Wayne author promotes singing in classroom

A children's book authored by Lois Youngerman of Wayne may have a lot of young children singing these days.

At the same time the children are absorbing valuable knowledge on a wide variety of classroom subjects — all while singing a familiar tune.

The book, entitled "Sunny Songs" contains over 150 songs. It is considered a positive approach in teaching, using singing skills to enhance learning.

Youngerman is presently a Bachelor or Arts degree in music and education and served as music instructor in various schools.

IT WAS YEARS ago when Youngerman started teaching at a school in California where a majority of her students were Mexican teaching kindergarten at the Lau-rel-Concord Public School. She has a Bachelor or Arts degree in music and education and served as music instructor in various schools.

decided to take a familiar tune that most young people recognize and arrange the lyrics to a topic that the Mexican students could understand.

understand.

"They were having fun singing and at the same time were learning to read," said Youngerman. From then on, Youngerman continued to add more songs. Familiar melodies sung by children, such as "Three Blind Mice" or "Way Down Yonder in the Paw Paw Patch" were combined with Youngerman's creative lyrics about animals that hibernate, or about what to look for when Spring arrives.

One of the songs in the book, which is now in its third printing, is all about Leprechauns. It is sung to the tune of Yankee Doodle and the verses are:

I saw a little leprechaun Go hide behind a tree. He peeked right out and saw us there, and winked his eye at me.

Bright green suit and pointed With gold buckles on them His mushroom keeps off drops of He holds it by the thick stem.

YOUNGERMAN said a kinderarten student may not know what a leprechaun is. But by singing the song, they would be able to recognize the imaginary leprechaun by remembering the lyrics in the

The book has songs corresponding with every month of the year, covering "any holiday you can imagine, such as Grandparent's Day, Chinese New Year, Adopt a Dog Day, Groundhog Day or Arbor Day," said Youngerman. "From the songs the student can pick up lessons in social studies, science, math and other classroom subjects," she said.

*All that is needed is to know the melody. Because the tunes are so familiar, there is no need to play the piano. Just look at the song in the book and sing it," Youngerman said.

No day goes by without singing in Youngerman's kindergarten classroom at Laurel. "The children know hundreds of songs. Songs are sung every day. Everything in each songs is easy for the kids to retain," she remarked. I have found that my students seem to have a broader knowledge of things."

CLAUDIA Dvorak, K-12 music coordinator and instructor at Laurel-Concord, assisted Youngerman the publishing of the song book. the "foreword", Dvorak said Youngerman has provided a unique but simple and effective avenue to greater teaching goals.

"Teaching educational skills through music has been found to greatly enhance learning. Because retention is a primary objective in any education program, teachers are encouraged to use musical means to teach a multiplicity of basic skills," Dvorak wrote. "I have found that in using these songs, students become creative and begin creating their words to favorite familiar tunes."

Said Youngerman in the book's "An Author Shares" section: "Music has been a "Sunny Song" for me since I was a very young girl...I wanted the absorbing minds of the students to understand that young students to understand that Bonhoeffer, the play is set in Tegel Military Prison in 1944 Berlin, Ger-many and depicts Bonhoeffer's imprisonment for his participation in the unsuccessful conspiracy to assassinate Adolf Hitler.

Based on Bonhoeffer's poetry, personal memoirs and letters, the play blends history, literature, theology and theatre

BONHOEFFER WAS born in 1906 in Breslau, Germany, the son of well-known psychiatrist Karl Bonhoeffer.

He became a theologian, studying and later teaching at Berlin University, until forbidden to do so by the National-Socialist au-thorities in 1936. He also served as a pastor in Barcelona and oper-ated an emergency seminary in Pomerania for young ministers in the Confessing Church. His books and essays, among them "The Cost of Discipleship" and "Act and Being," are consid-ered classic statements of 20th century theology.

For Bonhoeffer, Christianity did not remove him from the world, but rather compelled him to be-come involved in the life of his country. Despite his pacifist convictions, he became associated with political and military leaders in the German resistance movement who were preparing to assassinate Hitler and overthrow the Nazi gov-

BONHOEFFER WAS arrested

BONHOEFFER WAS arrested on April 5, 1943 and spent the first 18 months of his confinement in the military prison at Tegel.

During this time, he communicated through letters, many of which now appear in "Letters and Papers From Prison."

Two attempts were made on Hitler's life, the final one on July 20, 1944. Both failed, and eventually enough incriminating evidence was gathered by the Gestapo to convict Bonhoeffer and other members of the conspiracy.

