Up, up and away

RESIDENTS NORTHEAST OF WAYNE MAY have been taken aback Wednesday evening by the sight of a hot air balloon drifting above their farmsteads. The balloon ride was a Christmas gift to Wayne resident Ronnie Wert from his wife Dorothy. Wert and Mark Wellenstein of Wynot, the balloon's owner, took off about 6:30 Wednesday evening from a field four miles northeast of Wayne. Their ride lasted nearly one and a half hours before setting down in a field just south of Dixon. Pictured helping Wellenstein fill the balloon with propane gas, just before lift-off, are Wert and friend Rick Lund, standing outside the basket. Flames can be seen shooting inside the balloon.

Asset management plan approved

Members of the board of directors of Educational Service Unit One took action on several items of business during their monthly meeting last Tuesday night in Wakefield.

The board continued a discussion which began in March concerning the management of ESU 1 assets.

Board members last month directed Administrator Rodney Garwood to contact banks within the service unit's boundaries regarding the investment of ESU 1 funds in excess of needed operating capital.

Garwood presented certificate of deposit rate figures he had received from various banks at Tuesday night's meeting.

Following lengthy discussion, board members voted five to three on a motion by John Post of Bloomfield to invest $300,000 in the Commercial State Bank at Hoskins for 90 days and $200,000 in the Bank of Dixon County for 180 days, with the $200,000 to be divided between the Bank of Dixon County, located in Ponca, and the American State Bank in Newcastle.

On a second motion by Post, the board voted to name the Commercial State Bank, Bank of Dixon County and American State Bank as depository funds for ESU 1, along with the Wakefield National Bank.

The board also voted to require that U. S. government securities be pledged for deposits in excess of $100,000 at the Hoskins Commercial State Bank.

Garwood said the remainder of ESU 1 monies will remain in a Money Market account at the Wakefield National Bank.

BOARD MEMBERS Tuesday night were presented a budget review by Administrator Garwood. Garwood told the board that ESU 1 has spent approximately 65.5 percent of its adopted budget to date, with one-third of the fiscal year remaining.

The board took action on several personnel items, including the approval of contracts for several certified staff members.

The new contracts were issued following an agreement last year in which the ESU 1 board of directors

From state board of trustees 'Teaching Excellence' award presented to professor at WSC

A Wayne State College music professor has been named winner of the 1989 Teaching Excellence Award by the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges.

Dr. Cornell Runestad, who has been on the Wayne State College faculty since 1970, received the award Thursday evening in Lincoln.

ESTABLISHED BY the board in memory of the late George Rebensdorf, a long-time member of the Board of Trustees and an officer with FirstTier Bank in Omaha, the excellence award is presented to one Nebraska state college faculty member each year to recognize outstanding teaching.

Runestad received a $3,000 cash award during the dinner.

"Dr. Runestad is most deserving of the recognition," said Dr. Donald J. Mash, president of Wayne State College.

"He would be judged outstanding in any setting and at any institution in the country. The quality and dedication he brings in the classroom and in co-curricular activities are exemplary."

"He typifies the many faculty in the State College system who are outstanding teachers and who have dedicated their lives to the development of students."

RUNESTAD, WHO has also taught music in public schools for 10 years and was a music faculty member at Concordia College in Moorhead, Minn. for two years, said he is just one example of fine teaching in the four-college system.

"I think of myself as being an exemplary example of faculty in the State College system," Runestad said. "There are many outstanding and deserving teachers out there and I feel honored to be the one chosen."

Runestad teaches conducting, music education and private voice lessons at Wayne State College. He also is director of choral activities, director of the Madrigal Singers, and director of the Concert Choir.

He received his bachelor's degree from Concordia College, master's degree from the University of Minnesota, and DMA from the University of Illinois.

NOMINATIONS FOR the Teaching Excellence Award, established in 1984, were submitted by faculty, students, administrators and alumni of the state colleges in Chadron, Kearney, Peru and Wayne.

"We had many outstanding

teachers nominated for this award," said Dr. Joe Lutjeharms, academic program subcommittee chairman.

"My confidence in the quality teaching in our State College System — based upon the applications we reviewed — has been strengthened. Our system truly is blessed with great teachers."

The award is based upon criteria which recognize teaching effectiveness, academic advising, professional development and course quality.

Members of the Board of Trustees choose the award winner.

Water savings are possible

Water — we can't live without it. Turning on the faucet and having water is a taken-for-granted fact of everyday life. Water is a limited resource and it costs a great deal in energy and money.

Water consumption in our homes can be significantly reduced without reducing our quality of life.

A typical American uses somewhere between 60 and 100 gallons each day. Two-thirds of the water used in an average home is used in the bathroom. The toilet is the biggest user of water, approximately 100 gallons a day.

Dish washing uses 15 gallons per day, cooking and drinking 12 gallons per day, and bathroom sinks eight gallons per day.

Cleaning is another big water user. Washing your hands uses about five gallons of water each day, while laundry takes an average of 35 gallons. Bathing, that great American tradition, uses about 80 gallons of water.

