Special visit

JoAnne Owens-Nauslar will return to Wayne for a speaking engagement on Monday, March 13, 7 p.m. at the Wayne-Carroll High School lecture hall. Her visit is sponsored by the West Elementary Boosters. Owens-Nauslar, director of Health/Physical Education with the Nebraska Department of Education, spoke to parents in October of last year.

"Those that heard her then felt that her talk was very worthwhile and effective," said Terri Higbee, publicity chairperson for the Boosters.

"You will take home something that will benefit you, the kids and mutual relationships," she said.

Owens-Nauslar's topic title is: "Licensing Skills For Parents: Could You Pass The Test?"

The public is invited, and encouraged, to attend.

Accident

A two-vehicle accident occurred March 3 approximately four miles north of Wayne involving a car and a semi.

Both vehicles were northbound on Highway 15 north of Wayne. The car, driven by Karen Paltz of St. Helena, had slowed down when another vehicle in front Paltz was making a left turn. As she slowed down, the semi flatbed driven by Robert Hintz of Coleridge collided with the rear of Paltz's vehicle. The car spun around and then was hit again in the front.

No injuries were reported. However, the Paltz vehicle was considered a total loss.

Foreign language

Skits, songs and a slide program titled, "Women of the French Revolution" highlight the day's activities as Wayne State College celebrates the 18th annual Foreign Language Day on Friday, March 17. The public is invited.

Elaine Kruse from Nebraska Wesleyan University will present her slide program from 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. in Ramsey Theatre. Funding for this program was provided by the Nebraska Committee for the Humanities, a state affiliation of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

High school students from the surrounding area will perform a variety of skits and songs in the language they are studying.

The Wayne State Players will perform skits in the Birch Room of the Student Center from 12 noon to 1 p.m.

Ticket sales

Tickets for the Thursday, March 16 performance of the Black and Gold Series special program tenor Stanford Olsen at Wayne State College are currently available to students, faculty and staff, and the general public.

Students may obtain tickets at the information desk in the lower level of the Student Center. Faculty and staff can acquire tickets in the Budget and Finance Office, third floor of the Hahn Administration Building.

Tickets for the public, which are $4, may be obtained at the Business Office, first floor Hahn Administration Building.

Benefit set

A benefit basketball game between the University of Nebraska Football Big 8 Champs and the Superland 86'ers will take place Sunday, March 19, 2:30 p.m. at Rice Auditorium on the Wayne State College Campus.

All proceeds will go towards the Wayne Hospice Group, according to Wanda Kucera, coordinator in Wayne.

A special guest at the event will be The Wayne America Chicken.

Advance tickets are $3 for adults, $2 for students in grades K-12. At the door will cost an additional $1.

The advance ticket outlets include State National Bank and First National Bank, both in Wayne; Charter West National and Farmers & Merchants in West Point; Citizens Bank and First National Bank in Wisner; First National Bank in Beemer; Farmers Bank in Pilger; Farmers State Bank in Carroll; Pender State Bank; Security National Bank in Laurel; Winside State Bank; and Wakefield National Bank.

Smith relaxes with hobby of painting

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

There are some people who play the piano to relax.

Some individuals knit or crochet as a way of relaxation. Others might golf. Another may prefer to read a book.

Turena Smith of Laurel has returned to what she feels is most relaxing — directing her talents and determination to painting.

"I work with mostly oil painting and do some watercolors," said Smith, who for the past few years has been working with food service at Laurel-Concord Public Schools.

Her artwork can be seen hanging from the walls of several Laurel business establishments or in surrounding area homes. Even in her own home, a sampling of her talents is on display.

Some of the art features animals, landscapes or other breathtaking scenery. Some depict action. She forgoes the canvas at times and shows her diversity by painting figurines or working with ceramics.

THE SEEDS of her artistic talents were planted in her younger years, growing up in Dixon and graduating from the school there.

"Since I was a little kid I have always been interested in art. Because my father was so talented, I think I got it from him," Smith said.

"I did a lot of sketching, chalking and watercoloring in school then," she said.

Smith slowed down her pursuit of painting after she married Clark Smith, Jr. Turena and Clark [now deceased] resided on a farm south of Laurel.

It was in 1983 when Smith, who now lives in Laurel, renewed her interest in painting. After several instructional sessions with Gwen Sider of South Sioux City, Smith began oil painting projects on her own.

"It came back to me really fast," she said.

Later, Smith and a friend [Joyce Lillard of Laurel] began teaching painting courses through adult education classes sponsored by Northeast Community College. She also has offered classes in her home.

She has entered or displayed her paintings in art or craft fairs in Laurel, Hartington, Yankton or surrounding communities and has received awards for her art creations.

Some paintings she creates through her own visions. "Generally, though, I use patterns from calendars or greeting cards. People save these things and bring them to me," Smith said.

BEGINNERS of oil painting may be surprised at the costs involved in the hobby. "It can be expensive if you buy quality brushes and paint. I would say that about $50 got me started," Smith said.

Her advice to those just learning the art of painting is this: "Practice and practice so that you can get an eye for color, composition or perspective."

"You can learn it. The more you practice, the better you will get," she added.

