Gov. Orr approves accreditation rule

Nebraska Governor Kay Orr has approved Department of Education Rule 10 which she said provides standards to better evaluate and improve the quality of education being provided to Nebraska school students.

Rule 10, which was adopted by the State Board of Education, establishes a reasonable set of performance-based criteria for school districts. This will allow better monitoring of student achievement and the effectiveness of school programs, according to the news release from Gov. Orr's office.

"Nebraskans have always been very proud of the quality of education we provide our children. Our students have historically ranked among the highest in college achievement tests and are among the lowest in dropping out of school. This rule will help our schools to determine ways to better educate our children," said the Governor.

Wayne-Carroll Superintendent Francis Haun looks upon the new rule as a change in school accreditation procedures.

"The last legislature has directed the state department of education to modify the rule on a 'performance basis'," Haun said.

THE SCHOOL district currently abides by Rules 14 and 15 that spells out all of the criteria the school must meet in order to be accredited or approved. Wayne-Carroll has met those standards and is currently a Double A accredited school.

Double A accreditation will no longer be given to school districts under Rule 10, Haun said. However, all public schools across the state still need to be accredited or approved when Rule 10 takes effect.

This rule does not apply to home schools or to religious schools, according to Haun.

The rule went into effect, without penalty, on Sept. 1, 1989, he said.

Under performance-based accreditation, achievement tests are given to students in every approved or accredited school. "Right now, they are not quite sure as to what they are going to do with the results of these tests," said Haun.

Wayne-Carroll currently has basic skills testing among students and results are passed on to the school board and parents.

Don Leighton, superintendent at Winside Public School (an accredited school) said Rule 10 allows for no deviations from the required criteria as did the previous rules for accreditation. Smaller schools will have to work harder in meeting these guidelines required though Rule 10.

HOWEVER, he said the Winside School District will continue its efforts, as they have this year and in previous years, toward meeting the accreditation guidelines. There is no present threat that the school's accreditation will be lost, he said.

Governor Orr said she has requested Education Commissioner Joe Lutjeharms to closely monitor the impact of Rule 10 on the school district.

"It was designed to be flexible for both rural and urban schools. We must ensure that our smaller schools are not adversely impacted by this rule...but can use it as a tool to improve the quality of the education offered their students," Orr said.

Board plans closing Hoskins school

It has been reported that the Hoskins School Board voted Monday to dissolve the Hoskins School District 9 and merge it with the Norfolk Public Schools.

As of Wednesday morning at 8:45 a.m., the board had not presented its official merger plan to the Wayne County Superintendent's Office.

Before it can be annexed into the Norfolk School District, the proposal must be approved by the Norfolk Board of Education and reorganization committees in neighboring counties -- including Wayne County.

There are 59 students in the kindergarten through eighth grade school in Hoskins, a Class I school.

It is the largest Class I school in Wayne County in reference to enrollment figures.

A proposal exists, it was reported, to bus the students presently attending District 9 School to a new school opening at Woodland Park near Hoskins or to a junior high in Norfolk.

It was reported that some of the key elements in the merger plan were to operate District 9 School until the end of the 1989-90 school year; turn over the school's assets, and the building itself, to the Norfolk School District; and to have Norfolk Public Schools accept the four Hoskins teachers for employment (includes Deb Strate, Jerdine Luebe, Genevieve Gubbles and Alice Rohde).

Also, the plan calls for allowing the Hoskins District 9 School board members to seek election to the Norfolk School Board; and a stipulation that all of District 9 would be merged with Norfolk except the property of Richard and Connie Behmer, John and Peggy Behmer and Drex and Trudy Cushing -- property withdrawn from the Wayne County Hoskins School District 9 by freeholders petition.

Missionary work remains a challenge

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

Father Joe Dorcey isn't one who looks past a challenge.

And he finds plenty of challenges in his missionary work within northern Brazil's highly humid jungle territory that exist along the waterways that lead to the Amazon River.

Dorcey, age 36, is the son of Joe and Pat Dorcey of Wayne. He has completed nine years of missionary work in northern Brazil. At present he is vacationing in Wayne, where he will spend a few weeks with family and friends before returning to Coari -- a highly populated and heavily impoverished "county" where his mission serves.

Upon attending elementary and junior high school at St. Mary's School in Wayne, Dorcey enrolled at a high school seminary in Edgerton, Wisconsin. He then graduated from Holy Redeemer College at Waterford, Wisconsin and attended Theology school in New York.

It was in 1980 when he began his missionary assignment in northern Brazil. His first five years were spent in the Manacapuru area. During the remaining four years he has been involved with missionary work in the Coari area. There Dorcey, a Redemptorist missionary, is the coordinator of pastoral work in the rural areas of Coari -- which encompasses 151 communities that range in size from five families to 50 families.

"We visit each community at least two times a year, so I am traveling constantly," said Dorcey.

HIS MAJOR mode of transportation to these communities, traveling with other missionaries and several lay people, is a boat. There are no roads that lead to the rural communities, just walking paths through the thick jungle.

Church services are conducted in small chapels that sit on top of stilts, or sometimes just underneath the trees.

Time schedule in visiting these communities depends on the waterways. When it is dry, the waterways also dry up and there is no way to reach these communities.

"We have two seasons there. One rainy and the other, less rainy. We could have up to 150 inches of rainfall during the year, the most of that coming from November to May. June to October is the dryer season," said Dorcey.

Since the territory is only four degrees south of the equator, temperatures are constantly high.

"The day I left, it was 104 degrees and there was 90 percent humidity. Under the sun it could have been 115 degrees," he said.

Northern Brazil's weather is not the lone hardship faced by people in the populated area or "diocese" served by Dorcey. Inflation is excessively running rampant, distressing the economic situation. Foreign debt has reached over $140 billion. And what wealth there is in the area, it is not being distributed evenly among the population.

"The richer become richer and the poorer only become poorer," Dorcey said. Corruption is more blatant than other countries.

AND POVERTY increases. Those who reside in areas near the cities have it worse than those in the rural areas who can live off what can be produced off their land, he mentioned.

The main cash crop of Brazil is jute -- a fiber-filled crop grown in the water. Hazards of harvesting the jute are many. Electrocutation by fish is one, Dorcey said. "Thirty-year-olds develop crippling arthritis because they work in water all the time," he said.

Those from the rural communities survive on the rice, beans or corn they grow; or the wildlife that they hunt.

