House fire

ALLEN-Fire early Sunday morning gutted the home of Allen residents Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Hough. The Allen Volunteer Fire Department was called to the scene at 7 a.m. when Houghs returned home and noticed the smoke. Although the fire had extinguished itself, Rob Bock, a spokesman for the fire department, said the home suffered extensive damage from the smoke and excessive heat. The blaze has been determined to have originated in the couch. No one was home at the time.

Questions needed

AREA-Several people have submitted questions to The Wayne Herald's "For Your Information" column, but we would like to see lots more questions addressed to the schools of Wayne-Carroll and Wayne State College, to the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce, and to Wayne County. The "question and answer" type column will appear on a weekly basis in The Wayne Herald in the near future. It is a public service column which allows people to gain information on pertinent issues which affect our community, county, school system and regional areas. Questions should not be of the "personal attack on the governing entity" type, and the Wayne Herald editors reserve the right to edit the questions and answers. Mail your questions to The Wayne Herald, P.O. Box 70, Wayne, NE 68787 c/o For Your Information, or phone 402/375-2600. Questions can be submitted anonymously.

Attention parents, friends or relatives of 1989 grads

In next Thursday's Wayne Herald, space will be made available for publication of "childhood" photos of this year's graduating high school seniors from Allen, Laurel, Wakefield, Wayne-Carroll and Winslow. Already scheduled to be published in this annual special section May 18 will be "current" photos of all the high school graduates. And wouldn't it be nice to also publish a photo from "yesteryear" of the same graduate(s) for comparison's sake. Contact Annis at The Wayne Herald for details on pricing and next Monday's deadline. Phone 375-2600 or toll-free 1-800-672-3418.

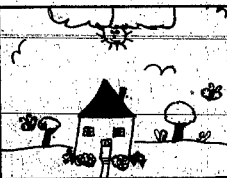

For Mom

WAYNE-"Mom" Welte will have a special day on Saturday, June 24. That is the day a group of student graduates and the Alumni Association have organized a gathering to thank "Mom" Welte for all she has contributed over the past 22 years.

"We are doing everything we can to invite and get the word out to individuals who would like to come. On behalf of the group, I would like to extend a special invitation to the community of Wayne to come and participate in the fun," said spokesman Dean Jacobs.

The event will be Saturday, June 24, 6:30 p.m. at the National Guard Armory. A dinner and a "roast" for Welte, by former students, will take place followed by a dance. Tickets are $10 from the Wayne State College Alumni Office, Hahn Building, Room 206. Tickets need to be purchased by June 6.

Council looks at insect problem

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

Midges is becoming more than a "smidge of a problem" for several residents of Wayne. Councilman Darrel Heier told city council members about a bug problem that exists in at least one of the residences north of the city's wastewater treatment facility. Heier explained the problem during Tuesday's regular meeting of the city council. Heier said he received a call about the problem from the Harold Schwarzenbach residence at 720 East Fifth Street. "They've had insect problems there for the past two years and this year they have started being a problem already," said Heier.

THE HOME owners believe that the insects have increased because of the new wastewater treatment plant. "They look like mosquitos. At times they find it hard just to see out their window. The bugs just get that thick," said Heier. Mert Marshall, wastewater/wastewater foreman for the city of Wayne, said the bugs are not coming from the plant, but are most likely coming from the lagoon. Marshall contacted Dr. Wayne Kramer of the Nebraska Department of Permits and Environmental Resources in Lincoln and sent the bug samples to the agency for identification. The samples of the insects from the lagoon and property around the facility were identified as "Midges" — a very small fly or gnat. The insects can be a nuisance, but do not bite. Kramer, in a letter to Marshall that was reviewed by the city council, said the adults lay eggs around vegetation around or in lakes or bodies of water, and the larvae hatch and fall or crawl into the water. These Midges feed on the heavy organics in the water. Adult midges are known to fly over one mile, but are also carried by the wind. The best treatment to rid of the Midges is larvicide bait, but Kramer said this could have some harmful side effects on fish or wildlife. Kramer, who will be asked to come to Wayne and look into the situation, suggested that sampling be completed at the lagoon. Midges are a common problem around any lake with high organics. Aerial application of spray would be the bet to take care of the larvae in the lagoon, he said, but added that this could cause some problems with the environmentalists in the area.

Opening night nears

IT WILL BE ANOTHER opening night for the Wayne Community Theatre on Thursday, May 11 at 8 p.m., the same starting time as the performances for Friday and Saturday night. Director Gil Haase said this spring's show is much different than other productions in that half will be an old fashioned meller and half will be olio acts and blackouts as seen many years ago. The melodrama "Way Down East" is in four scenes and will feature the cast of Evelyn Sheckler, Sue Scott, Galen Wisser, Marie Skokan, Jennifer Schmitz, Ben Wilson, Marco Garlick, Sam Wilson and Maurice Anderson. Olio acts and blackouts will be performed by Gwen Jensen, Gil Haase, Marco Garlick, Marie Skokan, Ben Wilson, Lisa Soseman, Sue Scott, Clyde Flowers, Jason Polt, Ted Blenderman, Chuck Higbee and Bonnie Steffen, who is also the accompanist for the musical numbers. Others assisting in various capacities will be Don Hook, Andre Sedriks and Margaret Lundstrom. Seated from left are Anderson, Wisser, Scott and Sheckler. Standing are Garlick, Ben Wilson and Skokan.

