MICHAEL NUSS (left) came back to Wayne recently, where he conducted a music workshop for school teachers in the Wayne-County rural schools. Above, he goes up and down the music scales with the teachers in the clinic that took place at Columbus Federal.

Nuss conducts clinic for area teachers

Michael Nuss returned to his home place recently, conducting a workshop for teachers of the Wayne County rural school districts.

Nuss is the son of Jean and Donna Nuss of Wayne. He is a 1973 graduate of Wayne-Carroll High School. He is a clinician, using an exciting, positive approach to working with young people in the music field.

He is currently the Director of Music Education for Children and Youth at Sheridan Lutheran Church in Lincoln. "I've taught music at all levels, from pre-school to grade 12," said Nuss.

For the past five years he has served as Director of Choral Music at Pound Junior High School in Lincoln, where his choral ensembles were widely recognized for their high levels of artistic excellence.

Nuss is also a research assistant in the Department of Music Education at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, where he is finishing a Master of Music in Choral Conducting degree and will begin work on a Ph. D. in June.

He has served as clinician, guest conductor, seminar leader, adjudicator and lecturer throughout the United States in a diverse area of interests — Orff-Schulwerk, choral music, motivation (bringing out the best in people, vocal pedagogy and music education).

"As a clinician, I have a positive approach when working with young people," Nuss said.

He is the National Chair of the Junior High Repertoire & Standards Committee for the American Choral Directors Association, enabling him to continue his articulate advocacy of the importance of the junior high age.

His work is recognized nationally, as he is called upon often to offer his workshops in communities across the nation.

"This is a historical thing for me," said Nuss, in speaking about his workshop offered at the Columbus Federal building in Wayne," Nuss said.

Where Columbus Federal now stands was at one time the same lot where Nuss' great-grandmother resided, he said.

"So it's been fun coming back here," he said.

Nuss also serves as the editor of "Your Voice at Its Best", the newsletter for the McClosky Institute of Voice Therapy in Boston, Massachusetts.

And his book "Viva la music: A Primer in Orff-Schulwerk" offers an orientation to the Orff approach for the uninitiated.

His wife, Sally, is the media specialist for the Norris Public School District. Together they are in their 13th year of directing Nebraska's camp for young people with diabetes, Camp Floyd Rogers.

Wayne selected honor city for River-cade

Wayne has been selected as an "Honor City" for the 1989 Port of Sioux City River-cade.

The announcement was made Feb. 11 at the Convention Center in South Sioux City. This distinction will be announced at the Winter Dance. In addition to the announcement of Wayne as the honor city, there will be a dance lead-off by the honor cities and a "toast" to the 1989 honor cities.

River-cade's purpose is to focus attention on the Port of Sioux City as a vital and growing river-port in the heart of America's vast agricultural region.

The festival seeks to promote civic betterment in Sioux City and its neighboring population of South Sioux City and North Sioux City and celebrate its religious and educational life; advance the commercial, economic, social, cultural and athletic interests within the area; create a spirit of goodwill and friendliness among the people of the area for the expansion of commercial, economic and social relationships; and to produce and stage a program of entertainment, sports events and cultural attractions of common interest to the people of Siouxland and their guests and visitors.

County road projects listed

Wayne County appears to be "holding its own" when it comes to maintenance of the county's approximate 850 miles of county roads.

The same cannot be said for the conditions of bridges throughout the county, according to Sid Saunders who is highway superintendent for Wayne County.

"We just don't have the money for the bridges," Saunders said.

Wayne County currently has at least 240 bridges that are over 20 feet long and are inspected every two years.

"A lot of these are timber bridges now facing various stages of deterioration. It's hard keeping up with them," Saunders said.

"With the federal and local money we have available to us, we're moving about as fast as we can [on bridge replacement or repair]," he added.

There is still a lot of work left to do."

Wayne County's past year completion of several county road projects indicates the county has made some advancement in maintaining the local road system, according to Saunders.

Several bridges are scheduled for improvements in 1989. A public hearing on Wayne County's one and six year road improvement plan has been scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 21, 2 p.m. at the Wayne County Courthouse.

Those improvements to bridges include:

— Remove and replace bridge 10 miles south and 4 1/2 miles east of Wayne, an east-west road. Approximately $120,000 in federal aid will be available for this project, along with $7,500 for state aid and $11,250 of the $150,000 total cost provided by neighboring Cumming County. Wayne County will also contribute $11,250 to the bridge project.

