A time capsule, featuring works of the 1989 graduating Wayne-Carroll seniors, will be open on Wednesday, May 17.

Parents of the seniors can see the second showing of the time capsules at 4:15 p.m. at the Wayne-Carroll High School Lecture Hall.

Poppy day

Mayor Wayne Marsh last week proclaimed Thursday, May 18 as American Legion Auxiliary Poppy Day.

On Thursday, May 18, the red crepe paper poppy will be offered to the public by the American Legion Auxiliary of Post 43 as a reminder of the sacrifice of thousands of those serving in the four wars. Funds collected on Poppy Day are used to assist needy veterans and their families.

It is a self-help program, for the poppies are hand-made in poppy shops run by auxiliary volunteers. In these shops, disabled and hospitalized veterans make the flowers by hand. It is part of a physical therapy program by veterans for veterans.

These poppies are purchased from the shop by the Auxiliary and offered to the public for a contribution.

This memorial flower was adopted by the American Legion Auxiliary in 1921 and since that time, programs have been conducted throughout the year across the United States.

Land donation studied by city

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

Representatives of the Marywood Homes Association have proposed donating property to the city of Wayne for a park/playground area.

In exchange for the park ground donation, the association would like to see the city of Wayne take over maintenance on two east-west entry lanes to condominiums just off Linden Street on the northeast edge of the city limits.

Pat Prather, representing the Association at Tuesday's city council meeting, said the park would be on the proposed donated land located between two condominiums — the one along 14th Street and the other directly north of it.

"We would like the city to take over our proposed street set-up around the park and help with the cleaning, upkeep and maintenance of the street," said Prather.

City Administrator Phil Kloster told the council that presently, the city owns eight lots east of the condominiums. This is property that was returned to the city after special assessments for street, water and sewer projects became delinquent, he said.

A QUESTION was asked about whether the city council would be willing to assume more financial obligations with the establishment of another street improvement district.

Kloster said the city is currently developing a central park area on the east side of Providence

Medical Center. That park will be similar to Bressler Park with a shelter and playground equipment and public restrooms to go along with the mayoral trees planted at the park during the Wayne Centennial Year in 1984.

Prather said the donated land for the park was being offered to enhance the appearance of the area. She said the park mentioned by Kloster was "far removed from the park-Marywood Association is proposing."

Parks require upkeep and maintenance, Kloster said. He said the city has enough parks "that we feel we can afford to take care of."

However, Prather said the 200 feet long by 100 feet wide area proposed to be donated by Marywood Association has a lot of children within the vicinity. "Parents will not want their children to walk down to a park along Providence Road," she said.

PRESENTLY the east-west streets that pass by the condominiums are not wide enough to meet the dimension standards for city streets, according to Don Siefken, city planner.

What the city would like to do is to get someone interested in purchasing the lots from the city located east of the present condominiums. Perhaps then, establishment of a street improvement district would be beneficial if more condominiums would be built in the area, according to Mayor Wayne Marsh. Council member Larry Johnson said there hasn't been any increase in

Hospital stays open

The Wakefield City Council unanimously voted Thursday evening to delay a decision on closing of the Wakefield Health Care Center Hospital until June 15.

Prior to the Thursday evening city council meeting, the Wakefield hospital board voted by a 7-1 margin to recommend that the city council consider closing the facility.

The city council decided to keep the staff on at the hospital at full salary until the June 15 date.

Estimated cost to operate the hospital for month is at approximately $20,000.

During that time, the hospital health care board will continue looking at various options in recruiting physicians or satellite clinics in the community.

Approximately 95 people attended Thursday's council meeting. A straw poll vote was taken at the meeting, with a majority in favor of delaying any type of action on the hospital until June 15.

For housing West Wayne Children's Program

ESU to explore options

By LaVon Anderson
Assistant Editor

The board of directors of Educational Service Unit One has formed a committee to look into the possibility of leasing or purchasing a building in Wayne to house the West Wayne Children's Program for behaviorally impaired youngsters.

The committee, comprised of board members Marion Arneson, Marvin Borg and Randy Hummel, along with ESU 1 Special Education Director Duane Tappe, was appointed Tuesday night following an announcement by ESU 1 Administrator Rodney Garwood that the building which had been used to house the West Wayne Children's Program has been rented to the telephone company.

The West Wayne Children's Program was located in the former Modern Energy Systems building on West Highway 35. Garwood said ESU 1 had rented a portion of the building for the program, however owner Ron Lage had the opportunity to rent the entire building to the telephone company.

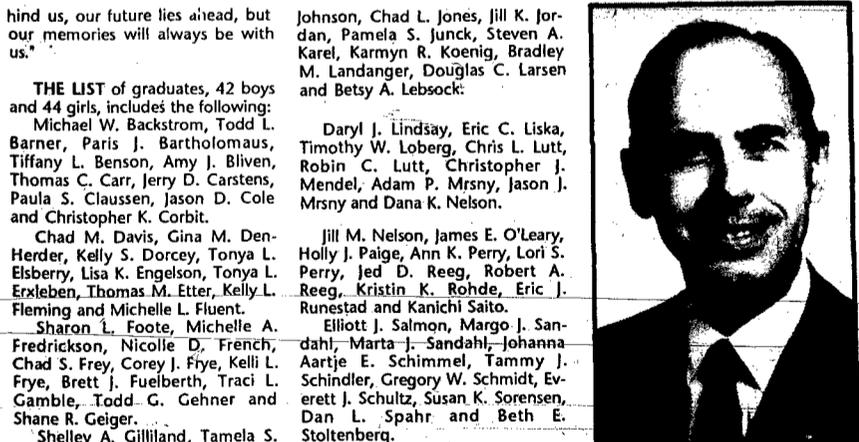

"There are certainly no hard feelings and we can't blame Lage for taking the opportunity to rent the entire building to someone else," said Garwood, "however it leaves us short a building."