On building, curriculum

School district reviews goals

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

Wayne-Carroll's board of education reviewed its school district goals in building and grounds and curriculum and instruction during their meeting Tuesday night. Superintendent Francis Haun said the dust removal system for the woodshop at the high school has been completed. Also done, as projects carried over from the 1987-88 school year, included sanding, sealing and painting of the high school gym floor; and providing parking/unloading facilities at all schools for the handicapped. The gymnasium floor at the Wayne Middle School was also carried out last school year.

For the 1988-89 school year, several areas that need to be completed if the school board wishes to pursue the goals are: to repair the music room floor at the middle school; do some tuck point brick and repair/paint eaves at the middle school; do some finishing touches on the complete removal of educational barriers; and have the asbestos removed from the high school band room (to be completed this summer).

AREAS LOOKED at for goals in the 1989-90 school year are a vehicle storage facility; expanded parking at the high school, replacing of carpet at the Carroll school, track resurfacing and a review/study of the school buildings and facilities.

Concerns were expressed by board members and Haun about the condition of the track south of the West Elementary School in Wayne. The track was resurfaced and repainted about two years ago and it is again breaking up.

Making more spaces available for parking — such as diagonal parking south of the high school — was also discussed.

Expansion of the elementary school building was also discussed by board members to meet the needs of a growing student population. Board member Ken Liska brought up the question of why the fifth grade was placed in the middle school setting. If there was an expansion, it was discussed that possibly the fifth grade class would be staying at the elementary school and then move over to the middle school upon fifth grade graduation.

SOME OF the curriculum and instruction goals set up in future years include teacher inservices; studies of math, science and social studies curriculum; review of applied technology; and continued monitoring of the school's gifted program.

Also Tuesday evening, the school board reviewed the Nebraska Energy Efficiency School Loan Program Agreement — funds used to allow the schools to realize energy savings which can be used as a pay back against the loan.

The promissory note is for $87,479, with the principal sum to be repaid in 27 semi-annual installments of $3,124.25 each. The first payment is due Oct. 1, 1989.

The school board also approved the asbestos removal contract of Kossuth Insulators, Inc. of Algona, Iowa at a price of $23,775. The asbestos will be removed from the high school band room. Work is expected to be completed on the project by Aug. 1. Until then, the summer music program will be moved to the middle school, according to Superintendent Haun.

IN OTHER action, the school board:

— Accepted the resignation of Cyndi Swarts as Language Arts instructor for the academically talented.

— And approved the offering of a summer typing class which will be taught for three summer weeks (three hours in the morning).

Choir gets top rating

The Wayne-Carroll Varsity Choir, competing in a recent contest with about 60 other choirs at Worlds of Fun in Kansas City, achieved a "One" rating marked by three judges, it was announced by Mrs. Ley, vocal instructor at the high school.

At Wakefield

Hospital closing considered

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

The Wakefield Health Care Center Board of Directors voted Monday to recommend to the Wakefield City Council that the hospital facility be closed.

Health Care Center Administrator Bill Faust said the Wakefield City Council will address the recommendation of closing the 22-bed hospital during a meeting slated Thursday (today) at 7:30 p.m.

"The 65-bed Wakefield Health Care Center long term facility will not be affected on the outcome of the recommendation," said Faust.

FOR SEVERAL weeks the Wakefield Health Care Center hospital and the community has been without a physician to admit patients to the hospital or to cover the emergency room.

"We haven't had any patients at the hospital since the middle of April," Faust said.

With this in mind, some financial considerations had to come into place, he said. "We didn't want to financially get into a position where it would start hurting our long term care facility as well," he added.

The long term care facility is filled at nearly 100 percent capacity.

Faust said there had been an intensified recruitment effort to obtain a physician for the community — including the contacting of national recruiting firms and residency programs. "We followed up on leads throughout Nebraska," Faust said.

Currently, at least five full-time and part-time nurses staff the hospital. The aides, he said, have been asked to take some time off until the final determination of the hospital's future is made by the city council.

THERE IS a staff of at least 20 people who are employed and do most of their work at the hospital facility. Some employees work for both the long term health care facility and the hospital.

Faust said there would be a some openings available at the long term health care facility for a few of the currently employed people at the hospital.

St. Elizabeth Community Hospital of Lincoln has managed the hospital under contract with the care center for about a year. The hospital was built in 1948.

It was reported that the Wakefield Community Hospital Corporation turned the hospital title over to the city in 1973 when the city agreed to issue revenue bonds for construction of the nursing home.

Winside gals win conference

Fifteen track squads invaded the Wayne State College track Saturday for the Annual Lewis & Clark Conference Meet. When the dust had cleared, the Winside Lady Wildcats and the Ponca Boys emerged as the team champions.

Winside edged Wakefield by three points, 78-75. Coleridge finished third with 58 points and Homer finished fourth with 43. Emerson-Hubbard rounded out the top five with 40 points and Newcastle finished sixth with 37. The rest of the teams in order of finish and points included Osmond, 32; Allen, 30; Ponca, 27 1/2; Wynot, 15; Hartington, 11 1/2; Beemer, 9; Walthill, 8; Wausa, 2; Bancroft-Rosalie, 0.

There were a lot of big performances on the day but none bigger than Wakefield's Laurie Plendl. The junior distance runner swept four gold medals on the day including the 800, 1600, 3200 and she ran a leg on the winning 4x800 meter relay team.

Plendl's times were 2:32.2 in the 800, 5:49.7 in the 1600, and 12:10.3 in the 3200. Plendl teamed up with Cathi Larson, Julie Greve and Dorena Murfin in the 3200 meter relay for a time of 10:46.6.

