Conference

WAYNE-A telecommunication conference conducted by U S West Communications will address many issues that are vital to the development of northeast Nebraska, according to Dr. Donald Mash, president of Wayne State College.

The conference, entitled "Tech Talk" will be held on Thursday, Oct. 26 beginning at 9:30 a.m. at the Wayne State College Student Center.

"Telecommunication's technology has the potential to transform rural America," Mash said. "It can overcome the critical issues of access, distance and isolation if applied properly."

"Our rural community leaders need to understand the dimensions of this potential. This communications' forum was developed with the needs of our community leaders in mind."

"Tech Talk" will be an interactive forum which provides opportunities for looking at telecommunications today and in the future.

Ken Power, vice president and chief executive officer of Nebraska for U S West Communications, will be the featured speaker.

He says participants will have the opportunity to become acquainted with the latest technology available in telecommunications. Powers and other U S West experts will answer questions face-to-face with persons attending the all-day event.

Reservations can be made by calling 1-800-642-9950. The conference is free and open to interested persons.

Pumpkin loss

WAYNE-The following letter (to the editor) was received from Chris Van Meter of Wayne, age 9:

"I am mad. Last night someone stole my Halloween pumpkin that my Grandpa raised for it. It was sitting there, not hurting anyone. We drove over 100 miles to get it."

"We all helped paint a funny face on it one night. My mom made some red hair out of yarn. It was my favorite pumpkin. I will pay $1.29 for a reward."

Chris drew a picture of his pumpkin, but we could not reproduce it. He added a personal note: "It [the stolen pumpkin] also had glow-in-the-dark teeth," he said.

Wayne Jaycees to pick up leaves

Just as leaves fall from the trees each fall, the Wayne Jaycees also have a tradition — picking up the leaves for residents in the Wayne community.

This year is no exception, as the Wayne Jaycees will be out picking up the bagged leaves on Sunday, Oct. 29. They will begin the process at around 1 p.m.

"This project is part of the Jaycees' ongoing effort to maintain Wayne as a great place to live," said Mark Winger, president of the Wayne Jaycees.

Pick-up crews will divide their efforts, working quarter sections of the city. "We would like them bagged and along the curb, and we would like to avoid grass clippings if possible," he said.

The leaves are eventually hauled out to Garden Perennials south of Wayne, according to Winger.

Helping the cause

WITH THE UNITED WAY FUND DRIVE CAMPAIGN winding down (it officially ends on Oct. 31), board members find themselves approximately $6,000 short of their $17,000 goal. With this in mind, board members are hoping that individuals will give generously during the residential drive so that the fund drive goal to finance worthwhile agencies and organizations can be met. Those who have been missed but would like to contribute should contact Lorraine Johnson, president of the United Wayne Board. Recently, the Wayne-Carroll School District teachers contributed a total of $600 to the United Way campaign. They pose near the outdoor sign that tells the message of United Way.

Highway expansion sought

Wayne City Administrator Phil Kloster made several requests concerning issues affecting Wayne during Tuesday evening's Nebraska Department of Roads public meeting in Columbus.

The first issue he addressed dealt with possible expansion of Highway 35 to more lanes within the city limits. Kloster asked the highway commissioners to update their studies and conduct a new study on the needs of the Highway 35 corridor through Wayne to "determine whether or not Highway 35 should be expanded to a four-lane, or possible a three-lane highway with a center turn lane to accommodate the increased traffic that moves through Wayne on Highway 35."

"It has been several years since the Department of Roads has studied the Highway 35 situation through Wayne and we feel that it is important to do an upgrade study on that particular segment of highway," mentioned Kloster.

SECONDLY, Kloster requested the Department of Roads to assign a project number for the eventual upgrade and reconstruction of the Highway 15 segment that runs south from Highway 35-Seventh Street south to the city limits.

"This segment of Highway 15 does need to have major reconstruction work completed on it and a number needs to be assigned so that it can be placed into the schedule for work to be completed sometime in the late 1990's," Kloster said.

The city needs some definite direction from the Department of Roads as to what the parking status of the downtown area will be when the road is reconstructed. "We need to determine whether or not we want to separate some of the traffic off of the downtown area to allow for the continued parking in the downtown area," he mentioned.

Kloster also asked that the department look at the drainage situation along Highway 35 east of Wayne, from the National Guard Armory East to Centennial Road and possibly all the way to Logan Creek. The segment of highway has developed quite a runoff through open ditch diversion.

"We think maybe the Department of Roads should look at the possibility of enclosing that area with underground pipe so that the young people that are in the area near Sunnyview will not be in danger of being swept into the creek through the open ditch drainage system," Kloster said.

AND LASTLY, Kloster said the city of Wayne supports efforts made to construct additional bridges across the Missouri River.

"There has been efforts made to construct additional bridges across the Missouri River and the community of Wayne has supported those efforts in the past and will continue to support any efforts to increase the number of bridges across the Missouri River," he mentioned.

Expressway priority for Hwy. 35 urged

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

The future won't be arriving soon enough for those from Wayne, Wakefield and surrounding communities who would like to see Highway 35 developed into an expressway from South Sioux City to Norfolk.

Several representatives from Wayne, Wayne State College and Wakefield attended a Nebraska Department of Roads public meeting in Columbus Tuesday evening to voice their concerns about Highway 35 and other state highway projects.

Attending from the Wayne area were Robert Foote, representing Wayne State College; Swede Fredrickson and Linda Smith, representing the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce and Wayne Industries; and Mayor Wayne Marsh, City Administrator Phil Kloster and Public Works Superintendent Vern Schulz.

Representing Wakefield was Lowell Johnson, city administrator.

Robert C. Kayton of Cedar Rapids, state highway commissioner within the district where Wayne County and Dixon County lie, chaired the meeting at Central Community College-Platte Campus. The meeting concerned highway work planned in the highway department's District 3 area which includes Wayne County and surrounding counties.

Also present was G. C. Strobel, director-state engineer of the Department of Roads.

STROBEL INDICATED that through the legislature's study of Department of Roads Needs Study presented to the Appropriations and Transportation Committees last November, it was later determined that the expressway system should be expanded from its then-planned 365 miles to 609 miles; and expand the priority commercial system (former paved shoulder system) from 2,821 miles to 3,303 miles.

Presently, high priority expressway work in District 3 (which includes the counties of Wayne, Dixon, Cedar, Knox, Antelope, Dakota, Thurston, Madison, Stanton, Cuming, Burt, Colfax, Platte, Boone and Pierce) mentioned by Strobel included US 81 from Norfolk to Columbus and Highway 275 from Norfolk southeast to Winslow.

The legislature accepted the Needs Study and passed an appropriation bill to increase the Department of Roads' budget $35 million which will be mostly absorbed through increases in the motor fuel tax.

City of Wayne officials, Kloster said, are pleased that the Needs Study shows the need for upgrading the Highway 35 corridor to expressway standards. "However, we are here as a group to present our request formally to the commissioners about the upgrading of the Highway 35 corridor... to place the Highway 35 corridor in Phase One of the state's master plan for development of expressways throughout the state of Nebraska," Kloster said during the public meeting.

"We say that because of pending developments along US 81, development of the Highway 60 corridor in northwest Iowa and southwest Minnesota, and what we perceive as a definite increase in traffic currently and in the future as a route becomes created linking Minneapolis and Denver," Kloster said.

Expressway standards would also be beneficial to the industrial developments along the Highway 35 corridor, he said.

A LETTER TO the highway commission from Wayne city council members, presented Tuesday evening, stated that the city is representing a corridor "that supports more industrial jobs per lane mile of road than any other area of the state, other than metro Lincoln and Omaha."

Also, it stated: "Your concurrence with our request will not only benefit economic development for northeast Nebraska, but for all of Nebraska. History shows that travel and the movement of product follow the improvement of the transportation network. In addition, you will undoubtedly save numerous lives of people who currently travel this route — particularly among the students and faculty who depend on this highway."

Smith told the Commissioners Tuesday that Highway 35 between South Sioux City and Norfolk should rate high priority in the department of road's one to six year highway construction program.

"With the focus of linking Minneapolis and Denver, two of the largest in the United States in industry and transportation, we feel that the connecting link must be made through the great state of Nebraska and not allow it to bypass us," Smith said.

It will also provide a great entrance into Nebraska from surrounding states, he said.

Sioux City, South Sioux City and Norfolk have an immense amount of activity with new industry and expansion, said Smith. "The truck traffic generated from these activities is evident. Improved roadways are necessary to avoid restriction of additional expansion."

"The Wayne area is also experiencing continued growth.

St. Mary's Parish begins Family Ministry program

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

A program to strengthen family life throughout St. Mary's Parish in Wayne and in the community has been recently initiated.

The Family Ministry Program sponsored its first major activity Sunday afternoon with a presentation by Rev. Ron Wasikowski on the topic of "Brokenness and Reconciliation". The event was held in conjunction with a large group activity for St. Mary's RENEW program.

"Family Ministry Program's purpose is to develop and present programs and activities—to strengthen families and to respond to the spiritual needs that families have," said Cliff Ginn, spokesman for the family program. Ginn is currently enrolled in a 2-year training program on family ministry that is being offered by Omaha Archdiocesan Family Life Office and Creighton University.

"FATHER Wasikowski's program was the first in a series of programs to be presented to the parish annually," said Ginn. "While the activities are geared to the parish, all from the community are welcome to attend."

The next major activity will take place next year during Lent (March 4), when Sister Marie Michello of the Omaha Archdiocesan United Catholic Social Services Office will talk about traits of a healthy family.

Another event to be scheduled, currently in the planning stages, is a support group program called "Rainbows For All God's Children."

THIS PROGRAM is for children who have suffered the loss of a parent through death, divorce or separation. Purpose of the program is to provide these children with an opportunity to meet new friends who have shared similar experiences; to have trained, caring adults be present for the children while they sort through and understand their grief; and to help the children to come to a healthy acceptance of what has happened in the family.

Ginn said the Family Ministry Program is a proposal carried forth by the American Catholic Bishops Council. The Council directed each diocese to set up a program of family ministry. Serving with Ginn on the St. Mary's Family Ministry board are Gary and Peggy Wright, Dale and Frances Pohlman, Dennis and Chris Wilbur, Mariann Jordan, Helen Heikes, Janet Schmitz, Pat Garvin, Bill Sperry and Rev. Donald Cleary.

Fox family visits area before returning to Costa Rica

By Dianne Jaeger
Winside correspondent

Debbie and Michael Fox love Costa Rica and its people.

"Although we miss our family and friends," says Debbie, who has returned to the United States with her husband and children for a brief visit, "we're anxious to get back to the children and our work."

Debbie is the daughter of Winside residents Donald and Reba Westerhaus. She and her husband Michael and two children, Daniel, age nine, and Tarah, age six, have been ministering in Costa Rica the past 14 months and are presently in the United States for a brief visit with family members.

While here, the Foxes will also share their missionary work with churches in Nebraska, Iowa and Missouri.

WHILE IN WINSIDE, Debbie spoke about Costa Rica, its people, and the work of missionaries there.

