Benefit

Swallowing goldfish was just one of several tactics used by Wayne citizens in raising close to $2,265 in funds for the American Heart Association.

The fund raising event took place Sunday evening during the "Celebrity Waiter" event at the Black Knight in Wayne. The proceeds from the three segments of the program — the dinner, auction and tips to the celebrity waiters — benefits the American Heart Association, Nebraska Affiliate.

Those listed on the program who served as waiters and received nearly $831 in tips, included Ralph and Ann Barclay; Ron and Pat Carnes; Dave and Kaki Ley; Dr. Jim and Sheryl Lindau; Dr. Don and Julie Mash; Kenneth Mendel; Rusty and Deneil Parker; Cap and Nana Peterson; Bob and Joyce Reeg; Sam and Sue Schroeder; and Gary and Peggy Wright. Recognized as "Waiter of the Evening" for receiving the most tips were Bob and Joyce Reeg.

Serving on the Celebrity Waiter Committee and coordinating the program were Mark Ahmann, Pat Gross, Paula Pflueger and Bud Froehlich.

Another part of the program, an auction called by Stan Baier, raised $822.50. Some of the items put on the selling block included a large Wayne State College banner; a fish bowl filled with a thousand golf tees; a Wayne High School game basketball (which sold for over $200); a shadow box; a collector set of beer cans commemorating each of the Pittsburgh Steelers four Super Bowl victories; framed art work; fishing equipment; sports jacket and gift certificate; a rowing machine and other items.

The dinner itself raised $611, according to committee members. Serving as master of ceremonies was Mark Ahmann.

Shooting

A Wayne man died in his home last Saturday after suffering from a gunshot wound.

The county attorney's office reported that Floyd Andrews, age 84, died from a gunshot wound to his chest. He was found at his home at approximately 5:30 p.m. It was ruled by the county attorney's office that the gunshot wound was self-inflicted.

A complete obituary of Floyd Andrews appears in the inside pages of this edition.

City council

The Wayne City Council approved the "one and six year" street improvement program during Tuesday night's regular meeting.

Only maintenance projects are planned in 1989, calling for some surfacing work around several blocks in the city. The overlay can be done if there is a mixing plant near the city doing blacktop projects around the area. Street projects near the college are planned for 1990. A storm sewer project east of the National Guard Armory is scheduled presently for 1991. Grainland Road work is planned for 1992 and maintenance only projects are scheduled for 1992 and 1993.

Projects can still be added or deleted in the improvement program.

The city council also accepted the land rental bid of Rick Lutt for $60.13 per acre on a tract of land south of Timpfe; $60.13 per acre on a tract of land near Restful Knights; and $65.03 per acre for ground near the softball complex.

The council also approved plans and specifications for the repainting of the standpipe on the west edge of Wayne, and set the bidding date for March 28.

A heavy task

UP TO 70 EMPLOYEES of Restful Knights, and their family members, participated in a bowling benefit on Sunday to raise funds for the Arthritis Foundation. Restful Knights normally provides a company donation to the Waterbed Manufacturers Association, who in turn donates 100% of that amount to the Arthritis Foundation during a fund raising telethon. Last year, the Waterbed Association donated $250,000 to the cause. This year, in addition to the company donation, Restful Knights raised even more funds with the bowling event at Melodee Lanes. Tiffany Webb, daughter of Levi and Rhonda Webb of Wayne, was one of the bowling benefit participants. More details on the amount of money raised will appear in a forthcoming edition.

Honor family heritage

Fair to recognize 4-H history

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

There will be an abundance of history and heritage, retold through photographs and writings, during this year's Wayne County Fair.

The official dates for the county fair have been set for Aug. 3-5.

And the opening day (Aug. 3) has been declared "Heritage Day" — a time for people to participate in activities designed to recognize individuals who have been longtime participants in the 4-H program. It will also be a day for people to honor their own heritage with American pride.

Darlene Topp, fair secretary, said this year is the diamond jubilee (75 years) for extension work. "We will be honoring 4-H leaders and county agents who are 4-H alumni of 50 years or more," Topp mentioned.

These individuals will be honored Thursday evening, Aug. 3, in front of the grandstand. Also at that time, the Ak-Sar-Ben Pioneer Farm Family Award and the Good Neighbor Award will be presented, according to Topp.

Another part of the program will be a tribute to heritage — honoring the Germans, Scandinavians, Welsh, Irish, Czech and other nationalities imbedded into the heritage of people in the Wayne County area. "This is in recognition of those immigrants that have made Wayne County and America the greatest land on earth," said an Ag Society board member.

Topp said old pictures are needed, going back preferably 40 to 50 years ago, dealing with 4-H activities that show leaders, agents and 4-H members in action. These old pictures will be part of a collage, mounted in a frame and placed in the basement of the Wayne County Courthouse until the fair begins. During the county fair, the old photographs will be displayed in one of the booths at the fairground's Ag Hall.

Photographs which display heritage are also being requested. People are being asked to check their old family albums for 4-H pictures or memorabilia and present them to Darlene Topp or Leland Herman of Wayne; Connie Roberts or Bob Hansen of Wakefield; Don Liedman of Carroll; or Mick Topp of Winside.

Topp also said that May 1 is the deadline for nomination for the Pioneer Farm Family Awards (farms that have been in the same family for 100 years or more).

ABOVE ARE the types of 4-H or Heritage snapshots needed. This is a Wayne County brother and sister. Can you identify?

Hospital provides domiciliary care

Sometime in early spring will be the open house of the new wing at Providence Medical Center.

Among the features of the new addition now in operation are two rooms now being used for "domiciliary care."

A domiciliary facility is any institution, facility, place or building where there is provided accommodations and supervision of individuals for a period exceeding 24 consecutive hours. These individuals are essentially capable of managing their own affairs, but who are in need of supervision — including supervision of nutrition — by the facility on a regular, continuing basis.