Winside had its own share of points from a central power station in Jenny Jacobsen. Jacobsen swept gold medals in the 100, 200 and 400 and placed third in the long jump. Jacobsen was clocked at 12.6 in the 100, 26.5 in the 200 and 61.4 in the 400 to account for her three golds.

Kristy Miller accounted for a gold medal in Winside's quest for the team championship with a 5'0" high jump. Patty Oberle meanwhile, placed second in the 3200 meter run with a 13:19.5 effort.

Placing third for the queens of the Lewis & Clark conference this year was Oberle in the 1600 with a 6:02.3 time. Jenny Jacobsen long jumped 15'2" for third place and Shawn Janke did likewise in the shot put with a put of 33'10". Shannon Holdorf turned in her best time of the year in the 300 low hurdles with a 52.9 effort, good enough for third place.

Tinia Hartmann placed fourth in the 100 hurdles with a 17.1 clocking and Shawn Janke threw the discus for a fifth place distance of 89'7".

Wakefield runner-up

As mentioned earlier the Lady Trojans of Wakefield placed second to Winside with 75 points. Laurie Plendl accounted for the majority of points with her efforts in the 800, 1600 and 3200, as well as running an 800 on the winning two mile relay team. Julie Greve though, finished second in the 1600 behind teammate Plendl with a 5:58.3 effort. Christy Otte placed second in the 300 hurdles with a 52.2 effort.

Miss Greve added a third place finish in the 800 meter run with a 2:34.0 clocking. Fourth place finishes for Wakefield came on the sprint relay with a time of 52:1 and the 4x400 meter relay with a time of 4:38.5. Dorena Murfin added an individual fourth place finish with her 13:54.4 effort in the 3200 meter run. Murfin added a sixth place finish with a 6:16.2 time in the 1600 meter run.

Allen scores 30

The Lady Eagles of Allen could only muster 30 points in the highly competitive meet but they maintained their dominance in the sprint relay. Allen has yet to lose this season in the 4x100 meter relay with members Amy Noe, Carla Stapleton, Missy Martinson and Candace Jones. The foursome ran to the tune of 52.1 in capturing the event on Saturday.

Denise Boyle added second place points to the Eagle total with a 16.8 effort in the 100 low hurdles. Candace Jones added a fourth place to the total with a 27.8 clocking in the 200 meter dash.

Stephanie Carlson was clocked at 53.3 in the 300 hurdles, good enough for fifth place, while Missy Martinson did the same in the 100 meter dash with a 13.1 effort. The 4x400 meter relay team also placed fifth with a 4:40.1 time. Pam Kennelly and Brandi Blohm added sixth places in the 400 and 3200 respectively. Kennelly was clocked at 64.7 in the 400 and Blohm crossed the finish line with a 14:29.9 effort.

Wakefield finishes second

In the boys competition, Ponca won handily by 11 points over runner-up Wakefield with 94 points. Following the 83 points by the Trojans came Beemer with 75 and Emerson-Hubbard with 71. Wynot rounded out the top five teams with 64 points and Winside placed sixth with 41. Rounding out the 15-team field in order of finish and score was Coleridge, 37; Homer, 24; Wausa, 18; Newcastle, 15; Bancroft-Rosalie, 12; Osmond, 6; Hartington, 4; Walthill, 2; and Allen with one.

Mark Johnson finished with two gold medals with a 2:07.4 effort in the 800 and a 4:41.6 effort in the 1600. Ken Addink added a first place in the 3200 with a 10:52.0 effort.

Mike Tuller grabbed the lone second place finish for the Trojans with a 40'7" leap in the triple jump. William Miller and John Wriedt accounted for third place points in the throws with Miller tossing the discus for a third place effort of 130'2" and Wriedt putting the shot for a third place distance of 48'8".

Others placing third for Wakefield included Brent Oetken's third place tie in the high jump with a 5'10" effort and Anthony Brown's 44.7 effort in the 300 intermediate hurdles. The Trojans' 4x400 meter relay team also finished third with a 3:34.7 effort.

Allen's only point in the meet came when Matt Hingst finished sixth in the 100 meter dash with a 12.0 clocking.

Winside notches 41

The highest individual finish a Wildcat from Winside could muster was third as Winside scored a total of 41 points in the meet. Golf team ends season

WAYNE-Wayne State's men's golf team ended its first season of varsity competition with a fifth place finish in the District 11 tournament in Lincoln.

Nebraska Wesleyan won the district tournament with a two-day score of 588 followed by Kearney State at 634, Hastings at 639, Midland at 653, Wayne State, Concordia at 675 and Dana at 684.

Individually for the Wildcats, Pat Mehrens shot a 161 followed by Jon Anthers at 163, Dave Ellis at 167, and Clint Buckingham at 171. Clark Cull is the only Wildcat who will not return for next season.

Golfers win conference

Since the inception of the Nebraska Athletic Conference, (NAC), Wayne has dominated the sport of golf. Saturday was no exception as the Blue Devils cruised to a 19-stroke victory over runner-up O'Neill in the annual conference meet, this year held in O'Neill.

Wayne's familiar foursome of Jed Reeg, Rob Reeg, Elliot Salmon and Eric Runestad once again found themselves atop the leaders in the team standings with a 317. O'Neill finished with a 336 and South Sioux combined for a 351 for third place. Hartington Cedar Catholic finished fourth with a 359.

Although Wayne could not muster the individual medalist honors as well as the team champions, they did finish second, third, fourth and fifth. Chris Snooardt of O'Neill took the individual medalist honor with a 77.

