Service Center tells of operations

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

An indication about how the First National-Omaha Service Center in Wayne would conduct operations was presented by First National Bank of Omaha company officials during an information session Monday at the Black Knight.

The information session took place during the weekly Wayne Kiwanis Club meeting.

First National-Omaha Service Center in Wayne will support First National Bank of Omaha's extensive credit card operation. The service center will be located in a former supermarket building on Main Street — near Griess Rexall.

People hired to staff the service center facility will primarily include managers, adjusters, telemarketers, programmers and clerical positions, according to the company officials. There will be three managers for the three different departments of the company operation.

ONE OF THE divisions which will employ the greatest amount of people will be the delinquent account department which will be managed by Chris King. Dave Conroy, manager of loss control for First National of Omaha, said there is presently about two million credit card accounts being serviced out of Omaha. Currently, the bank's facility in Yankton handles delinquent accounts.

Individuals will be hired at the Wayne facility to call customers who have missed their payments or have gone over their assigned credit limit. These employees will be called delinquent account adjusters.

The position demands someone who is persistent, communicates well and can rectify a situation while still passing on goodwill to the customer. Adjuster trainees could earn from $700 to $1,120 per month. Senior adjusters could earn up to $1,250 per month while the supervisor over all the adjusters would reach a salary of at least $1,300 per month.

"We let the adjusters know how they are doing throughout the year. If they do a good job they are rewarded accordingly," said King.

CONROY SAID he hopes to have the delinquent account department people on board by Dec. 11. The goal is to have 40 people on staff by the end of 1990 (adjustors and clerical support). "Growth will be steady. In three to 3 1/2 years we hope to be up to 150 employees," Conroy mentioned.

Conroy estimates that 132,000 adjuster calls will be made monthly. Another division of the Wayne company will feature telemarketing. Jim Shanahan, manager of telemarketing at the First National Bank of Omaha, said these mostly part-time positions will entail follow-up calls to potential customers who earlier received material about credit cards from the bank's mail center.

Those working in the telemarketing department will be making at least 150,000 phone calls monthly. "So we'll be keeping the lines pretty busy," Shanahan said.

Qualifications for this position, he said, requires individuals with excellent personality who will "listen as well as speak."

"We are interested in someone who conveys an interest and is bubbly," he said.

Johnson said he received a Monday telephone call from a person named Bill Slater. This individual (Slater) said he was calling from the Kennedy Air Terminal in Washington, D.C.

"The person, it seems, knew the names of people in Wayne and something about the place," Johnson said.

This same person had called Barb Heier at Redeemer Lutheran Church and Rev. Gordon Granberg at First Baptist Church on Tuesday.

"He [Slater] had said there was a terrible mishap at Kennedy Air Terminal and that one of the persons in his music group was stabbed. He said they needed money immediately and that the money should be sent through Western Union," said Johnson.

"The person asked for me by name. He was very convincing and he acted like he's been here before," he said.

Johnson said he has contacted the Wayne Police Department and the telephone company to inform them of the possible scam.

Auditions held for child roles in 'Nutcracker'

By Chuck Hackenmiller
Managing editor

They leaped. They twisted. They performed routines stepping gingerly across the dance floor.

Thirty-eight girls and one boy, between the ages of six to 13, auditioned last Saturday for the approximately 30 roles in "The Nutcracker" which will be performed by the Tulsa Ballet Theatre. This Black & Gold Series performance is slated for Thursday, Nov. 30 at 8 p.m. in Rice Auditorium on the Wayne State College campus.

The children to be selected for performance will fill the roles of mice, clowns, soldiers, angels and rabbits.

Helping coordinate the auditions at the Wayne Recreation Center was Marian Simpson of Wayne. A team of evaluators were present at the recreation center to evaluate the auditions.

Simpson said the Tulsa Ballet Theatre's practice of obtaining local talent to appear in "The Nutcracker" is a new trend and a new aspect that other ballet companies are trying.

"They will be using about 30 children in the performance. We didn't have enough smaller children auditioning, so we're going to have to do something about that," Simpson said.

Wayne State falls to Lithuanian team, 86-79

Steve Aggers and his Wayne State Wildcats basketball team hosted a Lithuanian squad from Kaunas Sunday afternoon in Rice Auditorium and the visitors from across the sea defeated the Wildcats 86-79 in an exhibition contest. The game does not count on the team record.

The Lithuanian team called Zhalgiris, is a club team from Kaunas and is regarded as one of the best Soviet teams. It is a professional level organization with players receiving salaries.

Zhalgiris was established in 1945, and was champion of the USSR in 1947, 1951, 1985, 1986 and 1987. The season champion of a country is regarded as winning the National Mastership. The Mastership Tournament is open only to the top league in a country.

