Dr. Mash, students, others testify

Graduate programs essential to area

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

Graduate programs are vital to this northeast Nebraska area and Wayne State College's strengths lie in its accessibility and affordability to prospective traditional and non-traditional students.

Those facts were often stated during Monday afternoon's testimonies presented at a special public hearing on the future of higher education. The hearing, focusing on LB 247 that requires a comprehensive study of the Nebraska higher education system, drew up to 80 people. Location of the hearing was at the Benthack Hall on the Wayne State College campus.

An amendment to LB 247 also brings Kearney State College into the University of Nebraska system — if the state supreme court rules that the action is constitutional.

Present at the special hearing were Patricia Widmayer, study team project manager and Dr. Harold Enarson, former president of Ohio State University. They are two members of the consultant team commissioned to conduct the study.

Brought up often was a comment reportedly made by University of Nebraska Board of Regent John Payne during a similar special hearing conducted last week in Kearney. Payne had proposed discontinuing graduate programs at Wayne State College (and Peru and Chadron State) if Kearney State joins the university system.

"That's a very volatile issue in northeast Nebraska," said Dr. Donald Mash, president of Wayne State College.

MASH SAID the WSC graduate program is accessible to working professionals and to parents in the northeast Nebraska area who can attend college only on a part-time basis. "And after they get their education, they stay in the Greater Nebraska area," he said.

Attending graduate programs in Lincoln or Omaha, he said, is not a reasonable option for Greater Nebraska students. "If we don't do a better job of getting to them, Greater Nebraska will suffer," Mash said.

Wayne State could still function within its role and mission by not offering graduate programs. "Wayne State doesn't need to offer graduate programs. However, northeast Nebraska needs a graduate program offered by somebody," he said.

Wayne State graduate assistant Lori Utecht testified that traveling to other universities would have inhibited or prohibited her from access to graduate education.

Walk-A-Thon planned

Alzheimer benefit set

A Walk-A-Thon in Wayne to benefit the Alzheimer's Association has been scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 18 during Region IV's Public Information and Awareness Month.

Honorary Chairperson of the event is Lynette Carmichael. The mentally handicapped adults who are served by Region IV will go out to collect pledges and participate in the Walk-A-Thon.

On Oct. 4 staff members of Region IV will escort the clients around Wayne, going door to door to solicit pledges. The rain date for collecting pledges is Oct. 11.

THEN ON Oct. 18 the Walk-A-Thon will take place. Clients served by Region IV will be walking the five mile route which starts at the ADC and ends at the ADC, according to Kim Kanitz, area director of Region IV Services. The

CROP Walk scheduled

Rain or shine, the annual Wayne County CROP Walk is set for Sunday, Oct. 1 at 1 p.m.

The approximately six kilometer walk will begin and end at the National Guard Armory.

Most of the funds raised by the CROP Walk are used by church world services for overseas relief and development. However, a portion of the proceeds go to the food pantry in Wayne, sponsored by the Wayne Ministerial Association.

because of responsibilities to her family and community. Schools in the area would be strongly affected by the loss of the graduate student programs.

Many graduate students are in-service teachers at area schools and are working on master in education programs to enrich their knowledge and enhance their effectiveness and competence in the classroom, she said.

"I WOULD hate to see the graduate program here discontinued for reasons based solely on numbers," she said.

Betty Heier of Wayne, a teacher at Wakefield, said it would be a mistake to discontinue the graduate program at Wayne State. "There are at least 16 schools with a 30 to 45 mile radius of Wayne State. There are at least 700 public school teachers in that radius and many take part in the college's graduate program," she testified.

Phyllis Spethman of Wayne also spoke on the importance of accessibility and affordability in regard to the graduate programs at Wayne State College.

Mash said the higher education study "is a very, very important study."

"The real issue is the long-term viability of rural Nebraska as well as the state of Nebraska," he said. "State colleges must be better supported to do their work. Their role and mission must be enhanced, not compromised."

Wayne State and other state colleges are no longer teachers colleges. "There is a misconception about that. The colleges have evolved into comprehensive state colleges."

"We are affordable and accessible and provide an opportunity for students so they have a chance for higher education," Mash mentioned. "Wayne State College is about development of the student and development of the region."

OF ALL THE traditional students at Wayne State, approximately 70 percent are first generation college students. To keep them at Wayne State, Mash said these students need support, care and attention. "Their confidence must be developed," he said.

"Wayne State College is doing this well, but we're working to make it better," he added.

Non-traditional student enrollment is approximately 35 to 40 percent of the headcount. Tim Hurley of Creighton, a business student, also testified at the hearing. He is a non-traditional student.

Kanitz said he is recruiting volunteers needed to assist in the Walk-A-Thon event. Having one or two representatives from organizations in the community — escorting the clients on the walk — would be helpful, he said.

He will be soliciting pledges from the businesses in the community. Region IV will take care of the actual collection and remitted pledges, Kanitz said.

Staff members who are accompanying the clients will be wearing buttons during pledge day (Oct. 4).

MONEY RAISED by the clients will be sent to the Alzheimer's Association (Omaha chapter). Funds can be used within the state of Nebraska to help the WAYNE STATE COLLEGE'S Marching Band passes by an applauding audience during Saturday's 1989 Band Day in Wayne. There were 25 bands and over 1,300 participants in the morning parade.

Success shines on Band Day; Wakefield, Winside win honors

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

A sunny sky and a festive atmosphere brought out the colors and excitement of another Wayne State College Band Day.

Twenty-two high school bands, two middle school and junior high bands and the Wayne State College Marching Band participated in the event — totaling 25 bands involving over 1,300 students.

"The day surpassed my expectations all the way around," said Gary Davis, Wayne State College band director and co-coordinator of the Band Day event. Davis said he was particularly pleased with the quality of the bands throughout the five classes — from bands ranging in size from 27 (Humphrey Public Schools) to the largest high school band with 111 members (Wayne-Carroll).

"We've never had five Class B schools in a Band Day parade before," said Davis. Those schools included Wayne-Carroll, Columbus Scouts, Grand Island Northwest, Logan View and West Point.

DAVIS SAID the Band Day parade is designed as an "educational tool" for all participating schools. Each of the schools receive a tape of their band's performances from each of the three judges. Those judges were Jeff James, band director at Aurora Junior High School; Bill Bailey, band director at Columbus High School; and Bob Palensky, David City band director.

"Our music played at half-time [of the Wildcats-Minnesota Morris football game] was also special, because it was written for the performance by all Nebraska band directors," said Davis. James (one of the judges) is a co-owner of a Nebraska company that writes band music and he was able to hear some of his numbers performed by the mass band at half-time.

"As always the Chamber of Commerce did an excellent job. We are deeply indebted to the Chamber for the financing of the scholarships and for their long hard hours of work on Band Day," Davis said.

"A lot of people are involved in it. There are so many that contribute to Band Day that go unrecognized," he added.

HE SAID that having Roberta "Mom" Welte as Grand Marshal of Creighton to Wayne State] has been well worth it. Going to school and living in Omaha would have been a difficult task. I'm very thankful that Wayne State College is here," Hurley said.

There are tremendous "unmet needs" in Nebraska for higher education, Mash said in reference to what some consider as duplication of education programs. "We don't offer courses that don't fill. We need to be doing more, not less," Mash said.

