Elves get 🎘 even by tampering with ink

This past week the Wayne Herald was sabotaged by Santa's elves from the North Pole. Motives for the ink tapering are unclear. However, Herald officials believe the deliberate attempt at modifying the ink can be attributed to their 'short' temper. An editorial they wrote, citing reasons they have unionized, was not printed. During the late Monday evening hours, the elves substituted the Herald's regular green ink with a special green ink concotion of their own — to make each of the Heralds and some other publications smell like a Christmas tree.

Council listen to Peoples report; grants building lease

By Chuck Hackenmiller Managing editor

An annual report to the Wayne City Council on the operation of the local gas system was presented Tuesday evening by Jim Markham, manager of Peoples Natural Gas-of manager of Peoples Natural Gas of Wayne.

Tuesday night's meeting was the last of the scheduled city council meetings for 1989.

Markham told city council members about a recent survey Peoples Natural Gas had taken in the area. Out of the 229 council members throughout the area surmembers throughout the area surveyed, responses were returned by 113. "Ninety-one percent of them said Peoples was providing them enough information," said

"What is important is that 88 percent of those who returned the surveys said that our communication with the councils was excellent," he said:

Customers, he said, are benefitting from the increase in competition since pipe line markets are now opened up. The size of the Peoples business allows the company to spread operational cost over a greater base.

MARKHAM said that 71 percent of the gas dollars goes toward the purchase of the natural gas.

Only 6 percent of the gas dollars is marked toward payroll, he said. Because of the recent cold spell where there have been consecutive days of sub-zero low tempera-tures, Markham said the larger in-dustrial or business gas users have been asked to go to a secondary fuel so that there is enough natural gas available to residential homes in Wayne.

Markham reiterated Peoples position on the Nebraska Supreme Court ruling earlier this year that allows privately owned utilities to file for exemption from property

"Peoples has decided not to

Peoples also paid $29,598 in franchise taxes this past year, Markham said. Markham said the company is particularly proud of the local firm's

Wayne pastor reflects on the Christmas season

Sovereign King and Lord.

The Lord Jesus Christ whom we exalt at Christmas is not just a baby in a manger. He is not a character in a children's story. He is far more.

The first time he came, he came veited in the form of a child. The next time he comes, and we believe it will be soon, he will come unveiled, and it will be abundantly and immediately clear to all the world just who he really is.

The first time he came, a star marked his arrival. The  $ne\widehat{xt}$ time he comes, the whole heavens will roll up like a scroll, and all the stars will fall out of the sky, and he himself will light it.

The first time he came, wise men and shepherds brought him gifts. The next time he comes, he will bring gifts, rewards for his

The first time he came, there was no room for him. The next time he comes, the whole world will not be able to contain His glory. The first time he came, only a few-attended his arrival — some shepherds and some wise men. The next time he comes, every The first time he came as a baby. Soon he will come as

For most of us the Christmas season includes, among other things, office parties, shopping, neighborhood parties, holiday decorating, family parties, egg nog, church parties, caroling and community parties. Parties! Parties! Boy, when we Americans decide it's time to celebrate, we really do it right! Don't we? But in the midst of all of our holiday celebration, let's take a moment to speculate on what the atmosphere in heaven surrounding the Christ child, the Sovereign King and Lord might be like.

Do you suppose that the angels are busy rehearsing a new musical number for their latest Christmas cantata? Do you suppose that God the Father is all wrapped up in making a gift list and checking it twice? And what about the guest of honor Utimself, Jesus? I wonder if He is delirious with anticipation (like so many children), over all of the very expensive gifts that He will be receiving on His birthday.

Is this an accurate picture of what Christmas. 1989 will be like in Heaven? I don't think so. For the scriptures make it abundantly clear that unlike the party atmosphere here on earth, the focus of heaven's attention is upon preparation not partying Preparation? Jesus said in John 14:2, "In My Jather's house are many dwelling places; if it were not so, I would have told you; for I go to prepare a place for you

You see. Jesus Christ and the hosts of heaven are even now busy making the final preparations in heaven for the arrival of some very special guests. In the very next verse of John, Chapter 14:3. Jesus goes on to say, "And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you to Myself: that where I am, there you may be also." Make no mistake about it my friend. Jesus Christ is busy preparing a special place in heaven for each member of His church, the body of Christ.