INSTALLING A few water-saving devices can significantly reduce the amount of water used in our homes. Fill a two quart pop bottle with water and put in your toilet tank. Save 10 gallons of water a day!

Add a shower flow control device and save up to one-fourth of the water used in bathing.

When shopping for new laundry equipment, look for washing machines with controls that allow you to vary the amount of water used according to the size of the laundry load.

Cut down on the water used to create a green lawn. Over watering a 5,000 square foot lawn by 1/2 inch five times during the year wastes nearly 8,000 gallons of water per year.

Leave grass taller in hot weather and use good watering and management techniques. Various sizes of garden hoses discharge widely different amounts of water depending on water pressure, type of sprinkler and length of hose.

DON'T ALLOW drippy faucets to waste a precious resource. A faucet leaking only one drop per second may waste as much as 2,000 gallons of water a year. Repairing a drippy faucet is an easy do-it-yourself project. Check with your county extension office for how-to instructions.

Probably the favorite water saving technique of all time is to use your dishwasher. A recent study by Ohio State University found that dishwashers use an average of 5.8 fewer gallons of water per load than washing the same dish load by hand. One caution — this savings is only realized if the dishes were placed in the dishwasher without handrinsing first.

To make certain your dishwasher works efficiently make sure the water temperature at the kitchen faucet is 140 degrees. Run your dishwasher only when you have a full load. The rinse and hold cycle uses approximately 2 3/4 gallons and can be used until the dishwasher is full.

Golfing in paradise

Paradise could not have been more close as we walked up to the first tee box and surveyed the fairways. The day was beautiful, with no wind at all and weather as cool as it should be.

As the "Hacker" took his swing, the ball sailed over the rough and landed right dab in the middle of the gravel road that passes the country club. My partners told me: "You're okay. Don't worry about it."
"This is Paradise golf," said another.

We got to the site where the ball landed, a partner said: "Pick up the golf ball and throw it as far as you can to the green. You won't lose a stroke."

I DID JUST that. It landed on the green. My first put whizzed past the hole.

"Count it!" said a partner. "Anything that goes near the hole on the first try is good enough."

I could really get to like this Paradise golf. I hadn't had a birdie in ages — the stone ages.

The second tee box was a par five. I swung mightily and the ball trickled just a few feet in front of where the tee landed. "Pick up your ball and take it with you till you get to the middle distance of the fairway. You showed good form in your swing, and that's how we reward good swings," said a partner.

I was on the green in three more strokes and managed to hole the ball in two. Paradise golf was wonderful!

On the par three hole, my ball rocketed out of the box and landed into a sand pit. "Throw it out of there. The same rule that applies to gravel roads also goes for sand traps, since sand and gravel are about the same ingredients."

I took aim at the flag, tossed it gently and it fell into the hole. Another birdie and another feather in the hat of Paradise golf!

TREES FLANKED the fairways on the next hole. If there ever was a time that I needed Paradise golf, it was now. I swung and sure enough, the ball headed into the trees. "Paradise golf rules apply here, too. If your ball happens to fall near a tree and blocks the path to the hole, you can either kick it out from under without losing a stroke, as long as you show good form in booting it out, or take a chain saw and..."

Not one to destroy trees, I opted for the other rule of Paradise golf. By now I was shooting at a record pace. Paradise golf was thrilling, exciting and adventurous.

'Hacken' Away

By Chuck Hackenmiller

And so it went. Each hole had a sensible Paradise ruling. If the ball landed in the pond, a trained frog retrieved it and spit it out on the other side of the pond and you would not lose a stroke. A drive that went over 250 yards meant you could take a stroke off the hole.

On one hole, the putt went so far right that it almost landed in the next fairway. "That's what happens when the greens are too fast and the hole is dug on down side of the hill. In Paradise golf, you get as many chances as you like on difficult holes," said my playing partners.

I could go on playing Paradise golf forever.

LOSING GOLF balls in nearby fields constitutes a penalty stroke

— but only if you had intended to hit it in the corn field in the first place, according to Paradise golf rules. Since nobody in their right mind attempts to do this, the shot that goes astray is mourned as a ball that will never be returned. But it won't count against the score. More Paradise golf rules.
I was eating it up.

That is, until a loud buzz interrupted. It was my alarm clock. You have no idea how disappointed I was to learn that Paradise golf was just a dream. There never was — nor probably ever be — Paradise rules for golf.

Paradise golf — gone forever. So I'll continue to be "hacken away" at that little white dimpled sphere with little regard for the safety of the human race. The trees will enjoy eating my golf ball every chance they get. And the pond will flood over because of all my golf balls that pile on the bottom of the waterway.

Maybe someday some great inventor will come up with a format of play for Paradise golf. If they need a test case, they've got one in this writer.

There's probably nobody in this world that needs more scientific help with their game. I'll take a little Paradise golf any day.

Publishers' Perspective

By Gary and Peggy Wright

Last week we discussed the many suggestions for expanded downtown shopping hours offered by readers in a Wayne Herald survey. In this informal opinion poll respondents also offered opinions on a variety of issues concerning pricing at local stores and out-of-town shopping.

