Many events planned for Saturday Chicken Show set this weekend at the Wayne City Auditorium.

Why did the chicken cross the road?

Probably because it was making tracks for the 1989 Wayne Chicken Show, where there will be food including free omelets and some cheep chicken, a lot of fun with a grand parade and other entertainment, and some contests and games for chickens and the other two-legged species (humans, that is).

This year's theme for the 1989 Wayne Chicken Show is "Science Fiction Chicken."

This is the ninth annual Chicken Show Event and almost all activities will take place at Bressler Park in Wayne.

Some of the events leading up to the 1989 Chicken Show have been the Wayne Saddle Club Horse Show at the Wayne County Fairgrounds (as of deadline we are still awaiting results of that event) and the Photography Show PHOTOGRAPHS are on display at the city auditorium and depict amateur divisions for adult and youth 16 years of age and younger. The divisions are Action, Landscape, Still Life and People.

There is a special category of "Where I Wore My Chicken Shirt". The second special contest deals with the best picture of a chicken.

This Thursday evening (July 6) is the crowing of the Chicken a la King and the Chicken a la Queen to reign over the Chicken Show festivities. The ceremony will take place beginning at 8 p.m. at the city auditorium.

Jane O'Leary, spokesman for the Chicken Show Committee, said there are "quite a few nominations" for the a la King and Queen titles.

The "meat" of the chicken celebration takes place Saturday, July 8, as numerous activities are scheduled throughout the day beginning with a "Fun Run" from

Tax relief alternatives, deadlines explained

The recent legislative session resulted in the passage of Legislative Bill 84 which provides approximately $98.1 million for direct property tax relief.

The new law, which is effective for tax year 1989 only, provides two methods to reduce property tax bills.

All real and personal property (with the exception of motor vehicles) is eligible for, and will receive a reduction of 8.5 percent of the taxable value of the property. This reduction will be given automatically.

"There is no action required for those to receive this relief," according to Joyce Reeg, Wayne County Assessor.

HOMEOWNERS could elect to receive their relief through an alternative plan which allows for a homestead exemption of the first $5,400 of the actual value of the home.

"In order to qualify for this exemption, you must own and occupy your home from Jan. 1, 1989 through Aug. 15, 1989. You must also file an application with your county assessor on or before Sept. 1 of this year," according to Reeg.

"If your home is valued for tax purposes at less than $63,530, the $5,400 exemption provides a larger benefit than does the 8.5 percent reduction, but you must apply to receive the homestead exemption," Reeg mentioned.

"If you do not know the tax value of your home, be sure to file the application because the assessor will then be able to apply the greater of the benefits. If you do not file with the assessor, you

Promoting rural revitalization

Orr designates Wayne as site for Field Office

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

Wayne will become an even greater hub of economic development activity throughout northeast Nebraska as the city will be the host for a Department of Economic Development Field Office and also a Bureau for Community and Economic Development — both based on the Wayne State College campus.

The Field Office and Bureau announcement came Friday from Nebraska Governor Kay Orr and Wayne State College President Dr. Donald Mash during a press conference in Lincoln.

GOVERNOR Orr set the stage for the announcement by commenting on the "good news about the state's economy" and she talked about significance of the state's low 2.5 percent unemployment rate.

"Because of such a low unemployment rate, over 800,000 people are working. That increases our receipts and revenues to the state significantly," Orr said.

"We have ended this past year and will begin this year in a very strong financial position. Our end of the year balance will be around $290 million. We are pleased to face the year in such a strong position," Orr said.

This comes at a time when national economic forecasters are saying that a slowdown is coming and there will be some recessionary conditions in some states.

There are still programs that the state is obligated to begin which will go against the sizeable end of the year balance, such as the $100 million property tax relief and the commitment to teacher spending packages, Orr mentioned.

ORR THEN announced the Field Office final selections that will "help with the economic development efforts in the state's rural revitalization program."

"We will be placing people [in the field offices] to work with community leaders, business leaders, education leaders throughout the state in the communities of Kearney, Beatrice, North Platte and Wayne," she continued.

The legislature was approached this year for the funding of the four field offices. In the discussion of the appropriation measure, the legislature decided that one of those field offices should be a community of around 5,000 people.

"It only seemed appropriate — when we were searching for a community that size — to connect it with one of our state institutions of higher learning. And that is Wayne State College," Orr said during the press conference.

The Field Office, she said, will be centrally located between Norfolk and South Sioux City. "I think that it is a good choice," she said.

THE FOUR field service representatives at each of the community sites will be responsible for identifying local leadership, providing information about available resources, assisting with the delivery of Department of Economic Development Programs, and, where appropriate, coordinating development activities with other agencies or organizations.