"We've got to bring the level of education up at the same time as we try to diversify the economy," he said later.

KEARNEY State College, if taken in by the university, is a unique situation because it is located within the third urban cluster of Nebraska.

"Whatever comes out of this, whether we have a three or four college system, the needs of northeast Nebraska are no less formidable, the challenge is no less greater," Mash said.

Rich Bringelson, executive officer of the Nebraska State College Board of Trustees, pointed out that the State College Board of Trustees endorsed the study of higher education and was interested in the ideas and information generated by the hearings, discussions and other research.

Bringelson provided documents detailing the Board of Trustees' action which he said would be helpful to the committee's higher education study. They included:

— A report compiled by the state colleges concerning cooperative programs with the Nebraska State Colleges which reflects the long tradition of joint program efforts by the state colleges.

— An adequacy funding study conducted for the Board of Trustees which documented critical funding problems with the most severe problems at Kearney State and Wayne State. "With very modest reference group institutions, the Nebraska State Colleges—rank—at or near the bottom in funding per student," said Bringelson.

— A report that the Board of Trustees voted to support another bill, LB 760, which would name the state colleges as regional-state universities.

— A report on Board of Trustees resolutions supporting cooperative program delivery and economic development in Nebraska.

— A report on academic computing and Library Automation.

— And a report on lay governance and related expectations.

"IT SHOULD be noted that the Nebraska State College Board of Trustees has selected a process for resolving the LB 247 constitutionality question currently before the Supreme Court in as timely a manner as possible," Bringelson said.

City Administrators Mike Nolan of Norfolk and Phil Kloster of Wayne also testified at the special hearing. Nolan said the areas of Norfolk, Columbus and Wayne does not take a back seat to anyone when speaking of a regional trade area and industrial base.

Economic development should be on an equitable basis with other areas of the state, he said. He and Kloster both agreed that there is a gap that can be filled with the availability of a masters in business program at Wayne State College.

"It is important that if we are going to compete with industrial and higher-populated states in the Midwest, we must maintain a good secondary education system in Nebraska," Kloster said. "We would like to see the MBA program developed and given the necessary funding."

Devi Bohling, a student at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, said the higher education study team should "not settle for mediocrity."

She suggested the telecommunication industry as a means to provide graduate programs to outlying campuses and said that quality should be stressed rather than quantity in reference to graduate programs.

DIRECTOR OF Information Services at Wayne State, Jack Middendorf, asked the higher education study team to consider installing a graduate program at Wayne State that would provide a masters degree in Library Science and a masters degree in Educational Media Specialist.

Several public and college library officials gave testimony to distance they must travel in obtaining these degrees at the present time (to Emporia, Kansas) and they commented on how there is an evident need for an accessible and affordable graduate program in this area.

Widmayer told the audience that the special hearing was "the beginning of the dialogue, not the end."

The consulting study team must make an interim report to the legislature by Nov. 15 of this year. The final report is to be presented in November of 1990. "We want to take in the hopes, ambitions and constraints of Nebraskans as we put this together," Widmayer said.

Present at Monday afternoon's hearing were Senator Ron Withem of Papillion, co-chairman of the 15 member committee to oversee the higher education study, and Senators Gerald Conway of Wayne and Elroy Hefner of Coleridge.

"It is a long involved study," Widmayer said when closing the hearing.

Band Day

Band Day also had special meaning.

Results of the competition were: First Place, Class B, Logan View Senior High School; First Place, Class C-1, Wakefield Public Schools; First Place, Class C-2, Homer Public Schools; First Place, Class D-1, Winside Public Schools; First Place, Class D-2, Bancroft-Rosalie.

Trophies were awarded to the top band and a $200 scholarship, provided by the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce and Wayne State College, was given to the school to give to a student who plans to attend Wayne State and participate in the band program.

The most bands Davis recalls that have participated in Band Day has been 28 in 1972. He didn't reach a goal of 30 bands for this year.

"But it will be a goal that we'll be setting for next year," Davis said.

OTHER participating bands included Wayne-Carroll Middle School and Wisner-Pilger Junior High School; Walthill Public School; Hartington Public Schools; Clarkson Public Schools; Beemer Public Schools; Butte Public Schools; Wausa Public Schools; Pender Public Schools; Laurel-Concord Public Schools; Randolph Senior High School; Woodbury Central High School (Menville, Iowa); Emerson-Hubbard Public Schools; and Neligh-Oakdale Public Schools.

Wayne State Wildcats losing streak stretches

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

The Wayne State football team played its first home game of the 1989 season Saturday at Memorial Field against Minnesota-Morris and the Wildcats finally got the monkey off their backs by scoring a touchdown, but the losing streak continued as Morris pounded its way to a 30-6 victory.

"The game can be summed up very simply," coach Dennis Wagner said. "Our kids put forth a lackluster effort. We were flat in pre-game warm up and we were flat throughout the game."

Morris received the opening kickoff and proceeded to drive the length of the football field to score a touchdown on a 1-yard run by Rod Leman with 10:22 remaining in the opening quarter.

Wayne State received the ensuing kickoff only to fumble the ball back to Minnesota-Morris. Wayne State dodged its first bullet of the game when Glen Sutton intercepted a Morris pass in the endzone and ran it back 18 yards.

The Wildcats however, were unable to move the ball much in the first half and when they did, they were penalized for holding or illegal motion. With 2:07 remaining in the first quarter Morris upped its lead to 13-0 on a 3-yard run by Bill Magnuson.

There was no scoring in the second quarter and even though the Wildcats were not being overly productive on offense they were still within striking range.

All that changed within the first half of the third quarter as Morris scored on an 8-yard pass play from Rod Leman to Craig Alto and they also converted the two point attempt to put the lead at 21-0. Later in the quarter Morris kicker Joel Beyer kicked a 37-yard field goal to give Morris a 24-0 cushion. Beyer later kicked a 34-yard field goal to give the Cougars a comfortable 27-0 lead heading into the final quarter of play.

As mentioned earlier Wayne State finally got the monkey off its back by scoring a touchdown, a drought that had dated back to mid season a year ago, (34 quarters). With 13 seconds left in the third quarter Wayne State began the scoring drive on the 47 yard line of Morris after a personal foul call on Morris following a kickoff.

Wayne State's first play on the drive was nullified by a clipping call leaving the Wildcats with a first and 24 on their own 39 yard line. Quarterback Gale Lawton was dropped on the first down play for no gain, thus ending the third quarter with Wayne State facing second and 24.

The first play of the fourth quarter saw Lawton scramble for seven yards leaving the Wildcats with a third down and 11 play. Lawton's pass was incomplete but a roughing the passer call left Wayne State with a first and 10 at the Morris 34 yard line.

Troy Jackson carried for six yards and then Lawton took off on another run, this time gaining 13 yards and leaving Wayne State at the Morris 15 yard line with a first and 10. Lawton carried on the next play and gained one yard and on the ensuing play Wayne State was whistled for illegal motion leaving the ball at the 19 yard line.

Lawton then rushed for 10 yards on the next carry and then on the third and four play from the nine yard line Troy Jackson went the distance to PAYDIRT!

"The game just started out wrong," Wagner said. "Morris played with a lot of intensity and we didn't. They came to play and win. I think we might have been taking them lightly because on paper they weren't supposed to be as tough as St. Cloud or South Dakota, but when you are in our (Wayne State's) situation you can't take anyone lightly."