To many respondents, the pricing and out-of-town shopping issues are connected...If they perceive prices to be "high", they will look elsewhere for "lower" prices.

Three of the respondents' thoughts about going out-of-town for shopping:

1) I wouldn't even consider going out-of-town for anything. Traveling two hours a day cuts into time I might have to check locally before I go out-of-town.

2) For what I spend on gas (traveling out-of-town) I more than make up for in savings (at out-of-town stores).

3) We are just a mobile society and sometimes the grass looks greener elsewhere and once there, we buy.

So, as expected, nearly all "schools of thought" were represented in the survey including both positive and negative comments. It was refreshing to see there wasn't — repeat, was not — an overabundance of negative comments. For the most part, respondents were pretty well satisfied with shopping conditions in Wayne.

Sure there were complaints submitted but there also were plenty of compliments. It is nice to know that not everybody believes the scenario of the poem which was submitted by a reader and printed in The Wayne Herald last month. Publishing that "Ode to a Dying Town" prompted discussion on the positive and negative elements of our retail community and therefore served a very valuable purpose. As responses on this survey point out, Wayne — like any other vibrant community — might have a few "rough edges" but it also has many, many positive aspects in which its citizens take pride.

But back to the survey responses...Wayne's grocery stores gained superior ratings and it wasn't just because of their attractive pricing. Here are some of the edited reasons why respondents raved about Bill's GW and Pac 'N' Save:

Would you believe I have even had people in Norfolk tell me it's cheaper to buy food in Wayne!

Its owners are the friendliest. They APPRECIATE your business. They don't EXPECT it but they EARN it.

They're willing to get anything they don't have in stock. Good selection, hometown people, good service. Having two good-sized grocery stores is sure nice. Convenient store hours; very accommodating staff. Always something new to see.

Sav-Mor, Pamida and Diers Supply were other local stores receiving numerous "votes of confidence" — also for many of the same reasons listed for the grocery stores. Several other local stores received specific scattered approval from the survey respondents.

Other favorable general comments gained from Wayne Herald readers about Wayne's retail offerings:

I'm satisfied with the competitively priced items offered. Everything but clothing and shoes is priced competitively. I try to do most of my Christmas shopping in Wayne.

I'm usually willing to pay a little more in order to buy locally and have loyalty to the Wayne community but (merchants) have to be careful not to price themselves out of business.

Customers need to give local merchants the chance to meet the competition's price before they shop out of Wayne.

I'm quite happy with the selection here but they'll always be some things I'll need to order from a catalog or a larger store.

Prices are competitive in Wayne but the stores in larger cities seem to have more sales.

I miss Kuhn's Department Store. Stores need to advertise what they have to pull in customers.

Everyone should compare prices with other towns and find out that Wayne might be cheaper.

When respondents wrote negative comments in The Wayne Herald survey most were directed toward "too expensive" pricing of clothing and shoes. This same generalization was evident in a separate Wayne Chamber of Commerce survey conducted at last month's Expo. A summary of the Chamber survey was discussed briefly Tuesday morning at a Retail Council meeting.

Some of the "constructive criticism" mentioned by respondents in The Wayne Herald survey:

Items are ridiculously high-priced for millionaires. The average person can't afford the prices (some) merchants are charging. Food, appliances and automotive items all are competitively priced but clothing is not.

It's surprising how many merchants' wives are seen shopping out-of-town. Anytime you go to the mall you're sure to find a sale somewhere but NOT here in Wayne.

(Certain) stores cater to older and richer women and don't consider teens and young women.

In a future newspaper column we'll discuss survey respondents' perception of what added retail offerings they would like to see in Wayne. In many cases, a specific store survey respondents patronize out-of-town is the kind of store they would like to see located in Wayne.

How Lexington recruited IBP

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
by Cheryl Stubbendieck, vice president/Information

One of the top ag news stories in Nebraska in 1988 was the decision by IBP, Inc. to locate a beef slaughter and processing plant in Lexington. IBP will invest $70 million to renovate the former Sperry-New Holland plant, slaughter three to four thousand head of cattle a day, and employ 1,400 or more workers with an annual payroll of $24 million.

How Lexington recruited IBP is a story in itself. Lexington was, in the words of Wes Lubberstedt, chairman of its economic development council, "about as economically depressed as any area in Nebraska ever has been." In 1981, Lexington and the Dawson County area were riding high, Lubberstedt recalls, with Sperry-New Holland employing 900 people with a payroll of $16 million.

As the farm economy suffered, so did Lexington. It lost five Main Street businesses and a manufacturing concern in 1985 and Sperry-New Holland closed its plant in March of '86. The value of real estate plummeted and by 1986, if you could sell a house in Lexington, you'd get 40 percent less than what you paid.

SEEKING A way out, the Lexington community asked all employees—not the local businesses—to pledge $5 a month for 36 months for an economic development campaign. Within six weeks, $90,000 had been committed and six weeks later there was $30,000 cash on hand to work with.