Debbie explained that Costa Rica (meaning Rich Coast) is located between Panama and Nicaragua and is about the size of New Jersey with a population of approximately one and a half million people.

Debbie added that Costa Rica is a democratic country with an elected president. "They are very proud that they are a peaceful country with an army."

While 90 percent of the population is Roman Catholic, Debbie added that few Costa Ricans practice their faith.

Debbie said the people of Costa Rica are called Ticos. "They are friendly and love their children," added Debbie, "but they will take advantage of people if they can, especially American 'gringos.'"

MICHAEL AND Debbie work with a number of other missionaries out of a Mission Center in Cartago, where they also make their home.

Cartago, said Debbie, is about the size of Norfolk and is surrounded by volcanic mountains that have been dormant for hundreds of years. The temperature ranges between 60 and 80 degrees year-round.

The Mission Center is a large ranch-style house with dorm rooms where as many as 25 visitors can be housed.

"Mike is currently heading a construction project to add onto the center," added Debbie. "When we first arrived in Costa Rica we lived at the Mission Center for a while. So do other new missionaries and groups from the United States who come to visit and see how our services are administered."

Debbie said regular Sunday services are conducted at the Mission Center in English for all the missionaries and their families.

She added that all funds for the Fox family and other missionaries come from individual and non-denominational church support.

"We have no vehicles of our own but the Mission Center does have a jeep and van that all the missionaries share. We try to set up a schedule of when we get to use them."

THE MISSIONARIES in Costa Rica have set up a feeding program called "Grace a Child," where 200 children are fed weekly and given Bible lessons and health lessons, teaching them cleanliness and how to care for their teeth.

Debbie said the same meal is prepared each week at the Mission Center and costs approximately $5 a month for each child.

"We fix a stew made of rice, meat and vegetables, including four and a half pounds of hamburger, nine pounds of rice, lots of carrots, green beans, onion, sweet peppers and spices," Debbie added that each child also gets a banana, glass of milk and vitamin.

Twice a month, the missionaries visit the homes of those who are not attending the weekly feedings and give them a food packet that will feed the entire family three or four meals.

DEBBIE ALSO has the responsibility of overseeing an orphanage in Turrialba which has 14 children ranging in ages from four to 16.

The Fox children, Daniel and Tarah, also are a big part of the missionary family, says Debbie, and help serve at the feedings as well as sing and teach the other children about God.

"We have tent crusades every couple of months where we spread the word of God and show films for two nights," says Debbie. "We also preach in local churches when invited."

THE FOXES ARE excited about another new project — ministering to street kids of San Jose.

"The government of Costa Rica recently asked the Mission Center to take on this project," said Debbie. "There are a lot of kids just running wild."

Since last August, the Mission Center has offered the kids a monthly meal, health care and the word of God. "We see more coming each time and we hope to be able to offer the services more often in the future."

"We really feel good about the

Foxes to speak in Norfolk

Michael and Debbie Fox and family will be featured speakers Saturday evening, Oct. 28 at the First Assembly of God Church, 609 South 11th St., in Norfolk.

An international banquet of ethnic foods will be served at 6 p.m. prior to their service.

The general public is invited to attend.

government asking for our help."

THE ENTIRE Fox family has been studying Spanish since they arrived in Costa Rica. While Debbie studied some Spanish in high school and college, she said Mike has had a harder time grasping the language.

"Mike usually preaches in English and I translate into Spanish," said Debbie, adding that the children are learning and speaking Spanish quite easily.

Recently, Debbie said Mike had the unique experience of traveling into a jungle area inhabited by a primitive Indian tribe called BriBri. Their diet consists mainly of monkey, iguana and bats.

The area is located on the east coast near the city of Limon. "Mike and another missionary went as far as they could by jeep and from there traveled by foot and horse — a trip of seven to eight hours."

Debbie added that they spent two days ministering to the natives, using three interpreters to translate from English to Spanish to BriBri.

While it was reported that another missionary had been killed there the month before, Debbie said Mike and his missionary friend were so pleased by the numbers they ministered to that they plan to make monthly trips into the area.

BESIDES MISSING her family, Debbie says she also misses "junk food."

"The first day back we hit Dunkin Donuts and two of our favorite fast food places," smiles Debbie, adding "it didn't seem to taste nearly as good as I had remembered."

Fast food isn't the only convenience the Fox family has learned to live without. In Costa Rica they have no telephone, no hot water, except for a special heating element attached to their shower, no bath tubs and very few electrical appliances.

"We do have a really nice three-bedroom home which costs $275 a month," says Debbie, adding that a Costa Rican could probably rent the same house for $150.

"We don't have a washing machine as they cost about $1,200, but we do have an apartment size stove which cost $600."

"We've borrowed a small television and refrigerator from other missionaries and we do our laundry at the Mission Center."

Debbie added that the yard houses lemon, peach and tangerine trees and is surrounded by a high iron fence and gate.

"Most homes of the middle and wealthier people have fences because there is a lot of thievery in town," explains Debbie. "So far we are the only missionaries who haven't had our home broken into."

DEBBIE DOES her food shopping each Saturday at an open air market.

"I prefer this to the stores because the food is fresher," said Debbie, "but it was hard to get used to seeing flies on the food you buy to eat."

In addition to fresh fruits and vegetables, Debbie said the family mainly eats hamburger, chicken and fish.

DEBBIE FOX AND CHILDREN Daniel, age nine, and Tarah, six, are pictured during their recent visit to Winside. Debbie's husband Michael was ministering in Missouri and was not available for the photo.

DANIEL AND TARAH'S first year in school, which runs from March through November, was in a private Costa Rican school which cost about $40 each per month. Last year they attended an American school which cost $150 monthly in tuition.

When Debbie and Michael return to Costa Rica they plan to take back materials to school the youngsters at home.

The Fox family is expecting the arrival of a new baby sometime in January.

ITEMS ARE extremely expensive to purchase in Costa Rica and Debbie said persons wishing to donate toys, clothes, cash or other articles for the orphanage or Mission Center should send them to Grace World Missions International, U. S. Office, P. O. Box 3721, Indiantown, Fla., 32903, or call 407-773-4667 and specify they want to help the orphans or feeding program.

The Fox family plans to visit Michael's family in Colorado for a few days before returning to Costa Rica.

Briefly Speaking

Pleasant Valley meets for dinner

WAYNE-Seven guests attended Pleasant Valley Club's guest day meeting on Oct. 18. A noon dinner was held at Geno's Steakhouse. Entertainment centered around Halloween and included several games. Prizes were won by Frances Koch, Barbara Lutt, Joan Baier and Della Preston.

Next meeting will be Nov. 15 with Della Preston as hostess.

Immanuel Lutheran Ladies Aid

WAKEFIELD-The Ladies Aid of Immanuel Lutheran Church, rural Wakefield, met Oct. 19 with 13 members and three guests, Bonadell Koch, Marilla Beckner and Arden Nelson.

The Rev. Willie Bertrand of South Sioux City, vacancy pastor, led the Bible study. The group received a thank you from Wakefield Health Care Center and a letter from Goldenrod Hills explaining their needs.

Mrs. Albert Echtenkamp gave the visitation report. A report also was given on the fair board appreciation supper served by the Ladies Aid. Hazel Hank thanked all those who assisted. Members voted to once again save newspapers.

Honored for their October birthdays were Nell Nelson and Beverly Ruwe. Serving lunch were Nila Schuttler and Berniece Rewinkel.

November committees include Lois Lessman and Neva Echtenkamp, serving; Eleanor Rauss and Alice Roeber, visitation and Wayne Care Centre (Oct. 30); Berniece Rewinkel and Nila Schuttler, Wakefield Health Care Center (Nov. 13); and Alta Meyer, Kim Roeber, Barb Holdorf and Beverly Ruwe, cleaning.

Family gathering for 80th year

WINSIDE-Elta Jaeger of Winside was honored for her 80th birthday Oct. 21 during a family gathering at the Winside Stop Inn. The event was hosted by her seven children and their families.

Approximately 60 guests were present from Omaha, Rander, Norfolk, Pierce, Winside, Stanton and Carroll. The honoree was presented a corsage earlier in the evening when the family attended Winside's annual German supper.

A special cake was baked and decorated by her granddaughter, Joni Davis of Carroll.

The event will take place in the Laurel city auditorium from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Sunrise Toastmasters meet

WAYNE-Eleven members of Sunrise Toastmasters attended the group's Oct. 24 meeting at Wayne City Hall.

Sharon Hord was toastmaster, Rita Loseke was invocator/grammarian, Sam Schroeder was jokemaster and Mark Winger was topicmaster with Doug Temme, Monica Schmit and Darrel Miller responding. Sue Schroeder presented an entertaining speech, "Kelly," which was evaluated by Duane Havrda and timed by Linda Bauermeister.

Guests are welcome to attend the group's next meeting on Oct. 31 at 6:30 a.m. at Wayne City Hall.

Wakefield woman celebrates 90th with open house

Friends and relatives gathered at the Wakefield Covenant Church on Oct. 8 to celebrate the 90th birthday of Mary Lundin.

Daughter Donna Langbehn of Omaha welcomed approximately 170 guests and served as mistress of ceremonies for the program. Seated at the guest book was Martha Lundin.

Mrs. Langbehn also introduced the honoree's other children, including Gordon, Darold, Vivian and Eugene, who in turn introduced their families.

Granddaughter Kathy Miller of Omaha presented a vocal selection and everyone joined in the happy birthday song.

THE PROGRAM also included a medley of "Jesus Loves Me" and "Oh, How He Loves You and Me," sung by three generations, including Marcia Lundin and Kay and Tiffany McAfee.

The Olson family of Chicago performed for their grandmother and great grandmother by singing "The Longer I Serve Him the Sweeter He Grows," with Erica playing flute, "O How I Love Jesus,"

At Wakefield High School

Students staging comedy

The Speech and Drama Club of Wakefield High School will present a two-act comedy, "The House That Roared," on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 27-28.

Performances each evening will be at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for students.

The comedy is under the direction of Mrs. Val Bard, assisted by Kelly Bartling.

Thirty-five students in grades nine through 12 are involved in the production, including Buffany Blecke, Cindy Torczon, Lynn Anderson, Trang Nguyen, Julie Greve, Cathi Larson, Kelly Ekberg, Christy Otte, Susan Nuernberger, Sarah Salmon, Lisa Blecke, Perre Neilan, Doug Stanton, Cory Blatter, Andy McQuistan, Scott Johnson, Mike Anderson, Chris Loofe, Matt Tappe, Bill Rusk, Dave Phipps, with Ingrid playing trumpet, and "In My Life Lord Be Glorified."

Others singing were Jennifer, Philip, Christopher and Laura. Betty Olson accompanied them on piano and Deb Olson read the 80th Psalm.

Peter Lundin of Minneapolis gave a tribute of thanks to his grandmother and Bruce Olson of Chicago spoke on changes. Donna Langbehn and Marcia Lundin sang "He Leadeth Me," accompanied by Ruth Felt on the piano.

Bob Frederickson of Omaha reminisced on behalf of old neighbors and the Rev. Charles Wahlstrom gave a brief message and closing prayer.