And yet through this massive jungle sight of green upon green, high humidity and the threat of illness or snake bites, Dorcey looks ahead to the challenges.

"I guess it appeals to the adventurous part of me," he said. "This area is rugged, and simple."

Learning the language of the people in the area (basically Portuguese) was a task that Dorcey accomplished with vigor.

Missionary work can entail more than just baptisms and celebrating church services. "One of the major

A brisk walk

APPROXIMATELY 180 people participated in the 1989 Wayne Crop Walk which covered six miles. Walkers traveled through the city limits and along outlying rural roads. Most of the participants covered the trip in less than three hours. Some jogged the whole distance. The amount raised for CROP will be known at a later date. More pictures can be seen on page 8A.

Lions Club selling candy

The annual Lions Club Halloween Candy Sale will take place the afternoon and evening of Sunday, Oct. 8 and the evening of Monday, Oct. 9.

Each package contains a variety of individually wrapped hard candies, sugared jellies, candy bars and caramels. All candy items are from Brach's or from M & M -- Mars. The price per bag is $2.00 or three bags for $5.00.

The funds realized from this project are used primarily for sight and hearing conservation activities. The Club also helps fund other community improvement projects. Wayne residents may contribute used eye glasses and used hearing aids to Lions calling on them.

She carried calla lilies and red roses with a rosary intertwined.

THE BRIDE'S attendants wore satin gowns in bright apple red featuring sweetheart necklines, short, puffy sleeves with several wide horizontal pleats, and deep basque waistlines trimmed with piping.

The full bouffant skirts were floor length with large back waist bows. A bustle effect was formed with draping fabric caught with narrow vertical ruffles on each side. Each carried an arm bouquet with a calla lily and red roses.

The bridegroom was attired in a white tuxedo, and his attendants wore black tuxedos with red bow ties and cummerbunds.

The mother of the bride wore an apple red lace and satin dress, and the bridegroom's mother chose a royal blue satin and lace combination.

Hospice training scheduled

Northeast Community College, Norfolk, and the Community Care Hospice Group (formerly The Wayne Hospice Group) are sponsoring a 12-hour hospice training course in Beemer on Monday evenings, beginning Oct. 9.

Dates for the course are Oct. 9, 16, 23 and 30 from 7 to 10 p.m. each evening. Classes will be held in the community center at Elkhorn Valley Apts., 800 Fifth St., Beemer, and cost is $13.

WANDA KUCERA, hospice coordinator, said Beemer was selected as the class location to accommodate persons interested in hospice in the Beemer, West Point, Pender, Wisner and Pilger areas.

Hospice services are now available in all those communities through the Wayne-based office. Kucera added that all interested persons are invited to attend the class. A car pool may be formed for persons residing to the north of Beemer, including Wayne and Allen.

"THIS TRAINING IS required for hospice volunteers," said Kucera, "but we have found it very useful to others as well, including anyone in a caregiver situation."

Kucera added that taking the course is not a commitment to become a hospice volunteer, although the hospice program does hope to gain trained volunteers from those participating.

The class will cover a variety of topics relating to the hospice movement, including the hospice concept, physical care, palliative (non-curing) care, nutritional needs, spiritual care, grief, volunteerism, death and burial, bereavement, and more.

"WE ARE FORTUNATE to have excellent presenters on these topics," said Kucera, adding that it is important for persons to consider that hospice is a very special kind of care.

"When a person has an advancing disease and a limited life expectancy, his/her needs, as well as the family's needs, change dramatically."

"Hospice care is a concept specifically to support the physical, emotional and spiritual needs of these persons."

PERSONS WHO would like additional information are asked to contact Kucera at 375-1628, or Jean Wubben at 644-0440.

Those interested in pre-registering for the course are asked to call 644-0600.

Wayne State suffers sting in fourth quarter

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

For the first three quarters of Saturday's football contest between Wayne State and Emporia State, you would have had a hard time distinguishing on who came into the game ranked sixth in the nation and who was ranked fifth in the nation in rushing defense.

The Wildcats gave the visitors all they could handle through three quarters with a 14-10 deficit still staring them in the face heading into the fourth quarter, but Emporia State put its sting on Wayne State in the final period scoring 17 points to win the game, 31-14.

"Our defense got tired in the fourth quarter," Wayne State coach Dennis Wagner said. "They basically played the whole second half. We played three quarters of excellent defense but we started missing tackles in the final period."

Emporia State, ranked sixth in the latest poll following last week's loss at the second rated team in the country in Central Arkansas, had trouble running against the Wildcats. Hornet running back Alvester Bobby came into the contest averaging over 120 yards per outing this season to date, and is always a threat to break a long run each time he handles the ball.

Wayne State though, held Bobby to just 43 yards on the day on 14 carries. Bob Sterba, Randy Rouse and Jeff Brownfield all had outstanding defensive days," Wagner said. "But again, we as a team played great defense for three quarters of play and I feel that is a tribute to our defensive coaches Andrew Disney, Tim Johnson, Scott Frear and Jim Gray because they had the kids ready to play emotionally and the game plan was executed well for 75 percent of the contest. We wanted to stop the run and make them pass."

There was no scoring in the opening period but with less than one minute gone in the second quarter, Emporia State's Alvester Bobby scampered over from four yards out and with the extra point, they lead 7-0.

Wayne State fought back and with 8:57 remaining in the first half the Wildcats struck paydirt as quarterback Gale Lawton called his own number and went 43 yards up the middle for the score. But with something gained like a touchdown for Wayne State, there was something lost, as Lawton suffered a tear in his hamstring on the play and was sidelined for the remainder of the contest.

"There is no doubt that we suffered a mental letdown after Lawton's injury," Wagner said. "When your whole sideline and all your players on the field see their leader running in the open field and then have to limp into the endzone it's going to have its effect. But still, that's no excuse for us not moving the ball in the second half."

Emporia State scored its second touchdown of the second quarter on an eight yard pass from Mike Burch to Dexter Knight and with two seconds left in the second quarter Wildcat field goal kicker Blaine Branscum kicked a 43 yard field goal to cut the Emporia State lead to 14-10.

Wayne State was dominating the stats at halftime as the Wildcat rolled up 175 first half rushing yards compared to just 57 for Emporia State. The Wildcats had out totaled the visitors by a 208-118 count.

Running back Troy Jackson was enjoying his day to that point as well as the junior from St. Paul, Minn. had gained 105 yards on 19 carries by intermission. Gale Lawton had picked up 59 yards on eight carries and that is how he finished the day.

