Wayne gains new business

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

The First National Bank of Omaha announced Friday the opening of a company — First National-Omaha Service Center — in Wayne.

This company will occupy an 11,000 square foot site at 513 Main Street in Wayne (the former grocery store next to Griess Rexall). The bank plans to rent the facility at the present time.

The Wayne service center will support First National Bank of Omaha's extensive credit card operations.

First National Bank of Omaha anticipates, in time, hiring up to 150 data operational support staff at the site. Additionally, the bank will establish a group of computer programming professionals at the Wayne site.

This programming group will also support the Bankcard operations.

The group will be linked to First National Bank of Omaha computer facilities via high-speed telecommunications links. Hiring for all these positions will begin immediately.

FIRST NATIONAL Bank of Omaha does not intend to relocate personnel, but expects to fill the positions locally.

Currently, First National Bank of Omaha has a data processing technical and support staff of approximately 270 in Omaha. None of these positions will be affected. The positions in Wayne are staff additions required to support the growth of the bank.

John Lauritzen, chairman of the board of First National Bank of Omaha, said LB 775 factored strongly in the decision to retain these positions in Nebraska.

"LB 775 is very important to the state of Nebraska. It meant a lot to us. I think we're fortunate to have it," Lauritzen said.

"In addition to LB 775, First National Bank of Omaha technical staff have worked with the faculty and administration of Wayne State College to develop a computer curriculum which reflects the needs of the Nebraska business community," said Lauritzen.

"The faculty and staff at the college were a key resource in developing the plan to expand the bank's programming staff in Wayne," he said.

"One of the reasons we chose Wayne is because of the educational facilities here and the ranking that Wayne has in college graduates. They have a higher rate of college graduates than many other places," he said. "We give a great deal of credit to Wayne State and Dr. Mash for helping us come in here."

LAURITZEN SAID many other communities were under consideration for the company site. Sites where the bank had current operations were among those company location possibilities.

"However, we thought Wayne was the ideal location at this particular time," he said.

When asked when the company will start up operations, Ken Nimmo, computer programming consultant with First National Bank of Omaha, said Bankcard service folks will arrive in Wayne ahead of the computer programming staff.

"As far as the Bankcard people, we feel they will start working the middle of December or the first of January," said Dave Conroy, Bankcard operation manager.

Conroy said there will be a lot of tele-marketing people, customer contact personnel, data input people and data processing program people employed at the company.

Most of the part-time jobs at the company will probably be filled by college students, Conroy said, because of the evening work and Saturday work. There are a lot of people in the community that can fill the full-time jobs, he said. "We feel very comfortable with the good mix of students and nonstudents in the community," he added.

President Dr. Mash said the company will help attract students to the college. "But probably more important than that is that the students who graduate from Wayne State College have an option to stay in northeast Nebraska," he said.

"What we're talking about here are the jobs of the future. These are good jobs," Mash said.

"We'll gradually build and our guess is now we'll employ 150," said Lauritzen. "It was 10 years ago we had only a few hundred people in our whole organization and now we have well over 2,000."

"When you're getting 50,000 new accounts a month — and you are getting an account here and account there — it soon adds up," he added.

Conroy said by 1990, the service center should be close to reaching the 150 mark.

Wayne City Administrator Phil Kloster said city representatives were "overwhelmed" by the announcement of the service center company locating in Wayne.

"We know this organization to be one of the finest organizations in the country and definitely in the state of Nebraska," Kloster said.

"Beyond that, Wayne State College and students that attend Wayne State College ultimately are going to be the real benefactors. So will the merchants and business people as a result of this type of operation," Kloster mentioned.

Wehrer sees retirement as no barrier to goals

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

It's been close to 50 years since Charles "Whitey" Wehrer of Wisner graduated from Wayne State College.

Since 1940 his career has been a whirlwind — teaching, administration, coaching, writing, public speaking and numerous other achievements.

The Wayne Herald has published several articles on his illustrious accomplishments. Even today, at age 75, Wehrer speaks out about the problems he sees in education.

He was the smallest quarterback to play at Wayne State, tipping the scales at just 129 pounds, and he also participated in basketball, track and baseball. He worked at Terrace Hall, taught swimming and lifesaving and wrote sports stories for daily and local newspapers to help finance his education. In the fall he refereed football games at the smaller surrounding towns, earning $5 a game.

Wehrer came back later in his versatile life to teach at Wayne State College in the business division. After six years at the business college, he still does consulting and conducts management training programs throughout the area and state.

Between then and now he has become a strong spokesman for the youth in America's schools.

AFTER HE graduated in 1940 from Wayne State, he worked at the Los Angeles Downtown YMCA and then served in the Army Air Force nearly 4 1/2 years. Within those years he served overseas duty in Europe and commanded his own company called "The Wehrer Wolves."

Some 33 years later (in 1978) Wehrer received the U.S. Army's Bronze Star Medal and Soldier's Medal for heroism. When stationed in Italy Wehrer and his company removed injured flyers from a downed B-24 bomber, flirting with the danger of fire and explosion for nearly 3 1/2 hours. He was presented the medals by General Richard H. Ellis.