In her classes, participants were given the same picture and colors for painting. "Not one turned out the same. Each was absolutely different. It is all in how you look at things and how you see it," she said.

Turena Smith does her painting work in the basement of her Laurel home. Her artwork can be seen in several businesses and homes around the area. She enjoyed painting when a child, and she began dedicating more time to the hobby in 1983.

Area farmland values rise

The average value of Nebraska farmland climbed 25 percent in the past year to $432 per acre as of Feb. 1, according to preliminary results from the annual University of Nebraska-Lincoln Farm Real Estate Market Survey of farm appraisers and real estate brokers.

The Sandhills, Nebraska's northern rangelands, recorded the largest percentage gain of nearly 38 percent. Bruce Johnson, UNL agricultural economist, said the increase was largely due to a more than 40 percent increase in the value of Sandhills grazing land and a 38 percent hike in its center pivot irrigation cropland value during the 12 months ending Feb. 1.

Statewide, nontillable grazing land and hayland showed the largest percentage land value increases — 35 percent and 32 percent. Johnson credited increased profits in livestock production and out-of-state demand last year from drought areas for Nebraska forage for the increase.

Irrigated cropland also registered big gains throughout the state, as the drought placed a premium on supplemental water, Johnson said.

WHILE THESE increases in farmland values are significant and signal a rebound in the agricultural economy, Johnson noted that even with the recent jumps, the all-land average was still less than 60 percent of the peak-year value of $749 per acre in 1981.

Survey reporters across the state observed much greater market activity in recent months, Johnson said. In many areas, at least half of the transactions have been cash purchases with no debt incurred.

"These factors suggest a pattern of ownership that is financially sound and capable of weathering much economic adversity," Johnson said. He added that the supply side of the market should remain fundamentally sound, even though much of the current prosperity can be attributed to federal farm program payments which may be reduced in the next farm bill.

Cash rental rates for 1989 on cropland are 10 percent to 20 percent higher than a year ago. Rental rates on irrigated land jumped substantially; this year in some areas. In contrast, rental rates for cropland in the southeast part of Nebraska rose 5 percent to 10 percent.

"This probably reflects drought conditions during 1988 in that area and moisture deficits coming into 1989," the economist said.

PASTURE RENT also is higher throughout the state, but the rates vary widely. Across the northern and central part of Nebraska, which includes the Sandhills area, reported rates increased sharply from a year ago. Johnson said the monthly cost of grazing a 1000 pound cow this year is in the $14 range compared with $11 last year.

The average reported value of northeast Nebraska land per acre is as follows, with the previous year's reported figure in parenthesis:

Dryland cropland (no irrigation potential), $688 ($576); dryland cropland, irrigation potential, $773 ($646); grazing land, tillable, $362 ($294); grazing land nontillable, $242 ($189); hayland, $295 ($238); gravity irrigated cropland, $1,100 ($862); center pivot irrigated cropland (value of pivot not included in per acre value),

In Great Wayne Giveaway Prize winners announced

Virgil Kardell Sr. of Wayne has a problem which some people might like to inherit — deciding on what to do with the vacation he and his family won through the 1989 Great Wayne Giveaway III event.

"Right now our plans are indefinite," said Kardell, when asked which of the choices of 'vacation trip for two' he preferred. "We've got a fairly long time to decide where we want to go."

Kardell's name and the names of the other 15 finalists of the Great Wayne Giveaway III were mixed together late Thursday afternoon during the grand prize drawings that took place at the Wayne Herald.

Kardell won the vacation trip for two. Ernie Swanson of Wayne was the winner of $200 in valuable Vacation Bucks.

Other contestants selected in drawings throughout the eight weeks of the Great Wayne Giveaway III event included Norris Weible, Paul Dangberg, Marilyn Rethwisch, Harold Fleer, Ruth Haun, Leona Vrtiska, Eva Brockman, Lillian Granquist, Babs Middleton, Phyllis Rahn, Brendon Dorsey and Russell Lutt, all of Wayne; Rick Smith of Allen; and Vera Mann of Winside.

The "trip" grand prize, won by Kardell, includes a choice of special flight packages to either Phoenix, Las Vegas; or any other major airport city in the entire continental United States. A bus tour is the fourth choice.

All of the trips include lodging, with the exception of the following choice: air travel only to and from any major airport city in the continental United States.

Kardell said that he didn't register at all in the first week of the eight-week contest. However, during the second and third week, he registered his name at each of the business establishments participating in the contest.

It was the fourth week, when he only registered at Pamida and at Hardee's of Wayne, that his name was selected as one of 16 finalists in the contest.

"This is a pretty good prize. And we're surprised to be getting it. We'd sure like to thank the sponsors of the promotion," Kardell said.

Sponsors of the contest throughout the eight weeks included Sav-Mor Pharmacy; Trio Travel; Midwest Land Co.; ERA Property Exchange; Pac 'N' Save; The Wayne Herald and Marketer; Bill's GW; First National Bank; Pizza Hut; Century 21; Pamida; Ellingson Motors, Inc.; Fredrickson Oil Company and Convenience Store; Stoltenberg Partners; Griess Rexall; Hardee's of Wayne; Jones Interchange; and Logan Valley Implement, Inc. of Wayne.

