As Winside foreign exchange student

Antby adjusts to lifestyle

By Dianne Jaeger
Winside correspondent

Students of Winside High School, along with other residents of the community, are exchanging friendships and cultures with Gustaf Antby, a foreign exchange student from Alingsas, Sweden.

Gus arrived in Winside Aug. 16 and is making his home during the school year with the Dave and Joanne Kramer family.

Gus isn't the first exchange student in his family. His father came to the United States as an exchange student in Texas several years ago and his sister was an exchange student last year in Wisconsin.

GUS ADMITS there was quite a cultural shock when he arrived in Winside — coming from a community of 20,000 (with a school of 2,000 students), to a community with a population of around 400.

"It's a little boring here sometimes, but I like it," smiles Gus. "I wanted to go to an area where I could do some snow skiing." The Kramers are looking into the possibility of Gus joining one of several groups that ski annually in Colorado.

Gus also had a difficult time adjusting to the hot, humid weather of Nebraska when he arrived here last August.

GUS, 17, ISN'T a typical blue-eyed blond Swede. He was born in India and adopted by his Swedish parents at age two. In addition to Gus and his parents, the family includes two sisters, ages 12 and 18, and two West Highland white terrier dogs.

Gus' father, Kjell, is a "corporate head hunter," someone who seeks out executives for corporate clients. His mother, Britta, is a hospital nurse specializing in eye care.

PRIOR TO coming to Winside, Gus was a student in gymnasium school where he majored in architecture. However, he hopes to become an airline pilot, possibly receiving his education in the United States.

Swedish students must attend compulsory school for nine years. After that they can quit school or select to attend a gymnasium school for two-to-four years. In gymnasium school they choose courses related to the specific career they have in mind.

Following gymnasium school, the students may attend a university for two to three years to further their education. Swedish students are required to take English every year from fourth grade on.

In addition, all Swedish boys are required to serve one year of military duty between the ages of 18 and 25. They do have a choice, however, whether they want to use weapons or not. Gus plans to serve at an airport, possibly as a fire fighter.

"KIDS IN SWEDEN do basically the same things they do here," says Gus. "They go to the movies, dance and just hang out with friends — but most don't have cars. You have to be 18 before you can get a license and can only get your learners permit three months prior to that."

"Most kids use bikes, public busses or trains, or ride around with older kids. Vehicles also are very expensive in Sweden."

Gus added that most items are more expensive in Sweden. For example, a pair of Levis in the United States might cost $25, compared to $80 in Sweden.

He added that most foods in the United States are similar to those in Sweden, however the U.S. steaks are much thicker. One food which Gus tasted for the first time

KINSHIP program interest growing

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

Wayne Area KINSHIP — a program that matches adult volunteers with boys and girls age five and older who need a special relationship with an adult — is continuing to gain support in the Wayne area.

The KINSHIP Program's sponsor is Wayne's Ecumenical Campus Ministry and the National KINSHIP Organization. Last May an organizational meeting took place to get the KINSHIP Program off the ground.

Rev. Bev Nitschke said the program is now in place, but volunteers from the community are still needed. "We need community people who are interested in getting the program initiated," she said.

A Wayne Area KINSHIP board has been established, with Dave Purcell elected as president; Millie Veto, vice president and Mary Temme, secretary-treasurer. Other board members are Sarah Campbell; Rev. Nitschke; Terri Higbee; St. Paul's Lutheran Church Pastor Leroy Iseminger; and Leone Jager, representing St. Paul's Lutheran Church Social Ministry Committee.

PURCELL SAID he became interested in the KINSHIP concept after attending the organization meeting last May. "I went to that first meeting as a bystander to see what it was all about and then I realized the program needed community involvement," he said.

Nitschke said the real need "is to make the public aware that the KINSHIP Program is in place."

"People who have children who qualify for this program should contact us," she said.

"Volunteers are not an immediate concern right now. What we need to have is more parents with children involved," she added. "The program helps someone who has a child [single parent, guardian or other parent type] that needs more time with an adult friend, whatever the reason may be."

"Those needs could be identified as support and commitment that the parent(s) or guardian cannot provide," Nitschke said.

Wayne Area KINSHIP already has 25 adults who have volunteered to spend at least one hour a week, throughout the course of a year, with a participating child. The volunteer adults must be at least 17 years of age or older.