The two domiciliary care rooms within the new hospital wing include beds, television and telephone. "They are just like patient rooms, with the exception that there is no call system installed," said Marci Thomas, administrator at Providence Medical Center. There are plans to install the call system later, Thomas said.

Each resident of the domiciliary facility is charged the $35 daily room rate and they must pay for food provided at the hospital, according to Thomas. "No doctors orders are needed for admittance to the facility and there is no time frame as to how long the individual can stay at the facility.

"Domiciliary care, however, is not a replacement for nursing homes or motels," Thomas said.

GROUNDBREAKING ceremonies for the building project at Providence Medical Center took place April 18, 1988. The need for the addition was recognized by the Governing Board of Providence Medical Center to accommodate expansion of services; outpatient clinics; community service meetings; storage requirements for equipment and records; maintenance equipment storage; a need for access for incoming ambulances; and domiciliary services.

The new wing has a multi-purpose room which may be used for detention or other acute care needs. The pharmacy was moved to the new wing and in the former pharmacy location is an outpatient clinic office.

Also in the new wing are a medical record and equipment storage area and an intensive care room adjoining the two now available for cardiac patients.

The new 12-bed equivalent wing addition was structured so that if there was a need for more acute care beds or other levels of care, the ground floor space could be converted to the level of care rooms needed and the storage, meeting rooms and other areas could be moved to the basement with little added construction.

Ag land valuation addressed

The Legislature found itself in a difficult position this past week when it once again had to address the question of agricultural land valuation for tax purposes. First round discussion of LB 361, the bill to deal with this problem advanced on a 28-2 vote. The margin of support for the bill belies the controversy of the measure.

LB 361, would return the state to a valuation method based on the land's market value. This change may hurt many agricultural landowners who pay their property taxes according to our current income-earning approach. Our current method came about after the voters approved Amendment 4 to change the Nebraska Constitution in 1984 and the Legislature subsequently passed a bill that established it. The income-earnings approach has resulted in agricultural land being valued at approximately 74 percent of its market value. LB 361 has now been introduced in response to several Nebraska Supreme Court decisions which declared the current method unconstitutional.

by Sen. Gerald Conway

The Supreme Court held the method violated the Nebraska Constitution's uniformity clause. This clause of the Constitution declares that all property must be taxed uniformly and can not be taxed in any discriminatory manner. The passage of Amendment 4 in 1984 allowed agricultural land to use a method other than market approach, but since the uniformity clause was not changed, the income-earnings approach must yield the same result. The people thought they were solving the problem with the amendment, but the courts have ruled that unless the uniformity clause is changed our current method must treat all property the same; currently it does not.

The Legislature has very little choice in making the return to the former method. If the Legislature chose to ignore the Court they would be inviting a rash of lawsuits by commercial and residential property owners. Very likely these cases would succeed and the taxes of these entities would be changed to correlate with the percentage of market value currently found in agricultural land. The impact of these changes would vary across the state dependent upon the proportion of agricultural land, commercial property, and residential property in each county.

This bill is seen by many as a necessary but temporary solution. A more permanent solution is contained in LR2CA, a proposed constitutional amendment that calls for the voters to change the Nebraska Constitution to address the uniformity clause problem. The proposed amendment would state precisely that agricultural land may be treated differently than other property for tax purposes. LR2CA, if passed, would put the constitutional change on the next ballot in 1990 for the voters to approve.

This past week, I co-signed a motion to put LR2CA on the agenda to be debated before any more action can be taken on LB 361. This way, the more permanent solution will be voted on rather than put off because of a temporary solution that will get us by.

Wayne upset in district action

By Kevin Peterson
Sports editor

Bob Uhing's Wayne Blue Devils were surprised by Pierce in first round B-5 district action Saturday afternoon at Northeast Community College in Norfolk. Wayne, on the short end of a 47-42 count, ended its season with a 13-8 record.

Wayne came out slow from the on-set, and could never gain any momentum. Pierce took an 11-9 lead after one quarter of play despite Rob Sweetland's five first quarter points and Jarrod Wood's, four.

Both teams opened it up a little more in the second quarter and Wayne held a 23-19 lead with 2:37 left until the intermission, basically on the wings of two 3-point bombs by Sweetland. Pierce though, went on a run and took a seven point lead with very little time remaining in the quarter. Wayne managed to trim the lead to three points before intermission at 29-26.

Wayne was still having problems getting other people to score. Sweetland and Wood accounted for 24 of Wayne's 26 first half points.

The Blue Devils came out in the third quarter and outscored Pierce 8-2 to take a 34-31 lead. Following a timeout, Pierce was right back at it, chipping away at Wayne's brief momentum. After leading 35-33, Pierce outscored the Blue Devils 7-2 through the remainder of the quarter to take a 40-37 lead into the final stanza.

Wayne would never lead in the fourth quarter as Pierce controlled the tempo. The highlight of the quarter came when Rob Sweetland stole a pass and went the length of the court and scored while being fouled by Pierce. Sweetland connected on the old fashioned 3-point play and had cut Pierce's lead to 43-42 with 1:49 remaining.

Following a Wayne foul, Pierce was at the free throw line for a one-and-one opportunity. The Pierce player missed the front end but Dennis Koepke was there for the offensive rebound which may have slammed the door in Wayne's face.

Pierce was fouled again with 48 seconds remaining and they made one of their two free throw attempts to lead by two points, 44-

42. Wayne came down the floor and had a designed play set up where Wood set the pick for Sweetland to take a three point shot.

