Play dates

Playwright Arthur Miller's "A View From the Bridge," called "a play of power and substance," by the New York Times, comes to life for three dramatic performances Oct. 23-25 at Wayne State College.

Performances are at 2 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 23; and 8 p.m. on Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 24-25 in Ley Theatre located in the Brandenburg Education Building at Wayne State.

"A View From the Bridge" details the violent happenings in a dockworker's family when they harbor two Sicilian cousins who have illegally entered the United States. The central character is a kindly man who has raised his orphaned niece from her early childhood.

A crisis develops when the young girl falls in love with one of the immigrants and the longshoreman finds himself trying to cope with a violent inner reaction he does not understand.

Tickets are $3 per person, or $2 for people in a group of 15 or more. Wayne State students, faculty and staff will be admitted free with the proper identification cards.

Fire safety

There can't be a better time to protect our family or loved ones with the purchase and placement of a smoke alarm than during National Fire Prevention Week Oct. 9-15.

The Nebraska Farm Bureau Womens Committee selected, as one of their 1988 priorities, a project to urge the placement of at least one smoke alarm in all rural homes as well as those in towns and cities.

They asked that readers join them in helping protect their families with smoke detectors in their homes.

Open house

The Wayne Volunteer Fire Department is also promoting the checking of smoke alarms in the home, or installing new smoke alarms if there are none there, in the Wayne community.

The Open House for the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department, during National Fire Prevention Week, is set for Saturday, Oct. 15 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Equipment will be on display and food and beverages will be served.

On the air

Wayne area resident Lyle George will be broadcasting live on Sioux City public radio station KWIT FM-90 as part of the Friends of FM-90 Fall fund raiser.

He will be on the air Friday, Oct. 14 from 8-10 p.m.

That's service!

As part of the Lions World Day of Service, the Wayne Lions Club will again be helping the elderly of Wayne who may need assistance with their fall work such as lawn raking, gutter cleaning or putting on storm windows.

This project will take place on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 15 and 16. The elderly in need should contact Stan Hansen at 375-3878 prior to Oct. 15.

School faces scheduling problem

By Chuck Hackenmiller

Managing Editor

Wayne-Carroll High School is experiencing a problem scheduling football games for next season.

That is what Athletic Director Ron Carnes told Wayne-Carroll school board members during Tuesday night's regular meeting.

"We have seven games scheduled for next year (instead of the average nine)," Carnes said.

Wayne-Carroll is a Class B school. There are few Class B schools in this part of the state," said Carnes, when explaining why scheduling games has become difficult.

"Our conference is small while others have six or eight teams," he said.

"And the Class C schools don't want to play us, because if they play us, and they lose, they are losing playoff points which determine the teams which qualify for post season play.

O'Neill and West Point, two other Class B schools, are also experiencing a scheduling problem, Carnes mentioned.

"I've advertised in Iowa, South Dakota and Nebraska. It's not a matter of having a good schedule, but a matter of just trying to find someone to play us," he said.

"Nine games is our normal schedule. We could get by with one open date. But two open dates — it's not fair to the kids to have lots of practices and no fun," Carnes said.

ALSO, CARNES asked the school board to consider the athletic facilities when contemplating future goals of the school district. As an example, he mentioned the need for additional seating capacity at the high school track south of the Wayne Elementary School. More high school track meets will be scheduled at the site this year and the field was used extensively for football games (other than varsity) this fall.

And in the spring, Carnes said the high school is planning to host a six to eight team track meet.

He also commented on the success of the student athletic trainer program (in cooperation with Wayne State College) that the high school has experienced this fall. The student athletic trainer is Roni Carr. "She is really good at what she does," he told the board.

The school board also looked into Wayne-Carroll High School Activity Training Rules and Regulations, but took no action on the proposals presented.

One change, suggested by Board President Becky Keidel, would be to change the title to Activity "Participation" Rules and Regulations so that it involves all of the school-sponsored activities.

IN OTHER action Tuesday, the school board:

— Heard a report from Rocky Ruhl on the merits of a fifth year mathematics course offered to high school students at Wayne-Carroll to prepare them for advanced placement evaluation.

This fifth year math course includes approximately a semester of general theory and techniques of

Old outfield fence to be replaced

By Chuck Hackenmiller

Managing Editor

A new outfield fence will be installed at Overin Baseball Field, thanks in part to a grant from the Kiewit Foundation.

Paul Otte, a representative of the Wayne Baseball Association, told city council members Tuesday evening that construction on the new-outfield fence could begin this fall.

During the council's regular meeting, Otte explained how the $5,115 cost in replacing the present 25-year-old wood fence would be absorbed.

The Wayne Baseball Association submitted a grant application in June, 1988 to the Kiewit Foundation, hoping to get some grant money to help with the fence replacement costs. In mid-September, the Association was informed that they would be the recipients of a $2,557 challenge grant.

A challenge grant, Otte said, requires the Association to raise the remaining costs (50 percent) of what it would take to complete the $5115 fencing project.

THAT AMOUNTS to $2,558, Otte said.

"That money has to come from contributions from the public. We have until June 30, 1989 to raise these funds," Otte said.

"We haven't determined, as of yet, how we will be raising these funds, and probably won't start the fund raising efforts until the first of the year," he said. "We may start the project this fall."

He said the Association has also not determined what type of fence to use in the outfield. Otte said preference is to go with a chain link fence (similar to the area around the backstop) because of less maintenance that would be required. The second option, he said, would be to go with another wood fence.

ALSO TUESDAY night, City Administrator Phil Kloster said plans are underway for the rehabilitation of the electrical system in the Westwood Subdivision and several other areas of Wayne.

He said that the bid letting for the projects could be late in November. Rehabilitation projects on the electrical system are also being planned for Sherman Street (from 3rd Street to 7th Street) and on 8th Street (from Sherman to Lincoln Street).

Kloster said these areas are experiencing loss and lack of control in voltage and were the areas where the first underground lines in the city of Wayne were placed.

He said that most of the work will be done by small machines. "So there won't be a lot of disruption," he mentioned.

ALSO DURING Tuesday evening's meeting, the council:

— Was told by Kloster that contrary to rumor, the city will be pumping water out of the city's new northwest well approximately seven miles northwest of Wayne. "They are in the process of pressuring it. It won't be long and the water will be coming down the pipeline," Kloster said.

Thone told of WSC funding shortages

By Chuck Hackenmiller

Managing Editor

Former Nebraska Governor Charles Thone met Monday with Wayne State College President Don Mash and Wayne State College Foundation members to be briefed about the funding shortages which Wayne State currently faces.

Mash said Thone is now a representative of the Nebraska state college system, working with the colleges and the state legislature. "He is a lobbyist for the state college system," Mash said.

