City Council votes down beer permit

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

City council members took a straw vote Tuesday evening on a question of whether or not to serve alcoholic beverages at the Jaycee Softball Complex in Wayne during an upcoming co-ed softball tournament.

Six of the seven voting council members raised their hands in the straw voting saying they would consider denying the special liquor license for the tournament.

The Varsity manager, Darrel Moore, appeared before the city council to get their reaction to his request for a special liquor license. He had not officially applied for the license but wanted to be placed on the agenda to get the council's feeling on the request, said City Administrator Phil Kloster.

"The money raised for the two day function [scheduled for July 15 and 16] would go back to the softball complex," Moore told the council members.

Moore said he realized that the city's lease agreement with the Wayne Jaycees stipulates that there be no alcoholic beverages at the softball complex. He said even if the city council does not grant his request there will still be beer brought into the complex. It would be better controlled during the July tournament at the complex if there was someone there to regulate the provision of the alcoholic beverages, he said.

Moore said he planned on providing the beverages on one of the four unused softball diamonds at the complex. He said the idea would be a good promotion and would benefit the softball complex for future improvements. He said alcoholic beverages have been provided in similar tournaments with successful results.

ALCOHOLIC beverage cans have in the past been found at the softball complex indicating that beer has been consumed on the complex, according to city officials.

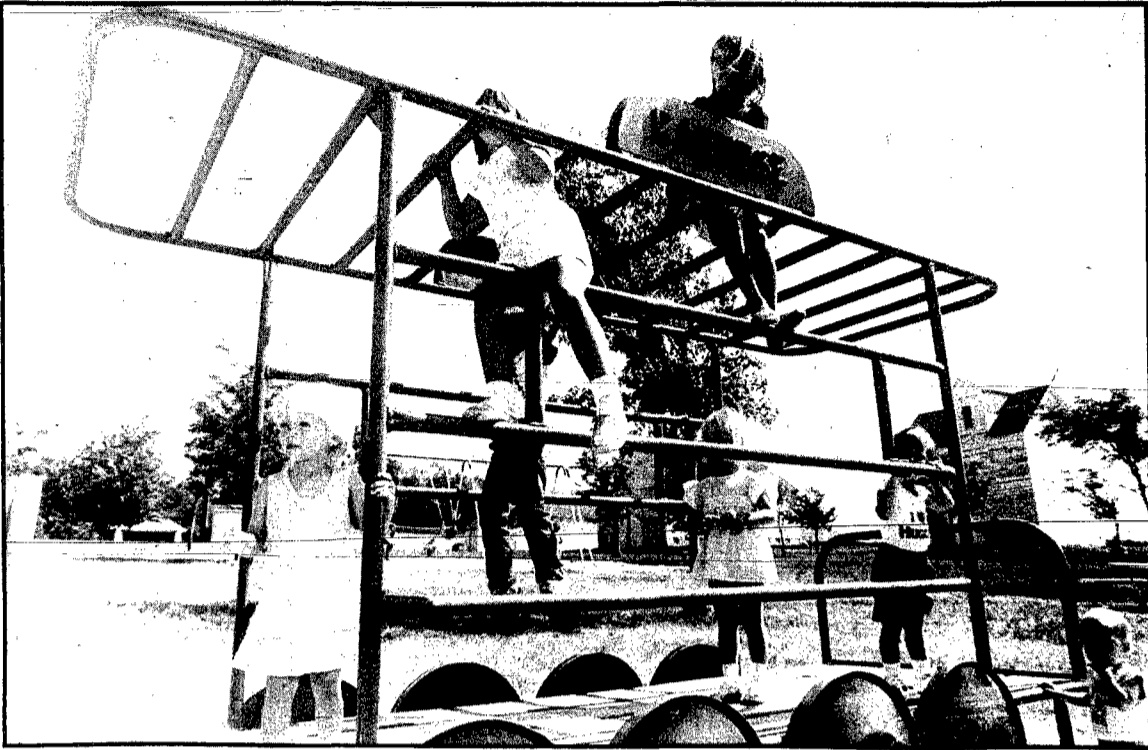

Councilman Ralph Barclay asked Wayne Police Chief Vern Fairchild about the request for the special liquor license.

Fairchild said he opposed the request. "You find beer cans along the Wayne city streets, but that doesn't mean that you can put up a tent and sell beer at the corner of 7th and Main," Fairchild told the council.

He emphasized that the lease prohibits the sale of alcoholic beverages on the premises and he suggested that the council continue with the lease arrangement.

Councilman Carolyn Filter said she respected Chief Fairchild's opinion on the matter. Councilman

CITY WORK CREWS were busy this past week installing new playground equipment at Centennial Park in the Wayne Sunnyview Subdivision. On the caboose are Amy Kay, Jamie Sharer, Lilly Broders, Josh Sharer, Call Broders, Joel Kudrna and Matthew Sharer.

In Sunnyview Subdivision

New playground area opens up

Playground equipment for Centennial Park in the Sunnyview Subdivision was recently being installed by Wayne city crews.

Several other pieces of playground equipment, such as slides and sand digging machines, will be placed on the city park property.

Among the items now at the park are swings, merry-go-round, a train and a caboose that was built by the city's public works crew back in 1987.

City Administrator Phil Kloster said long range plans for Centennial Park, where trees were planted during 1984's Wayne Centennial in honor of Wayne mayors, include the construction of a shelter. Picnic tables are already at the park site.

Some of the financing of the playground equipment came from a $2,000 matching grant from the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission which was awarded to the city of Wayne in March, 1987. The city matched the grant by appropriating its share of $2,000 from what has been received in park fees.

Kloster said the city had submitted a $38,500 grant for the park project in 1986 for park equipment and infrastructure work around the park area. Land for the park was donated by the developer of the Sunnyview Subdivision, according to Kloster.

Continued additions to Centennial Park will be made when more grant funds become available.

Welte honored during retirement event

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

Roberta Welte of Wayne, known as "Mom" by many, sometimes found it hard to hold back some happy tears as former Wayne State College students and staff members honored her at a retirement dinner and dance Saturday evening at the Wayne National Guard Armory.

"Mom" will be retiring June 30 as house mother of Wayne State College's Morey Hall. But past and present residents of Morey Hall — and some from Terrace Hall where Welte first became house mother — were not going to let her retire without a grand farewell and a "roast."

"She has given us a lot of guidance," said Dennis Wilbur of Wakefield who met Welte in her early years at Terrace Hall.

"She has met a lot of people in the past 20-21 years, from freshmen to graduate students," Wilbur said. "For those the first time away from home, she was there as an extra mother."