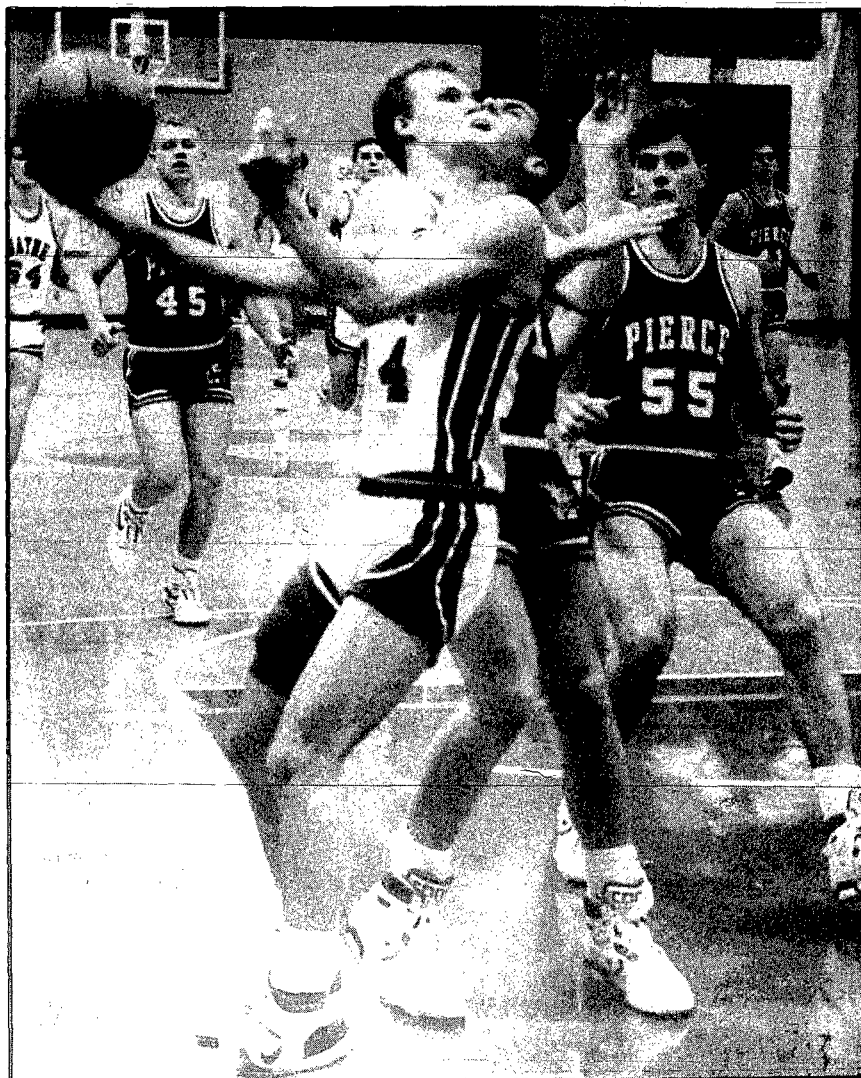

Pierce played it well defensively and Sweetland was caught in the air with no where to go and thus a traveling call was whistled on him. Wayne was forced to foul quickly, but Pierce connected on its free throws and closed the door on Wayne's season.

Wildcats lose home court advantage

Wayne State rounded out its regular season schedule this past weekend with home contests against Pittsburg St., on Friday, and Missouri Southern on Saturday.

In Friday's game the Wildcats came out sluggish trailing 22-9 in the early going. Following a timeout however, Wayne State came out with their game faces on and out-scored the Gorillas of Pittsburg St., 26-8, to take a five point lead into intermission at 35-30.

The second half was virtually owned by Wayne State as the JESSE ZEISS IS fouled while fast breaking toward his basket. In desperation, Zeiss flers the ball toward the bucket in hopes of a possible three point play. Wayne did not play one of its better all-around games, thus losing by a 47-42 count.

"We played way too tentative," Uhing said. "The kids were afraid of losing." Rob Sweetland and Jarrod Wood combined for 37 of Wayne's 42 points. Sweetland managed to score 20 while Wood managed 17. Sweetland nailed three 3-pointers for the game.

Although the season ended rather abruptly for the Blue Devils they still have to look back and consider the season a success even though you might say it was the tale of two seasons.

After suffering through a 3-5 start in December, Wayne managed to finish off the year going 10-2 with losses coming to Class A teams South Sioux and Sioux City West. The Blue Devils captured the Northern Activities Conference, (NAC) tournament title and finished runner-up to South Sioux for the regular season crown.

"I think our squad showed a lot of character coming back after the slow start we had," Uhing said. "That's a tribute to the seniors on the team. They are a great bunch of kids and they are good practice players."

Even with the success the Blue Devils experienced through the first month and a half of the new year, the loss to Pierce will be hard to swallow for a while. "Offensively we just weren't aggressive," assistant Ron Carnes said. "We didn't penetrate very well and we only shot 10 free throws for the entire game. That means we weren't aggressive."

Wayne only connected on four of its 10 free throw attempts while Pierce nailed down 13 of its 21 attempts. Both teams totaled 24 rebounds with Doug Larsen leading the way for Wayne with six.

Wildcats controlled the tempo and never let Pittsburg St. back in the game. Wayne State went on to win by a 94-82 count.

"We turned up the defensive intensity after a slow start," coach Steve Aggers said. "I thought our defensive put forth an excellent effort." Four Wildcats were in double figures led by Marques Wilson's 24 points. Steve Dunbar added 12 while Mike Rombout poured in 11. Eric Priebe was the fourth member of the exclusive double digit club with 10.

A total of 11 Wildcat players found the scoring column on the evening. Doug Kuzak scored eight points while Mike McNamara netted seven. Casey Gates and Oliver Cesair scored six points each and the two-some of Arnie Hayes and Byron Young accounted for four points each. Rounding out the successful evening in scoring was Sherman Petite with two.

Incidentally, Wilson also led the team in rebounding with 16 caroms to his credit.

Cats lose to Southern
On Saturday, Wayne State was looking to close out the regular season with a victory, and the odds looked pretty good against Missouri Southern who came in with an 0-13 record in league play.