Also with Thone, and assisting with the information session that took place on the Wayne State College campus, was Richard Bringelson who is executive officer of the state college system.

Mash said there has been news articles in recent months dealing with inadequate funding. What has got lost in the reporting is that "Wayne State College is second behind Kearney State College in being underfunded," Mash said.

ONE AREA where additional funding is necessary involves the college's student support services, he said. Students considered as high risk, Mash said, need a lot of support and help. High risk students are those considered deficient in academic background to succeed in college. An example of these students, he said, are those at or below the poverty level.

"There are students who are not financially well off who need a lot of support to make it," Mash said.

"And it's another thing to keep them here," he added. "They need assurances that they can make it here."

Funding for counseling, advisors and tutorial services are needed to help these students build their confidence and help them through their freshmen year.

Attention should also be directed to the needs for graduate business offerings in the region, such as the MBA (Master of Business Administration) program, Mash said.

WAYNE STATE, Mash said, serves as a catalyst for the general development of the northeast Nebraska region, through its education offerings, library services, social activities, music performances and other fine art programs. "We're simply considered a vehicle," said Mash.

"Wayne State College is not the end product. The region and the state are the end product," he said.

FORMER Governor Thone also met on Monday with past WSC president Lyle Seymour; WSC Foundation Executive Committee members including J. Alan Cramer (Foundation president), Bob Reeg, Becky Keidel and Ken Olds; Shane Giese, director of development; provost Donald Whisenhunt and Andrew Soil, financial administrator.

"We wanted former Governor Thone to obtain their perspective, too," Mash said.

Funding request lowered

By Chuck Hackenmiller

Managing Editor

The State Crime Commission review committee will recommend less than what Wayne County requested for the funding of a centralized juvenile detention facility in Wayne.

Wayne County Sheriff LeRoy Janssen said Wayne County's request before the committee's review last Friday in Lincoln was $159,377.17. The committee members, following the hearing, decided $125,000 should be recommended to the Nebraska State Crime Commission for approval.

Janssen said he was informed by letter of the review committee's recommendation. He did not attend the meeting, he said, because he said he was told it would not be necessary for him to attend.

LAST TUESDAY (Oct. 4) the Wayne County Commissioners, by a 2-1 vote, approved the request to permit Wayne County's jail to become a centralized juvenile detention facility. However, passage of the resolution was subject to the approval of the State Crime Commission for the county to receive the $159,377 in juvenile justice grant funds.

The proposal was to install the juvenile detention center at the Wayne County Jail, under the operation supervision of the Wayne County Sheriff. Other counties could contract with Wayne County and use this facility for their juveniles based upon space availability at a per diem cost

Holiday project begins

Christmas is less than 73 days away, and the city of Wayne is already in the process of decorating the town.

This past week, city crews have started installing fastening devices on several Wayne Main Street business buildings. Attached to these fastening devices will be strings of Christmas lights. Once turned on, these lights will outline the tops of the buildings.

City workers tentatively plan to have the lights in place on the buildings by the end of October. These new Christmas lights will be placed on the east side buildings from Carhart Lumber Company on South Main to Wayne Vision Center at 313 North Main. The lights will also be strung on buildings on the west side of Main Street from Trio Travel to 4th Street and Main.

Plans are to leave the lights on top of the buildings after Christmas, to be used for other promotions or occasions.

During month-long campaign

Haven House seeks community awareness

October is National Domestic Violence Awareness Month.

Haven House Family Services Center of Wayne is joining 22 other domestic violence/sexual assault programs throughout the state to enhance community awareness of these serious social problems.

"Domestic violence has been given many different names — domestic abuse, spouse abuse, spouse assault, wife beating or wife battering," says Sara Campbell, director of Haven House Family Services Center.

Campbell adds that Nebraska statutes define domestic violence as "violence committed against one person by another member of the same household."

"The abusive behavior experienced by the victim," said Campbell, "may be physical, sexual, psychological, or involve the destruction of pets and property."

REGARDLESS OF how it is defined, Campbell said domestic violence has become a problem of epidemic proportions.

Statistics indicate that half of all married women will experience at least one violent episode at some time during their married life. Ten percent of these, or 1.8 million women, will be subject to serious repeated battering.

Since 1978, Haven House Family Services Center has conducted a domestic violence/sexual assault program located in Wayne. The agency serves the five county area of Cedar, Wayne, Dixon, Dakota and Thurston.

"Haven House wants to increase the awareness that domestic violence/sexual assault is a problem in our society and that something positive can be done about it," said Campbell.

DURING THE PAST 10 years, Haven House has provided temporary and safe shelter to women in crisis and their children.

In addition, Haven House provides transportation, medical and legal advocacy, crisis support and counseling in northeast Nebraska communities. These services, along with community referrals, are all made available through the crisis line on a 24-hour basis.

Campbell stressed that dedicated volunteers make it possible to ensure that whenever a victim is ready to take the first step toward ending the violence, someone will be there to lend a hand.

"Our trained volunteers recognize the need for strict confidentiality."

HAVEN HOUSE STAFF members are available to offer programs of public awareness concerning domestic violence/sexual assault to churches, schools, civic or social organizations through films, speakers and literature.

Programs and talks can be arranged by calling Haven House Family Services Center, 375-4633.

Pumpkin
October is the big month for pumpkins, although a few are available in September and November.

The pumpkin had its original habitat in South America. The names pumpkin and squash, especially in the United States, are applied inconsistently to certain varieties of both these species. The varieties of pumpkin fruits may vary in size from 9 to 65 pounds or more and are yellowish to orange in color.

Pumpkins are grown in the United States, Great Britain and Europe for human food and livestock feed, and take approximately 100 to 120 days to raise. In Europe, it is mainly served as a vegetable, in the United States in pies and soups, but it may be used interchangeably with winter squashes in various dishes.

CONSIDER THE following factors when working with pumpkins this fall. Nutritive value — The pulp of the pumpkin is a good source of vitamin A and potassium and the peels or roasted edible pumpkin seeds are high in poly and mono unsaturated fats. There are 81 calories per cup.

Selection — Pumpkins should be fully ripe with firm rinds, bright orange color and fairly heavy weight.

Storage — Pumpkins should be stored in a cool dry place away from frost danger.

Preservation — Pumpkins can be canned or frozen. For canned pumpkin, steam or bake pieces of fully ripe pumpkin. Scoop out pulp and put through a sieve or food mill. Pour into hot jars leaving one inch head space. Adjust lids and process in pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure, pints 55 minutes, quarts 1 hour and 30 minutes. For frozen pumpkin, cook and sieve as in canning. Cool pumpkin in shallow pan. Pack into freezer container leaving 1/2 inch head space. Seal and freeze.