IN OTHER BUSINESS Tuesday night, ESU 1 board members unanimously approved a plan for ESU 1 to develop a computer curriculum, in cooperation with Wayne State College, at a cost of approximately $5,000.

Garwood said the curriculum would be distributed free of

Support sought for Wayne Kinship Program

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

Efforts are underway to start up a steering committee for a Kinship Program in the Wayne community.

Kinship is a program that matches adult volunteers with boys and girls, ages five and older. The goal — to befriend a child who, for a variety of reasons, needs a special relationship with an adult who cares.

The Kinship Program's sponsor is Wayne's Ecumenical Campus Ministry and the National Kinship Organization. A public meeting on the proposed Wayne Kinship Program has been set for Thursday, May 18, 7:30 p.m. at the Campus Ministry headquarters.

Rev. Bev Nitschke, Wayne State College campus minister, said the Kinship program originated 25 years ago and was started by Lutheran Seminary students in St. Paul who wanted to do some outreach work in their community.

The work of the seminary students caught the interest of Scott Jordan, then a member of the Wayne State College Student Senate. "He wanted to work with the college on the program, to possibly develop a system where the students could receive credit hours from the program. But that turned out to be too complicated to do," said Nitschke.

SO THE NEXT step taken was to try and organize a flexible local Kinship Program unit in the Wayne community.

"We're looking for some key community support. It's out there. It's just that the program will take some time to get into place," Nitschke said.

Nitschke said she has consulted with service agency representatives and school system officials. "Most of them feel there is a real need for this type of [Kinship] program," she said.

Richard Miller of Cozad, who is active in the Kinship Program there, will be offering insight on the special program during Thursday's public meeting in Wayne. In Cozad, the sponsoring organizations of the Kinship Program are the Optimist Club and the National Kinship Organization.

Nitschke said one route for the Wayne community to go is to establish a Board of Directors who would appoint an executive director. Coordinators would then work under the executive director to recommend the matches of children and adults.

"We would hope that by fall, the program will be in place and well on the way. Still, it could be

Nebraska flicks

The movie industry was in its infancy 75 years ago, but that didn't stop some enterprising Nebraskans from getting in on the ground floor. The Black Hills Feature Film Company of Chadron, Nebraska was organized in 1915 with the intention of producing a movie about Wild Bill Hickok and Calamity Jane.

And produce they did. Using a script penned by Mrs. James Hartzell, and featuring local citizens A. J. Johnson and Freda Romine in the principal roles, the company made a seven-reel western thriller. Cavalry from Fort Robinson and Indians from the Pine Ridge reservation recreated their formerly hostile roles for the film.

"In the Days of '75 and '76" opened to rave reviews in 1916. "The picture is a marvel of movies. Every scene is taken from the real article and the characters are so true and familiar to us as to almost demand speaking recognition. This picture has cost the Black Hills Film Company hours of hard and hazardous labor, to say nothing of money cost. No finer scenery is to be seen on any screen in America today. Wild Bill and Calamity Jane are a pair of the never-dying type of pioneers."

CHADRON CITIZENS were not the only enthusiasts. Audiences in Wayne, Tekamah and Hartington, Nebraska, and Douglas and Lusk, Wyoming agreed "there is not a Wild West film going the rounds this season that is anything to compare with the Wild Bill and Calamity Jane output."

Ads for the film included a synopsis that promised thrills and chills. The movie followed the love affair of Wild Bill and Calamity Jane, "showing their life and dealings with the Indians, the attack by the Indians on the wagon train, the thrilling drive of Calamity Jane driving the stage coached loaded with gold bullion from Deadwood to Sidney, and the holdup of the stage by Jack McCall's gang." Wild Bill's death, at the hands of the jealous Jack McCall, and McCall's subsequent conviction, brought the film to a tragic but just conclusion.

If the "greatest picture ever staged of the real western life" sounds too good to miss, you're in luck. The state's first film is coming soon to a theater near you. Thanks to the Nebraska State Historical Society and the Nebraska Committee for the Humanities, "In the Days of '75 and '76" will tour 10 communities this summer.

THE FILM has been restored and edited, and a piano "silent movie" soundtrack has been added. The film will "re-premiere" in its hometown, Chadron, on May 23. Screenings are scheduled for May 24 in Ogallala and May 25 in McCook, Norfolk, Ainsworth and Broken Bow will host the film in June.

Viewers in Lincoln, Omaha, Grand Island and Peru will get their chance in August. For more information about the free showings, contact Andrea Paul or Paul Eisloeffel, NSHS, P.O. Box 82554, Lincoln, NE 68501.

Viewpoint

Dealing with vandals

How unfortunate it is to see vandalism to any building, trees or other facilities within a community. What does a person gain by breaking a window, such as what happened Thursday evening at Karel's Building on Main Street, or the damage of one of Wayne's beautification project trees along Second Street in downtown Wayne?

Some may think of it as fun. Most call it stupid. Know the difference.

