been appointed to fill out the remaining Wayne-Carroll Board of Education term of Joyce Reeg, who announced her resignation to the board last July after she was appointed as Wayne County Assessor.

Liska's appointment to the board of education passed by a 3-1 margin. Wayne-Carroll Board of Education members voting in favor of Liska's appointment were Cap Peterson, Sid Hillier and Arnold Emry. Becky Keidel, board chairman, voted against the motion. Neil Sandahl was absent from Monday night's meeting.

Liska, in a telephone conversation with a board member Monday evening, accepted the appointment on Monday evening. He also told the board of education that he would remove his name from the November general election ballot, where he was one of four candidates vying for the three positions that are up for election on the board of education.

Urban politics gets dose of country flavor

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

Agriculture certainly can't be considered as a dominant feature of the heavily urban, populated congressional district served by Representative Ted Weiss of New York.

His district is that where Wall Street lies. It includes Greenwich Village and Manhattan. There are no hogs or cattle roaming the urban setting. No hog operations.

However, even with the nonexistence of an agricultural environment, Wes Rehms confirms that the farmers have a friend in Weiss.

Wes, born in Atlanta, Georgia and who is now a legislative aide to Weiss, has been a guest of Joe and Twila Claybaugh of Carroll this past weekend. He is one of 12 legislative assistants to urban members of Congress who have spent the Aug. 12-15 weekend with Nebraska First District farm families.

Other legislative assistants who were hosted by area farm families were Alden Schacher, assistant to Oklahoma Representative Dave McCurdy (hosted by Don and Dorrine Liedman of Carroll); and Valerie Whitley, legislative assistant to Representative Stan Parris of Virginia (a guest at the Larry and Kathy Boswell home of rural Allen).

The legislative assistants' visit is being sponsored by the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation. Nebraska Congressman Doug Bereuter and his staff recommended the legislative assistants who were invited to participate in the program.

WES, WHEN AGE 15, worked on a tobacco farm for one summer. That has been his extent of experience working on a farm, although last year he was a guest for several days at a Nebraska farm family home in Adams County.

Alden, being from Oklahoma, said she is familiar with agriculture. She was involved in Future Farmers of America through Public Speaking contests and participation in other projects.

"What has surprised me the most [about the agriculture sector] is how involved everything is," said Wes. "In our New York district, we get this simplified version of farm life. I never realized how much goes into it. It's something that I never imagined."

In looking at the ears of corn from Liedman's fields, both Wes and Alden can see that corn production will be low in 1988 due to the dry conditions in the area. "He [Liedman] showed us an ear of corn from his field that had about 1/5 of the normal kernels," Wes mentioned.

ALDEN will tell McCurdy about the dry conditions and mention other things that happened during her weekend in Wayne County. However, there is "no set purpose" for the visit.

"But when farm legislation comes up, we will have an idea of what things in the legislation mean," Alden said.

"Our bosses may not be thinking about agriculture now. They may have other things on their mind. When legislation deals with agriculture, however, we will be able to pass the information on," added Wes.

The drought aid bill passed by Congress and signed by President Reagan, Wes said, set a record in the amount of time to get the legislation through. "It only took one month from the time it was introduced to the time it became law. That has never happened before," said Wes. "It is rare that anything passes that quickly."

Alden said that while she saw the drought bill as necessary legislation, she realizes that "people are opposed to too much government intervention."

"And not only in agriculture is this so," she said.

She said her employer, McCurdy, generally votes in favor of any type of agricultural legislation. "He feels that it's a vote for the farmers," she said.

However because of the attitude she found in some people who believe there is too much federal government intervention, maybe the issue is not necessarily a vote for the farmer. "This has helped me to scrutinize, a lot more, the issues before making a report on the legislation," she said.

JUST HOW MUCH agriculture does one see in New York — the Big Apple?

"Window boxes and roof-top gardens is about all you see. They did try to grow wheat in Manhattan one time. It was a program to grow wheat for bread to feed the hungry. They grew it in an empty lot," said Wes.

"The wheat grew less than a foot high and then died," he said.

Wes said Representative Weiss has a pro-family farm voting record and seems to understand the needs of the farm communities. "We can't do without food," Wes said. "I think he [Weiss] has a voting record that agriculture would be happy with."

The legislative assistants have seen the many faces of agriculture from a variety of angles. They toured the Claybaugh egg-laying operation; saw drought-damaged corn near Wakefield; reviewed irrigated corn fields compared to fields of dryland corn; met business people in Carroll at the Farmers State Bank; Sandahl Repair, Carroll Feed and Grain, TWJ Feed and other places; witnessed a 10 p.m. milking operation at the John Anderson farm; rode on a machine that turned out big hay bales at the John Hansen farm; attended church services; visited the Darrell French hog operation; stopped at the Jack Beeson farm near Wayne; visited with a young farmer just getting started in the business; and even observed the practice of terrace farming.

