UP TO 200 PEOPLE marched in the rally against South Africa's apartheid policy. The event took place Thursday even ing in Wayne. The protest march began at Wayne State College and concluded in downtown Wayne.

Many protest apartheid policy

By Chuck Hackenmiller

A rally on Thursday, to show op-position to South Africa's apart-heid policy, drew up to 200 peo-ple who carried signs and shouted slogans as they marched down Wayne's Main Street.

Wayne's Main Street.
The rally began around 5 p.m. at Wayne State Colllege and ended at the park north of The Wayne
Herald building. Helping to organize the event were the Wayne State College Republicans, Delta Sigma Pi, Minority Association, Criminal Justice Club and many other individuals.

It was a way to show Wayne State's support to the oppressed people of South Africa and to inform college students and the community about the aparthied

TWO OF the speakers at the rally were Jimmy Sweepo, a South African Student attending Kearney State; and Zodwa Dlamini, a graduate student attending the University of Iowa who had taught in South Africa.

"We're not shouting slogans just for the sake of shouting slogans. We really mean what we are saying," said Dlamini.

She said parading without fear is a privilege that the college and community should cherish. Marchers in South Africa, opposing apartheid, have been killed doing what was being carried out in Wayne Thursday, she said.

"In 1960, 87 people were killed and they were as involved as you are in demanding human rights," she said.

she said.

Two thousand died during a march in Johannesburg in 1976.

"It is not so much a matter of race as it is a matter of being able to be treated like human beings,

DLAMINI said that since a state of emergency was declared in South Africa in 1985, it has been very difficult and sufferings have endured.

"People are dying in detention centers, or dying in jail without a trial. Children under eight years old are being held in jails," she Legalizing the marches will not satisfy the oppressed. Neither will opening the beaches or recreation areas.

"We must have rights to owner-ship of that country," said Dlamini. She said to those attending the rally that they should appreciate voting privileges. In South Africa the oppressed have no representative say in government

She asked the crowd to support the sanction bills against South Africa. The U.S. has been led to be lieve that sanctions will only hurt the blacks, she said.

"They [leadership in South Afri-ca] have never cared about our people or worried about how we will suffer," said Dlamini. "We've been suffering for years and are still being tortured in jails."

"Write to your senators. Cast a second stone. Support the sanction bilt," she said.

THE RALLY AND march in Wayne is not insignificant, she said "When we are free, we'll remember this occasion.

"Ignorance kills. People need to be aware of what is happening in South Africa. That's important,"

Getting involved will help people think about both local and global problems.

She said people should not be fooled by State President de Klerk, who received a letter protesting apartheid that was signed by the people at the Wayne rally. Klerk never mentions anything about change. He always mentions reforms, she said.

"The reforms are insignificant," Dlamini said.

"The very fact that blacks cannot stay in a town where white people are, even though they can afford it, shows that there has been no change," she said.

"You have to accept me as I am or those that are with you as they are because we are all different.
"Diversity can make us unite," Dlamini said.

At the end of the rally, Sweepo and Dlamini sang South Africa's national anthem.

A recent study proves...
The current issue of the Berkeley Wellness Letter included an interesting perspective on health related studies. The article easily sums up what every extension agent wished the consumer knew.

Every day the media bombards us with the results of the latest study linking caffeine and heart disease or exercise and cholesterol levels. Many times we take these studies at face value.

What is a study really? Do studies always prove something? Many research-studies are conducted each year. Prestigious journals in the health or medical related field screen articles submitted to them. This may not always be the case in the popular press. always be the case in the popular press.

THE BERKELEY WELLNESS Letter reports that "an average 240,000 biomedical articles in English alone are indexed each year by the National Library of Medicine." Does each of these research articles report a significant find or proof of a health claim?

Common sense should tell us that if all of these studies proved something there wouldn't be many unanswered questions left. The key is to maintain some level of skepticism no matter how prestigious the institution is conflucting the study.

maintain some level of skepticism no matter how prestigious the institution is conducting the study.

One example cited in the Berkeley Wellness Letter was the study linking heart disease with heavy coffee drinking. Further inspection of the study revealed that researchers asked questions about coffee consumption but failed to ask about other heart disease risk factors.

Participants did not report on diet, smoking or exercise habits. The results were not clear that coffee consumption was a risk factor in heart disease.

WHAT THIS ALL means, is that we as consumers need to be more skeptical of media reports on health related research. Three tips from the Berkeley Wellness Letter will help you become a more intelligent media

— A single study cannot prove anything. Scientific findings should be duplicated by others for validity, and even then there is an element of uncertainty."

—"No matter how enthusiastically a finding is hailed in the press, see what the experts are saying next week and next month."

—"Be wary of any study cited in advertising or in another context where the motive is to sell you something."