"She is a caring person. She was there when we needed her," he added.

WILBUR SAID "Mom" always made sure that her residents were "part of the life of Wayne State College."

"She will continue to show a special interest in Wayne State. She has been a force in the growth of Wayne State and to the growth of our well-being," he said.

Frank Teach, director of Student Activities and assistant athletic director at Wayne State, said "Mom" had a genuine interest with the students she had.

He said that Welte knew many of the family members of her residents on a first name basis. Again it was emphasized about her involvement in Wayne State activities.

"There was never more of a driving force in helping students at Morey Hall get involved in projects. We are going to be losing a heck of a spirit at Wayne State," Teach said.

Another speaker, Randy Hascall, former Morey Hall resident who is now copy editor with the daily newspaper in Sioux Falls, South Dakota, also shared some humorous insights on "Mom" Welte.

DEAN JACOBS, who now resides in Seattle and was master of ceremonies for the roast, told about the many times "Mom" passed on advice. Said Mary Thomsen, former Morey Hall resident: "There will never be another one like her."

Several other speakers included Rev. Gerald Rush of Omaha, Bill Moates who is current Morey Hall Dorm president and William Neid of Grand Island.

And then it was Welte's turn to speak.

"I feel that I am one of the luckiest persons in the whole world. I have so many wonderful 'children.' Not many mothers can say that they raised over 1,000 children," she said.

"I figured if they stopped calling me 'Mom', I thought that they were mad at me and it would worry me," she added.

One reason why she considered her years at Wayne State a success was because she "always got the best kids on campus to be in my dorm."

She came to Wayne State in 1967 at the time her son was attending the college. Dr. Brandenburg was then the college president and she asked him for a job. Three days later, Brandenburg hired Welte as a house mother for Terrace Hall.

"It was the best move that I ever made," she said.

She remained at Terrace Hall for five years before taking over as house mother at Morey Hall sometime in 1972.

DURING THE roast, several former students at Wayne State mentioned the "black book" which they thought Welte kept to log in misdeeds and other information.

"There never was a black book. It was all in my head. It was so easy to forget all the bad things and easy to remember the good things," Welte said.

She said she would be retiring at June's end. "I pray that the students get someone who will care and that they like it. That is all that matters to me," she said.

But, she said she still would like the students to visit now and then.

"They have kept me thinking young," Welte commented.

Welte is currently working on establishing a Wayne State College museum. At the time, there is no place available for it, she said.

Dr. Donald Mash, president of Wayne State, said he learned a lot about the college during his first year. "One of those things I learned was that Wayne State is a very special place because of the people at Wayne State," he said.

"That caring level of dedication of the people at Wayne State has produced a lot of success stories," he said.

MASH ANNOUNCED that a scholarship has been established in the name of Roberta "Mom" Welte which some deserving student will receive each year.

"Every year people will ask questions about the scholarship and about who 'Mom' Welte is. And it appears that plenty of people, as I gathered from people who spoke

Will be celebrating 20th year Senior Center observing anniversary

Wayne Senior Center will be celebrating its 20th anniversary Friday. In the morning, the center will be hosting a coffee for the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce at 10 a.m. followed by a program from 1 - 3 p.m.

In 1968, Frank Renaldo and Chuck Smith, two Vista workers, met with a group of interested Wayne citizens about the need for a senior center. Weekly meetings were first held in the Woman's Club Room of the city auditorium. Recreational activities were also planned.

Mayor Al Koplin and city officials approved a proposal expressing a need for establishing a senior center in Wayne. The Nebraska Commission of Aging, under a Title III grant, contracted with the City of Wayne for the senior center. A local advisory board was formed with representatives from the community and senior citizens.

Hired as director of the Wayne Senior Center July 1, 1969, Mrs. Jociell Bull served until October 1981 while meeting at 316 Main Street. Recreational activities included potluck meals and parties. First president of the group was Gladys Petersen.

In 1974 when city offices moved to its present site at 306 Pearl, the building was remodeled for the city offices with the lower level remodeled into the present senior center.

The Wayne Senior Center operated in cooperation with the Nebraska Commission on Aging, grants from Northeast Nebraska Area Agency on Aging, and funds from the City of Wayne.

Starting June 1979, the senior center began serving congregate meals. Previously, home-delivered meals had been served for some time by volunteers. Both meal programs are catered by Providence Medical Center. An average of 40 meals are served daily with 30 home-delivered.

The Wayne Senior Center received a grant to operate a mini-bus in July 1979 with Georgia Janssen as its first driver. Another van was purchased in 1984 through a grant from Nebraska Department of Roads.

Senior citizens of the City of Wayne are served as well as the handicapped with the aid of a wheelchair lift. Funding for the van's operation is through the Nebraska Department of Roads. Present drivers are Sharon Grashorn and Vernon Morse.

This spring, the senior center has been remodeled with more lighting, new ceiling floor, paint and exterior sign. Wayne Senior Center is open weekdays from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., offering bus service in Wayne, meals program and planned activities. A newsletter is published monthly with distribution of 350.

Throughout the past 20 years, the main funding for the Wayne Senior Center has been the City of Wayne, according to Janssen, senior center coordinator since 1981. "The Wayne United Fund supports our projects as well as donations from many friends," she said. "The Senior Center also has fund raising events at the Senior Center during the year to help support special projects."

Janssen said the senior center is run by the many volunteers who help daily. "Volunteers are also used for the meal programs and more are always needed," she said.

Present officers are: Emma Eckert, president; Eleanor Carter, vice president; Frances Bak, secretary; and Elda Jones, treasurer.

Over 8,500 persons are scheduled to attend this convention with its theme of "Godly Devotion." Principal address is July 9 at 2:10 p.m. entitled "Deliverance Near for People of Godly Devotion." All seats are free and no collection will be taken.

By the Nebraska State Historical Society

"RAIN IN NEBRASKA," the headline read. "LONG DRY SPELL IS BROKEN BY HEAVY SHOWERS."

In the hopes that history may repeat itself, here's more of the drought-breaking news story from the Nebraska State Journal, June, 1906:

"Rain fell in many localities in Nebraska yesterday afternoon and last night. Reports received indicated that rain fell as far west as Oxford, as far north as Norfolk and Sioux City, and all over that portion of the state south and east of the places named. This section of the state was in great need of rain.

"Heavy winds were reported from some localities in the central part of the state. It was said a wind of great velocity struck Sargent during the afternoon.

"The people of Lincoln could not suppress shouts of joy when the first shower began falling. The people enjoyed looking at the big drops splash in the running waters on the streets and wondered what the farmers were saying and thinking.