SONDRA MATTES baked and decorated the birthday cakes. Verna Bengtson and Sandy Lundin poured, and great granddaughter Jennifer Olson and granddaughter Kathy Miller served punch.

Betty Olson of Northbrook, Ill. and Debra Olson of Chicago assisted at the lunch table.

Working in the kitchen were Ardyth Mills, Lois Borg and Ellen Carlson.

Area women invited to World Community Day

Wayne's First United Methodist Church will host World Community Day services on Friday, Nov. 3.

All area women are invited to attend the program which begins at 2 p.m. and is sponsored by Wayne Church Women United.

"To Pray is to Risk" has been selected as the theme for this year's service which was written by a team of Korean-American women who have lived immigrant lives in the United States and have been involved with Korean-American women and men suffering from adjustment difficulties and poverty in this country.

They have also maintained contacts with women in Korea who have been economically and socio-politically oppressed by the dictatorial government there.

Pilger club sponsoring holiday tour of homes

The Domestic Maidens Club of Pilger will sponsor a Pilger Holiday Tour of Homes on Sunday and Monday, Nov. 5-6.

Tours are scheduled Sunday from 1 to 6 p.m. and on Monday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Proceeds from the event will be divided between the Domestic Maidens and the Pilger Library Building Fund.

Assisting the Domestic Maidens Club with the tour will be AAL Branch 2227, St. Matthew's Church of rural Wisner, the Pilger Library and other volunteers from the community.

FEATURED HOMES include the J. D. and Deb Alexander home, decorated by the Flower Shoppe, Wisner; the Tom and Nancy Allen home, decorated by K & R Design Boutique, Hoskins; the Randy and Ann Oertwich home, decorated by Ann Oertwich; and the George and Marian Rennick home, decorated by the Wayne Greenhouse, Wayne.

The red brick ranch-style Alexander home features a fireplace. Both the Allen and Rennick homes have open staircases, while the Oertwich home is decorated with many antiques and collectables.

Christmas cookies and bars will be served at the Oertwich home during the tour.

TICKETS for the tour may be purchased at any of the homes the days of the tour or in advance at Farmer's National Bank, Heller's IGA and Village Cafe, all in Pilger; the Wayne Greenhouse, Wayne; The Flower Shoppe, Wisner; and K & R Design Boutique, Hoskins.

Wakefield finishes second in tourney

The Wakefield Trojans lost only their second game of the season Tuesday night, but the loss came in the finals of the Lewis & Clark Conference Tournament to Walthill in straight sets, 14-16, 6-15.

The Trojans served at an 85 percent clip which is below the standards coach Paul Eaton would like to see. Julie Greve was 9-10 to lead the team while Cathi Larson was 5-5. Jess Robins led the spikers with a 16-17 outing with six kill spikes. Julie Greve was 10-13 with three kill spikes and Laurie Plendl was 7-7 with two kill spikes.

Cathi Larson was 21-23 in setting and Christy Otte was 26-29. "We played well in the first set but the second set was totally in Walthill's favor," Eaton said. "We were hurt a little when Susan Nuernberger got hurt following the semi-final match with Coleridge." Nuernberger suffered a slight sprain of her ankle.

Wakefield defeated Coleridge in three sets in the semi-final match, 6-15, 15-7, 15-11. The leading server was Julie Greve who went 18-18 with five aces. Kristen Miller had five aces and was 13-13. Wakefield was 94 percent from the serving line.

Jess Robins was the leading spiker with 11 kills on a 26-31 effort. She was also 5-5 in tips with one ace. Julie Greve had five kill spikes in her 13-16 outing. Cathi Larson was 49-51 in the setting department while Susan Nuernberger was 25-27.

In first round action of the conference tournament Wakefield defeated Wynot in three sets, 7-15, 15-5, 15-8. Kristen Miller led the way with four ace serves on a 15-16 effort. Cathi Larson was 16-18 and had seven ace serves.

Jess Robins again led the spiking charge with seven kill spikes and a 22-23 success rate on spikes. She was also 4-5 on blocks with three aces.

STEPHANIE CARLSON spikes the ball in Allen's match with Walthill Tuesday night in Ponca. Allen lost in two sets.

Wayne State hires interim head coach effective at once

Mike Barry has been named interim head women's basketball coach at Wayne State College, according to athletic director Pete Chapman.

Barry replaces Liz O'Brien who resigned last week for personal reasons. Barry, 30, comes to Wayne State from Pratt Community College in Pratt, Kan. where he was assistant women's coach. Barry also coached at Chadron State and Eastern New Mexico University and at Fullerton and Stuart High Schools.

A native of Grant, Barry is a 1983 graduate of Chadron State College where he was a four-sport athlete. He was an NAIA national qualifier three times in the triple jump and also lettered in basketball, football and cross country. Barry earned his master's degree in 1988 from Chadron State.

"Mike is taking over our program at a crucial time of the year after a turbulent week for the players. But throughout our search process it became evident he had the energy and enthusiasm to lead our program," Chapman said.

Wayne State opens the 1989-90 season on Nov. 17 at the Hastings Classic.

Wayne victorious

The Blue Devil volleyball team closed out their regular season play at South Sioux Tuesday night and Wayne came out on top in straight sets, 15-4, 15-7. The win leaves Wayne with a 10-11 mark on the year and a fifth seed in the district tournament which begins Monday at Northeast Community College.

Wayne will play at 6:20 against Hooper-Logan View. Columbus Scotus earned the top seed and Pierce has the number two seed while Schuyler and Logan View earned the third and fourth seeds. West Point, Neligh and Columbus Lakeview round out the eight seeds in order.

Against South Sioux Kari Lutt

was the leading server with seven points and an 8-9 outing while both Erin Pick and Kristen Frevert were 6-7 with five points each. Deanna Schluns had five kill spikes and was 7-7 in spiking while Erin Pick was 12-13 with three kill spikes.

Teresa Ellis was 15-15 in the setting department with eight assists. "We did a good job of passing the ball," coach Marlene Uhing said. "South Sioux used a variety of offenses and our girls did not get distracted."

The junior varsity team lost 13-15, 7-15 and the "C" team lost 7-15, 7-15. The junior varsity and "C" team ended the season with losing records.

Leaf raking

WAYNE-The Wayne Wrestling Club will be raking leaves in the community this Saturday. Anyone interested in having their lawn raked on Saturday, should contact John Murtaugh at 375-5070 or Aaron Schuett at 375-2422.

It is important to contact the above people as soon as possible because the number of lawns that can be raked in one day is limited.

In exchange for raking the lawns, the Wrestling Club will request a money donation. The amount of the donation will be left up to the individual lawn owners.

O'Brien resigns

WAYNE-Elizabeth O'Brien has resigned as head women's basketball coach, according to Wayne State athletic director Pete Chapman. The resignation is effective immediately.

O'Brien came to Wayne State last year after serving as an assistant coach at the University of Northern Iowa. The Wildcats finished 8-20 in her first season. She will remain at Wayne State as an instructor in the Health, Physical Education and Recreation Division.

Chapman said an interim head coach will be named to finish out the 1989-90 season. The search for a new head coach will begin in February.

Wildcats go 1-6

WAYNE-The Wayne State volleyball team went 1-6 during the weekend volleyball tournament at Hays, KS. The tournament was the Fort Hays Invitational and the eight teams played a round-robin schedule with each match going the best two of three sets.

Wayne State started off play against Southern Colorado and lost, 15-13, 15-8. The Wildcats then lost in straight sets to Emporia State, 15-5, 15-6. The lone victory by Wayne State was against Adams State with a three set victory of 10-15, 15-6, 15-7.

Wayne State then lost in straight sets to Grand Canyon College, and Kearney State. The Wildcats took Fort. Lewis to three sets before losing and then they lost in straight sets to host Fort Hays State. Wayne State's record fell to 13-24.

Allen junior high wins

WAYNE-The Allen junior high volleyball teams traveled to Homer and both the seventh and eighth grade teams escaped with victories. The seventh grade won in straight sets with scores of 15-7, 15-5. Holly Blair and Mandy Oldenkamp led the way. The eighth grade team won in three sets, 15-0, 11-15, 15-0. Stephanie Chase, Stephanie Martinson, Shelly Smith and Megan Mahler were the leading hitters while Dawn Diediker were the leading setters and Stephanie Chase, Bobbi Stingley and Dawn Diediker led the scoring charts.

Echtenkamp wins contest

WAYNE-Neva Echtenkamp of route two in Wakefield, was the winner of the Wayne Herald football contest last week with three misses. Echtenkamp tied in the number of misses with Mark Meyer of rural Wayne. Echtenkamp however, was closer on her tie breaker score on the Wayne-Hartington Cedar Catholic contest.

Feagan resigns

WAYNE-Wayne State head volleyball and softball coach Doug Feagan has announced his resignation, according to Wayne State athletic director Pete Chapman.

Feagan cited personal reasons for his resignation. The resignation is effective at the end of the first semester.

Feagan came to Wayne State in 1988. He holds a career record of 45-49 in volleyball. His 1988 squad qualified for the District 11 playoffs and this year's team is awaiting a possible playoff berth. In his only season as head of the softball program, the Wildcats finished 24-21.

Wildcats to host Lithuanians

WAYNE-The Wayne State men's basketball team will open the 1989-90 season on Sunday, Nov. 5 against a national team from Lithuania.

The Jhalgris men's basketball team from Kanus, Lithuania will meet the Wildcats in a 2:30 p.m. game in Rice Auditorium.

Tickets for the game are on sale at the Wayne State Athletic Office. Reserved seats are $10 with general admission tickets $5. Wayne State student and faculty/staff passes will not be honored at the game.

The international basketball game will be played under NCAA rules and is sanctioned by the Amateur Basketball Association of the United States.

Winside suffers loss

Paul Giesselmann's Winside Wildcats lost their first round game of the Lewis & Clark Conference volleyball tournament Monday night in Osmond to Coleridge in three sets, 12-15, 15-8, 13-15.

"We are just in a slump right now," Giesselmann said. "We had better get over it before next week or our season is over." Winside's problem was in the serving department where they were only successful on 82 percent of their serves.

"It was unbelievable how many opportunities Coleridge gave us to win the first set and we didn't do it," Giesselmann said. "We were up 12-10 and Coleridge was not doing anything to keep the ball in play but we missed four consecutive serves and they eventually got untracked and won the first set."

The Wildcats were the ones who got untracked in the second set as Winside burned the Bulldogs with a 15-8 win. Winside however, reverted back to set one standards in the final set and lost. "We were up 10-5 in the third set and we lost," Giesselmann said.

Tinia Hartmann was the top server for Winside as she connected on 22-23 with three aces. Kelly Pitchler had three aces and was 10-11 and Shannon Holdorf also notched three aces. April Thies and Jenni Topp each had two aces with Thies going 12-13 and Topp connecting on 9-12.

Jenny Jacobsen was 7-9 and Patty Oberle was 3-3 in serving. The spiking department was owned by Jenny Jacobsen as the sophomore was 35-38 with an amazing 25 kill spikes for a kill percentage of .578. Shannon Holdorf had seven ace spikes on a 21-27 performance and Tinia Hartmann had three kill spikes on an 11-16 effort.

