Eating Today

A special six-week "Eating Today for a Healthier Tomorrow" course, offered through the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Cooperative Extension Service, will begin Monday, Jan. 30 in the Columbus Federal meeting room, 220 West 7th Street in Wayne.

The course is designed to help people of all ages learn how proper nutrition reduces the risk of obesity, osteoporosis, cancer and heart disease, according to Mary Temme, extension agent-home economics.

"People's eating habits do change easily," Temme said. "This course examines individual eating patterns and will provide a computer analysis of each participant's diet. However, just knowing about good nutrition isn't enough. We will help people make and follow through with nutritional changes."

Each meeting will be 2 1/2 hours long, and food samples and recipes will be provided.

Cost of the course is $30 per person which includes resource materials, computer analysis of the participant's diet and food prepared for tasting sessions. Two people may form a couple, share materials and register for $40. Deadline for registration is Wednesday, Jan. 18.

The six-week course also will be offered on different nights during February and March at Dakota City, Hartington and Pierce. Individuals can enroll at any site or attend a session at another site if there is a conflict.

Persons who would like additional information on "Eating Today for a Healthier Tomorrow" course dates, times and locations and fees are asked to contact the County Cooperative Extension Service office in Wayne at 375-3310 or Concord at 584-2234.

Governor's budget proposal encourages state colleges

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

Governor Kay Orr's proposed state budget increases to Nebraska state colleges, the University of Nebraska and to the technical community colleges have drawn comments of encouragement from administrative officials of higher education institutions.

Governor Orr's budget plan, which she released in her State of the State address to the Legislature on Jan. 10, includes a proposal that will feature a "two-year" 23.9 percent total increase in funding of the entire Nebraska state college system.

Her proposed budget for state colleges the first year is $35.7 million, up about 14 percent from the present budget of $31.2 million. In the second year of her budget proposal, state college state funding will be upped to $38.7 million, 8 percent more than the $35.7 million budgeted the previous year.

Under the governor's plan, faculty and staff will also receive 7.5 percent pay raises.

WAYNE STATE College President Dr. Donald Mash said Friday that he is "very pleased" with Governor Orr's budget proposal recommendations.

"We're still analyzing the specifics of [the budget proposal] and we are looking to see how much flexibility there is," Mash said.

Mash said there was a nice increase reserved for faculty and staff salaries in Orr's budget, and also increases in fringe benefits (such as retirement and additional health insurance).

He said the proposed budget included financing areas such as library enhancement and purchase of instructional equipment.

However, he said it was too early to analyze how the budget proposal will affect the state colleges' operation expense portion of the budget.

GOVERNOR ORR'S proposed budget includes a recommendation for the biennial financing of a $3.6 million capital construction project to update Wayne State College's mechanical and electrical systems.

"This is a capital construction project that requires separate dollars — money outside of the total 23.9 percent increase recommended for the state colleges," said Mash.

Last December the Nebraska Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges gave Wayne State College's mechanical-electrical renovation project "top priority status" among the capital improvement projects within the state college system.

The Board recommended to the Legislature that the project be funded for the biennium.

Also affecting the state college system, Mash said, is another recommendation by Governor Orr included in the total 23.9 percent proposed state college budget increase.

Governor Orr has asked that the state colleges be provided monies to help with economic development and regional development activities.

"This shows that Governor Orr recognizes the role that the state colleges are, and can, play in the region and in the state when it comes to economic development, according to Mash.

On Conway challenge

Attorney general's opinion sought

State Senator Gerald Conway's position as 17th District representative in the Legislature was discussed by a special legislative committee Wednesday.

The committee is investigating a challenge by Conway's opponent in the general election, Tore Nelson, which confronts the issue of whether Conway can legally serve as state legislator while also employed as a teacher at Wayne State College.

The committee has decided to seek the attorney general's opinion as to whether the challenge to Conway was filed on time. By law, official notice of the challenge had to be filed with Conway within 40 days of the Nov. 8 election.

According to reports to chairman of the special legislative committee (Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly), Conway received a notice on the 38th or 39th day. Nelson's attorney, however, filed an amended notice changing the date that depositions would be taken to the 41st day.

The attorney general must decide if the amended notice legally cancels the previous notice filed within the time frame allowed.

Nelson's attorney was also asked to file a brief by Jan. 19, setting out his arguments on why he believes Conway can't hold the seat. Failure to file the brief will result in dismissal of the challenge.

The attorney general may also be asked by the special committee to render an opinion on the question of Conway serving in the legislature while holding a position at Wayne State.

Isolated case reported

Soybean pest detected within Wayne County

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

A soybean pest, considered highly detrimental to crop production, has made its way into Wayne County.