WAYNE-The seventh grade volleyball team lost a three decision to Schuyler recently, losing, 15-8, 2-15, 7-15. Molly Melena led all scorers with eight points while serving 92 percent and serving four aces.

Kristie Hall and Carrie Fink each scored seven points and had three ace serves apiece. The team served at a 73 percent clip. Coach Roger Reifkofski praised the play of Carrie Fink, Jenny Thompson, and Molly Melena. "All three of these girls did an excellent job of passing the ball against a very good Schuyler team," Reifkofski said. "The team also did a good job of setting the ball up on the attack."

The jointh grade team won its game against Schuyler in straight.

The eighth grade team won its game against Schuyler in straight sets, 15-6, 15-13. Tami Schluns led all scorers with 13 points including three aces. Stacie Frank had 11 points and had two serving aces. "The eighth grade team played very well in winning their game," Reifkofski said. "Stacie Frank, Tami Schluns and Audra Sievers all did a good job of hitting the ball and Sarah Witkowski and Twila Schindler excelled in serve receive. Sarah Hampton did a fine job of setting the ball as the offense had many attacks-for a junior high game."

Allen wins again

The way the Allen Eagle volley-ball team has performed has not only caught the surprise attention of many opponent's this year, but it has also been a pleasant surprise for coach Gary Troth.

"I'm surprised at how well we're doing this season," Troth said. "After losing what we did in the way of players from graduation last season, it's nice to see the girls that didn't have all that much playing time last year, respond in a playing time last year, respond in a positive way this season."

Allen upped its season record to 10-3 on the year with a straight set victory over Bancroft-Rosalie re-cently, 15-4, 15-11. Leslie Isom led the serving corp with three aces while successfully completing 14-16 serves. Cindy Chase was 11-13 with one ace and Anneta Malcom was 7-8 with one ace.

Stephanie Carlson was Allen's top spiker with nine kill spikes in a 14-16 effort while Cindy Chase was 11-14 with six kill spikes and Leslie Isom was 7-7 with four kills.

The setting chores were done by Carla Stapleton and Anneta Malcom and the twosome kept up their consistency with a combined effort of a perfect 39-39 with 17 assists. "Our setters did another nice job," Troth said. "They have been consistently good all year."

Troth did not feel his squad did another and advantaged in the forestime in the second sec

an adequate job of serving in the second set of the Bancroft match. "We missed a lot of serves in the second set but I think that was do to all the substitution we were doing," Troth said. "We got to play

With the victory Allen's record moved to 4-1 in the Lewis portion of the conference with two games remaining. The reserve team for Allen also won in straight sets, 15-3, 15-12, as did the "C" team, 11-1, 11-8.

Golf season ends

The Wayne girls golf team fin-ished their season Wednesday at the district golf tournament in Wa-hoo. The Blue Devils finished sixth out of the seven teams with a team score of 497.

Stanton won the crown with a 411 while Blair placed second with a 422 and Omaha Duchesne placed third and qualified for state with a 451. Also placing ahead of Wayne was Wahoo and Valley. Plattsmouth finished behind the Blue Devils

Wayne golfer Cher Reeg, qualified for the state tournament as she linished fifth in the individual standings with a 104. The state tournament will be held at the Beatrice Country Club October 12

WAYNE-Wayne State's Jeff Brownfield has been named the District 11 Defensive Player-of-the-Week, according to Don Briggs, district sports information director.

Brownfield had 18 tackles against Emporia State last Saturday to lead the Wildcats. The sophomore-linebacker from Council Bluffs, lowa recorded 12 solo and six assisted tackles and one tackle for a

Jackson earns honor

WAYNE-Wayne State's Troy Jackson has been named the Central States Intercollegiate Conference (CSIC) Player-of-the-Week, according to Dick Nibarger, CSIC Sports Information Director. Jackson, a 218 lb. junior from St. Paul, MN, carried the ball 33 times for 140 yards in last week's game against Emporia State. It was the second consecutive game Jackson had rushed for 100 yards plus. No Wayne State back had rushed for over 100 yards since the 1987 season.

Jackson currently leads the team in rushing with a 71.8 yard per game average. He is the second Wildcat to earn the CSIC honor. Quarterback Gale Lawton accomplished the feat in Wayne State's

Winside improves with win

The Lady Wildcats of Winside downed Wynot in straight sets Thursday night in Winside, 15-10, 15-11. Paul Giesselmann feels his squad is gaining confidence with each match now and they are becoming very competitive.

Tinia Hartmann led the team with a 16-18 effort from the service line with three aces. Jenny Ja-cobsen also recorded three aces in her 11-12 performance while Patty Oberle was 9-11 with three aces as

... Shannon Holdorf was 9-11 while Kelly Pitchler made good on all five of her serve attempts and Jenni

Topp was 4-5.
Jacobsen was the top spiker on the night with a 13-15 outing with 10 kill spikes. Shannon Holdorf was 5-7 with three kills and Patty Oberle was 3-3 with kills. Kelly Pitchler had two kill spikes on a 4-4 effort and Jenni Topp was 2-2 with one kill. Tinia Hartmann was 2-3 in the spiking department.