Halsey gets Blue Key award

Dr. Kenneth Halsey, professor of business at Wayne State College, was presented the Blue Key "Outstanding Faculty Award" this year at Wayne State.

The award, which is voted upon by students, is presented by Blue Key each year at commencement exercises. This is the second time Halsey has received the award.

"I was so overwhelmed when they announced it at commencement that I missed an opportunity to thank the students," Halsey said.

"I wish I could have just stepped up and said 'thank you' but I was overwhelmed. I had a lump in my throat and knew nothing would come out. I just want everybody to know that I am very thankful for the award."

Halsey taught at Wayne State College from 1971 to 1974, then returned to Wayne in 1987. In between, he served in a variety of administrative positions, including vice president and acting president, at Black Hills State College.

Halsey received his bachelor's degree from Southern State College, Springfield, South Dakota; master's degree from South Dakota State University; and doctoral degree from the University of Northern Colorado.

Major amendment is adopted

The battle over property tax relief apparently is over. Late last week the Legislature adopted a major amendment to LB 84. The amendment resulted from a compromise between the Governor and the Legislature and corrects possible constitutional problems in LB 84.

The amendment irons out some of the differences between the Governor and the Legislature. The Governor had been concerned about the caps contained in LB 84 and the fact it had not included personal property. The Governor's own property tax relief bill had been in competition with LB 84. Her proposal now will be dropped from consideration and she will apparently back the urban-rural compromise. Also the significance of the compromise is property tax relief will almost assuredly result this year.

With a few minor changes in the figures, the compromise follows a method I had proposed in an amendment earlier this month. The bill, as amended, is for one year and reduces the assessed valuation of property by 8.5 percent. Approximately $98 million will be apportioned among various types of property. Homeowners will receive the largest share of the program. Agricultural land will then get the next largest chunk, followed by commercial and industrial property, residential rental property, personal property, and, finally, by centrally assessed property.

THE FORMULA of the program varies slightly for homeowners. Those of you who own homes are eligible for the 8.5 percent reduction or a $5,400 homestead exemption whichever is greater. To receive the largest tax break, some things should be pointed out. The 8.5 percent reduction is taken automatically. If the homeowner wishes to take the $5,400 reduction, they must file an application with the assessor's office by Sept. 1, 1989.

By Sen. Gerald Conway

Deciding which reduction to take is relatively simple. If your home is valued at $63,529 or less a greater tax savings results from the $5,400 exemption. If the value of your home is greater than $63,529, the automatic 8.5 percent gives greater relief.

The program is for the current 1989 year property taxes. Because property taxes are paid in arrears, the reduction will show up next year when property taxes are paid. Those with mortgage payments will also receive their reduction in house payments next year.

Most senators still object to the fact that large corporations and wealthy homeowners receive a larger share of the relief than senators would like. One of the Legislature's major goals for property tax relief was to give relief to those taxpayers who need it. To this end, limits had been placed on each of the property tax relief proposals.

However, after an Attorney General's opinion expressed constitutional concerns regarding the caps, an across the board reduction was favored over a possible court battle.

House banking committee

Gives final approval on bill

The House Banking Committee, on which I serve, gave its final approval to the Financial Institutions Reform, Recovery and Enforcement Act on May 2. The vote to approve the bill was 49 to 2, with Congressmen Joe Kennedy of Massachusetts and Jim Leach of Iowa dissenting. The bill, which recapitalizes the FSILIC and financially insolvent thrift associations, was made stronger by recent actions of the House Banking Committee.

This is a bill that we needed at least two years ago, and it is a $100 billion mess that former Banking Committee Chairman Fernand St. Germain and Speaker Jim Wright and earlier actions by previous administrations could have helped to prevent. In my judgment, Texas, which has more than 65% of the total national problems, ought to be picking up more of the cost of this appalling mess. It is an extraordinary shift of expenses that sprang up in one area, Texas, to the backs of taxpayers and depositors all over the country.

AT EVERY opportunity, I support efforts to make the perpetrators bear more of the responsibility for this problem. Deregulation of the S & L industry in the early 1980's, coupled with loose Federal oversight and regulation, enabled hundreds of thrift institutions, especially those in Texas, California and Florida, with the broader powers and looser regula-

Keeping In Touch

By Cong. Doug Bereuter

Coelho asked Wright to intervene in the process and keep the 1987 recapitalization as small as possible. Given their state-chartered institutions, to expand into very risky, non-traditional real estate activities.

Direct investment by S & L's in commercial real estate ventures, including shopping malls, vacation resorts, office buildings and other speculative investments, turned sour when the oil and agricultural economy of the Southwest worsened in the early 1980's.

A second major problem was outright fraud on the part of a few S & L owners. Ironically, Congress provided a recapitalization of FSILIC in 1987 as part of the Competitive Equality Banking Act. If sufficient money had been provided by Congress then, it would not be working on a $100 billion or more bill today. However, as Brooks Jackson traces in the book "Honest Graft", S & L owners from Texas who were close friends of House Speaker Jim Wright and Tony

The bill reported out by the House Banking Committee is a stronger bill on capital requirements than the original Bush Administration Bill. And we attempted to deal with the problem of state-chartered systems. Also, it provides additional independence for regulators to hire sufficient numbers of auditors and enough money to keep quality audit and examination staff. These are powers that the FDIC already has.