Acme program on flowers

Eight members of Acme Club answered roll call with their favorite flower when they met March 6 with Jessie Hamer. Mary Doescher presented the program on flowers.

President Zita Jenkins conducted the business meeting and Faun Kern gave the thought for the day, "The Distance Doesn't Matter, Only the First Step is Difficult."

Vi Hartman will be the March 20 hostess at 2 p.m. Roll call will be an Easter poem. Zita Jenkins will give the program and will show a tape on "Teacher of the Year."

Tops 200 meets

Tops 200 met March 8 at West Elementary School in Wayne, with weigh-ins from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. Carol Nordby visited the chapter and spoke on SRD to be held April 28-29 in Omaha.

The birthday song was sung to Carol Bauermeister and Donna Frevert. Best losers for the week were Dorothy Nelson for Kops and Evelyn Jager for Tops.

Tops 200 also met March 1 at the school. It was announced that contest winners for February were Kay Saul for Tops and Dee Rebensdorf and Sharon Fleer for Kops. Best losers for the week were Jeanette Carlson for Tops and Dee Rebensdorf for Kops, and best losers for the month of February were Jackie Owens for Tops and Dee Rebensdorf for Kops. Reports were given on the March contest.

Election of officers is scheduled at the group's March 22 meeting.

MOM's group schedules meeting

MOM's group has scheduled a meeting Thursday, March 16 on the second floor of Benthack Hall on the Wayne State College campus. Mary Temme, extension agent-home economics, will present the program, "Helping Children Develop Self-Discipline."

The meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. and end by 11:15 a.m. Small babies and nursing babies are welcome to attend the meeting and program. Children age two and over should be registered in the adjoining play lab at 9:15 a.m.

All area mothers are invited to attend MOM's group meetings and programs. There are no dues or fees. Persons wishing additional information are asked to call Leah Agler, 375-4973, or Catherine Williams, 375-4311.

Hospital Auxiliary evening group meeting

The Wayne Hospital Auxiliary evening group will meet Friday, March 17 at 7 p.m. at Geno's Steakhouse.

All interested persons are invited to join the group for the meeting and sandwiches.

Prososki-Mendoza repeat vows

Kristen Marie Prososki and Ruben Edward Mendoza exchanged marriage vows on Feb. 25 at St. Frances Cabrini Catholic Church in Omaha.

The bride, daughter of Jo Ann Woodworth of Omaha, is a 1985 graduate of South High School in Omaha and a December 1988 graduate of Wayne State College. She is employed as an executive assistant at Restful Knights in Wayne.

The bridegroom is the son of Pedro Mendoza of Milwaukee, Wis. and is a 1982 graduate of Milwaukee Tech and Trade High School. He attended Yankton College before transferring to Wayne State College, where he will graduate in May 1989.

The newlyweds are making their home at 420 Main St., Apt. B, in Wayne.

GUESTS ATTENDING the couple's ceremony were registered by Nancy Prososki of Omaha and ushered to their seats by Bill Papstein of Norfolk and Randy Ogren of Omaha.

The Rev. Carl Salanitro of Omaha officiated at the 2 o'clock, double ring ceremony. Decorations included sprays of gladioli with teal ribbons at the altar and white pew bows.

Al Woodworth of Phoenix, Ariz. sang "Wedding Song" and "Peace Prayer," and Allen Miner of Shawnee, Kan. and Sister Rita Marie Tofflemire of Wayne sang "Hail Mary, Gentle Woman."

Organist was Saeger Miessler of Omaha and guitarist was Sister Rita Marie Tofflemire.

SERVING AS HONOR attendants were Christine Hrdy of Omaha and Lionel Games of New York City, N.Y.

Bridesmaids were Karen

Stodolka and Tracy Bosak, both of Omaha, and groomsmen were Phil Wickwar of Springfield, Mo. and Joe Medeiros of Providence, R. I.

Flower girl was Tiffany Prososki and ring bearer was Terry Prososki, both of Omaha.

The bride's personal attendant was Cynthia Muirhead of Gunnison, Colo. Distributing programs were Jason and Matthew Stodolka of Omaha.

THE BRIDE WAS given in marriage by her brother, Kurt Prososki of Omaha, and appeared in a long, white satin gown with a semi-cathedral train. The dress was designed with Bishop sleeves that formed bridal points, and a fitted bodice featuring a heart pattern in pearls and sequins, with a dropped V pleated waistline, open scalloped back and draping pearls.

The entire dress was edged with rose lace with lace roses cut out and sprinkled over the bodice and train.

The dress was designed and sewn by Helen Holtgrew of Winnsboro, Va., with bead work done by the bride's mother.

The bride wore pearls woven into a bun in her hair and carried white gardenias, baby's breath and stephanotis.

THE BRIDE'S attendants wore teal satin frocks in tea length, fashioned with three-quarter length sleeves narrowing into bridal points, gathered dropped V waistlines and fitted bodices with dropped necklines accented with matching satin bows at the shoulders.

Each carried a fan with teal and white silk flowers and loops of pearls, with teal and white ribbon looped into the flowers and draping to knee length.

The bridegroom was attired in a black tuxedo with a white shirt, vest and tie, and his attendants wore black tuxedos with white shirts, black cummerbunds and ties.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Mendoza

The bride's mother selected an aqua jacquard dress in tea length.

