VERN SCHULZ TAKES A LOOK at damage to a tree as he holds the pellets from the shotgun used to destroy four trees at the City of Wayne Softball Complex.

Vandals take guns to trees at ball park

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

Despite having the future of the City of Wayne's Softball Complex shrouded in mystery, City of Wayne Public Works officials found extensive vandalism during a routine inspection of the complex, according to Wayne public works superintendent Vern Schulz.

Schulz said four shade trees on the west end of the park, just east of the City Sewage Treatment Plant had been destroyed at an unknown time by vandals. The trees had been destroyed approximately four feet from the base of the trees with a shotgun and it is believed the incident occurred sometime during the hunting season, which began in November, Schulz said.

The damage, however, was not limited to just the trees. Schulz said vandals also stripped off the handles of doors to the restroom/concession stand as well as kicked in a window at the concession stand.

According to Wayne Police Chief Vern Fairchild, the incident is being investigated but no leads have turned up.

PART OF THE REASON the park's future is shrouded in mystery is because seven years ago when it was originally built, it was put up by the Wayne Jaycees. In the past six months, the Jaycees have requested from the City of Wayne to be released from the lease because it is too expensive for the service organization to continue to operate, according to a letter received by the city from the Jaycees on July 25, 1989.

At the last City Council meeting, a committee was appointed to work on further transactions involving the complex as well as other recreational facilities in Wayne. The committee met for the first time Wednesday night, but according to Marian Simpson, who is a member of the committee, the meeting was for organizational purposes and no action was taken. She said the committee will probably not have legislative capabilities since its purpose is to make suggestions to the City Council.

According to Schulz, the cost to renovate the building at the park, as well as other maintenance which is needed such as replacing doors, roof repair on the concession stand, painting, building cleanup, electrical wiring, tree trimming, fence repair, landscaping and reseeding and fertilizer costs for the outfield of the four diamonds will cost the city $3,687. He said that figure does not include routine maintenance which will occur during the summer.

THE PROBLEM, Schulz said, right now is with the trees which have been vandalized. In a press release written by Schulz, it said it will take several years for the trees destroyed to be replaced.

"The sad thing is that it's still an active recreation facility and anytime damage is done, it's an expense to the taxpayers," Schulz said. "It's the people who use it though who will suffer the most. It upsets me, but I hope the police can catch whoever it was who did it."

According to information in the Jaycees letter to the City of Wayne, the complex is home to 18 league teams during the summer and several tournaments are played there throughout the softball season.

St. Mary's youth geared up for celebration week

By Mark Crist
Managing Editor

Parents of students at St. Mary's Catholic School in Wayne will have a chance to see first-hand the education their children are receiving next week during a week-long program entitled Yes, Catholic Schools; A Parent's Choice.

The program, which is put on by Catholic schools nationwide, will begin Sunday, Jan. 28 and run through Feb. 2. It is part of the Catholic Schools Week celebration.

According to St. Mary's Catholic School head teacher/principal Kathy Ferris, the program enables teachers to bring parents into the classroom at an opportune time to see what it's like for their children to receive a quality education in a private Catholic school. St. Mary's has also compiled a list of letters from parents addressing the issue of why their children are enrolled in a Catholic school.

Ferris said children will be given a chance to show their parents and the public what they're doing. She said the entire week's program is scheduled by the students and allows parents to enter the classroom environment with the students.

"They're (the students) showing their parents what they're learning," she said. "They're also telling their parents what they're proud of in what they're doing."

The week-long celebration will begin with a Mass on Sunday as the children will be taking up the offerings, delivering the readings and performing special songs. Ferris said all 47 children in the school, grades kindergarten through fourth, will put on the week-long program.

Ferris said the program, along with the quality of education children are receiving, has been so successful in the past that next year the school will add fifth graders to the school. Right now, only grades K-4 are in the school.

"We're growing," she said. "Next year we will have fifth graders also."

SHE SAID THE PROGRAM is unique, however, because it gives parents a chance to see what their children's education is like. Ferris said the program is designed to enable students a chance to share with their parents what they've learned.