Wagner noted his concern over the rush defense his squad showed against Morris. "Against the first two teams we played our defense had some success stopping the run but Morris was able to run and throw successfully on us," Wagner said. "We just played very passive defense."

Morris picked up 25 first downs in its ball controlled style of play while Wayne State mustered just eight first downs. The Wildcats rushed the ball 34 times for a net of 64 yards while Morris rushed the ball 49 times for a net of 195 yards.

"It takes 11 guys to make every play work the right way," Wagner said. "It's not what we're doing that is wrong, it's how we are executing what we are supposed to be doing, so we are not going to change anything, we just have to get better at what we're trying to do and quit making mistakes."

Wayne State was a mere 4-15 in the passing department for 56 yards while Morris was 20-34 for 222 yards. Wayne State did pick off four of Morris' passes however, and Glen Sutton was the thief on two of them while Mo Walker and Jeff Brownfield also collected interceptions.

One thing that haunted Wayne State was the penalty department where the Wildcats were flagged 11 times for 110 yards. "We do not feel that we lost to a better team,"

WAYNE STATE defensive player Matt Holly, (#72) collides with Minnesota-Morris quarterback Rod Leman while Randy Rouse, (#94) tries to knock down the attempted pass. Scott Vokoun, (#83) tries to come in from the blindside to lay a hit on Leman as well.

Wagner said. "This was a demoralizing defeat and we as coaches are searching for an answer as to why. We have to stay consistent as a football team."

Offensively, Wayne State was led in rushing by Troy Jackson's 32 yards on 14 carries. Gale Lawton gained 27 yards on eight carries to be the second leading rusher for the Wildcats. Kirk Meyer was 4-13 in passing for 56 yards. His receivers included Bill Blondin, who caught two passes for 25 yards and Macha Shinhoster, who caught one pass for 25 yards and Lamar Daniels, who caught one pass for six yards.

Jeff Pasold punted the ball seven times for the Wildcats and maintained a 35.4 average with his longest being 55 yards. No one in the contest rushed for more than 100 yards as Morris was led by Bill Magnuson's 95 yards on 25 carries.

Defensively the Wildcats were led by Chris Matzen's 17 tackles. Matzen had 11 solos and six assists. Glen Sutton had eight solos and three assists for 11 tackles and Jeff Brownfield and Randy Rouse had 10 tackles apiece. Bob Sterba had nine tackles and Jim Scott was in on eight. Mo Walker was in on seven stops while Matt Holly and Rondy Woodard each collected five tackles.

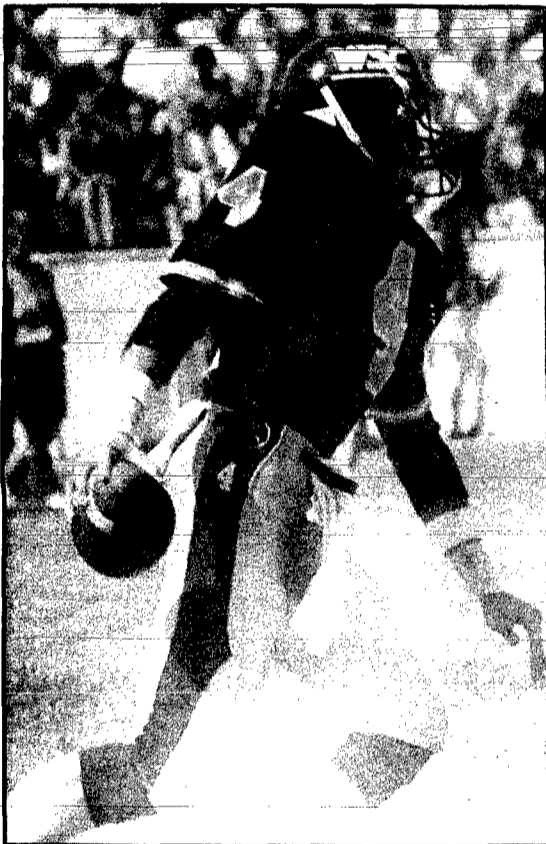

Dave Wingett and Gale Lawton each recovered a fumble. "I really can't find anything positive about losing, so it's hard to find something good to say," Wagner said. "Morris didn't do one thing that we didn't practice for all week. We actually digressed between week two and week three of our season and as coaches you never want to see that."

Wayne State will host Minot State this Saturday and Wagner said he's warning the players now not to take them too lightly. "If we play with a lot of emotion and desire we can win that football game," Wagner said. "If all our guys put forth a lot of effort we can make up for any errors that we suffer if any. Minot State will be on the same level as Morris. They don't throw the ball as well as Morris but they have good size on the line and they try to establish the run."

Minot State will come into Memorial field on Saturday with a 1-2 record. "We have eight games to go and we are not giving up," Wagner said.

Editor's note: Those attending the game on Saturday may have noted that Wayne State was on the visitor sidelines. That will be the case for all home contests this season because of the underground wiring for the headphones. The phones only work on the home sideline and it's the home team's responsibility that in these type of situations that the visiting team gets the phones that work. Wayne State coaches will use walkie talkies on the sidelines. The attendance at the game was over 2,600.

WAYNE STATE quarterback Kirk Meyer hides the ball before he gets set to release it downfield.

Winside loses to Wausa

The Lady Wildcats of Winside suffered a loss at the hands of Wausa Tuesday night in Wausa in straight sets, 14-16, 12-15. Although the score was close in both sets and Wausa is a very competitive team, coach Paul Giesselmann couldn't help but think his squad should have won the match.

"We were up 13-6 in the first set and we lost," Giesselmann said. "We had some good moments on the floor but overall I don't think we played as well as we could have."

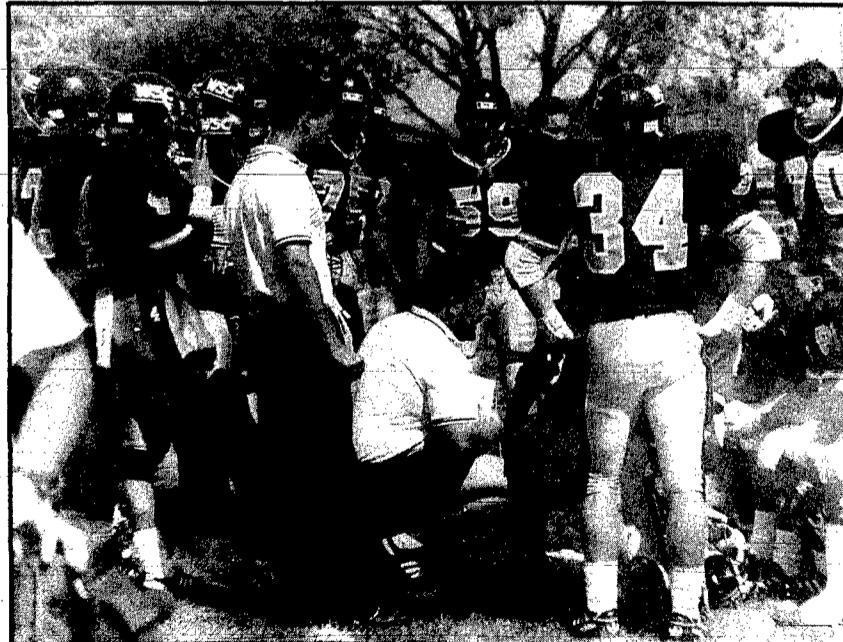

Kelly Pitchler and Tina Hartmann led the team in serving as Pitchler was a perfect 12-12 with three aces and Hartmann was 10-10 with two aces. Shannon Holdorf was good on 8-10 with two aces and Shawn Janke was 4-4 with two aces. Patty Oberle was good on 5-7.