FOLLOWING THE ceremony, a reception for 200 guests was held at St. Frances Cabrini Hall in Omaha. Arranging gifts were Brenda Schumacher of Wayne and Patty Miessler of Omaha.

The wedding cake was cut and served by Judy Miner of Shawnee, Kan. and Julie Bosak of Omaha.

Jane Voss and Kay Voss of Denver, Colo. poured, and Tam Moore of Omaha served punch.

Waitresses were Sharon Moore, Deann McGeorge and Diane Martinez, all of Omaha, and Lovina Watts of Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Helping our youth cope with stress

Many young people experience stress. Failure on a test, a fight with a friend or an argument with a family member can create pressure, frustration, depression or similar signs of stress.

Children need support, understanding and action from parents, teachers and other adults who care about them. The more supportive parents are, the better equipped children will be to handle stress as they grow up and go out on their own.

To help youngsters cope with stress, consider the following guidelines: —Take them seriously. A study of some 2,000 teenagers found that when they experience stress or problems, most try to handle it alone or by talking with other young people. Relatively few turn to adults. One reason is that adults tend to discount or underestimate the significance of young people's pressures or problems. Remember: their problems are as big and important to them as yours are to you.

—Offer help early. This is essential to prevent them from getting too depressed. As mentioned earlier, they won't come to you, so if you are aware of a youngster in distress, reach out or arrange for someone else to do so.

—Provide attention and encouragement. Young people's self-esteem is on the line most of the time, and its loss often causes depression. Provide ways for them to boost self-esteem by showing interest and attention.

—Don't offer false assurance. Don't brush off problems with "Don't worry," "Cheer up, everything will be all right" or "You'll get over it." The kind of reassurance that children need is not the suggestion that the crisis will dissolve on its own, but rather a statement by you of faith that they will be able to work it out.

—Encourage them to talk it out. Denying or ignoring normal feelings of anger, guilt, fear and sorrow can lead to physical and emotional difficulties. Just knowing that someone is aware of the stress and cares can mean a great deal.

—Don't underestimate the value of "just listening." It is perhaps the most important communication skill.

—Help them understand the cause of distress. To an important degree, we create our own feelings and perceptions of events.

—Try to arrange continued contact. Arrange for or urge young people to attend activities where there are other people, even if they don't feel like participating. Since kid's company is usually more important to a child than company of adults, you need to enlist the support of other kids.

—Expect rebuffs. Deeply distressed youngsters are, in many ways, like difficult children. They are not trying to be difficult and really want help, but their sense of despair gets in the way of their responses to your help. Anyone trying to communicate with a distressed youth should not be surprised at rebuffs. Patience is an important attribute and can be the key to helping a youngster get out from under stress.

Tekamah wedding rites

Local coach defeated

Hull Western Christian pulled away from Okoboji in the closing minutes to score a 60-42 victory in a Class 2A substate boys basketball game Monday night in Spencer, Iowa.

Western Christian, which advances to the Class 2A state tournament for the fifth time in nine years, was ranked No. 3 in the final Class 2A ratings by Associated Press.

Okoboji, the consolidation of Milford and Arnolds Park high schools, entered the game ranked No. 2 in the state, sporting a perfect 21-0 record. Okoboji is coached by Wayne graduate Gordon Jorgensen.

Analyzing the Wildcats

Lets' spend a few minutes analyzing the seasons of both Wayne State's basketball teams this season. We'll start with the women and what took place in Liz O'Brien's initial year at the helm.

The Lady Cats did not sizzle with a blistering record, but looking at the squad, I feel they matured a lot during the season and although they lose Linda Schnitzler, (not a mild loss by any means), they still have a very young team.

Not many squads which finish with an 8-20 mark make the news like Wayne State's Lady Cats did this season, but then again, not many teams sport athletes like Linda Schnitzler. I realize that Schnitzler has been splashed in all the newspapers around, but watching her play during the last two years, I honestly believe that she is the best women's basketball player in the state.

I realize that teams like Nebraska, Creighton, UNO and others have arguing power that Wayne State doesn't have the competition that they do with major division I and II teams, but these people don't realize what kind of a player Schnitzler came to be.

Usually when a team scouts the other team, they seek out the good players who can score so they can plan a defense to stop them. Schnitzler faced many different defenses in her era at Wayne State, but in at least the last two seasons, very few were successful.

Personally speaking, I've seen Schnitzler get virtually triple teamed and score. In fact, most of Schnitzler's points are recorded against double-teaming defenses.

Wayne State will miss Linda Schnitzler. In fact, every young female basketball player who enters the college ranks in Nebraska for the next several years, (maybe forever), will begin with the dream of breaking the all-time Nebraska women's scoring record, a record held by Linda Schnitzler.

The Lady Cats will be better than people think next season. With the return of players like Mary Beth Ehrhorn and Kae Burke whom I felt were extremely valuable assets to the Wildcats this season, Wayne State already has a good start.

Men enjoy good season
Hats off to Steve Aggers and the job he and his coaching staff did with the Wildcats this season. Wayne State was a very exciting and crowd pleasing team to watch throughout the year as they ended the season with just two losses at Rice Auditorium, (one of which they shouldn't have lost). I'm speaking of the Missouri Southern contest in Wayne State's final outing at home.

