Tom tries higher education

NORMALLY THIS TIME OF year, robins dot the lawns of Wayne residents. But last Thursday a wild turkey came along and decided to roost in the Wayne city limits. After the turkey was seen by people on the Wayne County Courthouse lawn and in residential yards, the bird moved up to higher education — a tree located near Connell Hall on the Wayne State College campus.

ESU contract approved

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

A special education 1988-89 contract with ESU 1, calling for an increase in estimated costs from the previous year, was approved Tuesday evening by the Wayne-Carroll Board of Education.

The contract for Level 1, Level 3 and Pre-Kindergarten services with ESU 1 has an estimated cost of $88,787, of which up to 80 to 90 percent is reimbursable from the state. That amount is up approximately $19,400 from the previous year.

Level 1 services provided by ESU 1 include resource teacher, full-time speech therapy, audiologist, psychology, behaviorally impaired psychologist, physical therapy, occupational therapy and inservice. These services constitute approximately $60,566 of the total $88,787 contract cost for 1988-89.

THE BOARD of education asked Superintendent Francis Haun if it would be possible for the school district to hire its own speech therapist. They were told that it is difficult to find a speech therapist to fill the position. This year the speech therapist is working at 70 percent of full-time and is serving 38 students.

Providing a full-time position will require an $8,600 increase in the contract for these services that are provided by ESU 1.

Also Tuesday evening, the school board approved the staff contracts for a sixth grade teaching position offered to Jill Pickinpaugh and for a Clinical Services Director for grades K-8 offered to Joan Sudmann.

The Clinical Services Director's responsibilities, as a new position,

Wants Wayne America

George gives stand on standpipe

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

"Wayne America" is written across the newest water tower on the city's east edge.

Now Lyle George of Wayne, who is head of "The Committee For Wayne America On The Water Towers", is asking the Wayne City Council to approve a plan to paint "Wayne America" on the standpipe on the west edge of Wayne.

During a city council meeting March 28, council members accepted the bid of W.S. Bunch Co. of Omaha to paint the exterior and interior (if needed) of the standpipe. The bid was approved at $36,787, which was approximately 29 percent below the engineer's estimate for the project.

IN THAT PROPOSAL was an alternate lettering bid to paint "Wayne America" instead of just "Wayne" on the standpipe. The additional cost for the added lettering would amount to $750.

City council members voted to place only the lettering "Wayne" on the standpipe.

George, in appearing before the city council Tuesday evening, asked the council members to reconsider and to "paint the other tower to match the one recently painted."

Painting "Wayne America" on the city's newest water tower has drawn positive results, George said. "We have received a lot of publicity that we wouldn't have gotten if we hadn't done it [painted "Wayne America" on the new tower]," George said.

Headlines about "Wayne America" have appeared in The Wayne Herald, on radio and in other advertising, he said. The name has been used in political speeches and on local and national television. "I was told that it even made a minute or so of the 20/20 television show," George said.

"Once you put the name up, the more likely the name [Wayne America] will be remembered," George added.

WHY PAINT "Wayne America" just on water towers? Because they are some of the tallest structures in Wayne, according to George. "Wayne is not blessed with mountain ranges or big hills. Areas of high ground are primarily places to be visible. But we have no Mount Rushmore here to carve our face on," he said.

George said there are 18 other cities across the United States that have the name of Wayne. Designating Wayne, Nebraska as "Wayne America" would make this local community more different from the other Waynes in the country, he said.

The painting of "Wayne America" on the standpipe, he said, makes an "art statement" and would create an "interesting piece of scenery."

George said he has respect for those people who do not favor his idea of additional lettering on the standpipe. When the proposal to paint "Wayne America" on the new water tower was proposed [and eventually approved], he found people against the plan.

"They didn't understand why it was done in the first place. Now, there are not nearly as many vocal opponents. There may be some who have converted," said George.

"Through the use of a little paint, we will receive a whole lot of promotional good that will accrue to us," he said.

COUNCILMAN Larry Johnson asked George whether painting "Wayne America" on the new water tower, and on the standpipes as proposed, would take away some

Petition filed against school

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing Editor

Nebraska's Department of Social Services has filed a petition, before the Nebraska Department of Education, for an administrative hearing against the Wayne-Carroll Public Schools.

The hearing was requested for the purpose of determining whether Wayne-Carroll School District is "legally responsible" to contract for educational services for two behaviorally disordered students whom the Department of Social Services say are residents of the school district.

Last December, the Wayne-Carroll Board of Education adopted a resolution stating that the school district will deny "residential responsibility" for students who have been placed in Region IV facilities by the State of Nebraska Department of Social Services. The resolution also states that they will accept residential responsibility if the students have been placed with guardians or in a foster home by the Department of Social Services.

PRIOR TO passage of this resolution in December, Wayne-Carroll Superintendent Francis Haun appeared before the Educational Service Unit I board and requested the board's assistance in educating one of the youngsters who had been placed with Region IV in Wayne by the Department of Social Services.

Haun had said that although the school district had attempted to educate the youngster, the youngster had displayed "violent" behavior on several occasions and the district was no longer able to cope with the situation. Teachers could not handle the visible violent behavior, Haun said.

Later on, the Department of Social Services placed another behaviorally disordered youth with Region IV in Wayne.

Both behaviorally disordered youths are now placed in a program located in the former Modern Energy Systems building on the west edge of Wayne. A contract was agreed upon by ESU and the Department of Social Services for the establishment of the program.

HOWEVER, the Department of Social Services is contending that Wayne-Carroll is still legally responsible for the education of the children.

Petitioners in the administrative hearing petition is Kermit R. McMurry, director of the Nebraska Department of Social Services.

The petition states that "through the efforts of Region IV of the Office of Mental Retardation, a special residence was developed for these two children in the Wayne-Carroll System and that

Restful Knights owners honored as state's top entrepreneurs

Virgil and Jan Kardell and Rob and Carolee Stuber received the Entrepreneur of the Year award during the fourth annual Conference on Productivity and Entrepreneurship which took place Monday in Lincoln.

They are the owners of Restful Knights in Wayne.

The local group of owners were four of ten individuals heading Nebraska Companies honored during Monday's conference. Robin Anderson, director for the Nebraska Center on Productivity and Entrepreneurship, said Tuesday that the Restful Knights company has accomplished something that should be recognized — and the firm should be used as a role model for others interested in starting their own businesses.

One of the goals of the Center, Anderson said, is seeing home-grown businesses being established in the state as opposed to an alternative of always trying to bring business in from the outside.

"We have recognized these people [from Restful Knights] who started a business several years ago and already has had a significant impact on the surrounding communities. They employ close to 100 people. That is quite an accomplishment," Anderson said.

Anderson said the story of Restful Knights is among other success stories captured on videotape which will be shown to junior high and high school students across the state. The videotape will also aid other businesses that are just starting out and working to become a success in Nebraska.

Restful Knights began with four employees in January, 1983 and the company has grown to a manufacturing operation of 95 employees, according to the Restful Knights owners. It was first located at 215 Main Street, above what is now Kid's Closet. Then the business was relocated to 206 Logan Street and in July of 1988, the company moved to its present location in the industrial park east of Wayne.

Initially, the company manufactured pillows. They expanded their production to include mattress pads in September, 1983. Since then, the company's list of production items has included comforters and associated specialty items.

Their list of customers has grown to 1,000 and their products are available in up to 5,000 stores.

Restful Knights opened up a retail outlet in Wayne in November, 1988.

Evidence of the company's community involvement was earlier this year, when employees raised close to $1,400 in a bowl-athon for the Arthritis Foundation.

Governor Kay Orr visited Restful Knights last Friday when Wayne was declared "Capital for a Day."

Other winners of the Entrepreneur of the Year awards were Vin Gupta of the American Business List from Omaha; Sandy Dubbs of Metal Logo in Ralston; Fred Bosselman, Sr. of Bosselman, Inc. of Grand Island; Russ Raybould of Russ's IGA/Super Saver of Lincoln; and Duane Ackle of Crete Carrier Corporation.

VIRGIL AND JAN KARDELL, left, and Rob and Carolee Stuber recently received the 'Entrepreneur of the Year' award. They are the owners of Restful Knights in Wayne. They received a plaque and the company will be featured in a videotape about entrepreneurship, to be shown at schools across Nebraska.

Engagements

Vieth-Fuelberth

The Rev. Henry and Elaine Vieth of Seward and Darrel and Nancy Fuelberth of Wayne announce the engagement of their children, Rhonda Vieth and Dean Fuelberth. They will be married on Aug. 5 at the United Methodist Church in Seward.

Miss Vieth, a 1987 graduate of Seward High School, is attending Wayne State College, majoring in music, and plans to graduate in May 1991. She is involved in the college choir, band and madrigal singers, along with many other musical activities.

Her fiancé was graduated from Wayne-Carroll High School in 1985. He attended Iowa State University and is presently a student at Wayne State College, where he plans to graduate in May 1990 with a double major in math/computer science and a minor in music.

Spotanski-Meredith

Making plans for a Sept. 2 wedding at the First United Methodist Church in Kearney are Annette Spotanski and Kris Meredith, both of Wayne.

Their engagement has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Gary and Sharon Campbell of Shelton, Neb.

The bride-elect was graduated from Shelton Public High School in 1985 and will graduate in December 1989 from Wayne State College with a bachelor's degree in human service counseling.

Her fiancé, son of Douglas and Diane Meredith of Arvada, Colo., is a 1985 graduate of Pomona High School and a 1987 graduate of Front Range Community College. He is employed as a mechanical designer at Great Dane Trailers, Inc. in Wayne.

Becky Heier March bride of Gary Anderson in Wayne rites

The marriage of Becky Heier, daughter of Byron and Barbara Heier of Wayne, and Gary Anderson, son of Jerry and Edith Anderson of Wakefield, was solemnized in 5 o'clock rites March 27 at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wayne.