THE BILL determines how much money S & L's must have invested in their companies in the form of equity capital. Traditionally, banks have been required to have as much as six percent capital. S & L's requirements have been substantially lower, and many of the S & L's which are operating at significant losses today have negative net worths.

Last week the House Banking Committee voted to increase the core capital requirements for S & L's up to three percent, of which no more than one-fourth can be in intangible capital. The other three-fourths must be tangible capital such as common stock, preferred stock or retained earnings. By January, 1995, all three percent of core capital must be tangible capital.

Institutions that cannot meet the capital requirements may apply for an exemption by filing a business plan with their regulator. This exemption allows a profitable institution with an accounting problem to remain in business and eventually work its way out of an under-investment/regulatory problem. Most of the institutions not meeting the timetable will be prevented from growing, or expanding their deposit and asset base.

In addition, the House bill includes a provision to increase the amount of housing available for low-income families—those with incomes under 50% of area median income. The provision would require the Resolution Trust Corporation, which will dispose of more than $200 billion in troubled assets from failed institutions, to give poor home buyers and non-profit groups a three-month option to buy low-priced residential property.

Much credit for the strong bill should go to Banking Committee Chairman Henry Gonzalez of Texas. He did a really fine job. He was not at all parochial, partisan, or unfair as the Committee worked on this bill. Indeed, in most instances it was a combination of Republican and Democratic leadership that helped to strengthen the legisla-

More farmers considering irrigation equipment rental

The low amount of precipitation from the past crop year and during the off-season has caused many farmers to consider purchasing or renting irrigation equipment, according to University of Nebraska Extension Irrigation Specialist Bill Kranz.

A common question farmers are asking is how much is an acceptable amount to charge or pay for renting irrigation equipment, Kranz said.

The equipment to be rented will determine part of the cost. Several different rental arrangements can be made, according to UNL Farm Management Specialist Timothy Powell. In a minimum rental agreement, the owner must cover the variable operating costs. At maximum, he can expect to cover total costs (variable, fixed and a normal profit). Powell feels the best rental arrangement for the owner is to charge a fixed rental rate plus operating costs. With this method, the owner is sure to get a consistent return from the rental equipment.

FOR EXAMPLE, to irrigate 125 acres, charging 45 to 50 dollars per acre for a pump, motor and center pivot plus one to five dollars per acre inch would not be excessive. For Northeast Nebraska, eight to 10 inches of water is commonly needed during an average season.

"Farmers renting equipment could be looking at anywhere from eight to 50 dollars per acre in annual operating costs," Powell said.

Another rental arrangement that may be made is to rent on the number of inches of water used. With this system, however, the equipment owner doesn't receive much money during a wet year and the renter pays a higher amount during a dry year. Using the fixed rate plus operating costs provides both the renter and the owner more consistent payments.

Anyone needing more information on irrigation system rental may contact Kranz or Powell at the University of Nebraska Northeast Research and Extension Center at Concord.

Centre plans special week

The Wayne Care Centre will be celebrating National Nursing Home Week May 14-20, with some old and some new activities for the residents, their families and the community.

This event commences on Mother's Day and continues throughout the week. On Sunday, the care centre expects one of the largest visitation periods as families visit their Mothers in honor of the national holiday.

Monday will feature popcorn and a movie, "The Bridge of Adam Rush."

Lois Siefken will be playing the organ on Tuesday and in the evening, the residents will be treated to a candlelight dinner recognizing the "resident volunteers."

Wednesday afternoon there will be a card party and that night, 7:30 p.m., the Care Centre will sponsor a town hall meeting. Administrator Gil Haase will moderate and department heads will be on hand to visit and discuss with those in attendance. As in all such meetings, politicians and local dignitaries are invited. Senator Conway, due to the legislature being in session, has had to decline. All families and friends are invited and refreshments will be served.

The monthly birthday party will be on Thursday and Friday, and the Centre will be hosting the weekly Chamber coffee at 10 a.m.

Concluding the week will be the planting of the facility garden, starting at 9 a.m. Assisting the residents will be the Roving Gardeners and the Lutheran Brotherhood.

Their work will be followed at noon with a pot luck picnic/luncheon.

Haase also stated that the residents have a very busy activity schedule as put together by the director, June Baier, and other staff members and volunteers.

News and Notes

By Mary Temme, Extension Agent-Home Ec

Your child, money and you

Today's children and teens have more money than ever to spend and more pressure from peers and advertising to spend it.

Summer jobs can increase your child's spending power. If you're feeling your child has an unhealthy attitude about money, remember that a pattern of overspending cannot be broken overnight. Start with you, the parent. What example are you setting? Are you in hock up to your ears? Are you a brand-name disciple or an impulse buyer? Do you use shopping as a pastime or as a way to handle depression or stress? Do you buy gifts for your children because you feel guilty for not spending your time and attention with them? Get your own house in order, so to speak, before you attempt to help your child learn to control spending.

For a major purchase or for one you don't think is necessary such as designer jeans, offer to pay part of the cost if they earn the rest. But remember it's OK to say no if the wanted item is not consistent with family values.

Ask your child to keep track of where they spend money for a week. Then set down and tally up necessities and wants.

Children never learn to budget money if parents constantly bail them out of financial trouble. Nor is it wise to advance allowance money. Far better is a loan with strict repayment terms. For an older child, charge fair interest to give a taste of the real world.

Learning to make choices and follow a spending plan isn't easy for children. Or adults either in many cases. Helping children to develop good judgment about money gives them a head start to money management in adult years.

