Wayne Expo event slated at auditorium

This year's Wayne Expo has entailed a lot of planning by Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce members who are assembling booths and participating in the three-day event in the Wayne City Auditorium.

And the time spent by the participants in planning their booths will make the 1989 Expo, sponsored by the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce and participating members, an exciting event.

Linda Brown, executive vice president of the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce, said Tuesday afternoon that 40 booths have been reserved for the March 17-19 Expo.

Those participating businesses, 31 of them, include: Doescher Appliance, Jammer Photography, Pac 'N' Save, Northeast Nebraska Builders, The Wayne Herald and Marketer, Lindsay Soft Water of Norfolk, Wayne State College Library, Zach Propane and Carhart Lumber.

Also Pizza Hut, Magnuson Eye Care, Wayne Monument, Trio Travel, Wayne Greenhouse, Midwest Land Co., KTCH Radio, Diamond Center, Koplin Auto, Office Connection, Sav-Mor Pharmacy, Providence Medical Center and Complete Computer System.

Others include Logan Valley Implement, Wayne State College Autocad Training Center, Wayne

State College Applied Science Division, Wayne Municipalities, Ellingson Motors, Mines Jewelers, T & C Electronics, Arnie's Ford-Mercury and the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce.

Wayne Expo 1989, the third Expo in Wayne within four years, begins Friday (March 17) with booths opening at 5 p.m. and closing at 9 p.m.

Booths will open again Saturday (March 18) at 10 a.m. and stay open until 5 p.m. Also on Saturday, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., there will be an omelet feed — free to the public — and co-sponsored by the Waldbaum Company of Wakefield.

On Sunday, the booths will be open from 1 p.m. till the closing of the Expo at 5 p.m.

Each day during the three-day event, the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce will be giving away $50 worth of Chamber Shopping Gift Certificates.

Brown said the Chamber will also be displaying the model of Wayne's newest "Welcome to Wayne" signs, and will be selling bricks to help pay for the construction of these signs.

It wasn't difficult, Brown said, to fill the number of available booth space at this year's Expo, and she encourages the public to see the wide variety of displays and register for other prizes.

"People are excited to be a part of it," said Brown.

Hospice Week proclaimed

Mayor Wayne Marsh of Wayne has signed a proclamation designating March 12-19 as Hospice Week — a week to create awareness of the local hospice program and to promote activities in gathering community financial support.

Wayne Hospice Group Coordinator Wanda Kucera, presented the proclamation Tuesday evening to Marsh and the Wayne City Council.

The Wayne Hospice Group is a non-profit organization providing supportive services to persons with life-threatening illnesses and their families.

HOSPICE is supportive, working with the physician, home health nurses, ministers and others to provide assistance that may enable the remaining life, and that of family members, to be as meaningful and rewarding as possible.

Kucera told the city council that hospice volunteers can provide services in a wide variety of areas, including relief for the primary care-giver, housework, errands, transportation, laundry, meal preparation and others.

The Wayne Hospice Group is interested in hearing from individuals who might like to become volunteers, Kucera said. Volunteers are encouraged to participate in both official hospice training courses, in-service training, and on-going monthly meetings which involve training.

Hospice is available at no cost to people in an approximate area of 30 miles around Wayne, including the area communities of Emerson, Concord, Dixon, Carroll, Laurel, Winside, Wakefield and Allen.

The hospice group is not funded by government, but through community support. These funds are used by the organization for support of its office and a part-time coordinator.

TO RAISE needed funding, the Wayne Hospice Group is sponsoring a benefit basketball game on Sunday, March 19, 2:30 p.m. at Rice Auditorium on the Wayne State College campus.

The Nebraska Football Big Eight champs will square off against the Superland 86'ers, a ladies team

Governor Orr to claim Wayne as Capital City

Governor Kay Orr will name Wayne as Nebraska's Capital City on April 7.

The Governor and various state government agency directors will visit the community and attend several events throughout the day, including a breakfast that is open to the public.

Governor Orr will meet with agricultural leaders, economic development group members, city and county elected officials and Chamber of Commerce members.