EACH WEEK the volunteer shares at least an hour with the child, arranging activities that both like to do. It could be fishing or to

Executive Director for KINSHIP program sought

The Wayne Area KINSHIP Program is searching for someone to fill the position of executive director.

"The executive director is a crucial person in this program who will be initially be involved in helping to make the match between the volunteer adult and the child," said Dave Purcell, president of the Wayne Area KINSHIP board of directors.

Qualifications for the volunteer position are that the individual be 21 years of age or older and have high moral integrity.

The executive director would use creativity and ingenuity in managing the program, but he or she must have board of director approval on all projects, activities and policies.

Position description is as follows: will be trained by a KINSHIP representative; will attend board meetings (report to the board on a monthly basis); will seek, train and supervise qualified individuals to become coordinators (at least one coordinator and another for each 10 matches in the program); will commit no less than three hours weekly to the program; will hold no less than two volunteer meetings per year (more if possible); and will be expected to attend the annual state conference.

The position shall be renewable each year, according to Purcell.

The director would also be involved in the screening of the adult volunteer and the participating child.

4-H'ers, leaders to be honored

Wayne County 4-Hers and leaders will be receiving special recognition at the Wayne County 4-H Achievement Program to take place Sunday, Nov. 5, 2 p.m. in the Wayne City Auditorium.

Several 4-Hers will be awarded county medals for project achievement. Special awards and trophies will be presented in the home economics and livestock areas.

Those 4-H members with one, five, 10 or 11 years of 4-H membership will be acknowledged as well as leaders with two, five, 10, 15 and 20 years leadership service.

The audience will be entertained by two 4-H clowns — Chad Evans and Ryan Brogren, both of Winside. They will present their demonstration performed at the state fair this summer. They will also show some of the basics of clown make-up, appropriate attire and how to perform a skit.

All 4-H families and prospective 4-H members are invited to attend. A light supper will follow the program, sponsored by these Wayne County banks: State National Bank and Trust, Wayne First National Bank, Wayne Winside State Bank, Farmers State Bank, Carroll and Commercial State Bank, Hoskins.

Appliances — a taken for granted reality
Picture life before Edison invented the electric light bulb. What was life like before we had all the appliances and conveniences of everyday life?
Consider the burden of housekeeping without electricity. Washing clothes by hand and pressing with an iron heated on a wood or coal stove. Shopping every day since food spoiled quickly without refrigeration. Preparing every meal from scratch without the aid of a coffee maker, toaster, mixer, blender or microwave.
Beating and brushing carpets — no vacuum cleaners were around. Pumping the treadle foot pedal on the sewing machine for every shirt, dress, pair of trousers and piece of underwear you family wore.

OVER THE YEARS, the average number of appliances found in the home has increased dramatically. All of these appliances use energy. It is estimated that there are more than 1.25 billion appliances in some 74 million homes in the United States. This averages out to about five major appliances and 13 or 14 small appliances in every home.
Small appliances can be big energy users. For example, a dehumidifier is estimated to use about 377 KWH per year, less than the 440 estimated for a color television. The coffee maker uses about 106 KWH/year, the window fan 170 KWH/year, and electric shaver 2 KWH/year. Energy used by small appliances adds up.
Major appliances take an even larger bite of energy. A 12-cubic foot frostless refrigerator will consume 1217 KWH/year, a range with self-cleaning oven 1171 KWH/year. The average water heater uses 481.1 KWH/year, while a 15-cubic foot upright frostless freezer will consume 1761 KWH/year.

GET CONTROL OF your home energy use with wise management practices. If you are purchasing major appliances check the energy efficiency. Appliances with higher efficiency may cost more initially but will save you money in the long run. Use your appliances wisely. Use small appliances for small jobs; a toaster rather than a broiler is more efficient.
Consider using solar power — dry your clothes outside on a line occasionally. Turn down the temperature on your water heater and insulate it for more efficient use.
Don't oven-peep! Every time you do the oven temperature drops 25 to 50 degrees. When baking preheating is unnecessary for food requiring more than an hour of cooking. Exhaust fans are designed to exchange the air in a room quickly. Turn the fan off as soon as possible.

FOR MORE information on using energy efficiently, contact the extension office at 375-3310 or your local power supplier.
Be energy aware during this National Energy Month and year-round.