Upon his honorable discharge as Captain, he returned to California. Then he came back to serve as a superintendent and principal — and teacher of five subjects, typing instructor, music helper, football and basketball coach and even janitor — in Wood Lake, Nebraska. He won the 1949 Nebraska Outstanding School Administrator Award in 1949.

United Way announces goal

Wayne United Way's 1989 annual fund drive activities began Friday (Sept. 22) as the board hosted the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce Coffee at the city's youth recreation center.

The hosts of the Chamber Coffee, the Wayne United Way Board, used a slide presentation in explaining the many programs which the community chest finances throughout the year.

The goal of the United Way Fund Drive is $17,000, according to Mash.

She said the business drive for United Way will kick off on Oct. 2.

Chairman of the business drive is Jim Markham. Board President Johnson is also the chairperson of the residential drive slated to begin Oct. 15 at St. Mary's Church in Wayne.

"We are looking for people to help as volunteers in the residential fund drive. Those interested can call Lorraine for more information," Mash said.

She said the fund drive is scheduled to end on Oct. 31.

LAST YEAR'S GOAL of $15,800 was exceeded, according to Mash. "Since we increased our goal this year, we hope that there will be an increase in donations so that we can have a successful drive," she said.

Having students from Wayne State College become more involved in the fund raising efforts was one of several suggestions being considered.

Those who contribute during the business drive will not be approached for contributions during the residential drive, she said.

The Wayne Community Chest has provided a cost effective way to raise funds for a number of agencies serving the Wayne area. This year's Wayne Community Chest United Way Fund Drive will provide funding to the following agencies.

Wayne Recreation Fund (29 percent of the total) — List of activities include football for boys; basketball for all ages; baseball for boys and softball for girls; golf; swimming; tennis; volleyball; soccer and other activities in the sports program. The Summer Park Recreation Program involves many youngsters.

Hemorrhoids, or piles, are masses of blood vessels and surrounding tissues that form in the rectal area -- both inside and outside the rectum. Non-drug approaches to caring for hemorrhoids include: cleaning the rectal area with soap and water or a commercial wipe after each bowel movement, taking sitz baths, drinking additional water, and eating high-fiber foods.

Stool softeners keep stools moist and prevent straining. Bulk-forming laxatives add fiber to the diet and also prevent straining. A variety of creams, ointments, and suppositories are available for relieving hemorrhoid symptoms. Typical ingredients include local anesthetics (benzocaine), astringents (zinc oxide), protectants (cocoa butter), and vasoconstrictors (ephedrine). The hosts of the Chamber Coffee, the Wayne United Way Board, used a slide presentation in explaining the many programs which the community chest finances throughout the year.

Officers of the United Way Board of Directors are Lorraine Johnson, president; Connie Hall, vice president; Phyllis Spethman, secretary-treasurer; Julie Mash, public relations; and Jane Ahmann, Connie Endicott, Kathy Tooker, Max Lundstrom, Jeryl Nelson, Faunell Bennett, Gary Van Meter, Jim Markham and past president Mark Sorensen.

The goal of the United Way Fund Drive is $17,000, according to Mash.

She said the business drive for United Way will kick off on Oct. 2.

Chairman of the business drive is Jim Markham. Board President Johnson is also the chairperson of the residential drive slated to begin Oct. 15 at St. Mary's Church in Wayne.

"We are looking for people to help as volunteers in the residential fund drive. Those interested can call Lorraine for more information," Mash said.

She said the fund drive is scheduled to end on Oct. 31.

LAST YEAR'S GOAL of $15,800 was exceeded, according to Mash. "Since we increased our goal this year, we hope that there will be an increase in donations so that we can have a successful drive," she said.

Having students from Wayne State College become more involved in the fund raising efforts was one of several suggestions being considered.

Those who contribute during the business drive will not be approached for contributions during the residential drive, she said.

The Wayne Community Chest has provided a cost effective way to raise funds for a number of agencies serving the Wayne area. This year's Wayne Community Chest United Way Fund Drive will provide funding to the following agencies:

Wayne Recreation Fund (29 percent of the total) — List of activities include football for boys; basketball for all ages; baseball for boys and softball for girls; golf; swimming; tennis; volleyball; soccer and other activities in the sports program. The Summer Park Recreation Program involves many youngsters.

Mid-America Council of Boy Scouts (18 percent of the total) — Helps support the professional organization which in turn helps the volunteers make scouting

Interior decorating for safety aids older people
For most people the loss in visual acuity is so gradual that they are not aware of the changes that have taken place. As people age they make up for deteriorating eyesight by relying less on visual cues to find their way around.

Reduced vision can be aided by making simple changes around the home that serve as cues or compensate for visual limitations. Standards developed for public buildings can be adapted for use in the private home.

Glare and reflections can be eliminated through the use of matte surfaces, and low gloss finishes. Try to limit the contrast of very light, high-reflection surfaces with very dark, low-reflection surfaces. Some low vision people are extremely light-sensitive. Seating should not be located in line with direct glare from windows or lights.

