Colleges may see change

By Mark Crist Managing Editor

Following a discussion late last Following a discussion late last week with members of the committee appointed by the Nebraska Unicameral; the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State College System offered its support to change the governance structure of the four state colleges, while the University of Nebraska Board of Regents said it would not support LB 1141 and LR 239CA.

LB 1141 and LR 239CA calls for a change in the structure of governance of postsecondary institutions in Nebraska, which would result in the creation of a new board of regents—for—Nebraska—highereducation. If approved, the bill would establish a separate board of trustees for each of the seven state colleges and universities and establish a board of regents which oversees the seven separate. oversees the seven separate, locally governed, units.

LB 1141 IS THE outgrowth of a study commissioned by the 1989 legislative session, according to in-formation from a news release is-sued by the Nebraska State Col-lege Board of Trustees. The study was conducted by consultants hired by the legislature last year at a cost of $139,000.

Dr. Donald Mash, president of Wayne State College, said before the panel that he supports the change. He said in a written testimony before the legislature's edu-cation committee that the review

"There is no iright' governance structure and certainly no perfect one," he said. "Each state must determine what works best for it and strive to put it into place. The consultants' recommendations contained in 1141 represent a very good means to an end. ... Centralized statewide coordination combined with local institutional governance can strengthen both

"You can assume he supports it," Mash said.

ACCORDING TO information provided by the State College Board of Trustees, the board identified several strengths in the bill. It said the board identified citizen involvement in a public policy role, leading to broaden citizen understanding of education throughout the state; presidents would be employed by and accountable to the institutional boards of trustees; the provision for the use of budget among institutions; and overall strong coordination of higher edu-cation, as the strengths of LB 1141.

In a press release issued by the Board of Trustees, they said they were not concerned whether gov-erning boards were elected or appointed by the governor. Presently, as the bill is written, board members would be appointed by the governor.

During testimony, Don Blank, chairman for the University of Ne-raska Board of Regents rejected LB 1141 because he didn't believe a change as dramatic as the bill proposes is necessary. also accepted with regrets the resignation of Laura Straight as re-source teacher at Hoskins. Straight's resignation will become effective at the end of the 1989-90 school year following the clo-sure of Hoskins Public School.

IN OTHER BUSINESS Tuesday night, board members unanimously approved a two-year contract for Duane Tappe, ESU 1 special education director for the past 16

Tappe's salary for 1990-91 was set at $41,000 and is negotiable after the first year. In addition, Tappe will receive a $50 monthly unverified expense check.

BOARD MEMBERS also set the 1990-91 mileage rate for ESU 1 employees at 26 cents per mile in accordance with federal tax regulations. The new mileage rate will become effective Sept. 1, 1990 and is a two cent increase over the 1989-90 mileage rate. Second and final round approval was given to a policy regarding a drug free workplace. The policy is a federal mandate which states that all employers receiving federal finances must provide a drug free workplace.

ESU 1 Administrator Rodney Garwood said all employees will be required to read, sign and agree to the policy.

The board also approved first round reading of a policy dealing with medically fragile/technology dependent children. The second and final reading will take place next month. ESU 1 Attorney John Gerrard of Norfolk is to indicate his approval of the policy prior to next month's second reading. In essence, the policy states that ESU 1 employees will offer a level of medical services attainable after up to four hours of training for a particular procedure. Additional medical needs would probably need to be rendered by a medical practitioner and not by an ESU employee.

ESU 1 BOARD members Tuesday night also:
—Voted unanimously to partici-

Conway sees LB 1036 taxingly important

Last week, the Revenue Committee heard LB 1036, a bill 1 introduced and was co-signed by Senator Hall, Chairman of the Revenue Committee, Senator Warner, Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, and Senator Baack, Chairman of the Government, Military and Veterans Affairs Committee. LB 1036, in my opinion, is a very Important bill relating to additional relief in the area of property taxation. property taxation.