Preparation — Fresh pumpkin may be baked, boiled, steamed or pressure cooked for immediate use. A very small amount of water is recommended for boiling since pumpkin is high in water content.

PUMPKIN CAN be used as a vegetable in combination with other vegetables, in puddings, breads, muffins, pies, cookies or cakes. Pumpkin can be substituted for squash (orange variety) in recipes in your collection.

Pumpkin pie is a favorite of many people. Speed your pumpkin pie to the table with a combination of microwave and conventional oven baking.

2 eggs	1/4 tsp. ground ginger
3/4 cup brown sugar	1/8 tsp. ground cloves
1 Tbsp. flour	1 can (15 oz.) pumpkin
1 tsp. cinnamon	1 can (12 oz.) evaporated milk
1/2 tsp. salt	9-inch unbaked pastry shell
1/2 tsp. nutmeg

Combine all ingredients except pastry shell, beat until smooth. Pour into unbaked pastry shell (use a glass pie plate).

Microwave on high power, uncovered, 7 to 8 minutes or until filling is set around edge, rotating pie once or twice. Meanwhile, preheat oven to 450 degrees F.

Bake 15-20 minutes in conventional oven until knife inserted near center comes out clean.

Clarification on Toys for Tots article

Last Monday The Wayne Herald reported on the Toys for Tots program from information gathered through a Goldenrod Hills Community Action Agency news release.

Gene Dunklau of Wayne, a representative of Goldenrod Hills, wanted the following information (which appeared in the news release from Goldenrod Hills) to be clarified.

"Wayne County is not in great need of outside help this year. The Wayne area has certainly been doing a wonderful job with the Toys for Tots program and has, in the past, done more than its share," Dunklau said. "Goldenrod Hills is very grateful for the interest shown in the Wayne area."

"This area is only being asked for donations for the scholarship because students coming to Wayne State will benefit area businesses," she said.

She said Goldenrod Hills would like to apologize if the article printed in Monday's edition led anyone to believe that Goldenrod Hills was not appreciated in the Wayne area.

"Thank you for your tremendous support," she said.

VonSeggern Day set for Sunday

A "Ron VonSeggern Day" has been scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 16 in Wayne, coordinated and sponsored by St. Mary's Parish of Wayne.

After a reoccurrence of Hodgkin's Disease had been detected in February of this year, Ron entered Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minnesota in May for a bone marrow harvest and other related treatments.

On Aug. 10, he returned to the Mayo Clinic for a week of significant chemotherapy and radiation treatments followed by the bone marrow transplant.

Numerous expenses have been incurred by the VonSeggers as a result of past and recent hospitalization and other costs.

St. Mary's Parish is coordinating and sponsoring the "Ron VonSeggern Day" event. However, other organizations or churches who would like to assist can do so by contacting the chairpeople of the various activities planned for the special day.

Some of the festivities being planned for Oct. 16, along with the contact person for the event, are as follows:

- Pancake breakfast from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the city auditorium, sponsored by Wayne County Lutheran Brotherhood Branch No. 8212, who will match the free will offerings made at the breakfast.
- A sizeable bake sale at the city auditorium, sponsored by St. Mary's School of Wayne.
- Trap Shoot, sponsored by Logan Valley Gun Club from 2 p.m. at the Wayne County Fairgrounds. Contact Bill Wilson or Dick DeNaeyer.

- Pork Barbecue from 4.7 p.m. at the city auditorium, with free will donations being accepted.
- A square dance from 8 p.m. to 10:30 p.m., sponsored by the Leather and Lace Square Dance Club. Contact Dick or Becky Keidel in Wayne for further information.
- On Saturday, Oct. 15, Wayne-Carroll students will sponsor a car wash at the Dairy Queen in Wayne, with proceeds going to the Ron VonSeggern fund.

Donations will be accepted for the "Ron VonSeggern Day" project at both the State National Bank and Trust and the First National Bank, both in Wayne.

to be established by the county commissioners.

Wayne County's adult prisoners would then be transferred to nearby county jails. After Dec. 8, a law that eliminates the jailing of juveniles in adult jails will go into effect. Counties have the option of establishing separate juvenile detention facilities or going with the central location proposal.

JANSSEN EXPRESSED disappointment that the entire grant request will not be recommended to the crime commission. A meeting of the joint board, consisting of representatives from counties who have agreed to send their juveniles to the Wayne County jail facility, will be scheduled to decide on the next step.

He said the centralized jail concept could still operate on $125,000 rather than $159,327. But such programs, such as mental evaluations or physicals which would have been covered in the grant request, would either have to be eliminated or furnished by the county that is supplying the prisoner, Janssen mentioned.

"If a county wants these things done, they are going to have to hire their own people to do it," Janssen said.

Other options would be to raise the per diem costs per county or increase the county's base cost to participate in the centralized juvenile detention facility program.

The State Crime Commission will act on the review committee's recommendation on Friday, Oct. 28 in Lincoln. No public testimony will be taken prior to this action, according to Janssen.

Puttin' up with Pete

by Kevin Peterson

This column is dedicated to two different Wayne high sport teams, the football squad and the girls golf team. First the football squad. Eating crow has never been one of my top ten favorite things to do. However, there does come a time when you are in a situation where you can't do anything but.

Last week the Crystal Ball (written and predicted by yours truly,) picked Wayne to lose to LeMars. Now in order for me to save some face, I have to admit that when I made the prediction I was going on the basis of Wayne's woeful record against the bigger school from Iowa.

However, the mighty devils showed great determination and inspiration to win the football game to erase some of the bad memories of the past when the two teams collided.

The end result was a Blue Devil victory of four points. But I was the one who predicted a Wayne loss for the first time this season. Following the contest while I was preparing for my usual 10 p.m. to 3 a.m. Friday night shift with all the area football schools reporting to me, my editorial boss Chuck Hackenmiller heard a rap on the door.

Usually we don't think anything about the knocking on the door since it is Friday night and people are coming and going to frequent the local bars. However, this rap was persistent and finally Chuck went to open the door.

I meanwhile, was in the middle shop preparing to lay out some of the already written copy for the weekend edition. All at once I heard Chuck's voice saying, "Kevin, you better come out here."

As I stepped through the door, I met a gleaming Lonnie Ehrhardt with one hand behind his back. Oh great I thought, he's here to rub it in! Lonnie took one look at me and the already grin he was bearing got even wilder.

He then began saying that the guys on the team noticed that I had predicted a Wayne loss and that they had gotten together after the contest to prepare a little something for me.

Strange thoughts began racing through my mind. Oh great he's going to give me a letter bomb! Or better yet, somebody sliced all my tires!