In 1986, Zhalgiris won the Intercontinental Cup for club teams competing against the Masters winners from other European countries.

Club teams are the professional level of basketball found throughout Europe, the USSR, and Australia. In Europe and Australia, the teams are sponsored by an individual, a business or corporation. In the Soviet Union, the clubs are state-sponsored.

SPORTS ARE regarded as politically and diplomatically important in Communist countries, and the club system is overseen by a cabinet level position entitled the Minister of Sports.

Club teams function in the USSR at all levels of competition and age. A boy could begin playing basketball with the Zhalgiris team at age 10 or 12. He could stay with the Zhalgiris team all the way to the professional level. The club teams are not connected with a college or university.

USSR men serve two years of mandatory service at age 20 following their education comparable to American high schools. University education would follow this service. Players on Zhalgiris, as other club teams, will be older than our college players.

Lithuania is a European land on the eastern shore of the Baltic Sea. It was an independent nation from 1918-1940. It now makes up the Lithuanian Soviet Socialist Republic, one of 15 republics of the Soviet Union.

TRANSFER BASKETBALL player Melvin Nunn battles for a loose ball with a Lithuanian basketball player during the exhibition on Sunday at Rice Auditorium. The Lithuanians defeated Wayne State 86-79.

About 80 percent of the 3.6 million people are Lithuanians, a nationality group with its own language and customs. Lithuanian culture developed under Roman Catholic influence, and Catholic traditions remain part of the people's lives.

The Lithuanian people speak Lithuanian. However, the Soviets have tried to increase the use of Russian. All schools must teach Russian, and most televised programs are in Russian.

For recreation, the Lithuanians especially enjoy singing and sports, particularly basketball, boxing and rowing. Choral singing is highly developed there, and thousands of people sing and dance in annual festivals.

Kaunas is one of the country's major industrial centers and is located in south central Lithuania about 50 miles from Poland. Its population is near a half-million.

PLAYING WAYNE State was the Zhalgiris' second game of eight in their United States tour. The foreign team had four players in double figures in Sunday's contest with Wayne State led by Gintaras Krapikas with 23 points. Arunas Visockas followed with 20 while Darius Lukminas and Romanas Brazdauskis finished with 12 and 10 points respectively.

The Wildcats were led by Steve Dunbar's 21 points. Dunbar led a host of four players in double figures. Transfer Tony Hill finished with 10 points while freshman Mike Kurnik and sophomore returnee Doug Kuszak finished with 10 each as well.

Mike Rombout poured in eight points while Eric Priebe netted seven. John Schott came off the bench and netted five points and transfer Melvin Nunn and freshman Matt Kelly each scored four points.

Wayne State led the contest at intermission by a 43-39 count but the Lithuanians out scored the Wildcats 47-36 in the second half. Eric Priebe led the Wildcats in rebounding with 10 caroms to his credit while Steve Dunbar pulled down six rebounds from his guard position. Melvin Nunn had five rebounds and John Schott and Mike Kurnik had four boards each.

"This was a good experience for our team," Aggers said following the exhibition. "We were able to play a game with officials and it didn't count on our record." Incidentally, the Wildcats used to play four or five scrimmage games against area junior college teams but the NCAA will not allow that.

"We are allowed to play one exhibition against a foreign team," Aggers said. "We also have intrasquad scrimmages."

As far as the exhibition with Zhalgiris Aggers was pleased with the overall play of his inexperienced squad. "The exhibition gives us a chance to let us see what we have to work on," Aggers said.

"Right away I'd say we have to gain some consistency on our intensity. We are a little behind where we would like to be at this time but the kids are working hard in practice to get to where we want to be."

Laurel defeated in district final

The Laurel volleyball team ended their season Friday night in Wayne as Hartington Cedar Catholic in its first year of playing among the Class C ranks, defeated them in straight sets to advance to the state volleyball tournament this weekend in Lincoln.

Laurel began the first set with a missed serve and from there, things went down hill in the first set as Cedar steam rolled to a 15-2 victory. The Bears fought hard in the second set but eventually the size of Cedar took command to the tune of 15-9.

"I thought for our height we played a good match," Laurel coach Carol Manganaro said. "Especially in the second set." Manganaro felt that her girls weren't intimidated by Cedar Catholic's play as much as they were intimidated by Cedar's tradition and height.

"I think our hustle was good during the match and overall I thought we played good volleyball with the exception of a few lapses in the first set," Manganaro said.

Sherri McCorkindale led the Bears in scoring with six points while connecting on eight of her nine serves. Laurel was good on 89 percent of its team serves while Julie Dickey, Jesse Monson and Amy Adkins finished the night with a perfect 100 percent from the line.