The original intent in drafting LB 1036 was to allow individuals to have a procedure for budgeting for property taxes, rather than thaving the plan for two, rather large payments per year. After investigating the matter, I found several inconsistencies relating to the payment of property taxes, especially on residential property. Whenever one tries to deal with property taxes, it invariably leads property taxes, it invariably leads one back to the Savings and Loan Associations and other lending institutions. This is what I found in this situation. When someone buys a property and signs a note and mortgage, especially on a residential property, an "escrow account" is established at the demand of the lending institution. This "escrow account", typically paid monthly as part of the house payment, is actually the borrower's money, put there for the payment of the borrower's real estate taxes. However, it is not in fact a trust account, and tis not in fact a trust account, and the lender typically uses the money for whatever purposes it chooses; most usually to earn in-terest upon it. The lender has little terest upon it. The lender has little care to account to the borrower, and rarely does. Its only concern is that when taxes are due on the property; it has sufficient funds on hand to pay what is due.

LB 1036 would change this entire process. First, to address the original problem, it would allow the county treasurer to accept partial payment, not only those payments relating to monthly payments of real estate taxes, but also those paid to take care of delinquencies which cannot be satisfied in a lump sum. Second, and most impor-tantly, it would require all lending institutions, which had established an escrow account with a borrower, for the purpose of guaranteeing the payment of real estate taxes, to pay those taxes to the county treasurer on a monthly, rather than on a semi-annual basis.

The fiscal note on this piece of legislation would indicate that a diversion such as this, of the property taxes being paid to a lender on a monthly basis, would generate $30,000,000 per year in interest alone for the counties. This sum is reflective of the amount the lending interests and the sum of the counties of the amount the lending interests. lending institutions are making in interest from pre-paid taxes that should be legitimately credited to the local subdivisions when col-

I am extremely hopeful that this legislation will receive favor-able consideration by the Commit-tee and by the Legislature. To ac-complish this, it will require a new and more efficient accounting system at the county level. This will have a cost but, minimal to the return. I view it as a very important piece of property tax relief since the savings can be passed on to the taxnaver. the taxpayer.

So how did you like our little change in Monday's paper?

We decided to bring the flag clear across the top of the front page.

We thought it spiced it up a little from having the At a Clarice running into the flag. From a graphic standpoint, the way it was done was something which needed to be changed and we thought there was no better time than on a Monday.

which needed to be changed and we thought there was no better than on a Monday.

There are some other things we're going to be trying in the future to improve the appearance of your paper — that's a philosophy I hold to; it's the Wayne community newspaper — so if there's a change you don't like, please feel free to let us know. The rest of the changes we're going to make will be subtle for now, however THINGS ARE LOOKING good with the survey the START economic development resource team is going to be implementing. The 10-member team will be defining the needs of the community where economic development is concerned. The survey is one of the tools they plan to use and there are plans down the road to have Gov. Kay Orr speak at the hearing of the team's findings. Keep your eyes on the Wayne Herald for details.

IF YOU MISSED THE Wayne State College renaissance fair last Sunday, you really missed something spectacular. This cultural event represented some of the best performing talent of the college in a performance which went beyond most people's expectations. In a classicly-performed narration by Beverley Nitschke, six students delivered one of the most interesting cultural events I've ever watched. Janeanne Rockwell and Michael Peters, students at WSC, really gave the show of a lifetime as Romeo and Juliet-Maria and Tony from William Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet and Leonard Bernstein's West Side Story. Rockwell's gorgeous soprano voice filled the air with such wondrous tones, my ears are still hearing the resonance of her phenomenal voice.

Also delivering strong performances as the supporting cast in the musical time warp — as it's been called — were Shannon Ahlman, William Trenhaile, Douglas Johnson and Tracy Allgood.

I'd have to say I hope they do it again next year and it would even be nice to see it again this year. It was really well received considering it was the first time it had been put on by the college. If you have a chance, you might want to congratulate Beverly Soll, cultural center director, for putting on the show.

CONGRATULATIONS SHOULD be extended to all the area's wrestling teams on a great weekend at districts. If you haven't heard the results, Winside won their district title and will take 11 wrestlers to state. Wayne took third place, which was within 10 points of winning the whole shootin' match and qualified six wrestlers, which is more than any others in their district. More results are on today's sports pages.

NOT TO ABRUPTLY CHANGE the subject or anything (for what, the fourth time?) but the Wayne Herald has changed its 1-800 phone number again. If you have a copy-of our old 1-800 number, ignore it and throw it away and go back to the old one. If you aren't familiar with what the old one is it's 1-800-672-3418. Apparently, we were having some trouble with our previous long distance service and have switched back to AT&T.