The development council published and disseminated a fact book about Lexington and its surrounding area, spent $30,000 on national advertising, and worked with local radio station KRVN to develop an 11-minute promotional film. At one point it even looked into buying the 500,000-square-foot New Holland building itself.

The community was literally five minutes away from wrapping up a deal to sell the vacant building to a manufacturing concern with a much smaller payroll when an IBP representative called Lubberstedt in June of 1988 to let him know the beef processor had just taken a 60-day option to buy the property.

IBP representatives had been in the Lexington area the previous week to look at another facility and decided to drive into town to check out this building they'd gotten a flyer on. Neighbors with access to the closed plant gave them the tour.

As it turned out, IBP took two more 60-day options before committing to the purchase and to Lexington. There were major problems to work out. First, most slaughter and processing plants are two stories while the Sperry-New Holland plant had one level. IBP had to figure out how to make a one-floor operation work. It determined in the process that it actually needed to add another 100,000 square feet to the plant.

It also had to deal with the problem of waste. A slaughter and processing facility uses a tremendous amount of water that has to run off clean. The plant will have its own sewage treatment facility and will run its treated water south under the Platte River to an irrigation district canal where it will mix with the rapidly moving water and achieve required quality standards in a quarter mile.

AND THERE was the job of selling the public, who though eager for economic development was concerned about odor and infrastructure problems. The economic development council undertook to hold a public forum which was broadcast on KRVN. In addition to IBP officials, public officials, school officials and IBP employees from other cities where IBP has plants related their experiences.

After the forum, most of Lexington was eager to have IBP come to town, even though it means a host of new problems—building new schools, adding mobile home parks, improving roads, dealing with zoning issues in a big way. In short, the problems that go with growing from a population of 7,000 now to 10,000 in five years.

Much has happened since IBP announced its decision Nov. 29. You can hardly buy a house in Lexington and Main Street is filling up. A one-cent city sales tax passed in January whereas two years early a half-cent sales tax had been defeated. The city is developing a 55-acre tract of land purchased from the Federal Land Bank into an industrial park, a comprehensive plan for the county is being worked on, and truck routes are being devised. Thirty people are meeting twice weekly to work on infrastructure problems.

And local people are being asked to pledge $5 a month for three years again to keep economic development on a roll.

As rural revitalization gets new emphasis in Washington, other communities can look to Lexington for inspiration.

to me that the Wayne City Councilmen permit the subtle degradation of our beautiful state by conspicuous omission.

If the "Johnny Come Latelys" have no respect for Nebraska, there are 49 other states in America. Hopefully there is one available which will accept cheap publicity gimmicks.

Wayne is a most pleasant, progressive community and I have always been very proud of my long time association with the one and only Wayne, NEBRASKA.

NEBRASKA TIMELINE

By the Nebraska State Historical Society

The Depression years of the 1930s were hard times for many Nebraskans. Yet it was also a time of hope and expanding horizons. Personal transportation, in the form of automobiles, was becoming increasingly available. Even if the Model T was old, it could still get the family down the road for a little rest and relaxation.

During the thirties "tourist camps" (later to become motels) began to spring up along major highways. Federal public works money was used to build recreation areas and national parks, creating new things to do and see. Even if they couldn't go in the latest style, Americans were on the move.

The Works Progress Administration capitalized on this interest in travel by hiring unemployed writers, photographers and artists to create a series of guidebooks for each state. Nebraska's Guide was published 50 years ago, in 1939. It provides a fascinating picture of what Nebraska offered to tourists and vacationing citizens alike.

IN THE GUIDE'S foreword, Historical Society Superintendent Addison Sheldon reminded readers that "Some of us in Nebraska know what it is to have made the first wagon track across an unbroken seas of grass into a new land, with no guide but the sun, distant hills, and our own resolution... We had to find our way and leave a trail which others could follow and improvement." The Nebraska guide was to be an aid to modern-day pioneers. "This book is another road starter. It is the first attempt to put into one compact handy volume the story of Nebraska's land and its people and a guide to every part of the State."

Travelers in 1939 had the benefit of 13 federal and 93 state highways, but they still faced some of the challenges of tourists in horse-and-buggy days. Drivers were advised that "in the summer days are usually so warm that travelers often driver at night." A shovel was a necessity in the Sandhills, because roads "are often blocked by fine sand." The speed limit of 50 mph meant that travelers in 1939 could cover in one hour the distance it took Oregon trail immigrants a week to traverse.

TOURISTS WITHOUT cars could still explore the Cornhusker state. Nebraska boasted 11 railroads and 11 different bus lines. The well-heeled traveler in a hurry could fly to Omaha, Grand Island or North Platte via commercial airliner. Private planes flew to many communities across the state.

A calendar of events of interest to travelers lists many activities still going on 50 years later. Horse-racing at Ak-Sar-Ben, bucking broncs at the Burwell Rodeo, the Omaha Indian Pow-wow and the State Fair were drawing cards then as now. Other events, like the Chimney Rock Passion Play and Southeast Nebraska's Apple Blossom Day, have gone by the way-side.