Bonhoeffer was executed by the Nazis at Flossenburg Concen-tration Camp on April 9, 1945, several days before it was liberated by American troops.

APPEARING IN the role of Dietrich Bonhoeffer is actor Michael Shannon, a senior at the Candler School of Theology at Emory University, Atlanta, Ga.

Shannon, who has more than 15 years of theatrical experience, holds an MFA in theatre from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and has performed professionally throughout the Southeast. Southeast.

Giveaway prize drawings Thursday

Who will win the two grand prizes in the 1989 Wayne Great Giveaway III promotion? That question will be answered late Thursday afternoon, at 5:30, as the 16 finalists for the prizes gather at the Wayne Heraid and Marketer for one final drawing.

The field of contestants was complete on Tuesday with the last finalist drawing. Winners were Rick Smith of Allen, who had registered at Pizza Hut; and Leona Vrtiska of Wayne, who placed her entry at Bill's GW. Vicky Young of Laurel drew out the last two finalist names in the drawing at Hardee's of Wayne.

The 14 other finalists include Paul Dangberg, Marilyn Reitwisch, Virgil Kardell, Eva Brockman, Babs Middleton, Phyllis Rahn, Harold vinside.

Contestants are eligible to win one of two grand prizes: a Vacation Trip for Two, or $200 in Vacation Bucks.

The "trip" grand prize includes a choice of special flight packages to either Phoenix; Las Vegas; or any other major airport city in the entire continental United States. A bus tour is the fourth choice. Trio Travel of Wayne has purchased and coordinated these trips, all which include lodging with the exception of the following choice:

air travel only to and from any major airport city in the continental

United States. Contest sponsors throughout the eight weeks of the contest include Sav-Mor Pharmacy; Trio Travel; Midwest Land Co.; ERA Property Eschange; Pac 'N' Save; The Wayne Herald and Marketer; Bill's GW; First National Bank; Pizza Hut; Century 21; Pamida; Ellingson Motors, Inc.; Fredrickson Oil Co. and Convenience Store; Stoltenberg Partners; Griess Rexall; Hardee's; Jones Intercable; and Logan Valley Implement Company, Inc. of Wayne.

Winside woman turns hobby into profession

Having her own sewing room has been a real thrill for Helen

Prior to remodeling their farm home in 1988, the rural Winside seamstress had used the family dining room as her work area.

Mrs. Holtgrew has been sewing for some 50 years, but it has only been in the past 14 years that "It all started when a couple of ladies from my church asked me to sew them some tops in 1975. I wrote down what I did and how much I charged," says Helen, holding up her little note book. "Things just expanded from there. This last year, I sewed for over 80 customers. A lot of the jobs are making alterations."

ONE OF HELEN'S most recent projects was a wedding gown she completed in December of 1988 for Kris Prososki of Omaha.
"Kris, a student at Wayne State College, came to me in October with some snapshots and magazine pictures. She started looking all over Omaha in August for a gown but couldn't find one she completely liked.

"We sat down, started putting her ideas together and designed our own gown," says Helen, adding that she first made a sample bodice from an old bed sheet so she could get a good fit and Kris could see if she liked it.

Helen estimates it took her approximately 100 hours to complete Kris' gown — the fifth wedding dress she has designed.

The white satin gown is covered with scalloped rose lace and designed with Bishop sleeves, a sweetheart neckline with bridal illusions and a stand-up lace appliqued collar, and a cutout back with strings of pearl beads and appliqued lace on the train. Kris' mother finished the gown with some front bodice bead

HELEN SAYS SHE began sewing as a young girl in 4-H and followed in the footsteps of her mother and grandmother who also did a lot of sewing.

"I sewed for all six of our children," comments Helen, adding that up until 1949, all her sewing was done on a treadle machine or by hand. "My husband Bill bought me a new electric Singer in 1949, and now I'm on my third machine."

Helen and Bill have resided on a farm since their marriage 40 years ago. An attractive wooden television stand which decorates the couple's kitchen actually is a 65-year-old Damascus (sold by Montgomery Wards) treadle machine which belonged to Bill's

"She was using it up to three years ago," smiles Helen, "so we know it still works."

HELEN ORGANIZED the Helping Hands 4-H Club and served as club leader for 11 years. "I learned a lot of 'tricks of the trade' from the 4-H fair judges."

