ESU administrator contract approved

By LaVon Anderson Assistant Editor

The board of directors of Educational Service Unit 1 took action on several items of business this month, including election of board officers and approval of the ESU 1 administrator's contract.

Meeting last Tuesday night in Wakefield, board members offered a two-year contract to Rodney Garwood, ESU 1 administrator since July 1987.

Garwood's annual salary, as unanimously approved by the board, was set at $48,000. In addition, board members increased his expense account from $50 to $100 and agreed to pay for yearly vacation time of 15 working days.

The offer came following an executive session during which board members also evaluated Duane Tappe, ESU 1 special education director.

RE-ELECTED BOARD chairman was Ken Lahrs of Ponca. Also re-elected were John Post of Bloom-field, vice president, and Jim Mar-tindale of Creighton, secretary. John Portwood of the Wakefield

John Portwood of the Wakeneid National Bank was appointed board treasurer. Portwood is not a member of the ESU 1 board. Lisa Salmon, ESU 1 office man-ager, was appointed recording sec-retary.

The insurance committee is comprised of Lahrs, Steffen and Martindale, and members of the building and grounds committee are Marvin Borg of Concord, Bey-Novak of Pender and Randall Hummel of Homer.

Claire Hansen of Coleridge and Arneson will serve as the board's representatives on legislative issues

BOARD MEMBERS Tuesday night also approved the reallocation of nursing services for 1990-95.

Administrator Garwood told board members Tuesday night that reallocation of nursing services takes place every five years and that there were six schools where possible changes could occur. Garwood said the latest figures available show that an increase from one day to one and a half days of nursing services per week are needed in the schools at Macy, Ponca and Wakefield, while a decrease in services could occur at Hartington, Newcastle and Wausa.

Garwood added that there are extenuating circumstances in each of the three schools where a possible reduction in services could oc-

Following discussion, board members voted unanimously to approve a final recommendation approve a limar recommendation by Garwood in which nursing services at Macy, Ponca and Wakefield would be increased to one and a half days per week, while services in the schools at Hartington, Newcastle and Wausa would be maintained at a level of one day per week.

Garwood's recommendation, as approved by the board, also would increase ESU 1's contribution to the nursing program from $212,000 to $220,000.

Garwood added that the changes, as approved by the board, will increase the level of nursing services provided by ESU 1 from 38 days per week to 39 1/2 days per week.

IN OTHER business Tuesday night, ESU 1 board members discussed two new policies dealing with medically fragile children and creating a drug free workplace.

Garwood told the board that a Garwood told the board that a rough draft regarding medically fragile children has been formulated and points out the direction SU$\frac{1}{1}$ is going. Gārwood added that a final proposal will hopefully be available at next month's board meeting.

In essence, Garwood said the policy regarding medically fragile-children states that ESU 1 employ-ees will offer a level of medical services attainable after up to four hours of training for a particular

Supreme Court dismisses Conway case

The Nebraska Supreme Court dismissed the case, filed by State Attorney General Robert Spire, that challenged whether State Senator Gerald Conway could serve as an instructor at Wayne State College while also representing the 17th Legislative District at the same time.

It was reported that the case was dismissed because neither the Nebraska Attorney General's Office or Conway's attorneys could reach the necessary agreements on the facts of the case.

The case could be heard in district court in Wayne or Lincoln or reinstated to the Nebraska Supreme Court because Spire said he wishes to continue pursuing the asking the Nebraska Supreme Court to rule that Conway of Wayne be removed and excluded from his teaching position at Wayne State College. He indicated that Conway, serving as a teacher in a public college and also a state senator, violated the separation-of-power clause in the Nebraska Constitution.

THE ISSUE of the case first surfaced early in 1989 when Tore Nelson, who lost to Conway in a bid for the state legislature in 1988, contested whether Conway should be allowed to serve as a legislator while still employed as a faculty member at Wayne State measured?

One way is to undergo evaluations at Wayne State College's newest service to the northeast Nebraska region and beyond. The Human Performance Lab, located in the Market Performance Cab, located and the Cab of t inside Rice Auditorium, is now in operation allowing individuals the opportunity to have their health, physical fitness levels and lifestyles

Through fitness and wellness evaluations at the Lab, trained professionals will assess diets, exercise programs and look at stress levels, body fat, flexibility and other matters associated with the health of their clients. After the evaluation through highly so-phisticated equipment, a private consultation is given with the client and appropriate recommendations are made.