Laurel had 33 total spikes in the two set match and 16 were for kills. Shana Carstensen did not record any kills but was 12-12 in spiking while Amy Adkins notched six kill spikes and was 11-14.

Amy Newton was the setter for the Bears and she managed to connect with all 31 of her serve attempts with six set assists. "Amy Newton did a good job of setting the ball by the net antenna so Amy Adkins could spike it down the line," Manganaro said. "A lot of her sets were long sets as well."

Manganaro also pointed out that Jesse Monson and Julie Dickey did a good job of spike coverage against the much bigger Cedar squad. "We feel good about the season and we are proud that we won our sub-district," Manganaro said. Laurel finished with a 10-7 record.

LAUREL VOLLEYBALL player Julie Dickey dives after a ball during Laurel's district final match against Hartington Cedar Catholic on Friday night in Wayne. Laurel lost the volleyball match in straight sets but the Bears finished the season with a successful mark of 10-7. Cedar Catholic is playing its first year in Class C-1.

AMY NEWTON sets a ball to a team-mate during second set action of Laurel's final match of the season in district final action. Newton was Laurel's top setter all season long.

Lawton rushes WSC past Ravens

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor

Wayne State quarterback Gale Lawton ran for 171 yards (126 in the first half) and Troy Jackson rushed for 100 more as Wayne State defeated Benedictine College 21-16 Saturday afternoon at Memorial Stadium in Wayne.

But offense wasn't the only thing that shined for the Wildcats on Saturday. Freshman linebacker Cory Reeder from Columbus had an outstanding game according to Wildcat coach Dennis Wagner. "Cory just played fantastic with 18 total tackles and a blocked punt in which he picked it up and rambled 34 yards for a touchdown," Wagner said. "It truly is a great game when you consider he is only a freshman."

The loss virtually ended Benedictine's hopes for post season play. The Wildcats came into the contest wanting to do what ever it took to win and they amassed 292 yards on the ground in the process. "We passed for only 74 yards and ran for 292," Wagner said. "One might think that we didn't try to pass or that we didn't have to pass but in actuality, there was 11 times that we called for Gale to roll out and pass but everyone was covered so he ran. So instead of attempting just 10 passes and completing seven, we were trying to pass as much as 21 times."

Another key factor for Wagner's troops on Saturday was to keep the defense off the field as much as possible and not put all the pressure on them. Wayne State kept the ball in the time of possession category nearly 10 minutes longer than Benedictine.

"The reason that Gale was able to expose the Raven defense for so many rushing yards was because Benedictine was playing man-to-man on our receivers and that left Gale without anyone on him," Wagner said.

With 3:35 remaining in the opening quarter Wayne State jumped out to a 7-0 lead on Gale Lawton's 25 yard run and Blain Branscum's extra point. In the second quarter the Wildcats increased the lead to 14-0 on Troy Jackson's 12 yard run and once again with Branscum connecting on the point after kick attempt.

Benedictine scored with just 16 seconds before intermission to trail 14-7. They scored on a one yard run by Sean Frederickson and Mark Gormley kicked the point after.

With 5:08 remaining in the third quarter Cory Reeder blocked a punt and returned it 34 yards for a touchdown and Blain Branscum connected on the point after for a 21-7 advantage.

Benedictine scored on a 37 yard field goal by Gormley with 1:23 remaining in the third period. In the fourth quarter the only scoring came on an 18 yard pass from Bill Arnold to Tony Ware with just 25 seconds remaining in regulation. The two-point conversion attempt failed.

WAGNER SAID the game was very important to the Wildcat program because they did not want to end the season with four losses in a row which would undoubtedly leave a sour taste in the players and coaches mouths.

"Defensively we played a heck of a game," Wagner said. "Benedictine got a lot of yards passing but I think that in some of the situations we were geared so much on stopping the run that it left the passing game open more."

Wagner also gave credit to Matt Holly who didn't come away with many tackles but he put continuous pressure on Benedictine quarterback Bill Arnold. "Matt did a great job of putting heat on their quarterback," Wagner said. "We also got our steady good play from Bob Sterba, Randy Rouse and Mo Walker."

It was a total team effort on both sides of the ball which enabled the Cats to earn their fourth victory of the season. Scott Vokoun, Mike Kennedy and Bud Sachs all put forth a good effort on defense and while Lawton and Troy Jackson were stealing the offensive headlines, the offensive line did a good job of opening holes.

"The offensive line played much better Saturday than they had the last two weeks," Wagner said. "We need that consistent performance from our linemen if we are going to be successful."

