WAYNE, NE 68787 City pool condition discussed by council By Chuck Hackenmiller Managing editor

A proposal to have Bruce Gilmore and Associates of Colum-bus draw up plans and specifica-tions to rehabilitate the present Wayne Municipal Swimming Pool was approved Tuesday evening by the Wayne City Council.

The recommendation for the rehabilitation of the pool, which was constructed in the 1950's, was presented by City Administrator Phil Kloster. Pool walls, various pip-

Phil Kloster. Pool walls, various pip-ing and other systems within the pool system have deteriorated, he told the council members. Earlier this year, $300,000 was entered into the city's budget to be allocated for possible work on the municipal swimming pool. It was decided at budget discussion time to have the Bruce Gilmore firm give a complete analysis of the present swimming pool's condition and report the findings later on to the city council.

SINCE THEN other recently rehabilitated or new swimming pools from other communities were looked at by the engineers and city officials, Kloster said.

city officials, kloster said. Kloster said the engineer's and ocity officials, kloster said. Kloster said the engineer's re-port indicates that the Wayne pool has been "given a good life for what it was actually built for." "Vern Schulz [public works su-perintendent] and his people should be commended for making the pool hold in place and ex-tending the life of the pool over these years," he said. During the last seven-or eight years the swimming pool faced in-creasing deterioration problems, he said.

he said. Kloster said the report on the pool analysis shows that major rehabilitation (as opposed to a new pool) would add up to 25 to 30 years of the present facility. A new pool would get 35 to 45 years of life to it, he mentioned.

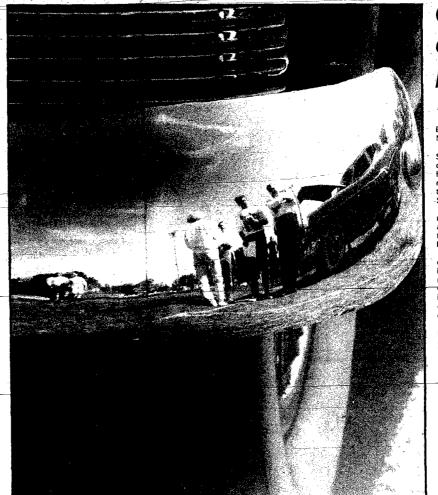

IT WOULD be most cost effect tive and prudent to extend the life of the pool for another 20 to 25 years, he recommended to the city council. "A summary of Gilmore's report is to have us construct a pool within a pool — to utilize the existing structures," Kloster said.

A "swimming pool rehabilitation proposal" estimated cost which he presented Tuesday night to the city council showed it would re-quire approximately $221,500 to fix up the swimming pool. That figure could reach as high as $250,000, Kloster mentioned. The cost of a new swimming The cost of a new swimming pool (a covered version), built from

City gives nod to START program By Chuck Hackenmiller Managing editor

The Wayne Planning and Zoning Commission would like to get a "S.T.A.R.T." on visualizing what lies ahead for the Wayne community. The commission asked the city council Tuesday evening for financial support and en-dorsement of the S.T.A.R.T. (Strategic Training and Resource Targeting) program. Planning Commission Member Sam Schroeder, in a presentation to the city council about the S.T.A.R.T. pro-gram, said that as more industrial and business development continues in the Wayne area, the commission con-tinually finds conflicts with the city's comprehensive plan. "We request that you consider this S.T.A.R.T. program as the initial phase of updating our comprehensive plan," Schroeder said to the council. The program, he said, has been developed as a self-help economic development tool. "One key part of the comprehensive plan is to get public input on what direction the community should be going. I'm not sure our cur-rent comprehensive plan meets the needs of the community for the next 10 years," Schroeder said. Initial costs for the program would be $500 which would finance the cost for the S.T.A.R.T. self-help program's computer software. When the program is completed within the expected five months time frame, costs could run up to $2,500. The S.T.A.R.T. program will entail surveying community residents to gain input on their opinions of where the community should be associated with a local resource team to coordinate the S.T.A.R.T. program. Planning sessions will also take place. The S.T.A.R.T. program works best in communities where residents have hopes for a better future; can tolerate strive to make the community a better place; and are willing to invest time and money that the strategic plan-ning sessions will take. The city council unanimously approved funding S.M.A.R.T. "It would be nice if the program was completed hv

Ike's Lake level causes concern

By Chuck Hackenmiller Managing editor

A dry 1989 has not only caused havoc with this year's corn and soybean crops. The arid conditions also affected operations at Ike's Lake — a fishing and wildlife habitat area located northwest of Wayne. Peo-ple have commented that the of the lake was the 1Q they have seen in years.

Wayne Izaak Waltons who maintain the lake and its surround ing environment know that the membership may have questions about why there are so many weeds in the lake, or why the wa-ter level reached the low state it was in.