Since taking up sewing nearly 50 years ago, Helen has tackled all kinds of sewing projects.

"I've made baton costumes, adult and children's coats, swimwear, Halloween costumes, Cabbage Patch dolls, Barbie doll clothes and Helen is proud to point out that at one time two of her men's suits and several other items were on display at a fabric shop in Lincoln where a friend worked.

FOR A LOCAL wedding several years ago, Helen made six attendant dresses in red velvet with white malabu using one size 12 pattern. The six dresses varied in size from 4 to 14.

half of them made from newspapers.

"Lots of times my customers have a favorite blouse or dress they've purchased and want more in the same style. I check my files and if I don't have anything like it we make one from newspaper.

"Sometimes I can use pieces from several patterns and combine them to get the desired style."

Helen says she can only remember turning down a sewing job one time. "It was a pleated collar," says Helen, "and it would have taken too long and cost the customer too much.

"I do, however, do skirt pleating," Helen is quick to point out.

HELEN SAYS MOST customers bring their own materials, pat-

In addition to receiving patterns from family members and friends, Helen says she has collected a lot of patterns from customers who don't want them after she's finished a sewing job.

Although she can usually complete an uncomplicated dress in about four to six hours, Helen says the material used makes a lot of difference. Light weight and silky materials are not my favorite to sew with."

THE HOLTGREWS have 14 grandchildren and Helen says she tries to make something for each grandchild at Christmastime.

"Last year I knitted six sweater vests for the girls. One year I appliqued 13 sweatshirts and another year made six Cabbage Patch at tarm sales. "We all make our own doughnuts, pies and tavern," says Helen, adding that she remembers one large sale when the women baked 15 pies.

Helen also has done cake decorating for weddings, anniversaries and "lots of birthdays,"—although she says that it's not her favorite activity and she now decorates cakes for just family and friends.

In addition, she has done upholstering — "mostly tractor and approximate cast."

In addition, see has done upnoistering — "mostly tractor and motorcycle seats" — along with some chairs and a couch. "All this is done on my Singer also," smiles Helen.

Crafts, knitting and crocheting are also some of Helen's interests. She has been a member of Center Circle for 25 years and the Busy Bees Club for approximately 30 years.

The Winside woman has also played the church organ regularly the past eight years and substituted prior to that. In addition, she is a member of United Methodist Churchwomen and has held every office in the creativation. office in the organization.

WITH ALL HER other hobbies and interests, Helen says there still aren't many days that go by when she doesn't do some sewing. "I just love it."

Her next major project is to sew a wedding gown, three attendant dresses and a flower girl dress for an August wedding.

Choice bill nears final reading

A bill, labeled as the "choice bill" or "open enrollment bill" has won first-round approval after sev-eral days of intense debating this past week by the Nebraska State Legislature.

LB 183 is a measure allowing students to transfer into another school district with parental con-sent and no tuition costs. A student must make application and list the educational reasons for the trans-

As of Wednesday morning, the bill was nearly ready for final reading.

Senator Elroy Hefner, in his weekly news column, said that as the law now stands, transfers are difficult and costly. Transfers, he said, are available generally only when parents transfer their land into a neighboring district or are willing to pay tuition. Receiving dis-

Proponents, Hefner said, say students more control over their educational options.

"Opponents of the bill offered numerous amendments. They feel that the measure is a backdoor approach to rural school district consolidation and that it could fur-ther erode the financial resources of poorer districts, leaving them with fewer students and less money," Hefner mentioned.

STATE SENATOR Gerald Conway of Wayne, in his weekly col-umn, said the basic concept of the bill (as it now stands with the amendments) is that parents could choose what school district their children would attend regardless of where they reside where they reside.

school, they must apply and be ac-cepted by the receiving school six months in advance of their attendance. They will not be allowed to compete in athletics for one year and must stay at that school or return to their resident school," wrote Conway.

"They can only exercise the option once," he added. Several other "qualifiers" have also been added to the bill to provide a sense of order to the process.

Conway said that under the bill, if a student chooses to attend a different school, the resident dis-trict would pay their average per pupil cost into a fund and the receiving district could withdraw from the fund an amount equal to their per pupil cost.

ere they reside.

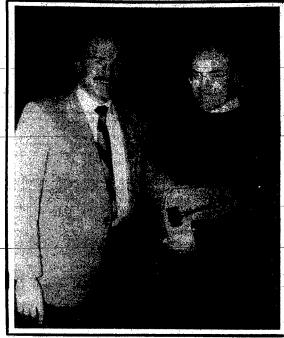

NO PROPERTY or taxing authority would move with the student. The funding adjustment is only in effect while the student is in a school other than their resident a school district.