— Remove and replace a bridge four miles west and six miles north of Wayne (and grade and gravel approaching highways). Federal aid is anticipated at $120,000. State aid expected is $7,500 and the county's share is $22,500 for a total estimate cost of $150,000.

— Remove 18' concrete bridge and install twin corrugated metal pipe culvert (CMP) six miles south and one mile east of Wayne, a north-south road. Estimated cost: $18,000 in county funds.

— Remove a bridge and install metal pipe culvert 10 miles south and 4 1/4 miles east of Wayne, an east-west road. Estimated to cost Cumming County and Wayne County each $7,500.

— Remove concrete bridge and install twin CMP culvert one mile north and 1 1/4 miles west of Wayne, an east-west road. Estimated cost: $8,000.

— Remove concrete bridge and install twin CMP culvert two miles west and 1/2 mile south of Wayne, a north-south road. Estimated Cost: $8,000 of county funds.

— Remove bridge three miles north and 2 1/4 miles east of Carroll and build a dam, an east-west road. Estimated total cost is $16,000 with funding anticipated from Wayne County and the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resource District (LENRD) of approximately $8,000 each.

— Remove bridge and install a culvert or build a new bridge eight miles west and 1/4 mile north of Carroll. Estimated cost: $13,000 in county funds.

— Remove bridge and build a dam 1/2 mile west, 3 1/2 miles north and 2 3/4 miles west of Hoskins, an east-west road. Total estimated cost is $16,000 with funding anticipated from Wayne County and LENRD of approximately $8,000 each.

Grading, culverts and gravel improvements on county roads proposed in 1989 include:

— Four miles east, two miles south of Wayne, starting south for one mile.

— Eight miles south and one mile east of Wakefield, starting east for one mile.

— Three miles south and one mile west of Wakefield, starting west for one mile.

Teaching children to be creative

As a parent, one of the nicest gifts you can give your child is a chance to think and act creatively.

Creative thinking simply means looking at situations and seeing them differently or exploring a variety of possibilities. It means "wondering why" and being able to think of more than a single way of doing things.

Children have the ability to be creative. They are adaptable and imaginative, ready to learn and eager to apply new knowledge. And, if you encourage it, they will willingly teach themselves.

JEAN PIAGET, who developed the current theories about how children learn, said, "Every time we teach a child something, we keep him from inventing it himself." Piaget was a believer in providing an environment for learning with appropriate materials and then letting children explore, touch, taste and discover on their own.

It is in this environment that creativity can flourish. Piaget recommends that a parent who wants a child to explore art — coloring, drawing, etc., should give him or her the art materials, paper and a comfortable sport to work, leaving the child free to draw, scribble, mix colors, make forms, designs or whatever — to be creative.

If on the other hand, you give them a box of crayons and a coloring book, they might just color all the pictures, using 'appropriate' colors, such as green for trees and even learn to color within the lines at an early age. But they won't develop creativity.

PARENTS OFTEN say that they want to teach a child to be creative, but when they sit down to work with a child, the session ends up being a disaster. Teaching your own child can be a difficult job, so do it the creative way by backing off and letting them learn some things on their own. They will probably teach you how to learn best.

Here are some tips for allowing creative minds to develop: —Ask questions that let imaginations run wild — not those that have right or wrong answers. Try a "What would happen if?" approach.

—Encourage exploration, experimentation, curiosities. When they ask you for answers, try to give several possibilities. Don't hesitate to say, "I'm not sure" or "Let's explore some more."

—Let them take part in activities that promote use of imagination and fantasy. Possibilities include theater, storytelling, art, music and camping with summer educational programs. They will be exposed to a wider variety of interesting people, too.

—Loose up your lifestyle. Spend time adding variety to your life. Take a different route home, cook something unusual, make up stories for the kids. Research shows that creative children usually have creative parents, not because parents taught them how to be creative, but because the environment they lived in let them be so.

IF YOUR CHILD becomes more creative, he may be unlike many of his peers, but he will be confident, less inhibited, open to new ideas and insights, be able to entertain himself well and be less self-critical. Moreover, he'll be just the kind of adult the world needs — a creative problem solver and decision maker.

 communities as "Honor Cities". The other two communities, one in Iowa and another in South Dakota, will also be announced on Saturday.
 Linda Brown, executive vice president of the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce and Wayne Industries, said the selection of Wayne as an honor city will bring with it lots of publicity about the local community.