Well, it wasn't nearly as bad as I thought. In fact, when Ehrhardt pulled out the game ball from behind his back and presented it to me, it had all the signatures of the football players written on it.

WHAT A CLASS ACT! Ehrhardt should be proud of his team. Wayne knew going into the LeMars contest, that it would be no cake walk. But that didn't matter. Wayne high has something a lot of teams suffer from, a lot of heart and the desire to over achieve.

Whether my picking of Wayne to lose to LeMars in any way motivated the Blue Devils to victory, I don't know, but this is one ball I never intend to lose. (By the way, since I have never really said who writes the Crystal Ball, how did these guys know?)

Good Luck Ladies

The Wayne golf team will embark on the 1988 State Golf Tournament in Lincoln today, in hopes of capturing the annual event for the elite.

Wayne has been led all year by Holly Paige. Paige has golfed very consistently and seems to golf better with the pressure on, like at districts against last year's state runner up medalist Becky Vinton of Blair.

Paige was district medalist this year with a six stroke advantage of Vinton. Ann Perry has also played a vital role in Wayne's success. Perry placed third at the state competition last year and is looking to improve upon that.

Jill Jordan, Cher Reeg and Jessica Rothfuss may perhaps be the most important link between Wayne doing well at the state tournament or doing great at the state tournament.

Any and all of these three golfers have the potential to put together some fantastic rounds. If that happens — well lets just say if everything falls into place, we'll see Wayne at the top.

Spikers drop match to Cedar

Wayne high's five game winning streak came to a halt Tuesday night as Hartington Cedar Catholic defeated the local volleyball squad in three sets, 17-15, 10-15, 0-15.

Wayne found themselves in a hole quickly as the host team got up 9-2 in the first set. Wayne however bounced back to win the opening set 17-15.

In the second set the Blue Devils were the ones who quickly jumped out to a 6-1 lead. This time the roles were reversed as Cedar fought back to outscore Wayne 14-4 to win the second set.

Wayne never really found themselves in the contest after that as Cedar rolled to a shutout in the third and deciding set.

"We just totally fell apart in the third set," coach Marlene Uhing said. "There isn't any excuse. The crowd definitely wasn't a factor because we had a lot of support from people who made the trip."

Uhing felt that Cedar deserved a lot of credit though, as they too found themselves struggling, but found a way to win the match.

Wisnerite captures contest

LaMont Keller of Wisner won the Wayne Herald football contest last week edging three other contestants, all of which missed only one game.

Keller edged Wayne resident Jason Ehrhardt by way of tie breaker for the first place prize. Others missing only one game include Jason Johs and Darrell Bailey, both of Wayne.

For the first time in several weeks, there has been no tie game amidst the selections. The four contestants missing just one game apiece, combined to miss four separate games.

Keller's only miss was picking Ohio State over Indiana. Ehrhardt picked Brown to upend Pennsylvania while Johs felt Laurel would upset Bloomfield. Bailey's only miss came by way of Wayne's victory over LeMars.

The game between Fort Hays State and Wayne State came into play on the tie breaker. The two teams combined for 550 total yards. Keller was only 38 yards off the tie breaker, thus earning top prize.

Ehrhardt edged the third place contestant by 43 yards for runner up honors. Good Luck everybody in this weeks contest!

"Cedar has got good tradition of winning volleyball matches," Uhing said. "We knew that Cedar was a good ball club because they have been ranked all year. But we try to play at a steady pace, not getting overly pumped up, because then you can find yourself falling harder."

In the third set, Wayne let one Cedar server—score 13 points. "We allowed 11 serving aces," Uhing said. "That is entirely too many." Uhing hopes that the contest with Cedar will aid her ball club farther down the road.

Dana Nelson led the team in passing despite a less than appealing team percentage. Kristy Hansen was the most successful Blue Devil in serving with a 14 of 14 performance with a pair of aces and nine points.

Karmyn Koenig was singled out by Uhing as having a really solid night at the net with six blocks and four kills. Meanwhile Teresa Ellis had three kill spikes.

Hansen and Ellis combined for 10 setting assists with Hansen recording seven of them. "This was a good match for our team to be in," Uhing said. "We had chances to win the match in two sets but we didn't."

Wayne will now host the conference meet next Thursday beginning at 5 p.m.

The junior varsity team lost 7-15, 5-15 with Rachel Haase scoring four points, while the "C" team lost 11-15, 9-15 with Stephanie Kloster scoring nine points.

Homecoming looks rosy

The Crystal Ball made good on six of nine legitimate games last week. The tenth game, Winside at Wynot never even took place as I jumped the gun. Winside played at Newcastle and they play Wynot this Friday in a homecoming contest.

At any rate, the season record stands at 24-10 for a winning percentage of 70 percent.

Wayne 16, Battle Creek 14 — Call me gun shy if you will, but I don't dare pick against the 4-2 Blue Devils. Wayne's defense is continually impressive and the offense will score twice on the visitors, as Wayne celebrates homecoming.

Winside 38, Wynot 16 — I have had an extra week to ponder this game and with Winside celebrating homecoming, the fans will be in for a treat as the Wildcats win their fifth game of the season.

Wakefield 24, Walthill 12 — Wakefield's defense—led by John Wriedt, is among the best in the area in any class. Wakefield's defense fires up their offense. The win by Wakefield guarantees sole possession of first place in the conference for the Trojans.

Allen 36, Winnebago 12 — Allen is finally through the toughest part of its schedule. Look for Mike Busselmann's squad to come out on top at Winnebago.

Laurel 24, Neligh 16 — The Bears are looking for its second win of the season. They will get it as Neligh has suffered through to this part of the season.

Other Games: Nebraska 35, Oklahoma State 27; Miami 31, Notre Dame 17; Penn State 27, Syracuse 20; Tennessee 23, Alabama 20; USC 31, Washington 14; UCLA 48, California 21.

Laurel puts pressure on rated Bloomfield

The Laurel Bears were not overly excited about playing the number six rated team in its class Friday night in Bloomfield. However, coach Tom Luxford is beginning to see some light at the end of the tunnel in this his first season at the helm.

Bloomfield won the contest, but not by the score many thought it would be. The 20-6 count made for an interesting game.

Laurel took the opening kickoff and drove the length of the football field before facing a fourth down and 10 play from the Bloomfield 18 yard line. The ensuing pass was intercepted and Bloomfield took over.

Bloomfield then went 15 plays and the length of the field for a touchdown to lead 6-0 at the quarters end. The second quarter saw a lot of ball control by both offensive squads but neither team could click it in the endzone, thus ending the half with the same 6-0 count.