"They held us under 70 total yards in the second half," Wagner said. "I feel the key to the game was the fact that we weren't as effective on our option game with Ray Luna running the offense but that was understandable because he hadn't taken as many practice snaps against the scout team as Gale did. I thought that Ray did an admirable job of stepping in. Anytime you move up from the third string quarterback to the first string quarterback in a week, it's a big move. Plus to step into a game in the second quarter against the fifth rated defense in the country and you can probably understand why maybe Ray Luna had some jitters. But the coaching staff has complete confidence in Ray's ability to run the offense."

There was no scoring in the third quarter as the Wildcat defense was as emotionally high as they were before the opening kickoff. But in the fourth quarter lightning struck for the Hornet offense. Mike Burch went over from one yard out to give the Hornets a 21-10 lead and later in the period Mike Robertson connected on a 42 yard field goal. Then with 13 seconds left following a missed fourth down conversion by the Wildcats, Steve Davila scampered 35 yards into the endzone for the final count of 31-10.

Wayne State suffered eight penalties for 62 yards and Emporia State had six penalties for 65 yards. The Wildcat punting game did an excellent job as Jeff Pasold punted seven times for an average of 43.7 yards. He also had a punt that traveled 55 yards. Wayne State also lead the game in time of possession as the Wildcats were on offense for 31:28 compared to 28:32 for Emporia State.

"We feel we have to improve on our third down conversions," Wagner said. "Our goal is to reach a consistency of 45 percent conversion rate. Saturday we were only 33 percent on 5-15."

Troy Jackson finished the game with 140 total rushing yards on 33 carries. Jackson's longest run was a 21 yard scamper. Ray Luna and Gale Lawton combined to go 5-11 in the passing game with Bill Blondin catching three of them for 37 yards. Wendell Bell and Gus Zambrano also caught one pass each.

Defensively, the Wildcats were led by Jeff Brownfield's 18 total tackles on the day. Bob Sterba finished with 16 and Randy Rouse had a total of 14. Roudy Woodard finished with nine tackles and one interception. Glen Sutton had seven tackles and one interception and Jim Scott had six tackles and one quarterback sack. Bill Hendricks and Matt Holly finished with five and four tackles respectively.

Looking ahead

Looking ahead to Saturday's matchup with Evangel College in Springfield, MO., Wagner feels that on film Evangel will be the fastest team they have faced yet. "They have a good mix of running and passing," Wagner said. "They have scored a lot of points in their first three games, but they are 1-2 so they are also giving up a lot of points."

Wagner feels that his offensive line is playing better with each outing but notes that they know they have a long way to go to be a great offensive line. "We are working on playing hard for four quarters and working on consistency," Wagner said. "It's good to know that once we reach the opponent's 30 yard line that we can rely on a good field goal kicker in Blain Branscum."

Saturday's contest with Evangel will get underway at 7:30 p.m.

QUARTERBACK GALE Lawton hands off to Troy Jackson in one of Jackson's 33 carries against Emporia State.

THE HUNGRY Wildcat defense held Emporia State's backfield far below its season average of rushing. Here, Mike Thorell, (#15), Jim Scott, (#11) and Jeff Brownfield emerge on quarterback Mike Burch.

BILL BLONDIN comes up with a big third down catch for Wayne State which kept a drive alive.

Schram wins contest

WAYNE-Margaret Schram captured the Wayne Herald football contest for last week as she tied with five others, but her tie breaker score was the closest between Wayne and West Point. Runner-up honors went to Holly Paige.

A total of six entrants missed three games. Others tying for first place honors besides the above mentioned two included: Mike Grosz, Jackie Nicholson, Jerry Zimmer and Viola Meyer, all of Wayne.

Wildcat nickname becomes uniform

The official nickname for all Wayne State athletic teams is "Wildcats", according to athletic director Pete Chapman.

In the past Wayne State's women's teams had been referred to as the "Lady Wildcats", but the "Lady" will no longer be recognized as part of the nickname.

"Our women's coaches believe that 'Wildcats' serves them as well as it serves the men's programs and that there's really no need to distinguish them as 'Lady Wildcats.' We're all 'Wildcats' and this is one way to recognize that," Chapman said.

The "Lady" is also not being recognized as part of the nickname to avoid the negative connotation it sometimes brings to women and women's athletics, according to

"In years past people may have viewed our women's programs differently than our men's and the nickname reflected that difference. We do not want to perpetuate the line of thinking that a 'Lady' nickname implies," Chapman said.

To avoid confusion in all publications and releases, Wayne State's athletic teams will be distinguished simply with men's or women's preceding the team sport if needed.

"We're not trying to make any kind of generalized statement about nicknames with 'Lady' in them," Chapman said. "We just feel that it's time to have a nickname which is uniform for all our sports."

Wayne State runners in action

WAYNE-The Wayne State cross country teams were back in action last Friday at Concordia's Invitational in Seward. Jim Chvala was Wayne State's top finisher in men's competition as he finished in 17th place with an effort of 27:07. Scott Pack finished in 38th place with a time of 28:26 and Phil Chvala finished in 61st place with a 30:49 effort.

In Women's action Lucy Peter ran the course in 19:35 for a 12th place finish and Keri Kamrath finished 40th with a time of 21:36. Andrea Revsink finished in 47th place with a 22:07 clocking and Angie Somers placed 50th with an effort of 22:24.

"I was pleased with all the girls' efforts," coach Lee Stegemann said. "They all improved by almost a minute." Wayne State will now host the Wayne State Invitational on Friday beginning with women's action at 5 p.m. followed by the men at approximately 5:30.

Wayne wins South Sioux Invite

For the second consecutive year the Wayne Blue Devils have captured the South Sioux volleyball invitational. Marlene UHING's squad played host South Sioux in the first round of the tournament and they defeated the host in straight sets, 15-6, 15-4.

Teresa Ellis had a perfect night from her setting post with a 42-42 effort which included 13 assists. Erin Pick was the top server with 11 points on 13-14 from the service line including three aces. Teresa Ellis was a perfect 11-11 with four aces and she finished with six points.

Heidi Reeg was Wayne's top spiker with a 15-16 effort and three kill spikes while Deanna Schluns was 10-11 with three kill spikes as well. Heidi Reeg finished the contest with two blocks.

"I thought we played pretty well," UHING said. "We were really focused on the match. We missed a few too many serves but we concentrated for the most part on what we wanted to do."

