As planting begins

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

Despite the lack of moisture in the topsoil, northeast Nebraska farmers are going ahead with their efforts to plant oats and corn — hoping that rain is just on the horizon.

The Agriculture Statistics Division in Lincoln reports that as of April 30, 25 percent of the state's corn is planted compared to 23 percent in 1988 and the state average of 19 percent for this time of year.

Approximately 94 percent of the oats have been planted in the state, compared to 96 percent in 1988 and the normal average of 86 percent. Soybean planting is at less than 1 percent, according to the statistic source.

A key statistic, however, lies in the amount of moisture in the topsoil. The ag statistic representative says that 86 percent of the state reports topsoil short of moisture while 14 percent say the amount is adequate. Eighty-three percent say the subsoil moisture is short and 17 percent say the amount is adequate.

AVERAGE rainfall in Nebraska in April was about 12 percent of normal and precipitation for the year is 46 percent of normal.

Monthly moisture totals in April for northeast Nebraska was about 24 percent of normal, according to the state Moisture Situation committee.

"Everything we're reporting here is pretty low in terms of what we should be getting in April," said Ken Hubbard, associate professor at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Center for Agricultural Meteorology and Climatology in an April 25 report.

Most of Nebraska received less than 50 percent of normal precipitation in March. Only two areas in the northwestern and southwestern parts of the state received more than 100 percent of normal precipitation in March.

WAYNE weather observer Pat Gross said Wednesday the average amount of rainfall in March, during the 1980's, was 2.26 inches. Only .80 of an inch in the form of rain fell during March, 1989.

Gross said just .55 of an inch was measured for the entire month of April, compared to the 80's April average of 3.12 inches.

Russ Moomaw of Wayne, crop specialist at the Northeast Research and Extension Center near Concord said Wednesday morning that planting corn at this stage is a risk. Moomaw said the Center has planted some no-till corn acres. "Even then there is a question of whether we can get the seed enough moisture to bring up without any rain," he said.

The lack of moisture can mean even more problems for those tilling on dryland. All they are doing is putting seed into the ground. "It's just too dry to germinate," Moomaw said.

A HALF-INCH of rain would be marginally helpful for corn planted

Extension celebrates 75th year

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

Outside of the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Office, in the basement of the county courthouse, is a variety of indexed information which is important to rural as well as the urban population.

The brochures carry informative ideas about food and nutrition, clothing and textiles, housing and home management, consumer management, horticulture, insects and pests, plant diseases, forestry and weeds and their control.

No longer is the Extension Service — 75 years old this year — limited to providing information and research statistics to farmers. Expansion of the services has resulted in programs benefiting community residents, too.

The Wayne County Cooperative Extension Office has scheduled an open house in honor of extension's 75th year, to take place from 4 to 5 p.m. on Monday, May 8 in the basement of the county courthouse. There will be a short program followed by the serving of refreshments.

WHAT STARTED in 1914 as a project to extend the University of Nebraska's wealth of information to outlying rural areas has grown and evolved with the state.

First evidence of change can be seen in the titles of the agents. Last November, Wayne County became part of a Quad and Cedar County Extension Program Unit. Other counties in the program unit are Dixon, Dakota and Thurston.

Quad County Extension Agent Rod Patent, who has been with the extension service for five years, said the change in format allows each agent in the Quad County-Cedar County area "to work in their area of speciality."

During four of his extension years, Patent was a financial consultant involved in the Managing For Tomorrow program.

Patent, who works out of the Wayne County Extension Office, is a leader specializing in livestock management; marketing, finance and farm management. He is assistant leader in the areas of crops, soil and range management; and community and economic development.

Agent Mary Temme, who also works out of the Wayne office, is a leader in individual and family development (personal, family and business resource management). And recently, Lynda Ohrt has been added to the program unit as a leader in 4-H Organizational Development, with responsibilities of coordinating the 4-H program.

OTHER SPECIALTY areas covered by agents in the Quad County-Cedar County Program Unit include communications; horticulture and vegetable production; food, nutrition and health; natural resources and environment; organizational development and maintenance home economics (with Anna Marie White as leader); and pest management.

With the "specializing" arrangement, Patent said the extension service can offer more in-depth service, answer more questions and meet the needs of individuals and their communities.

In 1988, the Cooperative Extension Service worked with concerned citizens across the state to identify six areas of importance to Nebraskans — issues expected to affect the state's citizens now and in the future.

Those initiatives and issues include water quality, revitalizing rural communities, increasing agricultural profitability, strengthening individuals and families, managing the state's natural resources and improving nutrition and health.

"These are issues communities face as well as the farm population," said Patent. Already, the local extension office helped coordinate programs for businesses, such as the Managing Main Street workshops and computer training programs for business management.

TEMME SAID extension service is tackling the issues in a variety of ways. For instance:

— Water quality. A new school enrichment program titled "Water Riches" is available to area schools. "It blends well with the science curriculum and can lead to a variety of classroom activities," said

Temme. "We have at least 20 different school enrichment programs available. This is one of our priority areas within the next few years," said Patent.

— Revitalizing Rural Communities. In 1988, Home Extension Clubs used a program entitled "Turning Ideas and Projects into Profits." The goal of this lesson was to provide information for and encourage small business entrepreneurs.

"One of the local club members [Terri Headley of the Monday Mrs. Home Extension Club] used the information to realize a lifetime dream and has opened a bookstore [The Bookworm] in Wayne," Temme said.

— Strengthening Individuals and Families. "The 4-H program in northeast Nebraska has provided a means for developing a positive self-concept for youth. It has also benefitted family relations," Temme mentioned.

— Improving Nutrition and Health. "Major efforts are targeted at this issue," Temme said.

THIS WINTER the course "Eating Today for a Healthier Tomorrow" was offered. Twenty-five participants attended six weeks of in depth training on nutrition and food preparation.

Temme said Home Extension Clubs participated in the program

Wayne Theatre presents vaudeville entertainment

The Wayne Community Theatre will present an evening of vaudeville and melodrama, returning to the days of yesteryear.

"Way, Way Down East" by Earl J. Dias is scheduled for May 11-13 at 8 p.m. in Wayne State's Ley Theatre.