The double ring service was performed by the Rev. Franklin Rothfuss of Wayne and the Rev. Harlan Heier of York.

Decorations included two altar bouquets, two candelabras, a unity candle, and pink pew bows.

a chapel-length train. The dress was of a beaded and sequined floral design, fashioned with a high lace neckline, fitted bodice, and long sleeves forming a V at the wrists.

Her veil fell from a string of beads, accented with flowers, and she carried a cascade of white and pink silk roses, white lily of the valley and pink forget-me-nots with ivy pearls and pink and white bridal streamers.

THE BRIDE'S attendants wore pink satin frocks in floor length, designed with spaghetti straps and puffy sleeves worn off the shoulders, fitted bodices, and a pink bow at the left sides.

Each carried a single long-stemmed pink rose with baby's breath and pink streamers.

The bridegroom wore his Army dress greens. His boutonniere was a white silk rose with lily of the valley and pink forget-me-nots. His attendants wore light gray tailcoats and pink rose boutonnieres.

The bride's mother selected a long-sleeved floral silk dress of multi-colored pastels in tea length, and the bridegroom's mother chose a pink tea-length dress designed with a pleated top. Their corsages featured two pink sweet-heart roses with white miniature carnations and pink trim.

FOLLOWING THE ceremony, a reception for 200 guests was held in the church fellowship hall. Hosts were Darrell and Betty Heier of Wayne and Dave and Jennie Anderson of Wakefield. Arranging gifts were Michelle Wiltse of Laurel and Angie Anderson of Wakefield.

The wedding cake was cut and served by Twila Wiltse and Cheryl

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Anderson

Henschke, both of Wayne. Shirley Heier of York and Arlene Henschke of Wayne poured, and Brenda Test of Wayne and Lynn Anderson of Wakefield served punch.

Waitresses were Amy Jenkins and Terri Test, both of Wayne, and Annette Hellmers and Jessica Henschke, both of Wakefield.

THE BRIDE WAS graduated from Wayne-Carroll High School in 1987 and has completed one year at Wayne State College. She is employed at Bill's GW in Wayne.

The bridegroom, a 1988 graduate of Wakefield High School, is serving in the U.S. Army with the military police and is stationed in Germany.

At National 4-H Conference

Laurel teen named youth coordinator

A Nebraska 4-H member, Amy Adkins of Laurel, was selected as one of four national 4-H representatives to serve as a youth coordinator at the 59th National 4-H Conference, April 7-15, in Washington, D. C.

Other selected coordinators are from California, Alabama and Illinois.

Selected on the basis of leadership and achievement skills, the youth representatives work closely with the National 4-H Foundation in planning and implementing the national conference.

TWO HUNDRED and fifty youth from the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands and Guam are participating in the conference.

The 1989 theme, "Investing in America's Future," was chosen to mark the 75th anniversary of the Smith-Lever Act, Congress's action to establish the Cooperative Extension System.

In addition to participating in workshops, students tour the nation's capitol, visit embassies, meet with senators and representatives, attend concerts, enjoy a boat excursion on the Potomac River and

Northeast Nebraska chapter International Reading Association honors Dave Lutt, Kathleen Tooker

Wayne residents Dave Lutt and Kathleen Tooker received special recognition last Thursday evening during the annual spring banquet hosted by the Northeast Nebraska chapter of the International Reading Association (IRA) at Wayne State College.

Lutt, principal at West Elementary School in Wayne, was recipient of the Friends of Reading award.

Tooker was the Celebrate Literacy award winner. She serves as librarian at Wayne Public Library.

TOOKER HAS HER degree from Wayne State College and is working on her master's in library science from Emporia State University.

She is a member of the Nebraska Library Association and is currently an officer in the Northeast Nebraska Library Association. In addition, she maintains community involvement as a member of the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce and regularly hosts a Chamber of Commerce coffee hour at the library for promoting new books and the library in general.

Library events and new books also are publicized through articles in the local newspaper and announcements on the local radio station.

Recent events which interested all age groups were the Nebraska Photography Exhibit and art exhibits from Joslyn Art Museum. Book discussions also are held at the library through the Great Plains Authors Program.

IN ADDITION to providing a variety of activities for adults, Tooker also sponsors many fun activities year-round for youngsters of the Wayne community, including a story hour, special programs during National Library Week, and extensive reading activities during the summer reading program.

She also has extended library hours to seven days a week to allow greater accessibility to books.

Tooker also has worked with Wayne Public Schools to develop a computer data base hook-up system to help coordinate reference work.

LUTT SERVES AS state committeeman for the Chapter 1 Task Force and as state chairman for the Parent Involvement Committee.

He is a member of the International Reading Association (IRA), Nebraska State Reading Association and Northeast Nebraska chapter of the International Reading Association, regularly attending regional and national IRA meetings.

Lutt also was cited for the encouragement and support he gives staff members who want to attend workshops, conferences and visitations to other schools to expand their knowledge in teaching.

In addition, Lutt was recognized for the way he supports teachers who are innovative in their teaching. He is actively involved in Prime Time and the Book It program at West Elementary School and arranges inservice programs and resource people to share new ideas and suggestions for reading instruction.

THE NORTHEAST Nebraska chapter of the International Reading Association is comprised of teachers, administrators, parents and other persons who are interested in promoting reading.

Officers, who were newly elected during last Thursday night's supper meeting, are Kathy Muller of Wakefield, president; Jacquelyn Day of Wayne, vice president; Dave Lutt of Wayne, vice-president-elect; Sue Stingley of Laurel, secretary; and Sheri Eaton of Wakefield, treasurer.

Speaker during the evening was Virginia Dritley, storyteller from Fremont, who read excerpts from the books "Sarah, Plain and Tall," a Newbury award winner, and "The Song and Dance Man," a Caldecott award winner.

DAN GARDNER, PRESIDENT OF THE Milton G. Waldbaum Company in Wakefield, accepts a plaque from Wayne Business and Professional Women's Club President Sue Walsh. The company was recently selected Employer of the Year in a contest sponsored by the Wayne BPW and the National Council on the Future of Women in the Workplace.

As Employer of the Year Wakefield company receives plaque from Wayne BPW

The Milton G. Waldbaum Company of Wakefield was recently selected Employer of the Year in a contest sponsored by the Wayne Business and Professional Women's Club and the National Council on the Future of Women in the Workplace.

The company, which was cited for its advancement of women in the workplace, has been entered in a statewide competition.

The state winner will be announced this month at the 1989 Nebraska BPW Convention.

IN NOMINATING THE Milton G. Waldbaum Co. for the award, Personnel Director Larry Hintz said over 37 percent of the company's work force is comprised of women.

"Women today accept employment that will offer them the opportunity to achieve goals they have set for themselves or their families," said Hintz. "They are attracted to employers who can provide a wide range of benefits, an opportunity for advancement and training, and above all, they look for an employer that recognizes the strength in a strong family unit."

Hintz said the Milton G. Waldbaum Co. has continually attempted to meet these needs by offering employment which will best fit the individual's needs, including limited hours for those pursuing an education, night work for persons wishing to be home with family during the day, and assisting in finding transportation for individuals who don't drive but would like to work.

"All of these are important needs to either an applicant or an existing employee and we strive to meet them," said Hintz.

HINTZ ALSO cited dependent care as another major concern for women in the workplace and pointed out that the Milton G. Waldbaum Co. has met this need with a Day Care Center benefit that provides quality care at no charge.

In addition, the company promotes advancement in the work force with a Job Posting Policy in which all eligible individuals are encouraged to apply for positions as they become available.

"Throughout the Milton G. Waldbaum Co., women can be found in areas that most would say are non-traditional areas of employment," said Hintz.

"Women in our organization can be found working side-by-side with their male co-workers in any area from entry level labor to company management. There are currently women in our work force that drive semi truck, operate forklifts, supervise egg grading and drying equipment, manage poultry houses, perform maintenance work, supervise quality control, perform clerical duties, assist at top levels of financial and managerial decisions, etc.

"Many of these women have advanced to the position they hold through educational opportunities and training offered by the company," said Hintz, adding that the Milton G. Waldbaum Co. participates with Wayne State College in its cooperative education program, offering on-the-job training in a selected field while attending college. The student receives college credit as well as a salary from the employer.

"TODAY'S WOMAN is truly dedicated to her goals. Whether it be driving truck, operating processing equipment, performing clerical work, or being a member of the top management team.

"Our company has been dedicated to their cause in the past. We will continue to be so today, tomorrow and in the future."

St. Paul's hosts mother-daughter event

Yellow daffodils and greenery decorated the tables of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Wayne on April 9 for a mother-daughter banquet attended by 150 persons. Janet Sievers welcomed the group.

Loretta Baier served as toast-mistress. The evening began with group singing, followed with table prayer by Cleve Willers.

Dinner included a salad bar, rolls, ham and drink.

KRISTA MAGNUSON, Carrie Fink, Kristy McDonald, Jennifer Damme, Shawna Heftl, Brittany Burke, Amy Magnuson and Ellie Jones sang "Thank You Mother" and "The Wonder Song." They were led by Ann Hansen and accompanied by the piano by Thelma Moeller.

Tributes included "A Grandmother is Love" by Kim Backstrom,

"A Portrait of a Mother" by Virginia Backstrom, and "What is a Daughter?" by Opal Harder.

Connie Hall of Wayne Greenhouse presented a program on flower arranging principles and designs. She made dried flower decorations on grapevine wreaths and straw hats, and fresh flower arrangements in baskets and vases. A special treat for the youngsters included a bunny rabbit football mum and a soda made with pom-poms and a carnation.