UHING was pleased with the play of Deanna Schluns and Rachel Haase. "Deanna and Rachel did a real nice job of digging up balls and Deanna had a nice night in spiking," UHING said.

With the victory Wayne moved into the championship game against Sioux City Heelan and again the Blue Devils took them out in straight sets, 15-9, 15-10.

Teresa Ellis was the leading server in the contest with a perfect 18-18 outing with two aces and a game leading 13 points. Erin Pick was 8-10 from the service line with one ace and six points.

Jennifer Hammer was the top spiker for the match with four kill spikes on her 10-11 effort. Heidi Reeg meanwhile, was 14-17 in spiking with three kill spikes. Teresa Ellis once again manned the setting duties and was 41-42 with nine assists. Jennifer Hammer and Teresa Ellis led the team with two blocks each.

"We hadn't played consistent in a tournament all year," UHING said. "Our goal was to come in and play good volleyball in back-to-back games and we did that." Sioux City Heelan according to UHING was a very good team and they had a 6-2 girl that could really hit the ball but the Blue Devils managed to keep the ball away from her.

"We're really starting to improve our game right now," UHING said. "We didn't have that great of a September but I think the girls are really starting to make progress."

Both Teresa Ellis and Heidi Reeg were named to the all-tournament team for their performances in the two games of the invitational. Wayne's record improved to 7-9 on the year.

Wayne will host O'Neill on Thursday night and then they will entertain Hartington-Cedar Catholic on Tuesday night before a week lay-off. The Blue Devils will then travel to O'Neill for the conference tournament on Oct. 19.

WAYNE STATE volleyball player Marti Hunt passes the ball to the setter in recent tourney action.

Crystal Ball sees Wayne victory

The Crystal Ball went 7-3 last week with misses coming on the Wayne-West Point match-up, the Winside-Walthill match-up and in the college ranks, the Washington-Colorado match-up.

For the season the Crystal Ball is sitting atop a 72 percent winning mark despite a 5-5 first week. The season total is 21-8. Here is this week's top picks:

Wakefield at Ponca—I look for Wakefield to even its season record at 3-3 this week as they defeat the Indians of Ponca, who are suffering a down year. Matt Tappe at quarterback and Anthony Brown at running back are two of the major offensive reasons why Wakefield is improving with each outing. Wakefield, 27—Ponca, 12.

Walthill at Allen—One bad thing about homecomings is that sometimes it takes the concentration factor away from the players. Allen is suffering a letdown after high expectations coming into the season. Still they played better in their game last week with Bancroft-Rosalie, but I saw what kind of offensive explosion Walthill has. Walthill, 30—Allen, 24.

Winside at Wausa—I got to believe that Randy Geier had a severe talking to the Wildcat defense this week. After giving up 46 first half points a week ago, Winside held Walthill to just six points in the second half. I look for the Wildcats to put on a defensive performance in this game. Winside, 36—Wausa, 6.

Wayne at O'Neill—Wayne feels they let one slip away at West Point a week ago in losing 7-6. Well, it's time to put up Blue Devils. Wayne cannot afford another loss and expect to waltz into the play-offs. Look for Wayne to bounce back in a big way, Wayne, 28—O'Neill, 18.

Wayne State at Evangel—The Wildcats will play their first night game of the season in Springfield, MO, this Saturday. Coach Dennis Wagner says that Evangel is one of the faster teams they will face this season. Wayne State's offense seemed to get untracked finally with their win over Minot State and during the first half of the Emporia State game. Unfortunately, the Wildcats mustered just 63 total second half yards. Look for this game to be very close and I'm going out on a limb, Wayne State, 24—Evangel, 20.

Other games of prediction note: Nebraska, 49—Kansas State, 6; Oklahoma, 38—Oklahoma State, 13; USC, 31—Washington, 17; Clemson, 24—Virginia, 20; Penn State, 23—Rutgers, 20.

Swim meeting

WAYNE: There will be an informational and joining meeting for the Wayne Swim Team on Wednesday at the First United Methodist Church at 5:30 p.m. For more information contact Sue Schroeder at 375-1194 after 4 p.m. or Dianne Zach at 375-3149 after 4 p.m.

Blue Devils place second

The Wayne volleyball team traveled to Tilden on Saturday for the annual Tilden Invitational—a tournament Wayne has dominated for several years. In the first match the Blue Devils downed Humphrey by identical scores of 15-13, 15-13.

Teresa Ellis led the setter with a 37-40 outing and 11 set assists. She also led the servers with a 12-14 performance with two aces and eight points. Deanna Schluns had six points on a perfect 10-10 outing in the serving department. Erin Pick led the spikers with a 9-10 outing with five kill spikes while Heidi Reeg was 11-15 with four kill spikes.

"We really didn't play that well in the first set," coach Marlene UHING said. "We missed nine serves in the first set alone and only missed one in the second set. We played o.k. but we suffered to many side outs. We had a lot of people that got to hit the ball."

In the nightcap the Blue Devils faced a familiar Madison team. It was the fourth consecutive year that they have faced Madison in the finals of the Tilden Invitational. This year Madison had Wayne's number but the match did go three sets before Madison won it, 15-7, 4-15, 15-11.

Teresa Ellis was a perfect 46-46 in the setting department with seven set assists while scoring eight points in the serving category on a 12-14 performance. Rachel Haase and Deanna Schluns were 8-8 and 7-7 respectively with Haase notching seven points and Schluns, five.

Erin Pick was 12-14 in the spiking category with one kill spike while Jennifer Hammer was 9-15 with four kill spikes. "I didn't think we attacked very well," UHING said. "We had good sets and our passing game was good but we did rather poorly in our spiking."

The bright spot for the Blue Devils was the serving had improved over their first match. "We missed a total of seven serves in three games compared to 10 in the first match which lasted just two sets," UHING said.

Kari Lutt and Heidi Reeg did a good job in the Madison match of blocking as they recorded seven and five blocks respectively. It was the second time of the season that these two teams had faced each other and UHING felt her squad played a much better match this time than the first time they met at the Wisner Invitational.

Wayne State junior varsity squad loses to NIACC, 26-12

The Wayne State junior varsity team played Northern Iowa Area Community College in a Sunday afternoon contest at Memorial Field in Wayne with NIACC coming out on top by a 26-12 count.

The Wildcats fell behind 7-0 after one quarter of play on a 20 yard touchdown pass play. In the second period, NIACC upped its lead to 13-0 on a one yard touchdown run.