"This is a big step forward and allows us to tell our story — about things such as Wayne State College and other areas that this community offers," said Brown.

One reason which may have contributed to Wayne's selection is because of its ample publicity received in the past couple of years, Brown said. "The city has experienced growth the past couple of years, in jobs and it has received publicity from surrounding media," she added.

Some of the benefits listed for being an "Honor City" besides publicity include recognition through banners and plaques; an opportunity to showcase the city through a waterfront booth; business contacts; serving as a host on Mayor's Day and every day throughout 1989 as part of River-cade; live television coverage of the parade (Wayne can have an unlimited amount of entries in the River-cade parade; ride tickets and free parking).
 The second major event associated with River-cade will be the auction. The city of Wayne will be showcased on live television during the auction. This event is scheduled for April 1.

Farm program explained

Farmers participating in the 1989 Feed Grain and Wheat Programs will be allowed to hay or graze their Acreage Conservation Reserve (ACR) or Conserving Use (CU) acres for payment including eight percent CU to qualify CU for payment before and after a five month restrictive period according to John Neuberger, Nebraska State ASCS Executive Director.

Program regulations prohibit haying and grazing of ACR or CU for payment for a five month consecutive period of time set between April 1 and October 31.

"The Nebraska State ASC Committee set the restrictive nonhaying/nongrazing dates of ACR at May 1 through September 30, in 30 Counties in the western part of the State and April 1 through August 31, for the 63 Counties in the remainder of the State," Neuberger said.

The Nebraska State ASC Committee recommended the authorized haying and grazing of ACR and CU to the Deputy Administrator, State and County Operations, Washington, D.C., and determined that the authorized use of the ACR and CU outside of the restrictive months would not have a significant adverse effect or impact on the hay and forage producers in the State.

Neuberger advised farmers to check with their local County ASCS Office for the restrictive haying/grazing period in their individual County.

Irrigation shortcourse scheduled

The Nebraska Irrigation Shortcourse will be Feb. 16 at the American Legion Hall here. The event is sponsored by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Department of Agricultural Engineering.

The course focuses on management practices to maintain water quality, the economics of dryland production versus irrigated production and the overall economic considerations for different types of irrigation systems, said Bill Kranz, UNL extension irrigation specialist at the Northeast Research and Extension Center.

Neligh is hosting the shortcourse for the first time, Kranz said. Northeast Nebraska producers have expressed concerns about water quality and the safe conversion or updating of old wells, he said. The meeting was moved to northeast Nebraska this year to meet demand and to reach a larger audience.

Registration starts at 8:30 a.m. on Feb. 16, but interested persons can pre-register with the Antelope County extension office at Neligh. The pre-registration cost is $15, and $20 the day of the meeting. Registration fees include the noon meal.

Access to NASA

Area businesses now have the opportunity to search the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) database and other commercial databases due to a new service recently acquired by the Nebraska Business Development Center at Wayne State College.

The database contains a wealth of information outside of those topics that might typically be associated with the aerospace industry, so businesses in all fields may use the service, according to Jeryl Nelson, NBDC coordinator.

Some of the various topics available are agriculture and nutrition, market research information, chemistry, computer science, current affairs, education and social sciences and humanities.

Clients will be charged $50 for each NASA database search. Costs for searches of the commercial databases vary according to the database used.

For more information, contact the NBDC office, Wayne State, (402) 375-2004.

The total estimated cost for all the county road improvement projects is $824,000. Of that amount, approximately 64.8 percent would come from county funds; 29.1 percent from federal funds; 2.3 percent from Cuming County; 1.9 percent from LENRD; and 1.8 percent from state aid.

Saunders said there are 98 projects listed in the draft of the one and six year road improvement plan. The plan goes beyond 1994 to future needs of the county.

Purpose of the upcoming hearing is to give the public advance notice of the county commissioners' intentions concerning road improvement. And what is listed for 1989 can change, Saunders emphasized.

"This list can change, depending on the weather, financing or if more urgent problems come up elsewhere," he said.

Wayne competing well

After the first day of district wrestling at Elkhorn, Wayne coach John Murtaugh feels his team is still in the running for a successful district meet.