Conway said the intent of the bill is to allow parents and students more involvement in their education and to make schools more responsive to students' needs.

Hefner said the "choice" program is expected to be phased in over several years, beginning in school year 1990-91. That year both school districts have to agree to the transfer.

When the new plan is fully operational, the home school district will have no control over transfers, Hefner said. The receiving school district will be able to close the district to transfers only if the district has no space or the transfers would create problems with would create problems desegregation orders.

At present, AT&T averages its long distance rates so that all calls long distance rates so that all calls of equal distance are priced the same, whether the call is made to a city or to a rural area — even though it costs much more to make a rural long distance call. This averaging involves cost-sharing among all local and long distance companies. It is justified by Federal law requiring universal nationwide phone service at just and reasonable rates. If rates are deaveraged in any way, it is likely that rural America will bear the brunt of

Mandatory auto inspection bill debated at hearing

For the second straight year the Emerson-Hubbard girls basketball team has come to Lincoln to represent us at the State Basketball Tournament. This year they came away as the Class C-2 Champions and finished with an undefeated season. Congratulations, we are all very proud of your accomplish-ments. There is nothing better to bring people out to demonstrate their pride and support of our communities than a winning sports team, unless it is a centennial celebration, and the Emerson area has benefited from both in one year. From the looks of the crowds I observed at the games there could not have been anyone left in Emerson unless they were weath-

"May you live to be 100" lan't just an upbeat toast anymore. The number of centenarians in the United States is steadily increasing, according to the National institute on Aging. In 1930 there were about 15,000 Americans who were 100 years old or more;
by 1986 the number had increased to 25,000. The Census Bureau projects that by 2000 there will be more than 100,000 centenarians.

How well does the Consumer Price Index reflect spending habits of older Americans? The question is important because Social Security cost-of-living increases are based on a CPI which excludes retired people. In a five-year study, an experimental index pegged to spending patterns of older people rose 19.5 percent, compared to 18.5 percent, compared to 18.5 percent for the standard index. Establishing an official index for older people requires Congressional approval and would take several years to put into operation.

Puttin' up with Pete By Kevin Peterson

Basketball season is over for all of the area teams covered in the Wayne Herald. Although none of the area teams made it to state, and neither college team made it safely through the District 11 tournament, there was still some very fine moments. This column is dedicated to both the Wayne high boys and girls basketball teams.

First the Blue Devil boys team. Coach Bob Uhing had a fine mixture of seniors blended in with some youth, especially with Willy Gross and Neil Carnes. From a personal standpoint, Wayne had a highly talented ball team. In my opinion, if the starting five all would have had a good game at the same time, the results would have been devastating to the

The closest the Blue Devils got to putting all the pieces together was when they defeated Seward and both times they defeated Cedar Catholic.

Wayne, as you might recall, suffered through a sub-par December, but bounced back to go 10-2 through the remainder of the regular season, with losses to only Class A squads Sioux City West and South Sioux.

Now for the players I was impressed with from the boys squad, larrod Wood and Rob Sweetland seemed to be the most consistent performers the Blue Devils had-all season. Oh sure, there were times when Sweetland was double teamed from the outside and he didn't score a plethora of points, and there were times when Wood suffered a few sub-par outings. But for the most part, I thought both of these players were vital to Jess Zeiss also did a fine job from his point guard slot. Zeiss quarter-backed the Blue Devil football team last fall, and continued his quarter-backing in basketball. Zeiss did a marvelous job of controlling the tempo for Wayne and I honestly believe that he had the finest look-away passes in the area.

Willy Gross and Doug Larsen seemed to have up and down years. In the first half of the season, I felt that Gross was doing a great job of scoring and Larsen seemed to be struggling. However, during the second half of the season I thought Larsen played some of the finest basketball that

When the Blue Devils played Hartington Cedar Catholic, I felt Larsen was the key to Wayne's victories. He did a marvelous job of playing defense on top scorers from other teams and he did a nice job of crashing Jed Reeg and Kevin Hausmann, along with Neil Carnes, did a fine job of fulfilling their roles on the Blue Devil roster. Reeg was very instrumental in some victories with his free throw accuracy. Carnes, a junior, hit the boards hard for Wayne as well as looking to score when he had the ball. Wayne will have some tough shoes to fill next season, but with a nucleus of Neil Carnes and Willy Gross to build from, we're off on the right track.