RECEIVING SPECIAL recognition were Arlene Ostendorf for having the most daughters present; Judy Sandburg, the youngest daughter present; Ida Myers, the oldest mother present; Tammy Willers and Jennifer Damme for having yellow flowers in their dresses; Faith Marguriet for wearing a yellow hair comb; Elizabeth Anderson for wearing a yellow bracelet; Lucille Topel, traveling the furthest distance; and Esther Brudigam for having the most guests and the most granddaughters present.

Men serving and working in the kitchen included chairman Larry Sievers, the Rev. Leroy Iseminger, Merrill Baier, Randy Damme, Ron Fink, Jason Fink, Joel Hansen, Gene Hansen, Huck Jager, Chuck Rutenbeck, Gerald Stalling and Roger Willers.

Wayne girls capture third straight meet

The Wayne Lady Blue Devil track team won its third meet of the season in as many attempts Tuesday afternoon as Wayne hosted a triangular with Wakefield and Norfolk Catholic. Wayne scored 78 points to outdistance its closest competitor, Wakefield, by 30 points. Norfolk Catholic scored a total of 29 points.

Wayne placed first in eight of the 15 different events held. Kristy Hansen proved to be the biggest winner on the day as she brought home four gold medals. Hansen captured the 100, 200, and ran legs of the 4x100 and 4x400 meter relay teams which placed first.

Hansen was clocked at 13.6 in the 100 and 28.6 in the 200 to waltz away with the top honor. Other first place efforts by the Blue Devils came in the long jump where Dana Nelson leaped 14'1", and the high jump where for the third consecutive meet, freshman Danielle Falleson captured the event, this time with a jump of 4'11".

Heidi Reeg took top honors in the shot put with a put of 32'1/2" while Teresa Ellis placed first in the 3200 meter run with a time of 12:53.4. Wayne backed up its eight first place performances with seven second place finishes.

Tonya Erxleben took second in the high jump with a leap of 4'9" while Cher Reeg did likewise in the shot put with a put of 27'11". Wayne's 3200 meter relay team also took second with a time of 11:53.3. Dana Nelson placed second in the 100 meter dash with a time of 14.5 and Tammy Geiger copped second place in the 400 meter run with a 66.6 effort.

Holly Paige was second in the 800 meter run with a 2:43.8 effort and Geiger picked up her second individual second place finish in the 1600 with a 5:58.1 effort.

Danielle Falleson took third place honors in the long jump with a 13'8 1/2" effort while Cher Reeg did likewise in the discus with a toss of 78'7 1/2". Tonya Erxleben took third in the 100 meter dash with an effort of 14.6. Edith Janke placed third in the 3200 meter run with a time of 15:00.6. Meanwhile Kim Liska placed third in the 200 meter dash with a 31.6 time and Rachel Haase brought home Wayne's sixth, third place effort with a 6:33.1 effort in the 1600 meter run.

Among Wayne's four fourth place finishes include Deanna Schlus, 12'8 1/2" long jump, Heidi Reeg's 75' discus toss, Danielle Falleson's 69.1 effort in the 400 meter run and Christie Carr's 6:44.0 clocking in the 1600 meter run.

Boys earn second

Wayne's boys team finished just three points behind Wakefield with 63 points. Wakefield incidently, is still undefeated on its track season to date. Wayne got a total of six first place finishes in the meet. The 4x100 and 4x400 meter relay teams took home top honors and in the individual events, Chad Davis got two individual firsts in the long jump with a 19'5 1/4" effort and in the 400 meter dash with a 54.8 clocking.

Jess Zeiss also won two individual golds in the 100 and 200 meter dashes. Zeiss was clocked at 12.2 in the 100 and tied with teammate Mike Hillier at 24.9 in the 200.

Wayne ended up with five second place finishes including Jess Zeiss' 18'41/2" leap in the long jump and Dan Wiseman's 131'8" toss of the discus. Eric Liska also placed second in the shot put with a put of 43'11 1/2" and Craig Dyer did likewise in the 400 meter dash with a 55.0 clocking. Todd Fuelberth placed second in the 3200 meter run with an 11:29.6 effort.

Eric Liska had one third place finish which came in the discus on a toss of 130'10" while Matt Peterson placed third in the 110 meter high hurdles with a time of 18.6. John Murphy placed third in the 300 meter intermediate hurdles with an effort of 46.9 while Adam Mrsny did likewise in the 800 meter run with a 2:17.7 time. Chad Davis placed third in the 200 meter dash with a 25.1 effort.

Chris Fredrickson placed fourth for the Blue Devils in the long jump with a 17'7 1/4" effort while Matt Bruggeman placed fourth in the discus with a 125'7 1/2" toss. Rusty Hamer placed fourth in the 100 with a 12.6 effort and Greg DeNayer placed fourth in the 400 meter dash with a 57.6 clocking. Other fourths included Willy Gross' 5:21.7 effort in the 1600 meter run.

Wakefield had seven individual first place finishes which led to its first place finish in the meet. Mike Tuller, William Miller, John Wriedt, Tony Krusemark, Anthony Brown, Mark Johnson and Ken Addink were all winners. We will highlight Wakefield's efforts in the Wayne triangular in the next edition of the Wayne Herald.

Wakefield's girls team had four individual first place finishes and its 3200 meter relay team which placed first. Laurie Plendl, Heidi Plendl, Julie Greve and Christy Otte recorded the finishes.

Softball meeting planned

WAYNE—There will be a meeting for all girls ages 8 to 12 interested in playing recreation softball this summer, at the city-baseball diamond on Saturday, April 29 at 10:30 a.m. The meeting is also for the parents of the girls wishing to play. If you would like to play but cannot attend the meeting contact Darrell Bailey at 375-9949.

Wayne grapplers place

Lonnie Ehrhardt took five Wayne wrestlers to the annual Columbus Multi State Invitational over the weekend and four of the five placed. Trevor Wehrer, Chris Janke and Jason Ehrhardt all managed third place finishes while Jason Fink came in with a fourth. Chris Corbit was the fifth member to go but had to discontinue wrestling because of a recurring shoulder injury. Corbit defaulted after the first match.

Looking ahead

Looking ahead to Monday's edition of sports in the Wayne Herald, we'll take a close look at Wayne State's Invitational track meet held Tuesday afternoon in Wayne. Also we'll examine how the Lady Wildcat softball team fared against Nebraska Wesleyan on Thursday in Wayne.

There will also be a column entitled 'Sudden Impact,' which will focus in on area high school track athletes that are having impact already in their freshman year.

We will also check out how Winside and Allen did in the Homer Invitational held during the middle of the week.

HOLLY PAIGE crosses the finish line in the 800 meter run. Paige finished second in the event with a 2:43.8 clocking.

MARK JOHNSON and Matt Tappe round the track in lap two of the four lap mile. Johnson easily won the event while Tappe finished second.

Photography: Kevin Peterson
KRISTY HANSEN breezed to victory in the 200 meter dash. Hansen earned four gold medals on the day.

ADAM MRSNY hands the baton to Jess Zeiss in the final leg of the 4x100 meter dash in which Wayne won the gold.

Wayne State softballers split with visiting Dana

The Lady Wildcat softball team of Wayne State picked up a victory over visiting Dana on Monday afternoon by a 6-1 count. The Wildcats however, could not earn the sweep as Dana rebounded in the nightcap to defeat Wayne State, 7-3.

Laura Stuerman pitched the Wildcats to victory in the opener. Wayne State played top notch defense while unleashing its arsenal batting power from the fourth inning on. Heading into the bottom half of the fourth inning the score was knotted at 0's.

"Laura pitched very well," coach Doug Feagan said. "It took us a few innings to get our bats working the way we like to see them, but they came around." Wayne State scored four runs in the fourth inning and added two more in the sixth.

In the nightcap the Wildcats got down early by a 3-0 count but came back to score seven unanswered runs to maintain a 7-3 lead heading into the seventh inning of play. Dana went on a scoring spree in the seventh however, exploding for six runs and the Vikings defense held off Wayne State's attempt to rally in the bottom half of the inning to pull the come from behind victory, 9-7.

Roni Johnson took the loss from the mound for the Wildcats which saw their season record drop to 9-11, 10-11 if you count the victory over the junior college softball team Wayne State defeated last weekend.

"They hit Roni right away but we came back nicely," Feagan said. "Some key errors really hurt us." Feagan was pleased with the Wildcats comeback after getting down early. "Looking at the positive side of the game even though we lost, I was real happy with the way the girls responded to being down 3-0," Feagan said.

Wayne State will entertain Nebraska Wesleyan in a twin bill this Thursday at the college field beginning at 4 p.m.

EDITORS' NOTE: Due to the fact that the Wayne Herald sports editor did not receive statistics on the girls softball games against Dana, individual hitting leaders could not be mentioned.

WAYNE STATE right fielder Tanya Gappa leaps for a fly ball against Dana Monday afternoon. Wayne State defeated the Vikings in the first game by a 6-1 score.

LORI RATH nalls down a Dana base stealer who attempted to steal second base. Kris Pestal fired the ball from her catcher position to gun down the runner.

Winside grapplers compete

The last Little Kids Wrestling Tournament for Winside was April 8, at Osmond. Winside had 22 wrestlers competing and the following is how they placed. Justin Koch and Eric Vonosdall placed first in the kindergarten division while Aaron Paulsen and Dustin Wade placed second.

Steve Rabe placed first in the first grade category while Mark Bloomfield placed third and Ryan Krueger, fourth. In the third and fourth grade category, Justin Bowers, Adam Behmer, Jeff Jacobsen, Shaun Magwire and Jaimey Holdorf all placed first and Robert Brown finished second. Nate Behmer placed fourth.