WHAT PROBLEMS ahead do they foresee in agriculture, besides the effects of the dry weather now invading the Wayne County area?

"We have to try and balance government involvement. We should not take it away completely, but not become so involved as to try to help and becoming a burden," said Wes.

Alden sees a long range problem. "Farms are getting bigger and bigger, and not that many people have decided to stay on the farms. Fewer and fewer people want to be in this business of farming," she mentioned.

However, some positive notes are that a high percent of all farm operations are profitable. The failures, rather than the successful operations, are the ones which seem to be publicized more. "So they must be doing something right somewhere," Wes said.

THE LIEDMANS, Claybaughs and Boswells also have gained valuable insight into the urban settings.

"It's been an interesting experience. We've learned from them as they have learned from us," said Don Liedman, Wayne County Farm Bureau president.

His wife, Dorrine, also enjoyed traveling with the legislative assistants to learn for herself the agricultural operations and situations present in the Wayne County area.

Claybaugh said he has gained more understanding about the representative who employs the legislative assistant (Wes).

Doug Gibson, Nebraska Farm Bureau chief administrator, said the visit by legislative assistants was not a "lobbying opportunity." Education was greatly emphasized.

"All of the legislative assistants are responsible for the subject matter of agriculture, but few know very much about it. One of the participants said his previous agricultural experience was 'shopping the produce section at Safeway' and that's fairly typical of all 12," said Gibson.

Reeg attends NAYI Institute

Nearly 200 of Nebraska's young leaders met in Lincoln recently for the Nebraska Agricultural Youth Institute (NAYI) which was sponsored by the Nebraska Department of Agriculture. Carmen Reeg, daughter of Harvey and Janet Reeg of Wayne, was among the delegates attending the institute.

"Being a returning delegate helped me to extend my leadership ability and to assist other first year delegates with anything they needed," said Reeg.

"NAYI, in my opinion, is the finest youth organization in Nebraska and I would encourage the youth in Wayne County to apply and attend," she said.

The delegates discussed topics such as agricultural policy, international marketing, state/federal legislation and safety.

Workshops and discussion groups provided the delegates with a challenge to excel in agricultural careers, family relationships and self-esteem.

High school juniors or seniors concerned with the future of agriculture who are interested in participating in next year's NAYI are encouraged to contact the Nebraska Department of Agriculture for more information.

Fink attends conference

Workshops were conducted on practical reasoning, cooperative learning and classroom motivation.

Parents invited to workshop

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

Parents of young children or early teenagers will be invited to a special workshop in September, to take place in Wayne, that is aimed toward fighting abuse of alcohol and other drugs among the country's youth.

The program, through AAL, is called "Get Involved Before Your Kids Do." Sponsoring the workshop, slated at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne on Sunday, Sept. 18, will be AAL Branch 1470 in Wayne.

Galen Wiser of Wayne, who is helping coordinate the workshop, said the program is primarily for parents of children ages nine through 14.

"The program is open to all parents of the community," Wiser emphasized.

The 2½ workshop, which begins at 7 p.m. includes a videotape presentation along with group discussion and take-home activities for parents to use with their children.

"Wiser said he and others have viewed the film and rate it as very good. "We feel that the workshop will be a very worthwhile project," he said.

THE VIDEOTAPE "Drug Free Kids" is hosted by actor Ken Howard and features some of television's most popular actors and actresses in role-playing scenes.

Each scene demonstrates parenting techniques necessary to help children stay away from alcohol and other drugs.

"Research shows the age children begin experimenting with alcohol and other drugs is younger every year. The sooner parents become involved in helping their kids, the more likely they'll be to stop problems before they start. Our program helps parents do this in an effective manner," said Judy Stadler, AAL co-developer of the program.

It is expected that many of AAL's branches will be sponsoring the workshop in their respective communities within next year, educating thousands of parents about how to combat the problem of alcohol and other drug abuse among youth.

"The program was developed, in part, in response to a personal request by President Reagan that AAL become involved in the fight against drugs.

Liska

three open positions on the board of education. A fourth position on the board opened up following Reeg's resignation.

With Liska accepting the appointment for Reeg's spot on the board — there are only three candidates (Dahl, Hillier and Sandahl) seeking the three remaining vacancies on the Wayne-Carroll board.

A legal opinion was sought from Wayne County Attorney Bob Enz prior to Monday night's regular meeting on whether or not the school board could appoint someone who was on the election ballot.

Enz's opinion was interpreted Monday night by the board of education that Liska could be appointed. If Liska intended to take his name off the November election ballot, he would fill out the remainder of Reeg's term which expires in two years and four months.