Have a safe Halloween

Ghosts and goblins will be haunting neighborhoods in their quest for tricks or treats on Tuesday, Oct. 31. With so many children out and about on Halloween, drivers must be extra careful, said Joan Meier, Safety Coordinator for AAA Nebraska.

Motorists should use the following safe driving tips: turn headlights on at dusk; limit driving speeds to 15 mph in residential areas and be on the lookout for children darting out from between parked vehicles; and be extra observant when pulling into and backing out of driveways.

Parents should review safety rules with their children before they venture out on Halloween. AAA Nebraska offers these suggestions:

- Accompany younger children on their trick or treat rounds. If children are older arrange for them to go out in groups.
- Restrict Halloween travel to the local neighborhood and only stop at residences where outside lights are on, indicating trick or treaters are welcome.
- If trick or treating when it is dark, wear reflective costumes or use reflective tape for extra visibility. Carry a flashlight so you can see and be seen.
- Remove face masks when crossing streets because masks can block vision. Non-toxic face makeup is safer because it does not restrict vision.
- Cross only at corners. Never cross the street between parked cars in the middle of the block.
- If there is no sidewalk, and trick or treaters must walk in the street, walk facing traffic.
- Don't eat treats until they have been examined by a parent or other trusted adult.

The state fire marshal, Wally Barnett, also advised Nebraskans to use only flame retardant material for their children's costumes.

Barnett also urged residents to use flashlights in Jack 'O Lanterns instead of candles. Be on the lookout for candlelit pumpkins on porches.

Waste conference draws crowd

The 175 people attending a four-state waste management conference in Omaha on Oct. 25 were told to make plans now for disposal of municipal waste — household garbage.

Proposed regulations from the federal Environmental Protection Agency may be enacted in December, with municipalities having only six months to comply.

"This is not the time to bury your head in the sand," said Patrick Walsch, a solid waste specialist from the University of Wisconsin-Extension.

About 150 of the conference participants were from Nebraska, many representing local governing bodies responsible for waste disposal. The impetus behind the proposed regulations is the 1976 Resource Conservation Recovery Act subtitle D on municipal waste. EPA first concentrated on the Subtitle C aspect which gave it the power to control hazardous waste. Congress now has asked the EPA to start regulating municipal waste, Walsch said.

THE CONFERENCE, which continued Oct. 26, was sponsored by a grant from the North Central Regional Center for Rural Development Cooperative Extension at University of Nebraska Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, Iowa State University-Ames, University of Missouri-Columbia and Kansas State University-Manhattan.

Nebraska has 250 unlicensed waste disposal sites, said Alan Rosenboom, environmental engineer with the Nebraska Department of Environmental Control. He added that the Nebraska Legislature exempted towns under 5,000 population from state waste licensing requirements in 1972.

Rosenboom said DEC will have a workload problem once the regulations take effect. "It will be a nightmare for the next two years," he said. Rosenboom said state rules and regulations similar to EPA's are needed, as well as more funding for enforcement staff.

The Nebraska Legislature did allocate funds for a statewide assessment of waste disposal, Rosenboom said. That allowed DEC to survey the state and publish a report in February 1988 on the state's disposal sites and methods.

UNDER PROPOSED EPA restrictions, only licensed landfills would be allowed to handle waste disposal. To be licensed, a landfill would have to:

- Cover waste daily with soil.
- Inspect for hazardous waste.
- Control run-on and run-off water.

— Monitor for groundwater quality.

— Be in air pollution compliance where regulated.

Under the proposed regulations, licensed landfills could not have open burning, nor allow liquid waste and keep water from mixing with the waste, which may pollute the groundwater.

Nebraska, which appeared to lag behind Iowa, Missouri and Kansas standards, also is recommending seeking alternatives to landfills as a waste disposal method and exploring regional disposal sites, Rosenboom said.

Other alternatives to landfills being discussed are reducing garbage at the source, incineration, recycling and reusing.

Wayne season ends

The Wayne Blue Devils attempt at a possible play-off berth fell three points short Friday night as Pierce defeated the Blue Devils by a 21-18 count in Wayne.

Pierce advanced to the play-offs with the win and the Blue Jays sport an 8-1 record despite playing many Class C schools. With the loss Wayne ended the season with a 5-4 record.

"I was disappointed we lost," Wayne coach Lonnie Ehrhardt said, "but I thought our kids played well. They played hard for all four quarters and they never gave up."