Girls enjoy success

Marlene Uhing's Lady Blue Devils also enjoyed success during the 1988-89 basketball campaign. Wayne had a fine nucleus returning from last seasons' squad and they nearly put it all together to qualify for the state tournament, losing in the finals of the B-5 district to Columbus Lakeview. When you think of Wayne girls basketball, the person that pops into the minds of 90 percent of the people who follow Wayne basketball, is Dana Nelson. Nelson has been nothing short of spectacular for the Blue Devils throughout her reign on the varsity level.

As many already know, Nelson co-holds the Nebraska Girls State Record for the most 3-point field goals in one outing, seven. She hit that mark twice in the past two years. The Blue Devils as a team, broke their own state record for most 3-pointers in a season.

It is unofficial where Nelson will attend college next fall, but in this writer's opinion, if she isn't playing basketball, it will be a shame! Teresa Ellis really came on for the Blue Devils throughout the second half of the Writer's opinion, if site isn't praying businessan, it is the second half of the season. The nucleus of next years' team will depend on Ellis and Heidi Reeg. Both players started most of Wayne's games this season and Ellis was fairly consistent. In my mind, there isn't a better 3-point shooter in the area than Dana Nelson. But if anybody has to come close, it is Teresa

Ellis also possesses good ball handling skills which will be a factor next season as Wayne looks to re-load. Heidi Reeg was fairly inconsistent throughout the season despite her excellent B-5 district performance. Reeg could not seem to put solid games back to back, until the tournament

The point is however, that she did put back to back to back good solid games together during the district tournament. That could be a big boost for the Blue Devils next season.

Kristy Hansen was one of Wayne's unsung heros throughout the season. You never saw anyone hustling after loose balls any harder than Hansen. She was highly competitive on the boards as well.

Holly Paige and Tonya Erxleben did a fine job of fulfilling their roles on the team. Paige can hit the long ball but she didn't shoot enough times to really hurt the opposition. Tonya Erxleben on the other hand, came off the bench several times to help on the boards and hit a quick basket or Robin Lutt also did a marvelous job of coming off the bench to supply board power for the Blue Devils. Lutt has an abundance of athletic ability, but coming off of a knee injury, which kept her out of basketball during her junior season, may have had an affect on her senior season.

but coming oil of a kiece injury, mission ther junior season, may have had an affect on her senior season.

Although neither team qualified for the state tournament, I was pleased to cover them both throughout the season and in my opinion, both the boys and girls played well enough in the season to earn a state berth, but the chips didn't fall in the right place.

THANK YOU!

We wish to thank all of the people who assisted with the Wayne Rec 7th & Sth grade Girls & Boys Basketball Tournament. A special thanks to Dr. Haun and Ron Carnes for their assistance in using the High School Gym, to Dr. Mash at Wayne State College for the use of the Rice Gym and Recreation Building, and to Pete Chapman and Eldon Hutchison for their assistance. Thanks to the janitors and snow removal crews at all three sites.

We also wish to scknowledge the work done by Hank and Glenda Overin and Jerry Morris in making contacts and managing the tournament.

We wish to thank the Wayne High School students who donated their time to run the clocks and ecorebooks at all the games. Thanks to the referees for long hours spent on the courts.

We wish to thank members of the Kiwanis Club and others who took tickets and assisted in any way.

Most important we wish to thank the coaches and players from the surrounding area towns, since without their participation and cooperation the townsment would not have been a SUCCESS...

Wildcat baseball team optimistic

By Kevin Peterson orts editor

Playing six major Division One teams will keep Wayne State's baseball team pretty busy this season. Add that to the season. Add that to the traditionally strong CSIC conference and a strong District 11, and you cut out a full yet very competitive season for Lenny Klaver's Wildcats.

So how does Klaver view the season after losing 10 seniors off of last years' highly successful 29-17 squad which batted an unprecedented .382 as a team throughout the season?

"I am cautiously optimistic about the season," Klaver said. "I think we got some good recruits and I think we got some quality junior college transfers which will be a nice addition to the squad."

A total of 26 players will don the traditional black and gold colors of the Wildcats as they begin play. Over 60 tried out for the team last fall. "We're keeping about 32 players," Klaver said. "We have six guys who are going to red-shirt this season."