However, if Liska had kept his name on the ballot, and he won one of the three spots up for election, he would begin a four year term serving on the board of education and then the board of education would again have to appoint another individual to fill out Reeg's term.

KEIDEL DECIDED to vote against the appointment, strictly on the basis that taking the candidate off the November ballot would offer voters no choices for board of education representation, since there would now be three instead of four candidates for the three open spots on the board.

Hillier agreed with Keidel's opinion. However, he also said that Liska has, by placing his name on the election ballot, displayed an interest in becoming a member of the Wayne-Carroll Board of Education.

School budget gains approval

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

A 1988-89 budget, totaling $3.042 million, was approved Monday evening by the Wayne-Carroll Board of Education.

The general fund requirement is $3.002 million while the sinking fund requirement stands at $40,000 to total the $3.042 amount — which is an approximate increase of 8 percent over what has been listed as anticipated expense from the 87-88 school year.

In his budget message, Superintendent Francis Haun said the school district budget will have an anticipated 7.5 percent increase in property taxes for 1988-89.

The total property tax requirement stands at $1,722,760. The general fund amount is $1,681,160 and the amount of property tax for sinking fund is established at $41,600.

"This is the bottom line. Unless there is a significant increase in the assessed valuation of taxable property, the tax levy will increase accordingly," Haun wrote.

He said that school district valuation data has not, in past years, been available until early September.

REASONS FOR the budget increases, as stated by Haun, are increased elementary school enrollment and a Court of Industrial Relations order for the school district to increase the starting salary for teachers in 1987 by 8.7 percent.

Elementary school enrollment has increased by 35 students. An additional half-time teacher is needed for the kindergarten class (which numbers 67) and another full-time instructor is necessary for the 62 students enrolled in the fourth grade, Haun said in his budget message.

Haun mentioned that the 1988-89 budget reflects teacher salary increases for both the 1987-88 and the 1988-89 school year.

He again emphasized that the school district's levy, when ranked with the total population of K-12 schools, is at 211 out of 278 (one is the highest and 278 is the lowest). General fund expenditures for Wayne-Carroll come in with a 219 ranking and valuation per resident pupil is at 199.

HAUN ANTICIPATES that this ranking will not change significantly, since most other K-12 schools also face similar increases in fixed costs.

"The Wayne-Carroll school district remains in good condition. It operates on a cash basis and at the beginning of its fiscal year, carried a 20 percent cash reserve, which enables the district to avoid borrowing money during periods of uneven tax collections," Haun reported.

An increase of 48 percent has also been predicted in the area of state aid to the Wayne-Carroll School District.

Urban

THIS IS THE first year of the program. If the evaluation of the first year is favorable, it may be expanded statewide in the future, mentioned Gibson.

Prior to arriving at the host farms, the legislative assistants were introduced at a luncheon at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln East Campus, given a tour of the Animal Science Complex and learned about the Food Processing Center.

They left Aug. 15 for the return flight to Washington, undoubtedly filled with information which may someday be a 'yes' vote for agriculture when the situation arises.

Tennis tourney draws top competition

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

It is often heard that quantity means nothing while quality means everything. That simple adage may well have been the theme for this year's Wayne Tennis Open held this past weekend at the College Tennis courts.

Tournament Director Tom Roberts was ecstatic when asked how the tournament ran. "It was a piece of cake," Roberts said. "The number of entries were down about 25 percent from last year but the quality we had in this tournament was unmatched by several area tournaments during the past six to eight weeks."

There were several individual stories that came out of the Wayne Tennis Open. Countries such as India, Sweden and Ecuador were represented in this small town of 5000.

In the U.S., players came from the states of Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, California and Alaska. All in all the approximated 120 entries saw a deluge of several individual methods of playing the game which Roberts has referred to as the game of a lifetime.

Matt Strom, of Stockholm, Sweden, and Liz O'Brien of Detroit, Michigan, along with Fremont's Kevin Eairleywine, were the only entrants who escaped the tournament with two first place trophies.

Strom teamed up with Ivan Moreno of Quito, Ecuador, to defeat Norfolk's Brian Oberle and Gilroy, California's Simon Lumle in the Mens Open Doubles, 7-5, 6-0. However, Strom's first trophy came after winning the Mens Open Singles over Sioux City's Doug Stanek, 6-1, 6-3.

Strom had reached the finals by defeating Oberle 6-1, 6-2 in the semis while Stanek defeated Strom's doubles partner Moreno 6-7, 6-0, 6-3 also to reach the finals.