Nebraska, A Guide to the Cornhusker State is now available in paperback. After 50 years, it still provides useful information for tourists and fascinating reading for the armchair traveler.

Let it be 'Wayne'

After reading the April 13 issue of your newspaper, I feel compelled to send a first "letter to the editor" to voice another stand on the standpipe.

I have been a native of Nebraska for 73 years and am one of the persons objecting to Wayne, America.

According to Mr. George there are 18 other Wayne, Americas. And he says the name is unique? There is only one Wayne, Nebraska. If the standpipe displays more words than one, let it be Wayne, Nebraskal It is disturbing

WAYNE in order to bring the "Gift of Sight" to more Nebraskans who cannot see, the Lions Eye Bank of Nebraska trains qualified persons as enucleators. This is the surgical removal of a donor eye. According to Curtis J. Coughlin, Executive Director of the Eye Bank, trained enucleators account for about 40 percent of the donor eyes the Eye Bank receives. The "Gift of Sight" would simply not be available to many Nebraskans without the support of enucleators all across the state. Completing an enucleation training session held at the University of Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha on April 8 were the following from Wayne: David Purcell, McBride-Wiltse Mortuary; Gary West, Providence Medical Center and Steve Schumacher, Schumacher Funeral Home.

Wedding of the Year

Wayne State Lady tracksters compete strongly at WSC Invite

Although team score was not kept at the Wayne State Invitational Tuesday afternoon in Wayne, the Lady Wildcats fared pretty well against the rest of the field. If points would have been kept on the traditional 10-8-6-4-2-1 style, Wayne State would have managed 96 points.

Amy Budde and Ann Eisenmenger were the only two individual champions as Budde swept the high jump with a 5'0" leap and Eisenmenger ran a 61.45 quarter mile.

Linda Schnitzler placed second in two events including the long jump with a 17'3" effort and the triple jump with a 33'8" jump. Amy Wattier took second in the 400 hurdles with a 69.02 clocking.

Third place finishes went to Tammi Miller in the 200 with a 27.9 effort and the Medley Relay team which was timed at 1:52.47. The 4x100 meter relay and the 4x400 meter relay teams also finished third with times of 51.43 and 4:14.54.

The Lady Cats managed six fourth place finishes with Tammi Miller grabbing two. Miller finished fourth in both the long jump with a 16'1 1/2" jump and the 100 meter dash with a 13.05 clocking. Mary Schnitzler finished fourth in the 1500 meter run with a 5:12.02 time and Linda Schnitzler did likewise in the 100 hurdles with a 15.96 time. Bobbie Spieker finished fourth in the 400 meter dash with a 65.77 effort and Amy Budde did the same in the 400 hurdles with a 75.31 time.

Mary Schnitzler took fifth place honors in the 800 meter run with a 2:33.17 effort while Linda Schnitzler took sixth in the 100 meter dash with a 13.2 clocking. Lucy Peter took sixth place as well in the 3,000-meter run with a 13:23.91 effort.

Stacy Dieckman will compete for the Wildcats next season but is ineligible due to transferring this semester. Dieckman competed unattached and won the shot put with a put of 43'2 1/4" and placing sixth in the discus with a toss of 119'3 1/2".

The Wayne State men found the road a little tougher to hoe as Kearney State virtually swept all events. On the traditional point scale mentioned earlier, KSC would have managed 270 1/2 points. Wayne State's best finish was Joel Ott's 21'3" long jump which was good enough for second.

Ron Holt placed third in the 400 meter dash with a 51.86 effort and WSC's 4x400 meter relay finished third with a 3:27.43 time. Fourth place finishes for Wayne State were recorded by Jim Wragge both in the high jump with a 6'2" effort and in the 400 hurdles with a 62.79 clocking.

Bob Heller placed fifth for the Cats in the 800 with a 2:03.63 time. Sixth place finishes were captured by Brian Hunke in the 110 meter high hurdles with a 16.71 effort. The 4x100 meter relay team and the 4x400 meter relay team also finished sixth with times of 45.59 and 3:45.37 respectively.

Winside freshman earns four golds at track meet

Both the Winside and Allen track teams took part in the Homer Invitational Tuesday in Homer. Ponca ran away with the boys' team title scoring 95 1/2 points. Homer and the Ponca girls tied for the top honors in the girls portion with 56 total points.

The Wildcat boys team finished second to Ponca with 58 points while Homer took third at its own Invite with 48 1/2. Newcastle and Allen rounded out the field of five with 36 and 22 points respectively. Winside's girls finished third behind Homer and Ponca with 51 points. Allen followed with 39 and Newcastle came in with 35.

The top story of the meet was Winside freshman sensation Jenny Jacobsen. You may recall in last week's Coleridge Invitational, her first high school track meet ever, she hauled in four gold medals. At Homer there was no exception as she accomplished the same feat by winning the 100, 200, 400 and long jump.