At the same time, Gov. Orr and Dr. Donald Mash announced the establishment of a Bureau for Community and Economic Development. "This will be a public and private partnership that will aid us in our effort for rural revitalization," Orr said. "And under the leadership and guidance of Dr. Donald Mash, Wayne State is beginning an outreach program that will act as a catalyst for economic development in the northeast sector of the state."

The Bureau, she said, will provide a focal point for the cooperation and coordination of programs in this part of the state. This Bureau will be funded primarily by a grant from U S West Communications.

KEN POWER, vice president and chief executive officer of U S West Communications in Nebraska, said he agreed with Governor Orr about the economy. "The state of Nebraska is definitely on the move and getting stronger. We are for economic development in the state and we want to do whatever we can to contribute to that," Power said at the press conference.

He said the company has established a grant of up to $45,000 to Wayne State College — just to do the things that Governor Orr had indicated would be done. "It's a partnership of all of us. We're looking forward to some great results," said Power.

Dr. Mash said the Bureau for Community and Economic Development would not have been possible without a spirit of cooperation that came out of discussions in northeast Nebraska as well as Lincoln.

"The Governor, at the beginning of the legislative session, recommended funding for each of the state colleges to promote development in rural Nebraska," he said. "We then parlayed that into a proposal to U S West. They liked the program very much and saw fit to help fund it."

"WE'RE POOLING those resources together and we're launching a Bureau," Mash said.

When the field offices and Bureau are in place this fall, Mash says they will coordinate their efforts and work cooperatively to provide assistance to the northeast Nebraska communities.

"One thing we will be doing is creating, on our campus, an office complex. We will bring together the Bureau staff, the Department of Economic Development Field Office staff and resources and the Nebraska Business Development Center Program so that there can be cooperation and coordination of activities on behalf of northeast Nebraska," Mash said.

He believes Wayne State's active role in rural regional development is important and appropriate.

"We function as a center and catalyst in our service-region-for education, as well as for the arts, cultural activities and community development," Mash says. "As a

Rev. Arkfeld to give presentation

Wayne Hospice Group will celebrate its first anniversary July 10 by hosting Father Rick Arkfeld giving his presentation "On Death and Dying".

The public is invited to attend this event at 8 p.m. in the Womens Club Room of the Wayne City Auditorium.

July marks the first year of the group's official organization. Hospice is supportive care services to terminally ill persons and their families.

Volunteers are networked to help meet physical, emotional, social, spiritual, and other special needs which are experienced during the final stages of illness, and during dying and bereavement. Wayne Hospice group provides services to families within approximately a 30-mile radius of Wayne but extends as far as West Point.

Hospice offers trained volunteers who give freely of their time and talents in order that services are provided without charge or obligation. "As a non-profit service, Wayne Hospice Group relies on the support and generosity of our communities at large for private contributions as well as memorial gifts which are tax deductible," said Wanda Kucera, director. Speakers are available to groups by request.

Arkfeld is currently pastor of St. Anthony's Church outside of West Point but is in transition toward Coleridge at this time. Born and reared on a farm near Battle Creek, NE, he was diagnosed as having lung cancer in February 1986. His condition is terminal.

Arkfeld first spoke on the subject of death and dying in Sioux City in 1987. Since that date, he has spoken nearly 60 times in eight states to thousands of people.

His presentation will cover the most frequently asked questions about death. Arkfeld describes from his own unique perspective what takes place at the time of death.

He will also talk about the greater fears surrounding death as well as how to prepare for it. Arkfeld's presentation is a surprisingly uplifting experience for all.

The GOLDEN YEARS

Forgetfulness, confusion and certain other behavior changes used to be widely accepted as incurable effects of aging. Today we know that sometimes these changes can be symptoms of Alzheimer's disease or of a series of small strokes. But, says the National Institute on Aging, some 100 reversible conditions, including emotional problems, may mimic those disorders. A minor head injury, a high fever, poor nutrition or adverse drug reaction can temporarily upset normal activity of sensitive brain cells. Rather than dismissing mental confusion as "just old age," a complete medical examination is in order to determine the cause.

Of the 38 million people who receive monthly Social Security benefits, 61 percent are retired workers. Seven percent are disabled workers, many of them under age 60. Thirty-two percent are families, including 3.3 million children, of retired, disabled or deceased workers.

Remember When? July 21, 1925 - John Scopes was found guilty and fined $100 for teaching evolution in a Tennessee school. Defense attorney Clarence Darrow described the trial as "the first case of its kind since we stopped trying people for witchcraft."

Midget bats explode on July 4th

The Wayne Midgets scored at least once in each of the first five innings against Wakefield on Independence Day, enroute to a 10-2 victory. Jeff Griesch picked up the win from the mound and he struck out four and walked just three while recording the win.