The soybean-cyst nematode has been found in four more Nebraska counties, including Wayne County, according to University of Nebraska-Lincoln researchers who are tracking the unwelcome newcomer.

In 1987, the pest showed up in 13 fields in Burt, Cass, Douglas, Nemaha, Otoe, Richardson and Sarpy Counties.

This past crop year, 1988, the pest was detected in four more counties — Wayne, Gage, Johnson and Pawnee.

FOR THE LAST two years, UNL researchers have sampled fields in search of the microscopic worm-like pest, first detected in Richardson County in 1986. The Nebraska Soybean Marketing, Development and Utilization Board helped fund the research. Researchers recently finished analyzing field samples from 20 counties in the 1988 survey.

Results of the 1988 survey are being presented at Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources crop protection clinics across the state this month.

The Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources team sampled 130 fields in eight counties along the Missouri River in 1987. They surveyed 380 fields in 20 counties during 1988 and found the pest in four additional counties, said Dave Wysong, extension plant pathologist, and Tom Powers, nematologist.

Keith Jarvi, Extension Integrated Pest Management Assistant at the Northeast Research and Extension Center near Concord, said Thursday one field in the eastern section of Wayne County was detected with the soybean cyst nematode.

THE FIELD, he said, is heavily invested almost to the point where the pest can be detected visually.

"This is really an isolated case. We would have to go to a field in southeast Burt County before we would see any more," said Jarvi.

"But it is something to keep an eye on," he said.

"Rotation of crops is a good way to control infestations," he mentioned.

Wysong said the 1988 expanded survey, found additional infected fields. "But two years study doesn't reflect the spread in a single year."

The surveys establish baseline information on the soybean cyst nematode infestation rather than tracking its actual spread, Wysong mentioned.

The soybean cyst nematode has spread to most soybean growing areas and is the most serious soybean pest in the United States.

GROWERS in some southeastern states have battled it for more than 30 years. Heavy soybean cyst nematode infestations can cut yields as much as 80 percent.

The nematodes are parasites that feed on plant roots. Wounds created by these nematodes also expose plants to injury from other pests or disease.

Once in a field, the nematode cannot be eradicated. "They increase in numbers when a suitable host is present and will decline in numbers when a suitable host is absent," Wysong said. Rotating to a non-host crop is a good control method.

The pest can move only a few inches through soil, but it can spread long distances by any method that moves soil, the researchers said. Animals, people, machinery, water, dust storms, small bits of soil in soybean seed and migrating birds can transport it.

Crop rotation and planting resistant soybean varieties are among the best controls in infested fields, the researchers said. These methods can substantially reduce nematode populations. Chemical controls are rarely economically practical.

OTHER recommendations include:

- Using certified seed that has been thoroughly cleaned.
- Operating farm machinery in non-infested fields before working infested fields. It's best to wash farm machines between a field.
- And controlling weeds because certain weeds provide a food source for the soybean cyst nematode.

Ag meetings set

The University of Nebraska Extension Service is planning two meetings of interest to local crop and livestock producers.

The first — a Crop Focus meeting — will take place in Laurel at the city auditorium on Monday, Jan. 23 from 9 a.m. to 3:45 p.m.

A second meeting — Quality Feeds for Quality Feeding Programs — will take place Jan. 27 from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the University of Nebraska Northeast Research and Extension Center two miles east of Concord.

Feed samples will be tested on Jan. 26.

The Crop Focus meeting includes the topics of soybean leaf beetles; machine lease, purchase or custom hire; reducing oat disease loss; soil compaction and deep tillage; new herbicides; herbicide carryover; farm sprayers; new fertilizer application equipment; evapotranspiration and soil water; and other crop information.

The Quality Feeds meeting will cover topics such as feed testing; forage sampling; interpreting results — what the numbers mean; and forage changes — field to rumen.

Diller coming to Wayne

Comedienne Phyllis Diller, recognized as the leading female in stand-up comedy today, will perform Thursday, Jan. 26 at 8 p.m. in Rice Auditorium at Wayne State College.

Originally scheduled for Ramsey Theatre, the performance, which is the third installment in Wayne State's 1988-89 Black & Gold Series, has been moved to accommodate an increasing demand for tickets, according to James Day, director of the Black & Gold Series.

Born with the name Phyllis Driver, she is best known for her outrageous laugh. She has starred in several television series, countless specials, and has made guest appearances on hundreds of top-rated shows.

"I love television," Diller says. "It's not my fault that the tubes blow out when I laugh."

