Toys for Tots sets program plans

By Chuck Hackenmiller Managing editor

Christmas is approximately 11 weeks away, but Goldenrod Hills Community Action Agency and surrounding communities are getting the jump on holiday gift-giving by announcing its Toys for Tots activities for 1989.

Each year Goldenrod Hills Community Action sponsors the Toys for Tots program during the holiday season. Through the program, many local and area needy families are provided with toys for their Christmas gifts.

Linda O'Donnell, coordinator of Family Services with Goldenrod Hills, said 215 children in Wayne, Dixon and Cedar Counties received Christmas gifts last year through the Toys for Tots program. Christmas is approximately 11

ONE EVENT tied in with Toys ONE EVENT tied in with Toys for Tots is the Adopt A Child program. Individuals can select an ornament from a Christmas tree with the name of a child who will benefit from the Toys for Tots program. The individual then is responsible for purchasing gifts for that particular child.

Dennis Linster of Wayne is making the Christmas ornaments for the Adopt A Child tree.

An adoption tree will be in place at this year's Fantasy Forest in Wayne, scheduled from Nov. 30 to Dec. 3 at the Wayne City Auditorium. Also, an adoption tree is being planned in Laurel at The Lau-rel Senior Citizens Center, accord-ing to O'Donnell.

"We hope to have the children

New board members announced Chamber officers elected

Three new directors have been selected to serve on the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors.

Those elected to serve on the Board were Andy Soll, Wayne State College; Nancy Endicott, Pac 'N' Save; and Terry Hanson, Great Dane. They will begin their term on Jan. 1, 1990.

The term on the Board of Directors is three years. Soll, Endicott and Hanson will be attending the Chamber Board Planning Session on Wednesday, Nov. 8, along with the 1989 Board of Directors and the council chairpeople.

Also at the October meeting, the Board of Directors selected 1990 officers. They are as follows:

president, Don Koeber of Wayne Vision Center; president-elect Ken Kwapnioski of Godfather's Pizza; treasurer, Andy Soll of Wayne State College; and past president, Brian McBride of McBride-Wiltse Mortuary.

Other board members for 1990 are Bill Jammer, Jammer Photogra-phy; Mark Sorensen, State National Bank and Trust; Gene Fletcher, Fletcher Farm Service; and Jim Markham, Peoples Natural Gas.

Retiring board members include Sam Schroeder, Wayne Public Power District; Joan Lage, First Na-tional Bank; and Jeff Beckman, Wayne State College. Schroeder had served as pre-sent in 1988 and was past presi-dent in 1989.

"Absent Friends" scheduled

The Missouri Repertory Theatre will present Alan Ayckbourn's "Absent Friends" on Thursday, Nov.

2 at 8 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre at-Wayne State College. It is the first program in Wayne State's 1989-90 Black & Gold Series.

"Absent Friends" depicts two married couples, a woman whose husband is always sick and absent, and a man whose fiancee has drowned. To help the man over his presumed grief, the whole crowd gathers for the first time in years.

The six people get together to cheer their old friend whose fiancee has drowned, but his unex-pected good humor turns their tea party into a foot-in-mouth folly.

By the time the man arrives it is clear the other five are an odd mix of quirks and neuroses with little in common to bond their friendships or their marriages.

Wildcats cage Eagles for homecoming win

It is getting to the point where it's no longer an upset anymore when Wayne State's football team notches a victory. The Wildcats have been referred to in the re-cent past as the Rodney Danger-cent past as the Rodney Danger-field squad, meaning they get no respect from their opponents, but that myth has quickly-dissolved. Saturday's homecoming match-up with the Westmar Eagles was everything...Wayne State coach Dennis Wagner said it would be." knew coming into the contest that it was going to be a war," Wagner said. "Westmar had to be riding an emotional high after winning by an emotional high after winning by an 84-0 count last week to Trinity Bible College and scoring 59 —points the week before against Tabor College. Timmer wins contest

WAYNE-Duane Bargholz of Wayne, won the weekly football contest at the Wayne Herald with three misses. Bargholz tied with another Wayne resident, Jerry Zimmer but Bargholz was closer on the tie breaker. Zimmer however, captures the runner-up prize. Bargholz's three misses included the Penn State win over Syracuse, Texas win over Oklahoma and Arizona's win over UCLA.

Zimmer's three misses ironically, were the same three misses as Bargholz's.