LIGHTING CAN be used to accentuate stairs, handrails, telephone, light switches, or restroom fixtures. Avoid blinking lights. Increase lighting in hallways with brighter bulbs or more fixtures. Promptly replace burned out bulbs in stairwells where light is often severely restricted.

Handrails can be provided on both sides of stairs and ramps and may extend at least one foot beyond the top and bottom of the stairs or ramp. The rails should be at least 30 inches higher than the stair, and rail endings should turn inward or downward so there are no hazardous projections.

Tactile or textured warning signals on the floor or banister can indicate stairways. Poorly placed tactile indicators can be hazardous and cause tripping. They should be placed right at the edge of a step. Grooves create less tripping hazards than tactile strips. In the home, a contrasting low-skid surface can be placed at the edge of each step more easily than grooves.

THE TOP AND bottom steps of a stairway, if identified by color, can be seen more easily. The color of the handrail should contrast with the wall behind it. A one-inch strip of contrasting color at the edge of each step also can help. Landings should contrast in color from stairs and walls to aid visual location.

Window treatments can also be used to manage glare and reflectance if there are large amounts of glass area. Sheer curtains allow filtered light into the room. Shades and blinds can also be used to redirect glare or let in more light if needed.

Rugs and doormats may be replaced with carpeting or heavier non-skid carpet mats. The type often seen in public buildings have a rubber or vinyl edging to prevent you from catching your toe under the rug.

Simple modifications may be all it takes to make your home safer for those with less visual acuity.

and Wehrer began a study of education television there in 1952. He served as Art Linkletter's youth consultant on the CBS House Party radio program on occasion, conducted his own youth program on a local Hollywood TV station (Let's Listen To Youth) and worked for NBC as a supervisor and the director of the Guest Relation Department.

WEHRER keeps in contact with many former students.

"I worked with a lot of TV people, including Bob Hope and Red Skelton," Wehrer said. "He made at least two appearances on the Mike Douglas Show where he talked with Douglas, Kathy Crosby and others about the education of youth in general."

He has dated Yvonne de Carlo, June Lockhart and other stars.

Wehrer came back to the Midwest and taught at colleges in Ohio and served as a dean at the former Sioux Empire College in Hawarden, Iowa. He has written a book "Keep in touch...my students" that outlines his career and principles of education.

He still believes that there is a problem in education leadership, particularly in the area of human relationship. "We have far too many administrators and not too many good leaders," Wehrer said. "There is too much reliance on the IQ of the young people."

"People should listen to what the young people are talking about," he said.

EDUCATION should go beyond the walls of the classroom. "If there is a young student standing out in the hall and you see he has a lonely expression, teachers or administrators should take the student under their wings and talk to them or look out for them," he remarked.

Wehrer held schools in Wayne, Wisner, Norfolk and some surrounding schools in high esteem as far as administrative leadership.

He voiced displeasure at the prospect of having individuals who are involved in teacher training education that have never taught before in a public school. "Students go out and find teaching jobs and many find themselves alone during their first time on the job. This is when the administration or superintendent should spend time with them," Wehrer said.

Schools should get back to teaching the basics in education. "I've seen people in college who didn't know how to make change. There is not enough of the basics being taught, not enough being taught of how to conduct themselves in the world today," Wehrer mentioned.

"Why don't we teach young kids how to apply for a job? There should be more history, more economics and more geography programs. More emphasis should be given to educating students on this state's heritage and way of life," he said.

"Sometimes I wish we would throw the textbooks away and just teach," he added.

WEHRER HAS presented his strong viewpoints at teacher workshops and at presentations before fraternal organizations.

And of some of the current issues, he believes the open enrollment bill can be both good and bad. Good, he said, in the sense that it will offer an opportunity for young people to take courses that would not normally be available.

The negative side, he said, is what could happen to the schools with the smaller enrollments.

"So many educators run down small schools. But I have found that the best teaching has been done in the smaller rural schools," Wehrer said.

Learning to cope with yellowjackets

From late summer through early fall, outdoor activities such as picnicking, gardening and yard work are often accompanied by increasing encounters with foraging yellowjacket wasps, according to two University of Nebraska-Lincoln entomologists.

The stout-bodied, hairy, black and yellow wasps can become annoying to outdoor enthusiasts as they hover about ripe or spoiling fruit and vegetables, food items on picnic tables, garbage cans and even brightly-colored clothing, Fred Baxendale, UNL entomology specialist said.

Yellowjackets are quite defensive and easily irritated when their nest, typically consisting of 3,000 to 5,000 workers, is approached too closely, Jim Kalisch, entomology technologist said. Areas near bushes, or buildings or close to the ground where yellowjackets tend to cluster may indicate a nest located nearby and should be avoided.

Kalisch said yellowjackets perform a valuable service by feeding on pest insects and nests should not be eliminated unless necessary, for example, in cases of allergic reactions to stings or intolerable nuisance.