Wayne State's other loss at home was to highly rated Fort Hays St. The Wildcats played some awesome basketball at home including a big win over the University of South Dakota. They also defeated conference champ Emporia State at home as well as highly touted Washburn University.

Sophomore point guard Steve Dunbar and junior post Marques Wilson electrified the home audiences all season with their performances. Dunbar is quickly becoming the most prominent point guard in District 11 with his consistency of driving the ball into the lane as well as popping the outside jumper, including the 3-pointer.

Wilson finished the season as one of the top rebounders in the country in the NAIA ranks. He hauled down over 13 cars per outing while scoring nearly 21 points a game, both marks were tops on the team.

Wayne State brings back nearly all of its players from this year with

WSC looks to experience

Twenty-one Wayne State College women will represent the Wildcat Softball team this season under the direction of first year head coach Doug Feagan.

The Cats get their 1989 season underway on Tuesday with a double header against Peru State. They come back the following day with a double header home contest with Midland.

Feagan, both the women's volleyball coach and softball coach, was hired right before volleyball this season so he was unable to do much recruiting for the softball program. "The recruiting that I do this summer will be for the 1990-91 season," Feagan said.

At any rate, eight letterwinners and five starters return from last year's squad. "We have a total of six seniors on the team," Feagan said. "I don't think we'll have a problem with leadership."

Due to the fact that Feagan is involved with both volleyball and softball, assistant coaches like Jim Barte and Jim Custer definitely become useful. "When we get into practices we concentrate mainly on fundamentals and different coverage situations," Feagan said. "Most of the conditioning is done outside of practice."

The Wildcats have a variety of athletes on the squad including five of which were involved in basketball and volleyball preceding softball season. "We've got some outstanding athletes on the squad," Feagan said.

Due to inclement weather early, the Cats have been forced to practice in the Recreation Center. "Because our time is limited the girls take turns coming in at different times to hit in the batting cage," Feagan said.

Feagan however, is not downplaying his team's time limit in the Rec Center. "We're very fortunate to have a facility like the Rec Center," Feagan said. "I think everything is working out fine."

Wayne State's battery may be one of the strongest in District 11 this season with the return of two starting pitchers in Sr. Ronda Peck and Junior Roni Johnson. Both pitchers had outstanding years last season. Laura Stuerman will eventually work her way into the starting rotation for Feagan as well.

"We need to get Laura some game experience early in the season so we can count on three experienced pitchers as the season progresses," Feagan said. "Our catcher and first baseman rotation is another area where we have a lot of experience." Kris Pestal and Natalie Highman will rotate between catcher and first base throughout the season.

Second and third baseman will also return plenty of experience as Shell Schumann at third and Lori Rath at second return for their senior seasons. The outfield returns two of three starters in Jodie Gilfillan and Lisa Jacobsen. Tonya Gappa, a newcomer to the softball team, may fill the other outfield position, but Feagan notes that Gappa will be a utility player, filling in where ever they need someone.

"Tonya has a lot of athletic ability," Feagan said. "She's the type of athlete you can just stick anywhere and she'll do a good job."

The Wildcat team goal is to win the District 11 crown. "That's a pretty good goal," Feagan said. "When you have as many seniors as we do, they know what it takes to win so I don't think that the goal is unattainable."

Feagan views Kearney State and St. Mary's as having strong teams as well. "Our optimism is high," Feagan said. "The girls are ready to start the season."

St. Mary, UNO, Dana, Nebraska Wesleyan and Briar Cliff will also visit the confines of Wayne State this season.

WSC posts winning mark

The Wayne State Wildcats posted the school's first winning record in 10 seasons in 1988-89, finishing the year 17-12 overall.

The Wildcats were defeated in the District 11 playoffs by Midland College in Fremont on March 2.

Junior center Marques Wilson set a school record for the most rebounds in a season with 354, breaking the old mark of 351 held by Larry Cooney from the 1975-76 season. Wilson also led the team in scoring at 20.6 a game, ranking him fifth on the highest season scoring average list.

Wilson was earlier named to the all-District 11 first team.

Other school marks set during the season were: Marques Wilson, 557 points-7th on all-time single season list; Steve Dunbar, 450 points-21st on all-time single-season list; Mike McNamara, 1,095 career points-10th on the all-time list; Marques Wilson, 854 career points-25th on the all-time list; Marques Wilson, 600 career rebounds, 9th on the all-time list; Mike McNamara, 699 career rebounds, 5th on all-time list; Mike McNamara, 269 career assists, 2nd on all-time list; Mike McNamara, 122 career steals, 3rd on all-time list; Mike McNamara, 126 consecutive games played, a school record.

The Wildcats graduate McNamara and senior guard Arnie Hayes from the 1988-89 squad.