Puttin' up with Pete By Kevin Peterson

I really think that it is a shame that referees are deciding several high school football outcomes because of their inability to make the right calls or just because they feel that they have to favor the home team.

A referee's job is to make sure there are no infractions and to penalize.

a team if there are. His job is not to decide the outcome of the game but to control the game from infractions.

I have a real problem of believing that a visiting team-can commit 12 penalties in a contest and that a home team only commits two and they come in the final minutes of the contest, but that's what happened when Wayne visited Rattle Creek last Finday.

Wayne visited Battle Creek last Friday.

There is no way that Wayne was not the best team between the two and the stats prove that. The problem is when Battle Creek was moving the ball for the eventual game winner, they were aided and I mean severely aided by extremely questionable calls and wouldn't you know, the game was in Battle Creek.

I understand that Battle Creek has a lot of excellent tradition backing its program, and I also feel that they have one of the nicest football facilities for a town that size in the state. They have an excellent ball team and running back Mike McCart is a joy to watch in the open field because of warch in the open field because of his excellent speed. But folks, that game was a joke.

Wayne was robbed of eight possible points in the contest and Battle Creek was literally given six points. Wayne had a fourth down and goal play from the 1/2 yard line and from the films and just being on the side-line you could see that Chris Fredrickson had pushed the ball across the goal-line but the referee, (seemingly to be a hero in the home fans eyes) said his forward progress was stopped and thus Wayne came away, with no points.

Following Battle Creek's second touchdown the extra point attempt clearly went wide right and one official actually waved his arms as if it was no good but the other referee raised his arms as if it was good and so it

Wayne State electrified the home crowd Saturday afternoon with its first homecoming victory since 1984. It was awesome. The crowd support the Wildcats got was simply fan...tastic.

Allen thumps Winnebago by 46

Mike Busselmann's Allen Eagles took out some earlier season frustrations on Winnebago Friday night with a 52-6 thumping in Winnebago. It was Allen's first game in two weeks due to the mix up in the officials scheduling which resulted in an Eagle forfeit on home-coming right a week and in Allen coming night a week ago in Allen to Walthill.

The game with Winnebago ended with 8:29 left in the fourth quarter. "We played pretty well," Busselmann said. "The kids were ready to play a football game since it had been awhile."

Allen got its first of eight touchdowns on the night on a three yard run by Shane-Dahl in the opening quarter. Kent Chase

Wayne to win big

The Crystal Ball was 7-3 last week and now the season record stands at 37-12 for a winning percentage of 75 percent. The Crystal Ball failed on the Wayne-Battle Creek game, the Oklahoma-Texas clash and the UCLA-Arizona match-up.

Here is a look at this week's predictions:

Winside at Wynot—This one is a tough one to pick because Winside always manages to play the good teams tough. If you look at Winside's schedule this year there is something ironic. They lost their first game, won the second, lost the third, won the fourth, lost the fifth, won the sixth and lost the seventh. Amazing, the Crystal Ball picked up right away on that trend and so you have to think they'll win this game even though Wynot is fighting for a play-off spot and the game is in Wynot, Winside, 30—Wynot, 20. (upset special).

Wausa at Allen—The mighty Eagles finally got to play a game after a week lay-off and they pounded hapless Winnebago. They will do the same to a Wausa team that is struggling, Allen, 46—Wausa, 6.

Emerson Hubbard at Wakefield—Well the Crystal Ball has picked up on another trend. Wakefield is one of the most impressive at home teams in the area, losing only once at home in the last two years. Emerson-Hubbard boasts one of the best defenses in the state in their respective class. Still the Trojans get the nod at home, Wakefield, 13—Emerson-Hubbard, 7. (2nd upset special).

Laurel at Plainview—Tom Luxford has his Bears sitting at 4-3 on the season and if they can get past Plainview on Friday and Creighton next week, then mathematically they can still make the play-offs. Plainview is not a bad team but they lack depth with only 20 players, Laurel, 20—Plainview, 12.

Hartlington Cedar Catholic at Wayne—Cedar is much improved over

Hartington Cedar Catholic at Wayne—Cedar is much improved over the past couple of seasons but it won't matter in this game as Wayne will not only win, but they will win by a very large margin. The Blue Devils feel that Battle Creek was given the game last week and they are angry—very angry, Wayne, 50—Hartington Cedar Catholic, 6.