Although films and television have been important to her success, Diller maintains a special fondness for "live" performances. She has drawn capacity crowds to virtually every major supper club and concert hall coast-to-coast.

An author as well as a poet, she has written four best-selling books including her most recent, "The Joys of Aging and How to Avoid Them."

These books, and several comedy albums, crystallize the famous Diller wit — the housewife's lament about her hair, clothes, kids, pets and neighbors — the gamut of American suburban life.

News and Notes

by Mary Temme, Extension Agent-Home Ec.

Balance your consumption of fats
Fats and oils may not sound very appetizing, but people gobble them up. About half the calories Americans consume are from fats. Although many are "hidden" in meats, dairy products, processed foods, baked goods and other foods, the fats we choose to cook with can have a significant impact on our health.

The term "fats" includes oils, shortenings, butter and margarine. They're generally divided into three groups — Saturated fats tend to increase cholesterol levels in the blood; polyunsaturated fats are associated with lowering elevated serum cholesterol levels but in large amounts may be linked to cancer; monounsaturated fats used to be considered neutral but recent research suggests they may be as effective or even more effective than polyunsaturated fats in lowering serum cholesterol levels.

HOW YOU BALANCE the different kinds of fats in your diet makes a difference. People who eat a lot of saturated fat, for example, are thought to be at a much greater risk of developing heart disease, the leading killer in the United States.

Nutritionists make two basic recommendations to Americans about their fat intake — reduce overall fat intake to 30 percent of calorie intake, and eat less saturated fat and more polyunsaturated and monounsaturated fats. An equal balance of each kind of fat is considered ideal.

While many people believe that animal fats are saturated and vegetable fats or oils are polyunsaturated, it is not that simple. For example, although the fat in meats, cheese, whole milk and butter is primarily saturated, so is the fat in coconut and palm kernel oil.

Those two vegetable oils are among the most common ones used in processed foods today. In fact, the fat in coconut oil is equally as saturated as the fat in butter. So the old guideline that vegetable fat is better than animal fat is not always true.

THE SATURATED FAT in meat and dairy products can be reduced greatly by the method of preparation.

In meats, for example, as much of the visible fat as possible should be cut away before cooking. Remove both the skin and underlying fat from poultry. The cooking process should allow any remaining fat to drain away. Good choices are broiling, baking and browning and draining before further use in a recipe.

Dairy products are important in the diet and should not be eliminated for fear of fat. Instead, use generous amounts of skim or low-fat dairy products. Although meat and dairy products will always contain some saturated fat, consumers shouldn't avoid them. Select polyunsaturated fats elsewhere in the diet and substitute polyunsaturated fat for saturated fat wherever possible.

For example, use liquid vegetable oils instead of solid shortenings, and use a polyunsaturated, soft margarine instead of butter or a hard margarine. Oils vary in their proportion of the different kinds of fats, but they all have 120 calories per tablespoon.

WAYNE WRESTLING coaches John Murtaugh and Lonnie Ehrhardt watch intently as Wayne dismantles the South Sioux wrestling team 63-2.

WSC loses to Western

The Wayne State Wildcats traveled to St. Joe's, Missouri, Tuesday night to play Missouri Western for the second time this season. You might recall the first time the two met in Rice Auditorium, Wayne pulled out a one point victory at 58-57.

Western obviously remembered that game, and they came out ready to play the Wildcats, defeating them 79-62, sending Aggers' squad back to Wayne with an 8-4 record.

"We played well enough defensively to win the game," coach Steve Aggers said. "Offensively we didn't play one of our better games." Missouri Western, using a four guard line up was extremely quick according to Aggers.

"They forced us into 29 turnovers," Aggers said. "They had 18 so they had the advantage of having the ball more. When you get behind a team like Western with all their guards, it's tough to come back."

Wayne State did out rebound the host team, 35-34. Marques Wilson led the way with 12 boards. Wilson also led the team in scoring with 14 points. Steve Dunbar followed with 13 and Eric Priebe added 10. Priebe also hauled down five rebounds for the Cats.

Mike McNamara led the team in assists, dishing out five.

Wayne girls fall short

Marlene Uhing's Lady Blue Devils traveled to Columbus Thursday night to challenge the Lakeview Vikings, a team which possesses both quickness and physical strength.

Wayne, coming off the game with Class A Norfolk, came ready to play and gave it everything they had. Unfortunately, the Blue Devils came up four points short, losing 46-42.

"We went in and played hard for the whole game," Uhing said. "I was pleased with the way our girls played."

Wayne jumped out to a 13-10 lead after one quarter of play. Both teams matched each other in the second quarter so the Blue Devils maintained a 25-22 advantage at intermission.