Jenny Jacobsen connected on 14 of her 20 spike attempts and she had nine kill spikes. Jenni Topp was a perfect 8-8 with four aces and Tina Hartmann was 6-8 with two kills.

Tina Hartmann and Kelly Pitchler not only led the team in serving but in setting as well. Hartmann was good on 26 of 28 sets with seven assists and Pitchler was 20-21 with six assists.

"Our setters have been positively consistent so far this season," Giesselmann said. "That is something we have to have to be successful." Winside's record fell to 1-5 on the year with the setback.

The Wildcats will travel to Stanton on Thursday.

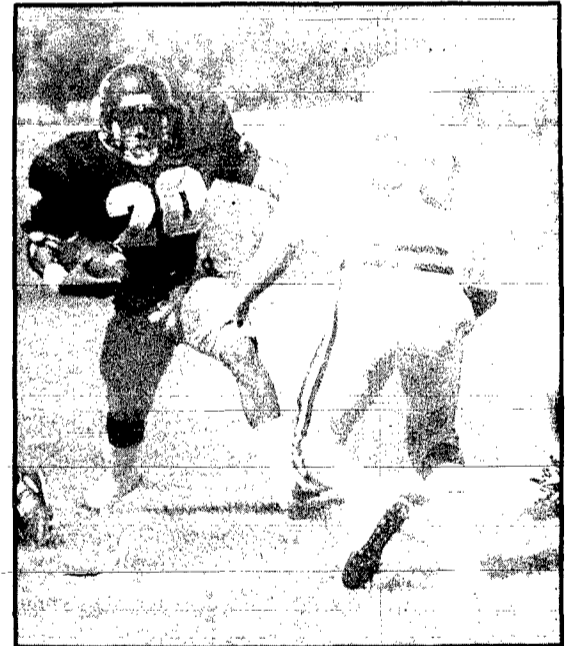

WILDCAT HEAD coach Dennis Wagner spends a few minutes with his offensive unit during first quarter action of the Wayne State game on Saturday with Minnesota-Morris. Wayne State dropped its season opener, 30-6.

Puttin' up with Pete

By Kevin Peterson

Last week the Crystal Ball had some trouble but it still managed to go .500 with a 5-5 record. It seemed like the games that it won; it won big and the games that it lost, lost big. This week the Crystal Ball promises a better outcome.

Winside at Osmond—Winside put forth a good effort in last week's game with Coleridge but they lost a good defensive player in Randy Prince. Still the Wildcats will be too much for Osmond, Winside, 30—Osmond, 16.

Allen at Bancroft-Rosalie—Last week the Allen football team nearly cost me my sanity as I picked them to defeat Newcastle and they lost 44-0. I'm nearly over that one, but as much as I like coach Busseleman at Allen, I'm afraid that I have to go with the quicker Bancroft-Rosalie team this week, Bancroft-Rosalie, 46—Allen, 12.

Norfolk Catholic at Wakefield—Last week the Trojans of Wakefield won their first game of the season by a 13-8 margin, against marginal Plainview. This week they must play one of the best teams in all of Class C. Norfolk Catholic, 20—Wakefield, 6.

Homer at Laurel—Last week coach Tom Luxford made me look like a hero as I picked Laurel to upset state rated Ponca and they proceeded to do so by a 42-0 margin. This week it's homecoming in Laurel and although it's easy to let your mind wonder on homecoming week with all of the festivities, I believe Luxford's fun bunch is going to run havoc over Homer, Laurel, 32—Homer, 6.

Wayne at David City Aquinas—If there is one team I would not want to be this week it's David City Aquinas. Wayne is still reeling from last week's 23-0 loss to South Sioux. Not only did it leave a sour taste in the mouth of the players, it knocked the Blue Devils out of the top 10 of the ratings. South Sioux is a Class A school, David City Aquinas is a Class C school. The difference, Wayne, 33—David City Aquinas, 0.

Minot State at Wayne State—Last week I predicted that Wayne State would garner its first win since midway through the 1987 football season. They fell short against Minnesota-Morris because coach Wagner said his squad just didn't come ready to play. O.K. this week you got to believe that the Wildcats will come ready to play and I believe they have something to prove to the home folk, Wayne State 24, Minot State 13.

Other games of noted interest as far as predictions go include: Nebraska, 56—Minnesota, 13; Syracuse 27—Oklahoma State, 13; Iowa, 31—Iowa State, 14; Michigan, 38—UCLA, 10.

Wayne spikers lose to Norfolk

Wayne's volleyball team traveled to Norfolk Tuesday night and according to coach Marlene Uhing, the Blue Devils played perhaps the best team they'll see all season.

"Norfolk has a lot of talent," Uhing said. "I really don't think we'll see anyone that's any better." Wayne played some high quality volleyball during the match and the Blue Devils even had their share of chances to win, but Norfolk, with its back to the wall, came on strong in the latter part of the third set to claim the win.

Wayne dropped the first set by a 15-2 count even though they didn't play that badly. "There were some long rallies in the first set," Uhing said. "We just couldn't get our serve to come in consistently."

In the second set Wayne dominated and it was largely due to the serving expertise of Teresa Ellis. Ellis went on a streak of 11 points in a row to put Wayne ahead by a 13-4 count. "Teresa really did a nice job of serving," Uhing said. "She built us a nice lead and we hung on to win, 15-4."

In the third set Wayne got up quickly and even had a lead of 11-3 before Norfolk fought back and eventually won, 16-14. "We got that nice lead and we began playing passive," Uhing said. "We just didn't show the same aggressiveness that got us that lead."

Teresa Ellis led all servers with a 15-17 effort and two aces. Ellis finished the evening with 16 points. Deanna Schluns was next with a 10 of 11 performance with two aces and seven points.

Heidi Reeg was the top spiker with a 10 of 11 effort with two kills. Erin Pick was 4-5 with one kill as well. Teresa Ellis was also the top setter as she was a perfect 23-23 with six assists. Heidi Reeg was next with a five of six effort and five assists. Erin Pick had four blocks to lead the Blue Devils in that category while Ellis managed three.

WSC JV's defeated

The Wayne State junior-varsity football team evened its record at 1-1 Sunday afternoon at Memorial Stadium with a 30-9 loss at the hands of Iowa Central Community College.

Iowa Central scored 27 points in the first quarter and never looked back even though the Wildcats out-scored them—the rest of the way by a 9-3 count. Iowa Central scored on a 28-yard pass, a 44-yard run, a 40-yard run and a 29-yard blocked punt return.

Wayne State's Darren Rowe connected on a 27-yard field goal midway through the second quarter to put the Wildcats on the board and with 45 seconds left in the fourth quarter Wayne State's Kurt Jensen connected with Alan Axelsson on a 52-yard pass play to close out the scoring.