Laurel held Bloomfield on its first series in the second half and on Laurel's first play from scrimmage following a punt, they fumbled, giving Bloomfield excellent field position to set up shop for the second time in the third period.

Bloomfield made good on the opportunity as they faced a fourth down and goal play from the Laurel nine yard line. They connected on the touchdown play with their backs to the wall making the score 14-0.

Following another Laurel turnover in the fourth quarter Bloomfield scored its third touchdown making the score 20-0. Laurel then took the kickoff and put together a successful drive of only three plays culminating in an 18 yard run by Chad Vancleave.

"For the first time this season we started a different quarterback," Luxford said. "We moved Doug Manz from quarterback to tight end and put Todd Erwin in the control seat."

Luxford still believes that his squad, now 1-4, is improving, but inexperience will cost him some opportunities as they already have done this season.

"When you have inexperience on your team and you suffer a couple of turnovers you tend to let up a little bit," Luxford said. "You don't mean too and sometimes you don't even realize it, but it happens."

Luxford feels that Todd Erwin is the quarterback of the future for the Bears and he decided to give the youngster his first shot against a quality Bloomfield team.

This weekend the Bears' travel to Neligh. Neligh sports a 2-4 record and the Bears have confidence that they can get their second victory of the season.

Wayne jr's down West Point 7-6

The Blue Devil junior varsity squad upped its record to a perfect 4-0 on the season with a 7-6 victory over West Point Monday evening.

The game was totally dominated by ball control offense with Wayne scoring in the opening quarter on a five yard run by Chris Frederickson. The touchdown followed a long sustained drive by the Blue Devils.

West Point scored its lone touchdown in the third quarter, but the two point conversion attempt failed.

The game was highlighted by quality defense by both squads. Coach Ron Carnes singled out Matt Bruggeman, Dan Wiseman and Rusty Hamer as having solid defensive outputs.

The Blue Devil junior varsity squad will close out its season on Monday in a home contest with Pierce. The game is slated for 5 p.m. at the practice field.

Geiger wins conference

Tammy Geiger highlighted Wayne's cross country conference meet last Friday. Geiger placed first in the three team conference meet with a 16:54 clocking on the course. Geiger was 13 seconds ahead of runner up Misti Johnston of O'Neill.

"I was extremely pleased with the way the top three Wayne runners finished," coach Rocky Ruhl stated. "All three ran their best times of the season and the highlight was Todd Fuelberth who had never broken the 19 minute barrier until the conference meet when he ran to an 18:20 time."

Blue Devil harriers Sherri Wortman and Edith Janke placed seventh and eighth respectively. On the boys varsity side of the coin, Wayne placed third among the three teams, but the story line was that the majority of the runners ran their best times of the season which means they are peaking at the right time.

Wayne will now turn its attention to Saturday's district meet in Columbus. The top three teams qualify for the state meet while the top 10 individuals also qualify.

Shane Geiger, Rob Sweetland and Todd Fuelberth finished seventh, eighth and ninth respectively to head the Blue Devil attack. The threesome were separated by a mere five seconds with Geiger edging Sweetland by one tick of the clock and Fuelberth coming in four seconds later.

Wayne's junior varsity cross country squad won the conference meet against the other two squads of South Sioux and O'Neill. Incidentally, South Sioux won the varsity meet.

Mike DeNaeyer and Ben Wilson placed second and third respectively for the locals while Aaron Wilson came across the finish line in seventh place.

Steve Dinsmore, Troy Frey, Jason Johs and Brian Lentz finished eighth through eleventh respectively.

Wayne State loses 31-12

Fort Hays spoils homecoming

Fort Hays State took advantage of a 17 point second quarter burst to leave Wayne State as the only winless team in the CSIC. Coming into the contest Fort Hays had yet to win a game this season, but having tied the nation's best team of a year ago in Cameron, Oklahoma.

quarter with Wayne State trailing 24-6.

Fort Hays scored first in the second half as Tyrone Tracy was on the receiving end of a 36 yard pass from Kelly Vigil. Wayne State's final score came in the fourth period on an 11 yard pass from Scott Raue to Daryl Mountain.

The highlight of Wayne State's day was the return of Damon Ross as the running back slot. Ross was out for several weeks following a shoulder separation during Wayne State's opening contest loss to UNO.

Ross led the Wildcat rushing attack with 37 yards on 18 carries. The Wildcats ran into problems though when they dropped back to pass. Scott Raue was sacked four times for 48 yards in losses. Raue threw for 52 yards while backup Kirk Meyer threw for 45 yards.

Pat Wordkemper was the favorite target for both quarterbacks as he caught four passes for 47 yards. Brian Jepsen caught three.

Defensively the Wildcats were led by Cordell Gregory's 11 tackles. Gregory also intercepted a pass and had two quarterback sacks. Chris Matzen, Rony Woodard and Mark Wolf all followed with eight tackles apiece.

Wayne State's offense was virtually controlled by the Fort Hays defense. Wayne State could only muster 149 total yards on the homecoming afternoon.

Fort Hays meanwhile, maintained a balanced attack with 215 yards rushing and 186 passing, for a total of 401 yards.

Fort Hays scored with 8:53 remaining in the first quarter on a Karry Henderson 26 yard run. Henderson offset that score with a 16 yard run in the second quarter with still 13 minutes remaining before intermission.

Walt Burton then hit paydirt from six yards out giving the Tigers a 21-0 cushion. Wayne State's defense provided the first score of the afternoon for the Wildcats. Bud Sachs returned a blocked punt 22 yards for the touchdown in the second period with 1:42 left in the quarter.

DAMON ROSS cuts up field during Wayne State's game with Fort Hays State Saturday. It was Ross' first game back after a shoulder separation in Wayne State's opener at UNO.

WSC improves to 20-18

The Wayne State Wildcats volleyball team ended last week with a 4-2 record. The victories came over Chadron State, Concordia, Northwestern and Morningside. The Lady Wildcats lost to Mount Marty and Briar Cliff and now stand at 20-18 on the year.

With the two victories over Chadron State and Concordia, Wayne State is now 7-7 against District 11 opponents. That record is part of the calculations used for determining qualifiers for the playoffs in early November.

The Wildcats have now played 117 games this season in the 38 matches. Bev Moeller currently leads the team in assists per game while senior Meg Hurley leads the squad in passing percentage, digs and spikes per outing.

Shelly Pick leads the Wildcats in blocks and has an average equal to Hurley in spikes per outing. Teammate Kristi Bateman also shares part of the lead in spikes, while Tanya Gappa leads the squad in serving.

Wayne State travels to Pittsburg, Kan. to play in the second round of the Central States Intercollegiate Conference tournament on Friday and Saturday afternoon, October 21 and 22.