Wayne downs Crofton by six

Bob Uhing's Wayne Blue Devils ran their record to 12-6 Saturday night with a home victory over Crofton, 63-57. It was not the prettiest game the Blue Devils have played this season, but the win almost assuredly puts Wayne in position for the second seed in the coming district basketball tour-nament in Norfolk.

"We came out real flat," Uhing said. "We just didn't play with much intensity. We weren't moving our feet on defense and we allowed Crofton to penetrate into the lane."

Allen will have the services of most of the girls who were on the team this year for next season's roster as the Eagles sported one of the youngest teams in the area. Steph Carlson netted nine points and Alyssa McGrath and Robin Schroeder rounded out the attack with two points apiece. Allen actually out rebounded the Lady Red Raiders by a 32-28 mar-gin as Denise Boyle led the charge with nine caroms.

Allen turned the ball over 20 times in the contest but the Lady Eagles forced Newcastle into 23 turnovers so in actuality the only department the Eagles lost in was the score.

"Our defense played a nice game," Koester said, "but like all season long, our offense just struggled." Allen got off to one of its greu. Aften got off to one of its patented slow starts by scoring only four first quarter-points-but the Lady Eagles raced to a 14-6 advantage in the second period to lead by one at the break, 18-17.

WSC baseball sluggers seek to improve in 1990

Sports Editor
Wayne State baseball coach Lenny Klaver welcomed 17 letterman to camp this season as the Wildcats look to improve on a 27 28 record with a good nucleus of returners.

Klaver enters his seventh year as the Wayne State mentor and the veteran coach comes in with a winning record of 150-131. Klaver will be assisted by John Manganaro and student assistant Jerry Caraway.

The Wildcats return starters at The Wildcats return starters at every position except two as they look to fill the vacancies left by short stop Jeff Pasold and out fielder Destry Jaeger. "We have a good nucleus of players on this years team," Klaver said. "We return four players who had over .300 batting averages and all three players who shared the home run title for the team last year." title for the team last year.

Tim Wobken is the top returning batter with a .346 average while Scott Schultz returns with a .310. Schultz was also the leading rbi man on the team last season with 35 rbi's. Mark Wewel will look to improve on his .306 average of a year ago and John Staab will look to remain above the .300 plateau as he did a year ago with a .305.

Destry Jaeger was Wayne State's top batter last season with a .371. Tim Wobken, Pat Wordekemper and Rob Zulkoski all led the team in home runs with seven each last season and all three return.
Klayer also welcomes the return.

Klaver also welcomes the return of Wayne State's top two base stealers in John Staab and Rob Zulkoski. Staab snatched 26 bases last vear while Zulkoski stole 22.

Putting together a solid team always, consists of finding quality pitchers and catchers, the battery of the baseball team. Wayne State happens to have two of the best in catcher Mark Wewel and pitcher catcher Mark wewel and pitcher Corey "Welmmaster." Both players were named to the first team all district last year and Welmmaster was named to the first team of the CSIC All-Conference. team. Weinmaster finished the season with an 8-2 record with his only two losses coming to the Nebraska Cornhuskers and to District 11 champs, Bellevue. Among Weinmaster's biggest victories last season was a

Incidentally, the Wildcats had six players named to the honorable mention all district team last year who all return to this years squad. Kevin Boham and Chris Simon were honorable mention pitchers while Scott Schultz made the honorable mention team as a first baseman.

Tim Wobken was listed as honorable mention at third base while Rob Zulkoski and Pat Wordekem-per were honorable mention out fielders. So with all of these fine players returning, what else could Klaver ask for? "Good recruits," Klaver said. "We got some fine players that will make a solid addi-tion to our team."

Klaver noted that Pat Wordekemper, the designated hitter on last year's team will fill the vacancy of Destry Jaeger in the out field while sophomore transfer shane Kober will fill the spot Vacated by Jeff Pasold at shortstop. "Shane is a transfer from Crand Canyon College in Phoenix, Arizona," Klaver said.

The Wildcats return almost ev-

Winside loses in OT

Randy Geier's Winside Wildcats Randy Geier's Winside Wildcats came close to that elusive first victory of their season Friday night, but it was Osmond turning the Wildcats away in over time, 64-61. It was Winside's closest game of the season but with the loss the Wildcats fell to 0.14 Wildcats fell to 0-14.