It was a very physical game and the contest was marred by a bench clearing fight which saw the ejection of Wayne States' starting point guard in Steve Dunbar, along with Missouri Southern's back-up point guard Rodney Adsida.

Again the Wildcats came out sluggish. Steve Dunbar scored Wayne State's first points of the contest with nearly four minutes of the game already gone. Dunbar hit from bonus range for three points.

Marques Wilson made his statement early to Southern. He owned the boards all game long and finished with 19 caroms. At any rate, Wayne State went ahead 13-6 before Southern hit a run to closed the gap to 14-13 with still 10:36 remaining until intermission.

Wakefield comeback falls short

Last season the Wakefield Trojans made it to the regional finals, the final step before state, before losing to Bancroft-Rosalie. The Panthers defeated Paul Eaton's Trojans fairly soundly.

This season Wakefield vowed to get at least to where they were last season, and they did. Monday night in Wayne's high school gym, Wakefield played Walthill in the regional final.

The out-come was a Walthill victory of four points, 68-64, but the contest took on many different looks. A capacity crowd gathered to witness the re-match of the two squads. Wakefield won the earlier contest in a very close ball game and Walthill was out to avenge that loss.

Matt Tappe got things off in the right direction for the Trojans with a 3-pointer. Scott Lund also hit jump shot which tied the score at five. Wakefield would never lead again nor would the score ever be tied again. However, that doesn't mean the game was a route.

Walthill managed to out-score Wakefield 19-11 in the opening quarter. The Trojans quickly found themselves down by a 23-11 count right away in the second quarter and the news got worse. Andy McQuistan, Wakefield's star inside player was whistled for his fourth foul and had to leave the game with 7:48 remaining in the half.

Mark Johnson tried to pick up the slack by hitting Wakefield's next two shots, but the loss of the big inside player which was also the Trojans main defensive weapon against Dave Wingett, was too much to overcome and Wakefield trailed at the intermission by 14, 34-20.

The Trojans managed to cut the lead to 10 with 3:40 remaining in the third period with the aid of some offensive rebounds by Andy McQuistan and the shooting touch of Mark Johnson. In fact, during one brief stretch in the third quarter, Johnson connected on six straight Trojan points.

Wakefield was also playing good defense until Wingett headed towards the hoop and Johnson was whistled for a blocking foul instead of an apparent charge. Johnson in his frustration, muttered to the official who quickly whistled a technical foul.

In essence, it ended up being a five point play and could easily have been seven but Walthill missed its shot after receiving the ball after the technical foul. With the score standing at 55-37, the Trojans never gave up. They hit their final shot of the quarter and the score was 55-39 at the end of the third quarter.

Wakefield began its vicious comeback right away in the fourth quarter. The Trojans put on a tenacious full-court press and it accounted for some easy buckets which allowed Wakefield to get some momentum. Scott Lund recorded two steals and converted for five minutes in a matter of seconds to cut the lead to six at 58-52.

Walthill though, converted on four straight free throws to push the lead back to double figures at 62-52. Lund, playing in his last high school basketball game, put forth a heroic effort in the final quarter. He came up with an offensive rebound and connected on another short jumper to keep Wakefield within striking distance.

Chris Loofe then connected on a 16-footer to close the gap to 62-56 with still 2:49 left. Following a missed shot by Walthill, Stuart Clark was fouled and sent to the line. Clark connected on both free throws to close the gap to four points, 62-58.

Andy McQuistan then fouled out as Dave Wingett rolled to the basket with a driving lay up. The shot was good and Wingett, who finished the game with 26 points, connected on the free throw to make it a 65-58 count.

Chris Loofe came down the floor for Wakefield and unleashed a long range 3-pointer and the score went to 65-61. Walthill was fouled on their next possession and missed its free throw. Mark Johnson came down the floor and drilled a 3-pointer with a defender in his face to move the score to 65-64 with still 32 seconds left.

Walthill converted its next two free throw attempts and with 22 seconds left, Wakefield called time-out trailing by three, 67-64. The Trojans had a play set up to tie the game, but a turnover and a foul ended their hopes of a complete comeback.

Mark Johnson finished the game with 21 points to lead Trojans while Andy McQuistan and Matt Tappe netted 10 each. Scott Lund finished with nine while Tony Krusemark poured in six. Chris Loofe added five and Stuart Clark tossed in three.

Wildcats

Wayne State clung to a three point lead at halftime at 33-30. There were a lot of near incidents in the first half as both teams made it clear that they did not like each other.

The game remained close throughout the second half with Wayne State maintaining leads of five to six points. Then the fight broke out after both teams scrambled after a loose ball. Following a five minute delay in play, the referees ejected Dunbar. The incident happened with just over 10 minutes remaining in regulation.

Southern managed a short run which tied the contest and from there, both teams traded buckets. Southern however, mounted another short run and with 3:44 remaining, the visitors had a 58-53 lead.

The Wildcats trailed by seven with 2:49 remaining, but Marques Wilson sank a shot following an offensive rebound and Byron Young drilled a 3-pointer from the professional range to cut the gap to 64-60.

Southern made a tough on the Wildcats as they connected on most of their free throws down the stretch. They built their lead back to seven points at 67-60 before Byron Young sank another 3-pointer from long range. Southern then missed on its next one-and-one attempt and Marques Wilson was fouled and sent to the line. He made both free throws and had cut the gap to 67-65 with 20 seconds remaining.

Southern was fouled again and they made both ends of their one-and-one opportunity. Wayne State came hustling down and attempted a 3-pointer but it was off the mark and Marques Wilson was there to put it back in to cut the gap to 69-67 with eight seconds remaining.