Wayne State had better stats than Iowa Central but Iowa Central had more big plays. The Wildcats out first downed the visitors by a 15-8 count. Wayne State netted just 51 yards rushing while Iowa Central rolled up 199 yards.

Quarterback Ray Luna connected on 20 of 40 pass attempts for 231 yards and two interceptions. Jensen was 1-1 for 52 yards and the lone Wayne State touchdown. Iowa Central netted just 44 yards passing which gave Wayne State an edge in total yards, 334-

243. Dave Turnquist was Wayne State's leading rusher with 34 yards on 13 carries while Kurt Jensen picked up 13 yards and Willie Tucker, 12 yards. In the pass receiving department Dave Wingett caught 11 passes for 131 yards and Alan Axelsson caught six passes for 113 yards. James Hilkeman, Willie Tucker, Dave Turnquist and Kurt Jensen each caught one pass.

Wayne State's defense had a total of 10 plays where they tackled the runner or quarterback behind the line of scrimmage. Some of the key defensive specialists in the game for the Wildcats included John Wriedt who had five solo tackles and six assists for a total of 11 tackles. Cory Reeder followed with nine tackles and Troy Hedlund finished with eight tackles.

Steve Fitzgerald finished the contest with seven total tackles and Marty Jonas came in on six tackles. Doug Goodwin finished the game with five stops. Wriedt was a terror on the defense side with two stops behind the line of scrimmage and a quarterback sack.

Thomas wins f-ball contest

There were three perfect football contest entries in the first week of the Wayne Herald contest. The winner however, with the tie breaker in effect, was Ken Thomas from Bellevue, Nebr.

Runner up was Alvin Meyer from right here in Wayne. Meyer's tie breaker had Wayne defeating South Sioux while Thomas had South Sioux defeating Wayne.

Our third contestant which had a perfect card was Russell Crosley, also of Wayne. Crosley's tie breaker was not as close as the other two. Good luck to everyone who enters this week's contest and please pay special attention to the directions on the tie breaker.

Wayne JV's lose to Pierce

The junior varsity football team from Wayne-Carroll traveled to Pierce Monday night for its second football game of the season. Wayne lost to the host team by a 14-0 count and ran its record to 0-2 on the season.

Pierce scored its first touchdown in the second quarter and then they scored with 14 seconds to go in the game. "It was a really close game all the way through," coach Ron Carnes said. "That last touchdown was their first string against our younger kids."

Cory Wieseler led the Wayne squad in rushing with 120 yards while Regg Carnes finished the contest with 56 yards. Jason Fink led the defense with 13 tackles while Regg Carnes finished with eight. Dan Wiseman and Jim Murphy each finished the game with seven tackles.

"It will take a while for this group of young kids to gel," Carnes said, "but they played better against Pierce than they did in the first game against South Sioux. The kids really gave a great effort."

Wayne will host Hartington next Monday in Wayne at the practice field beginning at 5 p.m.

Girls golf team downed

The Wayne girls golf team dropped a dual to the Norfolk reserve team last Thursday at the Wayne Country Club, 227-263. Cher Reeg tied for second place honors with Norfolk's Mindy Johnson with a 54. Linda Feyherm was medalist with a 53.

Jessica Rothfuss finished second for Wayne with a 61 while Jennifer Chapman was third with a 70. Trudy Pflanz was fourth and Krista Remer was fifth for Wayne.

On Friday the Blue Devils traveled to participate in the Blair Invitational. Wayne came away with a sixth place finish behind Blair, Wahoo, Blair's "B" team, Syracuse and Plattsburgh.

Cher Reeg was Wayne's top finisher with a 110. Reeg tied for 10th and 11th place. Jennifer Chapman was Wayne's second best golfer on the day while Jessica Rothfuss was third for the Blue Devils. Lisa Casey and Trudy Pflanz followed in order.

IS IT ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE? You misplaced your car keys — again. You can't remember what you had for lunch yesterday, or even what you had for breakfast this morning. You're terribly upset to realize that you momentarily forgot your grandson's name. Is it possible that you have Alzheimer's Disease?

Maybe. But it's more likely you simply have an occasional memory lapse; it happens to all of us regardless of age. Older people often have some short term memory loss as part of the aging process. It's called benign senescent forgetfulness.

While it's true that publicity about Alzheimer's Disease has focused on the symptoms of the condition and helped alert people to the possibility of its onset, the fact is that not every symptom associated with Alzheimer's may indicate that Alzheimer's is present. Actually, less than 15 percent of the 65-and-older population has Alzheimer's or any other degenerative brain condition. Check with your doctor to make sure you're in that 85 percent and better category.

Also, while some memory loss may be normal as we grow older, it may be possible to delay its onset or minimize its effect by exercising one's brain to maintain it at optimum condition. Recommended exercises: read, do puzzles (crosswords are excellent), take courses, start writing that novel you've been thinking about; start a family history; get out among people; work part or full time, or volunteer at a hospital or library. Learn to play chess, or a musical instrument. Ditto card games. Also, have your vision and hearing checked. You may be getting insufficient sensory input for your brain to process; therefore, you can't recall a specific event because your brain never "created" the memory.

SUMMER SENSE: Dr. Geraldine Lanman, director of Geriatric Programs at the Long Island Jewish Medical Center says older people's summer heat problems may be caused by their lower bodily water reserves and fewer sweat glands. Some medications may contribute to loss of bodily fluid or increase risk of sunburn. (Check your doctor about this.)

Danger symptoms include weakness, nausea, dizziness, headache, extreme thirst, loss of muscle coordination or mental confusion. Start first aid immediately. Move the person to a shaded, cool area and have him or her recline; call a doctor or ambulance; remove as much of the stricken person's clothing as possible and wet his or her body with cold towels. If the person is alert, give small sips of water or juice.

Wayne Senior Citizen News

The Norfolk Golden Combo entertained last Thursday at the Wayne Senior Citizens Center. The 12-member band also entertained that afternoon at Wayne Care Centre.

A fish fry was held late Thursday afternoon at the senior center. Marvin Anderson and Swede Hailey furnished and cooked the fish for the cooperative supper with 75 persons attending. A card party followed with Ella Field in charge. The last fish fry of the year will be held Oct. 31.

Members of the Laurel Senior Citizens Center were guests last Friday for a pitch party. There were six tables of pitch. Winning high prizes were Alice Wagner, Frances Bak, Lucille Wert and Gertrude Seyl. Low prizes were won by Marge Morris and Florence Rasmussen. A salad and sandwich luncheon was served.

Amy Lindsay was chairman for the current events session with 15 attending. Cards were played later in the afternoon.

Cindy Miller, registered dietitian with Providence Medical Center, gave a nutrition education program on Sept. 19. Her talk focused on fitness and burning calories. Those attending were presented a fitness book, entitled "Pep Up Your Life." Also attending was Eunice Johnson, head cook at Providence Medical Center.

Hall of Fame game Saturday

Three contributors to Wayne State athletics will be inducted into the Wayne State Athletic Hall of Fame during ceremonies this Saturday, Sept. 23.

Dr. Ralph Barclay, Kelley Peterson-Snyder and Dave Schneider will join 44 other coaches, athletes, administrators and supporters of Wayne State athletics in the Hall of Fame.