"We bring the parents into the school so they can see what their children are doing," Ferris said. "The teachers will then have the parents come into the classroom to work with the children. In my class, parents will be working with their students on a page of math problems and the parents will help the child with mathematical problem solving."

If parent's letters are any indication of the success of the Catholic school and the programs it offers its students, then there's quite a bit for youth and parents, alike, to be excited about.

"I send my children to a Catholic school because I want them to learn that God and morality are parts of all aspects of life, not just the part called religion," writes Jan Brumm, who has children in kindergarten and second grade.

"We feel that the caring, individual nature of Christian education and the parochial school setting enhances not only the educational, but the spiritual development of our child," wrote Ron and Deb Whitl, parents of a third grader at St. Mary's.

Ferris added that the program also enables the teachers to see how parents help their children in an educational environment. She said it's nice to have the parents come into the classroom and share their knowledge with their children. She said it also helps teachers to better understand their students individual working nature. She added, however, that that's not the only reason.

"The reason we want parents to come into the classroom is not so much for our benefit, but for

Jazz duo to perform at Wayne State on Feb. 5

WAYNE - The Mitchell-Ruff Jazz Duo will perform Monday, Feb. 5 at 8 p.m. as the fourth installment of Wayne State College's 1989-90 Black & Gold Series. The performance will be in Ramsey Theatre located in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Building, at Wayne State.

The Mitchell-Ruff Duo was formed in 1955 when the pianist Dwiki Mitchell and the bassist and French horn player Willie Ruff left Lionel Hampton's band to strike out on their own — a career that has taken them to the top of their profession and to many corners of the world. It was the Duo that introduced American jazz to the postwar Soviet Union in 1959, and to China in 1981.

But Mitchell and Ruff first caught the attention of jazz fans in the 1950s when they were booked as the second act with the hottest bands of the day — Dizzy Gillespie, Louis Armstrong, Duke Ellington, Count Basie — in Birdland, the Embers, the Village Vanguard, Basin Street East and other leading nightclubs.

In the late 1950s, they toured widely for a group called Young Audiences, playing and demonstrating jazz for students in elementary schools and high schools, and since the mid-1960s, their main format has been — and still is — the college concert. They give 60 or 70 performances a year on college campuses where they are great favorites.

Tickets, which are $5 for adults and $3 for high school age or younger, may be obtained at the business office located on the first floor of the Hahn Administration Building at Wayne State.

For more ticket information, call (402) 375-2200, ext. 517.

Wayne County affiliate Heart Association discusses fund drives

The Wayne County affiliate of the American Heart Association met recently to discuss plans for the annual business and residential fund drives.

Although February (Heart Month) has traditionally been the month during which the residential drive is conducted, the committee voted to delay this year's residential drive until next fall when temperatures are milder.

The Wayne County affiliate will celebrate Heart Month with heart trivia and other media activities. Residents are asked to watch The Wayne Herald and listen to Wayne Radio KTCH for more information on how to help control and combat cardiovascular diseases.

Paula Pflueger and Denell Parker were named co-chairmen for preliminary planning of the celebrity water event. The group viewed a video on other celebrity water events held in Nebraska.

MEMBERS ALSO discussed instances where residents have received requests through the mail for contributions to the American Heart Association, in addition to the local door-to-door campaign.

Jackie McCoullough, coordinator for Wayne County, said the mailings come from addresses other companies share with the National Heart Association.

McCoullough added that the Wayne County affiliate has no control over the mailings and apologies for the double request.

Wayne County does receive credit for local contributions, and the committee said residents may choose to give twice or may wish to wait and contribute when the local drive is conducted.

THE COMMITTEE took kits to the hospital and doctors' offices. The kits are a part of the educational activities of the American Heart Association and include information about cardiovascular disease.

The next meeting of the Wayne County affiliate is scheduled Thursday, March 1 at 7:30 p.m. at Providence Medical Center in Wayne. All interested persons are encouraged to attend.

Learn to communicate with your kids

Many parents strive hard to teach their children the proper techniques for living and growing up. Maybe this is a good time to take a look at the proper techniques for parenting.