Jed Reeg finished one stroke behind the leader with 78, good enough for second while Rob Reeg notched a 79, for third place. Elliot Salmon and Eric Runestad finished with 80's but Salmon got the fourth place finish via the tie breaker.

Jason Claussen, the fifth member of varsity, turned in a 91 on the 18-hole course. "Element wise, the course was as challenging as you would want," coach Terry Munson said. "It was cold, very windy, rainy and at times it was hailing. The conditions were very extreme to say the least."

Wayne has never finished lower than first place in the conference meet, in the three years that the NAC has been in existence. Neither has the junior varsity team from Wayne.

Saturday they kept their reign on reserve championship of the conference with a 23-stroke victory over runner-up South Sioux. Wayne finished with a 353 while South Sioux managed a 376. O'Neill was third with a 413 and Hartington Cedar Catholic finished fourth with a 432.

Brian Moore came in with the top score on the reserve squad with an 87. Greg Schmidt finished with an 88 as did Kevin Hausmann, while Mike Nicholson carded a 90. Kyle Dahl was the fifth member of the junior varsity team.

Wayne will travel to Columbus Thursday for the district golf meet. The competition will be stronger this year as several teams including West Point, Elkhorn, Elkhorn Mount Michael and the Columbus schools will attempt to dethrone the previous district champs for several years, Wayne.

Lady Cats end season

The Lady Wildcats finished their softball season over the week-end with District 11 action in Omaha. Wayne State opened up district action with a 3-2 victory over St. Mary's. They lost the next two games of the double elimination tournament by a 2-0 count to Kearney State and a 6-5 count to the same St. Mary's team. Kearney State claimed the district title by defeating St. Mary's in the finals.

Wayne State thus, finishes the season with a 24-21 record under the new regime of Doug Feagan.

Bellevue defeats WSC

Bellevue College visited Lenny Klaver's Wildcats Sunday afternoon and the visitors were not gracious as they swept Wayne State with scores of 11-5 and 6-4. The double header marked the end of the regular season for both schools. Wayne State finishes the regular season with an even 26-26 mark.

In the opener, Bellevue scattered out 10 hits and sent pitcher Kevin Boham to his fifth loss of the year against four victories. Wayne State mustered six hits with the biggest coming from Mark Wewel's double. Bellevue scored 10 of its 11 runs in the first two innings.

In the nightcap Corey Weinmaster suffered only his second loss of the season from the mound and he finishes with an 8-2 record on the season. Bellevue again rapped out 10 hits enroute to its 10 runs while Wayne shelled out seven hits including a home run by Tim Wobken and a double by Rob Zulkoski.

Wayne State will now travel to Omaha Thursday for district 11 action with a 1:30 p.m. contest against Kearney State. The district 11 tournament is a double elimination contest with four teams; Wayne State, Kearney State, Bellevue, and Peru State.

"We finished the year fairly strong," coach Lenny Klaver said. "I do think we are capable of playing much better ball, we just have to do it."

Do You Have High Cholesterol?

A great deal is said and written about the hazard of high cholesterol in the blood stream. The concern is based on studies which show that about 25 percent of all adults in the United States have total blood cholesterol levels that are considered "high risk" for the development of coronary heart disease, the number one cause of death in American adults.

Readings over 240 are considered high risk. More than half of all U.S. adults have readings above 200, a figure that is now being considered marginal or "borderline high risk." The National Cholesterol Education Program has recommended that everyone in the U.S. over the age of 20 have their cholesterol level checked at least once every five years. Persons with cholesterol readings above 200 should be evaluated for possible treatment.

For many, eating foods high in fiber and restricting the intake of saturated fat (e.g., butter, cheese, and fatty meats) helps reduce blood cholesterol levels that are too high. Cholesterol lowering medicines may be prescribed if dietary measures are inadequate. Medicines usually either inhibit the normal production of cholesterol in the liver or cause the most harmful type of cholesterol to be cleared from the blood.

One thing we won't change...

State college grad numbers announced by Trustees

The four Nebraska State Colleges located at Chadron, Kearney, Peru and Wayne will graduate 1,234 students at spring commencements on May 6 and May 13. The colleges will award 64 percent of the degrees in business and numerous arts and sciences fields, with the remainder in the field of education.
 The Nebraska State Colleges have evolved as part of a national movement in higher education which has created new and unique institutions. The Carnegie Commission lists this phenomenon as one of the major higher education developments of recent decades. The phenomenon is the shift from public teachers colleges to public comprehensive colleges and universities.
 Jean Lovell, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges, said, "We are proud of what we provide in teacher education, but we're not just teachers colleges anymore and haven't been for a long time. The State Colleges have been responding to the needs of traditional and non-traditional students by offering a wide range of programs."
 Data gathered by the Nebraska Coordinating Commission for Post-secondary Education shows that, of the total baccalaureate degrees awarded in the preceding five years, business and management degrees increased from 30 percent in 1983-84 to 37 percent in 1987-88. The number of degrees awarded in areas such as the social sciences, communications and the visual and performing arts has also increased in the past five years.