Director Gil Haase has assembled a cast of new (and not so new) actors to bring an old-fashion "meller" like Grandma and Grandpa used to see and enjoy. "You'll be able to hiss and boo that dastardly villain, cheer and applaud the hero, the heroine, the dear mother and the good father," Haase said.

The four women and five men in the cast include: Evelyn Sheckler as the Narrator and Sue Scott and Galen Wiser as Hepzibah and Ezekiel Ludlow (the dear mother and the good father); Marie Skokan as Henrietta the Maid; Jennifer Schmitz as heroine Lily Ludlow; Ben Wilson as hero Ronald Fitzwilliam; Marco Garlick as Tedious J. Impossible and his partner William McNasty played by Sam Wilson; and Maurice Anderson as Bertram J. Moneybags.

The rest of the evening "down memory lane" will be a theatrical adventure of olio acts and black-outs by the cast and others to present to the people of Wayne a complete evening of vaudeville entertainment.

"You can expect to see 'Bill & Cob', 'Gallagher & Shean', 'A Bird in A Gilded Cage', 'Rose of Washington Square', 'Poet Laureate', 'Shakespeare', the 'Charleston', 'Piano Artisty', and the list goes on. These olio acts and black-outs will be performed by Gwen Jensen, Gil Haase, Marco Garlick, Marie Skokan, Ben Wilson, Lisa Soseman, Sue Scott, Clyde Flowers, Jason Polt, Jennifer Schmidt and others.

Tickets are available at the State National Bank and First National Bank, Sav-Mor Pharmacy, and are $3 for adults and $2.50 for senior citizens and children 12 and under.

Hoskins man held on assault charges

A preliminary hearing has been set for William R. Shockley of Hoskins, who has been charged in county court, with assault in the second degree, false imprisonment in the first degree and using a firearm to commit a felony.

According to the complaints filed in county court, it was alleged that Shockley knowingly caused bodily injury to Darla Wiese (of Hoskins); restrained or abducted Wiese under terrorizing circumstances or under which exposed Wiese to the risk of serious bodily harm; and used a firearm to commit a felony.

According to the arrest warrant for Shockley, filed April 19, it was alleged that after 11:30 p.m. on April 14, Wiese was violently beaten, thrown into a wall and a handgun was forced in her mouth, nose and between her eyes. The warrant mentions that the victim was kept against her will in the upstairs of her home in Hoskins and was repeatedly assaulted by the defendant.

A first hearing on the filed complaints took place April 27, and Shockley was provided a court appointed attorney and a bond amount was posted at $10,000. He currently is at the Pierce County Jail.

The preliminary hearing for Shockley has been scheduled for Thursday, May 11 at 3 p.m. at the Wayne County Courthouse.

Defense dominates

Last Friday night saw the culmination of spring football practice for the Wayne State Wildcats under first year head coach Dennis Wagner and staff. The annual spring football game showcased the defense more than it did the offense but those who witnessed the game may be premature by saying the offense lacks punch.

"The defense played very well," Wagner said. "Offensively we couldn't sustain a consistent drive but we did have some good individual plays." The Wildcats lone score on the night came on a 14 yard pass from Brian Willis to John Pezdirtz.

Wagner also noted following the scrimmage, (game) that defensively the coaches and fans had pretty much a good look at the fall spots. "Offensively we, (the coaches and fans) didn't see the total offensive look the Wildcats hope to display next fall," Wagner said. "We have five or six guys coming in from the recruiting list who we feel will start."

Troy Tiedtke finished the game as the leading offensive rusher, gaining 80 yards on 14 carries. Brian Willis took over much of the quarterback chores because Kirk Meyer sustained an injury within the first 15 plays of the game. Willis was 3-9 in the passing department and Meyer completed his only pass attempt before being injured.

"We have a lot of offensive work yet to do," Wagner said. "Basically this game just gave us a parameter of where we are to date."

Defensive coach Andrew Disney was pleased with the way his defensive squad looked. "We had some fine performances on the individual and the team level," Disney said. "We've gotten some good interior play all spring from Randy Rouse and Paul Parker." Rouse is a 6-1, 280 lb. Junior from Omaha while Parker is a 6-2, 215 lb. Senior from Tampa, Fla.

Disney cited that one of the defensive goals at the beginning of spring was to control the line of scrimmage. "Controlling the line of scrimmage is the area we felt we needed the most improvement," Disney said. "We did that in the spring game allowing the offense an average of 2.4 yards per play."

Disney noted that Bob Sterba, a 6-0, 225 lb. Junior from Omaha played very well in the game. "Bob played very well," Disney said. "He is a good leader and will supply a lot of needed leadership next season."

Other players which had impact during the game and throughout the spring session was Chris Matzen who made the switch to linebacker. Mo Walker, Jeff Brownfield and Bud Sachs.

Disney also had praise for the secondary personnel which include people like Mike Thorell, Joel Ott, Glen Sutton and Rondy Woodard. This foursome allowed a total of just four completions for the offense and didn't allow a single completion by the wide outs.

BOB STERBA moves in on quarterback Brian Willis in action at the spring game.

So marks the end of spring football. The players however will remain hitting the weights during the off season. Both Wagner and Disney will host a couple of summer football camps for high school and junior high students. June 18-21 will be for high school students and June 25-28 for junior high. For more information call 375-2200 ext. 313 or the sports information office.

Melton to speak in Wayne

Former Nebraska Cornhusker football coach John Melton will be the guest speaker at Wayne-Carroll's Athletic Banquet Tuesday, May 16. Melton announced early in March that he was stepping down as the linebacker coach for the Cornhuskers, a position he held for the past 16 years.

The 61-year old Melton underwent quintuple bypass surgery in February and is recovering very well. He will remain a member of the athletic department by assuming a full-time job as a fund raiser for the University.

Melton was the last active Cornhusker coach who came to Nebraska from Wyoming with Bob Devaney in 1962. Melton coached the freshman football team before taking over the linebacker coaching job in 1967.

Known as a top public speaker, Melton has hosted Cornhusker football highlights show telecast on Nebraska Public Television Network.