Here are six fundamental rules for parenting. There is no guarantee that they will solve every parent-child problem, but they will help.

Rule 1: See the world through your child's eyes

This is one of the most basic, but most ignored rules of parenting. We expect them to act as we would in their situation. We don't understand why our 14-year-old daughter refuses to go to a dance just because she has a blemish on her face. As parents, we are not guilty of malice or of willfully harming our children. We simply are guilty of forgetting what it's like to be their age.

Rule 2: Focus on feelings

This seems so simple and yet it is appalling how little time we spend trying to understand and communicate about our children's feelings. How many parents have a lengthy discussion about what their child thinks without questioning how he or she feels? To a great degree, we are our feelings. Discussing a child's feelings is getting to the core of the issue without all the detours. It's the most direct route to the essence of the child.

Rule 3: Accept the feelings — not necessarily the behavior

Because we are our feelings, rejecting a child's feelings is the same as rejecting the child. We must accept their fear, their discouragement, their anger, or their jealousy. That doesn't mean that we have to accept a temper tantrum or their aggression toward us or others. Their behavior can be punished or rewarded. However, their feelings must be validated. There's a fine line of distinction between accepting the feelings and, at the same time, rewarding or punishing the behavior. It's a tightrope and it requires much effort on the part of the parents. However, if the parents can do this "high-wire act," the children will grow up accepting themselves and their feelings while understanding that there are limitations to the expression of those feelings.

Rule 4: Talk about your own feelings

When was the last time you sat down with your children and told them how you felt? We have plenty of opportunities to express our feelings about what's going on. Instead, parents try to act like unfeeling little models of perfection. If I had one wish for all parents, I would wish that they stop trying to be perfect. Our children need to see us as imperfect human beings. That's what lets them know it's alright to be imperfect. The best way parents can show their humanity is to express their feelings.

Rule 5: Work with your child to establish rules

If there is one thing which our American democratic system has taught us, it is that people will follow the rules better if they helped make them. The child needs to know why the rules exist. He or she needs to have a part in the creation of those rules and in the desirable or undesirable consequences which follow, depending on whether those rules are broken or followed.

Rule 6: Let them go

This is the hardest rule of all. We all want to protect those we love from hurt and sorrow. There are two ways to cope with hurt: You can be impervious or you can be resilient. Nobody is impervious to all hurt. Therefore everybody needs some resiliency — the ability to bounce back after you've fallen short of your goal. The hardest job in parenting is to let go. Nothing is more difficult. Yet it is true that, from the moment they are born, you begin to lose your children. You have them only for a short time. In that short time you must give them your legacy. Parents and children can be partners in that endeavor.

Wakefield resilience pays off in victory

Another chapter of the "Clash of the Titans" took place Friday night and this time the game was in Laurel as the two of the state's best Class C teams tangled with the 10th rated Bears hosting the fourth rated Trojans of Wakefield. Wakefield trailed by as much as six points in the fourth quarter but Chris Loofe popped a 3-pointer with less than 2:50 remaining in the game which put Wakefield ahead by three and from then Wakefield was virtually in a free throw contest with themselves as laurel was forced to foul thus making the final score, 64-53 in the Trojans favor.

Anyone who was lucky enough to witness the game in person probably saw one of the finest games of the season regardless of class and the game was definitely closer than the final score indicated.

The Trojan victory marred the phenomenal play of Laurel's big man John Schutte. The 6-5 senior rose to the occasion as he often does in big games and scored 29 points and hauled down 14 rebounds to aid the Bears.

But talk about resilience, Wakefield without a doubt has it. Head coach Paul Eaton watched from the sideline as his troops maintained their cool throughout the contest and never worried as the leadership of guards Chris Loofe and Matt Tappe paid off. Speaking of money players, Tony Krusemark played a fantastic second half as he quietly led the Trojans with 18 points.

The Trojans had three players in double figures as Chris Loofe managed 13 points and Andy McQuistan poured in 12. Mark Johnson netted eight and Matt Tappe accounted for seven. Anthony Brown and Keith Wenstrand rounded out the Trojan attack with four and two points respectively.