MONEY, MONEY MONDAYS

The GOLDEN YEARS
By Joe Chase
 Automatic retirement at age 65 was one of life's certainties not so long ago. Says business author Peter Drucker, "No forecast I ever made was greeted with greater derision than the prediction (in 1976) that in another 10 years — mandatory retirement would be pushed beyond age 65 and that mandatory retirement at any fixed age might be altogether abolished." Congress in 1986 outlawed forced retirement at any age. The American Association of Retired Persons cites studies showing that there are no significant differences between older and younger workers in ability to learn, in absenteeism or job performance.
 Why does hair get gray? Slowing production of pigment in hair follicles is the reason. Most graying is determined by genetics and is irreversible, says the National Institute on Aging. What's more, the Institute says: "Although many people consider graying or baldness a sign of aging, neither is harmful in and of itself, nor are they generally an indication of 'aging' in any other body system."
 Remember when? April 27, 1921 — New York state police seized $30,000 in liquor from three illicit saloons, the first by state authorities to enforce Prohibition.

STYLE SHOW

Guests attending the Sunday afternoon Style Show and Salad Bar Luncheon at Trinity Lutheran Church, enjoyed a little nostalgia from long ago as well as from more modern times. Wedding dresses from 1909 up to prom dresses from 1989 were modeled along with other wedding apparel.

The oldest gown, modeled by Peg Eckert, had been worn in the Feb. 23, 1909 wedding of Peg's grandmother, Mrs. Rose Eckert. The gown was also worn twice more, on June 30, 1935 by a daughter, Elsie Eckert Janke and then on June 20, 1937 by daughter Tillie Eckert Ehlers.

Peg Eckert welcomed the approximately 50 guests and served as Mistress of Ceremonies during the show. Models included members of the Trinity Church youth group who sponsored the event, as well as a number of ladies modeling their own gowns and some of their children.

Other wedding gowns modeled included: A "traditional gown" from 1971 by model Jennifer Jacobsen; a Blue Rayon Velvet Gown from 1935, purchased from the Montgomery Ward Catalog for $18 and modeled by Jenny Jacobsen; a gown worn in 1949 by Arlene Rabe was modeled by her granddaughter Wendy Rabe; a gown from 1944 featured sheer organza trimmed in lace modeled by Jenny Jacobsen; Lois Bowers modeled her own gown worn in 1961; Angie Thompson modeled a 1969 gown worn by Barb Gallop Junck; a 1978 wedding gown that was worn by Trinity's pastor Marsha Jark Swain was modeled by Letha DuBois; a 1937 Satin floor length gown modeled by Jenny Jacobsen; a 1978 hand sewn gown modeled by Wendy Rabe; Susie Bowers modeled her own gown worn in 1984; Sue Topp modeled her own gown from 1969; a 1944 white brocade satin dress modeled by Jenny Jacobsen; a 1979 gown modeled by Wendy Rabe; Bev Gallop modeled her own dress worn in 1979; Mary Lynne Anderson modeled her own gown from 1968; a 1983 gown by Letha DuBois; a 1980 dress by model Wendy Rabe; a 1951 gown modeled by Jenny Jacobsen and Jody Gallop modeled her own dress worn in 1978. Other models included Mary Beth Junck, Laura Neel, Teresa Anderson, Rachael Rabe, Breana Bowers, Mandi Topp, Julie Jacobsen, and Barb Junck.

Prom dresses from Winside's 1989 prom were shown by Letha DuBois, Angie Thompson, Barb Junck for her daughter Pam Junck; and Jenni Topp.

The show concluded with a picture display of the original weddings and the salad bar luncheon in the church social room.

IS YOUR HISTORY DONE?

For those of you who have missed the two previous deadlines for submitting your family history to members of the Winside History Book Centennial Edition Committee, they have extended the deadline one more time to June 1.

Members met Thursday to discuss the progress. Although almost 400 histories have been received, committee members know there are numerous families in the area who have still not submitted any, said a spokesman for the group. Also a number of current businesses have not submitted any history. Pictures are needed of all businesses, past and present.

Anyone who has pictures of servicemen or women, currently or previously living in the area, should submit them with a brief summary of the branch, dates of service, overseas duty, rank and medals received.

Pictures are still needed for School Districts 16, 29, 63, and 79. All pictures used will be returned to their owners.

A brief sample outline for doing a family history would include: name of husband; date and place of birth, name of parents including mothers maiden name, educational background and other childhood information. Then use the same form for doing the wife's history. Give the date of the couple's marriage, place of residence, occupations, hobbies, religion, names and birth dates of all children and any other information desired. If you have any special memories of Winside or Winside events, please include those as personal stories—that is what makes the book much more interesting. It is desirable to have a picture with each family history if possible.

"This will probably be the only Winside History Book to be compiled for many years. It would be a real shame to leave anyone out, as each and every person has contributed in some special way to the village history," said co-chairman Veryl Jackson.

The next committee meeting will be Thursday, June 1. Give your histories to any member of the committee. They are: Bill Burris, Veryl Jackson, Dianne Jaeger, Irene Ditman, Ruby Ritze, Christine Lueker, Norma Brockmoller, Rose Janke, Daisy Janke.

GIRL SCOUTS
Fourteen Girl Scouts met with leader Peg Eckert at the Winside firehall Thursday. They set June 10 as their awards night. The group will go to Sioux City June 26-27 and will be working on the badge "Science in Action." They worked on their "Hands Around the World" Badge at this meeting.

Kate Schwedhelm served treats. The next meeting will be today (Thursday) at 3:45 p.m.
Kate Schwedhelm, Reporter.

SOFTBALL

The Trinity Lutheran Church Youth Group have scheduled Sunday afternoon, July 30 for a softball game with personnel from television channel 4 as a fund raiser for the Winside Centennial celebration. More details will be printed later.