In the Open doubles division, Strom and Moreno got to the finals by downing Stanek and Lemars, Iowa native Lance Sitzman, 6-0, 6-1. Meanwhile, Oberle and Lumle defeated Bob and Russ Flick from Sioux City, Iowa 6-4, 6-2 to reach the finals.

Wayne State's new head women's basketball coach Liz O'Brien took front-center stage in the women's portion of the tournament by capturing the Women's Open Singles over Barb Jackson of Norfolk in three sets, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1, in the final match of the tournament.

O'Brien had reached the finals by defeating Julie Bach of Sioux City, Iowa 6-3, 6-2. Jackson on the other hand defeated Ponca's Julie Hamilton, 6-4, 7-6 to reach the finals.

O'Brien teamed up with Bob Flick of Sioux City, Iowa in the mixed doubles to capture top honors. The two-some defeated Todd and Janice Hart of Streator, Illinois 6-2, 6-4.

As mentioned earlier there were several individual stories stemming from the Wayne Tennis Open. One such story is of the Mens 35 Singles, which was won by John Vermilyea of Sioux City, Iowa.

Vermilyea spends his time at his profession of being a child psychologist. However, old-timers around Wayne still remember Vermilyea as a college basketball standout from Morningside College, who later went on to play NBA basketball for the Cleveland Cavaliers for approximately three years.

Vermilyea took the Mens 35 Singles by defeating Ron Siske of Ralston, 6-0, 6-1. In the semifinals Vermilyea got past Dave Burkhardt of Tilden, Nebraska 6-1, 6-0, while Siske downed Gail Schilke of Fremont, 6-1, 6-7, 6-3.

Dave Licari, formerly of Anchorage, Alaska, who just recently moved to Clarkson, Nebraska, captured the Mens Novice division by downing Terry Neustrom of Sioux City, Iowa 3-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Licari is a former basketball standout from Chadron State. He defeated Ponca's Paul Calvert, 6-0, 6-4 in the semifinals while Neustrom, a former Wayne State football standout, defeated Ponca's Dan Krause, 6-0, 6-0.

Dahlkoetter places second
On a local level, Wayne's Barry Dahlkoetter teamed up with Lincoln's Andy Karavas to get runner up honors in the Mens A Doubles. The two-some lost to Kevin Eairleywine and Mike Wellman of Fremont, 7-5, 7-5.

Dahlkoetter and Karavas had defeated Terry Stanek and Tim Bowling of Osmond in the semifinals, 6-3, 6-2. Meanwhile Eairleywine and Wellman had downed Keith Mast and Brian Talbot of South Sioux City, Nebraska, 6-2, 6-1.

Eairleywine also captured the A Singles portion of the meet by downing Karavas, 6-0, 6-1. Eairleywine got to the finals by defeating Tim Bowling of Osmond, 6-0, 6-2, while Karavas reached the finals by downing another former Wayne State football standout, Kelly Neustrom of Sioux City, Iowa, 3-6, 7-5, 6-0.

Although the heal had been a major factor in all area tournaments this summer, Roberts believes that this year's Wayne Open was fortunate to have run so smoothly. "We had all our finals done before noon on Sunday except one," Roberts said.

All entrants were given visors from director Roberts while area businesses gave coupons for discounts on food and beverages. Roberts was especially pleased with the effort put forth by Hardees. Hardees donated the Orange drink for the players as well as coupons.

Other businesses Roberts was pleased with include Pac-N-Save, Taco Del Sol, Pizza Hut, Godfathers and PoPos II.

"The tournament was a smashing success," Roberts said with a jubilant smile after the final match took place.

Wayne Kickoff night planned

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

Ex-Cornhusker running back Jon Kelly and motivational speaker Richard Crawford will highlight this year's Sports Kickoff for Wayne High School.

The Kickoff is for any athlete in grades 7-12, who are intending to go out for any athletic event during the coming school year and their parents. "Athletes and parents are a must to attend," Wayne Athletic Director Ron Carnes said. "The public is invited to attend the Sports Kickoff to be held Tuesday, August 23 at 7:30 p.m. in the lecture hall of the high school."

Carnes will give the opening remarks in the welcome address for the approximate hour, hour and a half prelude to the school year. Peg Lutt of the Wayne Booster Club will then give a few remarks before Wayne State College football coach Pete Chapman takes the stage to talk about athletic eligibility.

Following Chapman's address, there will be a presentation of weightlifting awards given. Then ex-husker I-back Jon Kelly will take the spotlight and talk about what it takes today to be an athlete.

Kelly is regarded as one of the fastest husker players ever being clocked at 4.45 seconds in the 40-yard dash. His 345-pound bench press is the best ever for a husker I-back.