Wayne State finished only 1-6 in the first round hosted by the Wildcats, defeating Pittsburg State.

The GOLDEN YEARS

Every year about one of three people over 65 suffer a fall, but in many cases it doesn't have to happen. Falls are not caused by "age," but by physical, psychological or environmental factors, says Rein Tideiskaar, Ph.D., of the Falls and Immobility Program of New York's Mount Sinai Medical Center. The National Institute on Aging offers these tips on how to avoid falls: Get up slowly from a sitting or lying position if you tend to become dizzy when arising too quickly. Use grab bars and nonskid mats in bathtubs. Illuminate stairways, use nightlights and remove throw rugs that can slide.

Life expectancy has increased more in this century than in any other period of history. The National Center for Health Statistics estimates an average life span of 47 years for Americans born in 1900, and 75 years for those born in the mid-1980s. Other sources put the life span of Neanderthal man at less than 30 years, and that of Greek and Roman man at about 36 years.

Remember When? May 29, 1953, Edmond Hillary, a New Zealand beekeeper, and Tensing Norkay, a guide, became the first to climb to the peak of Mount Everest.

All it took was once for me to decide I'd never chew tobacco. At the time, I was about seven or eight years old. My dad had the neighborhood crew over for silo filling. One, or possibly several, of them carried their own pouch of chewing tobacco. Others had their containers of Prince Albert tobacco to roll their own cigarettes.

This one fellow saw me staring at him as he removed some chewing tobacco from the pouch and place the substance into the corners of his mouth. He walked over and asked if I'd like to give it a try.

Curious as I was, this temptation was too good to pass up. He handed me a pinch and told me to put it into my mouth.

And that's all he told me. He didn't tell me that it would taste so awful. He didn't say anything about what to do with it once it enters the mouth. And what's worse, he never told me that I wasn't suppose to swallow it!

That's what eventually happened, and I got sick of the stuff right jolly on the spot. And the fellow who gave me it sure got a laugh.

Which brings me to the point of this column. Ralph Barclay, exercise physiologist and coach at Wayne State, recently had an article about the dangers of snuff (used by student-athletes) in the national NCAA News.

He studied a sample of 448 students at Wayne State. Forty-one percent of the population in the study used some form of nicotine. Both snuff users and cigarette smokers had an average blood pressure that was higher than the non-user.

Of the 350 males in the study, 33 percent used snuff, 12 percent smoked and the remaining 55 percent used no form of nicotine.

The average systolic pressure of the snuff user (130) was eight points higher than the non-user. Snuff users also had a higher diastolic pressure (84), an average of four points higher.

Of the total 448 students surveyed, 166 were athletes. Thirty-three percent of the athletes (all males) used snuff. Their average blood pressure (135/84) was higher than the average for male snuff users as a whole and nearly as high as the average for male smokers (138/86).

Barclay said the survey appears to indicate that nicotine in all forms does indeed raise blood pressure and that the greater the quantity of nicotine, the higher the pressure.

The tell-tale snuff ring seen on the jean pockets of students from eighth grade through college fakes on new meaning, he says. He added that this prevalent habit is taxing the cardiovascular system of its users.

People should be careful on the highways this time of year. Especially be on the lookout for people driving combines or tractors that are hauling grain.

Most of this equipment should bear slow moving vehicle signs. However, sometimes an individual can go over the hills too fast and come right up on the farm vehicles and find it too late to stop, particularly on the gravelled roads.

Other things to watch for, from dusk on into early morning hours, are deer.

This past weekend my wife, son and I traveled to Mound City, Missouri to see some relatives. There is a game preserve nearby where deer run rampant and accidents involving the animals are very commonplace.

Devices they have tried using to cut down on the accidents are chest-high lighted poles along the ditches. When confronted with headlights, the poles reflect bright lights which head the deer off in another direction.

However, this still hasn't kept the deer population from crossing the highways. We saw deer at dusk in cornfields — one standing right on the road staring at us.

Around this area, people can buy a small item that can be placed on vehicles which sound a whistle to scare off the deer. The human ears cannot hear the whistle.

But if sure sounds terrible if you're a deer.

Bridge the gap

On Aug. 23 and 24 I had the distinct pleasure of visiting northeast Nebraska at the invitation of the Cooperative Extension Service Boards of Cedar, Knox, Pierce and Wayne counties. These Boards wanted to offer urban senators the opportunity to be better acquainted with rural Nebraska. Although I understand over twenty senators were invited, only two of us were able to accept this invitation.

I want to thank the Extension Boards for the invitation, and I want to particularly thank Irvin and Barbara Arens of Randolph for hosting me during my stay. I haven't forgotten their hospitality or the many fine people I met. This experience had quite an impact on me. I'd like to make a number of observations from my visit.

First, although there has been a great deal of disagreement as to whether or not we need a North-South Expressway in Nebraska and if an Expressway is built where it should be located, there should be complete agreement on the need for extensive improvements for our roads in northeast Nebraska. Although there are some fine stretches of road in various places, overall I would rate our northeast Nebraska roads to be in mediocre condition. I believe maintaining and improving our roads should be a top priority. Good roads are important to economic development. Additional investment needs to be made in this area.

Second, although there are occasional differences in opinion between urban and rural perspectives on some issues, I believe there is much more that we have in common than which divides us.

For instance, although my legislative district is urban, I have in my background substantial rural ties. I was born in David City and my family farmed in Butler County. When I was young we moved to Lincoln, however, I frequently visited my uncles, aunts, and cousins who continued to farm in Butler and Saunders counties. I hold many fond farm memories from my youth, and as a result I look forward to my visits to farms.

Many urban Nebraskans have somewhat similar ties to rural Nebraska. Perhaps they are originally from the farm or have relatives still farming. In contrast to Nebraska's indirect if not direct ties to rural interests, on the national level we're vastly outnumbered by truly urban interests.

Third, I attended the field day at UNL's Northeast Research and Extension Center located in Dixon County. I was interested in the presentations I heard. The information presented seemed to be common sense and very helpful.

Fourth, Irvin Arens spent most of an afternoon showing me his farm operation and those of his neighbors and other family members. I was encouraged by the resilience of Mr. Arens' attitude. That farming always has its ups and downs and if it hits bottom, it bounces back up. I was so pleased to see how Mr. Arens had worked with three of his sons to help them enter farming. Still it is very disappointing to see how many fewer family farmers there are working a particular area of land today compared to years past. Where once there were many farm families, now there are few. The loss of family farmers has had a very adverse impact on small rural communities. The state needs to address the economic development needs of these rural areas much more aggressively than has been the case in the past. Although I and others have introduced legislation to try to act on this issue, little progress has been made.