"All in all I think we're wrestling pretty well," Murtaugh said. "The way we match up in the wrestle backs and semifinals, I think we'll be O.K."

Wayne still has 11 of its 13 varsity wrestlers still in the hunt for that possible state tournament berth after the first day's happenings.

Five of the eleven have not lost and are sitting in the semifinal round. If these five win their next round they are all guaranteed at least first or second place in their respective weight classes. If they lose their next round, they fall into the consolation semifinals where they must when their ensuing match to guarantee them a berth at state and a third or fourth place finish at districts.

At 103 lbs., Mike DeNaeyer is in the semifinals after receiving a first round bye and pinning his second round foe. At 152 lbs., Tom Effer is in the semifinals after receiving a first round bye and defeating his second round foe by an 8-4 count.

Jason Cole at 160 lbs., has won his first two rounds by pin while at 171 lbs., Jason Ehrhardt has won his first two rounds by pin and a 17-4 margin. Chris Luft is the fifth Blue Devil sitting in the semifinal round with his first round bye and second round pin, which keeps Luft undefeated for the season.

Those in contention who are not in the semifinal rounds include Eric Cole at 112 lbs., who won his first round 6-3, lost by pin in the second round and received a bye in the third round.

Chris Janke at 119 lbs., won his first round by pin, lost to the state champion of a year ago in Bob Headley of Elkhorn by a 5-3 count, and received a third round bye to keep his hopes of a state tourney berth alive.

Trevor Wehrer won his first match by pin and lost his second match by pin and also received a third round bye in the 125 lb. category.

Greg DeNaeyer received a bye his first round, but lost his second round 4-0. DeNaeyer is still alive though as he received a third round bye. At 140 lbs., Chris Corbit won his first round by pin but lost his second round by pin. He received a third round bye.

Shane Geiger at 145 lbs., won his first match by pin, but lost his second match by a 5-1 count. Geiger is the only Blue Devil to wrestle three times on the day. He pinned his third round foe.

Jason Fink at 130 lbs., lost by pin in the first round and is out of the tournament because his first round opponent lost his next match.

Matt Bruggemann at heavyweight, is also out of the tournament after losing 11-4. His first round opponent also lost his next match. Bruggemann finishes his sophomore season with a 22-7 record.

Laurel downs Neligh

For the second time in less than two weeks, the Laurel boys were pitted against Neligh. In the first match up between the two, Laurel literally destroyed Neligh in the first round of the NENAC Conference Tournament at Bloomfield.

In the second contest, which was played at Laurel, things were much closer as Laurel eked out a five point victory, 54-49.

"It was a very ugly game," coach Mark Hrabik said. "We just didn't get into the flow of things and the ball just wasn't falling for us."

Neligh jumped out to a 16-15 lead after the first quarter of play but Laurel responded in the second quarter to take a slim four point lead into intermission, 28-24.

The Bears increased their lead to seven by the third quarters end, 41-34. "We built some 8-10 point leads at times in the fourth quarter," Hrabik said. "Neligh made a run but they could get no closer than five points."

Troy Twohig led the charge for the Bears, scoring 21 points. John Schutte and Todd Erwin were also in double figures with 14 and 13 points respectively.

Doug Manz and Matt Felber rounded out the scoring with four and two points each. Erwin stole the ball three times for the Bears and dished out four assists while Manz led all assist players with six.

Laurel was outrebounded 41-27 by Neligh. John Schutte and Todd Erwin led the charge for Laurel hauling down seven and six rebounds respectively. Laurel suffered 13 turnovers in the contest but they forced their opponent's into 19.

"I'm happy that we can find a way to win even though we didn't play very well," Hrabik said. "We have a respectable chance of finishing the season above .500 and we haven't done that for eight years at Laurel."

Laurel will entertain Wausa this Friday in the last regular season game. The Bears record stands at 10-8.

Wayne girls lose

Wayne's Lady Blue Devils traveled to Emerson Thursday night to take on the highly rated C-2 Pirates. The hosts did not prove to be so gracious to their visitors as they defeated Wayne, 46-29.

Wayne did not put forth an effort which drew rave reviews from coach Marlene Uhing. "Our problem is simple," Uhing said. "We have the people it takes to get the job done, but they are not putting forth the effort it takes to be successful."