FIRST COMMUNION

A dinner was held April 30 honoring Emily Schwedhelm upon the celebration of her first Holy Communion at St. Mary's Parish in Wayne. Emily is the daughter of Mike and Lynelle Schwedhelm. Present at the dinner in the home of her parents were Emily's brothers and sister, grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Don Schwedhelm of Hoskins and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Masur of Madison, aunts, uncles, and cousins from Norfolk, Madison and Stanton. Among the models were, pictured from left, Peg Eckert in a 1909 wedding gown worn by her grandmother, Mrs. Rose Eckert; Wendy Rabe modeling a 1949 gown; Jenny Jacobsen in a 1971 gown; and Jody Gallop in a 1978 gown.

By Pat Melerhenry

This is my 26th year as a mom. That's half my life. And now that the last cherub has moved out and the nest is empty again, I have finally learned what it takes to be a mom. It's too late to practice on my kids, so I'll have to tell them how to raise my grandchildren!

My goal in life, second only to the desire to be a nurse, was to be a mom. I loved babysitting, and I loved taking care of all my little cousins. One aunt had 11 and I was going to beat her and have a dozen.

I got married so I could have children (hopelessly old fashioned.) My first rude awakening was that pregnancy was not the glorious experience I had imagined. Coffee caused a queasy stomach. Frying meat for the Big Farmer and his helpers became a major ordeal. And it didn't just happen in the morning, it lasted all day—not for three months, but for nine!

Then came the birth process itself. I had worked in labor and delivery as a nurse. I came to believe that no nurse who had not experienced this should be working here.

NEXT WE learned that babies do not just eat and sleep. It takes them some time to get days and nights sorted out. Some are cranky just to be cranky. They are always sickest in the middle of the night.

And they heal miraculously after you finally drag them to a doctor.

We knew they didn't come potty trained, but we did not realize how long this could take!

They don't come with manners either, and with love for their siblings, a desire to share, craving for vegetables, neatness, and a natural instinct to please their parents.

Orthodontia is expensive; so are eyeglasses, French horns, and basketball shoes. Nobody teaches piano because they have nothing else to do.

Insurance rates are high for teens, especially males, and once they have an accident or a speeding ticket, they escalate.

Kids love Sesame Street, Fisher Price toys, Dr. Seuss, pets, swimming pools, trips to Grandma's house, circuses, county fairs, Christmas, old settlers, little league, and candy—not necessarily in that order.

JUST LIKE every other Mom, I'd do it differently if I could. I'd save my big guns for moral issues and not worry so much about minor ones. I'd go on more picnics and fishing trips; play more games and be silly more often.

I wouldn't be quite so upset when they were late. They'll have to experience that panic themselves before they understand. I'd yell less and say "I love you" more.

I ran across some definitions in

Woman's Day magazine that fit here:

Mother tongue: The only tongue on earth that ever had to utter "Did you flush?" to another member of its species.

Motherhood: What Mom wishes she had to cover her face while her two-year-old throws a tantrum on the Mall floor.

Mother Superior: The woman next door who, in addition to raising seven perfect children (with straight teeth and early admission to Harvard), has a full-time job, is chairwoman of several committees, grows her own organic food, plays the organ and to top it off, is a lovely person.

WORKING Mother: What a woman becomes the instant she leaves the delivery room.

Mother's helper: What every child becomes when he or she needs money.

Mother of Pearl: Mrs. Bailey. "Just like Mother used to make." Expression our children will use to remember mac and cheese and spaghetti.

Mother-to-be: Woman who still takes sleeping through the night and doing errands alone for granted.

Mother's Day: What is made each time a child says "I love you."

Have a happy one, all you Moms.
The first fifty years of my life was preparation—the rest, the Main Event.

Common goal reached

Tax relief proposal passed

Nebraska Governor Kay Orr joined six Nebraska state senators in announcing an agreement that will provide over $98 million in direct property tax relief to Nebraskans this year.

The Governor joined the sponsors of LB 84...Senators Howard Lamb of Anselmo, Scott Moore of Stromsburg, Jerry Chizek and Tim Hall of Omaha, as well as Senator Dennis Byars of Beatrice and Dave Landis of Lincoln, in releasing details of the $98.1 million relief package.

Under amendments to LB 84,

Nebraska homeowners will receive an exemption on the first $54-hundred of value on their home, or an 8.5% property tax credit, whichever is greater. All other property taxpayers will receive an 8.5% credit on their next tax statement.

"While there may have been some differences between this office and some state senators in recent weeks, we have all shared one common goal. That is to provide Nebraskans with direct property tax relief this year. This agreement will mean simple, direct relief that can be funded from revenue generated by our strong economy. It also allows us to provide an additional $18 million of income tax relief this year, making 1989 the Year of the Taxpayer" said the Governor.

The plan will distribute approximately $34 million to residential homeowners and $26 million for agricultural land. The remainder of the relief will be distributed for rental, commercial, industrial and real property, excluding vehicles.

HARD WORK AND HOMEWORK PREPARATION FOR SEMESTER EXAMS

As the Semester I exams approach, parents and students can prepare together. Solid test preparation means solid study skills. This involves time, planning, organization, notetaking, setting priorities, reviewing, and plenty of hard work and homework. Get involved in the development of these study skills by helping to coach your son or daughter through the semester exams at the end of the month.

WHERE TO START:

- Know your son's/daughter's schedule of courses.
- Know how he/she is doing in those courses. Look at report cards, warnings, tests, and homework. Ask to see them.
- Know how he/she has prepared thus far. Look at notebooks, handouts, review sheets, past exams, and textbooks.
- Know the exam schedule.