"Recruiting is the hardest part of coaching," Melton said in an interview with Ken Hambleton of Husker Illustrated. "And its gotten harder every year with all the rules, regulations, hours and travel. It seems you have to be part coach, part bookkeeper and salesman, and you can see how easy it is to get into trouble, just look around the Big Eight."

Melton's recruiting successes have played a large part in Nebraska's success on the field.

"Recruiting has become very sophisticated with the computers and the tight restrictions," Melton said. "When I started recruiting, you could visit a kid 20 times and really get to know him and now you can't."

Melton has turned down job offers over the years from the likes of the Washington Redskins, Notre Dame and Cincinnati, but he said he discovered long ago there is no place like Nebraska.

The Wayne Athletic Banquet tickets run $7.50 this year and may be purchased from First National Bank or State National Bank in Wayne. They may also be purchased from Ron Carnes at the high school. For more information contact Carnes at 375-3150. Carnes encourages everyone to attend the banquet not just students and parents.

FORMER NEBRASKA Cornhusker football coach John Melton will be the guest speaker at Wayne-Carroll's Athletic Banquet to be held May 16 in the Student Center on the campus of Wayne State. Melton coached the linebackers at Nebraska for 16 seasons and had spent a total of 27 years on the Cornhusker staff before retiring this past winter following a quintuple bypass surgery in March.

WSC sweeps Doane

With just two games remaining in the regular season, Lenny Klaver's baseball squad maintains a record of 26-24. The worst the Wildcats can finish is .500, but the Cats are looking for a bit of revenge this Sunday when they host Bellevue College, the leading team in the District 11 standings.

Bellevue swept a twin bill from the Wildcats at Rosenblatt Stadium last month.

Tuesday night however, Wayne State hosted a double header at Overin Field with Doane College. Doane came in hoping to avenge a couple of losses suffered at the hands of the Wildcats but Klaver's squad was in fine form as they swept the twin bill with scores of 8-6 and 4-0.

In the opener Don Graham got the win which raised his record to 3-2. Graham struck out six batter enroute to the win. Wayne State belted out 11 hits in the contest including home runs by Dave Roby and Destrly Jaeger.

In the nightcap "Mr. Consistency," (Corey Weinmaster) pitched another gem for the Cats, this time a 1-hit shut out. Weinmaster raised his record to 8-1 with his only loss coming against the University of Nebraska's Cornhuskers.

Weinmaster struck out nine batters and didn't walk any via the win. Tim Wobken and Destrly Jaeger hit round trippers to supply the needed power to win.

Wildcats split

On Monday afternoon Wayne State hosted a twin bill with the Chargers of Briar Cliff. The visitors claimed a 4-2 decision in the opener but Kevin Boham pitched a marvelous 1-hit shut out in the nightcap enabling Wayne to waltz to a 12-0 victory.

In the opener Wayne State had a total of five hits while scoring its two runs. Wayne State had chances to win but only scored two runs with the bases loaded in three different innings. Chris Simon took the loss. Mark Wewel had a pair of doubles and John Staab, Rick Roberts and Rob Zulkoski all notched singles.

Kevin Boham struck out five while shutting out Briar Cliff in the nightcap. Wayne State rapped 13 hits and batted around in the first inning to propel themselves to victory.

Don Graham was 3-3 with a pair of doubles and a home run and five rbi's to lead Wayne State. John Staab was 3-4 with two doubles and Destrly Jaeger was 3-4 with a double and a home run with three rbi's.

Kids need water

The following is from a release by Rod Patent of the Quad County Extension Agent-Agriculture office.

If your child comes off the ball-field in a "cranky" mood, his or her body may be telling you "I'm thirsty." Cranky behavior is one of the first symptoms of the body's need for water.

Water is one of the most essential nutrients athletes need. Children are at special risk of dehydration because their bodies are not as efficient at regulating temperature as adults.

How do you know if your child is getting enough fluid? First be sure he or she is drinking an adequate amount of water before, during and after physical activity. Second, remember that thirst is not a good indicator of the need for fluid: Your thirst will be satisfied before your body fluids are adequately replenished. Cool water is the best sport drink there is. Two hours before a game give your child about two cups of water. Give him or her another cup about 15 minutes before playing. During games children need to be sipping water, a good half cup every 30 minutes. That's certainly more than a quick gulp at the water fountain between innings.

These amounts are suggestions made for an 80 lb. child by Ann Grandjean, U.S. Olympic Committee. Needs will vary according to the size of the child, the heat of the day, the amount the child sweats, etc.

Watch your child's weight especially at the beginning of the season and on super hot days. For every pound lost, two cups of water are needed to replace the fluid in the body.

Wayne girls continue success

The Lady Blue Devil track team captured yet another invitational Saturday as they topped the field at the Wisner-Pilger Invitational Meet. Wayne narrowly squeezed past Ponca by an 84-83 count to earn the championship.

Wisner-Pilger, Pierce, Tekamah-Herman, Emerson-Hubbard, Pender, West Point Central Catholic, Walthill and Bancroft-Rosalie rounded out the field in order of finish.

Wayne came away with four first place finishes including two relays. Tonya Erxleben won the high jump with a 5'0" effort while teammate Danielle Fallesen finished second in the same event with a jump of 4'11". Teresa Ellis won the 3200 meter run with a 12:53.9 effort. The girls 3200 meter relay team topped the field with a 10:39.5 time. The foursome include Holly Paige, Rachel Haase, Teresa Ellis and Tammy Geiger. Waynes' sprint relay team also took top honors with a 53.9 effort and members Dana Nelson, Tonya Erxleben, Danielle Fallesen and Kristy Hansen. Wayne did a fine job in all three relays as they finished third in the 1600 meter relay with a 4:33.7 clocking. Members of that relay include Teresa Ellis, Deanna Schluns, Holly Paige and Kristy Hansen.

Heidi Reeg has consistently placed in the shot put for the Blue Devils all season and Saturday was no exception as the junior placed third with a put of 34'2 1/4". Kristy Hansen and Danielle Fallesen placed third and fifth respectively in the 100 meter dash with times of 13.0 and 13.6. The same two-some placed third and fourth in the same order in the 200 meter dash with times of 27.6 and 28.3.