Coordinator of the Human Performance Lab program is Doug Crowell, who previously was associated with the cardiac rehabilitation lab at Lutheran Hospital in Norfolk and has specialized and trained in the Testing services are available for anyone wanting to know more about their physical fitness and lifestyle. There are no age requirements and out-of-state persons are more than welcome to undergo the evaluations.

Persons under age 18 will need parental permission and individuals with documented heart diseases, or who are greater than 35 years old, will require physician approval prior to the exercise test.

Four separate testing packages are available at a reasonable cost, ranging from $20 to $60 per evaluation. The comprehensive test will cover health risk appraisal, stress assessment, nutritional analysis, posture analysis, submaximal exercise test (treadmill or bicycle), resting and exercise blood pressure, flexibility testing, strength testing, pulmonary function, body composition and an exercise prescription. Dr. Ralph Barclay, division head of Health, Physical Education and of Health, Physical Education and Recreation at Wayne State Col-lege, said WSC had been per-forming the human performance testing previously. But at the time they didn't have the funds for pur-chasing the sophisticated equip-ment to offer the lab program on a more regional basis.

Now that the equipment, which provides the client with as accurate provides the client with as accurate information as possible, has been provided Barclay said the Human Performance Lab is "as well supplied as any place within miles around here."

"From Illinois to Denver, you won't find one any better," Barclay said. He was particularly pleased at obtaining Crowell to run the lab.

Researchers know that elevated levels of cholesterol in the blood contribute to the risk of heart disease. A staggering 55 percent of the population has this condition, but only 10 percent of the population know their cholesterol level.

According to Dr. William Castelli, a noted researcher in the field, the problem is that high blood cholesterol, like high blood pressure, seldom causes symptoms. If you wait until you feel sick it may be too late to prevent a heart attack. That is why everybody needs to know his or her blood cholesterol count.

A program being launched by the National Heart, Lung and Blood In-

A program being launched by the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute seeks to nip this problem in the bud. Stressing the importance of cholesterol screening, the goal of the program is for all Americans to know — and control — their blood cholesterol levels.

DR. CASTELLI ALSO noted that is most cases, the formula for lowering ood cholesterol is simple — avoid foods that are high in cholesterol and saturated fat, control weight and exercise.

Saturated rat, control weight and exercise.

Knowing such procedures is also the goal of a program about to be launched by the Cooperative Extension Service. "Eating Today for a Healthier Tomorrow," a 15-hour course, addresses the issue of heart disease as well as obesity, cancer and osteoporosis.

"The course is intended to help people know how to reduce their risk of getting these diseases," said Mary Temme, extension agent-home

"It has been found that a lot of the people who take the course are those who have already been told that they have a health problem. Of course, a large number of those who have taken the class are concerned about the cholesterol issue. About one-third of class is spent on this topic."

THE COURSE WILL begin Tuesday, Jan. 30 in the meeting room at Providence Medical Center in Wayne. The course will be for seven weeks and all sessions will be from 7 to 9:30 p.m.
Registration fees will include resource materials, computer analysis of your diet and food prepared for tasting sessions. Those who complete the course will receive a certificate.
The cost of the course is $30 a person which includes two notebooks, handouts, computer analysis and refreshment breaks. Any two people may form a couple, share materials and register for $40. Deadline for registration is Jan. 18.

Carnes leads Devils

The Wayne Blue Devils played their first of four tough road games Friday night in the confines of the Stanton High School gym as they face Stanton, Seward, Hartington Cedar Catholic and West Point all away in a span of nine days.

However, Wayne took a positive first step on Friday night with an impressive 81-66 victory over the Mustangs of Stanton. The Blue Devils trailed 17-16 after the first quarter of play and at intermission the score was knotted at 36 apiece.

But Wayne's offensive explosion continued in the second half as they scored 45 points compared to 30 for the host team in accounting for the 15 point victory.

"The kids really played well together against Stanton," head coach Bob Uhing said. "We showed very good patience on offense and we got the ball to the open man."

Uhing 'noted that Wayne attacked the Stanton press real well throughout the game.

One good thing that the Blue Devils got to do was play a lot of people, thus, no one should be tired for the second night of travel which was at Seward on Saturday night.

Wayne's big people down low really dominated Stanton's big twosome of Shane Patterson and Brady Caskey. Neil Carnes and Craig Sharpe had remarkable games as the two-some combined for 45 of Wayne's 81 points. Carnes led all scorers with 26 points and Sharpe added 19. Willy Gross was the third member of the Blue Devils in double figures with 15. Craig Dyer added eight points while Casey Dyer. and Kyle Dahl had four each. Jeff Griesch and Chad Metzler rounded out the attack with three and two points respectively.