Wayne scattered 11 hits against Wakefield pitchers Scott Ballinger and Rod Greve. Ballinger was credited with the loss. Rusty Hamer was the game's biggest hitter as he towered a home run over the 360-foot fence in left center. Hamer also tripled in the contest.

Brian Lentz belted three singles and Chris Fredrickson laced a pair of singles while Matt Bruggeman recorded a triple. Cory Wieseler, Jason Ehrhardt and Jeff Griesch all notched singles as well.

Wayne advanced to 15-2 on the season. Wakefield meanwhile, scattered six hits led by Anthony Brown's triple and single. Matt Bartling notched a double and Brent Oetken, Doug Stanton and Jon Johnson all recorded singles.

Last Friday night Wayne edged Laurel 9-6 behind the arm of Brian Lentz. Lentz struck out six and walked just three in picking up the win. Wayne's Midgets belted out nine hits in the contest led by Lentz who doubled and singled.

Chris Fredrickson and Jeff Gri-esch each laced a pair of singles while Matt Bruggeman, Eric Cole and Cory Wieseler all singled.

In games last week the Wayne Midgets defeated Creighton 7-3, but lost to Pierce 7-4. Against Creighton Wayne's only 2-hit performer was Matt Bruggeman as he belted a pair of singles. Chris Fredrickson cranked a home run for his only hit while Cory Wieseler and Jim Hoffman each singled as well.

Jeff Griesch picked up the pitching victory striking out 10 in the process. Against Pierce Wayne started its whole second team and got down quickly by a 7-0 count after two innings of play. The locals gave it their best shot to rally but fell three runs shy, losing 7-4. Hoffman was credited with the loss at the mound.

Jason Ehrhardt, Jeff Griesch and Hoffman all had two hits apiece with all singles and Cory Wieseler recorded a double.

Legion goes 2-1

Wayne's Legion team knocked off both Creighton and Pierce in games last week but lost to Wakefield in the fourth of July clash. Wayne downed Pierce by a 17-10 count behind the pitching victory of Chad Metzler. Metzler struck out eight and although he gave up 10 runs, his offense shelled out 18 hits to account for 17 runs.

Metzler had a pair of singles as did Jeff Lutt while Jason Msrny cracked a pair of doubles and a single. Brian Moore had a pair of singles and a double and Corey Frye did likewise. Jess Zeiss had a single and a double and Greg Schmidt singled as did Rob Sweetland and Tim Loberg.

Wayne defeated Creighton 11-7 with Jeff Lutt picking up the win. Wayne accumulated six hits with Lutt doing the most damage with a home run and a single. Matt Peterson doubled and Jess Zeiss, Greg Schmidt and Jason Msrny all singled.

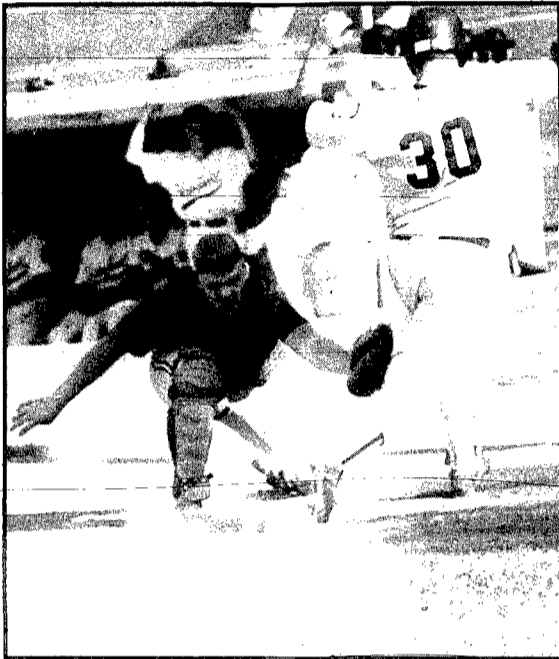

Wakefield defeated the local Legion team by a 13-3 count Tuesday night in Wakefield. Jeff Lutt was credited with the loss from the mound while Darren Martinson was the victor for Wakefield.

Wayne could only muster five hits with Greg Schmidt nailing two singles and Jeff Lutt cracking a double. Corey Frye and Kevin Hausmann also singled. Wakefield's 10-hit attack was led by Chris Loofe's 3-3 outing with three singles.

Scott Kneiff had two singles and Troy Lee, Steve Loofe, Matt Tappe and Darren Martinson all singled. Troy Twohig was credited with a double.

With the score tied 2-2 in the bottom of the third inning, controversy over an appeal led to a suspension in play. Following the suspension Wayne was never in the game as Wakefield went on to score four additional runs in the same inning.