Although most everything was in the Wildcats favor Saturday, a couple of areas really tried the patience of coach Wagner. "We had 10 penalties and 70 percent were on our offense," Wagner said. "Troy Jackson had two long runs called back because of the flags and we can't have that."

The Wildcats finished the contest with 16 first downs while Benedictine managed 15. The Wildcat defense held the Ravens to just 117 yards on the ground while again rolling up 292 of their own.

In the passing department Benedictine was 15-24 with one interception for 233 yards while Gale Lawton was 7-10 for 74 yards for Wayne State. The total yardage was nearly even with the Wildcats holding a narrow edge, 366-350.

MACHA SHINHOSTER caught four of Lawton's passes for 42 yards while Troy Jackson caught the other three for 32 yards. Defensively, Cory Reeder led the way with 18 tackles. Mo Walker followed with 11 and Bob Sterba finished with 10.

Mike Ware finished the contest with eight tackles and Bill Hendricks had six stops. Chris Matzen finished the game with five tackles and Rondy Woodard and Mike Kennedy each had four.

Wayne State will close out its 1989 football campaign this Saturday in Orange City, Iowa where they will play Northwestern College, a team which has also played Benedictine and escaped with a one point victory.

"We need to finish the season on an up note," Wagner said. "They (Northwestern) have a very explosive football team. Their quarterback is comparable to Gale Lawton but he might like to throw the ball more than Gale does. We have to go in and play hard and not make mental mistakes that would give us a chance to win."

Unfortunately the Wildcats will be playing Northwestern with out the services of a few key people. Jeff Brownfield is out with a knee injury and Brownfield is expected to under go knee surgery this week and if it is major reconstructive surgery he will miss spring ball according to Wagner.

Also on the doubtful list is Troy Jackson and Chris Matzen. Jackson was hurt on the final on-sides kick by Benedictine as someone jumped on his knee and Matzen re-injured a knee.

WAYNE STATE quarterback Gale Lawton rambled for over 170 rushing yards in leading the Wildcats to a 21-16 victory over Benedictine on Saturday.

WSC harriers end season

Lee Stegemann's Wayne State cross country teams finished their season Saturday in Wayne as the Wildcats were host to the District 11 meet. In women's action Midland won the team title with 32 points while Nebraska Wesleyan, Kearney State, Hastings and Concordia followed suit.

Lucy Peter was Wayne's top placer with a 25th place finish of 21:05. Keri Kamrath finished 31st with a 21:45 effort and Andrea Reusink placed 34th with a 22:34 time. Angie Somers finished 36th with a time of 22:37.

In men's action Kearney State took top honors with 30 points while Doane, Midland, Hastings and Concordia followed. Jim Chvala was Wayne's top runner with a 13th place time of 27:26. Phil Chvala placed 30th with a 30:23 effort and J.P. Widner took 35th with a 32:52 effort.

The women ran 5000 meters or 3.1 miles and the men ran 8000 meters or five miles. "All but two runners combined between the men and women ran their best times of the year," Stegemann said.

Photography: Barry Dahlkoetter, College Relations

THE WILDCAT defense put continuous pressure on Benedictine's quarterback all afternoon. Wayne State held the Raven rushing game to under 120 yards despite allowing over 200 yards through the air.

telemarketing will be competitive with no commission. Part-time jobs will likely start out at $4.50 to $5 an hour. The telemarketing department will be operating from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. and calls will be made across the entire United States.

The full-time positions in telemarketing will be the supervisory roles that will range in salary from $900 to $1,500 monthly.

"We'll open up shop with about 25 telemarketers by the first of the year and then we'll be adding up to 25 more employees each quarter. We hope to have 100 people on staff making the phone calls," said Shanahan.

Jim Schmidt, manager of systems development at First National Bank of Omaha, said there will be five levels of programming positions at the Wayne service center. At the entry level is the position of programmer analyst. "We're setting up the Wayne facility with our current technology in Omaha, tying in to the bank with high speed lines," Schmidt said.

HANDLING highly complex programming problems will be the lead program analysts. Salaries for these programmer positions will range from $2,000 monthly to up to $3,250 per month.

During the first year there will be a manager and five programmers working within the Wayne service center. "We'll probably have about 25 to 30 people in the programming department after two years," Schmidt said.

Increasing employment figures depends on the success of the operation once it becomes established, he said. "And we're highly encouraged about what we've seen so far," Schmidt mentioned. Interviews for these positions are continuing. Some of those interviews will be conducted in Omaha and in Wayne.

Mike Monaghan will be the programmer manager at the Wayne site. The manager of the telemarketing division at the Wayne site has not been named.