Shawn Arens was the only other Bear in double figures with 14 to go along with Schutte's 29. Troy Twohig managed six points while Todd Erwin and Matt Jonas had two each.

Both teams had a different count on the rebounds but one thing was certain, it was as even a game on the boards as it was on the score board. The bulk of Laurel's rebounds came with John Schutte hauling down 14. Laurel did commit more turnovers than their Trojan counterparts but only by a 16-13 margin.

The Bears were 7-10 from the charity stripe and Wakefield blisters the twine on 14 of 16 including 10 of 11 in the fourth period alone. Wakefield hit two 3-pointers in the game, one by Matt Tappe in the first quarter and one by Chris Loofe in the fourth period. The Trojans finished the contest with just one more bucket than Laurel in a very evenly played game.

"Our kids played their hearts out," Laurel coach Mark Hrabik said. "I hope people see that the game was closer than the score because it was." Wakefield assistant coach Arnie Cerny agreed. "The game was a nail biter until the final minute," Cerny said.

"I thought Chris Loofe and Matt Tappe did a nice job of running the offense and Tappe and Mark Johnson did a good job on defense," Wakefield head coach Paul Eaton said. "It was a good game between two good teams and we're glad to come out of there with a win."

Wakefield advances to 15-1 with the win and Laurel fell to 11-3.

TONY KRUSEMARK shoots over John Scutte during fourth quarter action of Wakefield's 11 point victory over Laurel. Wakefield improved to 15-1 with the win.

LAUREL'S JOHN SCHUTTE skies for two of his game high 29 points against Wakefield Friday night in Laurel. Schutte also hauled 14 rebounds to lead the Bears.

Wayne boys win on road again

The Wayne Blue Devils upped their season record to 9-5 Friday night with a 70-55 win over rival

West Point in West Point. Wayne jumped out on the opening tip off like it was a track meet as they quickly built a huge lead which proved to be insurmountable for the host team.

Wayne led 26-12 after the first quarter and then watched as West Point drew within six at the break, 38-32. The Blue Devils maintained an eight point lead after the third quarter before out scoring the Cadets by seven in the final stanza.

"We had an excellent first quarter," Wayne head coach Bob Uhing said, "then we let up and they started getting back into the game." Uhing felt his team did a good job of building back that lead in the third and fourth quarters.

"We just can't seem to get that killer instinct," Uhing said. "We get ahead of a team but we just can't seem to put them away." Neil Carnes played a very good game according to Uhing. "The senior post tallied 22 points to lead all Blue Devils. He also pulled down nine rebounds to help lead Wayne to a 29-21 margin of victory in rebounds as well."

"Neil had a very fine game," Uhing said. "In fact, all our posts shot well from the field when we got them the ball." There were four Blue Devils in double figures on the night as Craig Dyer netted in 14 and Craig Sharpe netted 12. Willy Gross was also in double digits with 10. Jeff Griesch and Kyle Dahl each netted six to round out the scoring.

Wayne suffered 12 turnovers in the contest but forced West Point into 16. The Blue Devils did a good job from the charity stripe connecting on 15 of 22 attempts. "I am very pleased to come out of that very tough four game road stand with a 3-1 record," Uhing said. "All four of those teams we played on the road, Stanton, Seward, Cedar Catholic and West Point have good home records."

The reserve team was downed by West Point 58-37 as Brian Lentz led the way with 19 points in a losing effort. John Murphy netted 10.

Allen girls lose twice

The Allen girls aren't posting wins in rapid fashion this season but first year coach Lori Koester has seen her squad give some highly touted teams a struggle.

Last week against Coleridge the Eagles led by five at half time at 20-15. Coleridge made a come back but still only led by two at the end of the third quarter. Coleridge out lasted Allen in the final eight minutes to pull out a 48-40 win.

"I believe that was our best out put of the year," Koester said. "We got into foul trouble which is not hard to do when you are a much shorter team than you opponent."

Steph Carlson led Allen's effort with 14 points while Cindy Chase poured in 12. Robin Schroeder and Denise Boyle each accounted for five points while Alyssa McGrath and Heather Sachau had two each.