"It was considered a most auspicious opening of the growing season for corn, a saving of the wheat crop, and a good thing for oats. The corn was not greatly in need of rain but the indications for a long drought had been so numerous that farmers had almost become reconciled to a dry season. After the rain they changed their minds. The renewed confidence in Nebraska weather caused by the rain was considered worth as much as the rain itself."

Turn-of-the-century weather reporting was hardly the accurate, hundredths-of-an-inch accounting we take for granted today. "The Western Union Telegraph Company reported rainfall as follows: Aurora, good rain; Bradshaw, good rain; Clay Center, hard rain; Beatrice, one inch or more; Hastings, good rain, Norfolk, good rain; Superior, hard rain," the Journal reported.

Other wire stories were equally encouraging, if not exact. "Wayne, Neb.--A fine and much needed rain fell here this evening and is still falling tonight. It will be of untold value to the hay and small grain crops, which had begun to suffer from the extremely dry weather. It will also save the potato crop."

The GOLDEN YEARS

by Lee D. Jones

What happens when senior citizens visit fifth graders in the classroom to chat about life today for kids and what it was like years ago? "We talked about today's computers and about the early automobiles that needed cranking," said one man who visited a school in Scarsdale, New York. A few days later he received letters from the children, with comments like these: "I enjoyed our discussion of what life was like in your youth...I guess being old isn't as bad as I thought."

Cataract surgery has become fairly common for many people in their 60s and 70s. A cataract is a cloudy or opaque area that forms in the transparent lens of the eye. The National Institute on Aging estimates that two out of three Americans between 65 and 75 have some form of lens opacity. Cataracts usually develop gradually, with no pain. When the cloudy area interferes with vision, the cataract can be removed surgically in a procedure that is safe and almost always successful.

Remember When? June 15, 1940 -- While French men and women wept in the streets, German troops marched into Paris. A week later French authorities signed a surrender document in Compiegne, leaving Britain alone to face the full might of Hitler's military forces.

St. Paul's helping hungry people

St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Wayne held a special "Offering of Letters" service Sunday.

These letters urged Sen. Robert Kerrey, Sen. James Exon, and Rep. Doug Bereuter to increase support for the Special Supplemental Food Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC), an extremely successful program which prevents infant mortality and children's hunger.

St. Paul's "Offering of Letters" was part of the national campaign by Bread for the World, the national Christian citizen's movement. The letters requested full funding for WIC. WIC improves health by providing nutritious food to low income, nutritionally at risk pregnant women, nursing mothers, infants and children up to five years old.

WIC also provides nutrition education and referrals for prenatal care and child immunizations. The WIC program is highly cost-effective and successful in reducing low birth weight and premature births which saves money on immediate and long-term medical expenses.

A Harvard public health study showed for every dollar WIC spent on prenatal services, three dollars were saved in later hospitalization costs. Because of inadequate funding, only half of those eligible in the United States are able to receive WIC's nutrition education and food.

Letters can be submitted until August 1. For more information, contact the church office at 375-2899.

Two area standouts participate

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

Saturday night marked the Sixth Annual Northeast Nebraska High School Basketball All-Star Classic in the Activities Center on the campus of Northeast Community College in Norfolk.

The game was between 24 of the top basketball players in the northeastern part of the state separated into the North and the South.

Both teams came out gunning from the opening tip-off and Winside's Tim Jacobsen quickly compiled six of the North's first 12 points. Jacobsen, using some of the quickness and elusiveness which earned him a spot on the first team of the annual All-State team in Class D, hit a couple of driving shots early in the contest.

The South team, which eventually went on to win the contest for the fifth straight year, 98-80, had weapons of their own early in the contest, such as Madison standout Jeff Wolfgram.

In the second period the near capacity crowd of 1,000 saw the emergence of "Mr. Basketball" for the state of Nebraska, Bruce Chubick II. Chubick, a 6-7 forward-post player who will attend the University of Nebraska at Lincoln this fall, looked to make an immediate impact on the game.

Wayne-Carroll basketball standout Jarrod Wood had other ideas about Chubick's game plan. Wood, who stands 6-6 but out weighs Chubick, kept the all-star from making moves that he wanted to make. Wood did an outstanding job of muscling Chubick and not allowing him to drive to the hoop.

Offensively, Wood was nothing short of phenomenal. Chubick could not stop the Wayne graduate and Wood hit his first five shots from the field, including areas such as the top of the key. Wood led the North team to a 52-48 lead at the intermission.

The South, coached by Bruce Chubick Sr., came out smoking in the third period and they found themselves up by as many as 10 to 12 points in a very short period of time.

Jarrod Wood connected on a shot for the North but it was the only two points they scored in the first five minutes of the second half. The South dominated the rest of the way and now lead the series 5-1.

Jeff Wolfgram led the South with 21 points followed by Chris Peacock's 18. John Arensberg also had double figures with 12 points and Bruce Chubick and Pat Berry finished with eight apiece. Ryan Noelle tallied seven points and Doug Weatherholt managed six. Kurt Kaup also scored six points while Mike Unger scored five. Kevin Rittscher managed four points and Brent Wilke rounded out the South scoring with three.

Jarrod Wood led the North team with 16 points followed by Gerald Armstrong's 11. Chris Wiedenfeld was also in double figures with 10. James Hilkemann scored nine points while Steve Butterfield and Tim Jacobsen managed six each as did Troy Schwanebeck and John Vanderbeek. Mike Rafert and Greg Christensen netted four points each and Willy Kerwin rounded out the attack with two points.

Puttin' up with Pete By Kevin Peterson

Chubick play, unimpressive

Saturday I had the chance to go to the Northeast Nebraska All-Star Basketball Classic in Norfolk. It was the sixth annual game between 24 of the best players in the northeastern part of the state, but it was the first time that I have been able to attend.

The game was liked by most who attended even though there was a lot of sloppy play, but what can you expect, these guys have only been together for a short period of time and after all, it is nearly July.

For the entire basketball season this past winter, I read constantly about the sensational Bruce Chubick II out of Atkinson West Holt. I became an instant fan of this season just because I like to see kids from our state (especially kids from small towns) be successful and go on to play collegiate athletics, which Chubick will do for the University of Nebraska next fall and Nebraska basketball coach Danny Nee.

Well, Saturday was the first time I got to witness the "big guy" play, and I must admit, that I was thoroughly disappointed. I guess I didn't know what I expected to see of him, but I did not expect to see the game's biggest complainer be Bruce Chubick II.

Hey, this guy is "Mr. Basketball" in the state of Nebraska—Phooey! It was my opinion watching the game that Mr. Chubick may be the most overrated player that I have seen in a long time.