Kelly Pitchler also had three kill spikes and Jenni Topp and Wendy Rabe along with Patty Oberle had two kill spikes each. Tinia Hartmann was 50-52 in the setting department with 17 set assists and Kelly Pitchler was 38-39 with also 17 set assists.

"We are really playing inconsistent right now," Giesselmann said. "We are playing good and bad during the same match but the bad is coming at crucial times. We can't get a side out when we need one and we're letting teams score five or six consecutive points at different times during the match."

Winside will now get ready for sub-district play where they will play Coleridge once again on Tuesday night in Hartington in a 6 p.m. contest. It will be the fourth time this season that Coleridge and Winside have faced off.

Puttin' up with Pete
By Kevin Peterson

Being the sports editor for a bi-weekly newspaper has many advantages. First of all, you have complete control of the area school sports and to write on them how you wish, of course trying to be fair, but at the same time giving an accurate and detailed description of games in which people did not attend so they might get some insight on who is doing what.

The Wayne Herald has five coverage schools in which I try to cover all of their sports. The towns include, Laurel, Allen, Wakefield, Winside and of course Wayne. I also cover Wayne State athletics and that in itself is a full-time job because the Wildcats are always in action with one sport or another.

Now to the gist of the column. Recently, I wrote a column on the officiating of the Wayne-Battle Creek football game. Folks, the officiating was nothing short of disgusting and you don't have to just take my word for it—talk to some of the people who attended the game.

At any rate, I received a letter to the editor from area official Robert Jacobsen of Winside. Now granted, most letters to the editor do not generate response but I felt that I must respond to some of the comments made by Mr. Jacobsen because they are simply—not true.

In order for you to understand what the situation is I am printing Mr. Jacobsen's letter in my column and then following the letter is a response by yours truly.

Column criticized

I am writing in response to Kevin Peterson's column written in the Oct. 19, 1989 edition of the Wayne Herald. I am writing in response concerning the officiating in general of the Wayne High at Battle Creek game last Friday evening.

First of all let me start by saying I personally was not present at this game. But let's take a look at the real question here. I ask you why every time I read your column you are always telling us the officiating was why a certain team was beaten. This is not always at Wayne High either but the whole coverage area in general.

Why all of a sudden are you the state evaluator of officiating, and what do you actually know about it! You have obviously never put on a referee shirt to realize what a difficult task we have on the football field, or the basketball floor. I have been officiating a number of years and have numerous championship contests behind me. I have never heard as many complaints about officiating from any other newspaper in the eastern half of Nebraska as I do from you since you've started your officiating hit list!

I think your job could be better done if you would concern yourself with some of the outstanding athletes, and coaches in our coverage area. I'm quite sure they would much rather see articles about them than your weekly referee report!

In closing I'm going to leave you with this.... We as officials are anxiously awaiting you to put on the referee shirt so we can evaluate your officiating so we can see what a great job you do as an official and not a sports writer.

Mr. Robert Jacobsen
Winside

The first thing I want to comment on is that Mr. Jacobsen was right, he was not at the game with Battle Creek and Wayne and to me that is the whole importance of the column I wrote to begin with but more importantly, he claims that every time he reads my column that I am criticizing referees and that I am blaming referees for why an area team loses.

That prompted me to go back through my nearly two years as sports editor reign and I found that less than five percent of my columns have been written on officiating. And if you count all my articles the number dwindles to less than two percent.

I am not a state evaluator of officials and I have never claimed to be. At one time I did put on the referee's uniform and found that a referee is in a world of his own because if you ask fan's on both sides of the teams playing, the referee is never right.

Referees are human and they can make mistakes—that I can handle. But when a referee seems like he has a vendetta against one certain team in which 12 penalties are called and only two on the other team, (two motion calls late in the fourth quarter), then I have a problem and it's called consistency.

I do not have a hit list for officials and I would not want your job. I would say that over 90 percent of the contests that I have attended since I've been in Wayne, (and folks there have been plenty of contests that I've attended), have been well officiated.

In closing I would like to add that I have nothing against referees in any sport. They are a vital part of a clean game. Further more, I hope that the referees in the area that read my column didn't take it personally. The people that I was attacking know who they are and to be honest I've never heard of a poorly officiated football game by Mr. Jacobsen's crew.

I apologize for the inconvenience it may have caused Mr. Jacobsen and others who felt pressured by it, but I do not apologize for what I saw in Battle Creek and for what I wrote about the game.

One thing is very important to the people from Battle Creek who may read the article and even some of the players. The teams have nothing to do with the officiating so when someone says a team lucked out because of the refs, you can't blame the team, they are just playing the game the way it's being called and Battle Creek did that and they won.

I had a caller from Battle Creek who questioned my article but the caller was a true gentleman and we talked about both sides of the situation. I appreciate calls like that and encourage them.

Wayne State loses to rival Kearney State, 20-7

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

The Wayne State Wildcats moved the ball between the two 20 yard lines Saturday but it was Kearney State improving its season record with a 20-7 victory over the Wildcats. It was Kearney State's 18th consecutive win over Wayne State.

"We moved the ball pretty well in the first half," Wayne State coach Dennis Wagner said. "We only had one possession in the first quarter and only two possessions in the second quarter and yet we only trailed 10-7 at halftime."

The Wildcats took their opening possession and moved to the Kearney State 28 yard line before trying a 45 yard field goal that missed wide. On the second possession for the Wildcats they moved the ball 80 yards in 11 plays and scored on a 17 yard scamper by running back Troy Jackson which tied the game at 7-7.

On Wayne State's third possession of the first half they moved the ball to the Kearney State 30 yard line and then Blaine Branscum attempted a 47 yard field goal with just one second on the clock and again the field goal attempt missed wide. "Both of Blaine's kicks were plenty long enough they were just wide," Wagner said.

The Wildcats amassed nearly 200 total yards in the first half and were definitely in striking distance, trailing 10-7. The second half however, belonged to the home team as the Lopers struck with a 32 yard field goal by Darren Grauerholz and then with 4:59 left in the third quarter, Dennis Wagner felt the game ending blow was when Kearney State quarterback Russ Harvey connected with Travis Vallin on a 79 yard pass which put Kearney State up 20-7.

"Kearney State did a good job of ball control," Wagner said. "They kept moving the ball on the ground and taking time off the clock." Wagner said the Wildcat emotion was drained following that long pass. "Our kids seemed to lose faith after that long pass," Wagner said. "We don't know why because we still had 20 minutes of football left and that was plenty of time to score two touchdowns and possibly win the game but we weren't moving the ball like we did in the first half."

Wagner felt that his Wildcat squad beat themselves with the inability to get the ball back on defense when they needed and the inconsistent offensive movement in the second half. "We really believe we beat ourselves," Wagner said, "but you can't take anything away from the Lopers because they won."

The game was a little bit out of the ordinary for a Wayne State-Kearney State clash in that there wasn't that rivalry spirit that usually goes on during the contest. "There wasn't a lot of intensity and hard hitting like we'd seen the last three weeks," Wagner said. "Our biggest frustration as coaches was why we let down after the one big play. Basically what it amounts to is that we didn't play up to our ability and we honestly feel that we squandered away an opportunity for a very big win for our program."

Wayne State finished the contest with 17 first downs compared to 20 for the Lopers. The Wildcats grounded out 230 yards rushing while Kearney State netted 279. Wayne State had two backs over 100 net rushing yards for the second consecutive week.

Quarterback Gale Lawton led the way with 121 yards on 25 carries while Troy Jackson managed 103 yards on 18 carries. Lawton was only 5-18 through the air for 87 yards. Kearney State was just 5-14 for 137 yards and two touchdowns.

Bill Blondin was the top receiver with three catches for 53 yards while Lamar Daniels and Macha Shinoster each caught one pass for 19 and 15 yards respectively.

The game was not hindered by penalties as Wayne State had three penalties for 35 yards and Kearney State had five penalties for 40 yards. Kearney State proved to have more success on third down conversions as they completed 9-18 while Wayne State was 4-12.

"Kearney State controlled the line of scrimmage when they were on offense," Wagner said. "Our defense just didn't get the job done on Saturday, but I know that will change."

Defensively, the Wildcats were led once again by Bob Sterba who finished with 12 tackles. Jeff Brownfield and Chris Matzen followed with 10 tackles each while Bud Sachs managed nine.

Mike Thorell, Rony Woodard and Glen Sutton all finished with six tackles apiece while Matt Holly and Scott Vokoun each had five tackles. Randy Rouse and Mike Ware each managed to get four tackles.

Wagner said it will be back to basics during the week long practice heading up to the Fort Hays State match-up on Saturday in Hays, KS. "We have to keep moving forward," Wagner said. "We didn't practice well last week and that is a good indication of how you are going to play and we did just that. We played like we had practiced."

Fort Hays State will come into the game with Wayne State with a deceiving record. "They have a losing record but that have played several top 20 teams and they have played Division IAA teams," Wagner said.

The Wildcat special teams will get a workout because they will be facing one of the finest kick-off and punt returners in the nation in Tyrone Tracy. "Tyrone is a very gifted athlete and we will have to shut him down on special teams as well as when he is playing on offense. He's also one of the top 20 receivers in the country," Wagner said.

THE WAYNE LIONS CLUB conducted their annual Punt, Pass and Kick competition Sunday afternoon at the high school practice football field. Winners, in their respective divisions, were: (kneeling from left) Ryan Dunklau, second place tie, 8 and under; Dustin Sutton, second place tie, 8 and under; Joshua Murtaugh, third place, 8 and under; David Enz, second place, age 9; and Mike Dorsey, third place, age 9. Back row, Clete Sharer, Lions Club representative; Kelly Gunderson, third place, age 10; Jamey Holdorf, first place, age 10; Nick Hagmann, second place, age 10; Joe Lutt, first place, age 11-12; Jason Carr, second place, age 11-12; Jeremy Sturm, third place, age 11-12; Ryan Dahl, first place, 8 and under; and Matt Meyer, first place, age 9.

THE OTTE AWARD, given to the most improved eighth grade football player, was presented by junior high football coach John Murtaugh and Ginny Otte to Scott Aggenbroad. The annual award recipient is voted on by the players. The award was originated by Hank and Glenda Overin and this year marked the 10th year the Otte Award has been presented. Past winners include Kevin Maly, Rick McNeill, Jeff Simpson, Joel Pederesen, Jimmy Main, Kip Mau, Trevor Wehrer, John Hadcock and Brian Brasch.

Geiger runs to top 10 finish

Tammy Geiger ran to a seventh place finish last Friday in the Class B State Cross Country Meet held in Kearney. Former Wakefield track standout Theresa Stelling won the meet representing Auburn. Geiger's seventh place time was 16:10.

There were 113 girls competing throughout the state in Class B. Geiger improved 16 places from last year's meet. The sophomore runner has two years remaining and will be looking to improve on this year's finish.

In the boys competition Wayne finished 16th out of the 18 teams entered. The highest recorded finish was by Todd Fuelberth who placed 44th with an effort of 18:19. Mike DeNaeyer finished 67th and Scott Fuelberth placed 68th with times of 18:51 and 18:55. Mike Hillier and Jason Johns finished in 84th and 95th places respectively. There were 115 runners who participated.