MATT BRUGGEMAN tags out a Wakefield runner trying to score on a long throw from Rusty Hamer.

MATT PETERSON comes up throwing from his third base position in Wayne's legion contest with Wakefield.

Wayne girls advance to 9-0

The Wayne 19 and under softball team advanced its season record to 17-10, but more importantly, 9-0 in league play with recent wins over Hubbard, Wakefield and Ponca.

In Sunday's game at home against Ponca, Robin Lutt fired a 1-hitter as Wayne breezed to an 11-1 victory. Lutt struck out 10 Ponca batters enroute to the victory.

Offensively it was a power show for the Wayne girls as five of the 13 total hits recorded were for extra bases. Tracy Gamble and Robin Lutt each enjoyed a three-hit performance as Gamble went 3-4 with two doubles, while notching five rbis', and Lutt smacked two doubles in her 3-3 outing.

Tonya Erleben was the big hitter for the Seniors, with a 2-4 performance including a 2-run home run. Shelly Gilliland laced a pair of singles and Leslie Keating, Marnie Bruggeman and Dana Nelson all recorded one single each.

Last Thursday Wayne disposed of Wakefield by a 13-3 count as Robin Lutt again picked up the win. Lutt relieved Dana Nelson with one out in the third inning and went on to put out all-eight of the batters she faced the rest of the contest including five strike outs.

Wayne shelled out 11 hits in the contest and five batters recorded two hits each. Tonya Erleben was 2-2 on the night with a 2-run home run and Suzu Lutt was 2-3 with a double. Marnie Bruggeman, Robin Lutt and Tracy Gamble all went 2-3 with a pair of singles each, and Shelly Gilliland laced a single as well.

Last Wednesday Wayne traveled to Hubbard and demolished the host team by a 21-0 score. Robin Lutt pitched a 1-hitter and faced a total of 16 batters in the contest, striking out seven.

Tonya Erleben, Robin Lutt and Marnie Bruggeman all enjoyed a three-hit performance with all singles while Kristy Hansen and Suzu Lutt had two hits each and each recorded a double. Tracy Gamble notched a pair of singles as well.

16 and under loses Wayne's 16 and under team lost a 12-6 decision to Wakefield while using a new pitcher. Holly Holdorf was given the loss at the mound for Wayne who led at one time in the contest, 6-0.

Tami Schluns went 2-2 in the contest while Devanee Jensen, Kari Lutt, Tara Erleben, Lana Casey and Lisa Casey all notched one hit apiece.

In the 12 and under contest Wayne lost to Wakefield by a 5-0 count as Lucy Bebee recorded Wayne's only hit.

Last week against Hubbard the 12 and under team defeated Hubbard by an 11-3 count as Wendy Beiermann recorded the pitching victory. Beiermann aided her own cause at the plate with a 3-3 performance including a pair of doubles. Carri Fink was also 3-3 with three singles and Jenny Thompson and Kristi Hall each went 2-3 with a pair of singles each.

League Tournament This Saturday and Sunday Wayne will be hosting the League Softball Tournament—with 10 teams. Wayne received a first round bye as they were the top seed in the tournament.

Wayne's 19 and under team will play the winner of Winnebago and Newcastle at 1:00 p.m. Saturday. If Wayne should win that game they would play again at 6:15 p.m. Saturday against the winner of Wakefield and Allen. If Wayne were to be upset in its first game, then they would play at 2:45 p.m. Saturday against the Wakefield-Allen loser.

The tournament is double elimination and if Wayne would win its first two games then they would be guaranteed at the worst, third place. As mentioned, Wayne received the top seed while Pender received the second seed. Emerson is seeded third and Allen is seeded fourth with Wakefield and Ponca seeded fifth and sixth respectively.

Wayne will also be tuning up for the State Softball Tournament which begins two weeks from Friday.

WSC hires golf coach

Joan Reznicek, who taught and coached at Pender High School for the past 10 years, has been signed by Wayne State College as the new head women's golf coach and assistant women's basketball coach, according to Pete Chapman, athletic director at Wayne State.

Reznicek, a 1979 graduate of Kearney State College, was the head girl's basketball coach at Pender for nine years and head volleyball coach for three years. She also taught physical education her entire 10 years.

Originally from Dodge, Reznicek enjoyed success at Pender in 1984 and 1986 when she guided her basketball teams to the state tournament.

"We're happy to have hired a coach with a Northeast Nebraska background," Chapman said. "It's a great benefit to our women's basketball program to have an assistant coach with Joan's background in coaching at the high school level."

The women's golf program, along with cross country, will be reinstated at Wayne State this fall.