Fifth, the business of farming has become a much more sophisticated operation. Working the markets. Analyzing crop and livestock needs. Understanding federal farm programs. It became obvious that not only must farmers work hard, they must be tough and talented businessmen to be successful as well. I was impressed for instance by various pork producers who have formed cooperatives to farrow out pigs. People like Duane Mlady in Bloomfield have developed the hog farrowing business to a much higher level of sophistication. They've turned it into a finely tuned factory, producing pigs in a much more efficient fashion together in a cooperative than could have ever been attained individually.

Sixth, as I spoke with a number of Mr. and Mrs. Arens' friends and family, I learned quickly that the people of the area care about what is happening in Lincoln and across our state and nation. The people I met during my stay were extraordinarily friendly and very perceptive.

What did I think of northeast Nebraska? Impressed? You bet I am. The people I met during my visit were industrious, hard-working and imaginative.

Do we need to bridge the gap between urban and rural interests? Well, it's more like we need to take the time to walk down the road and get to know our neighbors better. The love of God, family and country are all here. Concern for the future, our children and natural resources are here as well. We're not so different, we just happen to live in different places. Northeast Nebraska, you've got a lot going for you. It was a pleasure to get to know you better.

Don Wesely
State Senator

Outraged on statement

I am outraged by the number of false statements and scare tactics the Republican incumbents have been using during the 1988 election to mislead voters. They seem to be increasing in number.

Bush, Karnes and Bereuter continue to state that the higher sales prices we are receiving for corn, soybeans, wheat, etc., are a result of the 1985 Farm Bill. The truth of the matter is that the higher, profitable income the farmers are receiving is because of the drought of 1988, NOT the 1985 Farm Bill. The 1985 Farm Bill lowers, not raises, commodity prices. In fact, partly because of the 1985 Farm Bill and other farm policies endorsed by Bush, Karnes, and Bereuter, Nebraska has lost 10,000 family farmers since 1980. These farmers left the land, not because they retired, not because they were poor managers; they left the land because low prices made it impossible to earn a profit. Thus, farm policies Bush, Karnes and Bereuter endorse, give farmers' an income that is far less than the cost of production.

The 1985 Farm Bill set 4 goals. The bill was to achieve: 1) Higher income for farmers, 2) increase exports, 3) decrease surplus and 4) lower government costs.

I say that it has failed in all areas. The surplus is larger today than before the '85' bill took effect. Billions more have been spent on the farm program than was estimated. The quantity of bushels exported did increase somewhat but the monetary return from sales is far less because of lower price per bushel. These statements can be verified with USDA records.

Karnes and Bereuter continue to attack another farm bill proposed in 1985. They say it called for a 50% set-aside of program crops. That is an out-n-out lie! The studies conducted by the economists at two Universities in Iowa and Missouri indicate set-aside would be less than half the amount stated by Bereuter and Karnes. The Congressional Budget Office suggested that the same program would cost tax payers far less than the 1985 Farm Bill or any other idea proposed.

Karnes and Bereuter support decoupling. The only ones benefiting from such a program are the huge corporate conglomerates involved in agriculture. The Nebraska wheat growers released a study on decoupling and the effect to agriculture and rural America. This study implies that wheat farmers in Nebraska would lose 200 million dollars if we follow decoupling policy. I suggest corn and sorghum growers would lose even more. Decoupling would be a disaster for family farms, small business and rural communities.

During the past eight years family farms, small businesses, and banks were forced to close at an alarming rate. Bush, Karnes and Bereuter want to follow the policies causing this devastation in rural America. I believe we need new leadership representing new ideas, advocating supply management programs favorable to family farms, small business and rural communities. In this way rural America will once again flourish and prosper.

Vahlkamps receive harvest assistance

Many friends and relatives of Gertrude Vahlkamp combined neighborly goodwill with hard work last Monday as they harvested over 100 acres of soybeans on the Edwin Vahlkamp and Walter Vahlkamp property six miles south and 4 1/2 miles east of Wayne. Edwin Vahlkamp died on Sept. 29.

Many helped out by providing harvesting equipment and preparing food for the hungry workers.

Those supplying the combines were Warren Baird, Gerald Kniesche, Werner Mann, Vernon Godbersen and Fred Vahlkamp.

Others who provided tractors, wagons and trucks to help with the hauling of the soybeans were Bob Holtgrew, Nels Nelsen, Albert Jaeger, Arland Aurich, Randall Bargstadt, Carol Bauermeister, Larry Meyer, Stan Soden, Julius Eckert, Carl Berg (who chaired the event), Alvin Temme and Neyron Woodward.

Food stamp changes made

New food stamp eligibility standards designed to keep pace with inflation became effective Oct. 1. The annual inflation adjustment by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) will result in increased food stamps allotments for most eligible households, according to the Nebraska Department of Social Services which administers the Food Stamp program in Nebraska.

Kermif McMurry, Director of the Department of Social Services, stressed that the increase was necessary to "allow the purchasing power of food stamp recipients to keep pace with inflation."

An expansion of the maximum dependent allowance from $160 per household to $160 per dependent for certain food stamp households was also announced. This change by Congress was mandated by a provision of the Hunger Prevention Act of 1988. The dependent care allowance is intended to help certain food stamp households, particularly working households, who have one or more dependent children or adults who require care. The change in the dependent allowance also became effective Oct. 1.

Understanding Nuclear Technology

THIS IS LOW-LEVEL RADIOACTIVE WASTE.

What is it?

Low-level radioactive waste includes such items as paper products, protective gloves and clothing, medical materials, hand tools, rags, certain filters, resins and other items containing radioactivity. They come from nuclear power plants, hospitals, medical facilities, research centers, universities and industrial operations.

Although the levels of radioactivity may be very low, these items must be disposed of properly.

Low-Level Radiation

People have been exposed to radiation since the beginning of time. Today, most radiation exposure still comes from natural sources such as the sun, the earth and the air we breathe. Of the total radiation the average citizen receives each year, less than 1% results from nuclear power sources. Other man-made radiation sources include consumer goods such as color television sets, some home smoke detectors and certain luminous clocks and watches.

Disposal Facility

Nebraska law requires that the low-level radioactive waste disposal facility shall be designed, constructed and operated "based on zero-release objectives that will protect the public health and environment with an adequate margin of safety."

The safe disposal of low-level radioactive waste is every Nebraskan's responsibility.