The fifth and sixth grade division saw David Paulsen capture first place honors while Joshua Jaeger grabbed second. Scott Jacobsen placed third and Josh Behmer placed fourth. In the seventh and eighth grade division Chris Mann and Trevor Hartman placed first while Jason Topp grabbed second. Brady Frahm finished fourth.

WSC splits twin bill

The Wayne State Wildcat baseball team exploded for eight first inning runs against visiting Midland College Saturday afternoon, en route to a 12-1 victory in the first of a twin bill. The Wildcats however, were not as fortunate the second game, and had to settle for a split as Midland rebounded with a 6-4 victory and its first win of the season.

Mike Emory proved successful from the mound in the opener as he tossed a two-hitter. "Mike has thrown very well in all three of his outings," coach Lenny Klaver said. "Against Midland the defense played well behind him which is evident from the fact we didn't have any errors." Emory incidently, picked up his first win of the season and sports a 1-2 record.

Wayne State rapped out a total of 11 hits in the contest including four extra base hits. John Staab and Rob Zulkoski each recorded doubles while Pat Wordekemper belted a triple. The biggest hit of the contest was Destrly Jaeger's inside the park home run. Jaeger went 2-3 on the game with a single as well.

Tim Wobken was a force as well for the Wildcats with a single and he accounted for three Wildcat runs.

In the nightcap the Wildcats came out with a complete different look. Just like in the beginning of the year when it took the starters a little time getting used to each other's play, Klaver changed the lineup which gave the Wildcats a new look.

"We didn't lose because we weren't using all our starters at their positions," Klaver said. "We lost because we left to many runners stranded on base." Wayne State took a 1-0 lead into the top of the fifth inning when Midland exploded for five runs which led to Cory Wedergren's third loss of the season against four decisions.

The Wildcats had a rally going in the bottom half of the seventh inning as they erased a 6-2 lead, only to lose 6-4. Wayne State finished with seven hits including two by John Staab. The Wildcats suffered three errors in the contest. Wayne State's record went to 9-13 with the split.

Linksters win Invitational

The Blue Devil golf team seems to be well in sync at the present time, coming off wins at the 13-team Plainview Invitational on Saturday and out dueling Norfolk Catholic by 11 strokes at the Wayne Country Club on Tuesday.

Saturday's invitational at Plainview was shortened to a nine hole tournament instead of a previously scheduled 18 hole tournament because of inclement weather.

Although Wayne knew going into the meet that Oakland-Craig would be there, a team that owns a victory over the Blue Devils and a tie, Wayne never let that discourage them as they actually breezed to a seven stroke victory over runner-up Oakland-Craig.

The Blue Devils came up with a team total of 157 while Oakland-Craig managed a 164. Stanton placed third with a 175. Jason Petersen of Oakland-Craig, whom no one would argue is among the state's elite golfers, won medalist honors with a 35. Wayne however, owned the next five places as Eric Runestad fired a 38 for second place and Rob Reeg also broke the 40 barrier with a 39, good enough for third place.

Elliot Salmon, Jed Reeg and Kevin Hausmann placed fourth, fifth and sixth respectively with 40's.

Tuesday afternoon in Wayne, the Blue Devils decided Norfolk Catholic by a 161-172 count. Rob Reeg took medalist honors with a 37 while Jed Reeg carded a 39. Eric Runestad was next with a 42 and Elliot Salmon and Kevin Hausmann each carded 43's.

Wayne's junior varsity team remained undefeated on the year with an easy 171-199 victory over the Norfolk Catholic junior varsity squad. Mike Nicholson was top golfer with a 40 while Jason Claussen carded a 43. Brian Moore and Kyle Dahl were close behind at 44 while Jesse Brodersen fired a 45.

Russian basketball team to visit Wayne

WAYNE-The Jhalgirls men's basketball team of Kaunus, U.S.S.R. will play the Wayne State Wildcats on November 5 in Rice Auditorium, according to Athletic Director Pete Chapman.

The Soviet team is participating in a tour of the United States and will play the Wildcats in their season opener. The international basketball game is sanctioned by the Amateur Basketball Association of the United States.

Everyone knows that farmers have a tough road to hoe, and that it takes courage and perseverance to sustain a farming operation. It's important that our area farmers flourish, and not just for the good of the community, but for the entire nation as well. Because when farmers experience difficult times, we all feel the crunch. We believe that if everyone pulls together, lends their support and works with and for this vital American industry, we'll all reap the rich rewards of a unified and prosperous community. Let's not forget that we're all in this together.

200th anniversary

House commemorates first quorum occasion as significant milestone

Last week, on April 4, the House of Representatives met to commemorate the 200th anniversary of its first quorum, the minimum number of people necessary to conduct business. It was an historic occasion.

When the House of Representatives first reached a quorum 200 years ago on April 1, 1789, they began an enormous task. This young country had just recently ratified the Constitution, but it was only the starting point for establishing a new government. Much of the responsibility for setting the nation's course was delegated to Congress.

It is not difficult to imagine a certain degree of skepticism surrounding the First Congress. After all, the Members' tardiness and the resulting delay in gathering the necessary quorum to begin legislative business may have signaled the beginning of the same kind of apathy and weakness that plagued the Confederation Congress which preceded it.

THE NEW government, which held such tremendous promise and responsibilities, was still in a very fragile state. As a result, achieving the first quorum for the U.S. House of Representatives was a significant milestone.

Although the House members were nearly a month late in attaining a quorum, they quickly made up for lost time. The House chose a speaker the first day in session and adopted the first rules of procedures just six days later. Very quickly the Members were debating issues and passing legislative resolutions.

The House of Representatives has played a unique role in the development of the United States. From the beginning, the House was envisioned as a body which would be truly representative of the people it served. The Constitution dictated that House members be chosen "by the people of the several States."

WHILE SENATORS were selected by the States' legislatures and the President was chosen by electors, the Members of the House were to be chosen by direct election. No person has ever served in the House who wasn't directly elected by the people represented.

The Constitution also established biennial elections for house members. This, it is thought, would help ensure that Members would not lose touch with the people they represented. During the Constitutional Convention, the delegates recognized the advantages of having House Members frequently interact with their constituents. Roger Sherman, a delegate to the Convention and a Member of the First Congress, stated in 1787 that "The Representatives ought to return home and mix with people."

Keeping In Touch

By Cong. Doug Bereuter

He cautioned that "By remaining at the seat of Government they would acquire the habits of the place which might differ from those of their constituents."

THROUGH THE years, each Member of the House has had to face unique challenges while attempting to work the will of the people. The original House Members had the added responsibility of setting rules and establishing precedents for years to come. Their efforts paved the way for a functioning government of these United States of America.

It is certainly proper that we take time to commemorate the accomplishments of our predecessors in the U.S. Congress. This country owes our ancestors much. Members of the 101st Congress take pride and inspiration in serving in a body which is so rich in history and achievement.

If those of us today can even occasionally match the commitment, wisdom and dedication of the best of our predecessors, our country will remain the bastion of hope and freedom which our Founding Fathers envisioned.

Diesel Tax Refund Reminder
Taxpayers making claims for the interest-bearing refund on the diesel fuel tax must file IRS Form 843. The form can be obtained through a local IRS office or by calling 1-8-424-3676. No claim can be filed after June 30, 1989.

of the recognition. George replied he believed "more was better."

Ralph Barclay, councilman, said he does not object to such a plan, but added that he was opposed to use of city tax dollars to finance the additional lettering. He asked

George if there was any consideration by the Committee to conduct a fund raiser to finance the $750 cost in additional lettering.

George did not rule out a fund raising effort. However, he said the cost to paint the additional lettering on the standpipe would amount to 14 cents per person within the city of Wayne. "People will be getting a lot more than their 14 cents back," George said.

Other council members said they heard from people who would prefer only "Wayne" or even nothing on the standpipe; or some would like to see something in relation to Wayne State College painted on the structure.

"What about painting 'home of Lyle George' on the structure?" asked one councilman.

"It would probably get eggs thrown at it. You know, tied in with Chicken Days," replied George.

The city council did not act on George's request, but will take up the matter again at their April 25 regular meeting.

the Education Service Unit 1 serving the Wayne-Carroll School District has developed a special education program that is appropriate for these two children."

It further states that "the Wayne-Carroll School District has refused to enter a contract with the Educational Service Unit for special education services for these youths."

"Because of the failure of negotiations, the Department of Social Services has been required to enter a contract directly with ESU 1 to provide for educational services for these youth. To date, the Wayne-Carroll School District has continued to refuse to become involved," it is worded in the petition.

"At this point, there appears to be no reasonable expectation of settlement of this matter without resorting to the Administrative Appeal process," the plaintiffs claim.

KEN OLDS, attorney representing the Wayne-Carroll School District, said the school district has 10 days to file an answer to the petition with the Nebraska Department of Education.

Olds told the board of education there is a similar situation taking place in Gering, Nebraska. The matter was taken to district court and was ruled in favor of the Gering School District. However, the case is now undergoing an appeal in the Nebraska Supreme Court in Lincoln.

Olds suggested that an agreement could perhaps be worked out between the two parties for a continuance of the administrative hearing — until the results of the Gering case is known.

That decision could come later on this summer. Should the plaintiff decide not to go that route, then the Wayne-Carroll School District would likely file legal proceedings in the Wayne County District Court, he advised.

It was put into a motion by board member Sid Hillier and later seconded that the school board pursue the continuance of the administrative hearing and if that fails, then file the legal proceedings in district court.

Contract

would be to help with the identification of children with special needs; coordinate individual child study; assist parents to understand children; and to coordinate school-community-region guidance efforts.

IN OTHER action Tuesday evening, the school board:

— Heard a report from Rocky Ruhl on the school's Advance Math Curriculum.

— Reviewed administrative policy on school closings, church night, open gym and other policies, taking no board action.