Hartmann and Kelly Pitchler were the setters for Giesselmann's Wildcats and they were a com-bined 26-29 with 16 set assists. Jenny Jacobsen notched three blocks and Tinia Hartmann had one defensive category.

"We served about 87 percent which isn't too bad," Giesselmann said. "We missed eight serves on the picht and all eight came in the the night and all eight came in the first set and we were still able to

The Wildcats made a clean sweep of the visitors from Wynot as the reserve team won by scores of 15-13, 15-6, and the "C" team remained undefeated on the season with a straight sets victory, 11-9, 11-6. "I think Laura Stuerman deserves a lot of credit for the job she is doing with the younger girls," Giesselmann said.

Laurel wins two its opponent's last week with straight set victories over Creighton and Hartington. The Bears hosted Creighton and won 15-10, 15-9.

The Lady Bears served an amazing team percentage of 97 percent as Julie Dickey led the way with 10 points on a perfect 14-14 performance. Jesse Monson and Emily McBride each scored six points as Monson was 9-9 and McBride was 8-10.

Sherri McCorkindale also enjoyed a per-fect night for the Bears as she was 15-15 in spiking with five aces and was 7-7 in serving and recorded two ace blocks. Amy Adkins and Shana Carstensen each had five ace spikes and each was perfect in ace spikes and each was perfect in serving as well.

The team blocked a total of six Creighton spike attempts. "I thought we served excellent," coach Carol Manganaro said: "Julie: Dickey scored seven straight points for us in the second set after the score had been tied 6-6. Jesse Monson then finished the set out." Laurel's reserve team lost by scotes of 11-15, 15-12, 5-15. Bree Bebee and Stephanie Carson scored eight points apiece with Bebee serving a perfect 10-10 and Carson, 14-14. Carson was also 24-27 with seven set assists. Sherri Hangman was 9-10 in serving with four aces.

In the "C" team game, Laurel lost, 11-1, 9-11, 6-11. Debbie Ward served all Laurel's 11 points in a string in the first set. She managed 13 points altogether.

Question: I. Considering the high cost of water to the citizens and merchants of Wayne, please explain why the water being drained from the cemetery tower was run out of the hydrants and into the ditches? 2. How many gallons were expended or run out of the standpipe onto the ground? 3. How many dollars would that come to, if it were charged to a customer?

A. 1. The only way that the Water Department has to inspect or clean the standpipe, located next to the cemetery on the northwest edge of Wayne, is to remove the water from the tank. This has been done routinely every five years, since the tank was constructed, to assure that the standpipe is in sound condition. The cathodic protection must be checked and the tank is inspected for signs of corrosion each time the standpipe is drained.

The standpipe was constructed in a way that prevents the City from draining the water into the distribution system while the system is still in use. Pressure cannot be maintained in the distribution system without the standpipe being nearly full of water. Because of the pressure problem, we can only drain the water out of two fire hydrants, located near the standpipe.

The new water tower that was built in 1987 was designed so that we can drain it through the water distribution system while the distribution system is still in service.

2. Approximately 500,000 gallons were discharged out of the standpipe into the drainage ditches.

3. $906.05.

State chamber forums are scheduled in central, eastern Nebraska

A total of 14 Legislative Forums have been scheduled by the Nebraska Chamber of Commerce and Industry in central and eastern Ne braska during the week of Oct. 16. The events comprise the second week of a state-wide schedule of 41 Legislative Forums during October and early November.

The Forums are open to all State Chamber members and local area chamber of commerce members events are co-sponsored by I chambers of commerce in each community and will be con-ducted by the State Chamber's executive staff.

Because of the large number of Forums scheduled during a three-week period, two teams of execu-tive staff members will be pre-senting Forums. This will allow for asmany as six concurrent Forums in

One of the forums will take place in Wayne on Monday, Oct. 16, at noon at the Black Knight.

"Our annual Forums are an excellent opportunity for the state's business leaders to gather for a discussion of important issues with State Chamber's executive staff, community leaders and state senators," Jack Swartz, State Chamber President, said

*Each year most of Nebraska's state senators attend and partici-pate at Forums in their legislative district and again this year we have invited the state's legislators to our Forums," Swartz explained.

This year's agenda will include epresentatives of the Nebraska Department of Economic Development discussing the Depart-ment's programs and services. There will also be a review of the actions of the 1989 Nebraska Legislature, a preview of the 1990 session, and a discussion of the current State Chamber services and programs available to the business community.