Pierce grabbed the lead in the second quarter on a three yard run. Wayne fought back and scored on a 27 yard field goal by Matt Bruggeman to pull the score to 7-3 at intermission.

Pierce gained a lot of momentum with its first drive of the second half as they drove the length of the field aided by a 50 yard pass for a touchdown to go up by a 14-3 count. Pierce later scored again on a pass play, this time a 42 yard strike to actually give the Blue Jays a comfortable lead at 21-3.

Wayne however, did not give up and Lonnie Ehrhardt reached into his bag of tricks and came up with a wingback pass as Brian Moore hit Jeff Lutt on a 38 yard pass play. Lutt did most of the work himself as he caught the pass in traffic and fought off would be tacklers as he galloped into the endzone.

Matt Bruggeman faked the extra point kick and he ran the ball into the endzone himself for the two point conversion to draw the score to 21-11 heading into the fourth quarter.

Late in the fourth quarter Cory Wieseler darted over from one yard out and with Bruggeman's point after the score read 21-18. Wayne however, failed to recover the on-side kick attempt and Pierce ran the clock out. "Pierce's game-plan was dictated by the run like ours was," Ehrhardt said. "They stopped our run-but we didn't really stop their running game." Pierce finished with 17 first downs while Wayne had 14. The Blue Devils rushed the ball 32 times for 111 yards while the visitors enjoyed somewhat more success with 230 yards on 51 carries.

In the passing department Wayne was 8-15 for 198 yards and one touchdown despite throwing two interceptions. Pierce was 3-9 for 107 yards and two touchdowns. The total yardage was close as Pierce edged Wayne by a 337-309 count.

Rusty Hamer was Wayne's leading rusher with 58 yards on 14 carries while Chris Fredrickson managed 23 yards on eight carries and Casey Dyer had 22 yards on two carries. Cory Wieseler managed 10 yards on three carries.

Craig Dyer and Cory Wieseler split the passing duties with Dyer completing 4-7 passes for 62 yards and Wieseler completing 3-7 passes for 98 yards. Brian Moore was 1-1 for 38 yards and a touchdown.

On the receiving end of the passes Wayne completed was Jeff Lutt who caught six passes for 137 yards and a touchdown. Willy Gross caught one pass for 59 yards and Casey Dyer caught one pass for two yards.

Defensively the Blue Devils were led by Willy Gross's 12 tackles and Jeff Lutt's 11. Matt Peterson had 10 tackles while Cory Wieseler and Kip Mau' had nine each. Matt Bruggeman recorded eight tackles and Neil Carnes and Rusty Hamer had seven each. Jason Ehrhardt and Craig Dyer had six and five tackles each.

CHRIS FREDRICKSON looks for positive yardage during action in Wayne's football game against Pierce on Friday night. The Blue Devils were defeated by a 21-18 count which ended their play-off hopes and thus they finished the season at 5-4.

Trojans defeat Stanton

Perhaps the turn-around story of the season of any area teams has to be the Wakefield Trojans. Wakefield started out the season with one win their first four games but since then it's all been smoother as the Trojans won their last four of five games and Friday night they closed out the season with a 31-8 drubbing of Stanton.

The Trojans took their opening series and drove 80 yards in seven plays and scored on an 18 yard run by Chris Loofoe who also kicked the extra point. The drive was aided by a 52 yard pass from Matt Tappe to Anthony Brown.

The Trojans scored again in the second quarter on a Chris Loofoe two yard run and again Loofoe converted the point after for a 14-0 half time lead. In the third quarter Stanton kicked off to Wakefield and on the first play from scrimmage Wakefield gained 12 yards and on the ensuing play Matt Tappe connected with Kyle Torczon for a 68 yard touchdown pass and the lead had grown to an insurmountable 21-0.

Chris Loofoe later kicked a 22 yard field goal and later in the third quarter Anthony Brown plunged over from one yard out and with Loofoe's extra point the damage was completed with a 31-0 lead heading into the fourth quarter. Stanton did manage to score in the fourth quarter which drew the lead to a 23 point margin.

"We played very well," Wakefield coach Dennis Wilbur said. "Stanton has a great rush defense which forced us to put the ball in the air and Matt Tappe was phenomenal hitting 7-13 passes for 191 yards."