When might that day of Christ's return be, you ask? No one but God the Father really knows for sure, although, there is plenty of evidence in scripture to indicate that the hour is approaching very rapidly.

Many, many people were caught unaware of Christ's first coming: Herod and other world leaders, the Pharisees and other religious leaders, the innkeeper and other business people, and many of the tax-paying public, the common folk, who had come to Bethlehem to register for the census, were all caught unaware.

Unfortunately, as the Bible predicts, many people will be unaware and unprepared for His second coming. They will be too caught up with the affairs of this life. They will be too busy partying, playing, pleasing themselves, and procrastinating the priority of their relationship with God.

But, thank God, there is yet hope for those who are searching for spiritual reality; hope for those who have tried the way of the world and found it to be severely lacking ... empty. We all know of the statistics that tell us for many people the Christmas holiday season is a very depressing one. It is a season marked by greater emotional stress, more acts of violence, and more suicides than any other time of the year.

But in these last days before Christ's return the Bible says that the Lord is gathering His people together to "heal their broken hearts and bind up their wounds," (Psalm 147:2-3). This year are you honestly searching for the true meaning of Christmas? You need look no further, for the Lord Himself in Jeremiah 29:13 says, "And you will seek Me and find Me, when you search for ME with all of your heart."

This Christmas season, as all of heaven is in the final stages of preparation for Jesus' soon return, why not take that step of faith and give all of your heart, all of your desires, and all of your hurts to Christ and make Him the Lord of your life. Now is the time to make sure that you are ready for the coming of the only Sovereign King and Lord, Jesus Christ.

The Lord is patient toward you, not wishing for any to perish but for all to come to repentance" (2 Peter 3:9). 'Repent, therefore, and return that your sins may be wiped away, in order that times of refreshing may come from the presence of the Lord. (Act 3:19)

At age 83, Laura says she can't remember a time when she wasn't sewing or quilting. I learned to tie quilts as a young girl on our farm east of Hoskins,' smiles Laura, adding that her family alone made six quilts when she and her late husband, Erwin, were married in 1926.

Laura says quilting just sort of runs in the family. "My mother, Mrs. Lizzie Puls, and my grandmother, Mrs. Augusta Brumels, along with aunts Mrs. Minnie Brueckner and Mrs. Emma Marten, made many quilts," recalls

This Christmas season, Laura bundled up seven lap robes to be delivered to the Soldiers and Sailors Annex at the Norfolk Regional Center and two quilts to be distributed through the Norfolk Good

Laura spent seven weeks recuperating in the home of her son and family in Sioux City. "I kept wondering if I would ever get all my quilts done in time for Christmas," smiles Laura.

But the quilts spread across Laura's living room couch are evidence of the hours she spent at her machine once she returned home.

Laura also displays quilts which were handed down to her by her mother and grandmother, including a log cabin quilt which her grandmother completed at age 73 and a butterfly quilt her mother made when she was in her late 70's.

Winside earns runner-up honors

Wrestlers win own invite

Sports Editor
The Wayne Invitational Wrestling Meet was captured by Wayne for the second consecutive year Saturday as the Blue Devils racked up 173 1/2 points to earn the honor over runner-up Winside with 110.
Wisner-Pilger placed third with 96 and Arlington took fourth place honors with 92 points. Sioux City East JV's finished fifth with 90 while Wayerly, Omaha Father Flanigan and North Bend rounded out the field in order of finish.

"From a team stand point that was probably the best we've wrestled this year so far," Wayne_coach John Murtaugh said. "I was very happy for our kids because they deserved to win it. We have finished third in each of our two invitationals this year and it's a nice change to finish on top."

Among the individual highlights for Wayne was the three champion.