A 1983 recruit, Kelly redshirted that year and then rushed for 132 yards and three touchdowns for the 1984 junior varsity team. All-state, All-American and academic All-American as a running back for coach Chuck Mizerski at Lincoln

High School, where he also played cornerback, also placed in the state track meet's 200 meter dash and lettered once in basketball.

Kelly was also a member of the National Honor Society as a Broadcast Journalism major.

Carnes will then give a brief performance expectations talk which athletes should take upon themselves as a goal striving tool.

Richard Crawford will then have the floor for his motivational speech and views on alcohol and drug use in today's athletic world. Crawford is currently the Associate Vice President Investment Officer for Dain Bosworth Inc. out of Sioux City, Iowa.

The 38-year old Crawford received his Masters degree in Business Administration in 1982 from the University of South Dakota. Crawford has enjoyed much success in community service ranging from being on the Board of Directors for the March of Dimes, the Sioux City Community Development Committee, being on the Governor's Task Force for the Employment of the Handicapped, Board of Directors of the Jaycees, Board of Directors of the Kiwanis, just to name a few.

One might think that anyone with a little spare time could be any one of these board of directors. However, Crawford has managed to fit all of these organizations into his life as well as being named Man of the Year in Sioux City in 1975—and Crawford has always been BLIND!

Following Crawford's speech, Carnes will conclude the program with some closing remarks.

Replaces Strate

Feagan named coach

Douglas K. Feagan of Bellevue has been named the head volleyball and softball coach at Wayne State College, according to athletic director Pete Chapman.

Feagan replaces Marilyn Strate who accepted the head softball position at Southwest State University in Marshall, Minn.

Feagan spent last season as a student assistant coach at the University of Nebraska-Omaha. That team qualified for the NCAA Division II playoffs, finishing third in the nation. Feagan also spent one season assisting with the Bellevue East High School volleyball program.

Feagan earned his B.A. degree in Business Administration from Bellevue College in 1981. He will complete his Master's in physical education this year at Wayne State.

"Doug's experience with a volleyball program like UNO's will be a great asset as we join the NCAA this season," Chapman said. "His enthusiasm and knowledge of the game will enable the transition our players must make this fall much easier and smoother."

"It's always been a goal of mine to stay in Nebraska to coach and I like the atmosphere a college like Wayne State provides," Feagan said. "I like the fact that my players here are treated as student-athletes. Any impact I have as a coach stems from that standpoint."

"A head coaching position is a goal I set two years ago. I've worked very hard at it and I'm anxious to begin," Feagan said.

In addition to his coaching duties, Feagan will be on staff in Wayne State's Health, Physical Education and Recreation Division. He begins his duties immediately.

Feagan and his wife Becky have three children, Ryan, 8, Austin, 4, and Sean 19 months.

Sporting Goods finishes second

Wayne Sporting Goods captured a runner-up spot, with a 6-2 record, in the 54-team double elimination Nebraska ASA State Class B Slow Pitch Tournament conducted this past weekend in Fremont.

This is the third of "top two" finishes for Wayne Sporting Goods during the last four years. In 1985, the team took second place in Class B at Columbus. Then in 1986, Sporting Goods was runner-up in the state Class C tournament at Kearney. In 1987, the team failed to place in the Class B tournament at North Platte.

Members of the Wayne Sporting Goods team were outfielders Jeff Dion, Tod Heier, Jay Jackson, Kevin Maly and Danny Frevert; infielders Steve Overin, Brad Jones, Jere Morris, Larry Voss and Mic Daehnke; pitcher Chuck Hackenmiller; and catchers Kim Baker and Bob Faust.

The team was coached by its sponsor, Pat Garvin of Wayne.

In their first game of the 1988 Class B tournament early Saturday morning, Wayne Sporting Goods rallied from a deficit to defeat Young's by a 10-6 margin. A big seven run third inning helped get the win for Wayne, keyed by a bases-loaded triple by Kevin Maly.

Baker was a perfect 3-3 from the plate. Those with two hits were Jones, Daehnke, Jackson, Dion, Overin and Maly. Single hits were recorded by Voss, Morris and Heier.

Wayne Sporting Goods won their second of three games on Saturday by forfeit, as the team which drew a first round bye failed to make an appearance on the field.

The third Sporting Goods win came at the hands of WV Pack by a 16-1 margin. The stellar Wayne defense allowed only one run, while the offensive punch remained intact. A six run first-inning and seven run fourth-inning helped to ice the victory. Dion, who had three hits, slapped a homer in the big fourth inning. Overin also pounded three hits.

Each with two hits were Jackson, Baker and Heier, while Daehnke, Morris and Hackenmiller all laced one hit apiece.