— Was informed about a proposal to the board of education, made by the Wayne City Council, to regularly meet with the city council and the county commissioners "to review respective operations and to determine how to better serve the constituents of Wayne."

A joint city council-school board meeting will take place on Tuesday, April 18 in the city council chambers. Among the preliminary topics listed for discussion include facilities (educational and recreational); cooperative purchasing; equipment maintenance; econom development; sidewalks; gas storage; and future meetings.

"We desire to keep these meetings informal and hope that they will be productive in terms of long range planning, increased efficiency in day-to-day operations and that they will show the constituents that we are all trying to do a better job with our tax dollars," wrote Wayne City Administrator Phil Kloster to members of the board of education.

Board members will cooperate with the city council on the joint meeting, it was decided.

— Approved a request for early leave from Al Hansen and accepted the resignations of Chapter 1 teachers Lavah Maciejewski, Sandra Ostercamp and Elaine Korth.

— And accepted the asbestos abatement bid of Kossuth Insulators, Inc., Algona, Iowa of $23,775 for work on asbestos material removal in the high school band room.

Herald staff to attend convention

Wayne Herald Publisher Gary Wright and Managing Editor Chuck Hackenmiller will be among more than 400 editors, publishers, reporters, photographers and others associated with Nebraska's newspapers expected to converge in Omaha this weekend.

Members of the Nebraska Press Association meet Friday and Saturday at the Holiday Inn-Central for their 116th annual convention. The NPA is Nebraska's oldest trade association and represents 179 weekly and 19 daily newspapers.

Among the highlights of the convention are:

Speeches by America's most published columnist, James J. Kilpatrick, and Time magazine's Washington contributing editor, Hugh Sidey. "It's a powerful program that any national newspaper convention would be pleased to present," said Jack Tarr, NPA president and publisher of the David City Banner-Press.

Kilpatrick will speak at Saturday breakfast and Sidey at lunch the same day.

Events begin Friday noon with Nebraska native Barbara Hamphill of Washington, D.C. She is the author of the book, "Taming the Paper Tiger," and a nationally-recognized authority on controlling paper clutter in business and other environments.

Hamphill will be joined by former New York Times libel attorney Barbara Dill of Miami, Fla., during Friday afternoon workshops.

Saturday workshops will feature an expert in selling newspaper advertising, a specialist in newspaper personnel management, and an authority on the use of computers at small-newspapers.

Livestock Feeders schedule meeting

The annual Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association banquet will be held Sunday, April 16 at the Black Knight in Wayne.

The social hour, sponsored by Farm Credit Services of Norfolk, will begin at 6:30 p.m. with dinner served at 7:30 p.m. Details of the services provided and function of the new Nebraska Cattlemen Association will be presented at the banquet.

Members of the Feeders and Auxiliary, as well as spouses, guests and friends are invited to attend. For further information contact Logan McClelland, Logan Ltd., 635-2411.

The GOLDEN YEARS

By Lee Chase

A study by the University of Southern California and the National Institute of Aging predicts there may be nearly 24 million Americans over 85 by the year 2040. That is double the estimate of the Census Bureau, and 10 times today's count. The main reason for the difference between the Census Bureau estimate and the new study: greater optimism by USC and Institute researchers as to progress in extending life.

When Cristina Rainsford, of Katonah, New York, was 53 she broke an ankle and took up poetry writing until she could return to tennis, her favorite pastime. That was in 1947. At 94, Mrs. Rainsford published her latest book, "Poems, Now and Collected." Her advice to other older Americans: "Make a conscious effort to appreciate things you didn't take time to enjoy when younger." Aches and pains? Don't dwell on them. She quotes her father's advice: "How are you" is a greeting -- not a question.

Remember When? February 5, 1937 -- President Roosevelt, frustrated by Supreme Court rulings that upset some of his New Deal legislation, proposed that the number of justices be increased from nine to 15 if incumbent justices declined to retire at age 70. Congress rejected the proposal.

Governor Orr visits Wayne.

Wayne was declared as Nebraska's "Capital for A Day" by Governor Kay Orr last Friday. Governor Orr visited with agriculture leaders and economic development representatives, school children and senior citizens during her stay in Wayne. She also participated in the Wayne State College Inauguration ceremony of Dr. Donald Mash, the college's ninth president. Above left, members of the fourth grade elementary school class spell out Nebraska to Governor Orr. Above right, Gov. Orr speaks about economic development issues at the Wayne City Council chambers at city hall. Upper middle right, second grade students at Wayne Elementary perform a square dance before a clapping Gov. Orr. In photo, lower middle left, seniors Vi Hartman and Grace Mellick discuss the issues with the Governor. Lower middle right, Dr. Donald Mash presents the Governor with sketches of Wayne State, made by former Wayne resident Meg Lodes, presented during the inaugural luncheon Friday. Lower left, a cake tells the story of the Governor's visit. Lower right, State Senator Gerald Conway drives home a point as he, Governor Orr and Roy Frederick discuss agriculture issues at Wayne Vet Clinic Friday morning.

HAPPY HOMEMAKERS

Ten members of the Wakefield Happy Homemakers Extension Club met April 4 with Vicky Kahl. The meeting opened with the reading in unison of the Extension Club song. Roll call was a "household flop I have kept a secret until now."

Dorothy Hale, president, reminded members of upcoming events. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The treasurer's report was given.

It was voted on and approved that each member pick up cans and trash in the mile they live in for National Homemakers Week. They may donate the cans to whom ever they wish. It was voted on and approved to take the money for the cakes to give as door prizes for the Spring Event out of the treasury.

Betty Lunz and Dorothy Hale will help with the auditorium set-up for the Spring Event on Saturday, April 23 at 9:30 a.m. Dorothy Hale entered knitting and Helen Domsch entered crocheting for the Cultural Arts contest. Cultural Arts will be judged the morning of April 24 at the Northeast Station. After being judged, the items will be displayed at the Spring Event to be held in the Concord Auditorium the afternoon and evening of Monday, April 24.

Evelyn Kahl will take the lesson "Abuse, Family Secret" on Sept. 11 and present it at the October meeting.

Lois Berns and Vicky Kahl gave the lesson "How To Find Your Way Through City Hall."

The next meeting will be Tuesday, May 22 at 2 p.m. with Evelyn Kahl.

DISTRICT III COMMANDER

Jeff Swanson of Wakefield and Gene Twiford of Laurel were elected commander and vice commander of District III of the American Legion at the organization's District convention held in Ponca on Saturday, April 1. District III includes 30 posts and approximately 2,900 members. The men will each serve two year terms.

Post and auxiliary members from 25 towns were at the district meeting to discuss various topics and hear state and national reports.

The auxiliary re-elected Doris Nelson of Craig as president and Patricia Wiseman of Homer as vice-president of the ladies group.

The evening banquet featured a presentation by the 185th Air National Guard on flags of the United States.

Attending from Wakefield were Jeff Swanson, Dean and Carol Ulrich and Gene and Phyllis Swanson.

HOST SITE

Wakefield will be the host site for the District IV annual Brownie Scout Adventure Day. The event will be held at the Wakefield School on Saturday, April 15.

Over 300 scouts and their leaders will be attending from 19 counties. The girls will participate in singing, games and crafts. A special show "The Paul Mesner Puppets" will entertain the Brownies.

Scout leaders and members from Wayne and Winside will assist the Wakefield scouts in hosting the event.

PRIZE WINNERS

The Fair Store had two winners in Affiliated Food's 57th anniversary promotion. Jean M. Bodlak won a Kent Scooter Bike and Elaine Thompson was the winner of an Atari XE Video Game. The store owner is Charles Soderberg.

Hundreds of Affiliated stores participated in the promotion. Over 100 prizes were awarded from the company's headquarters in Norfolk.

The Fair Store also presented several gift certificates to customers during the promotion which took place in February.

FIELD TRIP

Steven Obermeyer of Wakefield was among automotive technology students at Northeast Community College in Norfolk who went on an educational field trip to Kansas City on March 15. The group toured the Fairfax Assembly plant where the Pontiac Grand Prix is built. It is one of the newest automated plants in the United States.

The students and their instructors also visited the Trans World Airways aircraft assembly and rebuilding plant.

DEAN'S LIST

Susie McQuistan was among 393 students in the Teachers College at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln (UN-L) named to the Dean's List for the fall semester. Susie is a Wakefield High School graduate and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill McQuistan.

Students named to the Dean's List in the Teachers College must achieve a 3.6 or better grade point average on a 4.0 scale while carrying 12 or more credit hours.

SCHOOL CALENDAR

Thursday, April 13: Track/triangular, Wayne High, 4:15 p.m.

Friday, April 14: Elementary, Wayne State College theatre.

Saturday, April 15: Brownie Scout Adventure Day, school; track invitational, Wisner, 9 a.m.; Bloomfield junior high honor band.

Monday, April 17: Pre-contest concert, 8 p.m.

Tuesday, April 18: Track invitational, Homer, 4 p.m.

A former Wakefield resident, Sally Groves, was an overnight guest in the Walter Hale home on Thursday. She then went to Sioux Falls to visit her daughter and family, Scott and Melinda Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Chinn of David City, Mr. and Mrs. Randall Gundersen and Clifford Scollard of Ponca were Sunday supper guests in the William Domsch home.

Students attend Farm Bureau youth seminar

Wayne-Carroll High School students Diane French and David French, both of Carroll, and Chad Sebade and Sarah Glinsman, both of Wayne, and Winside High School student Jennifer Brown of Carroll, were Wayne County Farm Bureau's representatives to the Nebraska Farm Bureau Youth Citizenship and Safety Seminar held April 2-4 at the Youth Leadership Development Center in Aurora.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Darrell French, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Sebade, Mrs. Dorothy Glinsman and Mr. and Mrs. Ron Brown.