Lincoln Pius X won the title with 55 points. The closest team was Elkhorn with 84 points. O'Neill, which is in Wayne's conference finished one spot ahead of Wayne.

A peek of things to come

ALTHOUGH CHRISTMAS is less than two months away, the spirit came early at the home of Edna Meyer of Wayne. Motorists may have wondered why the Christmas lights came on so early. With the recent warm October days, area residents have decided to do some early Christmas decorating, which sure beats trying to put holiday lights up on days when the temps hit sub-zero.

Obituaries

Pearl M. Stone

Pearl M. Stone, 81, of Laurel died Monday, October 23, 1989 at her home in Laurel. Services were held Wednesday, October 25 at the Logan Center United Methodist Church with Rev. Ron Mursick officiating. Burial was at the Laurel Cemetery with McBride Wiltse Mortuary of Laurel in charge of arrangements.

Pearl Marie Stone, daughter of Mads Peter and Anna Nilson Johnsen, was born August 16, 1908 at Bancroft, Nebraska. She moved as a child with her family to a farm northeast of Laurel. She married Fred E. Stone November 10, 1932 at her parents home. The couple farmed northeast of Laurel until 1974, when they retired and moved into town.

She was a 65-year member of Logan United Methodist Church, and was active in several organizations, including the United Methodist Women, Laurel Senior Citizens and the Friendship Club.

Survivors include her three sons and their wives, Burrell and Sandie Stone, Coleridge, Neal and Marlene Stone, Laurel, and Dennis and Janelle Stone, Phoenix, Arizona; two daughters and their husbands, Leo and BonnaDell Kastrop, Elk Point, South Dakota, and Vince and Nancy Magnuson, Duluth, Minnesota; sixteen grandchildren, eleven great-grandchildren; one brother, Arthur Johnsen, Sioux City, Iowa; and two sisters, Mae Gallagher and Berniece Morrissey, both of Omaha, Nebraska.

She was preceded in death by her husband in 1979, a daughter in infancy, and four brothers and four sisters.

Clarence E. Hedrick

Clarence E. Hedrick, 77, of Wayne died Sunday, October 22, 1989. Services were held Wednesday, October 25 at United Presbyterian Church of Wayne with Rev. John Mitchell officiating.

Clarence Emil Hedrick, the son of Joseph and Anna (Zimmerman) Hedrick, was born January 2, 1912 at Ceresco, Nebraska. When he was three years old, his father died and he moved to Wahoo, Nebraska with his mother. He graduated from Wahoo High School. He began working for Safeway Food Stores in 1931 in the grocery department and later the meat department. He married Vida Gibb on April 10, 1935 at Rock Port, Missouri. The couple lived in Beatrice and Auburn in Nebraska and Jefferson and Carroll in Iowa before moving to Wayne in 1953 where he worked in the Safeway Food Store meat department until its closing in 1974. He then worked at the Wittig Food Store until retiring in 1980. He was a member of the United Presbyterian Church in Wayne.

Survivors include his wife, Vida of Wayne; one son, Clarence B. Hedrick, Naperville, Illinois; and several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents and two sisters. Pallbearers were Al Wittig, William Reeg, Everett Minds, Ronald Elsberry, Jack Tomrle and Rick Lund. Burial was in the Greenwood Cemetery of Wayne.

Pastors installed at Wakefield church

The Revs. Jesse and Arlene Patrick were installed as co-pastors of the Unity Presbyterian Parish during services Oct. 22 at the Wakefield Presbyterian Church.

The Unity Presbyterian Parish consists of Presbyterian Churches in Wakefield, Emerson, Bancroft and Thurston.

KATHY POTTER of Wakefield served as organist and sang a solo, entitled "They Will Know We Are Christians By Our Love." The Bancroft choir sang "Magnify the Lord."

Also taking part in the installation service was the Rev. Don Ball, representative for the committee on ministry of the Homestead Presbytery.

The Rev. John Mitchell of the Wayne Presbyterian Church gave the sermon and was the moderator of the Wakefield and Emerson Presbyterian Churches. The Rev. Roger Harp, Presbytery executive, gave the charge to the congregation, and the Rev. Samuel Hofer, moderator of the Homestead Presbytery, gave the constitutional questions.

The Rev. Thomas Robson of the Laurel Presbyterian Church gave the charge to the pastors and was also moderator for the Bancroft and Thurston parishes.

Others taking part in the program were Terry Trube of Wakefield, Bernice Loetscher of Emerson, Laura Woodcock of Bancroft and Paul Bodlack of Thurston.

PRESBYTERIAN Women of Bancroft, Thurston, Emerson and Wakefield hosted a reception following the service. There were approximately 120 in attendance.

Patricks began their ministry in the Unity Presbyterian Parish on Oct. 1. They are residing at rural Emerson and come to this area from Kayenta, Ariz., where they served a three point parish of Kayenta and Dennehotso, Ariz. and Oljato, Utah.

They are the parents of six grown children.

School secretaries organize

AREA-Twenty-two school secretaries from 11 northeast Nebraska schools met Oct. 18 in Hartington for the fall meeting of the Northeast Nebraska School Secretaries organization.

Conducting the meeting were Jean Gahl of Winside and Lori Koch of Hartington. Various items of interest were discussed and Koch conducted a tour of the Hartington school.

The school secretaries organized this past summer with the purpose of sharing ideas and becoming better acquainted with each other. The organization is open to all northeast area school secretaries and persons wishing additional information are asked to contact Jean Gahl at Winside, 286-4465.

The group's next meeting will be April 18, 1990 in Beemer.

Keeping in Touch

By Cong. Doug Bereuter

I joined with a majority of my House colleagues recently on a 360 to 66 vote to repeal the Medicare Catastrophic Care program enacted in the 100th Congress. The measure passed by the House repeals all of the 1988 Act's provisions except for three Medicaid provisions, one of which will prevent spousal impoverishment which now can occur when a couple has exhausted its income and must qualify for Medicaid coverage.

I also voted against a substitute that would repeal the income-based supplemental premium and the catastrophic benefits, but retain the new prescription drug benefits. The House rejected the substitute by a vote of 269 to 156. Now is the time to go back to the drawing board on this issue. A great many senior citizens clearly do not want this program as it was enacted by the 100th Congress. This is the time to repeal it, before the benefits start. This action takes away no benefits already being received.

THE REPEAL language passed by the House provides a transition back to prior law governing Medicare supplemental (sometimes called Medigap) policies. It requires that individuals who dropped such policies in anticipation of the Medicare Catastrophic Coverage be treated as if their coverage continued, if they want to resume their private plans.

The substitute measure was unrealistic. Those who believe that modest flat-rate premiums will actually cover the drug benefits provided in the substitute are looking at life through rose-colored glasses. Just between February and July of this year, the Congressional Budget Office doubled its estimate of the cost of prescription drug benefits.

The benefits of the Medicare Catastrophic Care Act are scheduled to go into effect on Jan. 1, 1990. The repeal is one of many amendments to the Budget Reconciliation Act now under consideration by the House.

Now that the House has voted to repeal MedCat, the focus shifts to the Senate. I urge all concerned senior citizens to make sure that the Senate does not cave in to some compromise that will make repeal of the onerous surtax all the more difficult in a conference committee composed of the very leaders who put this program together in the first place.

A telephone number included in my September 1989 newsletter is incorrect. Individuals who are interested in receiving a copy of the booklet "Guide to Health Insurance for People with Medicare" should call 1-800-888-1998.

We discovered the typographical error shortly after the newsletter went into the mail and have been attempting to circulate information about the correct number. I hope that this error has not caused any great inconvenience.

High school band gets superior

Wayne-Carroll High School's marching band achieved a superior mark this past weekend at the Nebraska State Bandmasters Association Marching Contest.

"We received very good comments from the judges," said Brad Weber, high school band instructor.

Class B and AA competition took place at the University of Nebraska-Omaha while the competition for schools in Class D, C and A took place at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

"They said there was good sound, good balance. The best comments came from the judges on the band's general music effect. We had some perfect scores there," he said.

There were 90 total schools competing in all classes in the bandmaster event.

The band is scheduled to perform at Lincoln's Pershing Auditorium on Saturday, Nov. 4 at 7:40 p.m., Weber said.

REV. WASIKOWSKI was speaker at St. Mary's program.

Families are not defined just as mother, father and children. There are many other types of families. "And they all are part of our parish family," Ginn said.

Welcome to new business

THE WAYNE AREA CHAMBER of Commerce and Wayne Industries and the Wayne Ambassadors presented Ron Mahler of Ponca, new owner of GEC Manufacturing in Wayne, with two plaques. The presentation was made during the Area Chamber Coffee Friday morning at the GEC manufacturing site.

Food to be distributed in county

The Wayne Office, Nebraska Department of Social Services will be distributing food commodities next week on the following dates and times:

Carroll Fire Hall, Thursday, Nov. 2, 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.; Hoskins Fire Hall, Thursday, Nov. 2, 1 p.m. to 1:30 p.m.; Winside City Auditorium, Thursday, Nov. 2, 2 p.m. to 3 p.m.; and Wayne Social Services Offices, Friday, Nov. 3, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The following food items will be given away: one 1# unit of butter; one 24 oz. of honey; one 5# unit cornmeal; one 2# unit peanut butter; and one 5# unit of flour.

Highway

Milton G. Waldbaum Company, Great Dane, Restful Knights and other industries such as these are in need of improved road conditions for their truck traffic. A good number of workers commute to these and other places of their employment," Smith said.

MARKED INCREASES in enrollment of commuting students at Wayne State College and Northeast Community College in Norfolk is also evident, she said.

"Highway 35 provides the means to deliver all the goods and services into and out of the Wayne area," Smith mentioned.

Smith distributed a packet of letters supporting the improvements to Highway 35 written by the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce, Wayne Industries, Wayne State College, Congressman Doug Bereuter, the city of South Sioux City and the South Sioux City Chamber of Commerce.

Footo said Wayne State

College has about 3,000 students. "About three-fourths of these students commute. The majority, or well over half of our total student body commutes on Highway 35," he said.

Wayne State's two largest extended campuses are in South Sioux City and Norfolk and faculty and students travel Highway 35 regularly.

"We feel the lack of quality of Highway 35 has caused us to not be able to completely fulfill our mission. Every year we've lost students killed on the highway. Last year we lost a faculty member. We very strongly urged you to improve the highway," Foote said.

L. J. Mallatt of Laurel proposed that Highway 20 be considered as a future east-west expressway through Nebraska (west from South Sioux City). "Highway 20 is four-lane nearly across Iowa now and it would be a natural way for the expressway to travel," Mallatt said.

State Senators Eroy Hefner of Coleridge, Stan Schellpeper of Stanton and Jennie Robak of Columbus also spoke at Tuesday evening's public meeting.

HEFNER complimented Strobel for his efforts in streamlining the department and promoting efficiency. Through this, the state can provide more dollars for new highway construction.

He said Nebraska lost highway almost $4 million in funds because of the number of speeders in the state. He will be looking into better speed limit enforcement in the upcoming legislative session.