The three will be honored during halftime ceremonies of the Wayne State-Minot State game in Memorial Stadium. Formal induction ceremonies take place during the Hall of Fame banquet on Saturday night in the North Dining Room of the Student Center beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Ralph Barclay has been associated with Wayne State College for 25 years, 20 years as an assistant football coach and seven years as the head men's swimming coach. During his 20 years heading the Wildcat defense for the football team, Wayne State teams won seven conference championships and won the district title six times.

Barclay developed the fitness trail on Wayne State's campus and initiated the wellness program for senior citizens at Wayne State. That highly successful program is in its fifth year at the College. Barclay is a member of the VFW, American Legion, Rotary Club and the American Heart Association Board. He is a former Wayne City Councilman. He and his wife Ann have three daughters.

Kelley Peterson-Snyder was Wayne State's first female all-American, earning those honors in 1983 for her performance in the 100 meter hurdles. She still holds the school record in that event in 14.1 seconds and was a member of three other relays which still hold the school record.

Snyder is currently an assistant track coach at Homer. A native of Homer, she also teaches Biology. Her husband Kevin coaches girls' basketball and teaches industrial education at Homer. They are parents of an infant son.

Dave Schneider was a four-year letterwinner on the most successful basketball teams in Wayne State history. During Schneider's final three seasons at Wayne State, the Wildcats were 70-13 overall and qualified for the NAIA national tournament twice.

Schneider led the team in scoring in 1968-69 with a 16.0 scoring average and again in 1969-70 with an 18.2 scoring average. His best game was against Hastings College in the finals of the district tournament when he hit for 37 points.

Schneider hit 56 percent of his shots during his career at Wayne State, a school record. His 1,148 career points is seventh on the all-time list.

Following his graduation in 1971 from Wayne State, Schneider played two years with Athletes in Action, touring South America and the Philippines. He also played with an AAU team in Chicago for three years, competing in Europe, South America and the United States. He currently is still active in basketball leagues in Omaha. He presently farms near the Kennard, Nebraska area. His wife's name is Mary.

Cross Country begins at WSC

A new varsity sport is underway at Wayne State College this fall. Lee Stegemann has taken the reins for the cross country team for both men and women.

Last Friday was the first meet for the teams as they traveled to participate in the Augustana-Open in Sioux Falls, S.D. No team score was kept because it was an open.

Jim Chvala placed 17th for the Wildcats and Scott Pack finished in 29th. Chvala's time in the meet was 26:10 while Pack ran to the time of 27:50. J.P. Widner and Phil Chvala finished in 36th and 38th respectively.

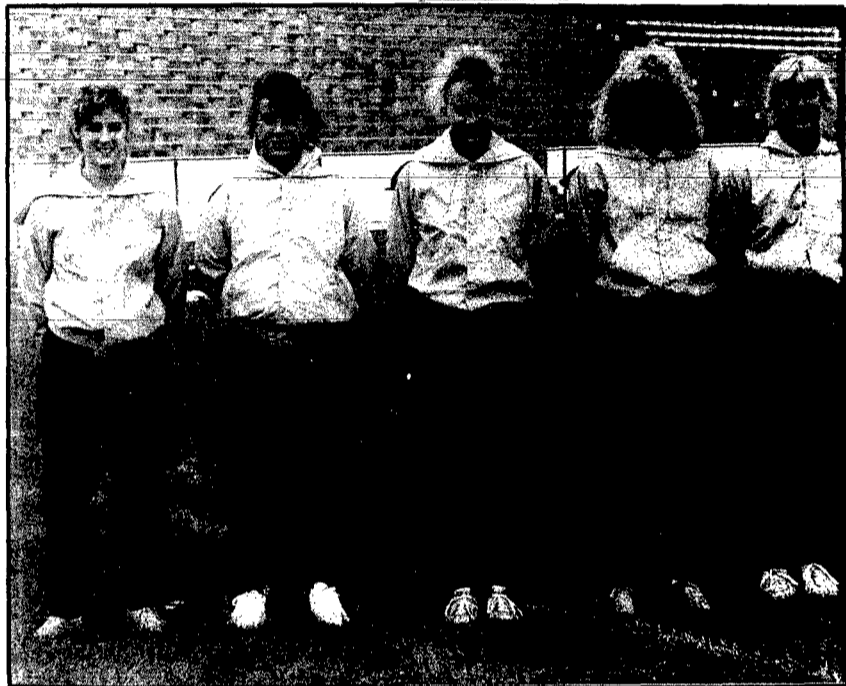

In Women's action Lucy Peter of Wayne State finished 17th with a 5,000 meter time of 20:27. Keri Kamrath placed 25th with an effort of 22:27 and Angie Somers placed 28th with a time of 23:17.

"I thought most of the kids did real well," coach Stegemann said. "Jim Chvala has a shot at being one of the top 15 in our district and he ran well at the meet. And Lucy Peter averaged a sub-seven minute mile during her race."

Stegemann noted that both squads have a long way to go but they had to start somewhere. "Most of the runners ran what they thought they would," Stegemann said.

Wayne State will travel to Storm Lake, Iowa this Friday to take part in the Buena Vista Cross Country meet.

Allen loses to Newcastle

The Allen football team's record dipped to 1-2 Friday night as they were blanked at home by Newcastle, 44-0. "This was a totally unexplainable game," coach Mike Busselmann said. "I don't know if we were looking past Newcastle to Bancroft-Rosalie or what, but I know that we can't afford to look past anyone."

Looking at the stats you wouldn't be able to tell that it was a blow out situation but looking at the turnover category where you see that Allen suffered six turnovers and that Newcastle's longest scoring drive on the night was 35 yards and you have all you need to know about how the game went.

back Kent Chase was injured but he later returned to play. "We had a lot of problems with fumbles," Busselmann said. "It was a dry night and everything, I don't know what the problem was."

Both teams had seven first downs on the night but Allen rushed the ball 41 times for a mere 63 yards while Newcastle rushed the ball 36 times for 152 yards. In the passing department Allen was 2-7 for 50 yards and Newcastle was 3-8 for 32 yards. Allen suffered three interceptions while Newcastle had one and Allen lost three fumbles and Newcastle lost two.

"They only outgained us in yardage by 70 yards," Busselmann said. "It's where they began their drives that hurt us." Kent Chase was Allen's leading rusher with 31 yards on 12 carries. Hingst was 1-1 in passing for 40 yards before he got hurt. Shane Dahl was 1-6 for 10 yards. Dahl was on the receiving end of Hingst's lone completion and Ben Jackson was on the receiving end of Dahl's lone completion.

Doug Kraemer was Allen's leading tackler with 14 while Kevin Crossgrove was right behind with 11. Shane Dahl intercepted a Newcastle pass and he also recovered a Newcastle fumble. Kelly Boswell also recovered a fumble for the Eagles.

Allen will travel to Bancroft this Friday and Shane Dahl will be Busselmann's starting quarterback.

"Our six turnovers led to a total of 36 Newcastle points," Busselmann said. "Things started off bad and they just got worse." Allen's bad news began early as starting quarterback Matt Hingst was knocked out by a Newcastle player and Hingst was sidelined the rest of the game with a concussion. This was in the first quarter.

PAGENTRY and bright colors were brought out in each and every band. This flag waver from a competing school is dressed in a unique costume.

By Pat Meierhenry

Weekends like this one are probably the reason I love Fall and I put up with Nebraska weather. I even took in the high school football game last night.