Wayne State recorded a safety with 5:30 left in the first half to make it a 13-2 contest and that is how the game stood at intermission. The visitors made the score 19-2 in the third period on a 16 yard touchdown pass.

In the fourth quarter Wayne

State finally struck paydirt as Willie Tucker sprinted over from six yards out. Joe Perkins kicked the point after to make it a 19-9 game. NIACC came right back and scored on a six yard run and with just seven seconds remaining in regulation Joe Perkins kicked a 29 yard field goal for the Wildcats.

NIACC came away with 23 first downs on the afternoon compared to 17 for WSC. The Wildcats netted 185 rushing yards on 58 attempts while the visitors rolled up 194 net rushing yards on 46 attempts.

Wayne State was hurt through the air as NIACC amassed 216 yards passing on a 14-20 performance by quarterback Mike Schlichting. Wayne State managed just 61 yards on a 6-18 performance by Kleespies and a 1-1 outing for Travis Bahnsen.

Alan Axelson caught three passes and Dave Wingett was on the receiving end of two passes. Danilo Lamba was Wayne's leading rusher with 77 yards rushing on 19 attempts while Willie Tucker managed 51 yards on 19 carries.

Defensively, Wayne State was led by a trio of players with each of them garnering ten tackles. Mike Garreud, Todd Starlin and Bill Heimann led the charge while Mike Wilson and Anthony Hinds had eight tackles apiece. Steve Fitzgerald, Pat Hoefener and Troy Hedlund each mustered seven tackles and Marty Jonas and John Wriedt had six each.

SHELLY PICK looks to spike the ball during Wayne State's game against Fort Hays St. last Friday.

WSC spikers suffer losses

The Wayne State Wildcat volleyball team posted an 0-4 record last week as they hosted the Mid-Season Invitational and failed to win a game. They opened up play against Fort Hays State University and the Wildcats won the first set, 15-8.

Fort Hays came back strong though, and won the next three, 16-14, 15-12, 15-7. Emporia State played the next match with Wayne State and the Hornets defeated the Wildcats in straight sets, 15-5, 15-12, 15-3. Kearney State was next and they also defeated Wayne State in straight sets, 15-3, 15-5, 15-11.

Wayne State's final match was against South Dakota State University and the match lasted five sets before SDSU defeated the Wildcats, 16-14, 12-15, 6-15, 15-5, 15-3.

The Wildcats will now travel to Yankton, S.D., on Thursday to meet the Lady Lancers of Mount Marty. Following that match, Wayne State will travel to Omaha to play against The College of St. Mary and Midland. The Wildcats will then continue road play next Tuesday as they travel to play Peru State.

TWO YOUNG participants of the 1989 CROP Walk found one way to beat the heat during their six mile walk was to dash through some of the sprinklers watering the lawns throughout Wayne. Here, the young men run through one more sprinkler before completing the final leg of their long CROP Walk journey.

Wayne residents attend AAL annual convention

Three Wayne residents, William Dew and Neil and Bonnie Sandahl, were among approximately 385 Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL) volunteers from Nebraska who attended the annual convention of the Nebraska Federation of AAL branches on Sept. 23 at the Conhusker Hotel in Lincoln.

AAL members are joined in branches where they are given the organizational and financial resources to accomplish humanitarian, service, social and educational projects to help others in their communities.

The participants in federation conventions generally are branch officers who attend to learn how to become more effective volunteer leaders.

Several workshops were offered to convention goers, with subjects ranging from "Generations: A Salute to Grandpersons" to "Handling Interpersonal Conflict."

There are more than 55,223 AAL members in Nebraska. Last year, volunteers conducted 580 fraternal projects which raised more than $838,211.

College scholarships worth $76,044 were distributed to 62 AAL members in the state, while 43 persons participated in AAL's marriage enrichment and pre-retirement planning programs.

Raising funds for the hungry

IT WAS A well-attended CROP Walk, 1989 that took place Sunday afternoon in Wayne. The walkers began their six mile trek at the Wayne National Guard Armory, advancing to Providence Road, 14th Street, country roads, the Wayne Country Club, the hiking trail at Wayne State College, past Memorial Stadium, by Bressler Park, up Main Street, back to 7th Street and back to the National Guard Armory. There were nearly 180 walkers of all ages who participated in the event that started at 1:30 p.m. Funds gained from the CROP Walk will be used by church world services for overseas relief and development. Also a portion of the proceeds will go to the food pantry in Wayne, sponsored by the Wayne Ministerial Association. At left, a portrait of the gathering before they begin their six mile walk. Lower left, some people made the CROP walk a family affair; and lower right, Sister Gertrude and Sister Rita Marie are two avid participants involved in the CROP Walk.

pleasures has been working with the people here, who for over 500 years have been oppressed, exploited and used. They have never had a chance to recognize themselves as human beings. They carried no dignity or self-worth," he said.

A CENTER for Defense of Human Rights has been established, he said, to help these people develop "to the maximum" whatever they are capable of doing. "A large part of it is listening, letting the people talk to us about their hopes and their sufferings," Dorcey said.

Sometimes, working to build self-worth can be an uphill struggle. "It can be a long, slow process. At times one wonders if they are moving forward or backward," he said.

Learning to read and write is one way for those in the rural communities to build their self worth. However in some rural communities the highest level of education achieved is at the fourth grade level. More and more people are learning to read and write. Still illiteracy continues to rise, according to Dorcey.

There is one university in the area and 10,000 people vying for an enrollment spot at the higher education institution. Dorcey said that for most of the people in his mission area, higher education is out of the question.

Challenges will continue to arise, one after another.

"Sometimes people say to me 'I don't think that I could ever do what you are doing'. I just tell them 'And I don't think I could ever do what you are doing,'" said Father Dorcey.

Answering the call to help the oppressed, and coping with the challenges it brings, is what Father Dorcey considers as a most-fulfilling mission.

The Parable of the Button

And so it came to pass that a great sadness fell upon the land. For the Great Lords who sat in Washington had caused a snafu to be laid upon the people, to cause them much Hardship, Pain and Suffering. Throughout the land, there was much wailing and gnashing of teeth. For all believed that all was lost, even unto their Mercedes and Cadillacs.

"Times are Bad!" cried the media. "You are all about to go Down the Tubes!" And, lo! the people so hearing did so believe. And they donned sack-cloth and ashes, and spoke with lowered voices and much wringing of hands.