District Three Engineer Tom McCarthy gave an overview of highway construction projects and their status for 1989-90. Among the projects he talked about was the resurfacing of Highway 35 east of Wayne.

"That project is completed. We'll be coming back to that in about five years where the road will be rebuilt because of the highway's limited sight distance," McCarthy said.

A social security card and proof of residence, such as a utility bill, are necessary for identification. Food items cannot be picked up for another household unless the Social Service office has a statement of income verification and written permission from the household. These statements can be picked up at the office prior to the distribution.

Households must have income below the following guidelines in order to qualify (household size, gross yearly income):

One, $8,970; two, $12,030; three, $15,090; four, $18,150; five, $21,210; six, $24,270.

Sirens tested

The City of Wayne will conduct the monthly testing of the Civil Defense Outdoor Warning System at 11:45 a.m., Oct. 27.

Each siren location will be tested separately. All signals will be tested in the silent mode, with the exception of the following: public address: A short oral message will be given with this test to check the effectiveness of the system.

CENTER CIRCLE

Fourteen members of the Center Circle Club met Thursday at Gene Meyer's home. Janice Jaeger, president, presided. Audrey Quinn gave the secretaries report and Irene Meyer gave the treasurers report.

Roll call was a favorite Thanksgiving recipe. Secret sisters were revealed and new names drawn. Members passed a motion to have a cake auction Nov. 5 during the Firemen's BBQ as a centennial fund raiser.

They selected Thursday, Dec. 7 as their Christmas party dinner at the Stop Inn. The birthday song was sung to Cleora Suehl. Blind Pitch was played for entertainment with prizes going to Marie Suehl, Lenora Davis and Betty Andersen.

The next meeting will be Thursday, Nov. 16 at the Stop Inn at 1:30 p.m. with Marie Suehl as hostess.

TOUCH OF BRASS CONCERT

Approximately 100 people attended Sunday evening's concert "A Touch of Brass" in the Winside auditorium. The five-member group consists of four men and one woman. Loralee Hunziker of Norfolk plays horn. She is a part-time counselor at Wayne State College as well as a wife and mother. Dr. Raymond Kelton plays trombone. He is a retired band director from Wayne State College. Gary Davis on trumpet is the college's current band director. Pat Fortney, tuba player, lives at North Bend and is an instructor as well as a student at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln. Keith Krueger, on the trumpet is a former Winside area resident who now farms and resides at Wakefield.

The event was sponsored by the Winside Museum Committee as a fund raiser. Approximately $70 was raised. After the concert, 20 individuals toured the museum and church.

SCATTERED NEIGHBORS

Club President Mrs. Lois Miller, hosted the Oct. 18 Scattered Neighbors Home Extension Club. The meeting opened with the club collect and song. The secretary and treasurers reports were given. For Citizenship the Pledge of Allegiance was said.

Veryl Jackson, health and safety leader, read an article on Parkinson's disease. They discussed their Nov. 26-27 Holiday Tour of Homes. Lois Miller reported on the council meeting she attended. The lesson on "Child Abuse" was given by Dorothy Aurich.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, Nov. 15 at Arlene Pfeiffers.

The Winside Girl Scouts met Thursday at the firehall with leader Peg Eckert. Dues were collected and Marla Miller gave a report. They discussed going to the Omaha Christmas Carol. Money should be taken to the German supper on Saturday.

The girl scout calendars are in. They discussed a Christmas party and drew names. They had a flag craft lesson and played a game. Jessica Holmsted served treats.

GERMAN SUPPER

Approximately 200 attended Winside's Seventh Annual German supper Saturday at the village auditorium. Hosts for the evening were Doctor and Mrs. N.L. Ditman. Music was provided by Jay Morse and Harlin Brugger.

The Winside girl scouts assisted in seating and serving guests and numerous other area residents also helped. A drawing was held at 8 p.m. for six beer steins. They were won by George Jaeger, Dianne Jaeger, Robert Vahle, Barbara Luit, Shannon Graef, and Pat Miller. The event was sponsored by the Winside Women's Club.

REGIONAL CENTER

Members of St. Paul's Lutheran Church Congregation met Oct. 15 for a visit with patients at the Norfolk Regional Center. Entertainment was a sing-a-long with Cyril Hansen on the organ and Jay Morse on the piano.

Those attending were the James Jensen's, Leona Backstrom, Ida Fenske, and Laura Jaeger. Sandwiches, chips, apple cider, coffee, and a Jack-O-Lantern cake baked by Betty Jensen was furnished by those attending and Elaine Menke, and Helen Maichow.

The next meeting will be Sunday, Nov. 12 for a noon Thanksgiving dinner.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

The Winside children's Halloween party will be at the village auditorium on Tuesday, Oct. 31 at 7:30 p.m. Prizes will be awarded for best costumes. Carnival games will be available at a nickel a try. The event is sponsored by the Winside Women's Club.

G.T. PINOCHLE CLUB

Mrs. Laura Jaeger hosted the Friday G.T. Pinochle Club with Arlene Rabe as a guest. Prizes were won by Arlene and Marie Hermann. The next meeting will be Friday, Nov. 3 at Elsie Janke's.

FRIENDLY WEDNESDAY

Five members of the Friendly Wednesday Club met at the Black Knight Oct. 18 for lunch, then had a social afternoon at Dorothy Ruebeck's. They will have a grab bag for Christmas.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, Nov. 15 at Verna Mae Longe's.

BUSY BEE'S

Ella Mae Cleveland hosted the Oct. 18 Busy Bee Club with 11 members present. Irene Meyer, president, conducted the meeting. The secretary and treasurer's reports were given. Roll call was "Something you like best about October." Irene Meyer gave the craft lesson.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, Nov. 15 at Marian Iversens. Nell Thompson will give the lesson.

PAULA PFLUEGER, INVESTMENT representative for the Edward D. Jones and Company of Wayne, speaks to Ron Leapley's physics class at Winside High School. The students are involved in a statewide competition and are learning about stocks and investments.

Winside students invest $100,000 in statewide contest

Students of Winside High School are receiving hands-on training regarding stocks and investments as part of a statewide contest being sponsored by the Nebraska Council on Economic Education.

Ten students in Principal Ron Leapley's physics class are taking part in the competition as an extra activity. They are involved in a 10-week contest with approximately 30 other schools. The schools are broken into smaller districts with about 14 schools competing against Winside.

The schools can divide their classes into multiple teams. Winside has two teams with each receiving $100,000 in credit to invest as they choose.

The team with the largest net profit at the end of the 10 weeks will win an expense paid trip to Lincoln to visit various financial institutions.

Leapley said the contest has been going on for approximately two weeks with one of Winside's teams in third place with a $745 profit.

Visiting recently with the students before school hours was Paula Pflueger, investment representative for Edward D. Jones and Company of Wayne.

"I plan on taking my students on a field trip to Lincoln even if they don't win," said Leapley. "The learning experience they receive from this project and such a trip is much more important than the expense."

Mock trial event held

A 14-year-old student is accidentally struck with a golf club in a physical education class. Two days later she dies from the blow to her head. Was the school district negligent because its teachers failed to properly supervise the class? Or did the deceased student's negligence contribute to her death?

These questions were the focus of trials across Nebraska as high school students competed in the 1989 Nebraska High School Mock Trial Project, administered by the Nebraska State Bar Association.

Several students from Wayne High School participated in a preliminary round of the mock trial competition in Pierce Oct. 19. These students were paired against six students from Norfolk Catholic High School.

THE WAYNE team was successful in defeating Norfolk Catholic, but they did not advance to the regional competition because they were not one of the top two scoring teams for the day.

The statewide mock trial competition allows students to act as attorneys and witnesses conduct a trial using judges and attorneys as "trial judges."

Members of the Wayne Public School team included Stacy Woehler, Jeremy Fletcher and Eric Rasmussen, who acted as attorneys; Heather Thompson, Missy Eckhoff and Chad Metzler, who acted as witnesses; and Scott Fuelberth, and Deanna Nichols who served as alternates on the team. The teacher-coach was John Murtaugh and attorney coach was John Murtaugh.

The Nebraska High School Mock Trial Project is funded by the Nebraska State Bar Foundation, a not-for-profit corporation established in 1963 to facilitate understanding of the law.

After district and regional competition, eight teams will advance to the state finals in Omaha in December. The state champion is eligible to compete in the national championships in Portland, Oregon in May of 1990.

Probably one of the most cluttered desks at The Wayne Herald belongs to Chuck Hackenmiller, the newspaper's managing editor.

He sorts and sifts through mail, notes, photo cutlines and other editorial material in deciding what should be presented to Wayne Herald readers. Among his basic duties are government coverage; feature writing; photography (from taking the picture and developing the black and white film, to printing the picture); laying out the Herald's front page; and writing "Country Leanings" a column which appears on a weekly basis in the Herald. Prior to arriving in Wayne as sports editor (later named managing editor), Chuck was reporter-photographer for newspapers in Stacyville, Iowa (his hometown), and Dyersville, Iowa. He began employment at the Herald in May, 1984. "I enjoy getting a story out that often would be overlooked by larger publications. Sometimes those people we think of as "ordinary" have the most interesting or significant stories to tell, and that is what we try to bring out in our newspaper," Chuck said. Chuck's wife, Mary Ann, was born and raised in West Point, Nebraska. She is active in the medical records profession. They have two children: Ryan, age 6, who attends St. Mary's School in Wayne; and Lauren, age four months, who has a full-time job of keeping father and mother busy tending to her needs.

CATASTROPHIC HEALTH INSURANCE: DOWN BUT NOT OUT? The battle over adequate protection of seniors facing long and costly medical care is not yet over according to sources inside Washington. I'm told that it's not important what finally happens to the Catastrophic Health Insurance program that was repealed by the House of Representatives several weeks ago. Even if the Senate manages to save some parts of it, for all intents and purposes, this program has been pretty well zapped into the legislative scrap heap.

However, don't be surprised at the emergence of a totally new program some time in mid 1991, and this one will have some pretty powerful supporters from the private sector.

THE "EYES" HAVE IT: A new study by the American Optometric Association found that 82 percent of Americans don't know that Medicare covers many more eye health services of both optometrists and ophthalmologists. For example, under current Medicare law, covered services include the eye health part of your examination when you have a symptom or complaint requiring a visit for the examination and the necessary treatment. Medicare also covers glasses or contact lenses following cataract surgery.

However, at this time, Medicare does not cover prescription glasses or contact lenses unrelated to cataract surgery, nor for the part of the eye exam to determine the lens prescription.

MEDI-GAP INSURANCE: With the status of catastrophic health care still unresolved, it's more important than ever to understand what type of insurance you may need beyond Medicare — if, indeed, you do need additional protection. In September I noted that I would appreciate hearing from those who can provide more information on private insurance policies, and I want to thank Robert R. Jones of Robert R. Jones & Associates for taking the time to respond to this bid and for citing an excellent analysis of this subject titled "Beyond Medicare," which appeared in the June 1989 issue of "Consumer Reports," a Consumers Union publication. The article discusses the type of insurance you may need — which policies are best — and how to resist the hard sell. Ask your librarian for a copy of the publication.

Everybody out!