The turning point of the contest came in the third period for the Blue Devils. "We went six minutes without scoring," Uhing said. "Lakeview outscored us 11-4 in the quarter to take a four point lead into the fourth quarter."

Wayne matched Lakeview in the fourth quarter, but they could not overcome the four point lead of Lakeview. Wayne also struggled from the free throw line which may have had an impact. The Blue Devils hit 6 of 15 from the charity stripe.

One area Uhing was especially pleased with was rebounding. For the second consecutive game against a taller, physical team, Wayne has out rebounded the opponent, this time with a 34-29 advantage.

Wayne wrestlers route South Sioux

John Murtaugh's Wayne grapplers flexed their muscles Thursday night to the tune of a 63-2 beating of South Sioux City. The dual took place in Wayne and was part of Teacher-Fan Appreciation Night.

The Blue Devils never lost a single match on the night including the four junior varsity matches preceding the varsity matches.

At 119 lbs., Brian Gamble won 4-0 in the reserve match, while at 145 lbs., Dwayne Junck won by pin. Tim Loberg and Dan Wiseman, both at 160 lbs., won their reserve matches by way of pin.

The varsity matches got underway with Eric Cole at 112 lbs. Mike DeNaeyer at 103 lbs., received a forfeiture. Cole wrestled to an 8-8 tie with Dan Schock which was the closest South Sioux would come the rest of the night.

Chris Janke and Trevor Wehrer also received forfeits in the 119 and 125 weight classes which put 130 lb. Jason Fink in the spotlight after Cole's match.

Fink may well have had the most exciting match of the evening with Rob Turpin. Turpin maintained a 4-3 advantage on Fink late into the third period. In fact, with one second remaining on the clock, Fink scored a reversal to win the match at 5-4.

Greg DeNaeyer took a 7-0 decision over Jason Cook at 135 lbs., while Chris Corbit won by pin at 2:42 over Scott Engel in the 140 lb. match.

Shane Geiger has been wrestling extremely well lately. For the past several weeks he had been wrestling at 160 lbs., with the absence of Jason Cole.

Geiger did a fine job at 160 lbs., placing in every meet he wrestled in. Thursday night marked the return of Jason Cole at 160 lbs. Geiger wrestled at 145 lbs. for an injured Corey Fye.

All Geiger did was pin Chad Luber in 68 seconds. Tom Etter continued his mastery over the opponent's this season with an 11-0 whitewash of Dave Clausen.

As mentioned earlier, Thursday's dual marked the return of Jason Cole. Cole used 5:15 of the clock before pinning Warner Roberts. Jason Ehrhardt at 171 lbs., pinned Tony Creswell in 1:30 while at 189 lbs., Chris Luft raised his season record to a perfect 14-0 with a 7-4 decision over Brian Clausen. Matt Bruggeman won by pin in the heavyweight division in 4:40, over Kelly Schbauer.

WAYNE WRESTLER Tom Etter seemed to have things well in hand in his 152 lb. match against South Sioux's Dave Clausen Thursday night in Wayne. Etter won 11-0 to run his season record to 11-5-1.

"Obviously I'm pleased with the way the kids wrestled," Murtaugh said. "I guess the thing that pleased me the most was not losing a single match all night long including the junior varsity matches."

It was also pointed out that Jason Ehrhardt and Chris Corbit had been battling illness this week, but both still manage to wrestle and win.

Ten of the varsity wrestlers currently have records over .500 this season. Chris Luft and Mike DeNaeyer, both rated wrestlers in Class B, lead the way with a 14-0, and 15-1 record respectively.

Jason Ehrhardt and Matt Bruggeman are right behind though with a 14-2 and 14-4 record respectively. Shane Geiger currently sports a 7-3 record while Chris Corbit maintains a 14-5 mark. Tom Etter also has but five losses with 11 wins and one tie.

Chris Janke currently sports an 11-6-1 record and Greg DeNaeyer yields a 13-7 mark. Although Jason Cole has been injured much of the season, he still has a 4-2 record, but both losses came after he had been injured.

WSC Lady Wildcats lose twice

The Lady Wildcats of Wayne State under the direction of first year head coach Liz O'Brien, lost a pair of games this past week which dropped their season record to 4-6.

Thursday night in the friendly confines of Rice Auditorium, Wayne State lost an overtime decision to Mt. Marty College from Yankton, S.D., 89-84.

The Wildcats got a career game from guard Shell Schumann. Schumann at one time during the game hit eight consecutive shots enroute to a game high of 29 points.

Schumann finished with a 12 of 19 mark from the field and four of five from the charity stripe. Linda Schnitzler netted 23 points while Julie Heath and Mary Beth Ehrhorn scored 11 and 10 points respectively.