YELLOWJACKET stings are normally characterized by local moderate to severe pain, Baxendale said. Treatment involves disinfecting the sting with soap and water. Meat tenderizers, which contains an enzyme that breaks down the venom, also may be applied. A baking soda paste may assist in relieving the pain.

In allergic persons, stings can cause a systemic reaction leading to shock which requires immediate treatment by a physician, Kalisch said.

The two Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resource entomologists suggest the following for coping with yellowjacket activity:

- Where food is being served outdoors, cover all foods, and dispose of wastes in sealed trash bags or covered containers.
- Avoid wearing brightly-colored clothing or highly fragrant cosmetic products.

For additional information about yellowjackets and other stinging wasps or bees, refer to NebGuide G88-891, "Stinging Wasps and Bees," available at extension offices.

Wakefield plays tough, lose 7-0

Wakefield hosted highly rated Norfolk Catholic Friday night and the Trojans played a great defensive game, but Catholic got on the board in the second quarter on a fourth down and three play from the six yard line. They scored on a pass play to the corner of the endzone to give them a 7-0 lead which stood at intermission—and for the rest of the game.

"We had our chances," Wakefield coach Dennis Wilbur said. "Our offense just isn't clicking right now but our defense did a super job." One of the most pleasant surprises was the defensive play of Mike Mogus.

"I really didn't think Mogus was going to be able to play because he is still recovering from an injury," Wilbur said. "I was proven wrong though as he finished the game with 18 tackles, the team leader."

Wakefield—out first—downed Norfolk Catholic, 13-12, but the Trojans picked up just 76 rushing yards compared to 219 by the visitors. Matt Tappe was 13-28 for 122 passing yards but he was intercepted four times. Norfolk Catholic was 5-17 for 111 yards and they had three picked off.

Heimes rushed for 168 yards on 30 carries to lead the fourth rated Norfolk team while Matt Tappe led Wakefield with 35 yards on seven carries. Mark Johnson gained 33 yards on 12 carries.

Andy McQuistan was the top receiver for Wakefield with five receptions for 54 yards while Anthony Brown caught four passes for 35 yards. Tony Krusemark had three receptions for 25 yards and Mark Johnson caught one pass for eight yards.

"I thought we did some things well—that we weren't expected to do against Norfolk Catholic," Wilbur said. "We've really become a sound defensive ball club."

Troy Krusemark followed Mogus' 18 tackles with 12 of his own while Shawn Meyer played a good game for the Trojans with 11 tackles. Mark Johnson incidentally, had 14 tackles for Wakefield on 13 assists while Andy McQuistan got in on seven tackles and intercepted a pass and blocked two more passes.

Anthony Brown intercepted two passes and was in on seven tackles. Wakefield dropped to 1-3 on the season but the Trojans will be looking to get untracked offensively on Friday night when they travel to Homer.

MARK JOHNSON bobbles a kickoff but manages to pick it up and finish the play with a nice return.

Winside dominates

Winside traveled to Osmond for football action Friday night and what Wildcat coach Randy Geier witnessed was a total domination by his squad. Winside scored three touchdowns in the opening quarter and never looked back enroute to ending the game at the 4:07 mark of the third quarter because of the 45 point rule, with a 46-0 victory.

Winside amassed 16 first downs in that time while rushing for 256 yards and passing for 68 more. Osmond was held to 57 yards rushing and just 16 passing for a total of 73 total offensive yards. "We held Osmond's main rusher way below his average," Geier said. "In his first two games he had 280 yards rushing and 200 yards rushing for a total of 480. We held him to 70."

Quarterback Cory Jensen unleashed a hidden arsenal of rushing weapons for Geier as he led the Wildcats with 134 yards on just 13 carries while mainstay Max Kant was his usual phenomenal self, rushing for 114 yards on 23 carries, but more importantly, scoring six touchdowns.

Jensen was 2-3 in the passing department for 68 yards with one reception going to Max Kant on a 54 yard touchdown play and the other, a 14 yard pass to Jeff Gallop.

"I thought coming into the game after watching the films that if we played real hard and didn't make mistakes that we might be able to escape Osmond with a victory of one or touchdowns," Geier said. "These guys just came out and played real hard and I'm proud of them for that."

Geier was impressed and has been impressed all season with the quality coaching he's getting on the line from his assistants Jim Hixson and Darin Blackburn. "Those two guys have really been a big help to our program," Geier said. "They did another super job at Osmond."

Jeff Gallop led the defense with 11 tackles while Max Kant had seven. Brian Thompson had five tackles as did Shane Frahm, while Jason Krueger had four. Cory Jensen and Jeff Gallop each recovered an Osmond fumble.

Kant scored three of his touchdowns in the first quarter as he rambled for 18 yards, nine yards, and four yards. Cory Jensen then scored on a 45 yard run with Max garnering the two point conversion to give Winside a 26-0 lead at halftime.

Kant scored three more times in the third quarter with a 54 yard pass reception, a six yard run and a 22 yard run to close out the game.

WAKEFIELD QUARTERBACK Matt Tappe listens to the advice of his quarterback coach in Scott Raue during Wakefield's game with Norfolk Catholic.