Wildcats fell to 0-14.
Winside led 11-10 after the first period of play but Osmond rebounded to take a slim one point lead at half time, 26-25. Osmond opened up a four point advantage after three quarters of play but Winside rose to the occasion by out scoring Osmond 19-15 in the fourth quarter to force the three fourth quarter to force the three

"We had our chances to win the game in regulation," Geier said.

"Then we got in trouble when Mark Brugger and Randy Prince fouled out in the fourth quarter. We had to play the last few minutes of regulation and the over time period without two of our top players."

Randy Prince finished the game as Winside's top scorer with 22 points while freshman John Hancock poured in 12. Mark Brugger chipped in nine while Cory Jensen and Matt Brogren netted six each. Tad Behmer finished with four and James Painter chipped in two. Winside narrowly won the battle of the boards with a 46-45 advan-tage. Randy Prince led the way with 15 rebounds while Matt Bro-gren hauled down 10 and Mark Brugger, six. The loss also off set a remark-able performance by John Hancock. "John played a real nice game," Geier said. "He looked to score and when the shot wasn't there he did a good job of getting the ball to the open man." Han-cock finished with five assists.

Winside suffered just 12 turnovers in the contest but the storyline just may have been the turnovers. "We only had four turnovers after the third quarter," Geier said. "Then we had six in the quarter and two more in the Survey gets focus by team

WAYNE-Refining the survey was a major focus at the second official meeting of the Wayne S.T.A.R.T. Economic Development Resource team, Thursday, Feb. 8. Team Surveyor, Bill Dickey lead the 10 member team of local volunteers through the comprehensive servers. through the comprehensive com-munity survey. Each question was evaluated in terms of its contribu-tion to the S.T.A.R.T. process of identifying economic development needs and community perceptions in Wayne.

Dickey said the purpose of refining the survey Thursday was to "help the questions reflect the unique resources and elements of the Wayne Community." He added, "we want the survey to be as specific as possible to our community so that we can really see what the people of Wayne are telling us about the community."

A local leader for S.T.A.R.T., Julie Mash, said plans are to distribute Mash, said plans are to distribute the survey to Wayne residents in the last week of February.

Dickey explained the survey objectives further as "a starting point for Steering Committee discussions on community issues and perceived needs." He said the Steering Committee members will use the survey results as a tool in their upcoming discussions.

The Steering Committee will be a 30-40 member greup composed of local volunteers from various areas of Wayne. According to Mash,

The Library Card

A library is full of books. Right? Right! But...a library with only books is behind times these days with so many new ways to present information.

Most of our patrons know we subscribe to several newspapers: "The Omaha World Herald", "The Wayne Herald", "The Sioux City Journal", "The Norfolk Daily News". The Wall Street Journal" is a new addition to our newspapers. You may not have noticed another addition in the rack. "The Elderhostel Catalog" is full of information of tours and short courses for senior citizens at reduced prices.

Among the new magazines recently acquired are "Business Week", "Country", "Midwest Living", "Personal Computing", and the "National Genealogical Society Quarterly". As an added service, the library has subscribed to Sears Catalog, the J.C. Penny Catalog, and Speigel Catalog. These three may be checked out for one week. Many of you have already found our Videos, which check out for three days and have a $1.00 rental fee. There are Videos for children - cartoons and stories enacted by Hollywood actors. Our adult Videos range from PBS series to sports, travel, antiques, "how-to-do", and self-improvement topics. We also have all of the Wayne Community Theater productions. If you are interested in seeing yourself or your friends on stage, we have the tapes.

We also have booke on tage for adult tonder litteners. A great

We also have books on tape for adult readers/listeners. A great way to pass the time on long trips. Children's tapes come with booklets to encourage young readers.

One last reminder. The art works you see placed above the books in the reading room may also be checked out. There is a two month check out time for the pictures. Nice for that bare spot in the living room!

The next time you come to the library, browse around and see what we have to offer.

WSC choir sets performance plans for Feb. 18

WAYNE-The Wayne State College Concert Choir, under the di-rection of Dr. Cornell Runestad, will perform a home concert in Ley Theatre of the Brandenburg Education Building on Sunday, Feb. 18, at 3 p.m. For more information, call

Dr. Jay O'Leary, (402) 375-2200.