The Wildcats fouled on the ensuing in-bounds pass. Southern missed its free throw attempt and Wayne State came down court for the final chance to tie or win the game with a 3-pointer. The play the Wildcats designed was beautiful but it did not work completely. Byron Young came down the court and drove the baseline and threw the ball off the glass for Marques Wilson to get the rebound and hopefully put the shot in.

Young's pass off the glass was a little hard and Wilson was unable to get the proper grip and shot off before the buzzer.

"We played hard but we didn't play well," coach Steve Aggers said. "We just didn't execute very well and Southern played with a vengeance. They certainly didn't play like an 0-13 team."

Marques Wilson led the squad with 24 points while Steve Dunbar netted 11 before he was ejected. Eric Priebe, Mike McNamara and Byron Young all netted six points each while Arnie Hayes and Oliver Cesair scored four each. Doug Kuszak, Mike Rombout and Sherman Petite added two apiece. As mentioned earlier, Marques Wilson was a force on the boards coming away with 19 rebounds.

With Wayne State's loss, the Wildcats lost their home court advantage for the first round of the District 11 play-offs which begin this Thursday. Wayne State will travel to Fremont to play Midland in a 7:30 p.m. contest.

There will be a chartered bus going to the game for $10 a person. If interested contact Pete Chapman at 375-2200 ext. 520, to reserve a seat.

Focusing on Dietrich Bonhoeffer

Ecumenical Campus Ministry sponsoring play

"The End, The Beginning of Life: The Prison Experiences of Dietrich Bonhoeffer" will be presented in Ley Theatre on the Wayne State College campus on Tuesday, March 14 at 8 p.m.

The one-man show, starring Michael Shannon as German theologian Dietrich Bonhoeffer, is being sponsored by the Wayne Ecumenical Campus Ministry.

The Rev. Beverley Nitschke, campus pastor, said the public is invited to attend the performance. There is no admission, however donations will be received to help defray costs of the performance. Donations received up to $200 will be matched by Lutheran Brotherhood Branch 8212.

THE PLAY IS set in Tegel Military Prison in 1944 Berlin, Germany and depicts Bonhoeffer's imprisonment for his participation in the unsuccessful conspiracy to assassinate Adolf Hitler.

Based on Bonhoeffer's poetry, personal memoirs and letters, the play blends history, literature, theology and theatre.

Originally produced by Emory University in Atlanta, Ga., the play is now on tour nationwide.

BONHOEFFER WAS born in 1906 in Breslau, Germany. He became a theologian, studying and later teaching at Berlin University until forbidden to do so by the National-Socialist authorities in 1936.

His books and essays, including "The Cost of Discipleship" and "Act and Being," are considered classic statements of 20th century theology.

Despite his pacifist convictions, Bonhoeffer became associated with political and military leaders in the German resistance movement who were preparing to assassinate Hitler and overthrow the Nazi government.

Bonhoeffer was arrested in 1943 and spent the first 18 months of his confinement in the military prison at Tegel. During this time he communicated through letters, many of which now appear in "Letters and Papers from Prison."

Two attempts were made on Hitler's life. Both failed, and eventually enough incriminating evidence was gathered by the Gestapo to convict Bonhoeffer and other members of the conspiracy.

Bonhoeffer was executed by the Nazis at Flossenburg Concentration Camp on April 9, 1945, several days before it was liberated by American troops.

by Pat Melerhenry

The Farmer's Wife is still on vacation. I didn't think she'd seen last week's column until I noticed a new book on her desk. It's entitled "The Perfect Crime." I was a little worried when I saw the book, but not nearly as worried as I was when I looked inside the cover and found her sister Mary had sent it!

Are you one of those farmers, like me, who feels resentment start to creep through his body when a news article he's reading talks about farm subsidies as a total disaster and farmers as a bunch of cry-babies with their hand held out to Uncle Sam on a permanent basis?

If you are, then don't dig up a January Reader's Digest and check out the article entitled "Uncle Sam's Farm Follies." My resentment comes not from the content of the article because sadly enough, it is quite accurate, the examples described probably true, and it is written by a farmer.

WHAT BOTHERS me most is the thought of all the readers who've never set foot on a farm and know almost nothing of the complexities unique to agriculture. In my opinion, the majority of that group of readers will finish the article with the feeling that a farmer's principle enterprise is robbing them of their tax dollars and the federal government is helping them to do it. Am I right?

The most depressing part of the whole story comes in the next to the last paragraph where the farmer-writer says: "We're writing crop rotation plans for the next 16 years to qualify for subsidies. We can't drain wet spots or change the location of drainage ditches. The government tells us what, how much and where to plant. If we opt out of the program, we'd still be competing with farmers in the program who will receive nearly twice as much for their crops. Consequently, we follow the rules."

ONE OF THE most distinct memories I have of being a farm boy was knowing my hands smelled like cow manure when I went to high school and no matter how hard I soaped and scrubbed the smell was still there, or at least I thought it was. Another was that wherever I went, and the fact that my dad was a farmer came up in the conversation, I knew there was respect. That's because 20 or 30 years ago, the two most used adjectives descriptive of farmers were honest and hard-working. Probably more than any other occupation, a farmer was looked upon as the king of respectability.

Even then there were jokes about lawyers such as, "So-and-So is so crooked, when he dies they'll have to screw him into the ground." Today there are probably more jokes about farmers and handouts than there are about lawyers and IRS agents combined. If you haven't heard any, better turn up your hearing aid a notch!

So where do we go from here? I have some very good friends who have never taken an agricultural subsidy or participated in a USDA program. They market much of their production through livestock. What would we do with all the beef and pork though, if every farmer did that? Many farmers have tried, some successfully, to raise alternative crops and it has become their means of survival without the government. The writer of the Reader's Digest article wonders if "we farmers know something that hasn't occurred to most of the folks in Washington: the time for massive farm subsidies is past."