But there was amongst them one named, Diamond King the Idiot, at The Diamond Center, who was weak of mind, hard of hearing, and dim of sight, so that he was not able to see, hear, nor understand how bad times were, so stupid was he.

And Diamond King fashioned for himself a small shield and emblazoned upon it the words "BUSINESS IS GOOD IN WAYNE," and bound it to his mantle, that all might look upon it.

And as he traveled through the land, the people raised their heads and they mocked at him saying, "Wherefore do ye wear such a sign upon your breast saying "BUSINESS IS GOOD IN WAYNE?" But the Diamond King of The Diamond Center replied saying, "I wear this sign because BUSINESS IS GOOD IN WAYNE."

And one who wailed mightily spake, saying, "Wherefore is your business good, but we are in such distress!"

And the Diamond King replied, "Thou knowest my eyes fail me, therefore I cannot read the newspapers that proclaim misery in the land. Thou knowest I hear dimly, therefore I cannot hear the mighty warnings of McNeil and Lehrer. Thou also knowest I am slow of mind, and therefore do not comprehend what wise men say in New York and Chicago. So is my heart not burdened, and my look joyful."

Hearing this, the multitude raised their voices, and cried aloud, "Diamond King! Diamond King! Make for us one of your Magic Buttons, that we might also be shed of our despair." And the Diamond King spake humbly, saying "It's not magic, boys. You just gotta believe."

If you would like one of The Diamond King's Magic Buttons, just come into The Diamond Center. We'll be glad to share the Magic!

A Free Press: Democracy's Forum

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK
OCTOBER 8-14, 1989

A Free Press: Democracy's Forum

"A free press is not a privilege but an organic necessity in a great society. Without criticism and reliable and intelligent reporting, the government cannot govern. For there is no adequate way in which it can keep itself informed about what the people of the country are thinking and doing and wanting."

These words by Walter Lippman, noted American columnist and author, succinctly express the theme of National Newspaper Week 1989.

We could add also, and with emphasis, that the function of a free press in a free society is to keep the public informed about what its elected officials are thinking and doing, and how well they are doing it. That is the basis for our newspapers' unique protection afforded by the First Amendment—so that they can provide adequate, accurate, reliable information, facts and analysis to permit the people to make intelligent decisions, to judge the effectiveness of government policies and programs, and to express their opinions in open forum.

In drafting our First Amendment the founding fathers recognized that without the right of a free press—a free forum to speak our minds, to publish our criticism and opinions—all other rights and liberties would be endangered. We are deeply indebted to their foresight and wisdom which have preserved those rights and liberties for more than 200 years.

But beyond the indispensable role newspapers play in the functioning of our democratic system, they play an important role in our everyday lives. As the leading U.S. advertising medium they help to sustain the economic vitality of our communities and of the nation. They help us make intelligent choices between products, programs, people and life styles. They provide schedules and advice to plan and execute our increasingly busy workday, as well as our leisure time. And they analyze, instruct, educate and interpret to help us cope with the increasingly complex issues we face in our daily lives.

Those of us who are privileged to be a part of the vital role newspapers play in our democracy recognize the many responsibilities engendered in the privileges granted by our First Amendment. In fulfilling those responsibilities we must continually strive to improve our product and its distribution. We must continue to provide our readers and advertisers the services they want and need to fully participate in our democratic system.

And we must remain constantly vigilant in protecting the peoples' right of a free press; democracy's forum—to ensure that we all remain free and flourishing.

Kristy Oberle

Winside girl winner of trip

Twelve-year-old Kristy Oberle of Winside, along with her parents, Dwight and Connie Oberle, and sister Kim, recently returned from a free three-day trip to Washington, D.C.

Kristy was drawn a prize winner in the Cheerios "Kid Power Election" sweepstakes, which she entered from the back of a cereal box during the summer of 1988. She was notified that she had won in June 1989.

Kristy won a three day and two night stay in Washington, D. C. for four persons. The trip included air fare, hotel accommodations, a rental car, tour of Washington D. C., and $500 spending money.

The Oberles took their trip from Sept. 22-24. While in Washington, D. C., they toured the Capitol, Library of Congress, Smithsonian Museum of Natural History and White House, and had lunch atop the Kennedy Center.

They also drove through Chantown and Georgetown, saw the Lincoln and Vietnam memorials, viewed Washington Monument, drove by the Pentagon, walked through Arlington Cemetery, and visited Mt. Vernon, home of George Washington.

The Oberles estimate the value of the trip to be approximately $2,500.

By Pat Melerhenry

You all remember my good neighbor, Ed. His two-year struggle with cancer ended last week. Death becomes a release when cancer has weakened our bodies and broken our spirits.

I once heard a nun say that she hoped to die of cancer "because it gives us time." I've come to know what she meant, though I still wouldn't wish it for anyone.

The grief process begins at the time of diagnosis. Slowly, we struggle with denial, anger, bargaining and depression to acceptance. Along the way, we encounter guilt and blame, remorse, and questioning; trying always to maintain an element of hope.

Ed and Chick have seven children. In the years since they moved to Hoskins, they've acquired four in-laws and 10 grandchildren; the youngest just 15 months old and named for his grandfather. Since the day they discovered what was happening, they've taken the opportunity to express their love and appreciation.

THE MOST beautiful expression of these was a wonderful anniversary party last November. It featured a scrapbook of photos and beautiful letters from each member of the immediate family. There was a large color photo of the whole crew taken in a park at just this time of year, with all the golds and oranges and reds of fall displayed.

There were many weekends spent in the much-loved farm, helping Mom in the ever more difficult task of caring for Dad. Finally, last weekend, they came to the last "letting go."

The Hospice material says the greatest freedom we can give someone is the freedom to die. One by one, in response to their father's request, they did that and late Sunday evening, I had a final call.

But I want to tell you about the funeral. A mass of the Resurrection, a celebration of Ed's earthly life and his release to a heavenly one.

His brother, Father Bob, wore a white robe appliqued with colorful butterflies, the symbol of a new life in a different form.

We gathered in a gorgeous new church in Papillion, the Crjcek home parish, home of the elementary school Ed had attended.

Our friend, Father Rick Arkfeld, assisted with the mass; his last service to another friend he met because of a common diagnosis. Two grandsons served as altar boys.

THERE WAS beautiful, uplifting music, a prayer for a cure for cancer, a memorial ode written by a friend and read by a daughter. Gifts brought by grandchildren featured symbols of his life: a sheep, a cow, a tractor, the family picture and basketball. (I was singing "Be Not Afraid" during this procession, and my voice broke at the sight of the basketball.)