During "Capital for a Day", the Governor will also visit a school, the senior center, a local industry and attend the inauguration ceremonies at Wayne State College.

"The Capital for a Day program was originated as a way for us to not only bring state government out into the communities, but also to view first-hand the issues and challenges faced by the smaller towns in our state," said Governor Orr.

While the Governor is in Wayne, the agency directors will conduct meetings and tours of their own, visiting various classes in the school and meeting with citizens.

For information on tickets for the breakfast, contact the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce at 375-2240.

City looks again at new rates

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

Wayne's city council took action on two rate structures — one dealing with what city residents will pay for irrigation/cooling and the other, for residential homes heated with electricity — during a meeting Tuesday night at the council chambers.

Last month, the city council had passed an ordinance which lowered the residential water rates and brought the net monthly minimum charge down from $10 to $8. A winter rate and summer rate were approved.

At that time, a proposal was made to establish a special "Irrigation/Cooling Rate" to be made available for both residential and commercial customers. However, the city attorney had asked that the proposal undergo additional analysis and engineering data before approval.

Tuesday night the council approved the "special use water rates", established as follows (using net figures): Minimum rate, none; 0 to 8,000 gallons, $2.10 per 1,000 gallons; 8,001 to 14,000 gallons, $1.95 per 1,000 gallons; 14,000 gallons on up, $1.80 per 1,000 gallons.

City Administrator Phil Kloster said the special use water rates would be based on separate meters. The city of Wayne would provide the meters to the customers at no cost. However, the residents will be required to pay for the installation of the meter to be done by plumbers or other workers other than city personnel.

THE ORDINANCE passed by the city council, approving the special rates, will take effect after the meters are read for billing purposes in May, 1989.

City council members also amended the city's municipal code and provided for a residential electric heat rate. They then passed a resolution establishing the residential electric heat rate.

Kloster said a previous city council had decided to drop the electric heat rate from the city's rate ordinances back in the 1970's. Those who have their residential homes or apartments heated by electricity will benefit from reduced electrical costs because of the council's action to re-instate the residential heating rate.

"These rates would apply for residential customers using permanently installed electric space heating equipment to heat their living quarters," Kloster mentioned.

Without the special rate, these individuals would be paying net costs of 4.6 cents per kilowatt hour up to 3,000 kilowatt hours and 4.1 cents per kilowatt hour over 3,000 kilowatt hours.

NOW THAT the ordinance is approved, those qualifying for the residential electric heating rates would be paying 4.6 cents per kilowatt hour for the first 750 kilowatt hours and 2.5 cents per kilowatt hour for over 750 kilowatt hours.

Kloster specified that the rates apply only to those that meet the proper home heating qualifications. He added that there are several homes in Wayne that now qualify for the newly established rates.

He said there will be no increase in residential electric rates

Wayne emergency alert reviewed

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

An alert system that comes into the home through cable television lines was proposed before the Wayne City Council during Tuesday night's regular meeting.

Assistant Wayne County Civil Defense Director and Police Chief Vern Fairchild first presented the city council with a review of the city of Wayne's 1989 Skywarn Program. He then introduced John Erickson, who gave the council information on the HollyAnne Indoor Warning System — an indoor emergency warning unit that is a receiver for use within cable television systems.

Erickson said there are only a few ways to get into the home and alert residents of a pending emergency — either through siren which could be difficult to hear in the summer when air conditioners and such are operating; by public radio or television channels.

OR BY THE HollyAnne Civil Defense and Weather Emergency

Alerting System, he said, which is "totally independent of the television set and can come on if the television is on or off," said Erickson.

The high-pitch sound that comes over the receiver, brought forward by a message from the civil defense department, the National Weather Service or other officials, can alert people any hour of the day or night.

The receiver also has a red light that can be illuminated, primarily for tornado or severe storm "watch" situations. Those with the receiver in their home can push a button, in this situation, and learn what the situation is like in neighboring counties, or if the bad weather is heading in Wayne's direction.

And what happens if the city is without electricity because of the storm?