TWO OF THE most popular political promises in the 1980's are 1) Tell farm voters that after election, farm subsidies will be expanded, improved, and made more adaptable to every farmer large or small; and 2) Tell urban audiences that he or she will cut, slash, or completely eliminate all or most agricultural subsidies, thus providing considerable tax relief.

My political philosophy is pretty conservative, but the most basic change which it includes is an eight year limit on the term of office for all federal lawmakers. The self-perpetuating concept of federal government as we have it today leaves considerable room for improvement.

Last night I had a dream. In it the author of the above article and I were going from office to office in Washington saying to each occupant: "We're from the farm, and we're here to help you!"

ADULT ED CLASSES

The ballroom dancing class, which will begin at Wakefield school on March 17, needs a few more couples according to Connie Utecht, adult education coordinator. Couples will learn to waltz, foxtrot, polka and swing under the direction of Roger and Alice Gentzler. A minimum of 20 couples is needed for the class.

Also small engine repair and cooking classes could use more students. The engine class meets on Tuesday evenings for eight weeks and the cooking class will meet on Tuesday beginning March 14.

Mrs. Utecht also encourages anyone interested in the golf instruction this spring to register now. There will be limited enrollment in the class and it will help to plan knowing in advance how many are interested.

For additional information on the classes or to register, call Mrs. Utecht at the Wakefield schools.

The adult education classes are jointly sponsored by the Wakefield Community School and Northeast Community College in Norfolk.

Mrs. Muller mentioned that some women are working at home ripping old clothing, cutting blocks and sewing tops. If others wish to work at home they should contact her. The next quilt day is March 8.

TUFFY BENSON accepts a special plaque from the officer in charge at the Wakefield Post Office, Janelle McTaggart. Watching is Benson's grandson, Matt Benson.

Benson retires from route

Alfred "Tuffy" Benson, retiring after 24 years of service with the U.S. Postal Service, was guest of honor at an open house Tuesday afternoon at the Wakefield Post Office.

The open house fell on the last day of his route (Feb. 28). He had been the rural route carrier on Route 1 out of Wakefield.

Tuffy began his postal career carrying mail as a substitute for rural carrier Berneal Gustafson. After Harold Holm retired, Benson was transferred from Route 2 to Route 1.

Benson traveled 116 miles daily on his route and served 222 families. He was also known for his kindness to animals, as he occasionally fed dogs along his route. He averaged 10 feet of mail 300 days a year.

Now Benson, recently elected to the Wakefield City Council, plans on doing some fishing, hunting, trapping and growing up with his grandchildren.

Both Benson and Sandy Otte, current Route 2 carrier, were recently recognized by the Postal Service for their safe driving record. Both carriers each have 10 years of service without an accident.

Otte will officially take over as carrier for Route 1 on March 11.

MONEY MATTERS

Interest Rates vs Ownership

At a time of frenzied investments with high interest rates, it might be a good time to step back and look at the record of stocks, bonds and money market securities.

Over the past six decades, we've had 11 bull markets and only 9 bear markets.

The bull markets' average length has been 44 months, and the bear markets', only 18 months.

From January 1, 1982, to November 1, 1988, a period that includes the October 19 crash, the Dow Jones Industrial Average rose from 882 to 2,152. 114 percent.

Over the long-term, stocks have consistently outpaced inflation by 4.5% to 5%.

From 1926 through 1987, the years for which records are available, total returns on stocks averaged 9.9% per year, compared with 4.9% on bonds and 3.5% on money market funds.

Certainly there is no one investment which can fulfill all your investment goals, we all need to plan our entire financial future comprehensively. Stop by my office at 416 Main, or call for an appointment at 375-1848 to discuss the right mix of investments that will help meet your personal financial goals. Remember, money matters.

How to know if someone you love is having a heart attack. It's easy to mistake the early symptoms of a heart attack for indigestion. In fact, most heart attack victims wait three hours before they seek medical help. But one-third of all heart attack victims never survive the first three hours. When a heart attack strikes, time is critical, seconds count. Know the Warning Signs... It Could Save a Life! PAIN or unusual discomfort IN THE CHEST, may spread to one or both shoulders, arms, neck or jaw, lasting for several minutes. Pain often accompanied by SWEATING, NAUSEA, WEAKNESS, VOMITING or FAINTING. Chest pain that starts in stressful situations—an argument, eating a big meal, watching an exciting television show or a sudden shock. Warning signs may be preceded by several days of vague chest discomfort or not feeling well. If you are with someone showing the signs of a heart attack, expect denial. The thought of having a heart attack is scary, but you must insist they be examined by a medical professional immediately. By responding quickly you can dramatically increase their chances for a complete recovery. Being a part of Midwest Heart Institute Cardiac Emergency Network means we are specifically prepared to evaluate and treat chest pain. It's good to know your doctor has a comprehensive network, linking us to Sioux City heart specialists, to provide you with state-of-the-art treatment, clot dissolving drugs and advanced lifesaving techniques. Your quick response during the highly critical first hours following a heart attack could make the difference between life and death. If you or someone you love is having chest pain lasting more than a few minutes, call for emergency assistance at once. It's better to find out it's only indigestion than to wait and find out critical heart damage has been done! Heart attack warning sign cards are available at all network hospitals. OTC Medicines May Relieve Insomnia

Insomnia — the inability to sleep during normal sleeping hours — is a problem reported by many individuals. Half the population experiences insomnia at some time. Sleep problems are commonly reported as being associated with excessive levels of stress and anxiety, changes in daily rhythm (e.g., vacations), depression, aging, pain, physical discomforts, and the consumption of certain foods or drink (e.g., caffeinated beverages). A recent Gallup poll of people over age 60 found that four out of ten were experiencing some type of sleeping problem (e.g., awakening several times during the night).

There are many physical and psychological causes of insomnia. Sleep problems may also be associated with taking certain prescription medicines (e.g., thyroid hormone, asthma preparations that have adrenalin-like properties, and stimulants such as the amphetamines).