"Your Child, Money and You" is a packet of materials that answers many of the questions parents have about teaching children to manage their money. Different age groups from preschool to teenagers are considered and helpful suggestions given for each.

The extension service has these packets available for a small fee. Contact the Wayne Extension office at 375-3310 and order the packet "Your Child, Money and You."

Wayne qualifies in eleven events

Thursday marked the culmination of the track season for many area athletes. However, as one Wayne Thincad said, coach Rocky Ruhl went around all week with the saying, "Peak Week".

What Ruhl of course was referring to, was athletes peaking at district time which would propel them into the state track meet next weekend at Omaha's Burke Stadium.

That's exactly what the Wayne girls did as they qualified seven girls in nine events for the state meet. Considering that last year none of the Wayne girls qualified for state, what they have accomplished this year is nothing short of spectacular.

Kristy Hansen will spearhead the Lady Blue Devils into Omaha this year as she qualified for state in four events. Miss Hansen placed third in the 100 meter dash with a 12.9 clocking, fourth in the 200 meter dash with a 27.1 effort and was a part of both qualifying relay teams which finished second each.

The sprint relay team consisting of Hansen, Danielle Fallesen, Dana Nelson and Tonya Erxleben finished just behind Hartington Cedar Catholic's foursome with a 52.9 time. Hansen and teammates Holly Paige, Teresa Ellis and Tammy Geiger ran to a second place time of 10:19.4 in the 3200 meter relay which unofficially is a new school record.

Freshman Tammy Geiger will participate in three events at the state meet in her first year of varsity track. Geiger placed second in the 400 meter dash with a 63.9 effort and she placed fourth in the 800 meter run with a 2:28.8 time. Geiger is also a member of the 3200 meter relay team.

Teresa Ellis will participate in the 3200 meter run at state following her fourth place effort of 13:19.04 at districts. Ellis too, is a member of the 4x800 relay. Danielle Fallesen, also a freshman and Tonya Erxleben are also going to compete in two events at the state meet as both qualified as members of the sprint relay team and both qualified in the high jump.

Fallesen won the high jump with a 5'0" effort and Erxleben placed third with a 4'11" leap.

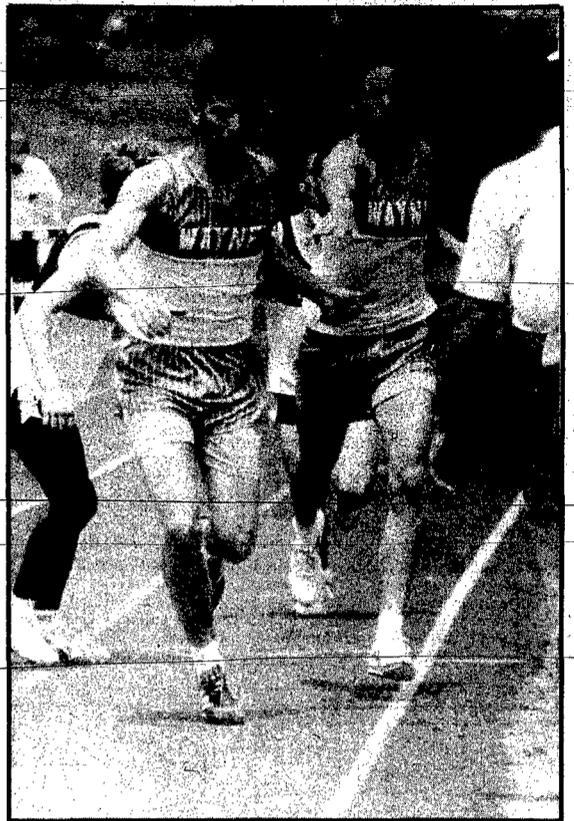

Other scoring by the Blue Devils, which came up with a team total of 61 points, good enough for third behind district champions Columbus Scotus and runner-up Blair, came in the 1600 where Holly Paige placed fifth with a time of 5:59.2. Heidi Reeg placed sixth for Wayne in the shot put with an effort of 32'10 1/2".

Boys qualify in two events

The Wayne boys qualified two different relay teams which accounted for all the scoring the boys could muster as they finished with 18 points. The 3200 meter relay team consisting of Greg DeNaeyer, Adam Mrsny, Craig Dyer and Willy Gross, ran to a second place time of 8:34.8. The time was the foursome's best of the year and what a time to do it. All four of these members are only juniors.

The 1600 meter relay team was pushed by West Point, but the Blue Devils came away with first place honors with a time of 3:32.6. West Point finished with a 3:32.7. The winning foursome includes Greg DeNaeyer, Casey Dyer, Craig Dyer and Willy Gross.

CRAIG DYER hands the baton off to Willy Gross and pushes him off in the final leg of the 3200 meter relay. Wayne finished second and qualified for state.

TERESA ELLIS runs light-footed around the track in the third leg of the runner-up 3200 meter relay. Wayne ran its best time of the year in the relay with a 10:19.4.

Scramble results

WAYNE-Results of the Knights of Columbus 3-man scramble from last week reveal that the three-some of Goodwin-Erikson-Erwin, from Iowa, won the annual event with a 10-under par 62. Sturm-Sturm-Sturm finished just two strokes back with a 64 and second place honors. Pollard-Whiteman-Clave finished third.