Wakefield had eight first downs on the night while the host team Stanton had 10. The Trojans could only muster 85 yards on the ground while Stanton finished with 164. But Wakefield's passing game was the difference as they completed 8-16 for 185 yards. Stanton was 5-14 for 44 yards.

Chris Loofoe was the leading rusher with 53 yards on 11 carries and Anthony Brown finished with 38 yards on 11 carries. Andy McQuistan was on the receiving end of four passes for 52 yards while Brown caught three for 64 yards and Torczon caught one for 68 yards.

Mark Johnson proved to be the top defensive player in the contest as the senior finished with 11 tackles. It was Johnson's interception toward the end of the first half which thwarted a possible Stanton scoring opportunity. Anthony Brown also recorded an interception while Troy Krusemark and Cory Blatter each recovered two Stanton fumbles.

Laurel looks to play-offs

At press time it was unofficial, but it looks as though for the first time in Laurel school's history, the Bears are going to make the play-offs in football. Friday night in Creighton Tom Luxford's Bears downed Creighton by a 23-7 count which gave Laurel a 6-3 record with losses coming to Randolph, Bloomfield and Class B Pierce, all three play-off teams.

Creighton drew first blood in the contest as they scored on a six play, 61 yard drive which resulted in a touchdown and a 7-0 lead. The score stayed that way until the second quarter when Laurel put together a 12 play, 68 yard touchdown drive which culminated in a three yard run by Chad VanCleave. The point after attempt failed and Laurel still trailed in the contest, 7-6.

Laurel found the endzone once more before intermission as they completed a 50 yard drive with a 12-yard-pass from Todd Erwin to Matt Jonas. Again the point after attempt failed and Laurel maintained a 12-7 lead at half time.

Travis Stracke connected on a 36 yard field goal in the third quarter which put the Bear lead at 15-7 but on the third play of the fourth quarter junior Pat Arens went 56 yards and Chad VanCleave converted the two point attempt to give Laurel a comfortable 23-7 lead which is how the contest ended.

"This is only the third winning season in 14 years here," Luxford said. "We set team goals at the beginning of the year and it looks like two of three goals we set have already come true."

The first goal was to have a winning record and the Bears assured themselves of that feat in last week's win over Plainview. The second goal was to make the play-offs and it looks as though the Bears have done that although it was not official at press time.

The third goal was to win the state championship and that still remains to be seen. Laurel rolled up 232 yards rushing against Creighton and Todd Erwin passed for 78 yards for a total net yardage of 310 yards. Creighton managed 110 rushing yards and 93 passing yards for a net total of 203.

Chad VanCleave was the top rusher with 84 yards on 16 carries while Pat Arens had 66 yards on five carries. Troy Twohig finished with 57 yards rushing on 15 carries and quarterback Todd Erwin rushed for 20 yards on six carries.

Matt Jonas was on the receiving end of three Erwin passes for 32 yards and Matt Felber caught two passes for 46 yards. Defensively it was John Schutte leading the way with 12 tackles. Pat Arens and Daren Martinson had nine tackles each while Matt Kessinger finished with eight and Troy Twohig, five.

"I think the kids really deserved the win," Luxford said. "I'm really happy for them and I'm really happy to be a part of the program here at Laurel."

A HOST of Winside defenders attempt to bring down a Newcastle ball carrier in action Friday night in Winside.

Laurel loses in semi-finals

The Laurel volleyball team faced Neligh in the opening round of the NENAC conference volleyball tournament Monday night in Laurel and for the Bears it was the second time in less than a week that they faced Neligh.

Neligh defeated Laurel in the last regular season game but it was Laurel turning the tide in the conference tournament, escaping with a three set victory, 6-15, 15-5, 15-5.

The Bears started off very slowly as Neligh's front line play was superior in the first set. Laurel trailed 5-0 before they notched their first points. In the second set Laurel trailed 4-2 before Shana Carstensen and Jesse Monson served the Bears to an 8-4 lead.

Neligh scored once more to make it 8-5 before Sherri McCorkindale rattled off seven straight serves to notch the win. In the third set Amy Newton began serving and she rattled off seven straight to give Laurel a comfortable lead which was never jeopardized en-route to advancing to the semi-final round.

Laurel eventually built a 10-0 lead before allowing Neligh to score. "The second and third sets against Neligh were the best we've played since the Wakefield game," Laurel coach Carol Manganaro said. "The girls really showed enthusiasm and didn't get shook with the first set loss."