Schnitzler heads list

Linda Schnitzler of Wayne State heads the list of players selected to the District XI NAIA Coaches All Star Team. The 5-7 senior from Battle Creek, who set the all time scoring mark in Nebraska for college women, was selected player of the year by coaches. Other repeaters from last years team included Becky Chromosta of Hastings, Pam Sis of Kearney State, Connie Viner of Peru State, and Susan Kula of Midland. The members of the team are as follows: Linda Schnitzler, Sr., Wayne State, 5-7, 26.4 points per game

Connie Viner, Sr., Peru State, 5-7, 14.3 points per game
Monica Kosenski, Jr., Hastings, 5-11, 13.0 points per game
Becky Chromosta, Sr., Hastings, 5-11, 11.5 points per game

Teresa Noffke, Sr., Concordia, 5-10, 16.5 points per game
Carrie Menges, Jr., Peru State, 6-0, 10.1 points per game
Cindy Hays, Fr., Midland, 6-2, 20.1 points per game
Carol Rochford, Sr., Kearney State, 5-9, 13.1 points per game
Pam Sis, Sr., Kearney State, 5-9, 17.4 points per game

Patty Stander Mohrman, Sr., Doane, 5-11, 9.3 points per game
Susan Kula, Sr., Midland, 6-0, 14.6 points per game

Honorable Mention included: Bonnie Lowe, Dana; Amy Scheil, Concordia; Andrea Jansen, Concordia; Lori McMullen, Dana; Marci Moser, St. Mary's; Jodi Stineman, Kearney State; Jean Hemed, Midland; Trudi Veerhosen, Doane; Starla Pauls, Chadron State, and Angie Life, Hastings.

Publishers' Perspective

By Gary and Peggy Wright

The nationally circulated poem, at right, was received by The Wayne Herald from a local reader who also added her own comments about the situation in a brief letter.

According to the letterwriter, this poem "puts into words what I have been trying to get across to my friends who must run to the city to buy. If more people would support their hometown, perhaps the merchants could afford to give some 'great buys' like they get in the city."

Especially during January and February it is easy to see how slow retail business activity can become. It's even more frustrating to merchants to lose a few of the customers they do have during those months to the out of town malls.

Maybe this is what prompted the letterwriter to express herself. Lack of downtown patronage was utmost on her mind when she wrote: "If Wayneites don't wake up and smell the roses, Wayne, America could soon end up a thing of the past. Take a glance down Main Street sometime. It's kind of scary."

Others too are concerned about the future of downtown and are attempting to improve the situation. Last month several downtown merchants engaged in a discussion concerning store hours. Their opinions were numerous and varied.

Thus far no strong consensus has emerged from this healthy dialogue and the concept beckons for more discussion...and compromise. Maybe the general public, too, would like to have input into the situation.

If you would, simply take a few minutes to fill out the survey found at the bottom of this page and return it to The Wayne Herald by March 23. You don't have to sign your name on the survey so feel free to say what's on your mind.

Ode to A Dying Town

The men were quite cocky as they stood in the sun
"Let's go to the city, stock up and have fun
We'll buy by the case all under one roof
And save lots too, of that we have proof."

So they did just that for many a year
And from the results never took any fear
Until one day they met once again
Standing uptown just out of the rain.

"What's happened here!" cried one in dismay.
Their faces were ashen, they had much to say.
Then one scratched his head. The other said loud
"There's no beer and no coffee, not even a crowd;
My wife is real sick and right off her feet
I came for some drugs, some milk and some meat
The hospital is closed, the grocery stores too.
What in the world are we going to do?"

"My furnace is shot and the plumbing all broken."
The other one gasped, I thought he was chokin'
"My car's a near wreck and my tires are low
I need nails and lumber, and there's no place to go."

His friend has his head right down to his chest
"We're to blame," he muttered, "On our heads it does rest.
We passed this town for the glimmer of lights
Bought stuff by the car load and took in the sights.
The city is bustling and bursting with pride.
While all our own merchants just up and died.
The houses are empty, the bank's repossessed.
I'll tell you old boy we're in for a test."

"We should have been smarter and wiser," they said.
"Then the town would be bustling, not half so dead."
"It's never too late, we've learned," someone did say.
But for the foolishness of many they'd all have to pay.
They parted at last as the wind turned cold.
And muttered, "Buy locally as this story is told."

Don't let kids slide away

I'm just wondering how many parents actually take the time to do something — an activity or an adventure — with their children.

Do we sometimes get too tangled up in our own miseries or daily ritual of activities that the little ones are left outside standing in the cold, yearning for someone to help them build a snowman, go for a walk with them or to just sit down and talk?

So far this column has JoAnne Owens-Nauslar written all over it. Owens-Nauslar, in October, spoke to a Parent Support Group at the Wayne-Carroll High School. Her topic deserved a larger audience.

Take advantage of her appearance in Wayne again. She will be speaking to what organizers [the West Elementary Boosters] hope will be a larger audience. Her talk is scheduled for Monday, March 13, at 7 p.m. in the Wayne-Carroll High School lecture hall.

She says that parents should pay more attention to the "C" skills — communication and caring.

BUT DON'T stop here.

Consider creativity, too. Shut off the television set during those "prime time hours" and perhaps get out the game boards, or have the children settle down to a good book.

Owens-Nauslar will say that this generation of children need to be entertained, but for some reason they are not able to think of activities to entertain themselves. The average child can spend up to 30 plus hours a week watching television but less than 13 hours the same week doing activities.