The readings reminded us of the verses that promise: "if our earthly house, this tent, is destroyed, we have a building from God, not made with hands, eternal in the heavens;" and "In my Father's house are many mansions."

The final song, "Amazing Grace" featured a trumpet. As one participant commented, "We sent him off in style."

I think Ed would have been amazed. He is greatly missed, but he'll not be forgotten. Another name on the long list of folks who have enriched our lives with love, humor and caring.

Approximately seventy guests attended from the Evangelical Covenant Church, Presbyterian Church, Christian Church, St. John's Lutheran Church, St. Paul's Lutheran church of rural Wakefield, Immanuel Lutheran Church of rural Wakefield and St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Concord.

President, Clarice Schroeder, opened the meeting by reading the purpose statement of WELCA. She also spoke about the uniqueness of each group being needed to vitalize the church as all are a part of the whole of God's people. The hymn "For the Beauty of the Earth" was sung.

Ruth Boeckenhauer led the devotions from Isaiah 35:1-2 and Matthew 6:28 both speaking of the beauties of earth. As an introduction to the skit "A Beautiful Bouquet" Ruth Boeckenhauer read from "He Says It With Flowers" by Addie Scheve. The skit had a number of ladies impersonating flowers showing both good and bad personality traits of church women. The narration, read by Pauline Fischer and Miriam Haglund concluded that all (both flowers and women) work for the glory of God in a beautiful arrangement.

Prayer was offered by Ruth Boeckenhauer followed by a piano duet, "He Leadest Me" and "Jesus the Very Thought of Thee" played by Famy Johnson and Violet Ring.

Mae Greve in her introduction of guest speaker Merlin (Lefty) Olson also pointed out the various displays around the church basement that were made up of articles old and new from our local Wakefield and Wakefields around the world. Lefty's presentation of slides and narration took the guests and members on an informative trip to various Wakefields that he and his wife have visited including England, Canada, Virginia, Indiana, New York, Kansas, Louisiana, Mass., Michigan, New Hampshire, Penn., Rhode Island, and Wakefield Plantation, Virginia. There are also Wakefields in Australia and Jamaica which they plan to visit.

STORYTELLING AT MUSEUM

Dixon County Historical Society hosted nearly 100 pupils and faculty grades Kindergarten through sixth grades Monday morning at the Dixon County Historical Museum setting in Allen. They were treated to the story of Johnny Applesseed as portrayed by former Allen resident Alice Janssen Dietz, now of Norfolk.

Dietz's storytelling is known in the area as Alice's Wonderland of Storytelling. The education program presented helps to influence a child's development both physically and mentally as she presents her programs through creativity, dramatization, imagination, listening, building vocabulary and sharing.

The presentation of Johnny Applesseed, which is a legend of Johnny as he went about the country planting apple seeds and reading his Bible to the settlers in the new frontier, makes him one of the first missionaries to the west. He was portrayed as a friend to the pioneer and the Indians.

Especially loved by the audience were the animals which were introduced as the forest friends of Johnny Applesseed, and also his imaginary friend who sang with and urged Johnny to plant apple orchards in the wild frontier.

Water quality becoming key issue

Water quality legislation will be a critical issue in Nebraska during the next five years, according to University of Nebraska Water Center Director Roger Gold.

Speaking at a Women in Agriculture conference here, Gold said Nebraska needs both more water quality research and stronger water quality protection legislation. A number of other water-related issues also confront the state, he added.

Gold said that although Nebraska has enough groundwater to cover the entire state with 40 feet of water, he predicted that water quality will "drive future legislation in the next few years."

"We Nebraskans face the problem of water contaminants adversely affecting us," Gold said. Many believe that septic systems, animal waste and commercial fertilizer use are the major sources of nitrogen contamination in Nebraska groundwater, the NU administrator said.

"Even if we stopped using nitrogen fertilizer today, it would take several years before the soil profile is free of nitrogen. It's on its way to the groundwater," Gold explained.

HOWEVER, he said the good news is that Nebraska can do a better job of managing fertilizer use and thus slow the process of chemicals leaching to ground water. "Besides, we'd save money and help the long-term environmental survival," he pointed out.

In Nebraska, Gold explained, nitrogen generated from animal waste amounts to about 540,000 tons yearly; commercial fertilizer, that is worth $500 million, 550,000 tons annually; 44,000 tons of nitrogen from rainfall and 5,200 tons of nitrogen in human waste.

Furthermore, he said, there are no Nebraska laws to regulate fertilizer use. In addition, Nebraska is the only state that doesn't regulate pesticide usage. "We don't license pesticide applicators in our state," he said.

"We definitely have pesticides in our groundwater," Gold said. "And they are increasing right along with the nitrate levels." The seven million acres of Nebraska corn get the majority of the $200 million worth of pesticide that is applied in the state, he reported. Surveys reveal that 35 million pounds of active ingredient pesticides are used each year in Nebraska; only four to five percent are used by urban dwellers.

Water contamination is an ongoing problem that is increasing instead of slowing down, he said. "Decisions that will be made by the Nebraska Legislature, the farming and ranching community and University researchers will have an impact on many future generations of Nebraskans."

THOSE ATTENDING the water quality session of Women in Agriculture called for legislation for pesticide use, a "slow-down" in the use of nitrogen, mandatory best management practices, more funds for water quality research, official well testing, mandatory application sampling before chemical application, official water testing centers and more information about water quality.

The Women in Agriculture conference was sponsored by Nebraska Cooperative Extension and the UNL Department of Agricultural Economics.

City receives safety award

The city of Wayne has earned the American Automobile Association's Pedestrian Safety Achievement for its achievement in pedestrian death record for 1988, AAA Nebraska recently announced.

The award is one of 404 top citations to be presented by AAA clubs across the country in the federation's 50th annual Pedestrian Protection Program, Joan Meier, safety coordinator, said.

Twenty-one states and more than 2,500 cities participated in the AAA survey which evaluates and recognizes the outstanding pedestrian safety achievements participating communities made during the previous calendar year.

The Pedestrian Safety Achievement Award is given to a community that has gone at least 10 years without a pedestrian death. Wayne has gone 23 years without a pedestrian fatality. Accident reports were compiled throughout 1988.

The one-of-a-kind pedestrian program focuses national attention on pedestrian safety needs by recognizing cities and states that have demonstrated successful pedestrian safety programs.