Heath and Kae Burke hauled down eight rebounds apiece to lead Wayne State in rebounding. Mt. Marty held a slim one point lead at intermission at 32-31.

The Wildcats came out of halftime and got hot from the floor, eventually taking a 10 point lead within five minutes of the opening tip off of the second half.

Mt. Marty fought back and with eight minutes remaining, they tied the game at 58 apiece. Mt. Marty kept the pressure on and with three minutes remaining in regulation, they led by six points at 72-66.

Finally with 44 seconds remaining, Jodene Finck got an offensive rebound and put up a shot that tied the game at 74. Mt. Marty came right back and went up 76-74.

With four seconds remaining, Linda Schnitzler was fouled and went to the line for a one-and-one opportunity where she connected on both ends to tie the game and send it into overtime.

Cats lose to Western Last Tuesday the Lady Wildcats were on the road at St. Joseph, Missouri, playing the number 12 rated team in the country in Missouri Western.

The final score of 64-50 in favor of Western did not justify the actual closeness of the game. Western led by just one at intermission at 28-27. With five minutes remaining in the game they still maintained a slim five-point lead at 50-45, before stretching it out to the final margin.

Linda Schnitzler led in scoring with 25 points. Western out rebounded the Wildcats by a slim 41-40 margin. Kae Burke helped the Cats by hauling down 11 of the boards by herself.

What spelled doom for the Wildcats was the 35 turnovers they suffered.

Wayne evens season mark with win

Just over two weeks ago Stanton's boys basketball team was playing in the finals of The Great Northeast Nebraska Shoot Out against Class A South Sioux.

Stanton lost that game but played the much bigger school very even throughout much of the contest.

Friday night in Wayne, Stanton traveled to play the Blue Devils. The Mustangs again put up a good fight, but Wayne stopped them 53-46. For the Blue Devils, the win put them back at the .500 mark for the year with an even 5-5 record.

First quarter action quickly told the partisan crowd that neither team was going to win big. Both teams were knotted at 15 after the first quarter of play.

In the second quarter Wayne edged the Mustangs 12-9 and took a slim three point lead into intermission. That's when the defenses took over.

The third period saw but 12 total points scored by both squads, six each. Again, Wayne held that same slim three point margin heading into the final eight minutes of play.

Again both teams opened it up a little in the last quarter and it proved to be to Wayne's liking a little more as the Blue Devils outgunned the visitors 20-16 in the quarter to win the final count of seven points.

Just three days earlier, Wayne center Jarrod Wood and shooting guard Rob Sweetland combined for 46 points in leading Wayne to a big win over Laurel.

The two-some again led the Blue Devils as they combined for 32 of Wayne's 53 points. Wood notched 18 of his own while Sweetland landed two shots from bonus range enroute to scoring 14 points.

Jed Reeg notched seven points to aid the Blue Devils while point guard Jess Zeiss added six. Doug Larsen netted four points while Willy Gross and Neil Carnes added two each to round out the scoring.

Wayne held a commanding 40-32 advantage on the boards and considering the size of Stanton, that stat was important.

Wayne grabbed 10 offensive boards and 30 defensive caroms to reach their total. Jarrod Wood and Rob Sweetland, two familiar names, led in rebounding with 12 and nine boards respectively.

"We played with as much intensity as I've seen all year," head coach Bob Uhing said of his Blue Devils following their performance.

Wayne's junior varsity team rolled past their Stanton counterparts to the tune of 73-50. Chad Metzler and Craig Sharpe led the way with 16 points apiece.

Sharpe also contributed 10 rebounds for the winning Blue Devils.

Winside girls defeat Trojans

Winside's Lady Wildcats traveled to Wakefield to play the Trojans Friday night in what was Wakefield star Theresa Stelling's final game in a Trojan uniform.

Stelling, a standout track athlete as well as basketball player, will become a member of the Auburn Bulldogs beginning Monday.

At any rate, Winside coach Paul Giesselmann knew he had to have his troops emotionally ready for a big game because the Lady Trojans needed little to get them fired up.

Winside spoiled Stelling's last game as it turned out, to the tune of 54-44. Wakefield was virtually unable to stop Kristy Miller as the senior poured in 29 points and hauled down nine rebounds.

The game was tied at 11 after one quarter of play, but Winside outscored the Trojans 10-8 in the second quarter to take a slim two point lead into the locker room.

The third quarter was still fairly even with the Wildcats eventually stretching their lead to six points heading into the final stanza where they again outscored the Trojans.