In addition to Wayne County, other students attending the seminar from District 3 were from Cedar, Knox, Dixon and Antelope counties.

TWELVE OF THE high school students participating in the seminar were recognized for their leadership and received either full or partial tuition scholarships to attend similar national seminars.

The 12 winners were selected from 105 Nebraska high school sophomores attending the seminar, which for the first time combined citizenship and safety topics in one program.

The seminar is sponsored by the Nebraska Farm Bureau State

Women's Committee. Winning students were chosen on the basis of their participation during the seminar.

Winning students in the citizenship category, including 15-year-old Joel Lipp, a sophomore at Laurel High School, received scholarships to attend the Emerging Leaders Conference held April 7-9 in Hutchinson, Kan.

Joel is the son of Jim and Marcia Lipp and represented the Cedar County Farm Bureau.

ALTHOUGH MOST of the seminar sessions were held in Aurora, the students traveled to Lincoln on April 3 for visits to the State Capitol and the Madonna Professional Care Center.

Students toured the Capitol, observed the Nebraska Legislature, and met with Secretary of State Allen Beermann, Attorney General Robert Spire, State Senator Scott Moore of Stromsburg, and Nebraska Farm Bureau President Bryce Neidig of Madison.

At the Madonna Center, the students learned about serious and disabling injuries and accidents and current rehabilitation methods.

Other seminar sessions focused on highway, railroad, gun and farm safety; goal setting; and responsibilities of citizens.

By Pat Melerhenry

I finally got to meet the Governor. I've met a few governors in the past; beginning with Val Peterson, who spoke at a 4-H banquet I attended while I was in high school. But I'd never met a lady governor.

I shook hands with Helen Boosalis when she campaigned at our county fair.

Of course, Kay Orr was at the radiation center dedication. But I opted to join the crowd clustered around Johnny.

We were even invited to her 50th birthday party in January, but it was a very cold night, and we chickened out.

Now she was going to be in Wayne all day and we were invited to a coffee hour at the Wayne Vet Clinic, together with other area Ag representatives.

I ARRANGED to see patients late on Friday, and drove to Wayne with the Big Farmer.

She was running behind schedule, so that gave me a chance to look over the clinic. I'd not been in it before.

What a place to take care of livestock! All kinds of space; warm, easy to clean. It sure would beat the barn or the garage. There's even a clean-up room, complete with washer and dryer for the muddy, smelly coveralls. Bet their wives appreciate that.

I almost missed my chance to meet the Governor because I was in the bathroom when she finally arrived. (Story of my life, says the farmer.)

She was dressed in the perennial blue with her gray hair beautifully coiffed.

She's not very big, and I thought she did a great job of fielding questions. She also remembered names very well.

SHE HAS A gracious manner, and a lovely smile. When I caught the news segment that evening, it looked as if she stayed sharp all day. What a chore.

There were the usual concerns about subsidized agriculture in other countries, foreign investments, and by-products of corn.

I had read about biodegradable plastic, combining petroleum-based polymers with starch from corn kernels, which are sensitive to moisture.

One Farmer mentioned that we should try to corner the diaper market. What a great idea! It reminded me of a little item I'd just read: an average baby requires seven diaper changes daily, which adds up to over 5,000 diapers in the first two years. About 80% of those used today are the disposable kind.

Now comes a Purdue University scientist who has produced a "second generation" of biodegradable plastics, made from cellulose, a derivative of corn stalks. These are less sensitive to moisture, but break down when they react with soil or seawater.

The U.S. produces 35 billion pounds of plastics each year, most of which takes hundreds of years to decompose. Biodegradables break down in less than two years. Bet we'll be using more and more of it.

Personally, I prefer to see those corn stalks go into stock cows, but this looks like worthwhile research.

Sure was surprised to see snow on the ground this morning. And it's cold. Guess we won't put sweaters away yet.

A sure sign of Spring: the Big Farmer has baseball on the tube to keep him company while he gets his nap on the couch!

News Briefs

Greve family receives funds

WAKEFIELD-Loren Stutheit of Wayne, district representative for Lutheran Brotherhood, recently presented Steve and Cheryl Greve of Wakefield with $5,300 to assist with medical bills incurred with their son, Max.

Also present were Mabel Sommerfeld of Wayne, president of Wayne County Lutheran Brotherhood Branch 8212, which matched funds raised for the family, and Glenda Petersen and Deb Gustafson, who organized a dance and set up a bank account for the couple's benefit.

In January, Max Greve underwent surgery to have a shunt placed to divert fluid from his brain. The Greves have another son, Tucker, and two daughters, Andrea and Nichole.

Public invited to view film 'The Prodigal'

"The Prodigal," a fast-paced, modern-day allegory, akin to the familiar Bible story, will be shown Sunday, April 16 at 7 p.m. at the Evangelical Covenant Church in Wakefield.

The Rev. Charles Wahlstrom said the public is invited to attend the special showing.

SET IN CONTEMPORARY urban framework and examining the gradual spiritual and emotional breakdown of an American family as each member searches for his identity, "The Prodigal" was filmed on location in Seattle and various other sites throughout the state of Washington.

Heading the cast are John Hammond, Hope Lange and John Cullum. Hammond portrays the title role of the wayward son caught up in the netherworld web of drugs and sex. Lange is his confused and bewildered mother, while Cullum essays the role of his single-minded, career-consumed father.

"THE PRODIGAL" is a presentation of World Wide Pictures, the film organization of the Billy Graham Association, and the internationally-known evangelist has a cameo role in the picture.

Seeking host families

AREA-Karen Marra of Wayne, local area representative for Educational Foundation for Foreign Study, recently attended a four-day regional conference in Kansas City, Mo.

The meeting included training seminars on cultural differences, counseling skills and host family selection. Educational Foundation is a non-profit international high school exchange program for youth ages 15 to 18. It currently sponsors more than 4,500 students on 10-month exchange visits with host families throughout the world.

Mrs. Marra is currently seeking host families in northeast Nebraska. These families provide room, board, and a loving environment to English speaking students from 24 countries. The students have their own spending money and provide their own insurance. Interested persons are asked to call Mrs. Marra at 375-1229.

Special Handling for Liquids

Liquid medicines may be placed in the ear, nose, or throat, applied to the skin, or taken internally. Before taking or using any liquid medicine, check to see if there are warnings or labels with directions as to how to use the medicine. Be sure to store external-use-only liquids, which may be poisonous, away from small children. Many liquid antibiotics require refrigeration.

Some oral liquids need to be shaken well before they are used. Suspended particles may settle to the bottom of the container. If such liquids are not adequately shaken before use, the first doses from the container may contain a small amount of active ingredients, while the last doses could be highly concentrated.

Hold containers so that they are pointed away from you as medicine is poured out in order to prevent staining of clothes. Do not dip or leave cotton-tipped applicators in liquid containers. The cotton tip might contaminate the liquid.

If the liquid medicine is to be taken orally, measure doses accurately. Some liquids are dispensed with special measuring spoons or syringes. Discard outdated liquids by flushing them down the toilet.

Balloon release

AS A CELEBRATION to the "Week of the Young Child," preschool students from Stepping Stones and ABC Nursery School release helium-filled balloons last Thursday, April 6. April 2-8 had been declared as "The Week of The Young Child" in Wayne — a week to express appreciation to child care providers for their commitment to the care/education of today's young children.

Letters

Thanks

A big thank you to the 40 kids who energetically jumped a total of three hours to raise money for the American Heart Association in the Jump for Heart event. You deserve a lot of praise and credit for giving of yourselves and your time to make this event such a success and it was a success! $1450 was raised — way to jump!

Thank you to Mary Ann Lutt for helping to organize, plan and dedicate so much of her time to assist me with the jump. Also to Claudia Koerber, Rita McLean, Pat Rutherford, Deb Dickey, Diane Gentrup, Pam Boehle, Randy Lutt, Lana and Lisa Casey, Kristin Davis and Christi and Larry for your help the day of the jump.

To Gary Davis and Bill Dickey for making our day so much fun and enjoyable as our masters of ceremonies.

To Kaup's for donating the use of the PA system — it was a big help.

To the following businesses for donating prizes given away throughout the jump: Diers, Wayne Campus Shop, True Value, Wayne Sporting Goods, Brenda Dorcey "Mary Kay", Diamond Center, The Bookworm, Wayne State Rec Center, Sav-Mor, Living Water and Books, Pamida, Wayne Greenhouse, Carr Auto and Ag, Touchstones, Gay Theatre, Taco del Sol, Godfather's, Hardees, Pizza Hut, NE Floral and Gifts, Griess Rexall, Wayne E. Wessel D.D.S., Office

Connections, Wayne Chamber of Commerce and Dairy Queen.

To the following businesses who donated refreshments to help the jumpers through the day: Pac 'N' Save, Casey's, Fredrickson's, Bill's GW and Dairy Queen.

I appreciate and thank you all.

'Capital' day

Dear People of Wayne, As most of you know, Governor Kay Orr, Roy Frederick, Director of the Agriculture and Roger Christianson, Director of Economic Development visited Wayne last Friday. I was very proud of the response they received from the Wayne Community.

Beginning with the greeting at the airport when our airplane landed and continuing with every stop we were greeted by a good turnout and by a very responsive crowd.

There is no doubt that the Governor viewed Wayne as a growing, committed and unified community. She remarked on the perceptive questions that were asked and the concern of the community as a whole.

Again, I want to express my personal thanks to everyone involved in making Wayne "Capitol for a Day" such an outstanding success.

Help & Hope for the Drought-Stricken Farmer

Help is on the way to farmers from Multiple Peril Crop Insurance and government disaster relief payments. The farmers best prepared to "weather" the drought were those who had MPCl policies. Don't rely on the government for reimbursement of damaged or destroyed crops in the future. MPCl can protect you from drought and a variety of other perils. And, you're the only one who has to have a loss to get reimbursement.