Wayne rolls to 34-0 victory

The Wayne Blue Devils regrouped after last week's disheartening loss to South Sioux, and took their revenge out on David City Aquinas Friday night to the tune of 34-0.

"The kids really played hard," coach Lonnie Ehrhardt said. "We didn't get much offense out of the first quarter because we were going into that stiff wind, but we got things moving in the second quarter and in the second half we just continued to take control of the line of scrimmage."

There was no score after one quarter of play but Wayne took possession after a David City punt and within a very short time Rusty Hamer broke loose and scampered 40 yards to the David City 20 yard line. On the next play Hamer took it the rest of the distance to give Wayne a 6-0 lead, a lead they would never be jeopardized with.

Later in the same period quarterback Cory Wieseler dropped back to pass and finding nobody open, decided to run it himself and he scampered eight yards into the endzone and he also ran for the two point conversion and Wayne maintained a 14-0 lead at intermission.

In the third quarter Wayne took the opening possession and marched the length of the football field and scored on a 22 yard run by Casey Dyer. The point after was good by Matt Bruggeman and Wayne maintained a 21-0 lead. With less than a minute remaining in the same period, Greg DeNaeyer dove over from two yards out and Wayne led 27-0 with the missed extra point, after three quarters of play.

Chris Fredrickson scored Wayne's final touchdown on the night from nine yards out. Bruggeman kicked the point after and Wayne, which had five different people score touchdowns, won 34-0.

David City Aquinas threatened only once, but the drive was thwarted by a blocked field goal by Rusty Hamer in the second quarter.

Wayne rolled up 387 rushing yards compared to just 100 by David City. Rusty Hamer and Chris Fredrickson did most of the damage as they gained 101 and 89 yards respectively. "One of our goals coming into the game was to try and get both of those running backs up over 100 yards," Ehrhardt said. "We did a pretty good job on rush blocking."

Craig Dyer rushed for 60 yards and Cory Wieseler rushed for 53 yards to give the quarterback position a total of 113 yards on the ground. Greg DeNaeyer gained 49 yards on the night and Casey Dyer picked up 23.

The quarterbacks combined for 3-5 in the passing department for 54 yards and no interceptions. Willy Gross caught two passes for 19 yards and Jeff Lutt caught one pass for 35 yards.

Defensively the Blue Devils were led by Jeff Lutt's 12 tackles. Kip Mau had nine and Matt Bruggeman and Chris Fredrickson had eight each. Rusty Hamer, Neil Carnes, Casey Dyer and Greg DeNaeyer all had seven tackles each while Matt Peterson and Jason Ehrhardt had six.

Laurel rolls to shutout victory

Laurel-Concord raised its varsity football record to 3-1 last Friday night, shutting out Homer in the Bears Homecoming tilt by a 23-0 score.

This is the second straight game where the defense shined as they limited Homer to just 29 total yards offense. Last week the defense blanked rated Ponca by a score of 42-0.

And the Bear offense accumulated 423 total yards against Homer — 330 of those yards rushing.

Head Coach Tom Luxford said he was happy to see his defense play well and was happy the Bears got by Homer. But he added that he was disappointed to see the inconsistency in the team's offensive play.

"Several times we were inside their 20 yard-line and we didn't score," Luxford said. "We were flat on offense."

"We have to be more consistency on both sides of the ball," he added.

Laurel-Concord's six turnovers — three by fumbles and three by pass interception — certainly didn't help the Bears' offensive cause. And the Bears were penalized 10 times for 145 yards, several of the flags falling after a long gainer by the Laurel offense.

The passing game needed to be executed with more consistency, he said. Last week against Ponca Laurel passed for 140 yards. Against Ponca the passing yardage was at 93 with the three interceptions.

"We can't be doing that against Pierce [there] next Friday," Luxford mentioned.

Laurel jumped ahead with a touchdown in the first quarter as Troy Twohig broke loose for a 70 yard run. Travis Stracke kicked the extra point.

Chad VanCleave capped a drive in the second quarter with a two yard touchdown run to up Laurel's lead to 13-0. The extra point try failed.

Then, as time wound down before half-time, the Homer punter was tackled in the Laurel end zone for a safety. At half-time, Laurel led Homer 15-0.

With 6:52 left in the third quarter, quarterback Todd Erwin scored from four yards out and VanCleave ran the ball in for two more points, building Laurel's lead to 23-0. That was the end of the scoring for the evening.

Twohig led all rushers with 125 yards on 12 carries. Next was VanCleave with 20 carries for 97 yards. And Darin Martinson came through with six carries for 62 yards.

In the passing department, Erwin was five of 16 for 93 yards. Leading receiver was Matt Jones — two catches for 63 yards. Matt Felber had one reception for 23 yards.

Martinson finished the game with 16 tackles, followed by John Schutte with 12 tackles.

LAUREL RUNNING back Chad VanCleave looks to make a move on a Homer defensive player during Laurel's 23-0 whitewashing victory on homecoming night in Laurel. The host team racked up over 400 total yards and the defense was awesome in allowing just 29 total yards.