Wayne State at Kearney State—The Lopers and Wildcats are rivals and neither team is exactly fond of the other, but still the game has to be played. Kearney State is coming off of three straight defeats but to top quality teams. Wayne State on the other hand, is coming off of back-to-back victories and three wins in the last four games. The confidence is there for the Wildcats and I've yet to see quarterback Gale Lawton be stopped and when he goes, so go the Cats, Wayne State, 16—Kearney State, 18 (2rd upper special)

State, 15. (3rd upset special).

Other games in the college ranks that the Crystal Ball sees as victories include: Nebraska, 42—Oklahoma State, 13; Washington State, 31—Arizona, 17; Notre Dame, 20—USC, -14;—Alabama, -21—Fennessee, 14; Clemson, 31—North Carolina State, 20.

Paul Brentlinger ran the two point conversion in. Chase later scored again in the second quarter on an eight yard run and at intermission Allen led 26-6.

Matt Hingst ran in from seven yards out early in the third quarter and Rusty Dickens ran for the two point conversion. Todd Hohenstein caught a three yard pass from Shane Dahl later in the third quar-ter. In the fourth quarter Shane ter. In the fourth quarter Shane Dahl scored two touchdowns, the first on a-10 yard run and the second, the game winner, on a 46

Meeting on highway improvement plans slated

The Nebraska Highway Com-mission and the Department of Roads will conduct a public meet-ing on the department's proposed ing on the departments proposed highway construction program for 1990-95. This meeting will take place at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 24 in the Lecture Hall, Central Gommunity College-Platte Campus, West Education Center (use west parking lot) at 4500 63rd Street in Columbus.

The district's highway commissioner, along with state Roads' officials, will conduct the meeting and answer questions. This is one of eight meetings to take place across the state. The public is invited to ask questions and to present ideas and suggestions on the state's highway needs. This meeting is primarily con-cerned with highway work planned in the department's District 3 area which includes Knox, Antelope, Cedar, Dixon, Dakota, Thurston, Wayne, Madison, Stanton, Cuming, Burt, Colfax, Platte, Böone and Pierce Counties.

A Nebraska 800 phone number is available starting Monday (Oct.

16) to connect Nebraskans with consultants and experts on eco-nomic development issues. The clearinghouse, called LINK, is part of the University of Nebraska Co-operative Extension program in ru-ral revitalization.

"The future of Nebraska is largely dependent upon the vitality and dynamics of rural communities and dynamics of rural communities. LINK is an effort of the University of Nebraska to help communities locate expertise necessary for them to rethink their goals and objectives," said Leo Lucas, extension dean and director.

· -Many Nebraskans, organizers say, have requested such a phone line after becoming frustrated try-ing to obtain answers in community problem areas. Jan Meisenbach, LINK's coordinator, said LINK's pri-ority topics for referral are water supply, sewage disposal, solid waste management and economic development planning.

The LINK resource persons, now numbering 144, were obtained through contacting educational institutions in Nebraska, Meisenbach said. These persons then agreed to serve as a resource of information in certain areas and the information is all entered into a computer database. the $1.5 million dollar 1990 high-way safety fund program.

The Governor said $442,000 will be used for enforcement and edu-cation of drunk and drugged driv-ing. In addition, increased en-forcement of speeding and other violations in high accident areas will be conducted through a $390,000 allocation: allocation:

"We must do everything possi-ble to make our highways safe for Nebraska motorists as well as visi-tors to our state. There has been disturbing trend of increased serious accidents where drugs or alco-hol have been involved. A clear message will be sent that we intend to protect Nebraska families by getting tough with those who ignore our highway safety laws" said the Governor.

Also included in the highway funds for 1990 is increased education programs for use of safety belts and child restraints, school bus safety, training programs as well as improvements in the traffic records system.

Wheels A-Turning

Corn acres have turned golden and combines strip the fields, knifing through the clean rows. There's hopes for greater yields.

Into wagons the auger pours the grain till there's no more room. Tractors pull the loads down the road. However, question of market prices loom.

On to the elevator and the scales tip. This year's bounty is tallied. It was more than first projected and the farmer's spirit is rallied.

While back at the home place the fields are picked totally clean. Fall tillage buries this year's hopes as only remnants of the crops are seen.

So the annual fall ritual is over. It's one of the busiest times of the year. Wheels are constantly in motion when harvesting is in full gear.

The farmer's mind is turning, too. Despite times not as good as before, maybe things will pick up in the spring when they take to the fields once more.