The three-some of Nelson-Nelson-Nelson won the second flight while Warnake-Winman-Fritz placed second and Johnston-Muller-Heilman finished third. Melena-Morris-Voss took first in the third flight while Gardner-Stoltenberg-Utmark placed second and Kaup-Pekarek-Ritzdorf placed third.

Trojans win C-3

Wakefield, Laurel and Allen were all involved in area district track action Thursday with Wakefield at the C-3 district in Lyons, and Laurel and Allen at the C-4 district in Plainview.

The Wakefield boys captured the district title by a single point as they edged Emerson-Hubbard, 95-94. Lyons placed third with 77 and Tekamah-Herman was fourth with 75. Bancroft, Oakland-Craig, Homer, Winnebago, Pender, Walthill and Macy rounded out the field in order of finish.

The Trojans had five qualifiers for the state meet next weekend in Omaha. John Wriedt qualified with a second place shot put of 48'9 3/4" while Mike Tuller placed second in the triple jump with a 39'11" leap. Mark Johnson placed second and qualified with a 4:58.3 time in the 1600 and Tony Krusemark placed second in the 110 meter high hurdles with a 15.8 clocking. Freshman Brent Oetken also qualified with a second place time of 54.3 in the 400 meter dash.

The Wakefield girls placed fourth in the team standings with 63 points and four events qualifying for state. Lyons won the meet with 106 1/2 points and Oakland-Craig placed second with 80. Homer was third with 70 and following Wakefield in order of finish was Tekamah-Herman, Emerson-Hubbard, Pender, Walthill, Bancroft-Rosalie, Winnebago and Macy.

Julie Greve won the 800 meter run with a 2:32.9 effort while Laurie Plendl captured both the 1600 and 3200 meter runs with times of 5:52.1 and 12:49.3. Wakefield's 3200 meter relay team consisting of Greve, Plendl, Cathi Larson and Kristen Miller also took top honors with a 10:57.9 effort.

Laurel qualifiers Plainview was the site of the C-4 district where Laurel and Allen were taking part. For the second consecutive year Allen failed to qualify anyone for the state track meet. Laurel's girls also failed to qualify anyone for state but the Laurel boys rounded up 60 points to finish fifth in the district and qualified three events for state.

Troy Twohig qualified in two events, the high jump and the triple jump. Twohig high jumped 5'8 1/2" and triple jumped 40' for second place in both and a state berth in each. Brian Penne qualified for state by winning the long jump with a leap of 20'4 1/2".

GREG DENAEYER sprints out of the starting blocks in the 400 meter dash. Willy Gross is holding the blocks and Craig Dyer looks on. DeNaeyer failed to qualify for state in the open 400, but is going in two relays.

Winside to embark on Omaha

The Lady Wildcats of Winside finished in the runner-up slot of the D-4 district track meet at Wayne State Wednesday afternoon with a team total of 69 points. Niobrara finished first with 78 and Humphrey finished third with 65. Coleridge and Clarkson rounded out the top five with 57 and 47 points each. Lindsay Holy Family, Newcastle, Humphrey St. Francis, Wynot, Wausa, St. Edward and Santee rounded out the field of 12 in order of finish.

Jenny Jacobsen qualified for the state meet next week in Omaha in four different events. The freshman sensation won the 100 and 200 meter dashes and placed second in the 400 meter dash and the long jump. Miss Jacobsen was clocked at 12.7 in the 100, 26.4 in the 200, 61.0 in the 400 and jumped 15.6 in the long jump. Kristy Miller qualified for the state meet by placing second in the high jump with a 5'1" effort and Tina Hartmann qualified for the state meet in the 100 low hurdles with a 17.1 clocking.

Those which placed at the district meet but did not qualify for state included Wendy Boldt's performances in both the 100 low hurdles and the 300 low hurdles. Miss Boldt set a new Winside school record in the 300 hurdles with a 50.7 clocking. Boldt finished fourth in the event as well as placing fourth in the 100 low hurdles with a 17.7 clocking.

Patty Oberie placed fourth in the 3200 meter run with a 13:35.0 effort and Shawn Janke placed fourth in the shot put with a 32.5' put. Jenni Topp placed sixth in the discus with a 93'2" toss.

Boys place fifth
Although Tim Jacobsen qualified for the state meet in the long jump with a second place leap of 19'11 3/4", Winside failed to qualify anyone else in Wednesday's meet. That's the bad news. The good news is that comparing the times of all the other D districts, Winside qualified a few more people for the state meet.

It was still unofficial at press time, but it looked as though Steve Heinemann qualified with a 1600 meter effort of 4:49.9, and Max Kant qualified in the 300 intermediate hurdles with a third place time of 42.6. (His personal best). Winside's sprint relay team of Max Kant, Tim Jacobsen, Vince White and Cory Jensen also qualified with a 46.6 effort at the district meet.

Winside placed fifth in the district meet with 55 points. Wynot won the team title with 84 and Coleridge finished second with 79. Humphrey St. Francis and St. Edward finished third and fourth with 71 and 68 points each. Following Winside in order of finish was Newcastle, Niobrara, Clarkson, Humphrey, Wausa, Santee and Lindsay Holy Family.

Tim Jacobsen finished third in the 100 meter dash with an 11.8 time and fourth in the 200 meter dash with a 23.9 time. Brian Thompson notched a third place finish in the shot put with a put of 46'3" and Vince White placed fifth in the 100 meter dash with a 12.1 effort. White also placed fifth in the 400 meter dash with a 54.7 time.