Holly Paige took fourth place in the 1600 meter run with a 6:14.8 effort and Dana Nelson placed fifth in the long jump with a leap of 13'3 3/4".

Boys score 58

The local boys squad finished in fifth place on the team level with 58 points. The Blue Devils had two first place finishes including Craig Dyer's 53.3 first place effort in the 400 meter dash. Greg DeNaeyer and Adam Mrsny finished fourth and fifth respectively in the 400 with times of 54.6 and 56.1.

The 1600 meter relay team took top honors with a 3:38.6 clocking. Members include Greg DeNaeyer, Casey Dyer, Willy Gross and Craig Dyer. Waynes' sprint relay squad finished fourth with a 46.8 clocking and members Jess Zeiss, John Murphy, Mike Hillier and Adam Mrsny. John Murphy took an individual fourth place ribbon in the 300 intermediate hurdles with a 45.0 clocking. Chad Davis placed fifth in the 200 with a time of 23.8 time, and Scott Fuelberth placed sixth in the 1600 meter run with a 5:18.5 effort.

Mike Hillier placed sixth in the 100 meter dash with an effort of 11.7+, and Eric Liska did likewise in the shot put with a put of 44'5 3/4".

The foursome of Greg DeNaeyer, Casey Dyer, Craig Dyer and Willy Gross placed second in the 3200 meter relay with a time of 9:04.6. Wayne will travel to Battle Creek's Invitational this Thursday before traveling to O'Neill Saturday for the conference meet.

WSC softballers lose two

The Wayne State softball team traveled to Kearney over the weekend to take part in the CSIC tournament. The Wildcats didn't fare as well as coach Doug Feagan had hoped, dropping two decisions in as many outings.

On Friday, Pittsburg State handed Wayne State a 6-2 setback. Ronda Peck took the loss from the mound but according to Feagan his Cats had chances to win the game but could not come through with the clutch hits.

"We had bases loaded in the bottom of the seventh inning with the tying run at the plate and we popped out," Feagan said.

On Saturday the Wildcats played Missouri Western, a team which Feagan said is very good. The Wildcats stayed close, losing 10-6. "Missouri Western scored eight runs in one inning," Feagan said. Roni Johnson was the losing pitcher.

Feagan noted that no one got more than a single in either game.

The Wildcats will now turn their attention to this weekend when they make a return trip to Kearney, this time for district 11 action. Kearney State was the unofficial first seeded team and Wayne State was the second seeded team.

"We'll receive a first round bye because of our district seeding," Feagan said. "As a team the girls and I feel confident because there isn't a team that will be there that we haven't defeated".

Track meet slated

There will be a track meet for Boys and Girls in grades 1-6 on May 13, beginning at 9 a.m. The meet will be held at the track in Wayne just south of the Elementary School.

First and second graders are to report at 8:45 a.m., third and fourth graders should report at 9:30 a.m. and fifth and sixth graders should report at 10:15 a.m. There will be a $2 entry fee for each contestant and all contestants will compete against their own grade.

Because of the difficulty of fighting and heating, all entries later than May 5th will be charged $5. All athletes are limited to three events and once you enter an event you cannot back out. The jumping and throwing events will occur first in each division.

All athletes should report to the table east of the track building to check in. Prizes will be awarded to the first five finishers in individual events. The top two relay teams will also receive ribbons.

For additional questions and for an entry form if you don't already have one, contact Ron Carnes, Athletic Director, Dale Hochstein or Rocky Ruhl, meet directors, or Richard Metteer, Middle School Principal.

First and second graders may choose from five events and third and fourth graders can choose from six events. The fifth and sixth graders have a choice from nine events.

Linksters win Oakland Invite by 26 strokes

The Blue Devil golf team climbed up another echelon in the excellence of golf Saturday with an impressive team score of 316, 26 strokes ahead of runner-up and host Oakland-Craig. West Point, Blair and Logan View rounded out the top five.

"We played very well," coach

Terry Munson said. "On the second nine holes we played our top four golfers turned in scores of 37, 38, 38, and 39 which is real solid."

Jason Peterson of Oakland-Craig took medalist honors with a 74 and Wayne's Jed Reeg followed with a 76. Eric Runestad finished third with a 79 and Rob Reeg finished fifth with an 80. Elliot Salmon manned the sixth spot with an 81.

Munson has been pleased with the way his squad has been competing this season. "The kids have been playing all year with consistency," Munson said. "They play without that one big score on the card every meet which can haunt you."

For an example Munson used Saturday's Oakland-Craig Invitational. Using the scores of the top four golfers of Jed, Rob, Eric and Elliot, you have a total of 72 holes combined. In those 72 holes Wayne suffered just two double bogeys and just one triple bogey.

Allen junior high competes in track

The Allen junior high track teams have kept quite busy the past week with a pair of meets. Early last week the squads were at Randolph for the Osmond Invitational. Allen's girls placed second among the 14 schools represented. O'Neill captured the team title and Wayne and Battle Creek finished third and fourth respectively.

Allen scoring went as follows: Sonya Plueger, fourth in the discus; Hillary Blair, fourth in the 200 meter dash, third in the 100 meter dash and third in the 400 meter dash; Michelle Isom, fifth in the 200 meter dash; Heather Sachau, fourth in the hurdles; Stacy Jones, first in the 800 meter run.

The sprint relay team finished second with Stephanie Chase, Christy Philbreck, Michelle Isom and Brenda Sullivan. The 800 meter relay team was also second with Stephanie Chase, Heather Sachau, Michelle Isom, Brenda Sullivan.

LIKE MONEY IN THE BANK.

Banks are so dependable, there's even a saying about it: "It's like money in the bank." Security and safety have been an important part of Nebraska banks since the first one opened in 1855. Part of the secure feeling you get from having deposits in a bank is knowing that your money is FDIC insured and always close at hand. And the commitment to service and trust from your hometown Nebraska bank is something you can depend on from now on. You can count on it...it's like money in the bank.

Bob Schoenherr, pastor of the Wayne World Outreach Center, was ordained an Assemblies of God minister on April 12.

The service was held at Christ's Place Church in Lincoln. G. Raymond Carlson, general superintendent of the Assemblies of God, conducted the ordination of Pastor Schoenherr and eight other candidates.