The moon was full, the air crisp, and there were some good plays, but the bleachers are on a very windy hill. Thanks to the continued efforts of the Athletic Director, Winside has a beautiful football field. But I've been a spectator on some very cold nights, and that hill can be cold.

We actually had two games to watch. There were about 20 grade-school munchkins with a football on the grass in front of us, and some of those little squirts were throwing some great passes.

It would be fun to be in Lincoln today. And if I wasn't going to work at 3:00, I might have looked for tickets. Taking blood pressures at the Plaza on Thursday, the nurses encountered a little old lady who must be the "state's oldest scalper." She wanted to sell them two $18.50 tickets for $20.00 each. I hope she found a buyer.

THE BIG Farmer planted sweet corn at two-week intervals as he always does, hoping to have roasting ears for a long time. It all grew at the same time, thanks to the strange year it's been, and was finally ready to freeze yesterday.

I missed the kids because I did most of the shucking myself. But it was so nice out, and the wind kept the flies from pestering, so it turned out to be a perfect day to do corn.

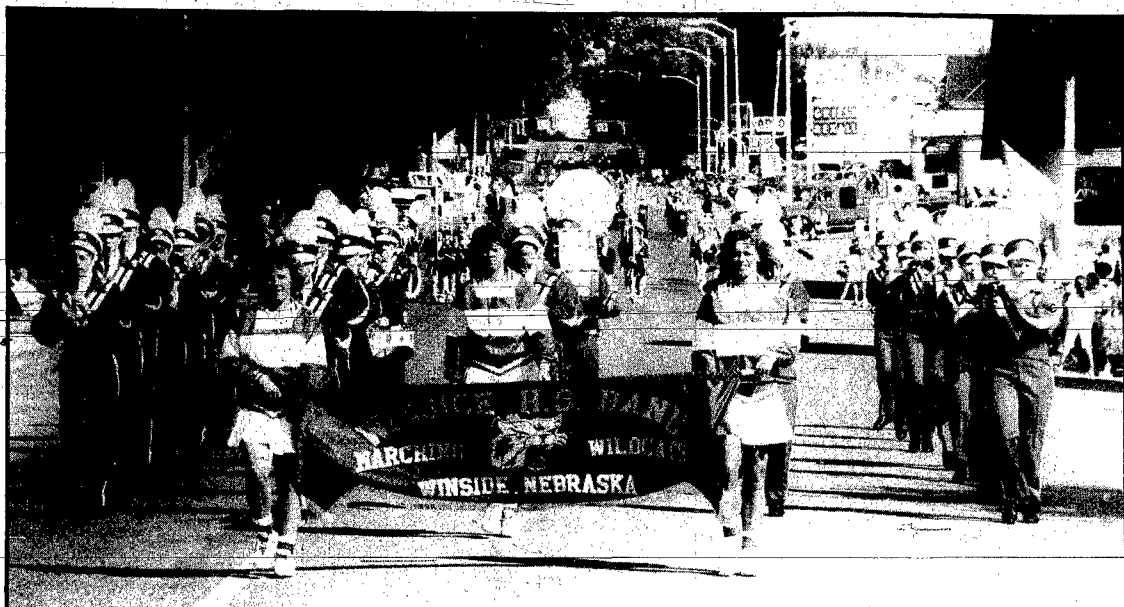

Grandma Meierhenry is visiting this week, so she got in on some of the job. I made a big pot of chili for supper, and she said, "I can't believe you don't have any kids coming home, from school any longer." I can't, either.

Silage cutting is in full swing, now that the rain has stopped. Because of the rain, everything is green again. As I sit at the table in my sunny kitchen, I can hear a cricket, and the chatter of birds. The curtain flutters, the refrigerator hums, and that is absolutely all I can hear. Guess I'll go after the mail.

REMEMBER Robert Fulghum, the author of "all I really need to know I learned in kindergarten"? I finally broke down and bought the book, in hard cover. I think it's worth it. I recommend you buy it, too. Buy it and read it.

He begins with the Storyteller's Creed: I believe that imagination is stronger than knowledge, that myth is more potent than history, that dreams are more powerful than facts, that hope always triumphs over ignorance, that laughter is the only cure for grief, and that love is stronger than death.

He ends with a short chapter about Mother Teresa, and marvels at how her simple faith has affected the whole world. He quotes her, "We can do no great things; only small things with great love." Amen.

The Marching Wildcats accepted a trophy and scholarship money during half-time of the Wayne State College-Minnesota Morris tilt at Memorial Stadium. IDS INTRODUCES THE PLANNED INVESTMENT ACCOUNT

IDS Financial Services is introducing the IDS Planned Investment Account, a money market-based account for goal oriented investors seeking greater returns than those available from traditional money-market investments.

After an investor makes a $10,000 minimum initial investment, the account will earn regular income, like a money-market fund and the investor will make regular exchanges into any of the 30 IDS equity and bond funds without the high minimum initial investments typical of most mutual funds. Exchange minimums are $100 per month per fund.

"Many people would like to invest in stock and bond markets, but are concerned about timing their purchases correctly," said George Phelps, a Certified Financial Planner in the Wayne area office of IDS. "The IDS Planned Investment Account allows people to invest in the markets by using a long-term investment approach called dollar-cost averaging, resulting in lower average share costs and potentially greater total return than lump-sum purchases." "This investment is especially good for people with long-term accumulation, education, and retirement goals," said Phelps. "By allowing investors to choose among 30 IDS Equity and bond funds for their systematic exchanges, investors can tailor their Planned Investment Account to meet their financial goals -- and if their goals change, they can change their designated funds at any time." IDS Financial Services is a Minneapolis based subsidiary of American Express. IDS is the nation's largest financial planning firm, with some 6,000 financial planners nationwide. The local office of IDS is located at 416 Main, Wayne, NE. Telephone # 375-1848.

The GOLDEN YEARS
By Lee Anne

To paraphrase the old Army ballad: Old baseball stars never die -- and they don't just fade away, either. Mickey Mantle, now in his 60's and Whitey Ford (almost there) started a baseball camp in Orlando, Florida. Objective of the two alltime Yankee greats was to provide a one-week dream-come-true for paying guests who don New York Yankee uniforms and play against Hank Bauer, Moose Skowron, Enos Slaughter and other legendary stars -- under the guidance of Ralph Houk, manager of the peerless 1960 Yankees. Many of the "guest" players are 40 or more, treated to the fantasy experience by their wives.

As many as 80 percent of men over age 50 experience benign enlargement of the prostate gland, according to the National Institute on Aging. Non-surgical treatments are often successful.

National Safety Week stressed

Farming is one of the most dangerous occupations in Nebraska when the frequency of fatalities based on the number of people involved is considered, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln farm safety specialist said.

Ten fatalities that have occurred so far this year as a result of farm accidents, according to agricultural engineer Rollie Schnieder, who said that figure is relatively low in comparison to past years.

However, more electrocutions have occurred this year, he said. The increase is due to more irrigation this past summer, Schnieder explained. "Electrocutions generally occur when farmers pick up irrigation pipe to move it and the pipe comes in contact with overhead power lines," he said.

One statistic is different this year — the average age for deaths, the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources staff member said. Ordinarily the average age for death is in the mid 50's age range; this year, the average age for deaths to date is 44.1 years.