Sunday morning, Wayne Sporting Goods gained a win over last year's Class B champion, Wahoo, by a 11-4 score. Wayne jumped to a 7-1 lead in the first inning and never looked back. Overin socked two doubles and Heier smacked a triple in the winning cause. With three hits were Jackson, Dion and Overin while Heier blasted two hits. Single hits were recorded by Jones, Baker, Maly, Morris, Voss and Hackenmiller.

It was a dramatic Wayne win against Coors of Grand Island in the second game on Sunday, which guaranteed the team at least a third place finish. Sporting Goods was down 7-0 after two innings, but tied the score with three runs in the third, three in the fourth and one in sixth. The game went into extra innings. Coors scored the go-ahead run in the top of eighth-inning and led 8-7.

However, Sporting Good's Maly and Heier poked back to back singles, Morris reached on an error and pinch-hitter Bob Faust got a base hit to knot the score at 7-7. Hackenmiller then hit his second of two doubles in the game in picking up the 9-8 win.

Maly had a perfect 4-4 performance, including a long triple. Dion had three hits and Jackson pounded two hits. Those with one hit were Jones, Overin, Baker, Heier, Morris, Voss and Faust.

Wayne's first loss came against Champions of Lincoln, which eventually became the "champions" of the state tournament. Wayne lost by a 16-0 score. Jones, who socked a triple in the contest, and Daehnke each contributed three hits. Tapping the hit column for two hits were Heier, Morris and Hackenmiller. One hit was recorded by Jackson, Dion, Baker, Maly and Voss.

Sporting Goods nailed down second place with a 15-10 win over Taco John's of Crete. After trailing 5-0 through two innings, the Wayne bats exploded with a six run third inning. Pacing the hitting attack with three hits each were Jones, Dion (who blasted two home-runs) and Hackenmiller. Two hits were recorded by Daehnke, Overin and Voss and single hits were achieved by Jackson and Morris.

In the championship game, Wayne Sporting Goods again met up with Champions and lost by a much closer margin, 10-7. Overin had two hits, both towering home runs, in the loss. Others with two hits were Jackson and Hackenmiller. Those who had one hit were Jones, Daehnke, Dion, Faust, Danny Frevert and Morris.

Wayne Sporting Goods was presented with a large trophy. They will participate in regional competition during Labor-Day weekend at Kearney.

Loans Are Just Numbers. Borrowers Are Real People.

Working with numbers is part of the lending business. But first and foremost, lending is a business of people.

A loan officer has to understand that every borrower's business is different, and that behind every loan are real people. We place a high value on getting to know each customer. That's where service starts.

Meet the people who are part of today's Farm Credit Services team, people who understand that lending is more than loans... it's people.

Letters

Vote questioned

Back in May '88, Mr. Editor, the Dixon County Supervisors said, I believe, that they would not be rushed into making decisions for their county without thinking it over and researching into this issue of radioactive waste more thoroughly. At their June meeting they voted to inform U.S. Ecology that Dixon Co. was not interested at that time in being considered for their site selection.

June, July pass — no proponent group nor individual approached the Board. NOW, on August 9, after the U.S. Ecology deadline has been extended, did the Allen Board come forward speaking on behalf of their community area? The Supervisors (who have previously stated they don't like to be rushed in making major decisions for their county) were asked to make such a decision the same day as the Allen group made their presentation, due to the fact that August 10 was the new deadline for letters of interest to be sent to U.S. Ecology.

An executive session was called and lasted less than 20 minutes. What amounts to in my opinion, as a favorable vote to open Dixon Co. for consideration as a dumpsite locale took place soon after. Then, almost immediately after the vote took place, a member of the audience happened to have an already prepared letter of interest for the Board to sign which he gave to Chm. Fleury.

What is really very interesting is that this same man is from a Wakefield governing body not the Allen Board. Plus, the Allen Board member who were present, voiced no objections that I could hear about this outsider presenting a letter for U.S. Ecology on their behalf. I believe the Board of Supervisors were also satisfied with the letter until it was brought to their attention by another Wakefield resident that their motion that was made on the issue was nowhere stated in the letter.

As a voting resident and taxpayer, I would like to have published whatever new information the Supervisors had received that made six of them readily vote in favor of Allen's request PLUS whatever, in the Supervisors' opinions, make one group's presentation and opinions so quickly favorable over another group's or individual's presentation and opinions. I believe that other residents of my county would be interested in the answers to these inquiries. I believe quite a few residents are also now very interested in what is known as one, a recall vote petition and two, write-in votes for November.

I do not begrudge the Allen's Board's efforts to try to bring new life and possible prosperity to their town nor do I want them to think that I don't want their voices heard at any meetings — I question only the timing of these incidents of the last 2 1/2 weeks considering that if U.S. Ecology's original cutoff date had been kept their efforts would have been for naught.