The GOLDEN YEARS By Soldone

Many seniors need to earn money to supplement Social Security benefits and should be aware of the effects extra income can have on those benefits. In some cases, a Social Security recipient loses one dollar in benefits for every two earned above $8,8000; must pay income taxes on up to half of the benefits if total income of the benefits if total income (for a single person) exceeds $25,000 a year; faces an assessment, according to income, to pay for Medicare's new catastrophic health insurance; and must pay a social security tax of more than 13 percent of net earnings if working as a self-employed "consultant" or "free-lancer."

At leadership conference Waketield teen recognized

A Wakefield teenager was one of two 4-H'ers that represented the state in the 4-H "Profiles for Tomorrow" leadership development and communications conference in Washington, D.C. Oct. 6-9.

Marta Sandahl of Wakefield and Marta Sandahi of Wakerleid and Mike Schepers of Lincoln were among teens representing all 50 states, Puerto Rico and Quam. The conference's goal is to help 4-H'ers extend leadership training to others in their respective states.

Marta, 18, has held several 4-H leadership positions during her 10-leadership positions during her 10 year 4- \overline{H} career. The daughter of Neil and Bonnie Sandahl has held all the offices of the local 4- \overline{H} club and was elected to a two-year term as secretary/treasurer of the Wayne County 4-H Council.

Marta represented Wayne County at two District 4-H Council meetings, and attended Citizen-ship Washington Focus as chair of the publicity committee. A freshman at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Marta has joined the UNL Collegiate 4-H Club.

Frederick analyzes 1990 farm bill topics

One of the oldest truths about farm bills is that they are based on past experience. Or, as'it is often said, "farm bills are evolutionary, not revolutionary,"

Roy Frederick, public policy specialist at the University of Nebraska Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, said some of the most important concepts of farm bills price supports. income income supports. price supports, income supplements and production adjustments -- extend back to the first farm bill, the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1933.

Even the specific tools used to address these concepts have not changed much, Frederick said. For example, non-recourse loans continue to be used to support prices and acreage reductions are used to adjust production, just as it was 50 years ago.

Over the years, sections, or "titles" in legislative parlance, were added on soil and water conservation, agricultural trade, farm credit, agricultural research, marketing, and food stamps and related huand food stamps and related human nutrition programs. In fact, with the exception of 1986 and 1987, Frederick said, "considerably more money" has been spent on food stamps and related programs during the 1980s than on traditional commodity programs, including those for wheat and feed ratios.

"It's not by accident that the most recent farm bill is titled the Food Security Act of 1985," Fred-

Recently, top federal policy-makers have discussed the effect international trade negotiations could have on the 1990 farm bill. The Uruguay Round of multilateral trade negotiations under the aus-pices of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade has been under

"Some have suggested that development of the farm bill should be postponed until the outcome of the international negotiations is known. An equally strong argument is that the United States should not allow an international body to allow an international body to determine domestic farm policy,"

"However, the most significant competition for Congress' collective ear may come from environmentalists. Preserving the nation's soil and water resources is an objective for many people, including most farmers," Frederick said.

"Concern for the environment lide." "Concern for the environment likely will occupy a 'front and center' position in the new farm bill."

VITAMIN E

Cataracts are clouded regions in the lens of the eve. A researcher at the University of Western Canada compared the intake of antioxidant vitamins (such as vitamin E) by 175 cataract patients and a like number of cataractfree individuals. He found that the cataract-free group took significantly more vitamin E than the cataract group and that in-dividuals who took vitamin E supplements experienced a 56 percent decrease in cataract risk.

According to a professor at the St. Louis University School of Medicine, "a sup-plement of natural vitamin E, beyound the amount provided by a good, balanced diet, has been shown to be beneficial for normal, healthy individuals." New evidence show that damage occurs to cells within the body before the onset of symptoms—damage that may be lessened by use of vitamin E.

In honor of all those who face combat on the football fields this fall, here's a report on Gates College (Neligh) team of 1895. 'On Friday evening last the Gates College football team, accepting a challenge from the YMCA of Omaha, went down for the first game of the season. Manager Gregory and the coach Brown called four-teen husky men together and went down to smite the Philistines. The fact that our team had only three days coaching made little difference in our enthusiasm. We were going to do our best. As the YMCA has been in the hands of the coaches about two months they confidently expected to rub us into the earth to the time of about 100 to 0. Promptly at 3:30 on Saturday afternoon the teams lined up.

the pigskin in his bosom and started on the return trip of about 25 yards. The ball was downed and after three attempts and gains by the halfbacks and fullback the ball went to Omaha. Then began the rocklest work the Cates boys have ever been compelled to meet. Slugging in the line became the order and it seemed as though order and it seemed as though fouling was impossible. The YMCA's uttered short sentences copied from their Bibles only in inverted order. They by strong interference event around the right end for a touchdown and goal, 6-0.