Let me explain why I have changed my tune about Chubick. At the start of the second quarter Chubick came into the game. He was matched against our own Jarrod Wood. Chubick came down on offense the first time and began pushing and shoving trying to get the position on Wood. Wood stood his ground and Chubick knew instantly that he would not be able to go around Wood like he did all year long against 6-2 or 6-3 players, which undoubtedly led to his 33 point per game average.

On the defensive end of play, it seemed all Chubick could do was taunt Wood and other North players. Wood literally stuck it in his face by hitting his first five shots from the field. Wood also blocked a shot of Chubick's and by the game's end there was no comparison, Wood completely outplayed "Mr. Basketball."

In all fairness to Chubick, it should be mentioned that he was coming off a shoulder surgery. So what, maybe Chubick did not play up to his capability, but that doesn't give him the right, nor does it make him a better player by continually taunting the opposition.

Chubick showed a definite sign of frustration by saying snide remarks to Jarrod Wood and other North players such as Cedar Catholic's Chris Wiedenfeld during the play of the game. None of the other all-stars behaved in this manner. If Chubick was frustrated by the competition at the game Saturday, he had better get an attitude check before he steps onto the court at Nebraska.

Upon the completion of the game I read in the Norfolk Daily News that Jarrod Wood played real physical basketball and I believe the writer compared him to Detroit's Bad Boy Rick Mahorn. What a joke! If Wood played like Rick Mahorn then I have to compare Chubick to Bill Laimbeer, who is a player just out on the floor to cause a stir.

Also, I have to question the name, Northeast Nebraska All-Star Classic. Hey, if this is supposed to be the best players in Northeast Nebraska, then where was Steve Scheidegger of Columbus and where was Oakland-Craig's Jason Peterson, who hit over 60 percent of his shots from the field this past year.

It is my opinion that the game was set up for Chubick to be a star like he was all year. Another question. Was Jason Peterson asked to play? After talking with his mother on the phone, it seems that she was unable to come up with that answer. Jason was playing at a golf tournament in Fremont during the two days I was trying to reach him. At any rate, she was convinced that Jason would have loved to play against Chubick. It is also my opinion that had Jason Peterson played, he would have had a field day against Chubick.

What a golfer!

I have to add these last few lines for the benefit of Wayne State running back coach Dan Pollard. Pollard is also the strength coach for the Wildcat football team under the direction of Dennis Wagner.

Well, this isn't about football, it's about golf. You see, Pollard is a heck of a golfer. Monday night Pollard and friends, Paul Parker, Greg Cavill and Steve Mayer went out to play nine holes of golf at the local Country Club.

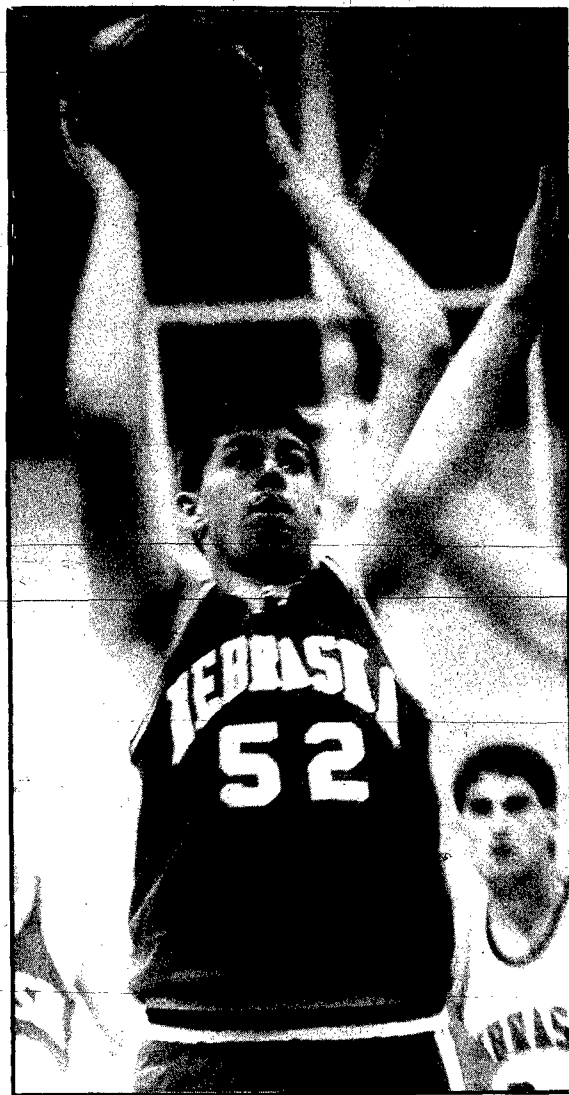

The foursome was directly behind me. As I was tee-ing off on Hole Two, I heard the four guys behind me hollering and raising their hands, something I do when I get a bogey.

Well, it seemed that Pollard had chipped a shot in from about 60 yards for an EAGLE. Incredible I thought. Well, Pollard parred the second hole, then birdied from off the green on the third hole and parred the fourth hole. He suffered a bogey on the fifth hole but bounced back with another birdie from off the green on Hole Six.

Pollard parred the seventh hole, bogeyed the eighth hole and parred the ninth hole after being about 10 yards shy of the green in two shots on the par five number nine. Pollard finished with a 2-under 34, an incredible round of golf. NICE SHOOTING DAN!

ACCEPTING CONGRATULATIONS from Wayne High School Athletic Director Ron Carnes is Jarrod Wood. Wood was selected for the Annual All-Star Game at Norfolk as one of the top 24 players in the northeastern part of the state.

Wayne sweeps Wisner

The Wayne Midgets and Junior Legion teams swept visiting Wisner Friday night and those attending the game witnessed some quality pitching in both games.

In the Midget contest Wayne was limited to just one hit as Wisner's Corey Weber kept the Wayne batters handcuffed throughout the contest. It was Wisner's defensive errors that allowed Wayne to escape with a 3-1 victory.

Matt Bruggeman had the game's only hit for Wayne, a first inning single. It was the first inning which saw the locals come away with a pair of runs. Cory Wieseler and Rusty Hamer drew first inning walks before Bruggeman singled in Wieseler.

Wayne added one more run in the third inning. Defensively, Jeff Griesch picked up the victory from the mound as he and Matt Bruggeman combined to pitch a 3-hitter, all singles.

In the Legion contest Wayne's Matt Peterson was breezing along in the fifth inning with a no-hitter when he felt something pop in his shoulder. Rather than taking a chance on an injury, Wayne coach Hank Overin removed Peterson and inserted Jeff Lutt.