Wakefield freshman Lisa Bleck scored 23 points to aid her Trojans in a losing effort. Theresa Stelling scored six points in her final game.

Christina Bloomfield was the second Winside player in double figures with 12 points. Jenni Topp scored seven and Tina Hartmann added four. Shawn Janke rounded out the Wildcat attack with two points.

Although Wendy Rabe did not score, Giesselmann noted that she played extremely well filling in for the injured Lisa Janke.

"I thought our girls played a good hard game," Giesselmann said. "Wakefield is a team on the rise and they have a lot of talent and I'm glad we could win on their home court. It was a tough game for us."

The Wildcats did a good job of holding on to the ball, suffering just 16 turnovers while Wakefield lost possession 19 times.

The Trojans owned the boards however, coming away with a 49-36 advantage in rebounding. "We got drilled on the offensive rebounds again," Giesselmann said. "Of Wakefield's 49 rebounds, 27 were offensive and that is way to many second chance points."

The Wildcats shot 53 percent from the field which is astounding considering they weren't on their home court. "It was a total team effort," Giesselmann said. "All of the girls contributed."

WAKEFIELD SAID good bye Friday night to track superstar Theresa Stelling. Stelling is moving to Auburn, Nebraska, where she will finish her high school career. She scored six points in her last outing as a Trojan basketball player against Winside Friday night.

Wakefield holds off charging Wildcats

The Wakefield Trojans hosted Winside Friday night and with Winside of course comes Tim Jacobsen. Jacobsen, averaging nearly 28 points a game and double figures in rebounds as well, is an exciting player to watch.

Wakefield, however is no slouch either. They maintain a balanced attack with good inside players and quickness at the guard slot.

Both the Trojans and Wildcats came out humming. Mark Johnson grabbed the opening tip and hit a 14 foot jumper and with about three seconds gone in the first quarter it was 2-0.

Winside quickly knotted the game and both teams traded points in the opening quarter with Winside holding a narrow one point lead after one quarter, 13-12.

Wakefield took advantage of foul prone Randy Prince in the second quarter as they outscored Winside 19-9 to take a nine point lead into intermission.

Prince went out with six minutes remaining in the half with his second foul. Wakefield however, was not sitting as pretty as they wanted to.

Midway through the second period, Mark Johnson suffered a severe ankle sprain and was carried from the court. X-rays later revealed that Johnson's ankle was indeed sprained and luckily not broken.

Randy Geier meanwhile was in the locker room telling his squad to keep playing hard and to keep putting up the shots. His squad responded by scoring 42 second half points against defensive minded Wakefield.

Jacobsen finished the contest with 27 points while Randy Prince netted 16. Steve Heinemann poured in nine while Gary Mundil scored six. Darren Wacker and Mark Brugger rounded out the Wildcat scoring attack with four and two points respectively.

Wakefield had three players in double figures led by Matt Tappe's 19 points. Tappe did a phenomenal job of playing the floor at his point guard position.

Tappe also dished out seven assists which meant that he was responsible for 33 Trojan points. Andy McQuistan was the inside force that Winside had trouble with, scoring 18 points and hauling down five rebounds.

Stuart Clark was the third Trojan in double figures with 15 points. Clark also led the team in rebounding with seven caroms to his credit.

Mark Johnson scored six points before being injured in the second quarter and Tony Krusemark also scored six points and hauled down five rebounds.

Chris Looft and Marcus Tappe rounded out the scoring with three and one points respectively.

Scott Lund led the squad in assists, dishing out eight. The Trojans as a team were extremely hot from the field hitting 63 percent of their shots.

The rebounding category ended up being even at 33 boards apiece. Jacobsen incidentally, led the Wildcats with eight caroms while Clark hauled down seven to lead Wakefield.

It was also a fairly clean game by way of turnovers as Winside gave up only nine times and Wakefield only 10.

WINSIDE'S TIM JACOBSEN drives around Wakefield defender Matt Tappe in action Friday night in Wakefield. Both players led their respective teams in scoring with "Jac" getting 27, and Tappe netting 19.

Winside splits duals

Winside's grapplers traveled to Stanton Thursday evening to take part in a triangular with Stanton and Howells.

Paul Sok's Wildcat split on the night with a win over Stanton and a loss to Howells. In the first match Winside dualled Howells and dropped a 42-34 decision.

Jason Magwire pinned Brian Strong to get the Wildcats off to a good start in the 112 lb. match. State rated Chad Carlson did not wrestle at 103 because of a forfeiture.

Kerry Jaeger decisioned Ken Kulhoney, 16-8, in the 152 lb. match while Jason Krueger at 171 lbs., pinned Jason Pokorny in 1:23. Jason Bargstadt, Jeff Gallop, and Trevor Topp were all defeated.