Erickson said that National Weather says that 90 percent of the "warnings" issued have come prior to a power outage. Some cable companies have battery back-up systems available, he said.

The warning code can be dispatched through the city's dispatching service or via telephone. Access to the HollyAnne control, which sends the message to the receivers, can be done by telephone only through a lengthy security code. The person on the phone can then present, on the air, the emergency situation and tell the people what they want to know, Erickson mentioned.

Other emergency messages can be conveyed through the receivers, Erickson said, such as anhydrous ammonia spills, peak energy loads or school closings because of bad weather.

HOWEVER, civil defense messages and weather emergencies will override all other messages, Erickson said.

Currently, a pilot system of the HollyAnne system exists in the base headquarters of the company — Greeley, Nebraska.

Problems with muddy city alleys?

Warm weather is approaching, believe it or not.

And with the Spring-like, wet conditions will come several muddy alleys within the city limits of Wayne.

Wayne Street Superintendent Vern Schulz said Wednesday that the city will begin making alley improvements and that approximate costs of these projects are available.

As in the past, the city will pay for half the cost of either road gravel or crushed rock, plus the necessary grading and filling.

All that is required for alley improvements is for a property owner to pick up a petition at the city clerk's office and circulate it in his block for signatures. After the petition is returned to the city clerk, the city will begin necessary blading, filling and replacement of material.

Half of the cost for the alley improvement will be billed to the residents signing the petition.

Schulz said the cost per resident could be as low as $5 for road gravel or $13 for crushed rock if all residents in the block sign the petition.

Schulz pointed out that it may be advantageous for residents to participate in the improvements, even though they do not personally use their alley. That is because sewer, garbage pickup, telephone, cable television, electrical, soft water and many other deliveries are provided and serviced from the alley, Schulz said.

Course focuses on diet and reducing disease

Twenty-five persons from Wayne and several area communities, including Winside, Wakefield, Pender and Laurel, took part recently in a six-week course focusing on diet and reducing disease risk.

The course, entitled "Eating Today for a Healthier Tomorrow," was sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service. Classes began Jan. 20 and concluded March 6 in the Wayne County Courthouse meeting room.

In addition to Wayne, classes were offered in Dakota City, Hartington and Pierce.

SESSIONS DURING the six-week course focused on diet and reducing the risk of heart disease as well as obesity, cancer and osteoporosis, as well as reducing cholesterol levels.

Participants also learned about nutrient dense foods, menu planning and recipe modification, including reducing sugar and salt and increasing fiber.

Instructors were area home economists Mary Temme of Wayne, Anna Marie White of Concord, Nancy Lang of Walthill, Carol Larvick of Dakota City and Carol Schwarz of Hartington.

In addition, the class also utilized resource persons, including a nurse from Providence Medical Center and a representative of the Dairy Council of Central States.

ALTHOUGH CLASS participants cited a variety of reasons for taking part in the six-week program, all agreed that the program was worthwhile in helping them determine what they should and should not include in their diets.

During the final session, on March 6, Temme told class participants that one of her goals going into the program was for each participant to walk out know exactly what they were going to do to help themselves.

Class members are planning a reunion, including a potluck meal, on April 24 at 7 p.m. at the courthouse. Those attending are asked to bring a dish in which they have modified the recipe to include fewer calories, cholesterol and fat.

Two out of three working Americans surveyed in 1985 doubted that Social Security benefits would be available when they retire. The only evidence they saw of the program was the amount deducted from their wages as their contributions. To request the statement, call 1-800-937-2000--and keep calling if you get a busy signal.

Older people should tell their doctors if medications don't seem to be effective, or if they cause side effects. One reason, a study by Harvard Medical School and the Massachusetts General Hospital found that some doctors did not reduce dosage levels in accord with low weight and other criteria for older patients.

Conway talks of Vision 20/20 bill

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

Future highway planning was one of several topics discussed by State Senator Gerald Conway of Wayne during an information session sponsored last Friday at Geno's Steak House by the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce Legislative Committee.