Case in point. Saturday, the day after northeast Nebraska was rocked with heavy snowfall, was a rather lazy day in our Wayne household. There wasn't that much going on because of the weather, so much of the time with my son was spent playing a game made famous by Parker Brothers and another that involved memory.

My son wiped me out on both games, and then had the audacity to challenge me in checkers.

And then a call came later on Saturday from our good neighbors who said they were planning a "sledding party" and that our family was invited.

My son was exuberant. I was hesitant.

My wife couldn't go. I guess being about 21 weeks pregnant had something to do with her decision.

And I definitely thought about not going and staying inside where it was warm.

again. Sherman Street's hill (at the corner of Third Street) is a fast and thrilling ride. But when you have at least 20 or more sledders going down a city street — doing tricks and weaving in and out of the lanes — it's not the safest place in the world.

Matter of fact, you can compare it to rush hour in Omaha.

There were even head-on collisions. My son and I rammed into a sledder who had trouble steering because I couldn't feel where they were. My beard had icicles on it and the wind was becoming stronger. It was indeed time to stop.

But not after one more solo ride requested by my "never-know-when-to-quit" son.

I found it difficult to sleep that night. It wasn't because of the cramps or the occasional day-dreams of sleds crashing into each other.

Funniest thing, I just could not get the sound of laughter out of my head.

It was that same kind of laughter I remember my son was uproariously letting out as we both went down that Sherman Hill together. The same kind of laughter that tells me that this was a good idea and that my son never seemed to enjoy a time so much with his father before.

Aches never felt so good.

All it took was a few runs down a hill to make a special magic moment, a special time to remember, and one happening that won't be so easy to toss aside and replace with other future memories.

This is what JoAnne Owens-Nauslar spoke about at her meeting with parents in October. Hear her out!

It's a wonderful message you'll appreciate time and time again.

his runners and cut before us. That sled had to be placed in a permanent resting spot for the rest of the evening because we wrecked the runner.

LATER ON, after numerous runs and climbing the steep hill, exhaustion began to settle in the joints.

Land

$993 ($800); and all land average, $689 ($567).

Reported average cash rental rates per acre for various types of farmland in northeast Nebraska is as follows: dryland cropland, $65 ($58); gravity irrigated cropland, $102 ($94); center pivot irrigated cropland, $99 ($91); dryland alfalfa, $59 ($52); irrigated alfalfa, $85 (72); other hayland, insufficient number of reports; pastureland per acre, $23 ($20).

BUT THE begging and chiding of our son won out and we both trudged to the sledding hill on Sherman Street. We went down together on the first run. Then the five-year-old lad got bold and decided he wanted to go solo.

It was my misfortune he figured out that if dad went along on each trip, he wouldn't end up carrying the sled back up the hill each time he went a long distance (which usually was about a block and a half). That would be the fatherly thing to do if I would carry it, he said.

By then, he had it so good he never wanted to go back to solo

LADIES AID AND LWML

Ten members, Pastor Mark Miller and a guest, Mrs. Vernie Schuur, were present Wednesday when the St. Paul's Lutheran Ladies Aid and LWML met at the church fellowship hall.

Mrs. Arnold Junck was in charge of devotions and led the reading of Psalm 101 in unison and also read a Lenten prayer. Mrs. Arthur Cook accompanied for group singing "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross." Mrs. Junck, Christian growth leader, read "There is a Reason for Everything" and "Sun's Up." She was also hostess for the day.

Mrs. Edward Fork conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Murray Leicy reported on the last meeting. Mrs. Gerry Hurlbert read the treasurer's report.

Plans were made for the LWML spring workshop that will be hosted by the Carroll Society and held on Tuesday, April 18.

An invitation was received from St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Win-sieda to attend their guest day on Wednesday, April 5 at 1:30 p.m.

A thank you was received from the Bethesda Home for soup labels that the local society had sent.

Pastor Mark Miller was in charge of Bible study, taken from the book of Mark.

Mrs. Arthur Cook will lead a Bible study to be Friday, March 31 at 2 p.m. at the church fellowship hall.

Mrs. Arthur Cook will host the April 12 meeting.

METHODIST WOMEN

The United Methodist Women hosted their annual Easter breakfast on Wednesday. There were 20 members and guests present.

Mrs. Don Harmeier, president, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Merlin Kenny reported on the last meeting and Mrs. Don Harmer read the treasurer's report. In charge of breakfast plans were Mrs. Don Harmeier, Mrs. Wayne Kerstine and Mrs. Clara Rethwisch.

Mrs. Harmeier read "Give Yourself a Lovely Day." Roll call was "What the Word Peace Means to Us." The group signed a get well card for Mrs. Ruby Duncan who is hospitalized and a sympathy card for Mrs. Ruth Andrews.

A Bible study of the books Ruth and Esther is planned for April with the dates to be announced.

A spring meeting will be held in Orchard on Tuesday, April 18.

The Good Friday soup supper will be served at 7 p.m. Women will bake the bread for the supper.

Mrs. Merlin Kenny had the lesson "Peace Like Bread Must Be Made Daily."

Mrs. Kenny accompanied for group singing "Beneath the Cross of Jesus" and "Up From the Grave He Arose."