Winside's mile relay also placed fifth with a 3:45.9 time and Darren Wacker placed fifth in the 110 meter high hurdles with a 17.9 clocking. Sixth place finishes went to Jeff Gallop with a 5'10" high jump, Cory Jensen with an 18'4" long jump and the two mile relay with a 9:04.0 effort.

JENNY JACOBSEN strains to get to the finish line ahead of her competitor.

MAX KANT hurdles his way to the state track meet with a 42.6 effort in the 300 meter intermediate hurdles.

Linksters win again

For the fifth consecutive year the Wayne Blue Devil linksters have traveled to the district competition and walked away with the district title. This particular group of seniors have been a part of four of those titles and they would very much like to end their high school golf careers with a state title as well.

Wayne will have to be one of the favorites at this year's state golf meet for Class B, not only because they are traditionally always around the top of the state in golf, but also because this year's meet is in Wayne, next Thursday.

Despite the extreme windy conditions and the toughness of the course in Columbus, Wayne finished 23 strokes ahead of runner-up West Point with a 322 team score. Columbus Scotus was the third team to qualify for state with a 353. Other teams competing included Arlington, Blair, Columbus Lakeview, Elkhorn, Elkhorn Mount Michael, Hartington Cedar Catholic, Schuyler and Wahoo.

The toughest thing the Blue Devils had to overcome was themselves. Eric Runestad and Rob Reeg finished the 18-hole course with a 79 and a playoff had to determine the medalist. Runestad came out on top while Reeg finished in the runner-up slot. Elliot Salmon won a playoff over Hartington Cedar Catholic's John Neuhalfen for third place honors as both golfers carded 81's. West Point's Chad Kurlmel finished in the number five position with an 82 and Matt Richmond of Wahoo finished sixth with an 82 as well. Jed Reeg, the fourth member of the familiar Wayne golf team, finished in the seventh slot with an 83. Kevin Hausmann was the fifth member of the Wayne varsity team.

"Playing this tough of a golf course is to our advantage," coach Terry Munson said. "Our guys really play a straight ball and they don't make a lot of mistakes."

Counting the group of four players strokes on holes, Wayne suffered just a pair of double bogeys during the whole day. Elliot Salmon, Eric Runestad and Rob Reeg managed to play the 18-hole course without a double bogey.

"To play this tough of a course without a double bogey shows consistency," Munson said. "And that's a real tribute to the guys because when they get into a position where they have a bad shot, they always recover well with a good chip or whatever it takes."

Fifteen teams will invade the Wayne Country Club next week in quest for the elusive Class B Golf Crown. There will also be an additional 15 to 20 individuals who qualified for state but the teams they play on did not qualify.

Softball league begins Monday

On Tuesday at the same time "B" League action gets underway with double header action featuring Dave's Body Shop vs. Lindner Construction; Farm Bureau Insurance vs. Ellingson Motors; Hardees vs. KTCH.

League will continue through July and the first part of August with the "A" League tournament on Sunday, August 6, and the "B" League tournament, Sunday, August 13.

Sutton publishes poem

WAYNE-Glen Sutton, a Wayne State football player, published his first poem, "Reach for the Stars," in the Omaha Star on March 23.

Sutton said his poem is about children having goals and being able to reach those goals if they want to. The stars in the poem represent angels in Heaven and the people who have reached their goals. The stars in the skies you see at night symbolize people, Sutton said.

"Reach for the Stars" is Sutton's first published piece, but the junior from Omaha said he likes to read poetry and writes it on occasion. This particular poem Sutton thought about while walking one night. He then thought about it for several days before putting it down on paper.

Sutton's parents submitted the poem to the Star. A graduate of Omaha Creighton Prep, Sutton is a junior psychology major at Wayne State. He was a starting cornerback on last year's football team.

Eight members were present Wednesday when the St. Paul's Lutheran Ladies Aid and LWML met at the church fellowship hall.

Mrs. Dennis Junck was in charge of devotions and read an Ascension prayer and also Psalm 9. The group sang "What a Friend we have in Jesus," accompanied by Mrs. Arthur Cook.

Mrs. Junck, vice president, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Murray Leicy reported on the last meeting and Mrs. Gerry Hurlbert read the treasurer's report.

CF was first identified in 1938 and there are now 120 Research Centers throughout the United States. This disease is genetic. Symptoms are similar to pneumonia or emphysema and affect three different systems of the body: lungs, pancreas and sweat glands.

There are presently 30,000 CF children in the U.S. and although half live to be 20 years of age, the others are usually dead by age 7 to 10. Present treatment includes bronchial drainage, antibiotic therapy and dietary management.

Farmers need to apply now for feed programs

Farmers short of hay should apply now for emergency feed programs through the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office.

Lynn Lutgen, University of Nebraska agricultural economist, said there are two little-known programs — the Emergency Feed Program and the Emergency Feed-Assistance Program — which are important to apply for "as soon as possible after your county has been declared a disaster area." He made his comments during the weekly meeting of the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources Agricultural Situation Outlook Committee May 8.

The Emergency Feed Program is based on the amount of hay and grain on hand at the date of application. It gives farmers a direct cost payment.

"If the second crop looks good, farmers then will be out of the program and the first cash payment will not be asked to be returned. But it is important — even if a producer does not know how to fill out the application — to at least go to the ASCS office and start the form. The payment cost is figured on per head, per day, per pound basis," Lutgen said.