THE SIZE of the children made a big difference in the selection of the children auditioning for the various parts. Children dancers are not expected to provide their own costumes.

Simpson said the Tulsa Ballet Theatre brings costumes to the site of the production, so the children have to fit in the specific costumes provided.

There were many who tried out for the roles requiring the size 12 leotards, but only four to six of those dance roles requiring the size 12 leotards (angels and mice) were available.

Selected children must be on the Wayne State College Campus at 4 p.m. on the day of the Tulsa Ballet Theatre's performance so they can rehearse, fit costumes and prepare for the ballet.

Tickets for the Tulsa Ballet Theatre's Black & Gold performance of "The Nutcracker" and Dec. 1 educational program "How to Look at the Ballet" at Wayne State College will go on sale today (Thursday) for the general public.

TICKETS, which are $5 for adults and $3 for high school age or younger, may be picked up at the Business Office, first floor of the Hahn Administration Building at Wayne State.

A separate ticket will be required for each performance. For more information, phone 402-375-2200.

WHEN RX GOES OTC...

Consumers believe in and use over-the-counter (OTC) drug products. In the next seven years, it is believed that sales of non-prescription drugs will double. According to Adweek's Marketing Week, "Healthcare costs are exploding and increasingly knowledgeable consumers are choosing to take care of their own care and healing."

Some products once sold only on prescription (Rx) now can be purchased in pharmacies without a physician's order. These include the cold and allergy medicines Dimetapp and Actifed. Many additional Rx drugs may be switched to OTC status during the next several years. Some industry experts predict that the arthritis medicine Naprosyn and the ulcer medicine Tagamet will become available in nonprescription forms sometime during the early 1990s.

The Library Card

This column will be written two times monthly to inform the Wayne area as to what types of reading material and other items are available at the Wayne Public Library.

Hey sports fans. Have we got the books for you!

For all you bowlers, "Bowling 200+" by Mike Aulby and Dave Ferraro promises to up your average and improve your game.

For the more adventurous, "Parachuting: The Skydiver's Handbook" by Dan Poynter makes the sport sound like fun. Poynter also talks of safety and expert supervision. This sport is not for everyone!

Just in time for memories of the baseball season, "Baseball's Greatest Moments" by Joseph Reichler writes about those unforgettable moments when records were broken, impossible catches were made and teams did the unexpected.

Also new on the shelves, "Yogi It Ain't Over..." by (who else?) Yogi Berra. Yogi reminisces and tells stories about his teammates on the New York Yankees.

But I know you have been waiting for this one: "Big Red Confidential: Inside Nebraska Football" by Armen Ketyayan. This is that controversial book by a former Sport's Illustrated reporter/writer.

This seems to be the season for sports exposés. "A Payroll To Meet: A Story of Greed, Corruption & Football at SMU" by David Whitford reveals how SMU's football machine came to a grinding stop; shocking all Texas. And you can read all about it!

On Thursday, Nov. 9 at 7:30 p.m. the library will host a program "Alexander Hamilton: Colossus of an Age" presented by Donald Hickey, history department at Wayne State College.

Dr. Hickey portrays Hamilton in costume and in character, speaking in the first person during the first half hour of the program. This will be followed by two question and answer periods — the first in the character of Hamilton and the second as a scholar of American History. It should be an interesting evening. You are all invited.

Flu season check-up begins

The state Health Department officially kicked off the flu season in October by beginning its annual surveillance for cases of influenza in Nebraska.

Although staff don't expect to find any cases out there this early in the year, they are required to begin monitoring in early October by the federal Centers for Disease Control (CDC), said Christine Newlon, disease control director at the Health Department.

"Generally, we don't expect to see any cases until December or January," Mrs. Newlon said. "December, January and February are the peak months."

Every week for the next seven months, health department staff will make calls to randomly selected doctors in the state, checking for cases of the flu. The level of influenza activity will be reported to the CDC in Atlanta, Ga.

INFLUENZA, or the flu, is a viral infection of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs. It is usually accompanied by fever, chills, cough and soreness and aching in back, arms and legs. Its symptoms do not generally include vomiting or diarrhea.

Because influenza is usually mild and most people recover fully, Health Department officials recommend the use of vaccine only for the elderly and people with other health problems most likely to be seriously ill or to die from the flu or its complications. The following groups are at highest risk for serious illness with the flu and have been recommended to receive the vaccine:

- Adults and children with long-term heart or lung problems;
- Residents of nursing homes and other institutions housing patients of any age who have serious long-term health problems.