"It was a great honor to be recognized and ordained by our denomination's leadership," said Schoenherr, "but it is a greater honor knowing that God Almighty Himself has called me and ordained me as a minister of the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ."

SCHOENHERR, A native of Detroit, Mich., conducted his first service in Wayne in June 1988. He came to Wayne from Bellevue where he was associate pastor at the Bellevue Assembly of God Church for two years.

Prior to that time, he and his wife Sue served as missionary school teachers for one year in Guam.

Odometer law in effect

On Saturday, April 29, the new Federal Truth in Mileage Act went into effect requiring new language for odometer mileage statements completed during the transfer of vehicle ownership. The new odometer statements contain three choices for stating vehicle mileage, instead of the four choices in the past.

"The new odometer mileage statements must either indicate actual mileage, that the mileage exceeds the odometer's mechanical limits, or that the mileage is not actual. You can no longer designate mileage as unknown" said Nebraska Motor Vehicles Director Margaret Higgins.

New odometer statements signed by buyer and sellers must be used for all vehicle sales after April 28, 1989. According to Director Higgins, the new odometer information is included on the back of all Nebraska vehicle titles issued since Jan. 1, 1989.

The titles issued since that date are pink (originals) or green (duplicates) in color. The odometer information must be completed on the back of those titles and signed by both buyer and seller. The seller is required by law to retain a copy of the front and back (signed odometer statement) for five years.

Individuals selling vehicles may obtain the new odometer mileage statement forms from their County Clerk or the Department of Motor Vehicles. Those titles issued before Jan. 1, 1989 must be accompanied by the new separate complying odometer statement before a new title can be used.

All transfers of vehicle ownership after April 28 must include the new complying odometer information statements. Individuals selling vehicles after that may obtain the new statement forms from their County Clerk or the Department of Motor Vehicles. Questions involving the new requirements should be directed to the County Clerk's office or the Department of Motor Vehicles at 402-471-3889.

Income limits raised

Effective April 15, 1989 Farmers Home Administration's income limits were raised for Wayne County. "The revised income limits will increase the number of households that qualify for our housing programs," stated LaVern Ostendorf, Farmers Home Administration County Supervisor in Wayne.

The revised income limits for Wayne County are as follows: one, very low income limit $9,150; low income limit $14,650; two, $10,450, $16,700; three, $11,750, $18,800; four, $13,050, $20,900; five, $14,100, $22,200; six, $15,150, $23,500; seven, $16,200, $24,850; eight or more, $17,250, $26,150.

Depending on individual household circumstances, some adjustments can be made to household income before a comparison is made with the above figures. Although funds for this fiscal year (ending Sept. 30, 1989) will be somewhat limited in the low income category, more than adequate funds should be available. Contact the local FmHA office in Wayne concerning more details on the program.

Objections rise from surcharge on catastrophic health insurance

Hundreds of Nebraskans have contacted me to register their strenuous objections to the mandatory income tax surcharge they are going to have to pay for the new Medicare catastrophic health insurance. As one of my constituents wrote, "My wife and I worked for many years and saved part of our income which we invested for our retirement years...we expect to buy and pay for our insurance...you are taking our savings without our permission."

Other constituents pointed out that the new law would impose economic obligations on many senior citizens who are not likely to reap huge benefits from it. In fact, according to economists from the Institute for Research on Economics of Taxation (IRET), only about 7% of all Medicare enrollees will receive any catastrophic benefits. Additionally, the IRET study says, the cap on Medicare Part B will be adjusted by the Health Care Financing Administration so only 17% of enrollees will get the new drug benefit! Finally, the new law fails to provide for long-term care insurance, which my constituents claim is a far more critical need than catastrophic coverage.

IN RESPONSE to the pleas and legitimate complaints of my constituents, I agreed in early February to cosponsor the Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Reform Act. By level of $15,000 and couple with an income of $20,000 and simply does not begin the new benefits that the surcharge would have provided. Our bill retains the spousal impoverishment provisions contained in the Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Act of 1988, as well as the expanded number of consecutive days for home health care services. It also expands days of skilled nursing facility services and removes the limit on days of hospice care. "All these expanded benefits will be financed totally by a modest increase in the current catastrophic coverage premium added to the Basic Part B premium paid by the enrollee." This new coverage will "not" be financed by the taxpayers!

eliminating such big-ticket items as the prescription drug benefit, our legislation represents a more equitable and reasonable catastrophic coverage plan that will be paid for "by those who want the additional coverage."

The Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Reform Act that I am cosponsoring with over 30 other Members of Congress "absolutely does not shift the cost of catastrophic health care from those over 65 who might benefit to the taxpayers." Neither do employees or employers pay for it through higher FICA contributions.

If passed and signed into law, the bill that I am cosponsoring would repeal the mandatory income tax surcharge that is imposed on every Medicare-eligible American individual with an income

I have said repeatedly since last February that any proposal to shift the cost of the additional benefits approved by the 1988 Act to the taxpayers or workers' Social Security costs is not a politically acceptable or responsible solution because of the budget deficit and the overly large Social Security costs already borne by employers and employees.

Additional benefits will either be financed by potential beneficiaries as in any insurance program or those benefits should not be responsibly increased at this time.

Music awards

MONDAY EVENING was the annual Music Booster Banquet. Awards were given out to several Wayne-Carroll vocal and band students. Above, from left, are Brett Fuelberth, Todd Barner and Jed O'Leary. Fuelberth received the National Choir Award presented to the outstanding senior choir member; O'Leary received the John Phillip Sousa Band Award presented to the outstanding senior instrumentalist; and Barner received the outstanding swing choir member award. At left, Amy Bliven received the Semper Fidelis Band Award, presented to an outstanding senior instrumentalist, given by Sgt. Dan Duvall of the U.S. Marines.

2-3 inches deep into the topsoil. A good inch of rain would be most beneficial, Moomaw said.

Last fall, this area received close to four inches of rain in the months of August and September. "But we didn't have much recharge of moisture in the fall and there was none in the spring," said Moomaw.

"So we're certainly in serious condition. The only way we can survive this year is if we have fairly timely rain in the summer," he mentioned.