The second program, the Emergency Feed-Assistance Program, allows qualifying farmers to purchase government grain in the CCC stocks.

THIS DROUGHT finds Nebraska's topsoil and subsoil moisture conditions 88 percent sort of normal compared to last year's topsoil measure of 20 percent short and 72 percent adequate and 8 percent surplus, said Bill Dobbs, agricultural statistician at the State Department of Agriculture.

The lack of rain and soil moisture has Don Westover of the Department of Forestry, Fisheries and Wildlife, concerned for grass fires.

"It's fairly alarming right now," Westover said. "This year we have already matched and surpassed the 50,000 acres burned in fires. We started this year less green than last year. We really need the rain."

Westover said persons who have buildings near land set in the government Conservation Reserve Program might consider plowing a firebreak for protection. Meanwhile, he said people can check the national Weather Service fire danger ratings to see if the potential for fires is rated in the very high to extreme range.

Furrow irrigationists who planted in plowed fields are discovering the fields need water now, reported Darrell Watts, agricultural engineer. However, furrow irrigation may have too much silt flowing with it which could cover up sprouts.

Some farmers are considering driving a light tractor over the furrows to firm the bottom before letting the water through, Watts said, but "it's a toss-up whether it will help or not."

Lutgen noted irrigation costs may increase 10 percent over last year's high.

charge to schools throughout the six-county area served by ESU 1.

Board members also heard a report by Garwood concerning the management of ESU 1 assets.

Last month, board members authorized the administration to invest $300,000 in the Commercial State Bank at Hoskins for 90 days and $200,000 in the Bank of Dixon County for 180 days, with the $200,000 to be divided between the Bank of Dixon County, located in Ponca, and the American State Bank in Newcastle.

The board also voted to require that U.S. government securities be pledged for deposits in excess of $100,000 at the Hoskins Commercial State Bank.

Garwood reported to board members Tuesday night that because the Hoskins Commercial State Bank declined to pledge U.S. government securities, only $100,000 was transferred to the Hoskins bank.

BOARD MEMBERS Tuesday night also:

—Heard reports from the legislative and building and grounds committees. The board voted unanimously to proceed with various repairs to the ESU 1 central office in Wakefield.

—Voted unanimously on a motion by John Post of Bloomfield to ratify the 1989-90 negotiated settlement between the ESU 1 board of directors and ESU 1 Education Association. The ratification comes following an agreement last year in which the board of directors and Education Association signed a two-year master contract covering 1988-89 and 1989-90. This year's negotiations commenced on one point only — that of health insurance.

—Approved a contract for Lisa Salmon, ESU 1 office manager, and voted to issue letters of intent to all classified staff members with the possibility of restructuring the classified staff salary schedule.

—Voted to issue new contracts to Rebecca Ridgway and Jocelyn Jutton, both speech clinicians, and to accept the resignation of Tami Jo Daane, speech clinician.

—Approved the verification of successful teaching for Kay Cattle, Lynda Gerhardt, Lynette Joslin, Linda Keeler, Pauline Kirsch, Verne Luhr, Diane Lundquist, Leah Merckel, Pauline Miller, Michelle Purcell, Brenda Steiner and Sue Way.

months before making the first match," Nitschke said.

CHILDREN involved in the match are normally between age five and 17. The adults could be anyone — from high school and college levels to grandparents.

"Anyone who has care for and love of children," Nitschke said.

"Volunteer participants are screened. The [Kinship] program takes serious that dimension in matching together an adult and a child. Safeguards are built into the program. Both the adult and the child are screened," she emphasized.

If it was decided to establish a board of directors, then the board members would likely be involved in the screening.

What type of children would be involved in the Kinship Program?

"Children for any reason, varying from anything from A to Z, that could use the company of an adult," Nitschke answered. Many children come from one-parent households in low income neighborhoods. Some have problems at home — like a seven year old who is lonely or a child that has a handicapping condition or is abused by parents.

The match between the volunteer adult and the child should be for at least a year, and they should meet with the child on a weekly basis — be it one hour or three hours at a time. That amount of time is needed to build the trust and friendship. Present participants of the program say that the friendships last a lifetime.

"They could work at washing a car, go to a movie and do other types of activities. It's all up to the Kinspersen and the Kinschild. "We're looking for at least five to eight key people, or more, who would like to come to Thursday's program and help us provide basically continuity to the program and get it in place," Nitschke said.

THE KINSHIP Program is flexible, she said. It involves no great deal of time or money. "It requires a dedication of the people involved with the program. There is not a great deal of bureaucratic control," said Nitschke.

Nitschke said she anticipates that it will take at least four to eight months to get the program started and solidly based.

"The nice thing about this is that any community can work with this program. It requires volunteers and no monies to start it," she said.

interest as of recent for that type of development.

No action was taken by the city council on the Marywood Addition Association request.

Also Tuesday evening, Councilman Darrel Heier asked if there was a way the city council could save money in regard to the city's computer software support arrangement. Currently, a software firm representative from Minneapolis assists the city in reaching the goals which the city would like to achieve with their computer system.

THAT COULD change, according to Kloster. The city will begin looking to utilize the talent at Wayne State College to assist them with the software programs.

"We really haven't tapped the [Wayne State] institution as much as we could tap it," Kloster said. "We should be looking at more ways to utilize the ability and talent there in a variety of areas."