Jacobsen improved her long jump with an effort of 17'2 1/2" which now places her in the top ten of all classes. She also improved her 400 meter dash time to 62.3. Jacobsen captured the short sprints with times of 13.5 and 28.0.

Another Winside freshman, Patty Oberle, is quickly making her statement to area schools on what she intends to do by running the 1600 and 3200 meter races. Oberle placed first in both with times of 5:58.9 and 13:05.0. Tina Hartmann, trying to regain the same speed and agility which earned her a state trip last year in the 100 hurdles, placed second at Homer with an 18.0 clocking.

Jenni Topp and Wendy Boldt came away with third place finishes for Winside in the discus and 300 low hurdles. Topp threw the discus 91' 1/2" and Boldt ran the hurdles in a time of 55.2.

Turning to boys action, Tim Jacobsen hauled in two gold medals by winning the 100 and 200. In the 100 meter dash he had to hold off teammate Vince White for the top honor. Jacobsen ran to a 12.3

clocking while White was clocked at 12.3+. Jacobsen won the 200 with a time of 24.5.

The foursome of Steve Heinemann, Max Kant, Jeff Gallop, and Shane Frahm captured top honors in the 4x800 meter relay with a 9:16.8 time.

Vince White was in on two second place medals in the 100, as already mentioned, and the 400 meter dash with a 55.4 clocking.

Steve Heinemann did likewise in the 1600 and 3200 with times of 4:59.0 and 11:09.6. Max Kant meanwhile, placed second in the 300 intermediate hurdles with a 45.2 clocking. The 4x400 meter relay team also took runner-up honors with a 3:55.3 effort.

Brian Thompson placed third for Winside in the shot put with a put of 40'1 1/2" while Darren Wacker placed third in the 110 high hurdles with a 19.1 effort. Wacker also placed third in the 300 intermediate hurdles with a 47.9 clocking. Tim Jacobsen placed third in the long jump with an 18'10" jump.

Wakefield boys win Wayne triangular; Girls finish behind Wayne

John Torczon's Wakefield track teams were in Wayne on Tuesday afternoon as part of the Wayne triangular against Wayne and Norfolk Catholic. The boys team captured the team title with 66 points, three ahead of runner-up Wayne.

Mike Tuller took first place in the triple jump with an effort of 39'3 1/2" while William Miller did likewise in the discus with a toss of 136'5". John Wriedt took home the gold in the other half of the weight tosses with a first place put of 44'11 1/2" in the shot. Tony Krusemark was the top 110 meter high hurdler as he ran to the time of 16.6 while Ken Addink topped the field of 3200 meter runners with a time of 11:04.9. Anthony Brown owned the other hurdle race as he was clocked at 45.0 in the 300 meter intermediate hurdles. Mark Johnson took home yet another Wakefield first as he captured the 1600 meter run with a time of 4:56.1.

Brent Oetkin took second in the high jump with a 5'8" leap while the 3200 meter relay team did the same with a time of 9:05.20. Anthony Brown added a second place in the 110 meter high hurdles with an 18.6 effort and Brian Wagner took second in the 100 meter dash with a 12.5 effort. Tony Krusemark added runner-up points in the 300 meter intermediate hurdles with an effort of 45.8. Matt Tappe placed second in the 1600 meter run with a time of 5:07.2 and the 4x100 and 4x400 relay teams placed second.

Third place honors went to Kyle Torczon in the long jump with a leap of 18'3 1/2" and Doug Roberts in the shot put with a put of 41'8 1/2". Brent Oetkin did likewise in the 400 meter dash with a time of 55.8. Keith Wenstrand brought home third place honors in the 3200 with a time of 11:29.8.

The Lady Trojans came away with five individual firsts in the triangular which enabled Wakefield to a runner-up finish to Wayne with 48 points. Laurie Plendl took top honors in the 1600 with a time of 5:43.1 while Heidi Plendl duplicated the feat with 66.4 clocking in the 400 meter dash. Julie Greve headed the field in the 800 meter run with a time of 2:35.4 and Christy Otte ran the 300 low hurdles in 55.3 to earn top honors. Wakefield's 3200 meter relay team placed first with a time of 10:54.8. Members included Julie Greve, Cathi Larson, Laurie Plendl and Dorena Murfin.

FOR THE first time in over nine years a golf team is competing on the varsity level for the Wayne State Wildcats. The Wildcats competed last fall as a club sport and were given intercollegiate status this spring. This past week the Wildcat golf team won the Dana Quadrangular against Dana, Midland and Concordia Colleges. Wayne State came in with a team score of 324, five strokes ahead of runner-up Dana. Medalist honors went to Clint Buckingham with a 74. John Anthens followed with a 78 and Dave Hellesen fired an 85. Tracy Anderson carded an 87 and Clark Cull was WSC's fifth golfer with a 91. Pictured on this year's team from the back row includes: Coach Arnie White, Dave Hellesen, Pat Mehrens, Clint Buckingham, Monte Tilgner, and Mark Zimmerer. Front row members include: John Anthens, Tracy Anderson, Clark Cull, Rob Bengston, Tim Schwarten. Not pictured is Dave Ellis.