One of the Midwest's most widely-traveled groups, the 65-member choir has toured Europe extensively, including performances at the famed Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris, and Westminster canedral in Paris, and Westminster and Ely Cathedrals in England. They have also performed in the Netherlands, Germany, Austria, Hungary, and Switzerland.

The May 1990 trip to Italy, the group's fifth to Europe, will feature the Madrigal Singers performing in Rome, ¥lorence, Venice, Assisi, and Siema. During the 1988 Christmas season, the Singers appeared on NETV, the only Nebraska choral group to be so featured.

Dr. Runestad was the recipient of the 1989 Rebensdorf Teaching Excellence Award given annually to the outstanding faculty member of the four Nebraska state colleges.

The award recognizes Dr. Runestad's contributions to Wayne State College's outstanding choral program, and his development of widely-renown Elizabethan Feastes, which are performed in dozens of cities during the Christmas season. he is also regarded as an outstanding classroom teacher.

Dr. Runestad earned his doctorate in choral conducting from the University of Illinois, and he also holds degrees from Concordia College in Minnesota and the Uni-versity of Minnesota.

Correction in letter

A letter to the editor in the Monday, Feb. 12 edition had a misprint in it. The letter, entitled lissue needs discussion, should have read: "How many of the teachers of our state colleges know they are considered to be part of the variety." considered to be part of the executive branch of our government?

The Farmer's Wife By Pat Melerhenry

The February issue of Rural Electric Nebraskan was in the mail box this week. I don't know what made me open it last night, when there is two weeks of mail I proba-bly will never get to. (Yes, I do too know; I opened it because the cover was a color photo of the new Lied Center in Lincoln.)

Anyway, it was appropriate to read "wrestlers not interested in fame and glory" right after getting home from district wrestling tournament at Howells.

It begins, "It isn't the most glamorous of sports. In fact, wrestling is just the opposite. It's war. It's combat. It's survival of the fittest. It's like nothing else, except boxing, perhaps. You sweat. You bleed. It's not for sissies, that's for sure."

Actually, there is a certain amount of fame and glory in wrestling. The top four places in thirteen weight classes qualify for the state tournament. And "competing at state is the ultimate for a high school wrestler." for a high school wrestler.'

Of course, in order to have a wrestler in each of those weight classes, some guys may have to cut weight. And it isn't my intent to discuss their weight-loss methods in this column. Suffice it to say that Winside has a wrestler in each weight this year, plus a couple reweight this year, plus a couple re-serves, and eleven of them quali-fied for state yesterday. In doing so, they easily won the district tournament, in spite of some really unusual officiating.

I'M NO expert on this sport, and I usually hesitate to criticize the refs, but I was not alone yesterday.

A call I did not see was "stalling." Granted, if I was on the mat with the number one rated wrestler in the state for my weight, would be tempted to use this tactic. But a good official watches for it, and keeps the kids wrestling.

MATCH PARTS & WIN A TRIP TO HAWAII IN

It's kind of like the shot clock-same principle.

I have to put up with a lot of harassment when I show up at wrestling meet, because of my obvious preference for basketball. But there is a certain wrestler who hangs around at our house, and I like to see him perform.

Kevin Peterson was right, Our Kevin Peterson was right. Our wrestlers are a class act. I'm reminded of gladiators at times, especially when I hear some of the yelling that goes on. But I think I heard more positive than negative yesterday.

WHEN I grabbed a sandwich at the Schooner Inn, some folks from Greeley commented that Winside's administration must really support wrestling. I had to smile at that, and I finally answered, "Actually, our administration, and the board, and the community, are supportive

You see, our boy's basketball team is a class act, too. Coming off a great season like last year's to a winless one teaches a lot of lessons about life.

Our gals are enjoying a winning season for the first time in a lot of years. Conference tournaments are already over. Districts begin this week. There will be some great basketball played the rest of this pentity.

Meanwhile, there is a young man here tonight with two mat burns on his face. He's been wrestling at least a dozen years. It's his last high school season. We wish Max lots of luck towards the march of the champions." And Chad, Shane, Trevor, Brian, Jason, Jeff, Jason, Chris, Jason, Doug, Mr. Sok and Mr. Koch. Win or lose, it's been a great year. ADDRESS

The following article was submitted by Martin Rump, who is a Congress-Bundestag-Scholarship winner and is spending the year as a foreign exchange student approximately 35 miles from the border-city of Lubeck, West Germany.