COACHING TECHNIQUES:

- Reject student attempts to shrug you off with statements that they know everything or have no work. Everyone can improve, and has work to do.
- Provide a place to study in which the student feels comfortable.
- See to it that all required materials are on hand—notebook, texts, paper and pens.
- Set a routine—a common starting time and ending time.

- Set priorities. Homework should be done before the social life begins.
- Encourage—concentrate on helping...not just finding out everything he/she doesn't know or understand.
- Ask about teacher direction—what did the teacher say was important to study? You can be sure it will be on the exam.
- Look at the material learned in September—semester exams test for the cumulative nature of learning—not just the most recent.
- ADDITIONAL TIPS FOR PARENTS OF STUDENTS UNDER Public Law 94-142
- Direction can be difficult. Some students need specific directions broken down step by step, along with concrete examples. (Oral and written)
- Expression skills need to be clear. Slow down fast handwriting so it can be read. Build confidence in oral and recitation skills.
- Memorization both long and short term might be a problem. Organization of notes, texts, and learning aids are critical to overcome this difficulty.
- Extra help is available. Mary Lou George, the special education teacher at the high school has communicated to her students and to the staff her availability to help any student who is under PL 94-142. This includes taking the final in the resource room, helping with test construction, and receiving tutorial help.
- Questions: Call the school, 375-3150 if you have questions about an assignment, course or exam. Ask to speak with me or the course teacher.

COMMUNITY CLEAN-UP

The Wakefield Community Club is urging all citizens to become involved in a clean-up campaign this week. The club has designated Friday and Saturday, May 12 and 13, as clean-up days in Wakefield. The group suggests cleaning up yards, alleys behind business places, fixing and painting and anything which will improve the looks of your neighborhood and community.

In order to help residents dispose of debris such as tree limbs and leaves, the City of Wakefield will provide free pick-up late on Friday afternoon and again on Saturday morning. Residents are reminded that this service is not for use to dispose of everyday garbage, but rather for yard trash. Citizens are asked to secure the trash by bagging or tying to keep the wind from redistributing it.

Junior high students, supervised by volunteers from the Wakefield Senior Citizens Center, will spend approximately two hours on Friday afternoon picking up litter from the streets and public areas around town.

Members of the Community Club committee coordinating the clean-up campaign are Derwin and Alice Hartman, Mardell Holm, Lowell Johnson and Edell Peterson.

JAYCEES PROJECT

As one of their projects, the Wakefield Jaycees have decided to make some improvements at the Little League/Softball Field. The group is currently seeking contributions towards this project.

Plans are to build a grandstand styled to complement the one that was built at the T-ball field last summer. Also in the discussion stage is the possibility of roofs for shade over the dugouts and a small electronic scoreboard. The Jaycees current goal is to raise $4,000 for the project.

The group's first fundraiser was to raffle with 75, 50 and 25 Wakefield Dollars as prizes. Winners were Duane Tappe, Dan Link and Pam Dutcher.

As their next fundraiser for the project, the Jaycees are considering a Fourth of July barbecue and other activities.

Donations for the projects may be given to project chairman, Tom Henderson, or any member of the Jaycees, left in containers in various Wakefield business or taken to Lori Utemark at the Wakefield National Bank. Checks may be made out to the Jaycees Ball Improvement Fund and sent in care of the Wakefield National Bank.

Provost gets honorary degree

Wayne State College's provost and vice president for academic affairs, Dr. Donald W. Whisenhunt, will be awarded an honorary degree by the Nebraska Indian Community College during spring commencement exercises May 13 on the Santee campus of the College.

Mrs. Thelma Thomas, president of the College, says the degree will recognize the generous assistance Whisenhunt has given to the Nebraska Indian Community College this year.

"I am deeply flattered and humbled by this honor," Whisenhunt says. "I have not done anything special, but I am honored that the community college sees my work with the administration and students over the past year worthy of acknowledgement."

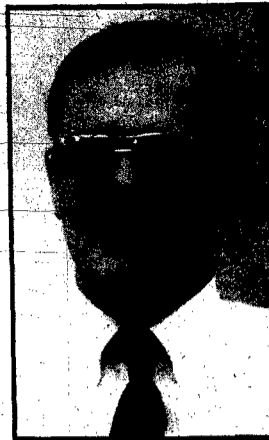

During the year, Wayne State College and the Nebraska Indian Community College have developed a close cooperative relationship.

DR. DONALD J. MASH, president of Wayne State College, directed Whisenhunt to establish a cooperative arrangement with the Indian college during the past year. Through this effort, Whisenhunt assisted students wanting to transfer to Wayne State, and he provided assistance to the community college during its reaccreditation visit this year by the North Central Association, the regional higher education accrediting agency.

Whisenhunt, a professor of history, also taught a course this year in Winnebago.

Thomas says Whisenhunt was being "honored-for-your-outstanding efforts of promoting and providing educational opportunities and services for students at Nebraska Indian Community College."

She says Whisenhunt has a "sincere belief in and great commitment to American Indian Education."

Dr. Donald Whisenhunt

WHISENHUNT HAS been provost and vice president for academic affairs at Wayne State since 1983. He served as interim president during 1985. A native Texan, Whisenhunt holds the doctorate n history from Texas Tech University. He has served higher education institutions in Kentucky, Pennsylvania, New Mexico and Texas.

Whisenhunt's wife, Betsy, teaches English at Walthill High School. The couple has two college-aged sons.

This is the first time in the history of the community college that trustees have been awarded honorary degrees. Senator Loran Schmit, Bellwood, will also receive an honorary degree.