Conway presented a slide program to the public Friday detailing Vision 20/20, a master road plan named because of its use of future development of the highway system in Nebraska. He had introduced LB 576 which would call for a more efficient development of the state's roads.

According to the architect of the Vision 20/20 plan, it will bring commerce and travelers through Nebraska because it addresses the need for tying Nebraska's road system to the adjacent major markets of Minneapolis, Kansas City and Denver. Conway said the 20/20 plan would make Nebraska the geographical ground transportation hub of the nation.

LB 576, Conway said, designated specific interstate corridors. One of those corridors proposed, according to the Vision 20/20 plan, would connect Minneapolis to Denver by running through South Sioux, Wakefield, Wayne, Norfolk, Columbus, Grand Island to Interstate 80.

Currently, five of Nebraska's 10 largest urban areas are not served by interstates, including Norfolk and Columbus. Three of the next largest cities — Alliance, McCook and Beatrice — are without interstates. And then, only five of the next 20 largest cities are on I-80.

Conway said highway developers should be reviewing the Vision 20/20 plan so that 20 years from now, the improvements can be made. "We need to make highway improvements now in light of the knowledge [of Vision 20/20]," he said.

He said Vision 20/20 can be accomplished if built in phases. "We establish two lane roads that will move the traffic in the right direction and build them in such a way as to accommodate the addition of two more lanes as need arises," Conway said.

TUESDAY WAS the halfway point of the Legislature, Conway said. The last day of hearings is this Friday.

Conway was asked about the surplus revenue anticipated by Nebraska. There is a significant increase in revenue over the past year, he said. Approximately $70 million is available. However, he added that there have been $550 million in requests for the surplus funding.

Some senators are taking a cautious approach as to how to allocate the surplus funding, not wanting to appropriate funding that they will be committed to fund in future years.

A reason for the additional revenue could stem from the ag community paying more income taxes than the past years, Conway mentioned.

Conway was also asked about the "school choice" bill currently under debate in the legislature. "Some people would call it a back door approach to consolidation," he said.

STUDENTS would be allowed to attend the school district of their choosing, according to the language in the proposed bill. Funding of the student is arranged between the two school districts involved in the transfer; and the student cannot participate in athletics the first year of the transfer.

Senators have refused to "sweep the bill under the rug," Conway said. "There are still a lot of concepts about the bill to talk about."

Nebraska highway future plan studied

The development of good roads requires an extensive amount of planning. This planning includes not only the technical aspect of maintaining existing roads but also the more visionary aspect of predicting how to best serve future needs.

In order to assure Nebraska's most efficient development of its roads, I introduced LB 576. The bill presents a master road plan called VISION 20/20. The plan is aptly named because of its use of future development as opposed to reliance on the past.

The present highway system basically follows the trails made by the pioneers or those developed along section lines established by Congress over 100 years ago. Even when the Interstate System was planned, little thought was given to the needs of Nebraska. As a result of this, with the exception of I-80, all other interstates bypass Nebraska, taking with them commerce and growth.

Last year the Legislature called for a highway "Needs Study" to be completed. The 20 year road plan (known as NEEDS) proposed by the Nebraska Department of Roads, is almost identical to the 1969 Road Plan that was rejected by Governor Exon. It has been resurrected, dusted off, and slightly revised. Its definition of planning is to widen existing roads. The NEEDS study never asks the basic question, "Do the roads go where people and commerce want to go?"

VISION 20/20, as depicted in LB 576, was offered to the Legislature as an alternative to the narrowness

By Sen. Gerald Conway

the major corridors important to our District would connect Minneapolis to Denver by running through South Sioux, Wakefield, Wayne, Norfolk, Columbus, Grand Island to I-80.

This corridor is based on the recognition of the growing economic development between these two major markets. The desire of VISION 20/20 is to bring this activity through the state, instead of diverting it through other states as the current interstate system does. With a proper system in place, Nebraska would be that much more attractive for economic growth.

Several other corridors are also planned to build missing links in our present road system. These would connect roads between major Nebraska cities and out-of-state cities where construction would be phased in as the traffic utilizes the new routes.