EMERGENCIES DO HAPPEN and it's always best to be prepared. That's what Wayne Public School believes in, and that's one reason the bus drivers conduct evacuation drills during the school year. Bus driver Tony Daum's passengers performed the evacuation drill last week in the Griess Rexall parking lot — some students escorting and counting the passengers out of the back and side of the bus; others bringing out the emergency kits with them. Daum gave his bus riders a passing grade.

By Pat Meierhenry

Hank Langenberg told me a month ago that it was time for me to take another trip, and I assured him I was already planning one. Actually, my mom and my sis were planning it for me. All I had to do was request vacation time at work.

The plan called for us to meet Linda, my sister-in-law, at my brother's condo on Sugar Mountain in northwest North Carolina.

On Thursday, I hurried home from work and packed a suitcase. I sleepily drove to Omaha and crashed on Mary's sofa. (Yes, I left food at home for Mike. Plus, his daughters are taking turns taking care of him.)

On Friday, Grandma drove in bright and early. We stowed our luggage in her Chevy and headed for Kansas City. When we stopped at a roadside picnic table to eat her homemade bread and sausage, the fans heading for Missouri were already on the road.

Mary ended up driving through St. Louis at rush hour, but the traffic was all going out of town. We were in Mt. Vernon, Ill., by 7 p.m.

IT'S THE TIME of year for the leaves to turn, and trees are gorgeous. We oohed and aahed along the Interstate in Hoosier State Park and then in Kentucky. One surprise we had in the Bluegrass State was the absence of white fences.

They are all grey or black now, and so are many of the barns. More practical, but not nearly as picturesque.

Before we knew it, we were in Knoxville, Tenn. We were having such good time, we decided not to stop there, but get on to Gatlinburg. Linda had told us there were lots of shops there, and we had seen signs advertising factory outlets at Pigeon Forge.

Both towns were little dots on the map. We wondered if there were any motels there, and if the stores were open on Saturday. How innocent we were.

We turned south on the highway to the Great Smokey Mt. Park. It was a four-lane! And there were a lot of cars on it, many headed in the same direction we were. How curious.

Then we came to Pigeon Forge; and hundreds of people, driving, walking, shopping. There were lots of motels, all with No Vacancy signs. It seems there were country music shows going on. Not only that, this was apparently the home of Dollywood, something none of us had realized.

IT WAS 6 p.m. Maybe we had better look for a place to stay. Here was one: it looked plain, but clean. We pulled in, and Mary went into the lobby. She came back in a hurry: $135 a night, a two-night minimum!

We didn't know what was going on, but we were definitely in a tourist trap. We swung into a Hardee's and pondered what to do. We agreed not to go back, but go on and even go to Asheville, N.C., if necessary.

A few miles down the road, we were in Gatlinburg. Hundreds of motel rooms, none with vacancies. Thousands of people, walking the sidewalks, driving the streets, one main street. It took us approximately an hour to get through it.

Now it was getting dark. The sign said we were entering the park. The cars were coming from the other direction, single file; we were the only ones going the other way.

The sign said 33 miles to Cherokee, the speed limit was 35.

The road curved and curved, upward and up, trees on either side. Sometimes we could see the moon; other times we could tell we were missing some great views. Around and around we went. Sometimes there was a car behind us, so I pulled out and let them pass. We marvelled at how fast they traveled.

FINALLY, after another hour, we saw civilization again: another tourist town, this one featuring Indian crafts. Still no motel vacancies.

We found the highway to Asheville. By now it was 9 p.m. We stopped at a filling station. The proprietor informed us we weren't likely to find a room in Asheville. We called Jim and told them to leave the door open.

Mary asked a woman if it was always like this. "I don't get nowhere," she replied, "but I guess they're here to watch the leaves turn."

We finally arrived in Asheville and turned in at a Ramada Inn. Mary went in again. No room at the inn! "What about Greenville?" "Oh, that Ramada Inn had called hours ago and said they were full."

"What in the world is going on?" The fellow at the desk looked patronizingly at her and replied, "The leaves are beginning to turn."

It seems that the Eastern half of the United States comes to the Blue Ridge Mountains in mid-October to watch the leaves turn!

All this time, we had not heard what happened in Columbia, Mo. that day. So we pulled in to a rest stop on the way to Columbia, S.C. at midnight and called home.

We did eventually make it back to the Blue Ridge, and are engaged in some leaf watching of our own, plus shopping, and eating, and swimming. More next week.

In 1930's

Story told on life of the hired girl

The hard times of the 1930s sent many women, especially young, unmarried women, out to look for work. Jobs were scarce for men, much less women. The large majority of women who worked for wages were employed as domestics, or "hired girls."

Long hours and low wages were always the bane of the hired girl's existence. And even though some "labor-saving" devices were available in the 30s, few of us would change our work scheduled for this one, taken from Nebraska State Historical Society files.

"Monday. Washing should be started no later than 6:00. 1. Start washing, putting to soak any pieces extra soiled and rubbing all shirt collars with soap. Let each machine run between 12 and 20 minutes. 2. While clothes are running the first floor rooms may be sketchily gone over. Run the sweeper, dust off large furniture and pick up. 3. When washing done - do same to upstairs. 4. Always clean and straighten up the basement and steps after washing. 5. Have washing sprinkled and ready to iron before lunch if possible as this will make it nice to do your mangling in the p.m. By 3:00 the clothes are ready to mangle. Should be ironed and put away. 6. Always empty garbage pail before leaving kitchen after doing dishes.

"Tuesday. 1. Before starting to iron go over downstairs as on Monday. This will mean getting up at 6:00. In the school year the children's breakfast must be ready at 7:45. 2. Do ironing and darning and mending on Tuesday. 3. After every meal, always wipe dirty spots off icebox, stove and cupboard.

"Wednesday. Work should be started no later than 7:00. 1. Go over downstairs rather thoroughly, however, just using the oil mop on floors. 2. Defrost the refrigerator and clean. 3. Do all the upper cupboards ... change papers, wipe out shelves, straighten. 4. Do upstairs, using sweeper, etc. 5. Always wipe up kitchen floor on Wednesday and clean both back and front porches.

"Thursday. Work should be started no later than 7:00. 1. Go over house. 2. Clean stove thoroughly. 3. Bake if necessary, cookies or whatever we decide upon. 4. Wipe all kitchen woodwork with damp cloth. Every three weeks wash it with soap and water. 5. Every three weeks do the buffet, clean and straighten out all shelves and drawers.

"Friday. Work should be started no later than 6:30. 1. Go over downstairs. 2. Clean upstairs thoroughly. This includes - alternate weeks clean closets so each is cleaned every three weeks; put cloth on broom and wipe all walls and ceilings; wash out all windows with soap and water and wipe off woodwork with damp cloth; change dresser scarves so as not to have all in the wash at once; clean floors around rugs with damp oiled cloth, on hands and knees; change beds, one sheet (upper placed on bottom and clean one on top) and clean pillow cases; scrub and wax the bathroom.

"Saturday. 1. Wipe down walls and ceilings in all rooms downstairs. 2. Every two weeks do windows. 3. Wipe all woodwork. 4. Do floors on hands and knees with damp oiled cloth. 5. Polish furniture. 6. Clean all upholstery with hand sweeper. 7. Scrub and wax kitchen. 8. Vacuum, of course. 10. Pick up and straighten as needed.

"Sunday. No hurry about starting except breakfast should be ready 8:45. 1. Go over house as needed, perhaps sweeper. 2. Dinner. 3. Put clothes to soak for Monday wash."

For this seven-day work week some hired girls were paid about what they could earn in an hour at minimum wage today!

The Allen FFA chapter held a meeting on Oct. 19 at 7 p.m. We had a guest speaker Deputy Sheriff Don Taylor from Dixon County. He talked about what he did at his training at Grand Island in order to be in law enforcement. He told how the youth is our future and we should not get involved with drugs that will harm us. He showed some tactics to take care of criminals and how to protect himself. We decided to give the first two places on the fruit and cheese sales that are now in process a trophy and a percentage of the third place person earned and present them with a check. News reporter, Renee Plueger.

DONATES BOOK TO LIBRARY

Aid Association for Lutherans Branch 1542 of St. John's Lutheran Church recently gave the Graves Public Library a book entitled "Drugs, God and Me". The book is written for young people and adults. The library now has available "When Saying No Isn't Enough...How to Keep the Children You Love Off Drugs" by Ken Barun.

With Fall comes Halloween and the library has stories and poems about the holiday edited by Caroline Feller Bauer. Also for the young reader now available are "Thump, Thump, Rat-a-Tat-Tat" by Gene Baer and "Jimmy's Boa" and "The Big Splash Birthday Bash" by Trinke Hakes Noble.

For those who like a mystery there is "Without a Trace" featuring the Hardy Boys and "The Suspect Next Door" with Nancy Drew.

VAN FUND GROWS

Donations continue to come in for the Wakefield Health Care Center Van Fund. The center purchased a 1989 Chevy van earlier this month and now needs funds to install needed equipment. Since last report, the fund has grown by nearly $500 and currently stands at $18,652.49.

Recently a fire extinguisher and running boards were installed in the van and appointments have been set for this week to have fittings for a lift, hold-downs for keeping wheel chairs in place and rear air and heat installed in the van.

Donations are still being accepted and if enough are received the board plans to erect a garage for the van.

BEGIN FUND RAISING

Several students at Wakefield High School are planning to take a Close-Up Tour to Washington, D.C., next Spring. Cost of the tour is $914 per student. Currently the Close-Up students are selling pizza and also conducting a gas raffle to raise funds.

The pizzas are from Godfather's and sell for $7.25 and are available with hamburger, Canadian bacon, pepperoni or sausage toppings. The students will be taking orders until November 6 and then will be going to Godfather's November 11 to help make the pizzas. The pizzas will also be delivered on that date.

Students currently planning to take the Close-Up tour are Chris Loofe, Mike Mogus, Jennifer Neal, Laurie Plendl, Matt Bartling, Kyle Torczon, John Schopke, Wendy Kratke and Ella Cooper. The group will be sponsored by Social Studies instructor Greg Cruickshank. The group is scheduled to go to Washington for the week long tour on March 25.

4-H CLUBS RECOGNIZED

Again this year the Wakefield Community Club recognized area 4-Hers by dividing $300 between clubs. The money was pro-rated to each group by the number of members. The presentation was made by Community Club Treasurer Mike Salmon during the groups regular monthly coffee Thursday, Oct. 12.

Representing the area clubs and the amount they received were: Wendy Lubberstedt for Coon Creek Clovers, $29.58; Scott Mattes, Pop Partners, $105.63; Brad Nuernberger, Country Style, $122.54 and Matt Krusemark, Leslie Livewires, $42.25. Matt is a former member for the Leslie Livewires and accepted their check since no member of their group was able to attend.

SOUP SUPPER

The Wakefield Lions Club is planning a soup supper to benefit the Quest Program. The supper will be held on Sunday evening, Nov. 19 at the school. The menu will include a choice of potato or chili soup, relishes and dessert. Those purchasing advance tickets will save 50 cents over the price at the door that evening. Advance tickets will go on sale in the near future from Lions Club members.