"That figures since the overhead power-line death or electrocution death on farmsteads is a young man's death, usually averaging 27 years of age," he said.

Schnieder said farm accidents are both expensive and traumatic.

MEDICAL FEES, property damage, lost productivity, insurance costs and legal fees can cost thousands of dollars. "Pain and suffering, disruption of family life and reductions in quality of life resulting from accidental injury and death are costs that can't be measured in dollars and cents," he said.

Farmers must place accident prevention on the same level as other management factors affecting productivity, he said. "If farmers make a serious and concentrated effort to reduce or eliminate accidents, their returns in time and dollars will be higher and the waste of human resources will be significantly reduced."

Every accident has three major components: the human factor, including a person's age, physical and emotional state and knowledge of work hazards and proper procedures; the source of the injury, which might be chemicals, machinery, tools and ladders; and the environment influence, such as terrain, weather and lighting or time of day.

Interaction of these three elements is the basis for every accident, so awareness of the three factors and control of potential hazards can control risks, Schnieder said.

A large percentage of farm accidents occur in places where the farm worker spends a good deal of time, such as the farm yard or in farm buildings. Most accidents result from a pattern of careless behavior that develops throughout a period of time, he said.

Data show that the months of March, April and July are the peak months for farm accidents. These months are also the peak months of farming activity. Many accidents are caused by haste and by the variation of machinery use, Schnieder said. A good procedure when machinery use changes is to review the safety precautions in the machine's operator's manual.

PEOPLE OF all ages, even young children, can be killed in farm accidents, he said. Deaths of children under 5-years-old are mainly a result of runovers or extra riders on machinery. Young children enjoy riding on a tractor, but when the unexpected happens and the child falls off, the result may be disastrous.

On family-operated farms, children are often allowed in hazardous areas. This would not happen in an industrial setting, because it would be illegal, he said.

Play areas should be fenced and watched regularly and young children should be allowed in work areas only when accompanied by an older person, the specialist said.

A large number of deaths in the 16 to 25 age group probably is due to a lack of experience, he said. A strong training program for safe operation of farm machinery should be part of every operation.

Overturn fatalities can be prevented by rollover protective structures on tractors. However, only certified ROPS should be used. A makeshift rollover may be worse than nothing at all, because the operator may have a false sense of security, he said.

State Fair winner

AMY ADKINS and her Suffolk wether, Silver, won the division II reserve championship in the 4-H market lamb show Sept. 3 at the 1989 Nebraska State Fair. Amy, 17, is the daughter of Rick and Joan Adkins of Laurel. Silver weighs 125 pounds. Amy received a plaque from the Nebraska Registered Sheep Breeders Association and $10 donated by the Lancaster Bank of Waverly and the Farmers & Merchants Bank, Millford.

In retail agribusiness

Times changing

The number of locally owned retail grain and farm supply firms in Nebraska appears to be declining at an annual rate of 12 percent to 15 percent, said the director of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Agricultural Marketing Center.

"This is nearly twice the rate of decline which has persisted for nearly 20 years," said Mike Turner, an agricultural economist with the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

The number of businesses which have entered joint ventures or merged in the last year has nearly doubled, Turner said.

This reaction to the 1988 drought is unusual, Turner said, because locally owned businesses traditionally have taken a conservative management approach and adopted a wait-and-see attitude, hoping to outlast consequences of a change affecting business. But today many firms are looking for ways to enter joint ventures, such as purchasing merchandise together to serve their common needs, he said.

"Generally, none of the ag businesses have been forced by lenders or wholesale suppliers to consider these steps. That is very different than in the past," Turner said.

The mobility of the rural society continues to expand the size of trade territories for grain and farm supplies, Turner said. The agribusiness industry also provided delivery services to farms and ranches.

The changes which are occurring should not be equated with a lessening of competition, Turner said. "Instead, they will lead to products and services at more affordable cost for producers," he said.

Normal rainfall sought from here on in if drought to end

The prognosis is good on the end of the drought, providing Nebraska receives normal to excess precipitation this fall and winter.

That's the opinion Sept. 18 of specialists who are members of the University of Nebraska Agricultural Climate Situation Committee and the state's Drought Assessment Response Team's committee on moisture situation. One specialist, though, looked askance at the 5-8 inches of rainfall which were recorded at many locations on Sept. 8.

"I think a lot of that rain ended up in the river," said Ed Penas. "I'm not convinced we have all that much moisture (in the subsoil)."

Yet, the agronomist said the probability is good that the drought could be over if Nebraska received normal precipitation this fall and winter.

Recent rainfall has helped the brome grass growth in eastern Nebraska.

"We're reaping some of the best brome grass we've ever seen," said Rick Stock, beef specialist. "If the grass gets a chance to grow and set root reserves it will be a tremendous benefit."

PLANT PATHOLOGIST Luanne Coziar urged farmers to check for corn stalk rot and to harvest any fields with the problem quickly after maturity is reached. Stalk rot has been reported in eastern and western Nebraska, she said.

Streamflow conditions in Nebraska are either normal or above, except for Lodgepole Creek at Bushnell, Frenchman Creek at Palisade, Middle Loup River near St. Paul and the Elkhorn River at Norfolk, which all reported below normal daily mean flows.

Precipitation recorded by the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources' Automated Weather Data Network showed Alliance receiving the state's low amount since Jan. 1 with 35 percent of normal or 4.98 inches. Gibbon received the high amount since Jan. 1 with 120 percent of normal precipitation or 25.21 inches. Lincoln reported the most precipitation since Sept. 1 with 7.98 inches for 446 percent of normal.

Many sites statewide reported frost since Sept. 1, particularly in the Panhandle, Sandhills and southwest. Cooler temperatures and moist soils contributed to corn, soybeans, sorghum, alfalfa and potatoes falling behind in growing degree days and field observations indicate that the crops are lagging behind normal development.

Home Is Where The Heart Is

Those first few days are unbearable in surviving the first true test of being such a long distance away from the family nest.

Telephones may make the miles shorter, but it still isn't quite the same. Missing are familiar sights and sounds. Is being homesick such a shame?

There are so many reminders. A home-cooked meal. The holidays. Crickets outside the window. A song. Resemblances of home seen in many ways.

This is when it's time to grope for that inner strength to look ahead. What has passed cannot be changed. Hold onto those memories instead.

Pursue those goals and ambitions and take everything in stride. Learn to appreciate the home and those feelings carved inside.

So that again when thinking about what is treasured but still so far apart, remember — home is just a beat away, found within the heart.

Help for Hemorrhoids

Hemorrhoids, or piles, are masses of blood vessels and surrounding tissues that form in the rectal area -- both inside and outside the rectum. Non-drug approaches to caring for hemorrhoids include: cleaning the rectal area with soap and water or a commercial wipe after each bowel movement, taking sitz baths, drinking additional water, and eating high-fiber foods.

Stool softeners keep stools moist and prevent straining. Bulk-forming laxatives add fiber to the diet and also prevent straining. A variety of creams, ointments, and suppositories are available for relieving hemorrhoid symptoms. Typical ingredients include local anesthetics (benzocaine), astringents (zinc oxide), protectants (cocoa butter), and vasoconstrictors (ephedrine). For more information on care of hemorrhoids and available products, talk to your pharmacist.