Sports Briefs

Junior high loses

WAYNE-The Wayne junior high football team jumped out to a 6-0 lead against Pierce last Tuesday in Pierce and held it until the fourth quarter. Pierce however, scored two touchdowns in the final stanza to capture the 14-6 victory.

Craig Hudson scored Wayne's lone touchdown on a nine yard run in the opening period. Hudson led all Wayne rushers in the contest as he picked up 124 yards.

Matt Blomenkamp was the quarterback for the Blue Devils and he was 4-7 in the passing department for the contest. Defensively, Craig Hudson led the team with nine tackles while Jason Wehrer and Jeff Hamer had six apiece.

Wayne golfers struggle

WAYNE-The Wayne varsity girls golf team struggled at Stanton last Tuesday in a dual with the host team, and as a result they lost by a 223-272 count. Jennifer Chapman was Wayne's top golfer even though she finished in fifth place in the individual standings. Cher Reeg was Wayne's second place golfer and Jessica Rothfuss was third. Lisa Caseys' score was also included on the varsity squad as she finished fourth for Wayne.

Volleyball Rec

WAYNE-Women's and Co-ed volleyball is underway in Wayne for all adults at the City Auditorium. Women's league is on Monday's from 7-10 p.m. and the Co-ed league is on Wednesday's from 7-10 p.m.

Although this is the first week for the leagues, those still interested in participating are encouraged to attend next week.

Winside drops game

Although the Winside Lady Wildcats volleyball record is far from impressive at 1-6 with the loss to Stanton on Tuesday night, coach Paul Giesselmann doesn't feel that his team is that far from turning it around.

"If you take a good look at the first half of our schedule, you can see that all of the teams are very good this year," Giesselmann said. "We are still very young but we are getting better. I saw a lot of positive things with our match against Stanton."

Winside dropped the Stanton match in straight sets, 5-15, 12-15. "Stanton's got a lot of potential," Giesselmann said. "They have a lot of talent on the team." Winside could only muster up an 82 percent serve ratio and that is far below the standards of Giesselmann's goal.

"For the year we are only serving 81 percent," Giesselmann said. "We have to serve better than our opponent to make our chances of winning seem greater." Winside got off to a slow start in both sets falling behind by a 7-1 margin in the first set. "In the second set we got off to a slow start as well, but we battled back pretty good,"

Giesselmann said.

Tinia Hartmann and Patty Oberle were the perfect servers for Winside with Hartmann good on all seven of her attempts and Oberle making good on all five of her attempts with two aces. Jenny Jacobsen and Shannon Holdorf were each 5-6 with one ace while Kelly Pitchler and Shawn Janke each added a pair of aces.

Tinia Hartmann also enjoyed a perfect night in spiking with an eight of eight performance with four aces. Jenny Jacobsen was 12 for 14 with six ace spikes while Kelly Pitchler was 4-4 with two aces. Jenni Topp was good on all three of her spike attempts with one ace. Patty Oberle was 3-4 with one ace and Shannon Holdorf was 1-2 with one ace.

Tinia Hartmann was 17-18 in setting with four assists while Kelly Pitchler was 16-17 with seven assists. Jenny Jacobsen meanwhile, had four ace blocks to her credit. "Two things that I feel we have to improve upon right now if we are going to have any success this season is improving our passing and our serving," Giesselmann said.

Winside will travel to Coleridge on Thursday.

Wayne frosh run record to 2-0

The Wayne freshman team upped its season record to a perfect 2-0 Thursday night in Wayne with a thrilling 30-26 victory over visiting Schuyler. "It was a very exciting football game," coach Duane Blomenkamp said. "There was a lot of offense and big plays on both sides."

Wayne received the opening kickoff and was held without a first down and on the fourth down punt attempt, Schuyler blocked the kick and returned it for a touchdown to get up 6-0 very quickly.

Wayne responded quickly though, as Bobby Barnes scampered 50 yards for a score to tie the game at six after the end of one quarter of play. Schuyler was the only one to score in the second period as they scored following a big drive. The score at intermission was 13-6 in favor of Schuyler.

Jack Swinney found paydirt in the third quarter for the Blue Devils as he scored on a 38 yard run making the score 13-12 after three quarters of play. Bobby Barnes gave Wayne the lead in the fourth quarter on a 65 yard punt return for a touchdown. Wayne led at that point 18-13.

Schuyler then scored on a long touchdown pass and with the conversion the score was 20-18 in favor of the visitors. Wayne though, responded with Barnes scoring on a 40 yard run. It was Barnes' third touchdown of the game and it allowed Wayne to regain the lead at 24-20.

The Blue Devils added a little padding later in the quarter as Robert Longe returned an interception 45 yards for yet another Wayne score. Leading 30-20, Wayne tried to gear up on defense but Schuyler scored following a long drive closing the gap to 30-26.

Schuyler's defense then made a stand and forced Wayne to punt the ball. Schuyler began moving the ball with time running out. With approximately 20 seconds remaining in the game Robert Longe intercepted another Schuyler pass on about the 10 yard line to put the game on ice for Wayne.