Kathy Potter
Dixon County Resident

Acid rain threat

Acid rain is a major, growing threat to Nebraska's sensitive lakes, forests, streams and farmlands as well as to human health. Normal rainfall has a pH level of 5.6 or higher. In 1987 several sites in Nebraska recorded rainfall with pH levels of 5.42 or less, about one and a half times more acidic than normal unpolluted rain.

Our United States Senator, David Karnes, has an opportunity to help strengthen our nation's clean air program and combat acid rain by supporting Senator George Mitchell's Clean Air Legislation, S. 1894.

To date Senator Karnes has not endorsed S. 1894. This is due in part to a massive effort by the coal industry, oil companies, auto manufacturers, chemical industry, public utilities and other polluters in congress to block passage of this Bill.

Many senators are hoping that they will not have to choose between the public which is demanding action on clean air and the pollution lobby which is pouring millions of dollars into political campaigns this year.

We must tell Senator Karnes that he cannot duck the clean air issue this year. One way this can be done is by writing or calling Senator Karnes today, urging him to support S. 1894.

by Pat Meierhenry

It's the time of year when we feast on bacon, lettuce, and tomato sandwiches and corn on the cob.

The coons have been after our corn and the Big Farmer is waging a continuous battle.

On Friday night, he put the radio on a lawn chair. By Sunday night, they were messing right by the chair, so he added a bright light. It must be working, because he keeps bringing sweet corn in.

But the whole project gave rise to the old coon stories, namely: "It's been so dry this year, one farmer saw coons carrying water to his corn!"

"When the farmer went out at midnight to check his radio, he found the coons dancing to the music!" and, finally:

"When he went out the next night to check his light, he found the mother holding it up for the little ones to find the ears!"

"We've found that zucchini is good raw, cut in strips and served with dip. Otherwise, it's just too hard to get rid of that stuff."

IN A BUSY household and they all seem to be, notes get left on the kitchen table. This week has been unusually bad around here. Just to give a sample:

"Call Wilson's, Ray is cutting their meat, and get milk."

"Call Agnes. She called at 9:20."

"John. Jessie is planning a birthday dinner for Grandma at 6:00. Since you haven't seen much of her this summer, can you go along? I'll be going at 5:30 and coming home at 7:00 as I have school board meeting at 7:30. I'm in the hay field. Ann and Rebecca are garage selling. P.S. The U-haul is rented for this weekend. Dad."

"Pat. Phyllis Thieman wants you for a speaker. I told her maybe she could reach you at the hospital tomorrow P.M. P.S. Pastor Fale is coming at 9:00 next Thursday nite, 8-18. Okay? Mike."

"Jon. Your interview is at 1:00 P.M. tomorrow. Call if there's a problem. Ann."

"7:30 p.m. me and Rebecca went to Winside. Won't be late."

"Jan Johnson called and wants to have Sue try on her dress for length Saturday morning."

"MOM KAY called and she is not coming home till Saturday noon. She wants you to call Rochelle not to plan on her till then."

"Sue called to ask how the Medicare survey went."

"Rebecca. You need to be ready to go by 10:30 or 10:45 if you're going with me, Jon."

"I don't work in the morning, so don't wake me up! Mom."

"Friday noon. I have patients to see this eve. Hope to be home by 10:00. Bacon in meat drawer; lettuce, tomatoes, corn in veg drawer; cukes in white bowl. Sheets for waterbed in dryer. Ann, will you please clean the basement? Love, Mom."

Just rewriting them makes me tired! Surely next week will be calmer (but I'm not holding my breath.)

There are 14 employees, including Richard Adkins Jr., Duane Stingley, Keith Knudsen, Jerry Schroeder, Steve Anderson, Maureen Schuster, Deloris Morten, Lynette Krie, Jan Anderson, Annette Pritchard, Sheri Krei, Sandy Crisp, Karen Harrington and Virginia Lindsay.

Bank directors are Richard Adkins Jr., Dr. Walter Chace, Richard Erwin, Duane Stingley, Keith Knudsen and Jerry Schroeder.

To show its appreciation to customers for the past 60 years, the bank is hosting a barbecue on Friday, Aug. 26, beginning at 5:30 p.m. in the Laurel city park. In the event of inclement weather, the barbecue will be held in the Laurel city auditorium.

Corn yields threatened

The amount of damage corn suffers from moisture stress depends greatly upon the stage of development it was in when the stress occurred, said Ken Hubbard, University of Nebraska-Lincoln agricultural climatologist.

Hubbard was quoted in an article written by Phil Richmond of the UNL Department of Ag Communications that was recently released to The Wayne Herald.

The stages in which corn plants develop can be divided into two broad growth periods — vegetative and reproductive — each having several developmental stages.