By the time the district roster is complete Wayne State will have had to trim the traveling roster to 20 players. Klaver signed five junior college transfers as well as nine freshman to replace the 10 seniors lost in last years' senior class. Included in that list of losses was all-American honorable mention centerfielder Gale Bretschneider.

Among Klaver's toughest assignments will be filling the entire infield where all of the members of last years' squad were named first team all-district a lot and we really did," Klaver said.

"But we do have several letterman returning which will be a plus and we have all but one pitcher returning."

Kevin Hoffart is the only pitcher

Kevin Hoffart is the only pitcher lost to graduation which means the Wildcat pitching staff will be experienced. "We also return our position players in number four nitter Mark, Wewel and number five hitter Destry Jaeger," Klaver said. "Last year Wewel hit .437 with seven-home runs and 46 rbi's, while Jaecer hit .366 with 10 while Jaeger hit 366 with 10 home runs and 48 rbi's, so we return our top two power hitters."
Incidently, the Wildcats 382 team batting average of a year ago was ranked very high in the tional ratings.

Wayne State will also have to fill wayne state will also have to fill the loss of speed in their top two base stealers from last season in Dale Clayton and Gale Bretschneider. The two-some combined for 47 stolen bases.

The Wildcats will play 54 games, one less than what the NCAA Division II rules allow. "I believe that we have a well balanced team this year," Klaver said. "We have some good power, better than average speed and quality pitching." Klaver noted that the success of the Wildcats depends heavily on the pitching. *Pitching is going to have to be our strength if we are going to be successful," Klaver said. Last season Jeff Pasold made first team all-district at pitcher. This season Klaver has moved Pasold to short stop to fill the gap of Dale Clayton. Pasold will remain as a pitcher but not a starter. "Jeff will be moved to reliever," Klaver said. "We're also moving Corey Weinmaster from reliever to starter

Kevin Boham also returns to the starting rotation from a year ago's 7-2 mark he posted. Other pitchers on the Wildcat roster include Mike Emory, Don Graham, pitchers on the Wildcat roster include Mike Emory, Don Graham, John Hagen, Mike Kennedy, Chris Simon, Cory Wedergren, Pat Wordekemper and Terry Schorg.

John Staab, Rob Zulkoski and Therron Brockish will also be called in for relief as will Pasold.

The five juntor college transfers

The five junior college transfers include: Scott Schutlz, a 6-0, 190 lb. first baseman who bats and throws right handed from Boulder, Colo.; Therron Brockish, a 5-11, 160 lb. second baseman and relief pitcher from St. Mary's, Kan.; Dave Roby, a 5-11, 165 lb. second baseman from Sumner, lowa; Leonard Brazil, a 5-11, 180 lb. outfielder from Seward County, C.C., Kan., and Rob Zulkoski, a 6-0180 lb. outfielder and relief pitcher from lowa Western Community College and Columbus, Ne. "Pat Wordekemper will be a nice addition to the team," Klaver said. Wordekemper played football for the Wildcats but has two years of eligibility left for baseball, and getting him is like getting a good juco player." throws right handed from Boulder

Klaver expects to get some solid batting performances out of his junior college transfers. "We filled all the holes we needed to fill that we lost," Klaver said. "It will take a while for us to gel, but have the makings to be a solid ball

Klaver says that district 11 will be highly competitive this season.

"Kearney State will probably be favored to win it since they have a very large number of people returning off of last year's team," Klaver said. "I also think Bellevue, Peru State and Wayne State will give them a run for their money."

Wayne State seems to have a real cohesive unit which has always been one of the strengths of a Klaver coached team. If Wayne State were to beat KSC two out of their three meetings, the possibility of them hosting a CSIC tournament is real positive.

"We've always had a strong tradition of baseball at WSC," Klaver said. "We're looking to maintain that this year. We've also added a few games to our schedule to be played at Overin Field which would give the community a chance to come out and see us play and hopefully drum up some community support." up some community support.

In all the Wildcats have 11 home contests. UNO, Concordia College of Minnesota, Dana, College of Minnesota, Dana, Midland, Kearney State, Mt. Marty, Doane, Morningside, Briar Cliff and Bellevue College will visit Wayne this season.

Rick Cole begins his fourth year as assistant coach to Lenny Klaver. Klaver enters his sixth season at the helm. This years' squad will also have a senior assistant coach in Pat

The Wayne State Wildcat base-ball team began their 1989 cam-paign on the road last Friday with a pair of games at Manhattan, Kan. against Kansas State. In the opener the Wildcats were shut out 7-0 as the Wildcat pitchers of Kansas State held the Wildcat hitters of Wayne State to just three hits. Destry Jaeger and just three hits. Destry Jaeger and John Staab recorded singles for coach Lenny Klaver while Scott Schultz belted a double.