The Blue Devils also had five finish in the runner-up slot led by Trevor Wehrer at 125 lbs. Wehrer just missed winning the championship but fell by one point to William Curtis of Omaha Father. Greg DēNaeyer finished second in the 135 lb. category as he lost a narrow 4.3 decision to one of the state's best 135 lb. wrestlers in any class in Winside's Max Kant. Cory Wiesseler may have been the un-Wieseler may have been the un-sung hero on the day. Wieseler knocked off the top seed in his first match and advanced to the finals with an overtime win in his second match. In the finals we was deci sioned 13-3 by Todd Ummach of Sioux City East JV's. Matt Bruggeman also finished in the runner-up position to Fernando Clifton of Omaha Father Flanigan. Although the Flanigan wrestler did a fine job of getting Bruggeman on his back, Murtaugh feels that the best wrestler did not win that match

"I thought Matt had some bad luck in the finals," Murtaugh said. "He got caught on his back and wasn't able to recover. I don't want to take anything away from the Flanigan kid, but I feel that Matt is a better wrestler. Something like this happens to the best of wrestlers from time to time. Matt has a lot of character and I'm sure he will benefit from this experi-ence," Murtaugh added.

Winside gals win fourth; boys lose

It has been just over a decade since the Winside girls basketball team has had a winning season. This year's Wildcats however, are doing their best to end that long drought and they are off to a fine start.

Tuesday night in Winside the Wildcats defeated Wynot by a 48-36 despite a very slow start, thus improving their season mark to 4-2. "We had a horrible first half," head coach Paul Giesselmann said. HE TALKED about Peoples available administrative services, mentioning the PeopleService program that was presented to the city council in March of this

PeopleService would provide cities with a "menu of services" which would include meter read-ing, automated billing, cash collecoperations and water and wastewater utility management. The city council has not taken any action on the PeopleService proposal.

Peoples is also involved in economic development areas as well, Markham said.

In other action, the city council recommended approval of a liquor catering license application for Ken Jorgensen, owner of the 4th Jug. The recommendation will now go to the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission for approval or depial Commission for approval or denial.

Recently, the city council ap-proved a special designated liquor permit to Jorgensen for a New Year's Eve dance at the National Guard Armory.

However, the city administration later learned that lorgensen had already been granted the maximum of six special designated liquor permits for a calendar year. So lorgensen applied for the liquor catering license — a license that was established by the legislature in 1988.

THE CATERING license means Jorgensen is not limited to just six special designated liquor license events. "He must pay a $75 flat fee for the right to cater," said City Administrator Phil Kloster, "rather Kloster said the loan would not be taken out until January of 1991 and the amount of the loan would be $10,000.

Revolving loan funds are used strictly for economic development purposes. There will be money in the revolving loan fund at that time to accommodate the loan guarantee," Kloster said.

The Farmer's Wife

By Pat Meierhenry

"In the bleak mid winter, snow lay on the ground," sang the choir this morning; and it was so apropos. What a difference in weather since I wrote last Sunday. It began snowing then; and the tempera-ture took a plunge. The 12 de-grees above zero today seemed mild.

Some sleds got used today.

Some sleds got used today. They have not seen much action the past two winters. I was tempted to join them, but I had to keep working on Christmas cards. Ann and Max put up our tree on Friday night, or it would still be in the garage. There is a pile of gifts next to it that need to be wranged.

We had wanted to see the We had wanted to see the Christmas lights of the Country Club Plaza in Kansas City, so we drove there last weekend. They really are a sight. We didn't plan to shop, and it's a good thing, because we couldn't afford the prices. There is a Saks Fifth Avenue, Bonwit Teller, Brooks Brothers, and a Polo/Rajab lauren. a Polo/Ralph Lauren.

I TOLD the Big Farmer we should bring back something from this shop for Ann, so we went in.
We came out with a $10 bag ofpotpourri!

We drove north on Main to the Crown Center. The traffic was awful. Here there were more lights and shops.

We tried a Japanese restaurant and sat at a table that required our removing our shoes. Some of us even tried-the chop sticks. When in this environment, it's when in this environment, its rather difficult to imagine the homeless, or the folks who won't be shopping at all this month. It's fun for a few hours, but it doesn't quite create the spirit of Christmas.

I THINK the real spirit of the season is found in the Good Neighbors who collect and dis-tribute the clothes, food, and toys; the folks who staff the soup kitchens and the community pantries; the bell ringers at Salvation Army kettles, and all the other volunteers who act as Santa's

I think the spirit is in the Advent wreaths and candles, the smiles of anticipation in children's faces as they prepare for their programs, the homecomings of family mem-bers, and especially, in the music.