OTHER GROUPS who are at moderately increased risk for serious illness with the flu and who public health authorities feel should be vaccinated if possible are:

- Healthy people over 65 years of age;
- People of any age who during the past year have regularly seen a doctor or have been admitted to a hospital for treatment of kidney disease, cystic fibrosis, diabetes, anemia or severe asthma;
- People who have a type of cancer or immunological disorder or use certain types of medicines that lower the body's normal resistance to infections;
- Children and teenagers (6 months through 18 years of age)

on long-term treatment with aspirin who, if they catch the flu, may be at risk of getting Reye syndrome, a childhood disease that causes coma, liver damage and death.

PEOPLE IN the high-risk groups should be vaccinated every year, said Mrs. Newlon. Family members or others who provide care to high-risk persons at home should also be vaccinated.

Influenza vaccine this year contains killed virus for three strains: A/Taiwan 1/86, A/Shanghai 11/87 and B/Yamagata 16/88. These are the types that have been circulating or are predicted by health officials to occur this year, Mrs. Newlon said.

People who want to be vaccinated should contact their local health department or their private physician for more information.

Drugs and alcohol prevention implemented in counties

A major drug and alcohol prevention/intervention project is now being implemented in Northeast Nebraska.

In October the Nebraska Department of Institutions was awarded a federal grant of $204,305 for the first year of a three year prevention/intervention project which will target youth in the twelve counties of Antelope, Burt, Cedar, Cumby, Dakota, Dixon, Knox, Madison, Pierce, Stanton, Thurston and Wayne. The project will be coordinated by Goldenrod Hills Community Action Agency in conjunction with the Alcoholism and Drug Abuse Council of Nebraska, the Lincoln Medical Education Foundation and the Nebraska Prevention Center for Alcohol and Drug Abuse.

Key goals of the project include: formation of community task forces, prevention training and support for parents, prevention team training and support for drug-free youth teams who will teach refusal skills to elementary youth, school-based intervention training and support and community training on intervention with youth. The project is designed to target youth both directly and through their parents, peers, schools and communities.

A series of informational community meetings will be held in the 12 county target area this month. Since the participation in this project will be limited to twenty-one communities, attendance at these meetings by communities interested in being part of the project is encouraged.

Meetings are scheduled in Oakland, South Sioux City and Wayne on Nov. 8, Bloomfield and Wisner on Nov. 9, Norfolk on Nov. 28 and Neligh on Nov. 29.

For further information on meeting sites and times please call Goldenrod Hills Community Action Agency at 529-3513.

11TH in a series... YOUR NEWSPAPER: UP CLOSE & PERSONAL

Kevin Peterson, known as "Pete" to many, is no stranger to high school and college gymnasiums and athletic fields. As the Wayne Herald sports editor, Kevin has the responsibilities of writing all of the sports for our area high schools (Wayne-Carroll, Allen, Laurel-Concord, Wakefield and Winside) and the Wayne State Wildcats. Prior to coming to the Herald, Kevin worked as sports editor for the Kearney State College newspaper and was also the sports editor at the Callaway Courier in central Nebraska. He began work at the Herald in December, 1987 upon graduation from Kearney State. "It's a challenge writing for all the area schools and meeting the deadline. I like the feedback from the community after writing different articles and columns which provoke response," he said. "While at work, I thoroughly enjoy the atmosphere and the challenges of my job," he added. Kevin's wife, Shannon, is an RN at Our Lady of Lourdes Hospital in Norfolk.

The Wayne Food Pantry was one of the local recipients of the money raised by the recent CROP Walk for Hunger. Thanks to the walkers, to those who pledged, to the volunteers who coordinated the walk and the Ministerial Association, the Pantry received $617.83.

This amount is like manna from heaven! I know I speak for all the Pantry Committee when I say, "Thank you, from the bottoms of our hearts!"

★ VETERAN'S DAY ★

★ REMEMBER ★ THOSE WHO SERVED

Formerly called Armistice Day, November 11 commemorates the anniversary of peace between the Allied and Central powers, signed in 1918 in France. The end of hostilities between these two powerful opposing forces marked the end of "the war to end all wars" or "The Great War," as it was also called. Many observe silent memorial at the eleventh hour on this day.

Although a result of WWI, this special day has become a time to honor all those who so unselfishly served in our nation's Armed Forces, those who risked so much to preserve the high ideals and future hopes of a Democratic America. To the men and women of the military, who give so much during war and peace, we say "Thank You" and pray for the day global cooperation reigns supreme.

As you probably have gathered, my mom is a baseball fan. She makes a couple trips a year to Kansas City to see the Royals play. So when we went on vacation during the World Series, she planned to watch it, wherever she was.

For Game 3, she was in a condo on Sugar Mountain in North Carolina. The four of us, Mom, Mary, Linda, and I, had gone out to eat at the Mast House, an old restored farm house that serves farm food, family style. We were stuffed.