Little League downs Ponca

The Wayne Little League has enjoyed a successful season to date, moving its record to a perfect 6-0 with a 17-1 whipping of Ponca last week. Jeremy Sturm and Dusty Jensen each doubled and Jaimey Holdorf and Cory Erleben each singled.

Jeremy Sturm was the pitching ace for the Little League as he struck out six while picking up the win.

Chicken

will be served at Bressler Park, provided by numerous feeders and poultry benefactors.

Chickens take to the air often — but those skydivers leaping from airplanes at dizzying heights are certainly not chicken. The River City Sky Divers will be sky diving on Saturday. Their first sky dive is scheduled for 9 a.m. where they will land at the parking lot of the Masonic Lodge in Wayne. The other dives will take place at the city airport until 3 p.m.

TO SEE some real chickens fly, there will be a Chicken Flying Meet starting at 9:30 a.m., sanctioned by the International Chicken Flying Association. Individuals can fly their own chickens or rent one.

There will be an all day Fly-In at Wayne's Municipal Airport on Saturday. Displays will include the War Birds, S&J, the Piper Club, Angel Flight and Marian Health Center Life Line helicopters. Military equipment is also planned for display at the airport.

Refreshments will be served from 7 to 9 a.m. during the Fly-In.

The main attraction will be the North American P-51 Mustang. Today, only 80 to 100 Mustangs remain flyable or restorable to flying condition. This aircraft was built in March, 1945 in the North American Englewood, California plant. This aircraft is currently part of the Confederate Air Force Museum which has its headquarters in Harlingen, Texas.

This aircraft, along with several other modern day aircraft, will fly over Wayne prior to the big Chicken Show Parade which will begin at 11 a.m.

The parade will start at First and Main in Wayne and continue north. Entries in the parade will be judged on "Chicken-ness" and the theme of the 1989 Chicken Show — Science Fiction Chicken.

O'LEARY said there are twice as many parade entries at this time than there were the previous year. After the parade there will be an Egg-Toss on Main Street.

One new event at the annual Wayne Chicken Show will be the Heritage Homes Horseshoe Tossing Tournament at Bressler Park that starts at 10 a.m. Saturday. Pre-registration, requiring a $2 registration fee, is encouraged but not required. Prize money will be awarded to the winners of the respected divisions. Four horseshoe pits will be made available for the competition.

Contact Norm Breese at Heritage Homes in Wayne for more information at 375-4770.

Another new event will take place later on Saturday, called the Most Beautiful Beak Contest. In this competition, those with unusual actual noses have an opportunity to come away with some prizes. The judging for this contest begins at 2:30 p.m.

TWO EVENTS that continue to gain national recognition and fame are the National Cluck-Off Contest and the Egg Drop/Catch Contest.

In the Cluck-Off, contestants try their best to imitate the sound of a hen or rooster in an effort to claim bragging rights to the Traveling National Cluck-Off Cup. This event starts at 12:30 p.m.

The Egg Drop/Catch contest is a messy affair as people of all ages risk egg on their face by attempting to catch a raw egg barehanded that has been dropped from the city of Wayne's cherry picker. This event is scheduled for 3 p.m.

The annual Chicken Feed from 1 to 3 p.m., sponsored by the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce, features a chicken dinner barbecued on site. Tickets on the day of the show are $3.50. And if that isn't filling, people get get in some extra licks by helping themselves to some free ice cream bars that are provided courtesy of Great Dane Trailers of Wayne which will be distributed starting at 1:30 p.m.

From 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday there will be a Chicken Arts and Crafts Fair at Bressler Park, where an "eggstravaganza" of chicken and egg displays will be for sale. Also, adults from throughout the Wayne County area will have their prize roosters and hens on display.

JUDGING will be at noon for the Bon Ami Pane-Ting contest, sponsored by the Faultless Starch/Bon Ami Company. At this time there will also be judging for the Biggest Midwest Chicken; the Chicken Hat Contest; the biggest, littlest and oddest egg (entries must be true chicken eggs); and best decorated egg contest.

And to keep things on an even note Saturday, there will be a Chicken Song Contest, where contestants peck out their own lyrics and cackle them to a tune. The number of categories will be determined by the number of entries. This event begins at 2 p.m.

On Sunday (July 9) it may seem that eggs are dropping from the sky as a Model Rocket "Eggsposition" and Egg Lofting Contest takes place at the open field southwest of the Wayne-Carroll High School. Model rockets will be used to blast the eggs into outer space.

ONE HUNDRED dollars in prize money is available for the rocket carrying the egg payload that brings back the egg back to earth uncracked. This event starts at 8 a.m. More information on this can be obtained from Duane Blomenkamp at 375-2191.