The music of the season remains the most beautiful part. "What can I give him, Poor as I am? If I were a sylve min, roor as I am? If I were a shepherd, I would bring a lamb; If I were a wise man I would do my part; Yet what I can I give him-Give my heart."

May you find the spirit of the season, and the true meaning of Christmas; and it will warm you, even on the coldest nights.

Bereuter troubled by inaction of social security administration

Representative Doug Bereuter is not pleased by the Social Security Administration's announcement that it will not be able to repro-gram its computers to reflect the repeal of the Medicare Catas-trophic Coverage Act of 1988 until June of 1990, "That is unacceptable!" Bereuter says.

In a letter to Social Security Administration Commissioner Gwendolyn S. King, Bereuter says, "While I understand that your agency needs time to reprogram its computers, a five month delay is simply unacceptable! There are many senior citizens on fixed in-comes for whom $5 a month is very important. I urge you to make the reprogramming effort your highest priority. Elderly Americans should not have to pay for such painfully slow bureaucratic maneuvers. The Social Security Adminis tration can do better than this, and it has the responsibility to better serve the American people."

Country Leanings By Chuck Hackenmiller

Always A Santa

The little child gave a mournful cry. I saw the tears and asked the child why. Someone said there was no such thing as a Santa Claus who has gifts to bring.

Although I wanted the child to believe, I knew it was wrong for me to deceive. Should I answer with what is right, hurting a child on Christmas Eve night?

I told about a Santa who cares. One who is kind, generous and shares.
A person who is honest and humble and picks us up when we stumble.

These traits on people are hard to find. Just look for one who is folly and kind. Someone who enjoys a way of living -never taking but always giving.

This person is genuine, nothing fake, and helps the needy "for goodness sake." One who never stops giving gratitude, spreading joy of enormous magnitude.

This is a person who is quick to say: 'Christmas should be every day.' Someone who counsels when spirits drift and knows "love" as the greatest gift.

Where is this Santa you ask? Is this a mystery for you to unmask? It could be a parent, neighbor or friend. Someone with patience to the very end.

To say that Santa only exists to bring gifts from your Christmas lists is certainly not worthy of all the fuss. There's a Santa inside all of us.

So there is truth Santa Claus is alive and the namesake will forever survive. Don't look far. He's always around. It's within you that Santa can be found.

WSC history professor has book published

Wayne State College History Professor Dr. Donald Hickey has had his book "The War of 1812: A Forgotten Conflict" published by the University of Illinois Press.

'Dr. Hickey's achievement is very significant because his book was chosen as a featured selection of the Historical Book Club. This is something that rarely happens," says Dr. Donald Whisenhunt, provost and vice president for aca-demic affairs at Wayne State.

The publication of this book is a further indication that the Wayne State faculty are current in their fields and are providing their stu-dents the latest information availble_in_every_field, adds Whisen-

"Student development is a pri-mary goal of Wayne State," says Whisenhunt. "Dr. Hickey's ability to venisennunt. "Dr. Hickey's ability to bring the latest information to his students is an indication of his and other faculty's commitment to as-sisting students."

DR. HICKEY'S five-year project resulted as he discovered a need for a broad, comprehensive study on the War of 1812. Most studies on the War of 1812 focus on one or two aspects of the war - usually the military campaigns and naval engage-ments. In this new general history, based on 20 years of research in a broad range of sources, Dr. Hickey explores the military, political, diplomatic, economic, social and financial history of our second war with Great Britain.

"I think it's part of our obligation

as faculty members of an institution of higher learning to do research and press the frontiers of knowledge," says Dr. Hickey.
Dr. Hickey's interest in the War of 1812 stemmed from his dissertation on the opposition to the war. He had been working in and around the subject for nearly 20 years, and had published a series of articles about the war when he decided it was time to do a book on the subject.

Dr. Hickey, who came to Wayne State in 1978, earned his bachelor's, master's and Ph.D degrees from the University of Illinois.

Lower than anticipated hog aughter numbers and strong con-Lower than anticipated hog slaughter numbers and strong consumer demand are the apparent causes of higher than expected hog prices during the final quarter of 1989, a University of Nebraska agricultural economist said.

Al Wellman commented on a "contra-seasonal price rally" in the October-December period. "Positive supply and demand factors have caused price predictions to be too low for the current quar-ter and are affecting price fore-casts for early 1990," the livestock marketing specialist said.