"Kick off by Ellis and when the scrimmages began the Gates boys had learned a few things and as a result made some tackles behind Omaha's line. Superior blocking and Omaha's line. Superior blocking and interference won Omaha another touchdown, This was repeated until the score was 32-0 in favor of the YMCA's. The number of fouls made was something awful but some way no one saw them. The damaged condition of both teams showed that somebody did slugging. Ellis that somebody did slugging. Ellisand Free were hurt during the last half and relieved; Gardner, the opposite fullback, was badly hurt during the last half and started to leave the gridiron but his paternal ancestor got excited, rushed out of the crowd and ordered—the boy 'stay by 'er.' The old gentleman addeath; whicked for goth the crowd and ordered—the boy stay by 'er.' The old gentleman evidently thirsted for gore.

The YMCA team—were-satisfied that they had to work hard for the score and the Gates boys were satisfied to hold the winner down as well as they did. The Omaha's have been training under coaches about two months. The coach had been with the Gates team only been with the Gates team only three days. Hence the superior skill of the visitors. Our team needs only practice to make it a first cla team."

To help out in cattle feedlots

They don't float like butterflies They don't float like butterflies or sting like bees but preliminary research indicates that parasitic wasps may help knock out flies in cattle feedlots, according to a University of Nebraska rēsēarcher.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has awarded a $55,000 two-year grant to the university's West Central Research and Extension Center to further the center's study of parasitic wasps for feedlot at the center near North Platte.

Stable and house flies reduce the feed efficiency and growth of cattle. Stable flies bite the animals and feed on their blood. In hot weather, cattle bunch together to try to protect themselves from stable flies and can become overheated. House flies congregate near feed bunks and, when present in sufficient numbers, may keep cattle from approaching bunks to

The study, conducted in collaboration with Kansas State University, will focus on tiny non-stinging wasps which are parasites of house wass which are parasite of house and stable fly pupae. By inserting wasp eggs into the flies' pupal cases, the subsequent larvae of the parasite feed on the developing flies and kill them, Campbell explained.

"Currently you can buy these kinds of parasites from biological control laboratories but our research indicates that these are not very effective because they are not necessarily species native to our region," the Institute of Agriculture region," the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources researcher

IN AN EARLIER study, Campbell said, even when parasitic wasps from one of the labs were used at four times the recommended rate, there was no noticeable impact on the flies.

Research has determined that if you rear parasites in colonies, release them early in the season and provide them with killed fly pupae, they will start to increase in population so you have a pretty good parasite population." Information gained from the study may enable feedlot producers to integrate a good sanitation program with parasite release and may limit reliance on insecticides. That's important from the sheer economics of it and less important in terms of environmental impact," Campbell said.

"Any insecticide we are allowed Any insection we are allowed to use is very safe because it breaks down in the environment rapidly. But it is expensive if producers have to apply, it two or three times a week to keep the fly population down." he said down," he said...

New bill introduced to help rural areas combat drug abuse

Recently I've added my name as cosponsor to two bills that will be interest to First District residents. Today's column will call attention to

RURAL DRUG INITIATIVE
Last week's visit of Drug Czar
William Bennett to Nebraska brought home the commitment of this Administration to the war on drugs. While the media spotlight has been on our inner cities and Third World producing countries, it's also important that Third World producing countries, it's also important that we not overlook the potential drug problems facing rural areas. I have joined my colleague, Congressman Tim Johnson of South Dakota, in sponsoring the Rural Drug Initiative (H.R. 2970) which is an attempt to address the special problems faced by sparsely settled rural states. major provisions include:

Establish a pilot program in five

Establish a pilot program in five estates to further cooperative anti-drug efforts between the highway patrol and other law enforcement authorities; _Require_the_National_Law_Enforcement Training Academy to develop a drug interdiction training program specifically for law en-forcement officers in rural states;

Modify the current law enforcement block grant formula by designating a $5 million rural state set-aside through which "special need" states woulde qualify for additional block-grant funding. The bill would help less populated states by allowing them to qualify for "special need" additional funding through the rural state set-aside if they have a population ing through the rural state set-aside if they have a population density of 40 or fewer people per square mile and have demon-strated a rise in drug related crime; Designate a position within the Office of Drug Control Policy to coordinate rural drug policy. ASSAULT WEAPON CRIME ACT