Also on Sunday will be the Chicken Challenge, featuring radio control car racing at Higaroubee Speedway west of Pac 'N' Save. Starting time for this is 2 p.m. For more information on this event, contact Chuck Higbee at 375-3617.

public agency, the College is actively pursuing a regional public service agenda to support the Governor's agenda for statewide development. Coordinating these new resources with existing efforts will enable the College to play a larger role in rural development.

"WE BELIEVE that the location of our Field Offices at Wayne State College will only strengthen the economic development efforts in that area and also create a good working partnership," Governor Orr said.

Roger Christiansen, director of the Nebraska Department of Economic Development, said the establishment of the Field Service program will allow DED's Lincoln office to better communicate with the communities all across Nebraska. "Our representatives can provide specific assistance on the challenges rural areas are facing, enabling us to provide the services that are most needed.

The process of the implementation of the Field Service program began July 1. "We're looking to fill the field offices within the next 60 to 90 days. At the end of the year, we will have them all fully staffed and operating," Christiansen said.

For Your Information

Question: A. Does Wayne State College attempt to do as much business as possible with local Wayne firms? Is WSC required by law to bid every purchase — and accept only the lowest bid regardless of location — or does WSC consider local firms first because of convenience and other factors?

Answer:

A. Purchasing at Wayne State college is done under Nebraska Statute (Sections 81-145 to 81-163 and 81-1118 to 81-1118.03) and procedures specified by the Department of Administrative Services (DAS). These procedures require that all purchases above specified dollar levels be bid. Consistent with DAS procedures and recommendation of the public accounting firm which annually audits College operations, the bid limit has been set at $300. That is, all purchases of $300 or more must be by a competitive bid.

The College is not required to accept the lowest bid price. Other factors considered are the ability of the bidder to perform the contract acceptably and on time; quality of performance of the bidder on previous contracts; life cycle costs and predicted performance of the article in relation to purchase price; and other information having a bearing on the purchase decision. These factors allow WSC to consider more than price alone, including any advantages local firms may offer over other competitive bidders.

Although factors other than price may be considered, the WSC administration takes seriously its stewardship of public funds. Every purchase by the College represents an expenditure of either student or taxpayer dollars. The guiding principle followed in making purchasing decisions is that public funds entrusted to the College must be used prudently.

Within these laws, procedures and principles, the College attempts to do business locally whenever possible by routinely including Wayne firms when requesting price quotations. All other things being equal, bids are awarded locally. Service and support after purchase are definite considerations.

This response is offered to a question which suggest the College should purchase locally. To the extent taxpayer dollars can be spent wisely, that is done. However, the greater impact of the College on the community of Wayne occurs in ways other than College purchasing. The greatest impact is the jobs provided, the salaries paid to Wayne residents, and the services and support offered through the College's many educational and public service outreach programs.

More than 75 percent of WSC's 10.6 million budget goes to payroll. Only a small portion of the remainder is left for discretionary purchases after paying for uncontrollable or sole-source expenses such as utilities, postage, telephones, insurance, library materials and the like. The $8 million earned by the College's hundreds of employees, however, circulated through the Wayne economy in the form of taxes, home purchases and improvements, consumer spending and the like. It is typical for economic impact studies to determine the value of the payroll an industry brings to a community by multiplying by six. If that were done in the case of the College, the impact on the Wayne community would be nearly $50 million.

In addition, the College provides the community with vital facilities, resources, activities and support not otherwise available. Without the College there would be no collegiate athletic events; no Black and Gold Series; no plays, concerts, art exhibits, lectures or other activities produced by the College. The Nebraska Business Development Center, the Small Business Institute and the Microcomputer Assistance Center would not be available to assist Wayne area businesses to achieve their full potential. These are only a few examples.

The College attempts to be the best citizen that it can be in the Wayne community. It does this by making the most responsible decisions possible regarding the expenditure of taxpayer dollars — your dollars — and by contributing in every way possible to the community, its economy and future development.

CRP sign-up slated

The ninth sign-up for the Conservation Reserve Program, which will be July 17 - Aug. 4, has two unique factors, according to Dick Clark, University of Nebraska farm management specialist.

The most critical factor, Clark said, is that the ninth sign-up will be the last opportunity for farmers with highly erodible land to use the CRP to help meet Conservation Compliance Plan requirements. Those plans must be prepared and accepted by Jan. 1, 1990, or producers on highly erodible land will not be eligible for most U.S. Department of Agriculture commodity benefits.

Also worth noting, he said, is that probably only one more CRP sign-up will be offered after Aug. 4.

"Rules and regulations for the ninth sign-up appear to be the same as they've been for the last several sign-ups," said Clark, a specialist at the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources' West Central Research and Extension Center here.

Producers participating in CRP bidding at Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service offices July 17 - Aug. 4 can designate their bids for either the 1989 or 1990 crop, he said.