"Wayne is the only northeast Nebraska community to receive this award. No other Nebraska community has received the award consecutively as many years as the city of Wayne except Fairbury, which has been a recipient for 30 consecutive years," said Maynard OHL, Jr. of Norfolk, AAA sales representative.

Meier noted that since AAA began the Pedestrian Protection Program, pedestrian fatalities have declined 43 percent. Non-pedestrian traffic fatalities increased 67 percent during the same period.

Program areas evaluated include safety legislation, enforcement, traffic engineering, school traffic safety campaigns and public information and education programs.

FEAR FOR SALE? Most seniors have an understandable sense of anxiety about their benefits. They depend on these programs and are, therefore, vulnerable to anyone who preys on their fears that they may lose them. Some weeks ago I wrote a column in response to readers who said they had received "official" looking letters citing imminent collapse of the Social Security system and/or its various programs, including Medicare, and that for a stated membership fee, they could join these groups and help them fight to save, or even improve Social Security benefits.

My column noted that you never have to pay for any services to any outside "adviser," or "lobbyist," or "information provider" concerning your Social Security benefits. I also said that many of these groups may distort the facts to scare seniors into believing their benefits are being reduced or cut out.

Many of you wrote saying you appreciated the column's basic message, that the only expenses you need incur to get someone to work in your behalf is the cost of a phone call to your Congressman's local office, or a 25-cent stamp for a letter expressing your opinions on how she or he should vote on an issue. This is the best way to apply effective political "pressure."

Several of the groups wrote to me saying I misstated their positions; they never intended to frighten seniors, only "inform" them of problems with the system. They also claimed they helped save many S.S. programs. The facts, however, are, (1) the problems they alluded to don't really exist and (2) the groups had done, if anything, to do with any claimed successes. The credit is yours courtesy of your letters to your Congresspersons, or to columns such as this where your views are given exposure.

Incidentally, Lars-Erik Nelson, a respected Washington columnist, wrote a detailed piece on this subject in the New York News, Friday, September 22, 1989, warning seniors against being misled by groups such as James Roosevelt's National Committee to Preserve Social Security and Medicare — an outfit which Nelson says keeps seniors in a constant state of alarm about their benefits, and collects membership fees from frightened older folks who believe the group can save the system.

NOTES: Your comments on catastrophic health care insurance is, so far, pretty much divided between those who say a surtax on higher income persons' income is fair and those who feel no extra fees should be exacted for the program. A fuller report to come.

To the reader who doubts taxpayers subsidize free medical care for many government officials and their families, often after retirement as well, the answer is, sorry, but we do.

Medicines and Toenail Loss

Toenails may be lost for a variety of reasons including fungal infection - which is usually treated by taking an infection-fighting medicine by mouth. According to Handbook of Nonprescription Drugs, another cause of this problem is improper care of the toenails. Long toenails can produce excessive friction and may become caught on a sock. Toenails separate from the nail bed, and blood sometimes accumulates under the nail. This problem is especially likely to occur in runners.

The answer is not application of a prescription or nonprescription medicine to the nail. Rather, the toenails should be kept trimmed and groomed with straight edges. Extra care should be taken of the affected foot until the nail has returned. The foot should be kept clean to help prevent infection.

Nebraska 500 farm unit census shows sales receipts topping over $1 million Individual sales receipts for 500 Nebraska farms exceeded $1 million in 1987, according to the most recent Census of Agriculture.

"While representing less than 1 percent of Nebraska's 60,000 units, these 500 units accounted for more than $2.3 billion of sales in 1987, or 35 percent of the state's total agricultural marketings in that year," said Bruce Johnson, associate professor of agricultural economics at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

On the average, these 500 farm units had $4.6 million of annual sales per farm and production expenses totaling $4.15 million, Johnson said. That left an average net cash return from ag sales of $451,000 per farm unit in 1987.

Capital Gains bills reviewed

If I had the opportunity, I would vote "no" on both the Gephardt and the Jenkins tax proposals, but because I am forced to make a choice between these two proposals, I am choosing the less egregious of the two.

The Jenkins capital gains cut is an absolutely terrible proposal at a time when we have huge deficits and a growing disparity between middle income Americans and the very rich.

Under the Jenkins proposal, 80% of the tax break goes to 5% of the people, and 60% goes to families with incomes over $200,000. In addition, it will ultimately contribute to the Federal deficit. After possible small revenue increases in the next two years, it will lead to ever larger revenue deficits.

The joint Committee on Taxation projects that, while the plan will lead to revenue gains of roughly $3 billion a year for fiscal years 1990 through 1992, after 1992 it will produce revenue losses of over $5 billion per year.

The Gephardt proposal to give tax breaks through additional IRAs, while certainly attractive, also is a sweetener to make us swallow several very expensive initiatives which are begun by this Budget Reconciliation Bill. It also is a violation of the 1986 Tax Reform Compromise,

Keeping In Touch

By Cong. Doug Bereuter

although a less egregious one. The Gephardt proposal would raise about $37.9 billion over five years, and $15.4 billion of that would be used to fund the partial restoration of IRAs.

Despite the fact that this Reconciliation Bill contains the repeal of Section 89 and may contain repeal of the Medicare Catastrophic Plan, I am extremely disappointed in the bill. Wrapping up nearly one-half of the major and controversial issues facing Congress in a single "take it or leave it" bill is a bad way for Congress to do business.

I also am very disappointed that I cannot support the President's initiative, but I am convinced that the proposed change in the capital gains tax will only serve to exacerbate a growing income inequality and contribute to the Federal deficit.

The GOLDEN YEARS

By Lee Adams

A new toll-free phone system has opened up instant communications with the Social Security Administration. The number is 800-234-5772, and the system operates 24 hours a day, every day. A computer routes calls to service centers whose lines are not tied up. Between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m., weekdays, Social Security representatives answer questions or record new information from callers. At other times, a recording system operates. By listening to instructions and pressing specified touch-tone buttons, callers can report change of address or other information, or request a return call on the next business day. The new system allows almost all business with Social Security to be conducted by phone. Appointments still can be made for in-person sessions at Social Security offices.

After Bill Lynch, of Merriam, Kansas, retired he spent much of his time in his garage, building a biplane. It took 11 years. To celebrate, the former World War II bomber pilot recruited a 71-year-old co-pilot for a 34-day, 8,000-mile flight that took them to Fairbanks, Alaska.

Remember When? August 26, 1920 — The 19th Amendment to the Constitution was ratified, establishing the right of American women to vote.