Amy Newton led the team with 11 points on the night while teammate Sherri McCorkindale was right behind with 10. Amy Adkins had nine successful spikes on the night with seven kills while Shana Carstensen had nine successful spikes and four kills. Jesse Monson also had eight successful spikes.

Amy Newton was the leading setter and she recorded 10 set assists.

On Tuesday night then the Bears played in Plainview against Pierce. Laurel did not challenge the Blue Jays and Pierce won in straight sets, 15-6, 15-10. "The girls were really tentative against Pierce," Manganaro said. "The spikers were hitting well but our passing game was real tentative, and it was almost like they were nervous playing Pierce."

Laurel built a 10-5 lead in the second set but it was Pierce who responded with 10 unanswered points. The Bears were 92 percent from the serving line but Manganaro was quick to point out that Laurel only had 30 serves on the match.

Amy Adkins was the leading spiker with 10 successful spikes and two kills while Shana Carstensen had seven good spikes and three kills. Sherri McCorkindale, Amy Newton and Shana Carstensen all had four points each to lead the team and all three were 100 percent from the serving line.

Winside routed in finale

Winside was totally dominated at home Friday night by Newcastle and with the 64-14 victory the Raiders notched, came a play-off berth as well. "The storyline of this game was simple," Winside coach Randy Geier said. "We were totally dominated on both sides of the line."

Newcastle built a 16-6 lead after one quarter of play and they never let up as they scored 22 second quarter points, added 20 third quarter points and ended the game with a touchdown with 3:21 left in regulation.

The visitors racked up 314 yards rushing and 20 first downs. They also passed for 57 yards for a total of 371 yards on the night. Winside had seven first downs, managed just 136 yards rushing and passed for only 21 yards for a total of 157 yards.

Max Kant was Winside's leading rusher with 75 yards on 13 carries. Kant closes out his football career as a high schooler with 1167 yards rushing his senior year and 25 touchdowns. "Max closes out a fine career in football and I can honestly say he's the best football player I've ever been associated with," Geier said.

Shane Frahm had 64 yards rushing on five carries. Cory Jensen was 1-2 in the passing department for 21 yards and that reception was to Max Kant. Kant also tried a halfback pass but it fell incomplete. Defensively; the Wildcats were led by Jeff Gallop's 13 tackles while Max Kant was in on 11. Shane Frahm managed to get seven tackles and Mark Brugger had six. Trevor Topp finished the game with five tackles.

Winside finishes the season at 4-5 and had the unique distinction of winning and losing every other game of the season. The Wildcats won games two, four, six and eight and lost games one, three, five, seven and nine.

"Newcastle has a good team," Geier said, "but it's hard to judge how good they are when we played them so poorly."

For Your Information

Question: 1. Is the City Council making a plan to recycle garbage? It won't be long before federal law will require it. Will Wayne be ready with a plan or will we try to formulate one in a very limited time? It doesn't make good business sense to spend good money to compact leaves and grass when they could be composted and the compost sold.

Answer:

A. 1. The City of Wayne has been an active member of the Nebraska State Recycling Association for many years. City staff has attended the Nebraska State Recycling Association's workshops as recent as October of this year. The City has kept current on the possibility of garbage recycling or resource recovery.

There are many phases to total recycling. The most important fact to keep in mind is that there has to be a market for the items that are recycled to make an operation cost effective.

At present there is not a complete Resource Recovery Operation in the state of Nebraska. Many communities, small businesses and civic groups collect certain items. At the present time the market for newsprint is very low and the waste oil that the City collects has had no market for the last two years.

Glass recycling and tin cans have a very low market in the Midwest as it is too far from any material processing plants. Aluminum cans, collected by Region IV in Wayne, holds the best market.

Almost all items collected from the Midwest at this time are hauled to Omaha or Lincoln where it is baled and crushed and then sent by railway to the nearest recycling plant, such as Alcoa Aluminum and Corning Glass.

In response to the second part of the question regarding grass and leaf composting, Omaha and Lincoln have been doing pilot composting for several years with mixed results. I have personally watched their progress on site. In order to make composting cost effective, grass, leaves and branches must be received in large volumes in order to hire the grinding equipment with processing and bagging capabilities. Very large cities operate a full-time facility and sell the processed material back to the residents.