In some cases farmers will be required to have a 1989 MPCl policy to collect disaster relief payments. Even if not required, 1988 proves once again MPCl insurance makes good financial sense. Call your Rain and Hail Insurance Service, Inc. agent today for information on the coverages you may need.

To establish arboretum

Project launched at Research Center

The Northeast Research and Extension Center (NEREC) is launching a project to establish an arboretum on the Center grounds near Concord.

An arboretum is a collection of trees and shrubs planted and labeled in an attractive manner for research and educational purposes. When the Northeast Arboretum becomes established, it will provide observation and learning opportunities for 4-H Clubs, Extension Clubs, school classes, garden clubs and other organizations and individuals. By visiting the arboretum, persons will be able to study a variety of tree and plant species and determine their adaptability to the northeast Nebraska geographical region.

There are already approximately 35 different species of trees and shrubs established on the NEREC grounds. Some of these were planted in the late 1960's when the NEREC office building was landscaped. Other trees were purchased with donated funds or were received as donations from other sources. The Northeast Arboretum Board, which was recently formed, is making plans to label existing plantings this spring.

The long range goal is to have the Northeast Arboretum—become affiliated with the Nebraska Statewide Arboretum (NSA), which is a network of 35 individual arboretum sites located throughout Nebraska. The NSA, which celebrated their tenth anniversary in 1988, is the only arboretum in the country to encompass prairies, woodlands, college campuses, a golf course and a state fair park.

Affiliate NSA sites in northeast Nebraska include the Wayne State Arboretum on the college campus in Wayne, and the Maskenthine Arboretum near Stanton.

In addition to being a system of arboretum sites and a resource for education programs, the NSA is a network of people. These people have a common interest in cultivating a deeper awareness and appreciation of trees and plants of their state. They often volunteer their time, donate funds, serve on decision making committees and assist in promotion of arboreta projects in various ways.

The Northeast Arboretum project is being developed under the leadership of Steve Rasmussen, NEREC District Forester, Concord, and Art Ode, Director of Nebraska Statewide Arboretum, Lincoln. Officers of the Northeast Arboretum Board are president, Roy Stohler, Concord; secretary, Anna Marie White, Dixon County Extension Agent; and treasurer, Norman Anderson, Concord.

Questions about the Northeast Arboretum or donations toward its development may be directed to Roy Stohler, (584-2454), or Steve Rasmussen, District/Extension Forester, University of Nebraska, Northeast Research and Extension Center (584-2261).

By Goldenrod

Classes scheduled

The Human Development Services Office in Washington, D.C. had announced Dec. 30, 1987, that discretionary funds for Youth 2000 activities were available.

The proposal was written and sent to Washington, D.C. because Goldenrod Hills Community Action Council is a member of a national organization that deals with teenage pregnancy prevention and because their programs that they manage are designed to meet the needs of the people of Nebraska.

Letters of support were needed from area organizations that work with Goldenrod Hills and have a service that deals with youth. Letters were received from New Beginnings at NTCC, Alfredo Ramirez from Systems Associates and Carol Schwarz from Cedar County Extension Office. These organizations will participate in the planning and implementation of the project.

The activities in the project provide opportunities for young people, both male and female, to obtain the information and experience they require to make informed decisions about their lives, including not becoming a teenage parent and staying in school; to view themselves and their futures more positively; and to increase their sense of purpose and their appreciation of the range of options that are available.

With the project, Goldenrod Hills will hold classes for one semester in three schools. The program will address phases of a teenager's life. Examples of the subjects are: 1) How the teenager feels about him/herself; 2) How the teenager handles stress, anger, depression; 3) Communicating with parents and peers; 4) How to fight fair; 5) Biological differences between man and woman and how that affects the manner in which they handle life's situations; 6) How to form lasting friendships; 7) Kinds of love; 8) Expectations vs. reality; 9) Looking at marriage; 10) Responsibilities of parenting; and 11) Sharing the responsibilities of marriage, work, and children. Textbook materials will be enhanced by class discussions, designated speakers, audio visual materials, and real life experiences.

The follow-up phase to the project will be to develop techniques for starting teen-support groups.

NINE OTHER schools will be involved in having seminars pertaining to prevention of teenage pregnancy. These seminars will also have a panel that will give the audience an opportunity to ask questions.

The three schools that are going to participate in the project are, Creighton Community Public School, Wisner-Pilger School District and Winnebago Public Schools. The project coordinator and the project director will meet with the school administrators, school counselors, and the home economics teachers and present the program format. At that time they will tailor the sessions to the needs of each individual school.

At this time some schools have indicated a need for the program to be implemented in Home-Ec classes and some in freshman Physical Education. All of these matters will be discussed on a monthly basis with the school personnel.

Involvement of the parents with this project is of primary importance. To encourage their participation the parent will be sent a letter to explain the topics that are to be covered.

Bulletins for the parents will be sent out also, these will help keep the parents aware of the progress of the class. The bulletins will also list activities or communication techniques for parents to use in discussing the classes with their sons or daughters.

While the project cannot measure the number of teenage pregnancies prevented it can measure the improvement in the degree of risk a teenager experiences. It is estimated that those who participate in the program will show a marked improvement in their understanding of themselves and human sexuality in their ability to deal with life's situations.

Virgene Dunklau, Human Development Director for Goldenrod Hills will be the project director. Carmon Godberson who holds a degree in Social Work from Creighton University will be the project coordinator. Linda Prevail, Human Development Worker out of the Wayne Outreach office will assist with the project. Linda holds a degree from Wayne State College with a major in Psychology and a minor in Sociology.

Verge of positive exchange

Legislature continues tax debates

Major steps toward providing property-tax relief were made this past week. The new proposal is a combination of the various property tax proposals I outlined a few weeks ago. This compromise may have removed one of the major previous roadblocks which has been the disagreement between urban and rural supporters. The bill is intended to bring a consensus to this divisive issue.

One of the major provisions of the new tax plan (contained in LB 84, as amended) would call for return of state tax dollars to property owners through two methods. The first, would grant a homestead exemption of $6,800. This provision came from what was originally LB 747 introduced by several urban supporters. This amount would be subtracted from the total assessed value of the home. It is estimated the average homeowner would save about $177 a year in property tax. Because the exemption is for a uniform amount given to every homeowner it is designed to benefit those with more modest homes. For example someone owning a $30,000 home would save almost 23% while someone owning a $100,000 home would save approximately 7% in taxes.

Agriculture land and commercial properties would also receive relief under the proposal. The proposal would give a 10 percent rebate on property tax in these classes. However, to ensure the property tax relief goes to those who really need it, there is a $2,000 limit on the amount of rebate that can be received.

The amount of relief granted under this provision would be approximately $587 for an average-size farm valued at $225,000. This is in addition to the homestead exemption on the residence mentioned above. Naturally, this portion of the plan can be credited to the original LB 84 which was supported primarily by rural senators.

It is comforting to me to see this type of compromise since our 17th district is almost equally divided between rural and urban.

The proposal is seen as a temporary solution and a step towards finding a long-term solution to the over-reliance on property taxes. The long-term solution presented as part of the proposal is contained in a separate bill but part of the package.

As amended, LB 611 calls for repeal of the current state school aid distribution formula in two years and contains intent language calling for an income tax to support our schools. The plan is similar to that used in Kansas where a portion of the income tax collected is diverted directly to finance schools.

The greatest objection to the proposals will be the cost at the State level. The State would have approximately $50 million less in revenue because of the homeowners exemption. An estimated $32 million would also be rebated back for agricultural land and $12 million would go to owners of commercial property. Several senators have brought up concerns about a need to increase sales or income taxes to finance this proposal.

As an alternative, the Revenue Committee earlier this week advanced the Governor's tax relief plan. The Governor's plan, LB 809, calls for a rebate to property owners of a percentage equal to the amount in excess of the forecasted state receipts. Currently, this amounts to an estimated $50 million, or property tax relief of about 5 percent.

Before advancing the bill the Committee added a major amendment which calls for a cap of $500 on the amount any one taxpayer could receive. The amendment was designed to limit the relief given to large corporations and in turn would provide considerably more relief to homeowners, farmers and small businesses. The Governor has indicated she would oppose the Committee's amendment.

I remain optimistic that this year will be the year we make steps toward significant property tax relief. As I previously have indicated, I will continue to work hard toward the goal of bringing the property tax burden in line with our other forms of taxation. Given the differences in need this is not an easy task, but I believe we are on the verge of positive change.

News Briefs

Registration begins at Northeast

NORFOLK-Registration for fall semester classes and programs begins at Northeast Community College on Monday, April 17. Class schedules will be available at the college at that time, including both daytime and evening credit classes to be offered fall semester beginning August 23.

Northeast and Wayne State are planning to expand their bachelor's degree in business program to add an accounting concentration with the upper division Wayne State courses scheduled to begin in fall, 1990. Students interested in this new degree should contact Roger Feuerbacher at 644-0439 to be sure that lower division requirements are completed at Northeast during the 1989-90 college year.

Fall credit class schedules may be obtained by calling or visiting the college.

PEPPY PALS

Soap carvings were made at the April 7 meeting of the Peppy Pals 4-H Club with all members present.

David Boehle made a dolphin, Jane Li a rabbit, Trevor Schroeder a turtle, Cory Erleben a boat, and Ryan Feagan a turtle.

Secretary David Boehle read minutes of the last two meetings. Club members discussed services for the city.

Next meeting will be May 5 at 4 p.m.

Ryan Feagan, news reporter.

HELPING HANDS

Nine members of the Helping Hands 4-H Club met April 8 at the Winside fire hall. The flag salute was recited and Craig Evans called the meeting to order. Members answered roll call with their favorite state park.