At present, a violent criminal or drug trafficker caught with a ma-chine-gun can be sentenced to 30 years in prison for the first offense and to life in prison without parole for a second conviction. A bill I am cosponsoring with Congressman-Mike Oxley of Ohio would extend these penalties to apply to the use of pump action or semiautomatic shotguns used in the commission of shotguns used in the commission of violent or drug related crimes. Currently, the Federal penalty for the criminal use of these weapons is only five years of imprisonment. The surest solution to the dual problem of drugs and crime is effective law enforcement. We need penalties that deter crime and keep violent criminals and drug traffickers off-the-streets. traffickers off the streets.

Tailgater weekend held

Wayne's David Ley recently took an active role in the Ne-braska Diplomats Tailgate Weekend as a Host Diplomat.

Held Sept, 8 and 9, the Diplomats hosted out-of-state companies with facilities in Nebraska, as well as the firms' local plant managers.

The Nebraska Diplomats, a voluntary extension of the Ne-braska Department of Economic Development, weltheir 22nd annual banquet which kicked off the weekend.

On Saturday, Governor Kay Orr and the host diplomats showed their appreciation for Nebraska's businesses at a pre-game tailgate party held at the Governor's mansion. The party allowed visiting cor-porate executives to learn more...about new developments in Nebraska. It also en abled local managers to be recognized for their contributions to the state's economy.

Over 125 guests took part in the weekend, representing 59 firms with a total of 81 facilities in Nebraska and nearly 25,000 Nebraska employees.

CARDS OF THANKS

THANK YOU dear friends, family members and our First Baptist family for helping to make our Golden anniversary an occasion filled with precious happy memories because you were so thought ful. John and Bette Ream, Jim and Judy Grein and family, Terry and Jerri Hobson and family, Owen and Mary Wilcox. O19.

WE-WISH TO sincerely thank our friends and neighbors for the flowers, memorials, tood, cards and other expressions of sympathy. We appreciate all the thoughts, prayers and concern during the illness and death of our loving husband and father. Your kindness will always be remembered. The Family of Edward Krajicek.

THANK YOU, dear relatives and triends, for cards, gifts and visits. You made our 40th anniversary a day we'll always remember. Ken and Elaine Salmon.

I WISH TO say a big "thank you" to everyone who remembered me in any way when I was in the Wayne and Sioux City hospitals and since Treturned home. A special thanks to the Winside Rescue Unit and the Wayne unit and to Pastors Jeff Anderson and Jim Pennington for all the prayers and visits. May God bless all of you for all the kindness shown me and my family, Ted Hoeman.

TWO-THIRDS of the people reading this were not at home today!

You were working at your job...visiting relatives...attending school or taking the kids somewhere ... at a church meeting ... playing bridge ... downtown shopping ... working for your favorite charity...over at the neighbors...at a part-time job...anyway, you weren't home.. You missed a few things...no phone calls...door-to-door salesmen...radio or TV programs...

But, you didn't miss your Wayne Herald...HERE IT IS ... awaiting your convenience...full of interesting news about folks you know...feature stories, local news...social items...ads from your favorite stores...sports, pictures...columns.

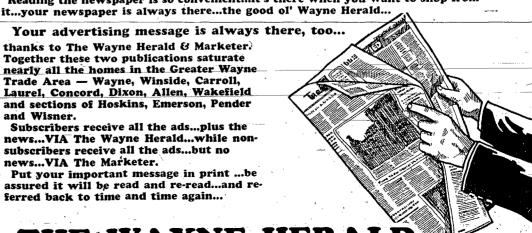

So sit back and relax...and read what's going on...if there is something you want to save or remember...go ahead, cut it out... Reading the newspaper is so convenient...it's there when you want to shop from thanks to The Wayne Herald & Marketer. Together these two publications saturate nearly all the homes in the Greater Wayne Trade Area - Wayne, Winside, Carroll, Laurel, Concord, Dixon, Allen, Wakefield and sections of Hoskins, Emerson, Pender and Wisner.

Subscribers receive all the ads...plus the news...VIA The Wayne Herald...while nonsubscribers receive all the ads...but no news...VIA The Marketer.

Put your important message in print ...be assured it will be read and re-read...and referred back to time and time again...