Wayne State mustered four hits in the contest but it was the intangibles that allowed them to win. "We made things happen when we got on base," Klaver said. "Our winning run came when the bases were loaded and Chris Jones Incidently, Chris Jones received one of Wayne State's four hits. In fact, Jones, a freshman from Omaha, got a hit in his first collegiate at bat. Jeff Pasold, Tim Wobken and Mark Wewel were credited with the other hits.

Applications are now being accepted for Tour de Nebraska II, a bicycle circle tour that will cover about 350 miles in northeast Nebraska June 14-18, 1989.

The tour was started last year to accommodate tourists who had been shut out of the BRAN (Bike Ride Across Nebraska) ride which limits its tour to 500 riders. The tour is organized by Rich and Susan "Like the first annual Tour de Nebraska, this year's ride is a circle tour which begins and ends in Lincoln five days later. Because our ride-involves fewer people, we can pamper our riders a bit more,"

The tour will begin June 14 in Lincoln and make overnight stops in Columbus, Neligh, Wisner and North Bend. It is a completely supported tour, which means maps, sag wagons, road support and camp facilities are provided. Vans will follow the tourists along the route and move the gear from campsite to campsite.

Persons interested in taking part in the tour may pick up an entry blank at Bike Pedalers in Lincoln or get more information by calling 402-474-7000. Registration fee is $45 and persons must be 18 years and older or under the direct supervision of an adult.

By Pat Meierhenry

One of the more frequently used words in any discussion about the benefits of college is the word "personality."

Few people would deny the broadening and development of anyone's personality by the expo-sure to a great variety of intellectual concepts in most college courses. The constant co-mingling of ideas and conversations with other students and instructors adds a great deal also. I think this is especially beneficial to farm kids. In most cases they spend a lot less time in conversational or social activities than their urban counterparts.

Before I attended college, dreaded having to do anything in front of a group of people. I worried a lot about one-on-one con-frontations or interviews with attor-neys, potential employers or any-one else I-felt-inferior to intellecone else i reit inicio. ... tually. I wouldn't deny being nertually. I wouldn't deny being her-yous about some of those situa-tions now, but I can usually handle them with self-confidence I wouldn't have anticipated 30 years

Certainly each of us is born with our own distinct and unique personality. That personality, however, is shaped by the activities with which we surround ourselves as we grow up. Agreed? If that is true though, by that same assumption parents are not only responsible for the physical and moral development of their offspring but their mental and intellectual develop-ment as well. I doubt that parents as a whole would argue that point. Few people today will knock edu-

WHEN MY parents were grow ing up, farm youngsters were often lucky to get through the eighth grade. If they were needed on the farm to help plant in the spring or harvest in the fall, they simply didn't go to school during that time. In many cases they were time. In many cases they were able to make up their work or go back to school an extra winter or two and finish. This didn't always two and finish. This didn't always happen though, especially with boys who planned to continue in farming. After all, they could read and write, add and subtract. What else was necessary?

By contrast, when I was getting an education it was unheard of not finish elementary school. Our to finish elementary school. Our legislators saw to that with mandatory school attendance laws. Even not graduating from high school was rare but sometimes happened. So now in the 1980's we've reached an era where even in small rural high schools the number of graduates going on to colleges or technical schools is usually well over 50 percent among both sexes. Although my conservative philosophy makes me cringe at the thought, this is prob-ably due to some extent to the various federal grants and loans now available to anyone who can't pay their own way.

Not everyone has the mental capacity to get a college degree, but that's not the only opportunity for high school graduates to ex-pand their horizons. There are an increasing number of technical courses, secretarial courses and the like available for development of skills and personalities. Every high school had a guidance counselor on their staff who is not only well trained in helping select these op portunities, but also well informed about the financial help available Any high school principal or guid-ance counselor will tell you that their graduates often don't even try college because they're not motivated at home to do so.

PARENTS, especially farm parents, it is not only your place but your responsibility to convince your teenagers to at least try post high school education. Whether or not they plan to live on a farm, a year or two of college will not only in-crease their skills but also their whatever vocation they choose. They will also be greater assets to their community.