Mom flipped on the TV, prepared to spend the evening embroidering on the couch, and there was Dan Rather. There had been an earthquake in San Francisco, and Candlestick Park had been evacuated.

The rest of the night, we saw the same home video of a car disappearing off a bridge, fires being fought, and a collapsed Interstate section, with cars squashed like pancakes beneath it.

The South has not recovered from the hurricane. Linda showed us videos of news shown locally that featured helicopters surveying damage. There are many, many homeless people there, and relief agencies have been working day and night.

NOW THERE was a new emergency, at the opposite end of the country. For us, as for everyone else, the World Series really didn't seem all that important.

I remember visiting neighbor Ed one night when there was some athletic event on the tube. I commented on it, and he remarked "I used to think that was so important."

By the next evening, Dan Rather looked tired and rumpled, and the seismologist continued to look very scientific. We heard stories of an on-the-scene amputation, and shuddered; folks crowded into large buildings, volunteers manning fire hoses, and jammed phone lines.

Just this morning, I was reading an old USA Today article on how disasters affect our technology.

One hundred people were lined up the next day, cash in hand, outside a Payless Drug Store in Mountain View in the heart of Silicon Valley, the nation's high-tech capital. Payless was powerless, its computer-driven cash registers rendered useless by the quake. So a clerk was stationed by a door with bundles of cash baskets of batteries, flashlights, candles and water arranged around her; doing business the old-fashioned way, keeping track of sales with paper and pencil.

"Ah, what puny mortals we earthlings really are."

AND WHAT warm-hearted individuals there are among us. One black rescue worker in Charleston reported that if only all men could work together the way they did after Hugo, there would be no racial problems.

There have been benefit concerts by the Beach Boys and Alabama. The faithful Mennonites are on the scene, rebuilding.

I suggested we all go in to Charleston, and volunteer a day. I was voted down.

"We decided to draw names for Christmas while we were all together. Since my family now, numbered half the names, great pains were taken to divide the names, and it caused all of us some head-scratching to do it right.

NEXT WE set a price limit. Then, we started making lists of potential gifts. What were our hobbies, our favorite colors, etc., etc. We soon realized that no one needed anything. And some were going to be very hard to shop for.

So I said, each of us should write a check to the Red Cross for the amount we would have spent on a gift. They didn't even think twice. The names and lists went into the wastebasket, and it was back to the TV.

I'm telling you about this because I'm hoping more of you will do the same. The Red Cross and Salvation Army need money, folks, and they need it now.

Annheuser-Busch gave a million to each agency. That's a lot of Bud! But if each of us sends something, and lights one little candle, what a bright world this will be!

Nebraska winter climate evaluated

Take heart, Nebraskans! The first chill winds of autumn may be blowing, but before you convince yourselves that another nasty winter looms ahead, consider these words about Nebraska's weather. They're taken from L.D. Beach's 1878 publication, "Nebraska As It Is," in the collections of the Nebraska State Historical Society.

York and Wisconsin, is a very mild and pleasant season. Nine-tenths of the cold season is made up of bright, dry, mild weather. The snowfall is light and rarely lies upon the ground more than a week. February and March give an occasional severe storm of short duration. The best commentary upon the winter of this country is the grazing of cattle and sheep upon the ranges in the west half of the State, the year round, their only shelter from the storms being the native groves, gulches and ravines.

The soft blue haze, subdued mellow sunshine and gorgeous red sunsets of autumn in Nebraska make that season a benediction. The cold winds are the only unpleasant feature of the cold season, but the settler easily gets accustomed to these and they are known to be the most effective Conservators of Health. They sweep away any possible malarial influence and leave the climate with every needed condition to normal health. The rare, invigorating, life-inspiring atmosphere gives remarkable brilliancy to the climate and leaves its impress upon every form of life. Men and animals move with quick, elastic step and even the vegetable kingdom expresses the presence of these vitalizing forces in a wonderful degree.

"There is little malaria in Nebraska, for there is so little to produce it. The streams are rapid; the flow runs to the waters edge; there are not stagnant pools to give off poisonous exhalations; the southwest winds sweep down from the snow-clad sierras across an ocean of sweetest verdure and the country is as healthful as any upon the green earth."

"Only life and health and the spirit of divine youth is evoked from the bright skies, clear atmosphere and pure water of this superb climate. It is but simple justice to Nebraska to say, that it is a poor country for doctors and physicks and comes very near to being a Paradise for Invalids."