Wayne maintainegé a 36-33 advantage on the Boards led by Neil Carnes and Craig Sharpe with 11 and 10 each. Willy Gross hauled down seven from his off guard spot. "I thought our big people in Neil Carnes and Craig Sharpe did a really nice job," Uhing said. "But I also think it was a total team effort. Willy Gross had a fine game and Casey Dyer, Chad Metzler and Kyle Dahl did a good job of coming off the bench."

It was a relatively clean ball

It was a relatively clean ball game as far as turnovers were con-cerned as Wayne suffered just 10 but the host team had just six. Wayne improved its free throw shooting with a 14-21 effort while Stanton was 15-21.

NCAA changes to affect WSC

Wayne girls fall to South Sioux

At the recent National Colle-giate Athletic Association Convention in Dallas, Tex., presidents of NCAA affiliate schools made it loud and clear who really runs the programs at their respective schools.

In the so called "convention of the student athlete" members of the NCAA schools modified, chopped and reduced during the reform ridden convention in taking steps which were undoubtedly shots heard round the U.S.

Wayne State athletic director Pete Chapman was at the convention (His third NCAA convention) as a voting delegate because Wayne State is an NCAA Division II program. "Each member of the NCAA has a vote—in the convention," Chapman said. "That vote has to be the consensus of the school so there were a few times when athletic directors and presidents of contraction of contraction of contraction of contractions and presidents of contractions and presidents of contractions of the consensus of the contraction of contractions and presidents of contractions and presidents of contractions are presidents. when athletic directors and presidents of certain schools weren't seeing eye to eye when the time came to vote on some of the pro-posed cuts."

Chapman said that he and Wayne State president Dr. Donald Mash had met prior to Chapman's arrival in Dallas, to discuss how Wayne State would vote on the issues at hand. "Dr. Mash and I did meet and discuss what we felt would be good for our situation," Chapman said. "I also had meetings with our careful to the state of the stat ings with our coaches to discuss the effect that these proposed cuts would have on their programs if they were passed."

Among the cuts that will affect Wayne State is the shortening of the basketball season from 28 to the basketball season from 28 to 25 regular season games. Along with the cuts in games comes the cuts in practice. Instead of an October 15 starting date for basketball practice, the NCAA voted to have practice begin on November 1

And instead of being able to start conditioning on Sept. 1, members voted to start conditioning on Oct. 1. This legislation is tentatively slated to go into effect in 1992

Another proposal has to do with spring football practice. On the Division 1 level schools were allowed to have 20 spring football practice days with 15 days with contact in pads. In Division 11, teams were allowed 20 days of spring practice as well but the NCAA voted to reduce the number of practices on the Division ber of practices on the Division 1 and 1AA level to 15 practices with 10 in pads while the Division 11 and Division 111 levels were given just 12 days of practice with no

One other piece of legislation passed was that each member of the NCAA's Division 1 and 11 schools which number more than 500, must make public each October the percentage of stu-dents who graduate and the per-centage of student-athletes who

The student-athlete total will be broken down by sport and the bas-ketball and football graduation rates will be broken down by race. New Regulations Permit Tree Planting Under Existing CRP Contracts

The Disaster Assistance Act of 1989 provides for new conservation measures under the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) with eligible owners or operators on existing CRP contracts.

An owner or operator who was authorized to either graze or hay, during the 1989 crop year on designated CRP acreage is eligible for cost-share assistance for new conservation measures under CRP if the owner or operator either agreed to a reduction in their 1989 annual rental payment or prepaid in advance the total payment reduction for the emergency use of the CRP acres.

Tree planting, wildlife habitats, field windbreaks, shallow water for wildlife and bottomland timber practices are eligible to be established on CRP acres under an existing contract only if the acres being established to the new measures were not previously designated for these practices, or on land on the same tract or an adjoining tract of the same farm.

The sign up period to request new conservation measures under CRP ended December 31, 1989. Practices applied for under this provision must be completed on or before September 30, 1990.

New information on wind breaks is currently available at Soil Conservation Service (SCS) offices. New fact sheets such as wind windbreak effects crops and planting be obtained from minute videotape breaks: Planning, Living with the wind Care" is also availtains many helpful windbreak planning. To