A major aspect of the VISION 20/20 plan is that, if we know what we want to accomplish, we can build in phases. We establish two lane roads that will move the traffic in the right direction and build them in such a way as to accommodate the addition of two more lanes as the need arises.

Under our current system, we often meet only the current need and experience the costs of tearing out what we have done to update to a more expanded system since we didn't anticipate the future need.

of the NEEDS study. According to the architect of the plan, it will bring commerce and travelers through Nebraska because it addresses the need for tying our roads system to the adjacent major markets of Minneapolis, Kansas City, and Denver. The 20/20 plan would make Nebraska the geographical ground transportation hub of the nation.

THE NEEDS study relies heavily on existing traffic counts to determine which roads will be upgraded, while VISION 20/20 does not. Traffic counts can not measure traffic on routes that don't exist, regardless of their potential efficiency. At some point, the State must step back and look to see, based on the growth areas of the state and their location to other major cities, the effectiveness of our roads in channeling traffic.

To accomplish this, LB576 designates specific Interstate corridors, major cities they will connect, and the Nebraska communities through which they will run. One of for those not qualifying for the electric heat rate established in the ordinance.

The objective for establishing the electric heat rate, he said, is to pick up more customers.

Revenue from electric rates are normally greater in the summer months than in winter months. Home heating through electricity is one way that the city can obtain a greater amount of revenue in the winter months.

Alert

The system will be installed later this year in Bellevue and Papillion.

Erickson said the unique aspect of the alert system is that there will be no cost to the municipality to use the system. The receivers, he said, will be sold to the cable customers at a rate of $2.95 a month.

The city council members decided to meet with Jones Inter-cable, suppliers of cable television in Wayne, to get the cable company's input into the proposal. They will review a resolution requesting the service at their next regular meeting.

Fairchild told council members that when people are sleeping at night, they may not hear the sirens outside, which is why an indoor siren would be worthwhile. "There needs to be a way to get the warning out and notify the people of the emergency," he said.

HE SAID THE city's 1989 Skywarn Program will provide "pretty fair coverage."

"At this stage we are covered a lot better than we were a year ago," Fairchild said.

More people from the rural areas have volunteered their services as "spotters" and the communication process has been revised to make calling more simplified and expedient, Fairchild said.

Kloster told the council that there are plans to cut back the hours at the Norfolk Weather Bureau Office. "So there definitely needs to be a change in how we approach our warning system," Kloster said.

When immediate information is not available from the Norfolk office, the information will be coming out of Omaha. "Wayne is on the fringe of their coverage area," mentioned Fairchild.

YOUNGSTERS THROUGHOUT WAYNE WILL take part in the annual Jump Rope for Heart fundraising event being sponsored by the Wayne County Affiliate of the American Heart Association. This year's event will take place on Saturday, March 18 from 1 to 4 p.m. in the Wayne National Guard Armory. ### To raise money for Heart Association

Jump rope benefit slated

Participants of all ages are encouraged to take part in the annual Jump Rope for Heart event being sponsored by the Wayne County Affiliate of the American Heart Association.

This year's event is slated to take place on Saturday, March 18 from 1 to 4 p.m. in the Wayne National Guard Armory.

Co-chairmen Linda Carr and Mary Ann Lutt said participants are asked to be at the armory—by 12:45 p.m. Entry forms may be obtained from physical education teachers in Wayne or by contacting Carr, 375-4905.

ALL AREA RESIDENTS are invited to stop by during the event to give jumpers their support and to make a donation to the American Heart Association.

Theme for this year's Jump Rope for Heart is "Beach Party," and participants are encouraged to wear their jams, hats and shades, and come prepared to have a fun time.

Jump Rope for Heart is a team event. A team of six jumpers will take turns jumping rope for a maximum of three hours. Each team member will secure pledges for each minute the team jumps.

When one jumper begins to tire and stops jumping, another team member will begin jumping. Jumpers will rotate in sequence and as a team will try to jump continuously for the maximum three hour period.