In Winside's second dual, they defeated Stanton 41-33. Chad Carlson got the dual started off on the right track with a 1:50 pin over Jeremy Kerbel.

Max Kant was the next wrestler in action at 135 lbs., and he also won by pin over Dwain Freiberg.

Jeff Gallop pinned Brett Bixenmann in 51 seconds in the 145 lb. weight class while Jason Krueger pinned his second man of the night in Josh McCarroll in 1:08.

Trevor Topp rounded out the list of winners who wrestled with a pin of Jim Hitz in 3:47.

"We wrestled very aggressively," Sok said. "I felt good about the way the kids competed."

Brian Thompson injured his shoulder during the triangular and will not be available to wrestle this weekend when Winside sends wrestlers to both the Battle Creek Invitational and the Pender Invitational.

"We are sending Trevor Topp, Jason Magwire, Jason Bargstadt and Charlie Bloomfield to Pender," Sok said. "I think with the injuries we have right now that we wouldn't have a solid chance of getting a team trophy at Battle Creek, so we are splitting up into two groups."

Chad Carlson, Max Kant, Jeff Gallop, Kerry Jaeger and Jason Krueger will compete in Battle Creek.

Commemorative legislation is expensive

Each year Congress wastes time and money considering commemorative legislation. Although some of this legislation is designed to recognize very worthy causes, it is becoming increasingly obvious that many more commemorative bills are introduced simply at the whim of special interests.

Presley Day is already underway in the 101st Congress.

The number of such requests, costs and time expended by the Congress on commemorative legislation has been multiplying dramatically. In addition to printing and staff costs, all variously estimated to cost between $400,000 and $1 million each year, I also believe there are legitimate questions of fairness in treatment of those seeking special recognition under the current procedures.

There is an easier and less costly way for organizations to receive the recognition they seek. I am co-sponsoring The National Commemorative Events Advisory Act, which would establish an 11-member advisory commission to assume commemorative designation responsibilities. Each suggestion for commemorative status would be evaluated and given equal consideration regardless of who submitted it.

Because of my strong feelings that the current process for commemorative designation must be changed to reduce expenditures and to reduce the impression that Congress spends an inordinate amount of time and effort passing commemorative days or weeks instead of addressing substantive legislation, I generally do not cosponsor commemorative legislation.

One-Time Diesel Tax Refund Available

Farmers and ranchers who purchased taxable diesel fuel from a producer or importer between April 1 and Dec. 31, 1988, are eligible to receive an interest-bearing refund on the excise taxes they paid when they purchased that fuel.

The fuel must have been used on a farm for farming purposes, and it must be used before the claim is filed and no later than June 30, 1989.

Farmers who have already used the quarterly method to file for a refund or who have used the fuel purchase as a credit against taxes are not eligible.

The refund claim must be made on IRS Form 843. The form can be obtained through local IRS offices or by calling 1-800-424-FORM.

This refund provision was passed by the 100th Congress in late October as a part of the Technical Corrections Bill. Because I had much earlier cosponsored a separate measure to modify the diesel fuel tax, I strongly supported the inclusion of this provision in the 1988 tax bill.

LANDS FOR CONSERVATION EXTEND CONSTRUCTION
by Michael W. Lance
SCS Technician

The outdoor construction season for building terrace and sediment control basins is sometimes too short to complete the conservation practice. Like farming, the construction of erosion control practices depends heavily upon the existing ground cover and the amount of moisture that arrives before and during the actual construction time.

In an effort to lengthen the actual time a field is available for construction, the Lower Elkhorn NRD has a "Lands for Conservation" program that encourages conservation construction without loss of a cropping year. Financial incentive to either seed a cover crop or an early harvest of small grain crops allows for field construction from June 1 through Sept. 30. This is a contractual agreement between the producer and the NRD with a maximum area of 40 acres per unit allowed. This area must be a part of a total conservation plan developed for the entire farm and must require terracing to reduce soil loss within allowable levels.

By making land accessible for construction during the warmer summer months, more conservation practices (terracing) can be applied without fear of snow or freezing conditions halting activity. The quality of installation is always better when working under frost-free ground conditions. And it's to the producer's advantage to allow for the ground to overwinter before a row crop is planted.

LOWER ELKHORN NRD HOLDS ANNUAL AWARDS BANQUET

Several awards were presented and accomplishments highlighted at the annual Awards Banquet held by the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District on Dec. 22, 1988, in Norfolk.