OTC (over-the-counter) sleep medicines usually contain an antihistamine which may produce drowsiness. Antihistamines in these products include diphenhydramine, pyrilamine, doxylamine, and phenyltoloxamine. The effectiveness of OTC sleep product ingredients has been found to vary from individual to individual.

The Golden Years by Gil Haase

The heart of an older person appears to pump about as well as that of a young adult, and any problems related to the older heart's ability to move blood may be considered the effect of disease, not aging. That is just one of the findings of research sponsored by the National Institute on Aging (NIA) since its establishment in 1975. Congress created the NIA after finding there was no American institution "that has undertaken comprehensive, systematic and intensive studies of the biomedical and behavioral aspects of aging."

At 84, Floyd Sexton is well known in Arkansas as an un-tiring volunteer. He took the volunteer path in 1968, to keep active in retirement. First he helped to organize the Texarkana Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons and became its first president. But his interests are much broader. At one point he served on the boards of 19 organizations! Among his latest doings: organizing current events classes for seniors. "Staying useful will keep you young," Sexton says.

Remember When? July 4, 1948 — The Philippines became independent, as the United States had promised 12 years earlier. The timetable remained unchanged despite Japanese occupation of the Philippines from 1941 until American troops liberated the islands in heavy fighting in 1944 and 1945.

In concert

The Wayne-Carroll Varsity Band, which was scheduled to play a 45-minute concert as one of the Honor Bands at the Nebraska Bandmasters Association on Thursday, March 2 but didn't because of the weather conditions, will still perform.

They have scheduled a 45-minute concert, using the same music they would have performed at the Bandmaster's event at Lincoln, for Monday, March 6 at Ramsey Theatre on the Wayne State College campus. The concert begins at 7:30 p.m.

Poet here

Poet Maura Stanton, the recipient of many national awards including the Yale Series of Younger Poets Award, will be at Wayne State College Tuesday, March 14, at 4:30 p.m. as part of the 1988-89 Plains Writers Circuit.

The poetry reading will take place in the second-floor lounge of the Humanities Building at Wayne State.

Stanton, who currently lives in Bloomington, Indiana, chairs the Creative Writing Program at Indiana State University and directs the Indiana University Writers' Conference.

In addition to her books of poetry, Stanton published a novel, "Molly Companion," which was set in South America.

Her poem and stories have appeared in many magazines including "The New Yorker," "American Poetry Review," "The Atlantic," and "Ploughshares."

One act

"The End, The Beginning of Life: The Prison Experiences of Dietrich Bonhoeffer," will be presented Tuesday, March 14 at 8 p.m. in Ley Theatre located in the Brandenburg Education Building at Wayne State College. This one-man show is sponsored by the Wayne Ecumenical Campus Ministry.

This play depicts Bonhoeffer's imprisonment for his participation in the unsuccessful conspiracy to assassinate Adolf Hitler.

The one act play, starring Michael Shannon, was written by playwright David W. Newton.

"I hope this performance will allow you to catch a glimpse of Bonhoeffer's profound passion and commitment to his faith and the world," said Newton. "His hopes and struggles are worthy of reflection during this Lenten season."

Admission is free.

Dangerous storm hits area

Those traveling on the road to Spring ran smack into a detour this past weekend as a mixture of freezing drizzle and heavy snowfall dropped in on Wayne and the surrounding area.

The storm began Thursday morning as the freezing drizzle made highways, streets and sidewalks treacherous for driving and walking. On through the night the icy conditions continued. Then on Friday, the area woke up to more freezing drizzle and snowfall.

Those people traveling on Friday reported that the going was difficult because the ice would often build up on the windshields.

Several schools in the area — Winside, Allen, Wakefield and Laurel-Concord — called off classes on Friday because of the dismal conditions. Wayne-Carroll schools began classes the same day, but at 2 p.m. sent the students home because of the deteriorating weather conditions.

Winds were expected to increase up to 35 miles per hour, causing blowing and drifting snow. And another four inches of snow was expected to fall on Friday evening.

The additional snowfall was to continue on Saturday, with higher temperatures and little precipitation anticipated on Sunday.

Opera singer to perform at WSC

Metropolitan Opera tenor Stanford Olsen will perform Thursday, March 16, at 8 p.m. as the final installment in Wayne State College's 1988-89 Black & Gold Series.

The performance will take place in Ramsey Theatre, located in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Building at Wayne State.

Olsen made his MET debut in "I Puritani" opposite Dame Joan Sutherland in 1986, and his Carnegie Recital Hall debut in 1987 singing Tchaikovsky songs (in Russian).

A winner of the 1986 Metropolitan Opera National Council Auditions, Olsen has received critical acclaim from throughout the United States for his on-stage confidence and dapper performances.

Guest performances have included the Cincinnati Chamber Orchestra, the San Diego Master Choral, the Cincinnati Choral Society and the Salt Lake City Pro Musica.

Olsen's long list of awards include the New York opera Club's "Opera Index" award, the American Opera Auditions, and the Eleanor Steber Music Foundation Award. He also studied at the University of Utah and the Aspen Music Festival.

Tickets, which are $4, are on sale in the Business Office, first floor of the Hahn Administration Building at Wayne State.

Students may obtain tickets at the Information Desk in the lower level of the Student Center with the proper identification cards. Faculty and staff can acquire tickets in the Budget & Finance Office, third floor of Hahn.

Wayne to host theatre association

The 1989 Nebraska Association of Community Theatres Festival will take place next weekend in Wayne at Wayne State College's Ramsey Theatre.

The March 10-12 Festival will feature one-hour cuttings of major theatrical productions or one act plays, performed in competition by various community theatres in Nebraska.

Each participating theatre is allowed 10 minutes to set up, 60 minutes to produce and 10 minutes to strike. After each production, the two adjudicators will give a 10-minute critique for the actors.