Timely sprinkles are best when watering area lawns

Sometimes a timely sprinkle is mightier than a daily downpour, especially when it comes to lawn care, a University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension turfgrass specialist said.

Ed Kinbacher, a UNL horticulture professor, said homeowners should know how much water their lawns need and how to water, especially when this spring's continued drought makes water shortages and consequent rationing likely.

"If you water your lawn every day, you're probably wasting water," he said.

Homeowners can measure how much water their sprinkler systems deliver by placing peach cans (6 inches tall x 3 inches wide) on their lawns and running the sprinklers for about 15 minutes.

Measure the water levels in the cans and multiply by four. Kinbacher said this will tell how much the sprinkler system is delivering in an hour. With a "rainbird" type of sprinkler, place at least six cans along the sprinkler path.

In the spring and fall, he said, turf normally needs three-fourths of an inch to one inch of rain. Summer lawns require one and one-fourth inches to one and one-half inches per week.

MANY PEOPLE tend to water more than necessary in the summer, Kinbacher said. But, overwatering develops short root systems in lawns.

"The worst thing you can do is water a little bit every day," he said. "You shorten the root zone and you're very inefficient with any rainfall. If we do get some, the rain will go through that root zone and just get wasted."

The turf specialist suggests watering infrequently but deeply, which will fill the root zone. An example, would be to water deeply two days, and then not at all for five to seven days.

Also, both the grass variety and type of soil influences irrigation.

For example, Kinbacher said, water moves faster through sandy soils than clay soils. Sandy soils consequently need more frequent watering because the soils can't hold water.

With clay soils, he said, homeowners should run sprinklers for a half hour on and then a half hour off until their lawns get the proper amount of water. Water infiltrates into clay soils at one-tenth to one-third of an inch per hour. Many sprinkler systems deliver more water than this per hour.

"If irrigation takes two days, fine; you're doing it efficiently," he said.

THE HORTICULTURALIST rated buffalograss and zoysiagrasses as the most efficient water users. A turf-type buffalograss can use 50 percent to 70 percent less water than Kentucky bluegrass.

Good water users are fine leaf tall fescues, such as rebel, mustang, adventure and hounddog.

Next follow the Kentucky bluegrass varieties, such as adelphi, touchdown, glade, galaxy and baron. Perennial ryegrasses were worst rated.

Should extended drought cause water rationing, Kinbacher said, Kentucky bluegrass lawns can be allowed to go dormant. But, he added, reduce irrigation gradually and continue to water infrequently to keep roots and crown alive. The grass will turn brown but will regain its greenery once rain arrives.

"Don't cut off the water immediately," Kinbacher said. "Do it right."

Morning is the best time to water, he said. Then, there's less heat to evaporate water and less wind. During the hottest part of the day, the turf specialist recommends syringing, which is watering enough to wet the grass and keep it cool.

HOMEOWNERS should avoid using sprinklers that produce fine mists, such as sock hoses, he said. Wind buffets the mist and water tends to evaporate before it hits the yard. He said better sprinklers disperse large drops for the area and at a low angle, such as underground systems and traveling sprinklers.

"I WANT MY SON TO REMEMBER"

When the Mother's Day arrives for my son to wear a white carnation in his lapel instead of the bright red one he wears today, I hope that he will remember the things I meant to leave with him. I hope too that he forgets the unpleasant undertow which I thought was necessary to make a man of him. I want him to forgive me for the times I was wrong. These things I would have him know and remember: I always wanted desperately to take his part when he fought with the neighbor kids. He wanted me to kiss him and tell him I was on his side. But I could not. I had seen him give the first lick and heard him lose his temper. I always wanted to go to school and tell the teacher off when she accused my son of being naughty. But I could not. I knew he was no angel at home. I knew how he climbed the best furniture, hid my glasses and wrote on the wall paper. I knew he was just a chip off the old block. I always wanted to brag my head off when he won his track medal or won a first in the music contest. I wanted to go right to the telephone and call all the friends and relatives to tell them what my son had accomplished. But I could not. Instead I gave him a big kiss and told him I was very proud of him. Yet in the same breath I warned him never to let honors go to his head. I told him that this was a big world full of many capable people. Most of all, I wanted to help him avoid the pitfalls of disappointment. I wanted him to be successful in getting and keeping each job he wanted. But as reverses came, as they come to all of us sometime or another, I had to choke back my own tears and tell him to take it like a man because nobody loves a sissy. I did these things because I believe that it is not always what we think we want that is good for us. So when the day arrives for my son to wear a white carnation instead of the bright red one he wears today, I want him to know and remember that even though his mother will never be sure whether she was right or wrong, she acted in good faith, hoping that someday her son would know and understand.

HAPPY MOTHER'S DAY

Ag stats released

Early data from the 1987 Census of Agriculture show that the state had 60,502 farms, 46,888 of which had annual product sales of $10,000 or more. Land in farms totaled 45,305,441 acres, 95 percent of them in farms with $10,000 or more in sales, the Commerce Department's Census Bureau reported.

The census showed that the state's farmers and ranchers sold $6.67 billion in agricultural products and that farms with $10,000 or more in sales averaged $140,958 per farm.

Other findings: $2.14 billion or 32 percent of total agricultural sales were for crops, while $4.53 billion or 68 percent came from the sale of livestock, poultry, and their products.

The agriculture census obtains information on all identified farm and ranch operations in the United States. The Census Bureau defines a farm as any place where $1,000 or more of agricultural products were produced and sold or normally would have been sold during the census year. Sampling is used to collect data for selected items and to account for nonresponding farm operations.