By Martin Rump

In the course of a person's life, there are perhaps a few dozen events that stand clear above the rest and can be remembered with perfect clarity. The events may be tragic or joyous, but the common thread connecting them all is the shock and surprise that are strong enough to burn them into permanent memory. For me, one of these memories will always be my visit to the inter-German border in the days after the "Iron Curtain" vanished. What I witnessed there was a scene that many didn't expect to see for decades. Coming across the border in hordes were clunky Trabant automobiles filled with people who were finally allowed to leave their own country. Greeting them were men, women and children who, between words of welcome and cheers of happiness, handed out fruit, chocolate, maps and even hundred-mark bills. In the words of one politician, "the German people today are the happiest people on earth." Little was evident to contradict him, Few people were to be seen without a tear in their eye. The city of Lubeck, as well as all other West German cities near the border (and especially Berlin), were suddenly arenas for unrestricted celebration. Acts of kindness, gratitude and tolerance were too numerous to count. Cars parked in the middle of a highway were no longer ticketed. Bus lines and rail systems offered free tickets, The West-German government offered 100 Marks of greetings money to each East-German.

The cities are no longer so crowded, and a town without a Trabant is now a rarity. What may have been the decade's most dramatic event is suddenly old news. It is almost unbelievable to realize how fast it all took place. The parties have now been replaced with discussions and ideas. Problems with the East-German economy, a level of development 30 years behind Western nations, and a disastrous environmental situation will be difficult to overcome, but if the people are allowed to try freely to solve them, anything is possible.

The opening of the Brandenburger Tor, formerly the most dramatic example of Berlin's division, was one of the most symbolically important steps taken. In 1989, East-German leader Erich Honecker proclaimed the wall would stand another 100 years. On New Year's Eve, Germans from both countries gathered together at Brandenburg Cate and threw the wildest New Year's celebration in modern German history. Honecker was only off by 99 and one-half years.

The home is designed with several multi-purpose/multi-use rooms such as the year-round sunroom used for a main floor family room, the third bedroom/guest room used for a den/office, and the whirlpool tub in place of the tradi-tional master bath shower. Counting the den and sunroom, the home has three separate living areas, and with the snack bar three separate eating_areas.

"For the Home of the 90's, we've installed Wolverine solid vinyl siding and trim for a completely maintenance-free exterior--guar-anteed even against fading for 50 years," said Tompkins. "Our stan-dard interior woodwork is real oak oard interior woodwork is real oak which in this case is stained the new pickled oak color. Students offer some of their ideas

The president is the chief executive of the U.S. government and its highest ranking official. He is elected for a term of four years and is limited to no more than two terms in office by the 22nd Amendment to the Constitution. Any natural-born citizen of the U.S. 35 years of age or older is eligible to run for president. Throughout U.S. history the presidency has increased in power and dignity. It is now-regarded as the most important institution in the American government.

Some good qualifications for a president are, he should be fair, he should be nice to his people, he should make the right decisions, he should treat us like his own family. That's why President Bush is our president now. He is doing a great job. He is fair, he is making the right decisions and he is treat-ing us nicely. That's why we should thank him for it. Calcium Supplement Does the time of day I take my calcium supplement have any effect on how it works in my body? Some experts believe that calcium supplements are better absorbed on an empty stomach, when phytates and oxalates (chemicals in food) are not available to interfere with calcium absorption. Others believe that calcium absorption is highest when taken with meals because-the lactose and glucose (two sugars) present in many foods will increase calcium absorption.

A recent study suggests that one can attain maximum calcium absorption from the stomach and intestines by taking calcium supplements with meals rather than on an empty stomach. According to a report in American Journal of Clinical Nutrition, calcium absorption from milk and supplements was studied in 46 young women. Robert Heaney and his associates found that the absorption of calcium at mealtime was 10 to 30 percent higher than calcium ingested between meals. Dr. Heaney indicated that the reason for increased absorption is unknown. In a previous study published in 1985, it was found that older persons who could not produce hydrochloric acid in their stomachs had better calcium absorption at mealtime.