Wayne, leading 2-1 at the time Lutt came in, had one out already in the sixth inning on Wisner. Lutt retired the next two batters and things looked good for Wayne.

A mental error on the defense allowed Wisner to score a run in the top half of the seventh inning and Wayne was forced to go extra innings with the visitors.

The game didn't last long as Wayne scored the winning run in the bottom of the eighth inning as Kevin Hausmann crossed the plate for the 3-2 victory, upping Wayne's record to 7-5.

Hausmann led off the eighth inning with a bunt single and advanced immediately on Greg Schmidt's single. Jeff Lutt then got walked to load the bases and Jess Zeiss came to the plate and drew a walk, which walked in the winning run.

Hausmann, Schmidt, Rob Sweetland, Jason Mrsny and Adam Mrsny all notched singles in the game and Zeiss was 2-2 with two singles.

Softball team plays in Iowa

The Wayne 19 and under and 16 and under softball teams traveled to Sioux City, Iowa, over the weekend and Darrell Bailey's team faced some of the best competition they will ever see.

Teams from Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota, Illinois and other states were represented in this tournament. Wayne's first outing was against Del's Cabinets, out of Sioux Falls, S.D., on Friday evening. Wayne was defeated 12-0, and center fielder Marnie Bruggeman managed Wayne's only hit, a single.

"Del's threw a left handed pitcher and she had some smoke," Bailey said. "It was the first time this season our girls saw a left handed pitcher." Bailey noted that a lot of the teams in the tournament play softball year around and they play up to and over 100 games per year.

On Saturday Wayne faced a team out of Sioux City, Iowa, and Bailey's crew came ready to play as they defeated the Sioux City team 12-0. Tracy Gamble was the offensive catalyst with a double and two singles while Tonya Erxleben and Marnie Bruggeman notched two singles each. Shannon Holdorf hit a single and a double while Leslie Keating laced a triple. Kristy Hansen doubled and Shelly Gilliland singled to lead Wayne.

Wayne then had to face the eventual champions of the Sioux City Tournament, in the Omaha Gladiators. The Gladiators are a phenomenal softball team which travels across the United States for tournaments every summer. "The Gladiators will play over 100 games fairly easily," Bailey said. "They were 45-3 when we got to play them and they picked up their sixth tournament championship by winning the Sioux City Tournament."

The Gladiators defeated Wayne by a 12-0 count and Marnie Bruggeman and Tonya Erxleben were the only ones gathering a hit as each managed a single. "They had four pitchers who were all left handed and all could throw as hard as our pitcher," Bailey said. "We knew that we probably wouldn't beat them but it was a challenge to try and hit the good pitchers they had."

Upon the completion of the game Bailey said that the Gladiators coach approached him and said that the Wayne team had a lot of talent and could hit the ball hard. "He told me that not many teams have hit the ball as hard as we did against them," Bailey said. "He also said that we had nothing to be ashamed of. They have over 600 girls trying out for the Gladiator team every year so there and less than five percent make the team. Next weekend the Gladiators will be in Denver, Colo., for another tournament."

Wayne then faced Emerson for the third time this season, and just as last year Emerson dominated Wayne, this year Wayne is totally dominating them. Wayne trailed early in the contest but cut loose in the fourth inning for 13 runs and went on to win the contest by a 20-4 count.

Tonya Erxleben did the most damage for Wayne as she came up in the fourth inning and blasted a 2-run home run over the fence. Erxleben came up again in the fourth inning and blasted a 3-run home run. Tracy Gamble also had a big hit in the game as she blasted 3-run triple.

In the final game of the tournament Wayne lost a close 5-4 decision to Norfolk. Kari Lutt had a pair of hits to aid Wayne but it was not enough. "Overall I really was pleased with our play," Bailey said. "We didn't have our strongest lineup because a few of the girls were gone, but I thought the younger girls stepped in and did a good job for us."

The 16 and under team failed to win a game at the tournament, but a large part of the reason was that some of them were playing on the 19 and under team and the rules stated that you couldn't play in both.

"The competition was unbelievable," Bailey said. "The purpose of the tournament was to give our girls a chance to see how good teams are that we don't play all the time. Also, I'm sure that when the girls get to the state meet now that they won't be overly intimidated by anybody because most of the good teams in Sioux City's tournament were better than the A teams in Nebraska and we'll be playing in Class B."

Wayne lady teams up with sister to place

Wayne resident Sue Jammer teamed up with her sister Amy Gibbs of Omaha to capture second place in the women's division of the Annual Missouri River Raft Regatta, held Saturday.

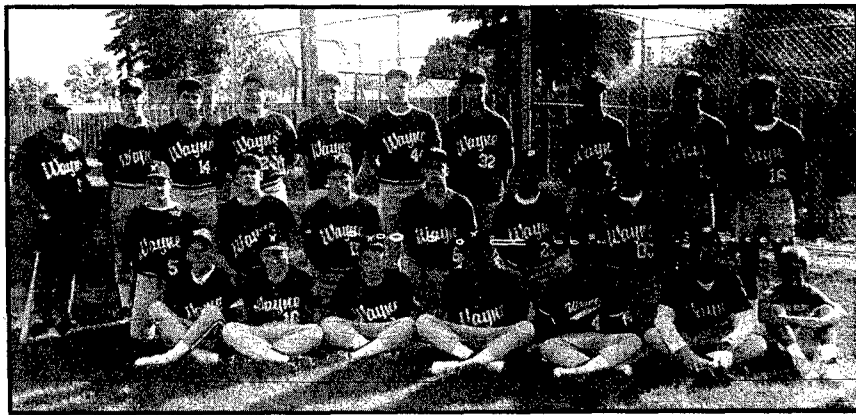

The 22-mile regatta started at Ponca and finished in Sioux City and for the sister combination of Jammer and Gibbs, it was the third consecutive year they finished in the runner-up spot.

The raft regatta was marred by numerous downpours and Jammer noted that it was also very cold out on the water. "It was cold and rainy, but things got even more tense when it began lightening," Jammer said.

The team which finished ahead of Jammer was a Mother-Daughter combination from Grand Island. "That Mother-Daughter team travel all summer to different races," Jammer said.

Jammer and her sister participate just once a year and it's just for the fun of it. The sisters finished in approximately 4 1/2 hours, about 1/2 hour behind the winners. The third place team finished about an hour behind Jammer and Gibbs.

There were approximately 100 entries in the regatta.