Irrigation pivots have been operating already this spring, basically when the planting is completed.

Moomaw said the oats crop will survive for a while. Oats were planted at the Northeast Center in late March. "It's been over a month and there has not been a lot of growth," he said. Growth can also be spotty.

"So these conditions are not so favorable for oats, either," Moomaw said. "We get gradual rain showers, the oats can come along."

Extension

"Eating Out Lightly But Delightfully" to learn how to follow the dietary guidelines when eating away from home.

The Northeast Quad County-Cedar County Extension Unit has targeted "Promoting Healthy Lifestyles for Youth," she said. "The 4-H Day Camp held at Ponca State Park will include sessions on exercise, nutrition and building a positive self-concept," Temme said.

Patent said 4-H programs are concentrating more on "lifelong learning experiences" for club members, in addition to the usual projects of raising livestock, baking, gardening or sewing. There are 17 4-H Clubs in Wayne County with approximately 240 members, he said.

At one time the busiest time for the extension service was around the county fair dates when 4-H projects were highlighted. Now with the extension service delving into adult education and community development issues, October through March are considered just as busy, if not more demanding in time, Patent said.

The cooperative extension service worked this past winter in helping smaller communities in northeast Nebraska with long range planning for rural development. "We also are looking at making formal arrangements with other education institutions, such as Wayne State College and Northeast Community College, to assist in offering the variety of programs," Patent said.

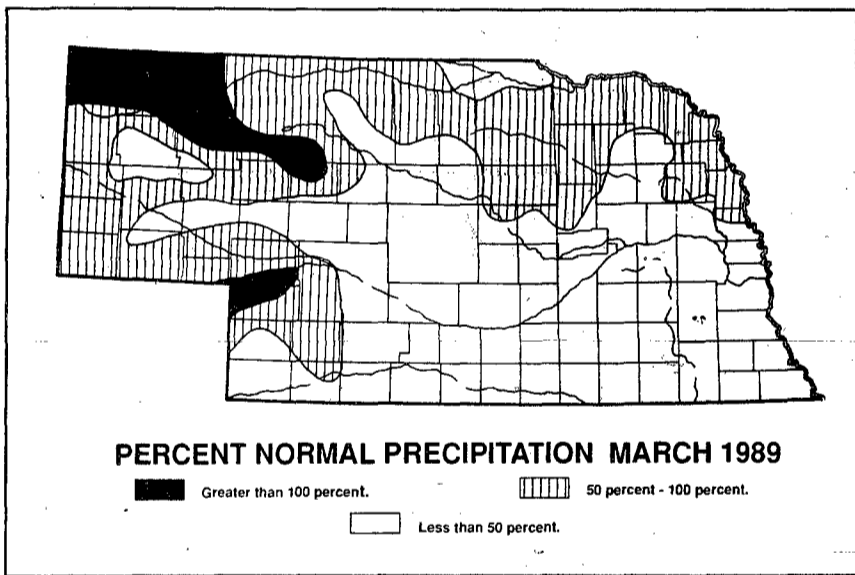

AGRICULTURE continues to play a dominant role in the services provided by the extension service. "Areas that we are big in agriculture now are the conservation provisions of the 1985 Farm Bill; pesticide training and water quality; chemigation and irrigation scheduling," Patent mentioned.

Northeast Research and Extension Center specialists — specializing in a wide variety of areas, such as livestock, pest control, trees, crops, soil loss, fertilizer and chemical control, irrigation and other areas — are readily available to assist in problem-solving situations. The Center is located just outside of Concord.

Meet John Thiel, a Marian Heart Expert

Living in the Wayne area doesn't mean you have to travel far to be cared for at a major cardiac center. There's one right here in Siouxland. Your neighbor John Thiel found that out 3 years ago when he had open heart surgery at Marian Health Center.

"Marian Health Center is much closer to Wayne than Omaha for both me and my family which made visiting a lot easier. I would say the quality of the program in Sioux City is one of the finest in the area."

It's Marian that provides a full range of diagnostic and treatment services including cardiac catheterization, angioplasty, open heart surgery and cardiac rehabilitation.

That makes Marian Health Center the Heart Center for all of Siouxland.

He's also your neighbor.

Tax relief measures debated by legislature

Again the major issue facing the Legislature this past week was property tax relief. I believe the Legislature is serious about passing a significant property tax relief measure and I continue to be optimistic that it can be accomplished. However, there continues to be roadblocks and disagreements as to the legality of methods that can be employed. As I indicated in my column last week, the two proposals under consideration are LB 84 and LB 809.

Both bills give rebates to property owners and put limits on the total dollar amount available to an individual taxpayer. This week the Attorney General issued an opinion indicating that the dollar limit on the amount of rebate is unconstitutional. The opinion addressed the $500 maximum rebate the Revenue Committee attached to LB 809, the Governor's proposal. The reasoning in the opinion also was applied to a subsequent opinion that addressed LB 84.

The opinions cite Article VIII, Section 1 of the Constitution, which is known as the uniformity clause. Under this provision "taxes shall be levied by valuation uniformly and proportionately upon all tangible property." The Supreme Court has said the purpose behind this clause is to make sure each owner of property taxed will contribute his or its just and fair proportion of the public revenues. While the tax rates in the bills are uniform, the maximum rebate provision effectively compels taxpayers above the maximum to pay a higher proportion of tax.

While the Attorney General's opinion is not binding on the Legislature (unlike a determination by the Supreme Court) it will no doubt cause the Legislature to reconsider the limits that are listed in both proposals. When property tax relief was first considered, the Legislature's initial response was to put a maximum amount on rebates to individuals in order to give the maximum relief to the most people.

Unfortunately now the Legislature may be forced to remove the caps and give rebates in the same proportion for all property taxpayers. There would be no value in supporting legislation that the Court will declare unconstitutional and thereby preventing the taxpayers from receiving relief from current legislative efforts.

The caps had made LB 84 a very attractive bill since it gave almost $100 million relief with the majority of it going to the typical taxpayer: small to moderate sized business persons, farmers, and homeowners. I personally prefer LB 84 over LB 809 since LB 84 sets a specific amount to be distributed. In LB 809, the specific amount is not known since it is tied to over-projections in sales and income tax revenue received by the state. However, both bills will need to be altered in order to address the Attorney General's concerns.