The Farmer's Wife

by Pat McElhenry

I am a born procrastinator. Make that Procrastinator with a capitol P. I already have to hand-deliver this column to Wayne because there is no mail on Monday and I didn't get this mailed on Saturday.
I've thought about the blamed thing all day and now have run out of other jobs to be done today, so may as well put pen to paper and see what happens.
The Big Farmer and I went to Vermillion to see the newlyweds yesterday. We ate chili and visited the USD campus bookstore and admired the antics of Bearcat, their black furry kitten.
This morning was Sunday School and church and a nap after dinner. Then I read an old Saturday Evening Post and took a walk.
It did freeze a couple of nights this week, but has warmed up again. In fact, we are enjoying beautiful fall weather. And it would be a shame to miss it.

Then it was time for supper. Since there are a few tomatoes left, we had BLT's. They are almost my favorite sandwich, second only to Reubens.
Then I wrote some cards. And opened some fourth-class mail that had piled up. A book of raffle tickets from the Easter Seal Society, a letter from Dave Karnes, and two from Mayo Clinic. One touting their health letter; the other, their nutrition letter. I already know what to do to stay healthy, I just need to quit procrastinating and do it!
SO, WHILE I was thinking of health, I flossed my teeth. My last dental appointment was long overdue; and this fellow with shining capped teeth sits down in front of me and says "Do you want to keep your teeth?" He then proceeds to give me a lecture on the importance of flossing.

I hate to floss. My teeth are uneven, and the darned string keeps catching. But I'm trying to get in the habit anyway.
Then the dryer buzzer went off, and I had a basket of clothes to fold.
I heard a speaker on the subject of procrastination last week. She says to set a timer for five minutes, and work at the task until it goes off. Usually, she claims, we will then keep at it.
She also suggested exchanging goals with a person in the group and agree to call and check on each other on a certain date.
She claims she's had people stop smoking using this technique. I told a gal from David City I would clean the spare bedroom by Oct. 15. I don't think I'm going to make it.
But I did get this column written. Now I can shut off the timer.

How to Cope with Medicine Side Effects

The list of side effects that can result from the use of prescription and nonprescription medicines is extensive. Some of the more commonly reported side effects that are not life-threatening include blurred vision, dizziness, dry mouth, fluid retention, headache, itching, breathing difficulties, and gastrointestinal problems such as diarrhea, nausea, and vomiting.

If a medicine is necessary for your health problem, you can often learn to cope with potential side effects. For example, if the medicine causes fluid retention, consider a low-salt diet -- avoid adding salt to prepared foods. If the medicine causes mild palpitations in the chest, avoid excessive stress, caffeinated beverages, cigarettes and alcohol. Minimize dry mouth or dry throat side effects by chewing gum or sucking ice chips. If you experience an upset stomach after taking certain medicines, check to see if the medicine can be taken with food or milk with no loss of effectiveness.

It is sometimes possible to minimize or avoid side effects by switching to other medicines or by using a nondrug approach to health problems. Check with us if you have questions about potential side effects of any of the medicines you are taking.

Langenberg tabbed oldest farmer

DON AND DORRINE Liedman present a special poster to George Langenberg (center).

George Langenberg of Hoskins, age 86, was named the winner of the "Wayne County's Oldest Farmer" contest sponsored by the Wayne County Farm Bureau and the State Women's Committee of District Three.

Langenberg lives in the city of Hoskins, but helps his son, George Langenberg, Jr. on the farm approximately five miles northwest of Hoskins.

"I go out there every day," said Langenberg, when presented last week with a colorful agriculture poster from Don Liedman, president of the Wayne County Farm Bureau, and Dorrine Liedman, a State Women's Committee representative of District Three.

Although farming practices and methods have changed drastically over the years, Langenberg said he has no regrets about living his entire life as a farmer in the Hoskins area.

"Sometimes it has its ups and downs. But it still is a good way of life," he said.

FALL GATHERING AT WAKEFIELD

Wakefield and Emerson Presbyterian Women hosted the annual fall gathering of the Homestead Presbytery in Wakefield on Sept. 27, with over 90 women of Cluster Group 1 attending.

This year's theme, "Free to Be New," signified changes made in policy and format in the Presbyterian Church (USA) due to the recent yoking of the two Presbyterian sectors.

Wakefield Presbyterian Women's Moderator Ruth Oetken welcomed the group. Colleen Hayes of Lyons, area enabler, conducted the business meeting and awards ceremony for the reading list. Proposed bylaws for the women's organization were presented by Ada Warren of North Bend.

Organist Kathy Potter of Wakefield played the offertory song while the group sat in meditation. This year's offering is designated for the Camp Calvin Crest expansion program. The camp is located southwest of Fremont.

Following lunch, prepared and served by the Wakefield and Emerson women's groups, the guests were given time to purchase Christian reading materials from Eleanor Park, Nora Linder or Bernice Loetscher, inspect various mission displays, and visit the mobile SERRV shop to purchase craft articles made by individuals from underdeveloped nations supported in part by the Presbyterian Church (USA).

A slide show was presented on the national meeting in Indiana. Dee Nielsen of Lyons and Marguerite Stage of Laurel went through the new Horizons magazine, formerly known as Concern Magazine.

The women had a choice of three afternoon workshops to attend, followed with dedication of the goals sheets and the least coin offering.

Gladys Hipple of Lincoln, moderator of Presbyterian Women in the Homestead Presbytery, thanked Wakefield and Emerson for hosting the event and extended gratitude to the Rev. Richard Kargard for his presence.

The closing prayer was given by Colleen Hayes. Coffee and cookies were served at the close of the day.

MONEY MATTERS George Phelps, CFP Certified Financial Planner IDS Financial Services Choosing a Financial Planner CFP and CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER are symbols used to identify an elite group of financial planners who have met the educational, experience and ethical standards established by the International Board of Standards and Practices for Certified Financial Planners, Inc. (IBCFP). Only the IBCFP can authorize qualified financial planners to use the title Certified Financial Planner. But what do the marks CFP mean? The IBCFP requires candidates to complete an approved course of study in financial planning in addition to continuing education. A CFP candidate must also pass a series of rigorous examinations administered by the IBCFP. The tests include the topics of financial planning, tax planning, investments, risk management, retirement and estate planning. Additionally, the candidate must prove he or she has actual work experience in the financial planning field before being authorized to use the CFP mark. One of the primary functions of the IBCFP is to protect the public by monitoring the practices of CFP registrants. Many of today's investment salespeople are limited to knowledge mainly of their own company's advantages. Considering the vast array of financial products we now have to choose from, a financial planner's extensive knowledge can make a significant difference by concentrating on which products best meet your needs and goals. This knowledge is not easily come by, however, and anyone can call him or herself a "financial planner." Only those who have fulfilled the IBCFP's certification requirements can use the title Certified Financial Planner. For more information about CFP registration, contact George Phelps, CFP, at 416 Main St, Wayne, or phone 375-1848.