At any rate, Uhings' squad fell to 12-6 on the season. The Blue Devils may have suffered their worst half of scoring of the season as they came away with just nine first half points, only four in the second quarter.

The Blue Devil defense was not playing all that bad. Emerson-Hubbard, which has a highly potent offense was held to just 19 first half points.

"We had 15 first half turnovers," Uhing said. "The sad part was that Emerson wasn't even pressing. We just weren't mentally into the game."

Uhing's halftime speech inspired Wayne to come out fired up in the third quarter. At one stretch though, Wayne forced seven Emerson turnovers and didn't come away with a single point.

Not only was the field goal shooting a dismal stat to look at, Wayne hit less than 30 percent of its free throws. "I think we missed our first seven free throw attempts," Uhing said. "It was just one of those nights. I don't think we can play any worse, and if we can, I don't want to be there when we do."

Bulldogs put bite on Wakefield

The Coleridge Bulldogs went into the friendly confines of the Wakefield gym Friday night and put a bite on Paul Eaton's Trojans, handing them a 57-51 loss, dropping their season record to 13-7.

Both teams came out cold as the first two minutes plus saw no scoring by either team. Bulldog sharp shooter Mike Schnoor put the first score up with a 3-point bomb.

Wakefield was playing very intense defense and actually stole five of Coleridge's first six possessions, but couldn't convert the steals into points.

By the first quarters end Coleridge maintained a 13-10 lead. The second quarter went Coleridge's way but Wakefield hung tough and by intermission the three point lead Coleridge enjoyed at the end of the first quarter had grown to six, 27-21.

The Trojans came out in the third quarter much like they did at the beginning of the contest, stealing pass after pass. In fact, for the game Wakefield recorded 17 steals.

The host team managed to cut the Coleridge lead to one point heading into the final eight minutes, 38-37.

In the fourth quarter Wakefield grabbed the lead a couple of different times, but each time they went ahead Coleridge answered. In one stretch Wakefield had just taken a one point lead before Schnoor came down and popped a 3-pointer. Wakefield turned the ball over on the next possession and Schnoor answered with a 2 point field goal giving Coleridge its four point lead back.

Wakefield's final lead came with just under two minutes remaining in regulation but they couldn't hold it.