In the light of this, I have offered an amendment to LB 84 which will remove the caps. In its place I have proposed a rebate system where residential property would be allowed either a seven percent rebate or a $6,800 homestead exemption which ever is greater. Commercial property, agricultural land, and personal property would receive a seven percent rebate.

I chose the seven percent figure since it would work out to be approximately $100 million dollars, the approximate figure senators have committed to in the earlier round of debate. There is no doubt that several amendments to the bills will be debated and hopefully the Legislature will find a consensus that will lead to a measure that ultimately will be signed by the Governor.

I continue to believe that fairness requires income, sales, and property taxes in comparable proportions. We currently rely too heavily on the property tax. These measures will help to reduce that burden.

By U.S. Commerce publication

Venture group nationally recognized

A project of the Business/Industry Assistance Center at Northeast Community College has been recognized in Initiatives In Rural Economic Development, a publication of Midwest Research Institute for the U.S. Department of Commerce.

The publication highlighted 20 exemplary community college programs to promote rural economic development in the U.S., and recognized Northeast College for a venture capital network in a rural region.

In 1985, when the Business/Industry Assistance Center was opened at the college, Joe Ferguson, the Center's director, decided to focus on expansion and development of homegrown enterprises and solicited the cooperation of the Norfolk Area Chamber and local economic development groups.

Concerning the beginning of the program, Ferguson said: "Major manufacturers have located in the larger communities, but in doing so, we have been turning some of the surrounding communities into bedroom communities. The chance a small community recruiting a major industry is pretty slim. Our philosophy is to develop and expand homegrown enterprises throughout the area instead."

Informal presentations were made to service clubs and chambers of commerce in almost every community. According to Ferguson, suspicions had to be overcome. "We would walk into a community 40 miles away, and they would figure our venture capital idea was going to steal businesses and move them to Norfolk," he said.

A FIVE-MEMBER board of directors operates the network with representation from the college, the Norfolk Area Chamber, the banking community, and local business interests. An Area-wide Task Force with representatives from each community of the region is being organized.

The Center helps aspiring entrepreneurs with financial assistance requests and detailed business plans at no cost. Four to six hours of staff time per week are required by both the Center's director and by the Norfolk area economic development director in promoting, developing, and implementing the network. Administrative services for the network (mailings, phone calls, copying, etc.) are provided by the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber volunteers 5 to 10 hours per week of staff time, and the corporation pays the Chamber for direct expenses.

The Center relies on the Nebraska Business Development Center and graduate students for market research associated with venture capital proposals. In addition to local chambers, linkages exist with the Business Development Center at Wayne State, the University of Nebraska, and the state's Department of Economic Development.

IN ADDITION to helping establish the network, the Business/Industry Center assists local businesses obtain government contracts and investigate international trade opportunities. The Center has started an annual Northeast Nebraska Inventors Fair, a three-day affair, and participates in an entrepreneurship project to help people become self-employed through a 10-week training program taught by the Center's director and a local attorney.

The Center operates on an annual budget of about $40,000, of which roughly half comes from a Carl Perkins Vocational Education Act Grant and half comes from the college.

According to Ferguson, the Center is attempting to serve a real and serious need in the area. "The typical venture group only looks at $250,000 ventures or larger. But that cuts out the people we're trying to help. We have companies that for the lack of $2,000 can't get started. A cafe in a small town or a mechanic shop may not need a lot of money, but they're not bankable. We're about the only avenue they have, and these small enterprises have a big impact in small communities," he said.

More information on services of the Business/Industry Center may be obtained from Joe Ferguson at Northeast Community College.

On April 22, nine German Club students from Wayne-Carroll High School and their sponsor, Edith Zahniser, attended the 13th annual convention of the Nebraska Association of Students of German. This year's convention was hosted by Millard North and attracted German students from 15 schools for a day of fun and contests.

All of the students participated in the competitions, some in several events. They also had the opportunity to watch films, sing, prepare German foods, learn how to make "Scherenschnitte" (scissor cuts), play "foosball" and hear about travel-abroad programs. Volunteers

Dear Northeast Nebraska American Cancer Society Volunteers:

As a recovered cancer patient, I want to personally say "THANK YOU" to each and every American Cancer Society volunteer who so generously gives of his/her time to help in the war against cancer.

Volunteers are the very heart and soul of the American Cancer Society. YOU are what makes this organization so great—people in local communities who offer help and hope to others. Help for those who have cancer and for their families, hope that we may yet create a world free from fear of cancer.

Our organization's collective mission of cancer control is carried out community by community and neighborhood by neighborhood. You are a VERY IMPORTANT PERSON! Without you, it would not be possible to have these community-based cancer control programs. With you, more lives can be saved and more people assisted in their fight against cancer in the communities and neighborhoods where you and they live.

For those reading this letter who are not volunteers as yet, I ask you to please give some serious thought to becoming a volunteer for the American Cancer Society. If interested, you may contact me at 371-7904. You will find it very rewarding. Thanks again to all volunteers in Northeast Nebraska, you are doing a great job!

Sincerely,
Dorothy Hanneman

Older people concerned about the possibility of burglary should turn that concern into positive action, the National Institute on Aging advises. The federal agency suggests:

- Install secure locks on doors and windows -- and make sure you use them. Almost half of all residential burglaries are made easy for thieves by occupants who forget to lock up.
- When you are at home and someone comes to the door, don't open it unless you are certain of the identity of the visitor.
- Engrave valuable items properly with your driver's license or Social Security number. Also, keep a record of serial numbers of TVs, VCRs, cameras and comparable property.

ELCA MEETS
The meeting of the Women of the ELCA of Salem Lutheran Church was held Saturday in the church basement. President Clarice Schroeder welcomed members and guests. The program presented by Circle 2 was intended for the March 3-World Day of Prayer service which was cancelled by a winter storm.

The theme of the program "Jesus Teach Us To Pray" was written by seven women of Burma. Famy Johnson introduced us to Burma followed by the invocation by Pastor Joe Marek. Hymns, based on the theme of prayer and devotions based on Luke 11:1-8, the story of Jesus teaching the disciples to pray. The program closed with intercessory prayers and Alan Johnson's singing of the Lord's Prayer. Jim Killough, intern, gave the benediction.