Adjudicators for the festival are Dr. Andre Sedriks of Wayne State and Bruce Bunger of Morningside College in Sioux City.

Gil Haase of Wayne and Julie Persinger, vice president of the Nebraska Association of Community Theatres from Grand Island, are co-chairing this year's festival co-sponsored by the Nebraska Association of Community Theatres and Wayne Community Theatre.

On Friday evening, besides rehearsal time there will be a mixer at the Varsity. Then on Saturday morning, Dr. Sedriks will give a seminar on "The Director and the Volunteer Actor" followed by Bunger and "Beyond Learning Lines". Lunch and the annual business meeting will follow in the student center.

At 1:30, the participating theatres will start their competition.

At press time, these include Columbus, Blair, Weeping Water and Broken Bow. Others, however, are expected to register before registration closes. If no more than four do register, there will be no Sunday competition.

Registration for the entire weekend is $55 which includes two years membership in the Nebraska Association of Community Theatres, the two seminars and all productions. Individual tickets are $2 at the door per play for the Wayne community and others just wanting to see the performances.

Nebraska's winning theatre will go to the regional in Springfield, Missouri followed by the nationals in Omaha.

Planting preparations emphasized

Farmers will base this spring's planting decisions on available soil moisture and the precipitation outlook for the growing season.

Soil moisture can be measured as soon as the ground thaws. But estimating precipitation takes guesswork. And of the latter, Alice Jones, an University of Nebraska-Lincoln agronomist, said: "You have to be optimistic or pessimistic."

Jones along with other soil and climate specialists tried to remove some of the uncertainty in a recent statewide video conference.

The specialists advised producers on how to cope with various moisture conditions in terms of crop selection, plant population, fertilization, weed control and market trends at "The Spring Planting Outlook: Weather, Crops and Decisions."

An update on the conference will be broadcast March 23.

Ken Hubbard and Don Wilhite, both UNL agricultural meteorology and climatology professors, provided outlooks on spring water surface supply, precipitation and temperatures.

Drought and below normal snowfall seriously depleted Western reservoirs. Wilhite said many areas of the West this winter did not receive the above normal snowpack needed to refill reservoirs to average levels.

High elevation snowpack in the North Platte River Basin was about average as of Jan. 1, he said. But snowpack in the Missouri and South Platte River basins generally is below average. Consequently, the Army Corps of Engineers expects water runoff in the Missouri basin to be slightly less than average this year.

Chances are better than average that the state will see above normal temperatures and precipitation up to April. The snow and ice that fell on Thursday and Friday are evidence of that.

But the probability is 5 to 40 percent that enough precipitation will fall by April 30 to achieve full soil water recharge. "As the growing season approaches, producers will want to assess soil water available in specific fields," Hubbard said.

Don Sander, an extension soils specialist, said subsoil moisture in dryland eastern Nebraska generally is low. And, without above average precipitation this spring and summer, timely rains will be needed to recharge soil moisture.

But, he said, farmers can compensate for drought effects by reducing tillage, maintaining weed control through rotation and herbicides, reducing plant populations and using starter fertilizers only when soil tests show deficiencies.

Other drought control methods include planning to sidedress nitrogen to provide for better evaluation of yield potential and planting more sorghum, soybeans and small grains.

"The dryland farmer can't make it rain," Sander said. "But he can make the water he has go as far as possible."

Phonathon record established at WSC

The Wayne State Foundation raised a record $114,000 during its annual nationwide alumni phone campaign this winter.

This amount surpassed the Foundation's $100,000 goal, the highest single fund raising goal ever set at Wayne State College.

Much of this year's campaign success can be attributed to Wayne State's new leadership, according to J. Alan Cramer, president of the Wayne State College Foundation.

"With Donald Mash, our new College president, there appears to be a new vitality surrounding Wayne State College," Cramer said. "He has been very well-received and has brought new life to the College."

"This drive demonstrates that people are aware of the new upbeat atmosphere on campus — and they are excited about a new Wayne State College."

Cramer says this and other support from alumni and benefactors of the College are important today in public education.

"The Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges had an outside firm conduct an adequacy funding study during the past year," Cramer says. "It showed that Wayne State College is underfunded when compared to other state colleges."

Even though the study indicates Wayne State lacks adequate state funding, private donations generated by the phonathon will fill part of the void.

With phonathon proceeds, the Foundation will fund College programs and award scholarships to Wayne State College students. "We can be the difference between mediocrity and something better," Cramer says.

Shane Giese, director of development, says graduates understand the important role private support plays in maintaining and improving the quality of education at their alma mater.

"Their interest and concern for the development of Wayne State College is the driving force behind the generous support and success of the phonathon," Giese said. "They recognize that we are a valuable resource for this region."

More than 11,000 alumni, parents and friends of Wayne State College were contacted during the month-long phonathon. Students, faculty, staff and Foundation members made the calls.

Total building permits down from previous year

By Chuck Hockenmiller
Managing editor

Although the total building permits issued in 1988 was less than the total permits distributed in 1987, total valuation increased over the previous year.

There were 28 building permits issued in 1988, compared to a total 30 building permits provided the year before. The total valuation rose from $804,138 in 1987 to $937,589 in 1988.

The largest valuation in 1988, according to a report from the city offices, came from the building addition to Providence Medical Center which totaled $404,850.

A breakdown of 28 building permits issued in 1988 is as follows:

— Six permits for new homes. In 1987, there were nine permits for new residential homes and duplexes, compared to four in 1986.
— 12 permits issued for additions/alterations of existing non-commercial structures. There were six permits for residential additions and remodeling in 1987 and nine permits in 1986.

— Two were issued for new commercial structures. There were none of these permits issued in 1987.

— Two were for new accessory structures such as detached garages.

— And four were issued for "other" structures, such as sign or electrical work.