Allen was out rebounded by the taller Coleridge team, 40-31 despite a balanced rebounding effort by the Eagles with Steph Carlson hauling down eight rebounds and Denise Boyle and Cindy Chase each hauling down seven rebounds.

On Thursday night Allen got another big test as they had to play highly rated Emerson-Hubbard in Emerson. The Eagles again played good basketball before succumbing, 61-47. "We were really proud of the effort our girls gave," Koester said. "We never gave up and Emerson is a real good team."

The Lady Eagles got off to a terrible start however, as they netted only two first quarter points while Emerson rattled off 13. The Lady Pirates had built a 27-12 half time. Emerson out scored the Eagles 24-11 in the third quarter to maintain a 51-23 lead with one quarter remaining. Allen scored 24 points in the fourth quarter to close the gap considerably.

"We just got off on the wrong foot," Koester said. "We were only five of 26 from the field in the first half." Cindy Chase led the Lady Eagles in scoring with 21 points while Steph Carlson netted nine. Carla Stapleton finished with eight points and Alyssa McGrath poured in five. Denise Boyle and Jenny Lee each accounted for two points.

Denise Boyle led the Eagles in rebounding with eight caroms to her credit while Steph Carlson hauled down six rebounds. Allen did a much better job of handling the ball as they suffered just 13 turnovers. Leah Fuscher and Marcy Schwarten led Emerson with 22 points each.

Wayne wrestlers now 7-0

The Wayne wrestlers improved their dual mark to a perfect 7-0 Thursday night in convincing fashion as they downed Lyons-Decatur in Lyons, 56-15. The evening moved fast as there were only eight varsity matches and just two junior varsity matches.

In junior varsity action Dwaine Junk won by pin at 171 lbs while Ryan Harris lost by pin in the same weight class. In the 103 lb varsity match Randy Johnson received a forfeit. Brent Gamble lost a close 12-10 decision to Mitch Climer in the 112 lb match.

Mike DeNaeyer won by Technical Fall over Scott Gatewood at 119 lbs, while Trevor Wehrer won by forfeit in the 125 lb category. Wayne's Eric Cole was unable to wrestle because of a sore knee thus Lyons Decatur received a rare Wayne forfeit in that weight class.

Both Chris Janke and Greg DeNaeyer also won by forfeit at 135 and 140 lbs, respectively while Jason Fink took care of Tim Brown, 5-0 at 145 lbs. Jesse Brodersen pinned Jerry Drummond in 4:44 of the 152 lb category and Cory Wieseler pinned Charlie Wheaton in 5:07 of the 160 lb match.

Dan Wiseman lost by pin in his 171 lb match to Jim Archibeque while Jason Ehrhardt pinned Mike Fritts in 3:29 of his 189 lb match. Matt Bruggeman spent 3:36 on the mat with Lance Vavra before sticking him to the mat.

"I thought the kids did a good job of focusing on the meet," Wayne wrestling coach John Murtaugh said. "It would have been very easy for them to look past Lyons-Decatur in anticipation of Albion on Saturday but they didn't and I think they deserve a lot of credit for that."

Incidentally, 11 of Wayne's consistent varsity wrestlers have winning records to date including state rated wrestlers Mike DeNaeyer who is 20-1 and Jason Ehrhardt who is 21-1. Matt Bruggeman is right behind with a 16-2 mark while Chris Janke is 21-3.

Eric Cole is enjoying a fine year with a 16-6 mark while Brent Gamble has come on to post a 15-6 mark. Cory Wieseler is 9-6 and Greg DeNaeyer is 16-8. Other wrestlers who have posted a winning mark so far this season include Trevor Wehrer who is 13-9 and Randy Johnson who is 12-11 mark. Jesse Brodersen has posted a 14-12 record to date.

Lady Blue Devils lose to rated team

Marlene Uhing knew coming into Thursday night's game against state rated Hartington Cedar Catholic, that her girls would have to be mentally ready to play in all phases of the game not only because Cedar has excellent size and quickness, but because just two nights earlier they were defeated by Battle Creek.

"I was kind of hoping that Cedar would have beaten Battle Creek," Uhing said. "That way they wouldn't come in here with a vengeance not to lose two in a row."