Demonstrations were given by Kim Cherry on how to make an Easter egg from yarn, Letha DuBois on an easy way to make wall decorations, and Laurel DuBois on the seven wonders of western Nebraska.

It was announced the 4-H speech contest will be held April 13 at 7:30 p.m. at Wayne State College, and the home economics contest will be July 7 in Wayne.

Craig Evans, Chad Evans and Ryan Brogren are making a barrel to place in the park for aluminum cans as a fund raiser for the Winside centennial. All donations of cans would be appreciated.

Kim Cherry, Letha DuBois and Beth Bloomfield will select a book to donate to the public library.

Recreation was by Charles and Beth Bloomfield, and the Cherrys were hosts.

Next meeting will be May 13 at 1:30 p.m. at the fire hall.

Wendy Morse, news reporter.

WOMEN'S CLUB

Members of the Winside Women's Club met April 5 after the Fine Arts and Crafts Fair. They set Wednesday, May 10 for the annual Mother/Daughter Tea for Winside graduating girls. It will be in the village auditorium at 8 p.m.

Recipes are still needed in all categories for the Centennial cook book being compiled by the Women's Club members. There is a deposit box at Oberle's Market or you may contact one of the club members, Barb Leapley, Lorraine Prince, or Mary Lou George. If possible submit them typed or legibly printed. Mrs. Leapley says they hope to have the book available for sale by the German Dinner in October of this year.

New plates and cups have been purchased for the village auditorium with funds raised from last year's German Dinner. There will be 54 of each. They will be in use real soon.

A Celebrity Auction is being planned by the group to raise funds for a new auditorium stage drape. It is estimated they will cost several thousand dollars. The auction of famous peoples signatures, and other donated items will be held after the grand parade during this year's July 15 Old Settlers Reunion.

An account has been set up at the Winside State Bank for anyone wanting to contribute to this project. The women's club hopes to have the drapes up by Winside's 1990 centennial celebration.

The next women's club meeting will be Wednesday, May 10 after the Mother/Daughter Tea.

HISTORY BOOK

Memorial and Tribute pages are still available for the Winside History book being compiled. These are pages in a special section of the book to honor and remember loved ones that are either deceased or still living. There is a charge for these pages. If interested contact Bill Burris or Veryl Jackson, committee co-chairman.

Members of the History Book Committee met Thursday. Approximately 300 individual family histories have been received. Anyone who has lived in the Winside area is welcome to contribute a history. If you cannot make the April 15 deadline, please contact one of the committee members to inform them you are working on yours. More servicemen and women's pictures are needed with a brief service history. This includes all branches of the military, past as well as present.

The next committee meeting will be Thursday, May 4 at 8 p.m. Committee members to contact for histories are Veryl Jackson, Bill Burris, Irene Dittman, Ruby Ritze, Norma Brockmoller, Rose Janke, Daisy Janke, Dianne Jaeger, or Christine Lueker.

GIRL SCOUTS

Peg Eckert met Thursday with 11 Girl Scouts at the Winside firehall. She handed out Day Camp manuals. They need to be returned by May 1.

Drivers are needed for the Grade 4-5 and 6 class roller skating party that the girl scouts are sponsoring. If you can drive, please call Peg Eckert 286-4516. The party will be Thursday, April 27th.

A summer trip was discussed. Girls are to check with their parents and choose either June 26-27 or July 24-25.

They worked on their Wild Life Badge. Information from the Nebraska Wild Life Federation was distributed.

Beth Bloomfield served treats. The next meeting will be today

RUN...& RERUN

No, we're not asking you to overdo your jogging exercise.

What we ARE suggesting, though, is for you to consider one of the real advertising bargains in northeast Nebraska.

Since The Wayne Herald is published TWO TIMES each week, advertisers can send their important PRINTED message to thousands of potential customers not just once but TWICE!

And when advertisers do that, their "repeat" ad receives a NEAR 50% DISCOUNT from The Wayne Herald-a special RUN-RE-RUN RATE, if you will.

You'll benefit from the newspaper's long-standing RUN & RERUN program when:

- 1) You need to publicize your promotion well in advance for customers who plan ahead but you still also want to advertise just before your event to make sure people with short memories or busy schedules don't forget about your promotion.
- 2) You need to stretch your advertising budget as far as possible.
- 3) You want to keep your printed name visible to your potential customers as much as possible.
- 4) You'd rather have one small ad published TWO different times than one large ad published ONCE.
- 5) You want to get a jump on your competition by announcing your sale earlier in the week (with a follow-up reminder later in the week in The Wayne Herald's second issue).

Publish your ad first in our Thursday issue and repeat it in our Monday issue OR do the opposite by "running" it first Monday, then again Thursday.

It doesn't matter which way you do it, the special RE-RUN RATE applies in either case as long as your ad repeats without copy changes in the next scheduled issue of The Wayne Herald.

Take advantage of your ad's permanency and drawing power "when it is SEEN IN PRINT!"

RUN & RE-RUN it's healthy for your advertising budget...just like jogging is healthy for your body!

WELC CIRCLES

WELC Circles met Thursday with Bible study lesson "Truly God Has Listened," taken from Psalm 66. All circles are making LWR kits.

Anna Circle met with Suzie Johnson. Eight members were present. Plans were made for the mother-daughter event in May. Jeannine Anderson gave the lesson. May 18 hostess will be Evonne Magnuson.

Dorcas Circle met in the home of Adel Bohlken with eight members in attendance. Joyce Johnson led the Bible study. May 18 hostess will be Lynette Krie.

Elizabeth Circle met in the home of their honorary member, Carol Erwin of Wakefield. Six members and one visitor attended. Betty Anderson led the study and Irene Magnuson was the hostess. Irene will also host the May 18 meeting at her home.

Phoebe Circle met at the church with Doris Nelson as hostess. There were seven members attending. The April WELC program was discussed. Mable Johnson led the Bible study. The May 18 meeting will be held at Geno's in Wayne with Vandaly Hanson as the study leader.

3 C'S CLUB

The 3 C's Extension Club met April 3 in the home of Clara Puhman with nine members present. Roll call was "what you notice first about a person you just met?" The seat belt contest was discussed. Shirley Stohler gave a health report about plants that purify the air.

Shirley Stohler and Gail Martindale gave the lesson on "Image, Who Needs It?" Ina Reith received the hostess gift. The May 1 meeting will be held in the home of Ina Reith and favors will be made for the Hillcrest Home in Laurel.

WELFARE CLUB

The Welfare Club met April 5 at the Senior Center with Esther Peterson as hostess. Seven members and one visitor attended. Clean-up day was discussed. Irene Hanson led the program. She read two readings and led a pencil game about flowers. The next meeting will be held May 3 at the Senior Center. A potluck lunch will be served with Ethel Peterson as hostess.

FAMILY NIGHT

The Concordia Couple's Club and Lutheran Men in Mission sponsored a "family night" at Concordia on Sunday evening with Arnold Peterson of Omaha telling of his trip of his trip to China. The welcome was given by Evert Johnson. Alyce Erwin gave devotions and offered prayer. Clifford Fredrickson and Ralph Olson of Wayne played the accordion and violin during the program and also during the fellowship hour following the program. There were 65 in attendance from Concord, Allen, Wakefield, Wayne, Laurel and Omaha. A potluck lunch was served.

LUTHERAN FAMILY SERVICES

The Spring Auxiliary meeting of Lutheran Family Services of Nebraska was held at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Madison on April 5 with Rev. Diane Bloemker giving the opening devotions. Marlene Wilke of the Auxiliary board chaired the business meeting and the LFS Update was given by Craig Stirtz, North Central Regional Director from Columbus. Merv Wisner, LFS therapist, led the afternoon workshop on "Ministering to the Sick and Dying - A Friend's Role." About 75 persons were in attendance. Mrs. Glenn Magnuson was the Congregational Representative from Concordia Lutheran, Concord.

BRIDGE CLUB

Bridge Club met with Marge Rastede the evening of April 5. High winners were Delores Koch and Patt Mattes. Agnes Serven will host the bridge club on April 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Martindale visited in the home of Jim and Linda Martindale at Creighton April 2.

Quin, Katie and Cassie, daughters of Les and Adel Bohlken, celebrated their birthdays on Saturday. Supper guests were Zach Roeder, Marilyn Harder, Bret, Ely and Kate of Concord, Twilla Kessinger and Michael, Ken and Chris Bohlken and Steven and Marilyn and Lloyd Bohlken, all of Laurel.

Evening guests in the Brent Johnson home April 4 in honor of Chad's eighth birthday were Sandy Hall, Kristy and Trevor of Carroll. On Friday evening, overnight guests were Wyatt Erwin, Jeremy Johnson and Lucas Martindale.

Jane Evans of Rock Island, Ill. came April 1 and spent until Thursday in the home of her niece and family, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Marburger.

Pastor and Mrs. Duane Marburger and boys spent from Thursday to Saturday in the home of Duane's parents, Edgar and Gertrude Marburger. On Saturday they celebrated his parent's 50th wedding anniversary. Pastor Duane was also honored with a cake to celebrate his 10th anniversary year of ordination.

Lyla Swanson spent Sunday in the Steve Scholl home in Sioux City, Iowa. Granddaughter Lesa took part in the worship service at Morningside Lutheran Church.

Sunday dinner guests in the Jim Nelson home were Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Diediker, Kayla and Nickolus of Dakota City and Eric and Philip Nelson. Mr. and Mrs. Todd Nelson joined them in the evening.

Delweyn Johnson of Midwest City, Okla. arrived the evening of April 2 in the Evelina Johnson home. He spent the week with his mother, Evelina, a surgical patient at Wayne, and returned to his home Sunday morning.