Bob Barnes led all rushers in the contest with 140 yards. Wayne had the luxury of having two runners over the century mark in rushing as Jack Swinney had 101 yards on the ground.

Regg Carnes piled up 72 yards on the ground as well as Wayne churned out 313 total rushing yards. Defensively the Blue Devils were led by a trio of athletes in Chad Payson with 11 tackles, Regg Carnes with 10 and Gary Longe with nine. Wayne will travel to Battle Creek Thursday for a 5 p.m. contest with the Braves freshman and according to Blomenkamp's reports from Battle Creek, the Braves have one of their finest freshman teams ever.

Question: 1. With enrollment on the rise at the Wayne elementary and middle schools, does the school district have any expansion plans in place?

Answer:

A. 1. Expansion plans for the elementary school are on hold pending the implementation of the open-enrollment bill and more accurate estimates of projected enrollment. Kindergarten through fourth grade enrollment at Wayne has increased from 274 in 1987 to 297 in 1989. This is an 8 percent increase. Kindergarten enrollment in 1989 was 60 as of Sept. 1. This is 15 fewer students than originally expected.

Know your emergency number

If you have a medical emergency, do you know what number to call to get an ambulance?

"Know your number" is the theme of this year's Emergency Medical Services Week in Nebraska.

Governor Kay Orr has designated the week of Sept. 17-23 as Emergency Medical Services Week to recognize the efforts of emergency medical workers.

Those workers include ambulance attendants, firefighters, police officers and sheriff's deputies, the first ones on the scene to provide care to the sick or injured. They also include the paramedics and the hospital emergency room workers who continue the life-saving efforts of the first responders.

But unless emergency medical workers get a call, they can't do a thing, said Bob Leopold, director of the Emergency Medical Services Division of the Nebraska Department of Health.

"People need to know the phone number to get ambulance service in their area," said Leopold. "And they need to know it before they have an emergency on their hands."

Many communities use 911 for the number to call in an emergency. By dialing 911, people can get an ambulance, the fire department, the sheriff's office or police department, or whatever authority they need.

About 65 to 70 percent of the communities in Nebraska have a 911 number, said Leopold. But because establishing and manning a special line can be costly, a lot of communities still use a seven-digit number.

The number to call for ambulance service can be found inside the cover of the local phone book, said Leopold. Keep the number posted by the phone, in your wallet and in the glove compartment of your car is a good idea, he said.

Cancer Registry First report is released

The first report of a statewide cancer registry indicates that in Nebraska the rate of occurrence of new cancer cases is lower than in the rest of the nation.

According to the report, the age-adjusted incidence rate for cancer cases in 1987 in Nebraska was 313 new cases per 100,000 population compared to a national rate of 363-per 100,000.

The Cancer Registry, compiled from data gathered from all hospitals in the state except federal ones, reported 6,033 new cases of cancer in 1987.

The registry report, released Friday by the Nebraska Department of Health, shows that for Nebraska males the most frequent sites of cancer are the prostate, lung, colon/rectum, bladder, and oral cavity.

Cancer of the prostate, lung and colon/rectum accounted for over half of the total number of cases among men. There were 85.3 cases of prostate cancer, 63.4 cases of lung cancer and 52.5 cases of colorectal cancer per 100,000 men in the state.

For Nebraska females, the most frequent sites were the breast, colon/rectum, lung, uterus and ovary.

CANCER OF the breast, colon/rectum and uterus accounted for approximately three out of every five cases among women. There were 101.1 cases of breast cancer, 37.9 cases of colorectal cancer and 31.8 cases of uterine cancer per 100,000 women.

The top five cancer sites for both men and women in Nebraska are the same as in the rest of the U.S., said Health Director Dr. Gregg Wright.

Although the rates of occurrence for cancer of the ovary and uterus among women and for cancer of the kidney among men were slightly higher in Nebraska than they were elsewhere in the U.S., the differences were too small to be statistically significant, he said.

One of the most interesting findings of this report, said Dr. Wright, is that in 1987 the mortality rate due to lung cancer among Nebraska males was higher than the rate of occurrence.

"If the rate of occurrence continues to be lower," he said, "we expect to see a decline in lung cancer deaths among men in Nebraska."

A drop in the death rate for lung cancer would break a decades-old trend of steady increases. The reduction in the rate of occurrence may be due to a decrease in smoking among males, Wright said.

NEBRASKA METHODIST Hospital under the direction of the Unicameral needs to address statute

Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation

by Cheryl Stubbendieck, vice president/information

When the Nebraska Legislature convenes in January, it needs to take immediate steps to solve a problem we didn't know we had until early in September. It's not an overstatement to call it a crisis for rural leadership.

A Nebraska Attorney General's opinion issued Sept. 8 asserts a broad interpretation of this portion of "a Nebraska statute concerning election law: 'If any person holding an elective office created by act of the legislature shall be elected to any other elective office, his or her office to which first elected shall become vacated.'" (32-1037(9)).