Although Wayne played well in spurts, it was not enough as Cedar defeated the Blue Devils by a 53-39 margin. "I really felt we played a good defensive game," Uhing said.

"Our entire team problem was offense: We didn't run our offense the way we had intended to do before the game started."

Cedar jumped out to a 12-8 lead after one quarter of play and by intermission the lead had jumped to 12 at 26-14. Wayne rallied a little bit in the third quarter as they chipped the lead to nine with eight minutes remaining but Cedar managed to out score the Blue Devils 17-12 in the final stanza.

"I think one of the biggest differences in the game was the second quarter when Cedar out scored us 14-6," Uhing said. "I just didn't think we played that hard."

Teresa Ellis led the Blue Devils with 15 points, while Jennifer Hammer poured in nine. Heidi Reeg had a tough time scoring against 6-1 Steph Samuelson but she managed to score five points. Liz Reeg and Erin Pick had four each and Susie Enz tossed in two.

"I thought Heidi Reeg did a real nice job on the boards and on defense," Uhing said. "She managed to pull down 12 rebounds." Wayne was out rebounded by three, 25-22. Liz Reeg recorded five rebounds. Wayne suffered just four more turn overs than Cedar at 17-13 and the Blue Devils were 11-17 from the line while Cedar hit just 1-7.

"It seemed like we were playing the game not to lose and Cedar was playing the game to win the conference championship," Uhing said. "We were a little intimidated."

Wayne fell to 5-9 with the loss and will host O'Neill in a snow delayed game on Monday night. The junior varsity will precede the varsity contest at 6:15 p.m.

In junior varsity action Wayne fell 41-30. Kim Kruse and Tammy Geiger led the way for Wayne with eight points apiece.

HEIDI REEG gets sandwiched between two Cedar players in Thursday night's loss to highly rated Cedar Catholic.

JENNIFER HAMMER attempts a 15-foot jump shot in fourth quarter action of Wayne's match with Hartington Cedar Catholic Thursday night. Hammer had nine points.

Winside girls defeat Hartington

Jenny Jacobsen scored 15 points to lead the Winside girls basketball team to a 40-25 victory over Hartington Thursday night in Hartington as Paul Giesselmann's troops advanced to 7-4 on the season.

In the nightcap Randy Geier's Wildcats fell to Hartington by a 61-50 margin as Winside remains in search of its first win of the season. The loss offset junior Mark Brugger's performance which consisted of 22 points and 14 rebounds.

In the girls game Winside built a 14 point lead after one quarter of play at 18-4 and the Wildcats were never in jeopardy from that point on as they built a 30-8 lead by half time.

Giesselmann was able to clear his bench in the second half even though the host team out scored his squad by a 17-10 count in the third and fourth quarters. "I thought we played a very good first half," Giesselmann said. "We only had seven turnovers in the first half and we ended up having 23 for the game. The second half wasn't all they pretty but we got to play a lot of people."

Kelly Pichler followed Jacobsen's effort of 15 points with seven of her own while Wendy Rabe, Jenny Topp and April Thies all netted six each. Winside was out rebounded by Hartington despite a 10 rebound performance by Jenny Topp and nine rebounds by Wendy Rabe.

Hartington played with out it's leading scorer in Jill Herbolzheimer who suffered a knee injury recently. Unofficially, Herbolzheimer is finished for the rest of the season which is a big blow to the Hartington girls team.

Winside boys coach Randy Geier felt his team had their chances to win the game but a rather poor second quarter kind of shot down some of their hopes. "We had a turn over flurry in the second quarter which gave Hartington an eight to ten point advantage," Geier said. "Then we played even with them the rest of the way."

Randy Prince managed 11 points to go with Mark Brugger's 22 as they were the only Wildcats in double figures. Tad Behmer was close to the double digit mark with nine points while Matt Brogren netted five and Cory Jensen, three.

Winside held a commanding lead in the rebounding category with Prince and Brugger each hauling down 14 caroms. The Wildcats won the battle of the boards, 49-36. "One thing that really hurt our chances was turn overs," Geier said. "Hartington did a good job of handling the ball with just eight turn overs and we had 25."