Mens city rec basketball draws to a close with tourney

The Wayne city rec men's basketball leagues came to a close last week with tournaments deciding the champions in each league. In A league action Team Four defeated Team Three by an 81-74 count. Team Four avenged defeats from earlier in the season over Team Three, Team Five and Team One to eventually earn the top spot.

Jere Morris came out gunning for Team Four in the finals, finishing with a total of 30 points, 18 coming on 3-point field goals. Balance was the key for Team Four as they got double figure scoring out of four players.

Jeff Anderson came in with 13 points and did a fine job of hitting the boards. Jeff Stratton and John Maleena finished with 12 points apiece and Steve Sorensen added nine. Todd Holman and Rocci

Schultz rounded out the scoring with three and two points respectively.

Ted Lueders led the losers with 32 points, 12 coming from 3-pointers. Roger Reifkoski scored 20 and Duane Smith added 13. Smith was a force in the early going but got into foul trouble and was forced to sit out much of the second half. Mike Gilliland added four and Mike Grosz, three. Rick Lutt rounded out the scoring with two.

In B league action the team consisting of Jay Jackson, Rick Giese, Terry Luhr, Jim Recob and Dave Felber defeated the team consisting of Don Larsen, Mike Meyer, Joel Ankeny, Steve Meyer, Rasmussen and Bierbower, by a 71-51 score.

The score was only a seven point spread at the end of the third quarter but Jackson's team came on strong in the final quarter. Incidentally, it was Jay Jackson's birthday and he celebrated with 22 points. Rick Giese also added 22 for the winners.

Terry Luhr and Jim Recob added 10 each and Dave Felber added seven. Joel Ankeny scored 17 in a losing cause. Bierbower added 11 and Meyer scored nine. Rasmussen added eight and Don Larsen managed six.

In C league action Team Three upset Team Four 48-47. Team Four's comeback attempt fell just short as they missed a short jumper with one second remaining which would have won it for them.

Bill Blecke and Marion Arneson led the winners with 15 points apiece while Ted Ellis poured in 11. Randy Pedersen came away with three and Dennis Spangler and Ron Wriedt added two each.

Jack Imdieke scored 23 for the losers while Don Zeiss added eight. Jim Lutt and Leonard Jones scored four each while Mike Hansen and Chuck Hackenmiller added three each. Bob Ensz scored two points.

Golfers victorious

The Wayne-Carroll varsity and junior varsity golf squads just keep getting better. In Thursday's triangular with Hartington Cedar Catholic and South Sioux, both Wayne teams established first time marks in coach Terry Munson's coaching stint.

The varsity fired a four man total of 150, 22 strokes ahead of runner-up South Sioux. Cedar Catholic came in third with a 175. Rob Reeg, Elliot Salmon and Kevin Hausmann all carded 37's for the Blue Devils while Jed Reeg and Eric Runestad were right behind with 39's.

"That is the best recorded score since I've been here," Munson said. "The kids just seem to be getting better every trip out." Rob Reeg incidentally, notched two birdies and three bogeys enroute to his 37 while Kevin Hausmann nailed down one birdie and 2 bogeys, besides paring the other six holes.

If that score didn't convince you enough, Wayne's junior varsity team fired a 169, which would have beat both Cedar and South Sioux's varsity teams. South Sioux once again finished behind Wayne in the junior varsity scoring with 193. Cedar was way back at 222.

Jason Claussen was top golfer with a 40 while Mike Nicholson carded a 42. Larry Hintz came in with a 43 and Chad Jones recorded a 44. Greg Schmidt was the fifth golfer with a 45.

"That just happens to be the best the junior varsity has ever shot since I've been here," Munson said. "We have an extremely balanced group of kids." Munson said that he has shuffled the junior varsity line up several times already this season with about eight different golfers, but the reserves still manage to average around 171, which is exceptional.

Assistant football coach signs

WAYNE-Keith Simons has been named assistant football coach at Wayne State College, according to head coach Dennis Wagner. Simons will coach quarterbacks and receivers for the Wildcats and will also be on staff in the Health and Physical Education Division at Wayne State.

Simons, 30, comes to Wayne State from Humboldt State University in Arcata, Calif, where he has coached the receivers and tight ends for the last three years. He played football at Idaho State University.

He is a 1983 graduate of Idaho State and will earn a Masters Degree in Physical Education and Health from Humboldt State this year. A native of Washington, Simons will begin his duties at Wayne State on July 1. Simons is married and his wife's name is Michelle.

The hiring of Simons completes Wagner's coaching staff for the Wildcats. Wagner, hired last December as Wayne State's football coach, previously named Andrew Disney as defensive coordinator and Tim Johnson as linebacker coach. Four other coaches are on staff for the Wildcats.

Everyone knows that farmers have a tough road to hoe, and that it takes courage and perseverance to sustain a farming operation. It's important that our area farmers flourish, and not just for the good of the community, but for the entire nation as well. Because when farmers experience difficult times, we all feel the crunch. We believe that if everyone pulls together, lends their support and works with and for this vital American industry, we'll all reap the rich rewards of a unified and prosperous community. Let's not forget that we're all in this together.