"The Nebraska winter, as compared to the rigorous, snowy, frost-bound winter of New England, New

The GOLDEN YEARS

By, Lee Jones

A study of more than 6,000 retired union workers revealed that about 25 percent would have been happier if they kept working. An individual's financial situation and a positive attitude are the major requisites for satisfaction with retirement, the study found. "Be ready and be sure" should be the rule for those considering retirement, speakers told a symposium on the study at George Washington University in Washington, D.C.

When Alfred Puls was in his 20s he began traveling the Midwest from Dubuque, Iowa, selling merchandise to family-run drug stores. That was in the early 1900s and in those days customers would take the dapper-young-salesman-home-for-dinner. Puls kept at it for 51 years, retiring at 74. He was 80 before he first went to a hospital as a patient, and 94 when he gave up driving a car. At age 106, he was still starting his days at 7:30 a.m. — white shirt and Windsor-knotted tie — ready to relate experiences, sometimes in rhyme, of "the best-loved salesman on the road," one who "really knows the territory."

Remember: When? April 13, 1935 — The worst dust storm of "The Dust Bowl" period blacked out the sun in drought-stricken Plains States, giving the name "Black Sunday" to this date.

Sorensen gains honor

Eight individuals who have made outstanding contributions to Nebraska's agricultural industry have been named members of the Nebraska Hall of Agricultural Achievement.

This organization has honored Nebraskans for their agricultural achievements since 1917, said NHA Secretary-Treasurer Dave McGill. Being invited to become a member is a form of recognition accorded only a select few, McGill said.

Richard Sorensen of Wayne is one of those eight joining the membership rolls. Others include State Senator George Coordsen of Hebron; Richard Alden of Auburn; Raymond Davis of Potter; John Furrer, emeritus professor of agronomy and extension weed specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln; Richard Mercer of Kearney; Helen Nichols of Brock; and Edward Schwartzkopf, former NU regent.

The inductees to the organization will be recognized at its annual awards banquet, to take place Nov. 10 at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education. This year's Hall of Agricultural Achievement Honoree is Secretary of Agriculture Clayton Yeutter, Eustis, Nebraska native.

Sorensen specializes in production and distribution of Specific Pathogen Free swine breeding stock. He served as president of the Northeast Nebraska Pork Producers Association and Nebraska Swine Council; director of the National Pork Producers council; board member of the National Livestock and Meat Board Pig Industry Group; president of the Nebraska SPF Swine Accrediting Agency; and member of the Agriculture 2001 Advisory Committee.

He also has received the Nebraska Pork Producers Builders Award.

Accidental Discovery May End Obesity

Suppresses calorie absorption
SWEDEN—Medical researchers at the University of Kuopio, in Finland, have discovered (accidentally) a new weight-loss formula. The new discovery appears to enable an overweight individual to lose pounds and fatty tissue without conventional dieting or exercise.

Scientists made the discovery while searching for a formula to lower cholesterol. In a controlled study of a test group of people, cholesterol levels remained unchanged but the doctors were astounded to find that every patient who used the formula lost weight. The published report of this study stated, "A highly significant decrease in body weight was seen" in patients who received the formula.

The formula was then tested at another prestigious European university hospital. Again, all patients lost weight even though they did not change their eating habits. The report detailing this study, published in the British Journal of Nutrition, stated: "Body weight was significantly reduced even though the patients were specifically asked not to alter their dietary habits". One patient in this study lost more than 30 pounds.

According to one informed source, the active ingredient comes from a 100% natural botanical source and contains no drugs or stimulants. When taken before mealtime it bonds with the food you eat and "ties up" calories, especially those from fats, suppressing their absorption.

A significant portion of the calories ingested therefore pass through the digestive system unabsorbed. The body has to get energy to replace the lost calories, so it starts to burn stored fat, which can result in rapid body weight loss. Clinical testing has verified the safety of this formula for long-term use.

The formula is marketed in capsule form in the United States under the trade name Cal-Ban 3000. A firm located in Tampa, Florida, has exclusive North American distribution rights. A review of the customer files of this company revealed the names of hundreds of people who have lost as much as 20, 40 or 80 or more pounds overall with Cal-Ban 3000. This appears to be a golden opportunity for people who are plagued by fat and cellulite that they can't seem to lose by conventional methods.

Cal-Ban 3000 is reasonably priced at $19.95 for a 3-week supply and $38.95 for a 6-week supply. Postage and handling is $3. VISA, M/C, AMEX and COD orders are accepted. To order call TOLL-FREE 1-800-537-3723 or purchase locally at Griess Rexall, 507 Main, Wayne, NE.

Call today to begin the pleasant transformation from fat and flab to the slender firm body you want! If you fail to achieve a major weight loss you may return the empty bottle within 30 days for a 100% refund.