Honored for their conservation accomplishments were Allen and Audrey Duchs of rural Madison, and Kudera Incorporated (Adolph Kudera) of Schuyler. Each were presented the 1988 Honor Farm Award and the Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Award.

Gray Hergenrader, State Forester, and Steve Rasmussen, District Forester, presented the prestigious Nebraska State Forester's Award to the LENDR. According to Hergenrader, this award is not given frequently, and is reserved for those who show exceptional effort in supporting and promoting tree plantings. Hergenrader noted the District was being honored for its promotion of tree planting in the Conservation Reserve Program.

Retiring Board Members honored were Bert Peterson of Lyons, Norman Slama of Wakefield and Gerald Kratochvil of Clarkson. The District also honored Deb Kingday who retired from the position of District Secretary in Stanton County.

Stan Stubb, General Manager, reported on the District's many accomplishments for 1988. The NRD has initiated two new programs, the Wildlife Habitat Improvement Program and the Small Lakes Assistance Program. The District cost-shared on the construction of more than 70 miles of terraces, 11 miles of tile outlets, and more than 34 acres of waterways. We sold in excess of 186,000 trees in 1988 and contracted with three private contractors for planting trees.

This past year found the District becoming increasingly involved with water quality. We continued our water quality and level monitoring programs, and assisted the Concord/UNL Research Station in a water quality/nitrate level demonstration study in Madison and Pierce Counties. Stream and lake sampling at Willow Creek and Muskogevine Lakes was initiated to show need for federal funding through the Clean Lakes Program. The District is also in the process of forming the Logan-East Water System for residents in Burt, Dodge, Thurston and Washington Counties.

In addition, the NRD purchased the Elkhorn Wayside area for a future office site; approved Phase III (camper pads) of the Maskentine Recreation Area Plan; and purchased playground equipment for the Willow Creek Lake. Furthermore, the District completed a $20,000 shoreline renovation project at Willow Creek, and celebrated a groundbreaking celebration for the $1.4 million Scribner Levee Project.

In closing, Stubb noted that George Benson had been hired as park superintendent, and that the District had published its first newsletter, "Directions." Stubb noted the District has accomplished much, yet there is much left to be done; and that the Lower Elkhorn NRD will remain dedicated to the protection of our natural resources.

LOWER ELKHORN NRD RECEIVES STATE FORESTER'S AWARD

When we speak of protecting natural resources, we do not always realize the importance trees play. Trees can be one of the most significant erosion control tools man has. With the aid of trees we can minimize the movement of soil, diffuse the ravages of water, and deflect the winds that rob our top soil. Trees provide a cooling summer breeze and protect our homes and livestock from winter's freezing gusts. Without trees, neither nature would seem a much harsher element to deal with.

It is that realization that led the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources to become actively involved in the promotion and sale of Clarke-McHarty trees. The LENDR program has grown by leaps and bounds; selling 40,000 trees in 1983 to 186,000 in 1988. The District also actively supports Arbor Day Celebrations, providing trees for school projects, assists with tree workshops, and maintains the Maskentine Recreation Area Arboretum.

However, the LENDR realized that even these attempts were not achieving adequate tree plantings. The trend of fence-to-fence farming had rendered trees a nuisance. Windbreaks were removed at an alarming rate, destroying permanent cover for wildlife and exposing cropland to the parching rays of undeflected winds. In 1987, the LENDR initiated a tree planting program for land enrolled in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP). Through this program, participants are encouraged to plant trees for wildlife purposes. The cost of trees and planting is reimbursed 100% (50% USDA-ASCS, 50% LENDR).

Further, the LENDR adopted a Wildlife Habitat Improvement Program this year that pays landowners an annual, per acre rate, for removing cropland from production and establishing tree plantings. In addition, the landowner is reimbursed costs of planting materials. Another practice pays an annual, per acre payment, for planting trees on existing habitat land and wetlands.

Because of these endeavors, the District has earned the prestigious State Forester's Award. The award was presented by Gary Hergenrader, Nebraska State Forester, and Steve Rasmussen, District Forester, at the District's annual Awards Banquet, held Dec. 22, 1988. Accepting the award on behalf of the District were Wendell Newcomb, Board Chairman; Stan Stubb, General Manager; and Ken Bernay, Assistant Manager, coordinating tree programs.

In presenting the award, Hergenrader remarked that the State Forester's Award is not an annual award, and is reserved for those that have shown exceptional accomplishments in the promotion of tree resources in Nebraska. Hergenrader, who is involved with the National Association of State Foresters in promoting increased tree plantings on CRP land, explained that the LENDR had outstanding success in promoting trees in the Conservation Reserve Program, and made a deserving recipient of the Forester's Award.