THE WAYNE Midget baseball team has caught the attention of all local baseball fans as they have darted out to a 12-1 record for the season. Middle row: Jason Fink, J. Murphy, Rusty Hamer, Chris Fredrickson, Jason Claussen and Cory Wieseler. Front row: Brent Gamble, Jim Hoffman, Brian Gamble, J. Would our forefathers be proud if they could see what became of the nation they began? We think so, for the doctrines and ideals they set into motion 213 years ago have survived, and our cherished freedom still serves as our greatest strength. We believe that if they could see their handiwork, they would celebrate. And so, we celebrate, for their dream is our reality.

Larry Johnson said the alcoholic beverage issue—discussed at length when the lease with the Jaycees was drawn up.

"I also realize that beer is brought in to the complex. If they want it brought in, they're going to bring it in one way or another," Johnson said. He said he could also see that the revenue raised during the tournament could be lucrative.

"Chief Fairchild has a valid point, too, and it needs to be considered," Johnson said.

Moore said that there has been alcoholic beverages provided at the Wayne County Fairgrounds [during fair time] in a controlled area. "There has been no problem with that," he said.

Councilman Darrel Fuelberth inquired about the liability with the liquor request at the softball complex. City Attorney Kem Swartz said there would be some liability exposure — a somewhat remote exposure.

When a straw vote was taken, the six council members who raised their hands indicating consideration for denial of the request were Sheryl Lindau, Stan Hansen, Jane O'Leary, Fuelberth, Barclay and Filter. Johnson voted that he would consider approving the request.

IN OTHER action, the city council approved an ordinance relating to snow removal to take effect this winter.

Kloster said the ordinance specifies how wide a street has to be to allow someone to place snow on the street right-of-way. Currently, property owners are not allowed to throw any snow on the city streets when clearing sidewalks and driveways.

Now those residing near streets over 40 feet wide (from curb to curb) can place their snow not more than one foot away from the curb within 12 hours after a snow-storm has ended. This ordinance applies only to those who have no room at all on their lot or real estate to place the snow removed from their sidewalks or driveways, according to Kloster.

Another ordinance, establishing an Advising Audit Committee, was also approved by council members. City Attorney Swartz said state statute rules that the committee can only serve in an advisory capacity and cannot perform any auditing functions.

It is also stipulated in the ordinance that the three volunteering council members who will serve on the auditing committee will receive no remuneration and "shall not take any action to increase the cost of the annual audit."

APPOINTMENTS to the auditing committee will be made following legal publication of the ordinance.

The city council also:
— Approved a resolution to approve the sale of real estate (a tract of land less than 10 acres) from Ludwig Thos to John Russell Johnson. The land, located near Evangelical Church east of Wayne, serves ag purposes and will remain tax exempt from subdivision ordinances and park fees.

— And approved the plans and specifications for cooling tower repairs at the city's power plant and set the bid date (for mechanical installation).

A plaque will be placed at Morey-Hall in honor of Welte.

Also during the retirement "roast," Jacobs read congratulatory letters from her son Terry, from Nebraska Governor Kay Orr and from U.S. Senator J. J. Exon.

Letters
Look for peace
I'm a Vietnam era veteran who has just returned from Washington, DC where I visited the Vietnam Veterans Memorial.
On the wall are the names of three of my friends from Winside who died in Vietnam: Bob Dangberg, Sgt. died April 18, 1970; Bob Wagner, Sgt. died May 16, 1968; and Mark Witt, PFC who died August 31, 1969. All three attended the same church in Winside and all graduated from Winside High School. Bob Dangberg died exactly one week after his 21st birthday.
While visiting the memorial, my thoughts ran to these three friends and also the others who were victims of misguided leaders. My thoughts also went to other victims of the war, the thousands of civilians who died and I wondered why we don't have a memorial to them as well.
My biggest concerns though return to today as I think of our young people who were not yet born or who were too young to remember the war and many who have not learned of it's tragedy.
I am aware that the United States now uses 53% of its national budget on military and military-related spending. I think of all of the MX missiles the present administration wants to put on rail-road cars, the fact that our country is the leading weapons dealer in the world today.
Our government and our people must turn to making peace, not war, and work to abolish weapons of death. In this way, we can avoid having more names on war memorials.

Sincerely,
Samuel Burris,
Winside

Regulation changes made

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has notified Representative Doug Bereuter of changes to Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) emergency haying regulations. Under the new regulations, haying will now be allowed on Practice CP-4 lands, Permanent Wildlife Habitat, as long as haying is no closer than 20 feet to shrubs, forbs, or trees established as part of the habitat practice.
Haying of alfalfa used for temporary cover will also be allowed so long as the ground is then prepared for establishment of permanent cover and the permanent cover is seeded either this fall or next spring, as determined by SCS.

"We have been urgently conveying our concerns about the overly restrictive regulations on grazing and haying CRP lands to USDA. These new regulations will address many of the concerns that producers have brought to my attention," Bereuter said.
The original emergency haying provisions only opened up a small portion of the state's CRP lands for haying. Less than 20% of the CRP land in Nebraska met the requirement for being seeded before July 1, 1987. Of the lands meeting the July 1, 1987 seeding requirement, nearly one-half were ineligible because they were classified as Permanent Wildlife Cover (in many cases because producers were unable to purchase native grass seed to establish other practices). In some counties another 30% of otherwise eligible lands had been ruled ineligible because alfalfa being used as temporary cover was not considered to be eligible for haying. For example, in Thurston County only 1,161 acres out of 24,622 acres enrolled in the CRP were eligible for haying under the original rules. The new rules should allow up to 4,123 acres to be eligible for haying in Thurston County.

"I have been very concerned that by announcing that CRP lands would be opened up for haying and grazing and then making the restrictions so tight that very few lands actually could be hayed or grazed, USDA was faced with the worst of two worlds," said Bereuter. "Urban citizens and environmental interests were upset because CRP lands were being used at all and producers were led to believe that they would be getting help, when in fact most would not be eligible for this aid," according to Bereuter. Bereuter also indicated that, "These new changes will allow more producers to augment their low hay supplies, which should help to prevent forced sale of breeding animals."

Subsoil still considered too dry

Although rainfall last week probably wetted the top two feet of subsoil, it is still dry below that depth, farming experts said during the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Agricultural Climate Situation Committee meeting on Monday.
Experts in the UNL Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources agreed the state is still facing a drought, when defined as "a lack of water in the soil root system during a crop growing season."
Precipitation for the week ending June 25 varied from an average of 0.06 of an inch in the Panhandle to 4.18 inches in central Nebraska.
KTCH in Wayne recorded 1.53 inches of rain from Saturday, June 24 to Monday, June 26.
Crops were not experiencing high heat stress, noted Ed Penas, agronomist. "They are small yet and can take quite a bit of that."
While the rains helped the crops, the overall condition of the state's crops is unchanged, according to the Nebraska Weather and Crop report issued Monday afternoon by the Agricultural Statistics Service. Agronomists noted that more moisture will be needed before the tasseling stage for corn which may still be three weeks away.
Weather outlooks call for above normal temperatures and a 50 percent chance of normal rainfall in the next 30 days, according to the National Meteorological Center.