Acres designated for the 1989 CRP cannot be harvested. The 1990 CRP contracts are effective beginning the latest of either Oct. 1, 1989, the date the 1989 crop is harvested, or the date that ASCS signs the CRP contract.

Land eligible for Conservation

Reserve includes wetland that was farmed at least two years of the years 1981-1985. Producers with eligible wetland will be encouraged to plant trees on that land if it will support them. Native grasses, permanent wildlife habitat, field windbreaks, shallow water areas for wildlife and wildlife food plots will be considered if trees cannot be established. Lands subject to scour erosion also can be entered into the CRP, Clark explained.

More than 30.5 million acres have been accepted into the CRP nationwide. That is 10-15 million acres short of the national goal. Through the previous eight sign-ups, Nebraska has had more than 1.2 million acres accepted, making it 10th among the states in the number of CRP acres, he said.

By Pat Meierhenry

I've just returned from a five-day visit to Rapid City, S.D. Reba Mann and Bev Hansen accompanied me, and made the eight hours travel time go quickly, both ways. We didn't do much sight-seeing, as we were attending the international convention of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League, and the meetings were at the Civic Center, right downtown. This is the same arena in which our high school band performed during Rushmore Days six years ago. It's a fine facility, but was severely strained by 7,000 women. We had arranged to meet two others friends at a Bed and Breakfast. Our hosts, Sandi and Ken, made us feel welcome immediately. And when the luggage from Los Angeles did not arrive, she loaned a jacket and blankets to take along to the Passion Plan. (The suitcases went to Cedar Rapids.) We were almost rained out, and there was a cool breeze by 10 p.m. South Dakota is dry, too, and one day the temperature hit 100, but it was comfortable at night. Our breakfast fare consisted of a different coffee cake and fresh fruit every morning; and a gardenia-scented hot tub every evening. (We had to find a swimsuit sale at the local mall.) Since the state is observing its centennial, decorations featured a spinning wheel and other antiques, the host ladies wore gingham and corsages featured wheat. The welcoming pastor reminded us that we were in South Dakota,

"the state with only two escalators in the entire state." We rode one at the Civic Center, and got on the other at the airport. The opening worship service featured communion ware by the local Sioux Pottery factory, and we all searched for gold; Black Hills gold, in the traditional grape leaves and rose and green colors. We heard many inspirational speeches, viewed impressive videos, and sang in a 500 voice choir. Our theme song was written by a young man from nearby Yankton who accompanied us on a marvelous Rodgers organ. The Canadian Brass performed for us one evening. What a talented quintet they are. And on the third evening, we had a take-off on "Prairie Home Companion" by a Sioux Falls minister who looks and sounds just like Garrison Keillor. One thing we did not do much was sleep, and I've been trying to recuperate. But we had Monte's birthday to celebrate, and another wedding to attend. This was a good friend of Sue's all through high school, and we remembered track meets, basketball games and band concerts. Monte received a copy of Bill Orr's cookbook, and we tried out a recipe for shrimp on the grill that was plenty tasty. If you haven't seen this cookbook, get a copy. I've enjoyed just reading it. Now it's time to light a few fire crackers and get back to work. It's been real corn growing weather. I think the new swim suit will get a workout. And we continue to pray for rain.

Great Sadness

The recent Supreme Court decision that will allow, under the protection of the first amendment of the United States Constitution, the burning of the United States Flag as a protest brings great sadness to the members of Irwin L. Sears Post #43 of the Wayne American Legion. It shakes our very foundation when we must think of those who fought in the wars under these cherished colors to protect our way of life and the future of our children. Our thoughts include those who made the supreme sacrifice and their families. We cannot help but wonder what one must do to protect and preserve that which is sacred to us; or what those who have passed before us would think. The flag is one monument common to all 50 states and its territories. Many states have their own monuments such as Bunker Hill, Gettysburg, or the Alamo but the Flag should be and has always been the key symbol to combine the people of the United States together. The American Legion Constitution is dedicated to uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States and to respect law and order. We do not deny to anyone their rights under the Constitution but raise the issue of a government by the people that possesses the power to order its citizens to fight in a defense of its flag should also hold the right to protect against desecration of our sacred symbol. Irwin L. Sears Post #43 and its 199 members urge you to begin a positive protest to demonstrate your disagreement with the Supreme Court decision. Our methods will include contacting our Senators and Congressmen asking for a Constitutional Amendment, wearing of flag tacks, and to fly the flag of our country high and proudly. Our Flag stands as a symbol of freedom, not only to us but many people throughout the world. The cost of freedom has not been cheap and to many there cannot have been a higher cost than the loss of life. The flag is our symbol and deserving of proper respect. Dennis M. Spangler Commander, Irwin L. Sears Post #43

Poetic tribute
The famous "Trees" by Joyce Kilmer inspired this poem.
Chicks
I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a chick,
A chick grows from fuzz to feather
Unaware of foe and weather;
The perky head and beady eye
Sees all, wiggly warm, man and sky.
It gives meat for casserole and roasts
Eggs for the omelet, cakes, and pie.
Delicious food for happy hosts.
This great chick clucks and crows its worth
Adding to the joy of our earth;
Poems are made by we human hicks
But none so lovely as the chicks.