The implications of this statute are enormous. It says clearly that one individual can serve in only one elective office. "Elective office" includes Natural Resources Districts, power districts, irrigation districts, township boards, school boards, airport authorities, fair boards, county nursing home boards, hospital boards, technical community college boards — even local cemetery boards! It would be much easier to say what kinds of public offices are exempt than to list all that are included.

THE ATTORNEY General's opinion was in response to Secretary of State Allen Beermann. Beermann asked for the opinion after being apprised of a situation wherein a local subdivision sought to remove one of its elected members because he had been subsequently elected to a Class I school district. The Attorney General's opinion affirmed that the first office was vacated when the second one was assumed.

Because of the broad application of the statute, hundreds — perhaps thousands — of Nebraskans are serving illegally on one board of some kind because they've subsequently been elected to another. The problem is especially acute in rural Nebraska, where there's a shortage of individuals willing and capable of serving in elected office. Many Nebraskans have served for years — even decades — on local school boards while also serving a two- or three-year term on something else from time to time.

A second concern is the validity of actions taken by elected bodies where one or more members were serving improperly because of duplicate office-holding. Conceivably, actions taken by a board wherein the deciding vote was cast by an improperly serving member may not be valid.

A THIRD concern, which prompts the need for fast action by the legislature, is primary elections in the spring. The legislature should act well before the filing deadlines for elective offices. Having to give up an elected office already held will be a factor for an individual considering a primary election bid of whatever kind.

There are situations wherein an individual probably should not be serving on two elected boards, notably situations where there is a conflict of interest between the two. But by the broadest of interpretations, any subdivision with taxing authority is in competition with another of similar kind — and even a county cemetery board can have tax levy authority.

This points out the difficulty of the problem. The legislature won't be able to simply pass a law that says, "You know that portion of the statutes? Well, forget it." Like everything, the solution will necessarily be more complex than that.

So, at this point there's not a simple solution. But the problem needs to be addressed — and quickly.

In the summer of 1819, Colonel Henry Atkinson led about 110 soldiers up the Missouri River. Their mission: to establish a chain of military posts to keep English fur traders out of America's recent Louisiana Purchase. But even in 1819, Congress had a way of intervening. In an attempt to balance the budget, the War Department's appropriations were axed.

By the Nebraska State Historical Society

Atkinson and his men never made it to their original destination — the mouth of the Yellowstone. Congressional penny-pinching forced them to remain on the west bank of the Missouri, in the area Lewis and Clark had dubbed "Council Bluffs." One hundred and seventy years ago this September, they established the first American fort and the first considerable settlement in Nebraska. Eventually the post was named for its founder — Fort Atkinson.

The fort was the site of many "firsts." The first school, library, sawmill, grist mill, blacksmith shop and brickyard in Nebraska were all located at the fort.

THE POST was more like a pioneer settlement than a military installation. A fair number of the 450-850 troops garrisoned at Fort Atkinson had their wives and children with them. Traders, carpenters, masons, shoemakers, laborers, landrasses, trappers, hunters and Indians lived at the fort, in addition to Army personnel.

The soldiers at Fort Atkinson were mainly farmers, not fighters. The English threat never materialized, and relations with area Indians were still friendly. One year drilling was suspended from September to December, in deference to crop-tending.

The troops were successful agriculturalists — to such an extent that in 1926, an Army inspector reported with disgust: "Our military have lost character among the Indians. No officer seems to know his place in case of an alarm. Let the soldier be one. Let him no longer boast of his still as a tiller of the soil. They can raise gardens, but do not let them boast of proficiency as farmers, of the advantages of the broadcast over the drill, nor of the extra five bushels per acre raised by Company C over Company B from relying more upon the plough than upon the hoe.

LOOK AT Fort Atkinson and you will see barnyards that would not disgrace a Pennsylvania farmer, herds of cattle that would do credit to a Potomac grazer, yet where is the gain in this, either to the soldier or the Government? Why all the corn and hay? To feed to cattle. Why the cattle? To eat the corn and hay."

By 1827, the Army concluded that perhaps its resources could be put to better use elsewhere. Troops and families moved back down the river to Missouri. "The farmer's fort" was abandoned.

Fifth Armored group meets

The Midwest Fifth Armored Division conducted their annual reunion at the Villa Inn in Norfolk on Sept. 8-10. There were 130 people in attendance from 14 different states.

The reunion took place the same time as Luxembourg observed the 45th anniversary of its liberation during World War II.

The 5th Armored Division, known as "Patton's Ghost", had liberated Luxembourg and became the first American forces to enter Germany. They suffered severe losses at Hurtgen Forest as the Battle of the Bulge was developing.

Before World War II had ended, the 5th Armored Division had fought on through Germany in the longest one day drive in history to become the first, nearest American force to reach Berlin — at war's end on the Elbe River 45 miles west of Berlin.

Officers of the Midwest Section, 5th Armored Division, are Earl Luebcke, president; Henry Langenberg, Hoskins, vice president and Ed Hurd, Norfolk, alternate vice president.

Jim Burrell of Topeka, Kansas is secretary. Next year's reunion will take place in Lexington.