The Wayne Izaak Waltons realize that members have experi-enced some problems this summer when fishing at Ike's Lake, Norris Weible, secretary c said secretary of the Wayne Izaak Waltons. "The problems were caused by a leak in our overflow and the drought," Weible mentioned.

THE IZAAK Waltons had re-paired the feak immediately, but by then the water level of the lake had decreased by 12 inches.

new mean and stars

Because farmers began to irrigate earlier this year, and because of shortage of rainfall, the ground water level was lowered so much that the spring below stopped flowing. This caused our water level to continue down until parts of the lake bed were exposed and weeds grew on the exposed part," said Weible. "We then decided to let all shade for our fish during the heat so they could survive," he said. "We know that this has caused difficulties for our members who fish, but we saved our fish population be-cause of the high-weeds."

The Izaak Waltons governing ard recently approved spendi ng $1,050 to pump water out of a nearby creek into Ike's Lake which is going on now since it could not be done during the irri-gation season.

"THIS HAS raised the level some, but we are hoping that we will receive some fall rain and much more next spring," Weible said. This year the membership of the Wayne Izaak Waltons reached 148. An annual event, the fishing derby, was cancelled this year be-cause of the low water level conditions.

SPORTS Harriers win cross country meet

The Wayne Cross country team captured its first ever conference meet Friday in Wayne. The locals tied with O'Neill with 24 points each but the tie breaker came with the fifth best time of each team and Wayne's Steve Dinsmore was in the spotlight when that happened.

O'Neill's Tom Magnuson contin ued his dominance over the rest of the conference in the individual standings with 16:39 clocking—40 seconds ahead of the second place finisher, also from O'Neill. Wayne's best finish came in fourth place with Scott Fuelberth recording a 17:56 clocking, just

Nature's Fall Fashions

Welcome all. Take a look and see the beautiful color that robes this tree.

Splendor of leaves, visible in bright yellow or rusty red. But one quick warning the coat of leaves will shed.

For dressing up a bare piece of ground, bundled cornstalks are the most popular we've found.

Accessories include pumpkins large and small, that decorate all stacks short or tall.

Milkweed pods — white furs they wear. Materials include fluffy seeds before they take to the air.

A garden all decked out in tangled vines; complimented with the looks of green twisted lines.

A perfume to consider for your free taking. is the sweet aroma of pumpkin pie as it is baking.

A perfectly round gem that all will be noticing soon is the magnifcent appearance of the harvest moon.

So it appears Mother Nature certainly knows how to put on the best of all fashion shows.

The Wakefield Health Care Center used their new van for the first time last week. As of Oct. 4 the special Wakefield Health Care Iffst time last week. As of Oct. 4 the special-Wakefield Health Care Center fund for the purchase of the van equipment stood at ST8,177 toward a goal of $20,000. Currently the van does not have air or heat in the rear or a chair lift. The van cost $15,000 and was purchased from Janke Auto in Pender. It is estimated it will cost between $2,000 to $4,000 to in-stall the equipment depending upon what is purchased. The board would like to have a fully automatic lift, but if sufficient funds are not available a used semi-automatic chair lift may be installed. The fund drive for the van was sparked by two $5,000 donations, one from Paul Berntson of New York and the other from the Cliff Busby estate. In addition many other donations have been re-ceived from the community in-cluding $500 from the Wakefield to our nursing home," said Bonnie McGinnis, Wakefield Health Care Center Administrator: "It will aid our staff in transporting residents to medical comercients to medical appointments and also permit them to have outings outside the facility."

She encouraged continued contributions so that the needed wheelchair lift, air/heat and wide running boards may be added to the van. Contributions may be left at the Wakefield National Bank or at the care center. QUILT ON DISPLAY

The Wakefield health Care Center Auxiliary has finished their latest special project a Dresden Platter quilt. It is on display at the Wakefield Drug Store.

Wakefield Drug Store. The annual project is a fund raiser for the auxiliary and is raffled each year of the organization's Fall Festival. This year's festival is set for Saturday, Oct. 21 at the Wakefield Legion Hall, Tickets are currently on sale at the Drug Store. The quilt is constructed of multi-colored print natches in the wheels colored print patches in the wheels which are on a cream background The design is further accented with colored thread used in the quilting. The backside of the quilt is a mauve material.

The committee said that 23 ladies from the community, not all auxiliary members spent 260 hour working on the quilt. The group also reminded those who purchase tickets on the quilt that you do not need to be present at the festival to win the quilt. The drawing will be held at 2 p.m. that afternoon. The auxiliary is also looking for donations for the festival. They have a rummage table, plant table, haked goods and much more for baked goods and much more. For information about the festival please contact a member of the

"The news children see on TV does not help them understand what's happening, where it's happening and why it's happening," according to Action for Children's Television (ACT).