A short business meeting followed. President Schroeder gave a reminder that items for Martin Luther Home's gift and thrift shop should be left in the back basement room by the stairs the first two weeks in May.

Pastor Marek made an appeal for funds for the youths camp of June 4-10. As there are about 29 students planning to attend and fees are high and the need is great. The women of ELCA voted to donate a generous amount.

The recent Spring Gathering at Bloomfield was discussed and President Schroeder pointed out the importance of attending conventions so that members keep informed on all issues. Nominations will be made in May for the State Convention in Kearney. She mentioned Namibia in South Africa as an area of concern for Lutherans. Other issues for which appointments were made to receive correspondence are literacy, peace with justice and service for development.

Next meeting will be Thursday, May 25 at 2 p.m.

By Pat Melerhenry

We tried to take Grandma out for dinner for her birthday, but she insisted on cooking. The Beattie's were there; and we surprised the honoree with a very large suitcase so she can do some more traveling.

Kay is house-sitting and I used her room. There's a teddy bear on her bed. Reminds me of the teacher who asked her class which president had a stuffed animal named after him. She was thinking of Theodore Roosevelt, but one bright fellow piped up, "Garfield!" Actually, even Garfield has his own Teddy bear.

Teddy bears have been childhood favorites for decades. Kay has a Winnie the Pooh at home that is worn and dirty, having been much loved. Ann has all sizes and shapes of bears.

Tonight I read of an organization called Caring for Children. Founded in 1985, this group has put teddies to work in many different ways. Some are taken on patrol with the local police department to help officers deal with abused and battered children.

Last September, Caring for Children organized an International Bearlift and sent 3,000 teddy bears aboard a jet to Latin America. Their mission—to bring a little warmth and comfort to orphaned children in Brazil, Peru, and Bolivia.

THEIR LATEST project is the Care for Kids Bear Hug Campaign. For $25, Caring for Children will send a cuddly friend to a needy child. What a great ideal.

A close second to the teddy is the black and white panda bear. The whole country was interested in the gift of two pandas to our National Zoo from the Republic of China.

The panda has become the official mascot for EMS-Emergency Medical Services in Nebraska. He's called Medi-Tedi, and small replicas are being given to rescue units all across the state.

If the squad picks up a child, he gets a panda, and it's his to keep. They are being paid for entirely by private donations, and will be replaced as they are used.

There are some life-size suits, and you may see them around at fairs and promotions. If you do, say hello. Medi Tedi is friendly.

This is National Nurse Week. If you haven't heard of the nursing shortage, you haven't been paying attention.

There have been various reasons given: from working weekends to low salaries to other career options for women. And there have been various solutions proposed: one of my least favorite was something proposed by the AMA called RCT's, registered care technicians.

Remember my proposal to recruit farmers into nursing? The dean of UNMC college of nursing picked up on it, and has been actively promoting the idea.

FOR ALL ITS drawbacks, it's still a rewarding profession. I'll be attending my thirtieth reunion in July, and can hardly believe it's been that long since I first put on a white uniform. Unlike some of my peers, I still enjoy putting on my cap.

There have been many highs and lows since then, many tired feet and sore backs; new babies, pediatrics, orthopedics, urology, cardiology, and oncology; disgruntled docs and distressed lab and x-ray technicians; holidays, weekends, and night shifts; but it still holds a fascination for me.

If you know any nurses, give them a sign of affirmation this week. We can use it!

Fever Treatment Debate
A recent issue of Physician's Weekly carries a report in which two different views are presented on the treatment of fever.

Dr. Jerry Kruse of the Family Practice Department at Southern Illinois University takes the position that a fever often provides useful information in diagnosing and following an illness and, therefore, should not be treated in most cases. He indicates that a fever lowers circulating levels of iron in the body, hampering bacteria from obtaining the nutrients they need to cause or continue an infection. The elevated temperature may also kill heat-sensitive viruses and assist the body's natural infection fighting defenses.

Dr. Paul Mankus of the Medical College of Wisconsin believes that physicians should always try to make their patients as comfortable as possible. According to Dr. Mankus, fever-reducing medicines such as acetaminophen may also help prevent dehydration and avoid fever-related seizures in children.

Whether or not fever-reducing medicines should always be used will probably continue to be debated. Future research will hopefully provide more answers to this important question.

Agriculturalists invited to LEAD program

Young agriculturalists, ages 25-40, with proven leadership potential have until June 1 to apply for acceptance in the two-year LEAD (Leadership Education/Action Development) Program.

Gary C. Bergman, Nebraska LEAD Program Associate Director, said that the ninth group of up to 30 men and women from production agriculture and agribusines will be selected to begin the program in October, 1989.

Sponsored by the Nebraska Leadership Council, the Nebraska LEAD Program is designed to enhance agriculture and rural life in Nebraska by developing more effective decision-makers, spokesmen and leaders for Nebraska and agriculture, Bergman said.

Men and women selected through application and interviews to begin the program will be participating in 13 three-day seminars and two study travel seminars during the next two years. One travel seminar will be in the United States and the second will be abroad.

COST TO THE participants, in addition to their time, will be transportation to and from seminar sites and a participation fee of $800 for each of the program's two years.

It is anticipated that the participation fee will come from organizations who will stand to benefit by human resource development in agriculture, Bergman said. Other seminar and travel costs are paid by the Council.

According to Bergman, the Fellowship received by each of the participants selected is equivalent to about $10,000 for the two-year period.

DURING THE program, LEAD Fellows will:

- Develop a higher level of self-confidence and progress in achieving their potential.
- Sharpen their leadership and communication skills.
- Become knowledgeable in public affairs, communication, government, monetary and fiscal matters, environmental concerns, domestic and international trade and foreign relations.

The Council is supported by individuals, businesses, industries, colleges and universities from around Nebraska.

For more information or application, contact Gary C. Bergman, Associate Director, Nebraska LEAD Program, 302 Agricultural Hall, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, NE 68583-0709. Phone (402) 472-6810.