SHOCKED GRANNY: A woman in the midwest wrote that she agreed to care for her four-year-old granddaughter while her daughter-in-law recovers from an auto accident in a rehabilitation-center. —"I was upset to find marks on my grandchild's body that I'm sure means she was hit hard by her mother (who has) a hot temper. My granddaughter says her mommy punishes her when she's bad ... Should I tell my son what I found? I don't want to cause problems in his home if I'm wrong. And would they take my granddaughter away from her family (if she was

Also, when you prepare your tax forms for 1989, note that medicare beneficiaries are NOT liable for catastrophic supplemental premiums. Edward R. Roybal, Chairperson of the House Select Committee on Aging, has asked us to alert you as follows:

"...I am deeply concerned that the basic 1989 tax forms; ill instruct Medicare beneficiaries to pay the new catastrophic supplemental premium (surtax), and will confuse many Medicare beneficiaries. Although the premium was to be paid to the Internal Revenue Service as required by the Catastrophic Coverage Act, the repeal already deducted.

As a result of this pressure, Social Security Commissioner Gwendolyn S. King announced a plan is in the works to repay SS beneficiaries monthly instead of in a lump sum later on. However, the collections will continue to be made the same months the refunds are scheduled.

That doesn't sound like an efficient way to handle the situation. Wouldn't the computers have to be reprogrammed to handle the monthly repayment? So, why not reprogram them now to stop taking the deductions from each check and issue a lump sum refund of the monies already taken out?

Or, is that too simple a solution for those who devise bureaucratic logistics?

The GOLDEN YEARS o, Settome

Should older drivers be given special tests upon renewing their driver licenses? Some states now require this, and an organization of senior citizens is campaigning against the age-based treatment. It is promoting testing based on performance, not age, for these rea-

People 55 and older account for almost 25 percent of all driv-ers, but only 18 percent of all accidents

 While aging can affect vision, reaction time and other driving skills, such changes don't oc cur at any specific age for everyone, but begin at various ages and their effects differ from one person to another.

Retirees and widows are often the targets of swindlers who sell over the phone and insist that you must "act now" or miss out. Ask the caller to mail you a out. Ask the caller to mail you a written explanation of the investment proposal, or explain it to your attorney or accountant. These tips are included in a 22-page booklet, "Investment Swindles: How They Work and How to Avoid Them," produced by the Naitonal Futures Association and distributed through the United States consumer Information Center, Pueblo Colorgration Center, Pueblo Colorgration. formation Center, Pueblo, Colorado 81009. — -

CARDS OF THANKS HELP WANTED

WE WISH TO thank everyone for the assistance at the time of our accident.
Special thanks to the police and ambulance personnel for their prompt response and their tender concern. To Dr. Lindau and staff at the hospital, to Pastor Rothfuss for his comforting words. Chris and Verona Bargholz. F15

CARD OF THANKS (In Memory of Clinton) God saw that you were suffering and a cure was not to be, So He put his arms around you and whispered "Follow Me." His toil is past, his work is done, and he is fully blest; He fought the fight, the victory is won, and entered into eternal rest. God knows how much we miss him, Never shall his memory fade, Loving thoughts shall ever wander to the spot he is now laid. When ties of love are broken, and loved ones have to part, Death leaves a wound that never heals, an ever aching heart. Our family chain is broken, and nothing seems the same, But as God calls us, one by one, The chain will link again. We miss you more than words can say, You're in our hearts and thoughts each day. We can't believe that you are gone, God give us strength to carry on. Author Unknown. Words cannot express our thanks to our friends and relatives for their prayers, flowers, memorials, cards and food and the many kind deeds shown to us at the time of Clinton's illness and death. A big special thanks to the students, teachers and staff of the Laurel-Concord School for their love and many acts of kindness, also the Dixon community for the dinner, and for the ladies of different churches that served the lunch. Also, thanks to Pastor Mursick and Rev. Keith Williams for their comforting messages. The Family of Clinton Dempster.

A GREAT big thank you to Paul Berntson for the grand surprise birthday party he gave for me. Thanks to Beverly and Donella for arranging my party for Paul. Thanks everybody for coming and for flowers and gifts. It was a very happy day. God bless all you lovely people. I love you all. Emma Anderson.