Remember, we can all talk to a w or a sow or a tractor. I've said me things to all of the above I certainly hope no one heard! But farm animals simply can't con-tribute to a mind-developing con-versation. Only people can do that. They also can't teach us new ideas They also can't teach us new ideas and new technology even though we can learn'from them about life and death and survival. In recent years of financial losses and adversities in farming, one fact stands out. No one can ever take away your education. You'll have it the rest of your life. Convince your kids of that or listen to them and of that, or listen to them and agree with them if they point that agree with them if they point that out to you.

The Farmer's Wife will be writing for you again next week. In case you haven't figured it out her "ghost writer" has been her hus-band. I know I identified myself as a distant relative, but sometimes when she's overcommitted her time I've felt like a distant relative. It's a feeling I'm sure most married couples experience occasionally when they meet each other at the front door, one coming and one going. I've enjoyed filling in for her and I appreciate your putting up

The first-ever report on nutrition and health from the Office of the U.S. Surgeon General contains plenty of food for thought.

"If you are among the two of three Americans who do not smoke or drink excessively," he said, "your choice of diet can influence your long-term health prospects more than any other ac-tion you might take."

The best choice, according to the surgeon general and others, is the surgeon general and others, is a high-carbohydrate, high-fiber diet. So if you are among the majority of Americans who eat too much fat, you'd better start eating more like Jack Sprat (who, you may recall, could eat no fat).

Especially dangerous are saturated fats, which clost arteries—

Appetite Suppression Product Ingredients

While some health authorities believe nonprescription appetite suppressant products are of no proven long-term value in controlling obesity, others feel that these products may provide valuable assistance to overweight persons. Popular appetite suppressants include:

Phenylpropanolamine: The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has determined that this ingredient is probably safe and effective as a nonprescription appetite suppressant. Phenylproreduction in appetite through its stimulant, adrenalin-like action. An individual with hypertension, thyroid disease, diabetes, or heart disease should consult a physician before using products con-taining phenylpropanolamine.

Benzocaine: This ingredient is a local anesthetic that can numb the mucous membranes. Appetite suppression products containing benzocaine may be chewed ndy and gums) or swallowed (tablets and capsules).

Methylcellulose: Bulkproducing agents such as methyl-cellulose and other dietary fibers may delay or prevent the absorp-tion of ingested calories. These ingredients also may produce a sense of being "full."

A success

This past weekend the Wayne Recreation Board sponsored a sev-enth and eighth grade girls and boys basketball tournament. boys basketball tournament. Twenty-four teams from towns in northeast Nebraskqa and north-west lowa participated. This was the first year that the recreation department attempted to hold a tournament of this type and size. This required a lot of work by many individuals.

On behalf of the Recreation Board I would like to thank all who helped in any capacity with the tournament.

I would also like to point out some of the reasons for the suc-cess of a tournament of this type. Wayne High School allowed the use of their gym; Wayne State College allowed the use of the Rice Auditorium where two courts were available and two courts were made available in the new Recre-ation Building. The Wayne City Auditorium was also available for a full slate of games. During preparations for the tournament and during the tournament there was cooperation from all people involved - city, high school and

In today's world of conflict this does not often occur, ysually someone or some organization feels it isn't being treated fairly. This was not the case here — everyone went out of their way to contribute towards the tournament. With this kind of coopera-tion we can be very optimistic about the future success of the Wayne community.

Jim Keating, Chairman Wayne Rec Board

By the time you realize it's not indigestion...

it may be too late.

Surprisingly, it's easy to mistake the early symptoms of a heart attack for indigestion. In fact, most heart attack victims wait three hours before they seek medical help. By that time, most of the heart damage is already done.

That's why, when you feel any chest pain or discomfort that lasts for several minut don't hesitate. Call an ambulance and get to the nearest hospital immediately. Being a part of the Midwest Heart Institute Cardiac Emergency Network means we're specifically equipped to evaluate and treat chest pain. For example, if you come in and the diagnosis is, say, heartburn instead of a heart attack, that's okay. We have plenty of antacid.

But if it is serious, it's good to know your doctor has a comprehensive network, linking us to Sioux City heart specialists, to provide you with state-of-the-art treatment, clot dissolving drugs and advanced lifesaving techniques. Your quick response during the highly critical first hours following a heart attack is the best step to an early recovery. So remember, if you're having chest pain lasting more than a few minutes, call for emergency assistance at once. It's better to find out it's only indigestion than to wait and find out it's not!

Heart attack warning sign cards are available at all network he