Yet "news should not be censored or sanitized just because children are watching." Instead, families need to temper the shock of troubling are watching, instead, families need to temper the shock of troubing news with explanations and reassurance, ACT says. The organization, a nonprofit group in Massachusetts, works to encourage better children's television and to eliminate commercial abuses targeted to young people. ACT OFFERS the following advice to parents about helping kids

 Act of rens the howing advected by prefix about helping kids understand and cope with televised news;
 Do not leave TV news on as background noise.
 Turn off the news if you think a topic isn't appropriate for children, particularly for younger kids.
 If pictures of extremely grim events appear repeatedly on TV, switch on the radio news instand. on the radio news instead

• Watch the news with your kids sometimes and talk about the su-perficial way the news is handled on TV (short, catchy headlines, overly condensed information, gimmicks to boost ratings). Explain what you feel is missing when a story is one-sided or if it lacks background information. * Check the weekly TV guide beforehand to see if there are any news programs made especially for kids. One show recommended by ACT is "Main Street," a 60-minute after-school magazine show, aired monthly on

 * EXPLAIN TO kids the importance of staying informed as citizens in a democracy. * Encourage your children to express thoughts and fears about major tragedies that appear on the news. Experts believe kids benefit from writing letters or drawing pictures to vent their feelings about events like the space shuttle explosion.

CARDS OF THANKS

I WOULD like to thank my friends for all I WOULD like to thank my friends for all the farewells; the tenants here at Leisure Apartments, where I have lived the last 5 years, the Renew Club and the Ladies of the Guild of St. Mary's, and all the friends on Sherman Street, my home for 37 years. Nebraska has been my home for most of my life, but my, son wants me to spend the rest of my years with him in Dixon, Illinois, so I'll be leaving Wayne his week. I'll miss you all, and hope to see you again some time in the future Sincerely, Myrtle Henegar. 012

THE FAMILY OF Lucille Lass wish to sinceroly thank everyone for all the cards, grayers and support at the time of the loss of our beloved sister and aunt. All the kindness and sympathy shown to us is very much appreciated. Robert Lass and the Lawrence Lass Family. O12

The residents of the Wayne Care Centre wish to thank all those who volunteered help and gave food for the Geriatrie Olympiatrics, mak-ing our day an outstanding one! We wish to especially thank Lued-ers Ine., for the doughnuts, Pac 'N Save for the bananas and the cof-fee, Hardee's for the orange drink, Sav-Mor Pharmacy and Pamida for the prizes. Also, we want to ex-press our thanks to the various churches and clubs for the deli-cious hars that were served at the close of the afternoon by the college students, to whom we are grateful. A special thank you to Linda Gam-ble, who provided the transporta-tion of residents to and from the Armory and to the Psychology/ Counseling Club, Aristocats and Blue Key for all their help through-out the day.

Homeless census to be taken in Wayne area

The second annual statewide census of homeless children and youth will take place on Wednesday, Oct. 18. For one 24 hour period a com-For one 24 hour period a com-plex-network of reporters will re-view cases and complete census documents. These reporters in-clude Department of Social Service caseworkers, staff members of Goldenrod Hills Community Action Agency, area school personnel, and other area service providers. The census reporters will use their professional judgement to decide whether youth and children they are in contact with meet the they are in contact with meet the Federal definition of homelessness. They will consider children who are abandoned, runaways, throwaways, abandoned, runaways, throwaways, or abused, girls who are unwed and pregnant, teenage mothers, tran-sients, and migrants. Only school age children be-tween the ages of 5 and 19 (born between November:: 1970 and November 1984) will be included in the count.

November 1984) will be included in the count. To be considered homeless, children or youth must either sleep in-welfare-hotels/motels, emer-gency shelters, transitional housing, on the streets, in cars, in tents or trailers, or in abandoned or sub-standard buildings with no stable address. Also considered homeless address. Also considered homeless are children or youth who would not have a residence if they weren't able to stay temporarily with friends or relatives.

Children of families who are doubled up (sharing a residence) may also be considered homeless in some cases. This count is the second done Homeless Assistance Act. The Act requires state education agencies to conduct an annual count to identify homeless youth and to remove obstacles which prevent homeless youngsters from having access to a free, appropriate public education.

Members of the public who be-lieve they know of a homeless child or teenager who is not in school are asked to contact Goldenrod Hills Community Action Agency at 529-3513. In the state of Nebraska, the ine community action agencies were selected to "spearhead" the census because they appear to have an effective, cooperative re-lationship with other entities which disperse help to the poor.

All completed census forms from this area will be sent to Cold-enrod Hills Community Action Agency whose central office is lo-Agency whose central office is lo-cated in Wisner. A tabulation by county will then be made and sent to the Nebraska Department of Education. In turn, the Department of Education will summarize the data for the entire state and will report to the Nebraska State Board of Education and to the U.S. Department of Education. There, the data for all S0 states will be combined and reported to the Congress.