Wayne has two private refuse haulers that pick up all material twice a week. If residents were asked to separate the grass and leaves for a separate pick up, there may be an extra charge for that service.

The City staff has been studying the possibility of creating a locked up site for the purpose of dumping leaves and grass only. The site would be open the same hours as the Transfer Station.

Wayne residents can be assured that as economic conditions for recycled materials improve, and state and federal laws are mandated, Wayne will be among the leaders in resource recovery. I would be happy to answer any questions in detail and welcome your call at 375-1300.

Water quality becomes priority of state water council

Water quality is one of the top issues facing Nebraska, according to the Nebraska Water Conference Council. The Council is composed of representatives of approximately 90 water-related groups and acts as a forum for discussion of vital statewide water issues by its members as well as Nebraska citizens. The Council also sponsors a summer water resources and irrigation tour and an annual spring water conference.

The Council agreed at its annual meeting in October that changes in agricultural practices to prevent groundwater contamination and other producer adjustments are a priority for University of Nebraska research.

The Council suggested that University water research include: understanding the groundwater system, multi-use of irrigation, wildlife, ag production, wetlands and public supplies, water marketing and instream flow management.

COUNCIL MEMBERS called for NU involvement in water-related issues by:

— Educating rural people through understanding water quality problems can be remedied.

— Conducting aggressive extension programs in Best Management Practices (BMPs) and Low Input Sustainable Agriculture (LISA) for which there are incentives in the proposed 1990 Farm Bill.

— Involving local citizens in their own area research problems, those affected by research should have input.

— Educating the general public on needs, causes of water contamination and remedies in an unbiased way.

Frank Dragoun, Holdrege, general manager of the Central Platte Natural Resources District (NRD), and vice chair of the Council, said, "It's important for the University to establish working research relationships with NRDs and irrigation districts." He said that water projects should be supported that address water needs of the public broadly and not just irrigation or wildlife.

"Each issue cannot be addressed independently," Karren Kerr, Omaha, president of the League of Women Voters of Nebraska, said. "All related agencies, including the University and other interest groups, must begin to look at the impact of water-related issues totally and take a broader view."

She said "we can't focus on narrow concerns such as methods and technology to deal with water contamination problems, water marketing and changes in agricultural practices due to water quality and quantity concerns."

Council concerns regarding Nebraska's water legislation include: The safe and economic uses of water— intrastate and interstate, interstate cooperation on water issues, funding for water management and management of instream flows.

J. David Aiken, NU water and agricultural law specialist, said, "Major Nebraska Unicameral 'holdover' bills to be considered during the 1990 session include those related to water quality."

Holdover bills include: — LB 161, which would authorize the Department of Agriculture to administer the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA) program in Nebraska. This includes administering certification of pesticide applicators and establishing state restrictions on pesticide use. "Nebraska is the only state in the U.S. that does not administer FIFRA. LB 161 would remedy this," Aiken said.

— LB 383, which would authorize the sale of water and the export of water. This bill would make several significant changes to Nebraska water law, including clarifying when groundwater may be used off-site, authorizing the sale of water rights and establishing environmental review criteria for water appropriations, transfers and sales.

— LB 364 would establish restrictive criteria for water exports.

AT THE October 1989 meeting, Durward B. "Woody" Varner said, "Nebraska's water resources represent one of the state's greatest opportunities for economic growth and development today just as these resources did in 1971."

Varner, then president of the University of Nebraska system, established the Nebraska Water Conference Council in October 1971.

The Council's 1990 spring conference will be March 13-14 at the Cornhusker Hotel Convention Center in Lincoln. "Water Quality Outlook for the 90s" will feature a perspective on detection and analysis of the state's water, ramifications and consequences, management and policy options.

The Council is headquartered in the UNL Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Arboretum board works to prepare trees for winter

The Northeast Arboretum Board volunteered their services to prepare young trees for the winter season.

On Friday, Oct. 20 trees at the Northeast Research and Extension Center were wrapped and watered. Four trees were added to the Arboretum site. Two blue spruce were donated by Charles Maier of Wayne and a concolor fir was donated by Lawrence Fuchs, Belden.

Participants of the work day included Maier; Fuchs; Roy Stohler of Concord; Marvin Bichel, Wakefield;

Bob and Dorothy Chilvers, Neligh; John Sonderman, Stanton; Anna Marie White, Dixon; and Steve Rasmussen, Northeast Research and Extension Center, Concord.