The next meeting will be April 12 when Mrs. Gene Rethwisch will have the lesson and Mrs. Perry Johnson will serve.

COMMUNITY CLUB

The Carroll Community Club held their monthly meeting Monday at the Carroll Steakhouse.

Mrs. Jerry Junck conducted the meeting and Mrs. Sally Thompson reported on the last meeting.

The annual pancake-omelette feed will be held Sunday, March 12 at the Carroll auditorium from 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at a cost of $3 for adults and children under 12 are $1.

The annual Easter egg hunt will be held Saturday, March 25.

Plans were discussed for the Halloween dance that will be Oct. 28 at the city auditorium.

Committee reviews land requirements

Melvin Wilson, chairman of the Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, reminds producers who plan to participate in the 1989 farm program that land taken out of crop production to meet the acreage reduction requirements must qualify as eligible land.

"Land intended to be designated as acreage conservation reserve (ACR) must meet the same eligibility requirements as the 1988 program," Wilson said. The ACR must have been devoted to row crops, small grains or other crop planted annually in two of the last three years. He said land designated as ACR is considered as planted in the year designated.

The sign-up period for the 1989 programs is open through April 14, 1989. When producers sign up, Wilson said they agree to remove a certain percentage of cropland from production and devote it to conservation practices which are sufficient to protect these acres from soil and water erosion in accordance with the program contract.

Wilson said approved cover crops or conservation practices must be established on ACR land by the end of the normal planting period for spring crops.

Otherwise eligible land being leveled, put into sod waterways or filter strips or planted to trees, shrubs or shelter belts in the fall of 1988 or in 1989, may be designated as ACR in 1989.

The next meeting will be Monday, April 3 at the steakhouse at noon. Anyone interested in becoming a member is invited to attend.

SENIOR CITIZENS

Mrs. Alice Wagner was the hostess when the Senior Citizens met Monday at the fire hall for cards. Winners were Mrs. Arthur Cook and George Johnston. Mrs. Clara Rethwisch was a guest and won a prize.

Mrs. Ron Sebade, LPN, was present to take blood pressure readings.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cook will host the afternoon of cards today (Monday) at the fire hall.

Announcing a change in Directory Assistance

Beginning March 17, all calls to Directory Assistance outside your area code will be carried by long-distance companies at their rates. That means a long-distance company will complete your call when you dial Directory Assistance for another area code.

This change makes Directory Assistance in your community consistent with the rest of the country.

Your long-distance company can provide information about rates, call allowances and exemptions for Directory Assistance calls outside your area code.

Dialing Directory Assistance Is Still Fast and Easy

To reach Directory Assistance outside your area code, dial 1 + area code + 555-1212*

The way you dial Directory Assistance within your area code won't change.

Additional Information Available

Details about Directory Assistance dialing are included in the Customer Guide section of your US WEST* White Pages directory.

If you need additional information, call your US WEST Communications service representative. The telephone number is included in the Customer Guide section of your US WEST Communications White Pages directory.

Questions and Answers About Directory Assistance

Q: Will rates for Directory Assistance calls outside my area code change?

A: Probably. The long-distance company that carries your call will establish rates for Directory Assistance calls outside your area code. Check with your long-distance company for information on rates, call allowances and exemptions for customers with special needs.

Q: What happens if I dial 411, 1 + 411 or 1 + 555-1212 for Directory Assistance outside my area code?

A: You'll reach an operator unable to provide the telephone numbers you need. The operator will give you instructions for completing your call to Directory Assistance outside your area code.

Q: Will US WEST* Communications operators still provide Directory Assistance for my area code?

A: Yes, there will be no change for Directory Assistance calls within your area code.

*Follow this procedure even if you need a listing for a business or residence inside your local calling area, but outside your area code. Detailed information about your local calling area is included in the Customer Guide section of your US WEST Communications White Pages directory.

HOSKINS VILLAGE BOARD PROCEEDINGS
Feb. 27, 1989
The Hoskins Village Board met in regular session at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall. Board members present were: Bridgman, Elkins, Doffin and Scheurich. Absent: Maier. All minutes were taken while the convened meeting was opened to the public. Minutes of the January meeting were read and approved. It was reported that a leak had developed in the stand pipe, MaQuire Co. of Sioux Falls, So. Dak., was contacted. They will come Feb. 28th to repair the damage. Possibility of other water line leaks was discussed as water pumping seems too high for winter months. Raising water and sewer rates was discussed. Pumping and repair expense has increased. It was proposed that water bills would be sent monthly and be raised to $9.00 per month for sewer and $9.00 per month for water. Business rates and outlying rates would increase accordingly. The raise will be in effect March 1, 1989. Dad's Bar asked permission to stay open March 4th till 1:00 a.m. There was no objection.

The following bills were presented:
Blue Cross/Blue Shield ..... 102.50
Water Products ..... 15.97
Johnson-Erickson & O'Brien ..... 422.50
Nebraska Public Power ..... 1,058.96

Make sure things are

"Sure things" are rare. One sure thing is this: You get an extra measure of value when you shop at home! Part of every dollar you spend at home is returned to your community. Local businesses pay local taxes. They also make donations to local charities...probably your favorite charity! When you shop out of town, your money helps another community, not yours!