Hartington's top gun, Chad Seim led all scorers with 29 points. "He's really had our number in his career," Geier said. "In three games against us he has scored a total of 106 points."

Geier was appreciative of the fan support his squad got from the people of Winside who traveled to watch the game. "We have a great crowd that supports us no matter what is happening," Geier said. "Our kids played hard but they just come up short."

College system to present fund requests today

The Nebraska State College System will present its requests for funding adjustments before the Legislature's Appropriations Committee today (Monday) at 1:30 p.m. in the Supreme Court Hearing Room (Room 2123). The requests represent funds for items unforeseen at the time of the biennial budget request last year; fiscal year 1990-91 is the second year of the biennial budget cycle.

The Nebraska state college system submitted requests to Gov. Kay Orr and the appropriations committee for cash and general funds totalling approximately $958,000 for fiscal year 1989-90 and $14.5 million for fiscal year 1990-91.

Priority needs identified by the state college system address such items as funding to enable Chadron State College to link up with the proposed NEB*SAT network, Nebraska telecommunications delivery system for education and funding for phase I of a three-year library automation project.

Other requests are for addition of instructional and support staff at the colleges, instructional equipment, removal of hazardous materials, engineering and architectural studies, building renovation projects and additions and funds to continue student support services at Chadron now being funded by a federal grant.

A STUDY OF the four state colleges published in the summer of 1989 noted that all of the state colleges are funded well below the average of their peers. The board of trustees recently extended the contract with the consultants conducting the study to continue refinement of a funding approach. The board has expressed concern for maintaining and providing quality educational experiences and services to the increasing number of students who are enrolling at the state colleges.

The governor's recommendation to the legislature for the state colleges includes increases of $45,000 to enable Chadron State to participate in NEB*SAT; $1.9 million to provide for a state college library automation and communication network with additional funds to be appropriated over two more years; and $1.7 million for upgrading the electrical distribution system at Kearney State College with additional funds to be provided in 1991-92. In addition, the governor has recommended approval of all cash-funded deficit requested. Cash funds are budget dollars generated by student tuition.

NEB*SAT is the result of the governor's initiative to develop a coordinated system involving all public education. The state colleges request includes production classrooms, staff and estimated line costs for uplink/downlink and regional area services at Chadron and Kearney State. Peru State and Wayne State would be added to the network in the next phase. Major funding for construction and operations of the project is included in the Nebraska Education Telecommunications Commission budget.

"WE ARE PLEASED with the governor's support for comprehensive higher education library automation and for telecommunication development in greater Nebraska," said Celann LaGreca, chair of the Nebraska State College Board of Trustees. "This is an investment for the state, our students and our communities," she said. "We are on the verge of overcoming some distance problems in accessing information. The funds provide the first step toward enabling the state colleges to deal with the challenges of the 21st century."

An automatic library system would be installed at each of the four state colleges in Kearney, Wayne, Chadron and Peru.

The proposed investments address a basic change of technology for the college libraries away from manual systems based on card catalogs and files, to computerization of basic library information-handling and operation. It will provide colleges with the capacity to network not only their libraries, but other campus resources as well. The system would more directly link the four college libraries with each other and with library systems at the University of Nebraska and other regional and national library systems. Peru State College is currently pilot testing a process allowing regional school libraries dial-in access to their automated library catalogue.

THE FOUR state college library directors with the coordination of John K. Mayeski, director of the Kearney State College Library, have led the extensive library automation planning process.

RMG Consultants, Inc. a national consulting firm headquartered in Chicago, has assisted in the process which featured two reporting sessions to review and critique the plans with a group of representatives from state government, including the Nebraska library commission, legislative fiscal office, state central data processing, the legislative research office and education committee. Also involved were University of Nebraska Library and Computer Center, the independent colleges, technical community colleges and others interested in coordinating automated library systems in Nebraska.

"What we are talking about is a window to the world," said Dr. Richard Bringelson, executive director of state college system. "We recognize and appreciate the cooperation from the wide-range of agencies who have helped develop this program."