IDS LONG TERM CARE PLAN

No one really likes to talk about it, but the fact is that 50% of those 65 and over will spend some time in a Nursing Home. Many of us can remember when a stay in a Nursing Home was not a very pleasant experience, whereas today, like most everything else, long term health care facilities have vastly improved. Long term care is for those people who can no longer care for themselves. In times past, children cared for their ailing or frail parents in their own homes, but in most situations today, parents no longer move in with their children.

The solutions to long term care costs, (which can run on a national average of $25,000 yearly), are to use up your assets when the time comes, to start a savings plan specifically for long term care, or to purchase Long Term Health Care Insurance. If you decide to preserve your assets with Long Term Care Coverage, an insurance policy will provide you with many options, but to keep it simple, an individual 65 year old, going from their home directly into a nursing home with a potential stay of four years would pay an annual premium of $65 for $10/day coverage.

If you are between the ages of 50 and 84, consider completing your financial plan with an IDS Long Term Care Plan. Call George Phelps, CFP at 375-1848 or stop by my office at 416 Main Street in Wayne.

4TH OF JULY ACTIVITIES

The Wakefield Jaycees are sponsoring additional activities to go along with the traditional ball games and fireworks on the Fourth of July. During the afternoon there will be mud volleyball, horseshoe pitching and a pitch, hit and throw competition plus an evening pork barbecue. They will all be held at the Wakefield city park.

Youth interested in playing the mud volleyball are encouraged to organize their teams and register now. It will be an eight-team double elimination tournament limited to the first teams to pay the $25 entry fee. Teams will be co-ed with a minimum of three girls and three boys on each team. To register please contact Fuzz Henderson at 287-2170. Competition will begin at 1 p.m. at the park. First place team will receive a $50 prize.

The horseshoe contest will involve two-person teams with a $5 entry fee per team. Competition is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. Prize money will be based on the number of entries in the competition. The Jaycees will also sponsor a pitch, hit and throw contest with the winners being eligible to advance to the state competition. Boys and girls ages 7-13 are welcome to enter and there will be no entry fee. The youth will be divided into age groups and first through third place prizes will be awarded compliments of Dirty Harry's Pool Hall.

The state pitch, hit and throw contest will be held on Aug. 19 in South Sioux City and the local Jaycees plan to take their winners to the contest and pay the necessary entry fees.

Besides the competitions, the group will also be serving a pork barbecue in the middle enclosed shelterhouse at the park. Serving will be from 4 to 6 p.m. at cost of $2.50 per plate. The meal will include a BBQ sandwich, beans, chips and pop.

The traditional baseball games have also been scheduled for that day. The Wakefield Midgets and Junior Legion teams will host their counterparts from Wayne beginning with the Midget game at 5:30 p.m.

A fireworks display is planned at the conclusion of the games, weather permitting. The fireworks is annually sponsored by the Wakefield Community Club.

SCHOOL BOARD

The Wakefield Board of Education met June 12. Principal Joe Coble reported to the board on plans to implement the Quest Program in the seventh grade curriculum this fall. Coble explained that the program, which is sponsored by the Lions Club, deals with students' building essential life skills with special emphasis on preventing alcohol and other drug use.

The major cost of this program, according to Coble, will be born by the local Lions Club as well as the Aid Association of Lutherans.

Other new curriculum offerings this fall, the board was told, will be a fifth year math class, calculus; the possibility of a third year Spanish class as well as the implementation of a junior high language arts class to address the need of a reading, grammar and writing class at this level.

Superintendent Derwin Hartman gave the board a report on the summer maintenance projects and stated that painting in the large gym is completed and the floor would be refinished this week. The installation of a new football scoreboard was discussed and it was decided that it would be mounted on the present poles and

Dan Bard would be hired to do the electrical work.

The board opened the bids on the 1974 Travel-all and accepted a bid of $526 from Pat Conrad of Ponca.

In other business the board voted to contract for four and a half days extra next year for the services of the ESU 1 Nurse Elaine Rump. Colby Meyer was approved as an unpaid weight room supervisor for the summer weight program. Mr. Hartman was named as the administrator of all state and federally supported school programs.

ELCA MEETING

The regular meeting of Salem

Lutheran Church Women of ELCA met Thursday in the church basement. Clarice Schroeder, president, welcomed all and gave a special welcome to baby Joel Kilgough, his parents Deb and Jim Kilgough and his grandparents. She opened the meeting with a special prayer and tribute to the parents of Joel.

The program, which was a welcoming party for baby Joel, was given by circle 4 members. The hymn "Jesus Took the Babes and Blessed Them" was sung by all. Mardell Holm read the devotions prepared by Emily Gustafson. The message centered around babies and children in the Bible including the story of the Little Children Coming to Jesus, read from a children's Bible. She also mentioned other children told about in the Bible and reminded them that children give love without reservations and accept us at face value. A poem "Why I Live to be a Grandmother" was read, followed by the hymn, "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us." The members of circle 4 gave a humorous and informative skit, pretending to be holding a circle meeting they cleverly worked in a discussion of old and new baby raising practices with advice for Deb, Joel's mother. During the offering "Jesus Loves Me" was sung.

A filled teddy bear bank and a handmade quilt was presented to Joel and his parents. The women of the ELCA of Salem regard Joel as their special baby because Jim Kilgough, his father is at this time Salem's intern pastor.

A short business meeting included an announcement that the regular quilt day will be the second Wednesday of both July and August. A letter about the plight of the women of Namibia, Africa was brought to their attention for consideration and prayer. The next regular meeting will be Thursday, July 27 at 2 p.m.

The Farmer's Wife

By Pat Melerhenry

Rain! What a blessing. A nice, gentle million-dollar rain. The highway to Hoskins is muddy. I never thought I'd be grateful for that, but I am.

I've never been "teased" by clouds so much as I was this past week. They would look so ominous and then blow away. We heard of floods in Oklahoma and wished we could impart some.

It has been a month of extremes: from frost to hot, dry wind. We run the car heater in the morning and the air conditioner on the way home. But, at last, a rain, and it is much appreciated.

Farmers don't really take a day off in the summer unless it rains. They get tired and irritable and greatly in need of hair cuts, when it stays dry too long.

David had to go home today, after following Uncle Mike around for a week.