The most serious threat to yields due to stress occurs when the plants are pollinating, or at stage five. Stage five is when the silks emerge and pollen sheds. This is the beginning of the pollen stage and the most critical period for moisture stress.

Moisture stress during this period will interrupt pollination and result in fewer kernels on the ear. Pollen sheds about nine to 10 weeks after plant emergence.

The second most critical period occurs during the sixth and seventh stage while the kernels are developing on the ears. At this point, natural sugars in the leaves and stalks are being transferred to the ears to fill kernels. Moisture stress will reduce the amount of sugar reaching the ears, creating small kernels.

The third most critical stress period occurs during the early vegetative stages. Moisture during these stages will result in a smaller plant and subsequently less natural sugars to convert to kernels later in the plant's development.

Moisture in the final stages of development will have little effect on yields. By the time the plants have reached this stage, moisture stress only dries the kernels.

Medicines for Anxiety

Anxiety is sometimes defined as an "apprehensive uneasiness or fearful concern." Fortunately, most individuals are able to work through most periods of anxiety. However, when anxiety lingers or becomes excessive, medications referred to as antianxiety agents are sometimes prescribed.

The most commonly used antianxiety medicines are in the chemical class referred to as the benzodiazepines. About a dozen benzodiazepines (e.g. chlordiazepoxide, diazepam and triazolam) are now commercially available and widely used. The dose of benzodiazepine varies from person to person, depending on differences in metabolism and distribution rates. For some persons, the medicine may be needed for only a few weeks. For others, the length of therapy may need to be longer.

Nondrug approaches to stress and anxiety (exercise, hobbies, and job changes) are sometimes effective. When these are not possible or fully effective, physicians may prescribe an antianxiety agent. While benzodiazepines neither "cure" anxiety nor benefit all individuals equally, they are usually well tolerated when used for short periods of time.

The GOLDEN YEARS

Manning Wein of Van Nuys, California, recently won first place in a talent contest by dancing the "Polka Mazurka." The spry 86-year-old Wein says that dancing keeps him in shape for his other passion — running the 26.2-mile Los Angeles marathon in 8 hours!

Some heart-surgery candidates may be helped by a less radical procedure called catheter balloon valvuloplasty, in which a balloon is inflated in the valves to force them open. Dr. Thomas Ports of the University of California at San Francisco reports a high success rate among elderly patients.

Remember when snoods were popular during the war years 1941 through 1945? These stretchy, pouch-like hair-nets came into vogue among women factory workers to keep their hair out of the machinery, but they were also glamorous enough to be worn by movie stars such as Rita Hayworth, Susan Hayward, and Lana Turner.

"USER FRIENDLY" COMPUTER TERMS AND DEFINITIONS

What is a monitor? It is a device similar to a TV that accepts video signals from a computer and displays information on its screen. The monitor itself does no computing at all. A monochrome monitor can display only color. Monochrome monitors generally are better when working with text because they provide sharper resolution for numbers and letters than do color monitors. However, a color monitor is needed if you would like your computer to do color graphics. A monochrome monitor usually displays white, green, or amber characters on a black background. Different people have different preferences as to which arrangement is easiest on the eyes. The important thing is to get the monitor that is right for your needs. Consult with your local dealer, they are your best source for information.

Have you stopped to consider that a cup of coffee at a restaurant costs you at least 30¢ WHILE a local subscription to (The Wayne Herald) costs only 23¢ per issue?

And better yet — that copy of (The Wayne Herald) is delivered right to your door (mailbox) or (cup of coffee) while the (cup of coffee) isn't (unless you're on pretty good terms with your mailman).

And how about the price of a (1st Class postage stamp) or a (candy bar) or a local call from a (phone booth) or even a 1/2-gal. of gasoline . . . all these things — considered very much an incidental expense — still COST MORE than a single issue of (The Wayne Herald).

And need we point out (The Wayne Herald) contains so much news and photos that you will need (cups of coffee) before you're done reading it.

So 23¢ per issue is quite a bargain any way you look at it. A year's local subscription for $23 includes 100 newsy issues. And you don't have to be a smart (college graduate) to know a $23 subscription is much cheaper than paying $45 at a newsstand for the same number of issues in a year.

BONUS OFFER — As a bonus offer, each new or renewed subscription will receive a 5x7 color family portrait from Jammer Photography in Wayne ABSOLUTELY FREE. But you must act soon to take advantage of this special premium because the offer ends August 31, 1988.

RATES
In Wayne, Pierce, Cedar, Dixon, Thurston, Cuming, Stanton and Madison Counties: $23.00 per year, $20.00 for six months. In-state: $25.50 per year, $22.50 for six months. Out-state: $30.50 per year, $27.00 for six months.