ALL PARTICIPANTS turning in money will receive a jump rope. Other prizes include a Jump Rope for Heart pencil for pledges totaling $10 to $14.99; a Jump Rope for Heart t-shirt for pledges totaling $15 to $49.99; a Jump Rope for Heart t-shirt and sports bag for pledges totaling $50 to $74.99; a Jump Rope for Heart t-shirt and sweatshirt for pledges totaling $75 to $99.99; a Jump Rope for Heart t-shirt and clock radio for pledges totaling $100 to $149.99; a Jump Rope for Heart t-shirt, sweatpants and sweatshirt for pledges totaling $150 to $199.99; and a Jump Rope for Heart t-shirt and nylon warm-up suit for pledges totaling $200 and more.

Members of the winning team for each event receive a Jump Rope for Heart medallion. To win the medallion, the team must collect $250 or more.

Carr said there will be many more door prizes and drawings, plus refreshments during the day.

JUMP ROPE FOR HEART is a statewide event for students to promote physical education and cardiovascular health while raising funds to help the Heart Association fight heart attack and stroke, which kill more people annually than all other causes of death combined.

National Poison Prevention Week

March 19-25 has been designated National Poison Prevention Week. The prevention of accidental poisonings is one of our most important responsibilities as parents and concerned citizens. Since 60 to 80 percent of all poisonings occur around the home, we can all help reduce the number and severity of household poisonings. Concentrate on the kitchen, bathroom, garage, and storage areas — the four most common sites of accidental poisonings in the home.

Teach children at an early age not to eat or play with plants, drugs, or household chemicals. Keep an eye on small children, especially in the late afternoon hours when children get hungry and many poisonings occur. Store household cleaners and disinfectants out of the sight and reach of small children. If cleaners and other products are transferred from original containers, make certain the new containers are properly labeled.

Make certain all prescription and nonprescription medicines have child-resistant tops. Keep these container tops on tightly when medicines are not being used. Periodically discard outdated medicines and household products by flushing them down the toilet.

Your funeral home selection is very important ... the competent staff at the Schumacher Funeral Home will assist you, and those you love, through the funeral experience. Our reputation is built on serving families, like yours, and we pledge that we will merit the confidence you have placed in us. Feel free to visit our facilities and talk to us any time. #### Tax Shelters

April 15th is rapidly approaching when many of our federal tax returns will be due. This is the time when our thoughts turn to ways to save on income taxes. With most of the tax shelters eliminated over the last few years, only a few legitimate shelters remain. If you are a business owner, be thinking of a pension or profit sharing plan. If you are a teacher, consider a tax sheltered annuity. A wage earner should check out an Individual Retirement Account (IRA). Some tax payers were eliminated from using an IRA deduction by recent tax changes, but the overwhelming majority of taxpayers are eligible for a $2,000 tax deductible IRA. Consider the tax and retirement benefits to you...a yearly $2,000 tax deductible IRA investment for 20 years, earning a tax-deferred 8 percent would be worth $98,846 -- $24,300 MORE than if you had not used a tax deferred IRA. These figures are based on the lowest federal income tax bracket. A taxpayer in a higher bracket would save even more. Before you file your federal tax return this year, stop by my office at 416 Main Street and let's discuss your retirement plan. Don't wait, call 375-1848 today about your financial future.

Optional acreage diversion offered

In addition to earning deficiency payments on their actual planted acreage, Melvin Wilson, chairman of the Wayne County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service, said farm program participants may underplant their permitted acres and still, under some conditions, receive deficiency payments on the underplanted acreage.

The 1989 farm programs contain an optional acreage diversion provision known as 0/92 for wheat and feed grain producers.

"Under the 0/92 provision, wheat and feed grain producers may devote all or a portion of their permitted acreage," Wilson said.

He said 0/92 payments for wheat and feed grains are guaranteed to be no less than the projected deficiency payments of $.50 per bushel for wheat, $.89 for corn, $.90 for sorghum and $.23 per bushel for barley.

The ASCS official said the maximum acreage for deficiency payments under the optional acreage diversion provision is 92 percent of the permitted acreage. The production of nonprogram crops is not permitted.