Permanent labels were put in place for trees already established.

Following the work session, a business meeting was conducted by Stohler. Membership certificates have been designed and approved. Northeast Arboretum lapel pins will be available in early 1990.

Plans for new plantings in 1990 are to concentrate on oak and maple species.

The Nebraska Statewide Arboretum curators meeting will take place at Wayne State College on Nov. 10. Following the meeting, the curators will visit the Northeast Arboretum at the Northeast Research and Extension Center.

The date for the annual Northeast Arboretum Board meeting is Friday, Jan. 12, 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. at the Northeast Center. All interested people can attend.

Paula Pflueger, Wayne, is an investment representative for Edward D. Jones & Company in Wayne. A graduate of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Pflueger is also a member of the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce, the Visitors and Newcomers Council, the City Planning Commission and is vice president of the American Heart Association in Wayne. She and her husband, Brad, have one child.

GUS ENJOYS ALL kinds of sports and plays soccer and hockey in addition to snow skiing. He also enjoys photography, mountain hiking and dancing.

While in Winside, he is trying his skill at football for the first time and "having lots of fun."

In addition to participating in sports while at Winside, Gus has a full schedule of classes, including American government, English, computers, speech, band, choir and physical education. In addition, he recently participated in the all-school play.

The Kramers have two other Winside High School students — Jenny, who is a senior, and Aaron, a sophomore. They also have two older sons and a daughter.

"We really enjoy Gus," says Dave. "He's just like one of the family."

Activities themselves are not as important. What is important, according to KINSHIP officials, is that the volunteer and child spend time together each week.

The majority of those volunteers are Wayne State College students, Nitschke said. "That makes us feel good that there are college students who care about these younger children and are concerned. You have to like that," she said.

Three families have expressed interests in matching their child or children with a volunteer adult in the KINSHIP Program. There has been no matches made yet, but Nitschke said the board of directors is in the process of working on two of those cases.

"Our goal is to look at making a match by the first of next year. We've been making good progress, since it has been less than a year since the program was initiated," said Purcell.

Purcell said more general support and financial support is needed from the community. Financial contributions are used to offset costs incurred from postage, advertising and KINSHIP activities.

AN INITIAL donation has been received from the Wayne County Women of Today for the KINSHIP Program, Nitschke said. "We were pleased to get it. It gives us a sign that people are aware of the KINSHIP Program and that they see the need for it," she mentioned.

There is a strong need for the KINSHIP Program in the local community, Purcell said. He pointed out that approximately 17.9 percent of the enrollment at the Wayne Elementary School have single parents. Wayne's Middle School has 9.4 percent of its enrollment having single parents, and 10 percent of the Middle School students are from stepfamilies.

Although the match is made for just one year, it is hoped that a lasting friendship is built between the adult and the child. Cozad, Nebraska started the program years ago and participants there say that the friendships do last a lifetime.

Nitschke said one of the efforts of the National KINSHIP organization is to create more of the programs in Nebraska. "So we're on the ground floor right now working towards getting the program together," she said.

The only type of program remotely similar to the KINSHIP concept is the Wayne-Carroll High School effort where W Club members are matched with children in younger grades. "This is nice, but it is a sporadic effort. There is no program in place within this community that offers a consistent effort-like KINSHIP," said Nitschke. "This size of community ought to be able to support this type of program and meet both the adult volunteer or financial needs."

THE PROGRAM is something new, Nitschke said, which is why some may have reservations for participating in the program. "The program is not well known yet. We have to get out there and get it visible in the public's eye," said Nitschke.

Also, some of the volunteers may be holding back because they might feel the children involved are juvenile delinquents or facing problems in society. That's not the case, Purcell said, because the program is open to all children who need an adult friend.

Purcell said the board of directors has hopes to get local businesses involved in the program (offering discounts and such to KINSHIP participants), but details have not yet been finalized.

During past meetings since May, the board of directors and interested individuals attending the meetings have discussed the procedure for setting up the KINSHIP Program and viewed videotapes about the program's effectiveness. The next regular meeting of Wayne Area KINSHIP has been scheduled for Nov. 20, 7:30 p.m. at the Campus Ministry facility located at 312 East 13th Street in Wayne.

"We know that there is a need out there, and eventually we'll have this KINSHIP Program in place...and we hope to keep it in place," Nitschke said.