AUNTS VISIT

Delia Roeser and Christina Roeser of Storm Lake, Iowa visited in the Derwood Wriedt home Tuesday-Friday, Oct. 17-20. They are aunts of Mrs. Wriedt.

The Library Card

This column will be written two times monthly to inform the Wayne area as to what types of reading material and other items are available at the Wayne Public Library.

Wander with me for a few minutes through the local telephone directory. Besides the obvious names, addresses and phone numbers for Wayne and the surrounding communities, you can find street maps, zip codes, 911 emergency services and lists of service questions and answers.

You can also find community services' addresses and phone numbers for such agencies as Disabled Services; Energy Assistance/Conservation; Schools; Human Rights; Welfare Offices; Veterans Services; or Disaster Assistance. There is a list of long distance area codes for each state and Omaha calling area prefixes.

Of course, the Yellow Pages contain a wealth of services and businesses throughout the area. But you can also find information about Northeast Community College in Norfolk and Wayne State College; high school athletic schedules; and a Nebraska County numbers index. We didn't mention information on billing, types of services offered by the telephone company or directory assistance or repair service information.

The library has telephone books from communities across the state and a few directories with Iowa, South Dakota and Wyoming towns. We keep these directories up-to-date for your convenience. We also have a nationwide Yellow Pages directory and an AT&T Toll-Free 800 directory. Just ask for them at the desk.

Kiwanis officers from area division meeting in Wayne

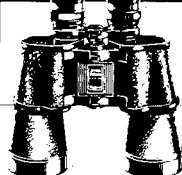

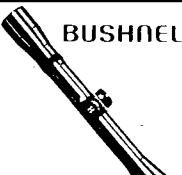

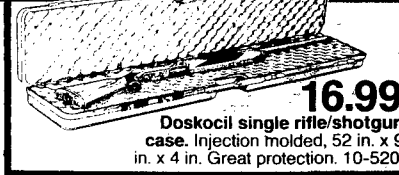

Division 14 of the Nebraska District Kiwanis, including Nebraska clubs from Albion, Columbus, Norfolk, South Sioux City and Wayne and Iowa clubs from Sergeant Bluffs and Sioux City will meet at Wayne State College on Saturday, Oct. 28.

Dr. Jack L. Middendorf of WSC, the 1989-90 Lt. Governor of Division 14, will preside at the second Divisional Council.

Presidents and secretary/treasurers of the 10 area clubs will focus on the Kiwanis International 75th anniversary in 1990; club expansion and membership growth; and the Kiwanis major emphasis program "Encourage Excellence" developing the potential of youth in our communities through leadership training programs.

The Wayne Kiwanis Club will honor the District Governor Larry Ziska of Omaha at 3 p.m. Saturday with a reception as he makes his annual division visit. Governor Ziska will meet with all Kiwanis members and interested guests at the U.S. Conn Library on Wayne State's campus at 3 p.m. on Saturday.

Halloween Humberg

As sure as little children rap on doors
Yelling: Trick or treat!
There's always a parent tagging along
Suffering from aching feet.

As sure as candy is given away
And the kids are reminded to share
All is for naught when they return
With their treat bags already bare

As sure as you make their costumes
Of 'spooks' they want to be
They'll always want something better
At a higher cost or rental fee

As sure as you carve your pumpkins
To greet the ghostly guests
The decorations are found on city streets
Failing the durability tests

As sure as strange noises, funny faces
Fill the howling night
Brave little ones will falter
And won't sleep without a light

As sure as the final day in October
Can cause a hectic household scene
Be grateful it falls just once a year —
That day called Halloween.

Firemen keep busy

WAYNE FIREMEN RESPONDED TO three calls earlier this week, including this fire Monday afternoon in a grove of trees on the Merle Ring farm located four miles east and one-half south of Wayne. Fire Chief Dale Preston said a pile of tires caught fire in the grove. Preston added that the blaze is believed to have started from hot coals in an incinerator barrel. Earlier that afternoon firemen were called to the Melvin Korn farm southeast of Wayne where approximately 60 CRP acres were destroyed in a blaze believed to have started from an electrical fence. Firemen also were called Tuesday afternoon to a fence line northeast of Wayne. Preston said a statewide burning ban is in effect and urges area residents to exercise caution. "Right now I would advise against burning anything," said Preston.

Windbreaks increasing farming profits

Windbreaks discovered by 18th Century Scottish farmers could mean higher profits and reduced erosion for 21st Century Nebraska producers, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln researcher said.

"Over the 50-year life of the windbreak, a producer could realize an estimated total of $22,000 in extra net revenue for each 160 acres protected," said forestry scientist Jim Brandle.

Windbreaks are solid barriers, fences, rows of trees or other plants which protect against the wind's gusts and squalls. Placed around fields, windbreaks protect the crop and result in higher yields, Brandle said.

Results of a 15-year study by Brandle and other Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources researchers show a 15 percent increase in winter wheat yields with windbreak protection compared with unprotected winter wheat.

Windbreaks reduce water evaporation from soil. Plants lose less moisture to drying winds, allowing them to use water more efficiently, Brandle said. Trees were used for windbreaks in Brandle's research.

IT TAKES about six or seven years after planting for trees to influence wind change or produce benefits to the producer, Brandle said. After 15 years, the investment in planting trees is repaid, he said.

From that point until the end of the windbreak's life, increasing benefits accrue, Brandle said. A windbreak is expected to last about 50 years.

Erosion control is an important benefit of windbreaks. Windbreaks reduce wind speed, which significantly reduces soil erosion, Brandle said. The soil's productive capacity is protected, meaning that fertilizer and organic matter are not lost, he said.

Brandle said tree windbreaks also distribute snow, and therefore moisture, more evenly over a field. And the trees provide habitat for many kinds of wildlife, he said.

"The benefits of windbreaks are endless," Brandle said.

The type of windbreak a producer uses depends on the environment, Brandle said. For areas with adequate moisture, Brandle recommends trees. In drier areas, perennial grasses or other crops are recommended.

Research by Gary Lesoing, administrative assistant at the University of Nebraska Agricultural Research and Development Center at Mead, measured the effects of corn as an annual windbreak for soybeans.

LESOING SAID corn windbreaks may be useful on western Nebraska farmland conducive for growing soybeans. Soybean yields were measured with and without windbreak protection for three years.

Under drought conditions, soybean yields were 6 percent to 19 percent better using a windbreak than with no windbreak, Lesoing said. However, in good conditions with adequate moisture, no significant differences were measured between soybeans with and without windbreak protection, Lesoing said.

Unlike trees, corn planted as a windbreak is dispersed within the crop, Lesoing said. For example, a typical corn windbreak would be two rows of corn for every 14 rows of soybeans.

The benefits of corn as a windbreak are identical to those of trees or other types of windbreaks, Lesoing said.

Brandle's and Lesoing's research was presented during the annual meeting of the American Society of Agronomy, the Crop Science Society of America and the Soil Science Society of America in Las Vegas Oct. 15-20.

WCS singers place

WAYNE-Shannon Ahlman, Wausa, and Jeananne Rockwell, Sioux City, Iowa, each placed second in the senior men's division and sophomore women's division respectively at the annual state singing competition sponsored by the National Association of Teachers of Singing (NATS).

Ahlman, who is majoring in music/vocal/instrumental education at Wayne State, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Ahlman. He is a 1986 graduate of Wausa High School.

Rockwell, an English and French major at Wayne State with a minor in music, is a 1987 graduate of Sioux City West High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rockwell.

Other Wayne State singers advancing to the finals were senior Julia Frost and junior Rhonda Fuelberth.

This year's competition was hosted by Nebraska Wesleyan University with over 100 singers competing from Concordia College, the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, the University of Nebraska at Omaha, Kearney State College, Nebraska Wesleyan, and Wayne State College.

Pi Gamma Mu honored

WAYNE-For the 10th consecutive year, Pi Gamma Mu, international social sciences honorary, has selected Wayne State College's Delta chapter to appear on its National Roll of Distinction.

The award is based on the chapter's activities during the previous school year. The chapter is judged on such criteria as chapter organization and participation, local initiative in developing new activities and programs, effectiveness of the chapter on its campus in promoting scholarships, initiation of members, and financial responsibility.

Being selected to the National Roll of Distinction is the highest honor a local chapter can receive.

This honor was received for the 1988-89 school year in which Tom Carsey, Fremont, and Kim Hargens, Fairborn, Ohio, were president and vice-president respectively. Dr. Jean Karlen, professor of sociology, and Dr. Ali Eminov, professor of anthropology, were the advisors.

Blood Bank granted accreditation

SIouxLAND-The Siouxland Blood Bank has been granted renewal of accreditation by the American Association of Blood Banks (AABB), according to Ken Lawson, Executive Director.

Accreditation follows an intensive on-site inspection by specially trained representatives of the Association and establishes that the level of medical, technical and administrative performance within the facility meets or exceeds the rigorous standards set by the AABB.

Ken Lawson explained: "The AABB's inspection and accreditation procedures are voluntary. It is not legally necessary for a blood bank or transfusion service to be accredited, but like many others, our facility has sought accreditation because it represents a level of professional and medical expertise that meets and exceeds government regulations. The primary goal of the program is to assist facilities like our to achieve excellence, and thus provide higher blood, blood components and other services to patients."

Tax system

For several weeks my administration has been working with members of the Revenue committee and representatives of local government to address the recent Nebraska Supreme Court decision that has caused concern and confusion with our personal property tax system.

Since the ruling, my primary concern has been to provide protection for Nebraska's excellent schools and the essential services Nebraska families expect from their communities. That is the immediate problem that must be addressed.

Recently a group of Nebraskans with expertise in tax laws devised a plan to protect local government funding. The plan calls for the passage of two bills by the legislature. One would clearly redefine much of the personal property of pipelines, utilities and other businesses as real property. That would substantially reduce the immediate and future loss of funding to our schools, cities and counties.

In addition, a second bill would prevent these companies from receiving retroactive tax refunds. Such reimbursements could cripple the budgets of local governments.

It is important these laws be effective in 1989; to provide immediate protection for school programs, city and county services. Therefore, the Nebraska Legislature will be called into special session to pass this important legislation. The session should begin around mid-November.

I am firmly convinced that the immediate goal must be to provide protection NOW to local governments. It is the first priority tax situation facing Nebraska.

Nebraska families must have assurance our children will be educated, our homes will be protected by police and fire services, our city streets and county roads will be safe for traveling. Any substantial revision of Nebraska's property tax system should be considered carefully, in a deliberate manner.

Your support of this effort to protect our school system and local government programs is important.

Sincerely,
Kay A. Orr
Governor

Solving the issue

We would like to express our appreciation to our council representatives, Darrell Fuelberth and Carolyn Filter, as well as those of Vern Schulz for their efforts in helping to solve the slide situation in the Sunnyview Park.

We feel that adding a second smaller slide will now give parents the choice as to which slide their children should be allowed to use. This compromise was agreed on by all those involved in the discussions.

Again, thanks to those listed above, as well as the rest of the council members and the city works department who installed all the equipment in the park. We really do appreciate the new park in our area and you have done a good job in designing it. We know it is getting a lot of use!

John and Lori Carollo