The 1989 farm program participants will be eligible also for price support loans.

Program applications may be filed at the Wayne County ASCS office through April 14, 1989.

Farmers advised on crop insurance

Nebraska farmers may want to get crop insurance for 1989 crops in light of federal budget-tightening that may not include a drought assistance program this year, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln farm management specialist said.

Doug Jose, an agricultural economics professor, said Rep. E. (Kika) de la Graza, D-Texas, chairman of the U.S. House of Representatives Agricultural Committee, has encouraged farmers to consider insuring their crops.

In a press release, De la Graza said the federal government may not be able to afford a drought assistance bill similar to the one passed in 1988.

Nebraska farmers have until April 15 to sign up for federally subsidized multi-peril insurance for spring-planting crops, Jose said. The insurance is available for wheat, corn, barley, oats, dry beans, potatoes, sugar beets, rye, soybeans, grain sorghum, hybrid corn seed, hybrid sorghum seed and popcorn.

"Crop insurance can be a viable risk management tool in areas where heat, drought, hail, insects and other natural hazards threaten," he said.

Premiums are based on the amount of coverage selected. Jose said insuring to cover cash input costs may help prevent financial disaster in case of major crop losses.

Farmers should check with insurance agents before spring work starts, Jose said.

Inspection

I am writing in regard to Legislative Bill 394 which would revise the auto inspection. The hearing was held recently but no action taken. Now is the time to present comments to the committee.

Write to: Senator Howard Lamb, Chairman of Transportation Committee, State Capitol, Lincoln, NE 68509.

My reasons for opposition: Accidents are caused by careless driving, weather conditions, and alcohol and drugs--seldom by vehicle safety hazards.

The $15 inspection fee would be just the beginning of the cost per car. Add the expense of driving to a state mandated inspection station, plus a day off work. You can be certain the independent contractors, selected by the state to inspect, would not be open week-ends and not the extended hours as stations doing inspections previously.

These were available everywhere and many would accommodate working people by doing inspections after hours. And for $3.75.

Can you imagine the cost of implementing all of these state inspection stations, plus operating costs? There is no guarantee that the $15 fee would not go higher. For families having need for more vehicles, as kids in school, the expense would be multiplied.

The inspections would be a prerequisite for annual car registration, as insurance is now. Insurance premiums keep increasing, as do costs of labor and parts on car repairs.

One thing is certain--if LB 394 becomes a law, it would add hundreds more on the state payroll--paid for by we the people. And how much might the cost be to meet the safety standards of the computer printout (which will be supplied for each station)?

Adellne Prescott
Dixon, NE

SETTING THE RECORD STRAIGHT

"YOUR MONEY IS SAFE"

"For more than half a century, the United States has operated a deposit insurance program that provides direct government protection to the savings of our citizens. This program has enabled tens of millions of Americans to save with confidence. In all the time since creation of deposit insurance, savers have not lost one dollar of insured deposits. I am determined that they never will.

In closing, I wish to speak to the small savers of America. Across this great land, families and individuals work and save. And we hope to encourage even greater rates of saving to promote a brighter future for our children. Your government has stood behind the safety of insured deposits before, it does today, and it will do so at all times in the future. Every insured deposit will be backed by the full faith and credit of the United States of America, which means that it will absolutely be protected."

Excerpts from a statement by — George Bush —
President of the United States
February 6, 1989

"BUSINESS AS USUAL"

The events that have taken place in the financial services industry since the first of the year have created a lot of doubt and confusion in the minds of many savers in Nebraska. This is understandable. The stability of a financial institution is one of the most important elements in a relationship between depositor and banker.

Please remember, as you make your decisions about where to save and where to bank.... it's business, as usual, at Occidental Nebraska.

Your deposit dollars continue to be insured safe by the FSIC and backed by the full faith and credit of the government of the United States. The friendly, dedicated folks at Occidental Nebraska will continue to provide the finest service possible and remain eager to serve your needs with a wide array of competitively priced financial products.

After 96 years of service, Nebraskans like yourself can be assured that at the 26 branch offices of Occidental Nebraska across the State, it is, and will continue to be, BUSINESS AS USUAL.