Emphasis on conservation tillage

Area farmers invited to hands-on planter clinic

Area farmers are invited to attend a "hands-on" clinic on adjusting their planters for conservation tillage today (Monday).

The clinic is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. at the Roland and Randy Moeller farm, located five miles south and three west of Pender. It is being presented by the University of Nebraska's Cooperative Extension Service and the Soil Conservation Service.

A GOAL OF the clinic is to show farmers that most planters, if equipped with double-disk seed openers, function quite well in moderate levels of residue with only relatively minor adjustments necessary.

"As it turns out, the most popular no-till planters are also the most common surface planters," said Rod Patent Quad County extension agent-agriculture.

A feature of the "hands-on" clinic will be that three planters which work well for conservation tillage will be on display — a John Deere 7000, an International 800 and a White 5100.

All three planters come from farms in the Pender community and will be used in demonstrating the recommendations of UN-L Extension Engineer Paul Jasa.

Jasa, with over 10 years of experience with planters and conservation tillage, will present guidelines on operating these planters in the higher residue levels associated with conservation tillage.

PROPERLY MANAGED, conservation tillage can play an important role in reducing soil erosion to an acceptable level.

Dave Shelton, extension ag engineer from the Northeast Research and Extension Center, will be on hand to answer farmers' questions concerning the effect of tillage on residue reduction, and on how to estimate the amount of cover left after planting.

Patent said the afternoon's presentation should be of interest to those who have limited experience with conservation tillage as well as for those who have been practicing this conservation technique for some time.

There is no charge for the clinic.

KELSEY LYNN PICK

By Her Next Friend and Father, Lucas Theodore Luaders

By Duane W. Schroeder His Attorney (Publ. March 27, April 3, 10, 17, 24)

Every government official or board that handles public moneys, should publish at regular intervals an accounting of it showing where and how each dollar is spent. We hold this to be a fundamental principle to democratic government.

A public hearing was held on a request for a Class C liquor license for The Lumber Company Restaurant and Lounge. Gayle McQuistan spoke to Council.

Resolution 89-8, recommending approval of a Class C liquor license for The Lumber Company Restaurant and Lounge to the Liquor Commission, was adopted.

John Franklin, Howard R. Green Company, opened three bids for painting the standpipe: W.S. Bunch Company, Omaha, NE, $36,787; Wabash Metal Preserving Co., Plattsmouth, NE, $64,210; Winters & Merchant Co., South Sioux City, NE, $62,000.

City Administrator Kloster explained legislation introduced by the League of Municipalities regarding the formation of a municipal insurance pool. The League needs to formalize a membership so the League can officially form the organization.

Dave Chambers, Executive Director of the League of Municipalities, was present at the meeting and explained the insurance pool.

Resolution 89-10, authorizing the City of Wayne to join the insurance pool but in no way obligating the City to purchase insurance from the pool, was adopted.

David DeVries, of DeWild Grant Reckert Associates, was present and addressed Council regarding the reconstruction of the electric distribution system in the Northwest part of Wayne, known as the Cahart Subdivision and some of the area immediately surrounding it.

Resolution 89-11, setting bid date for the electrical distribution improvement system, was adopted.

City Administrator Kloster explained that the resolution on the HollyAnne Indoor Warning system has not been prepared. The City Attorney felt more input was needed before a resolution was drafted.

Bill Dennis, Manager of the Jones Interchange office in Wayne, and Marshall Kurschner, Manager of the Northeast Nebraska Cable Systems, were present at the meeting. Each party addressed Council on plans that are in the process for installing a warning system on the present cable system in Wayne. Delivery on the equipment is expected in the next two months.

After examination of the bids, John Franklin reported back to Council that W.S. Bunch Company of Omaha was the low bidder and was 29% under the engineer's estimate.

Council voted unanimously to paint the name of "WAYNE" only on the standpipe.

Resolution 89-9, accepting bid for repainting of standpipe, was adopted.

Jim Markham, local manager of Peoples Natural Gas, presented material on People-Service to Council. Alan Meyer, director of business development for the states of Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska, and Tom Jones, product director for water operations for People's five state operating territory, was present. Each party addressed Council on the services of PeopleService.

Phillip Lorenzen, of Kirkpatrick Pettis Smith Polan, Inc., addressed Council on the City's financing. Mr. Lorenzen said the state of the City is excellent.

Mayor Marsh announced that Councilwoman O'Leary was absent to be with her son who is hospitalized.

Councilman Barclay remarked on the deterioration of the City Auditorium. Administrator Kloster said the Auditorium could be reviewed at budget time.

Meeting adjourned at 9:40 p.m.

Here's something important to think about before you go shopping! Where you shop is important for many reasons. When you shop locally, part of every dollar you spend is returned to your community. Local businesses pay local taxes and make charitable donations within the community. When you shop out of town, your money helps someone else's town.

Why roam! The best shopping's right here at home!