The highlight for him was the aerial spraying at the neighbors on Thursday evening. The would-be pilot got a very close look at the "crop duster."

THE NEXT day, they were chopping thistles the old-fashioned way. "Is this your land?" he asked.

"No, actually, this part belongs to my uncle," responded the Big Farmer.

"Then why do you chop the thistles?" said the little thinker. "Because I rent it," was the answer.

"How much do you pay for rent?" "$2500, but he pays the taxes."

"How much are the taxes?" "$600."

"I think I'd rather pay the taxes! I think the little guy is no dummy!"

I'm leaving for Rapid City in the morning and I still have to pack. I've stocked up on Hamburger Helper for the Farmer. He's been politicking all week.

HE SAYS there is a war going on right now which many people are totally unaware of. The two participants are agriculturalists and the environmentalists. One battle involves irrigation of farmland along our streams and rivers versus sandhills crane enthusiasts.

Another pits the livestock people who need feed for their cattle, sheep or horses against the lovers of pheasants, quail, rabbits and other wildlife.

The second battle ground is the CRP (Conservation Reserve Program) acres which 240 plus landowners in Wayne County alone have seeded to grass. In a year as dry as 1989 livestock people are not real worried about wildlife when their crops are burning up and their pastures and hayfields are already brown.

CONVERSELY, the environmentalists, especially the large influential groups on the East coast, have high powered and highly paid lobbyists often ready to use fair means or foul to influence the folks in Washington who make and change our laws.

At this point in time, the environmentalists appear to have the upper hand in the pressure they've been able to apply to the decision makers. Wayne and several adjoining counties are eligible for livestock feed.

Farmers are stubborn by nature, or perhaps determined is more appropriate. Time will tell!

Oats considered logical alternative

Replacing alfalfa hay with oat hay is a logical forage alternative in this year's continuing drought, according to a University of Nebraska-Lincoln beef specialist.

"Yield predictions of harvesting oats as a grain are 10 to 15 bushels per acre, rather than a typical 40 to 75 bushels per acre," said Terry Mader of UNL's Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources. Because of the drought, oats as a grain are rated poor to very poor, he said.

"Even timely rains won't help much at this point," Mader said.

A producer still has one week to 10 days to change course and harvest oats as a hay crop, Mader said. After the first week of July, hay quality generally deteriorates to a point where harvesting as oat grain would be the best alternative.

The returns per acre will definitely be smaller for oats as a grain rather than oats as hay, Mader said. Harvest oats as a hay crop could return as much as $75 per acre, compared to a maximum of $50 per acre for oats as grain, he said. And, he said, drought conditions have pushed the price of alfalfa hay as high as $100 a ton, so producers will find oats as hay an economically smart choice.

However, producers deciding on oats as a hay alternative should be aware of the potential for nitrate accumulation, Mader said. In drought conditions, nitrates in oat hay accumulate in higher levels than otherwise, he said.

To reduce this risk, mix oat hay with another forage such as alfalfa, brome or prairie hay, all naturally low in nitrate content, he said.

Schrant on water committee

Mrs. Allen (Lavon) Schrant of Winside, co-owner and operator of Roadside Dairy Processing Plant, was appointed in February, 1989 as a member of the Citizens Advisory Committee for the Nebraska Wellhead Protection Program by the Ground Water Division, Department of Environmental Control of the state of Nebraska.

The Wellhead Protection Program is intended to protect areas of public ground water supplies from contaminants which may have adverse effects on the health of persons drinking and using the water.

There are 2,800 public water supply wells in the state, 2,100 which are part of community systems.

The first meeting attended by Schrant took place March 6 in Lincoln.

"This meeting helped acquaint the Citizens Committee on the development of the Nebraska Wellhead Protection Program. Input from each individual on the committee was taken into consideration," she stated.

"The 'work plan' by the groundwater division was introduced. This plan consists of tasks to be accomplished in Wellhead protection in the long-term," she added.

The committee receives, for comment, information regularly on work plans.

A milestone of May 19 was met for the Groundwater Division of the Nebraska Department of Environmental Control to have a draft "Wellhead Protection Program" ready. The program was submitted to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency on June 19 as was required by Federal 1986 amendments to the Safe Drinking Water Act and from the 1988 Nebraska Ground Water Quality Standards and Use Classification.

The submitted program covers major components required by federal law, which include:

- To specify duties of state and local agencies and public water supply systems.

- To determine extent of wellhead protection area around public water supply well.

- To identify all sources of contamination in each wellhead protection area.

- To develop source management programs.

- To provide contingency plans for obtaining alternate drinking water supplies for each public water supply system if contamination occurs.

- To consider contaminate sources within expected wellhead protection areas of proposed public water supply wells.

- And to demonstrate public participation.

This Wellhead Protection Program is new, created in response to the 1986 Safe Drinking Water Act amendments. However, protection of wellheads is not a new concept in Nebraska.

Nebraska's Department of Health has been concerned with water supplies for at least 20 years.

Ground water contaminants are substances reaching underground water by the result of human activity. They would be absent or at much lower concentrations to be safe for human health. Adverse effects on human health include acute, chronic reproductive and other disorders as recognized by medical personnel.

During the development and implementation phase there will be no comprehensive legal authority to mandate the program, but additional authorities that are necessary for the voluntary Wellhead Protection Program implementation will be sought from appropriate entities.

Many of the "work plans" will be phased in over the next few years, but the submitted program represents a framework around which the Nebraska Wellhead Protection Program can be built and receive appropriations.

Schrant said there are currently 26 members serving on the advisory committee from all areas of Nebraska. Members were solicited from organizations, businesses and industries with interests in the environment. All members are serving voluntarily with no reimbursement for their expenses or their time, she said.

A technical advisory committee of 17 members has also been organized from various state agencies.

Two public meetings have taken place to inform the public — one on May 31 at the University of Nebraska North Platte Station and another June 1 in Lincoln at the State Office Building. Others are being planned for the near future throughout the state.

Common Skin Infection

One of every 100 females and 7 of every 100 males have athlete's foot, an infection caused by fungal organisms known as ringworm. The organism is not a worm. Rather, it is plant-like and produces a lesion that, on some parts of the body, occurs in rings. On the feet it causes itching and scaling - primarily between the toes. Breaks in the skin, bad foot odor, and stinging are common. If the toenails are affected, oral prescription medicines are required.

Nonprescription medicines available for athlete's foot often contain miconazole, tolnaftate, and undecylenic acid. Each of these has been determined by a U.S. Food and Drug Administration panel to be safe and effective for treatment of fungal skin infection. Product dosage forms include creams, powders, lotions, and sprays.