CRP figures released

John Neuberger, State Executive Director for the Nebraska State ASCS Office, announced that over 13.6 million dollars was paid to producers for Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) cost-shares in fiscal year 1988. Mr. Neuberger explained that over 463,000 acres were served or treated under the CRP program last fiscal year. Those practices receiving cost-share payments included nearly 200,000 acres of tame grass seeding and nearly 150,000 acres of native grass seeding.

In addition, over 103,900 acres of CRP fields were completed under the permanent wildlife habitat practice. This practice consists of planting trees, shrubs, grasses and legumes for establishment of wildlife habitat cover for erosion control. Under the signup periods 1-7 under CRP over 1,136,000 acres have been enrolled in Nebraska on approximately 10,900 farms. Signup period 8 ended Feb. 24 and figures for that signup will be released soon. Mr. Neuberger also stressed that seven counties in Nebraska have already reached the 25 percent cropland limitation and did not allow producers to signup for land in their counties during the 8th signup. Those counties reaching their 25 percent goal are: Kimball, Banner, Arthur, McPherson, Hooker, Cherry, and Rock.

Mr. Neuberger is advising producers that the next signup will be July 17 through Aug. 4, 1989. The original national plan was to enroll between 40 and 45 million acres through 1990.

The Farmer's Wife

By Pat Melerhenry

This "overcommitted" Farm Wife is back to the grind stone; and the Big Farmer is in front of the tube, watching the antics of James Bond!

Contrary to rumor, I was not out of the country, or stranded by Eastern Airlines. I was just very busy at work, and I coerced a "distant relative" into subbing for me. I must say he did get carried away while describing visits with my mom and sis!

And I certainly didn't expect him to complain to the whole county that he was being neglected! He says he agrees with John Wayne. "My wife can work outside the home, as long as she's home in time to fix supper."

After all the other stages of life, we have finally arrived at "the empty nest." Ann moved to Norfolk last month, to be closer to school and her job. It does feel strange here at home.

I'VE LOST my housekeeper and laundress. The basement bedroom looks very bare. There aren't any 100% cotton clothes drying in the bathroom; no curling irons draped on the hamper; no eye makeup spilling off the shelves. The phone rings much less, of course. And the radio only plays news.

We had to have one major snow storm. And I had to get stuck one time. Thank goodness the calves didn't begin arriving last weekend — what a difference one Saturday to another. It's been a little difficult getting the feed wagon to some of the bunks.

A dream of every high school athlete is "to go to state." "State" means our capitol city for volleyball and basketball and wrestling, Omaha for track, and almost anyplace for football.

In wrestling and track, an individual can make it; the other sports call for team effort.

"State" must be experienced, it's very difficult to describe. It takes work and determination, and luck, to get there.

At least, in wrestling, the top four at Districts go. Districts were at Winside this year.

THERE ARE two mats spread out in the gym. Cheerleaders sit instead of stand during a match, and pound the floor in rhythm.

There are nosebleeds, and twisted arms, and cheers and jeers, and spit; grunts and groans and tears.

The blind contestant inspired us all. He took the arms of his teammates, and the refs helped him while on the mat. He missed qualifying for State by two points. When he finished, his home school applauded until, soon, his opponents school did, too.

State wrestling takes place in the Devaney Center, and the "parade of champions" that precedes the championship round brings goose bumps. I saw more than one Mom crying while they marched, two by two.

I sat behind a grey-haired couple from Iowa. Wrestling is an important sport in Iowa, and I could tell by their conversation that they knew what was going on.

I ASKED if they had a grandson wrestling. They replied that their son was the Bridgeport coach. In their family, everyone seems to coach wrestling.

At one high school meet in Iowa, a woman behind them was yelling at a coach. They turned to her and said, "He's our nephew." So she began yelling at the other coach. "He's our nephew, too" they told her.

Finally, she yelled at the ref. When they again turned towards her, she said, "I suppose he's a nephew, too!" He was. She exclaimed "I came here to have fun," and got up and moved.