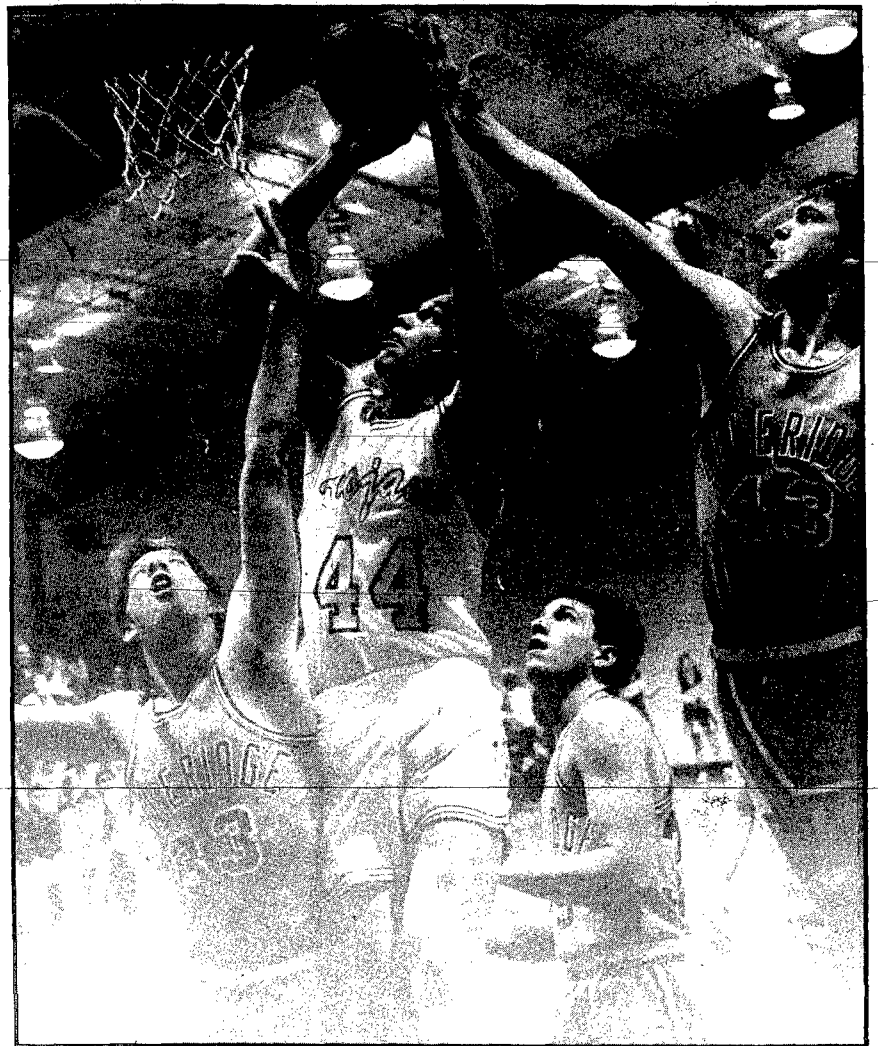

"We've had some tough luck since Christmas," coach Paul Eaton said. "I thought we played a good second half but our first half, especially the first quarter wasn't very strong."

Wakefield gave up to many offensive rebounds in the first quarter which allowed Coleridge to score a lot of second chance points.

Andy McQuistan led the Trojans in scoring with 22 points and nine rebounds. Matt Tappe and Tony Krusemark were also in double figures with 10 each. Mark Johnson and Scott Lund each managed four points while Chris Loofe managed one.

Tappe came away with eight steals while Mark Johnson recorded six. Lund and Loofe each had three steals.

Wakefield outrebounded Coleridge, 31-28 and suffered less turnovers with 11 compared to Coleridge's 19. Mike Schnoor led Coleridge with 18 points including four 3-pointers. John Heithold added 16 and Dave Hahne added 10. Wakefield's junior varsity team won by a 56-51 count. Keith Wenstrand and Brent Oetkin led the way with 13 and 12 points.

Blue Devils lose to South Sioux

The Blue Devil boys basketball team traveled to South Sioux for the third time in eight days Friday night, but for the first time in those trips, they were playing the Cardinals.

Wayne's first two trips ended with victories over O'Neill and Cedar Catholic for the Conference Tournament Championship, and this third trip was for the outright conference title for the regular season.

Both teams kind of kept things close in the opening quarter with South Sioux holding a slim 12-10 lead heading into the second quarter.

Wayne warmed up in the second quarter and began busting Cedar's zone. By intermission Wayne had a seven point lead at 27-20.

South Sioux adjusted their defense to a man-to-man in the second half and usually that is to Wayne's advantage, but not on this night.

The Cardinals quickly overcame Wayne's lead and from there they were off and running to the tune of a 67-48 victory, dropping Wayne's record to 10-7.

"I believe our second half execution may have been the worst we had all year," coach Bob Uhing said. "We just stood around on offense and didn't move to the ball."

Wayne only suffered 12 turnovers in the game so it wasn't a case where they just threw the ball away everytime they had it. It was just a case where they didn't execute against a defense which they should have been strong offensively against.

"We also missed seven or eight lay ups from point blank range," Uhing said. "We just simply blew them."

Jarrod Wood led the Blue Devils offensively with 15 points. Willy Gross and Doug Larsen were also in double figures with 12 and 11 points respectively.

Jarrod Wood led the Blue Devils in rebounding with eight, even though as a team, Wayne was outrebounded by the Cardinals.

After a Saturday contest with Crofton at Crofton, Wayne will close out its regular season play next weekend and host Creighton in the home season finale on Saturday.

Schmitt presents paper

Tammi Schmitt

Tammi Schmitt, Laurel, recently presented a paper on the study of aluminum toxicity in mosquitofish at Berkley Labs in San Francisco. It was her third year of making a presentation.

Her presentation was for the American Association for Advancement of Science and the American Junior Academy of Science.

Schmitt began her five-year study at Laurel-Concord High School from which she graduated in 1987. It was there under Ed Brogie that she began focusing on the male aggressiveness to establish normality for mosquitofish. Then when exposing them to aluminum, she would find deviations in their established behavior patterns.

"The importance of this is that aluminum exists in our soil, and is also leached out in acid rain," said Schmitt, a sophomore at Wayne State College. "I'm looking to see where the effect of aluminum exposure begins."

Schmitt won the state Junior Science Academy Symposium as a junior and senior while in high school.