Omaha slaughter hog prices averaged nearly $48 per hundred-weight for October-November, Wellman reported, while prices in early December have been in the upper $40's. "If larger supplies materialize, as presaged by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Hog and Pigs Report, prices will weaken to the low $40's," he said.

HOWEVER, It slaughter continues to run 1 percent to 2 percent

HOWEVER, It staughter continues to run 1 percent to 2 percent lower than year-ago levels and demand is steady, prices could remain in the mid $40°s, the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources specialist analyzed.

"January-March 1990 hog prices could range from a low of $40 to $41 to a top of near $50, depending on what happens during December," Wellman said. Prices are likely to average in the mid $40's, he said, "if the price-quantity relationship of previous years gains market control again."

Wellman advised hog producers to keep their hog marketing plan updated, "Excellent forward pricing opportunities may arise occasio ally, prompting price targets to hit and some: price hedges to be put in place.

November hog slaughter avered about 5 percent per week low th corresponding month a year ago, and at the same time, average weekly slaughter weights were three pounds to four pounds lower during the last six weeks. "This indicates hogs have been marketed in a timely fashion," con-tributing positively to pork produc-tion levels during the October-November period, "Wellman em-

Medicine Packaging Improves Compliance

Child-resistant medicine containers were introduced several years ago in an attempt to reduce the incidence of medicine poisonings among children. More recently, product packages have been designed to protect products from the time medicines leave the manufacturer until they are purchased by consumers.

Many prescription and nonprescription medicines are not taken correctly. Drug companies have responded to this problem by introducing medicine packaging designed to promote the safe and appropriate use of their products. One of the latest advances in packaging is compliance, packaging which helps ensure that products are taken as they are prescribed. An example of compliance packing is the blister pack one or more doses of the same medicine mounted on a card or inside a dialpack. Having all doses displayed serves as a reminder of doses which remain to be taken and the time of each dose.

Another attempt at improving compliance is special containers for eye drop medicines. At least one manufacturer provides drops in a container that informs users of the next dose due to be given by viewing a dial located on the container top.

Accidental Discovery May End Obesity

End Obesity

Suppresses calorie absorption

SWEDEN--Medical researchers at the University of Kuopio, in Finland, have discovered (accidentally) a new weight-loss formula. The new discovery appears to enable an overweight individual to lose pounds and fatty tissue without conventional dieting or exercise.

Scientists made the discovery while searching for a formula to lower cholesterol. In a controlled study of a test group of people, cholesterol levels-remained-unchanged but the doctors were astounded to find that every patient who used the formula lost weight. The published report of this study stated, "A highly significant decrease in body weight was seen" in patients who received the formula.

The formula was then tested at another prestigious European university hospital, Again, all patients lost weight even though they did not change their eating habits. The report detailing this study, published in the British Journal of Nutrition, stated: "Body weight was significantly reduced even though the patients were specifically asked not to alter their dietary habits." One patient in this study lost more than 30 pounds.

According to one informed source, eactive ingredient comes from a 100% natural botanical source and contains no drugs or stimulants. When taken before mealtime it bonds with the food you eat and "ties up" calonics, especially those from fats, suppressing their absorption.

A significant portion of the calories ingested therefore pass through the digestive system unabsorbed. The body has to get energy to replace the lost calories, so it starts to bum stored fat, which can result in rapid body weight loss. Clinical testing has verified the safety of this formula for long-term use.

The formula is marketed in capsule form in the United States under the trade name Cal-Ban 3000. A firm located in Tampa, Florida, has exclusive North American distribution rights. A review of the customer files of this company revealed the names of hundreds of people who have lost as much as 20; 40 or 80 or more pounds overall with Cal-Ban 3000. This appears to be a golden opportunity for people who are plagued by fat and cellulite that they can't seem to lose by conventional are plagued by fat and cellulite that they can't seem to lose by conventional methods.

Cal-Ban 3000 is reasonably priced at $19.95 for a 3-week supply and $38.95 for a 6-week supply. Postage and handling is $3. VISA, M/C, AMEX and COD orders are accepted. To order call TOLL-FREE 1-800-537-3723 or purchase locally at Griess Rexall, 507 Main, Wayne, NE.