On Kearney State issue

College board takes no action

The Nebraska State College Board of Trustees voted unanimously today to take no action to implement Sections 6 to 11 of LB 247 (placing Kearney State College under the responsibility of the University Board of Regents) until the constitutionality of the act is finally determined by the courts. Taken in emergency telephone conference, the decision was in response to an attorney general's June 29 opinion that determined as unconstitutional certain sections of the bill. The College Board emphasized their action was taken for the purpose of expediting a decision on the bill by the Nebraska Supreme Court, and not to obstruct getting answers to questions raised by the legislation. LB 247 was passed during the first session of Nebraska's Ninety-First Legislature. Attorney General Robert M. Spire had asked for quick response by the College Board to facilitate his petitioning the Supreme Court. The trustees would not have met in regular session until July 14. The College Board emphasized their interest in quick action because of responsibilities to students at all four State Colleges. The Attorney General's opinion was based on an earlier decision regarding LB 160, which later became a part of LB 247.

HELPING THE LOCAL ECONOMY IS AN IDEA WE CAN ALL BUY INTO.

Nebraska's hometown banks believe in doing business here at home. When we buy from local merchants, the money stays here to stimulate the hometown economy. It means that we'll always have the goods and services we need close by. Shopping our hometown stores first is an idea that makes dollars and sense.

Weight Loss Medicine

A variety of prescription drug products have been used to help people lose weight - central nervous system stimulants, narcotics, hormones, and enzyme inhibitors. Phenylpropranolamine is the active ingredient in the majority of nonprescription "diet-aids" in tablet or capsule form. According to an advisory panel to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, this agent is "probably safe and effective" as an aid to weight reduction. Persons with hypertension, heart disease, and certain other health problems should use products containing phenylpropranolamine only with a physician's guidance. In several studies, persons taking this medicine lost about 1/2 pound each week, which is about the same amount that occurs with the popular prescription - only appetite-suppressing drugs.

LEGION BASEBALL TICKET SALES

The Legion baseball ticket sales hit the 200 mark last week and the committee is continuing to try and reach their goal of 250. The baseball committee is encouraging players who have tickets which they have not turned in to do so as soon as possible.

Baseball committeeman Duane Tappe also says the tickets are still available and that there are several home games remaining on the schedule and Coach Paul Eaton says there will probably be some other games added to the home schedule.

The season tickets sell for $10 and the post welcomes support from fans, Legion members and other community members who would like to assist the Midget and Junior Legion baseball program in Wakefield.

OPEN-AIR MARKET

In response to requests at various times, the Wakefield Community Club and the Pumpkin Days committee are planning an open-air market. The market would provide an opportunity for individuals or organizations to sell their wares.

The idea is to bring your merchandise — fresh produce, crafts, antiques, collectibles, white elephants, garage sale type items, baked goods or commercial products — and set up shop on main street for a day. Date selected is Friday, Sept. 22, the first day of the Pumpkin Days celebration.

Those interested are asked to contact the committee by Aug. 1. At that time, if there is enough interest, plans will proceed and the committee will arrange promotion and advertising for the market.

A fun run has been added to the activities planned for Pumpkin Days on Saturday, Sept. 23. Also the arts and crafts show will include a quilt display.

FOOTBALL PLAQUES

The plaques featuring the 1988 state football qualifying team have arrived, according to Coach Dennis Wilbur and may be picked up at the high school office. Those who ordered the plaques are advised that the cost is $12.85 each.

Attending from Salem Evangelical Lutheran Church were the Rev. Joe Marek, intern Jim Killough, Dan and Jeanne Gardner and Art and Mae Greve.

Apart from administrative business and honors to individuals with the 276 ELCA congregations in Nebraska, delegates adopted resolutions addressing concerns about South Africa, human sexuality classes and serving the needy of the state.

Grandparents Walter and Dorothy Hale of Allen, Tom and Pat Otto of Norfolk and uncle Joe Otto of Norfolk were Sunday afternoon guests in the Merrill and Maggie Hale home in South Sioux City to help Vanessa Rae celebrate her second birthday. In the evening they all went to Bonanza in Sioux City for supper.
