These are just some of the questions which will be discussed at questions which will be discussed at the rural development forum scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 21 at Wayne State College, according to Allen O'Donnell, associate pro-fessor of political science and or ganizer of the event. O'Donnell, who also runs the Public Affairs Institute at the col-long aciai the five appelits who lege, said the five panelists who are scheduled will discuss a wide range of topics which he thinks will answer some of the public's ques-tions about rural revitalization. He said the program is not geared to aim at Gov. Kay Orr's (R-Neb.) plan for rural renaissance in Nebraska, but if people want to discuss it, it could come up during the question-answer period scheduled for the end of the program. "We're not going to put-any limits on it and talk directly on any specific subject," he said. "Let's just free-wheel it. Let's not lock the doors at either end."

O'DONNELL SAID the program will address issues such as the president's involvement in the rural sector as well as other issues dealing with rural areas. He said he re-cently read an article in the Omaha World-Herald that of the S00-plus communities in Nebraska, 250 have fewer than 500 people. He said he'd like to see some discus-sion about the future of those types-of towns as well as ones Wayne's size and larger.

Wayne's size and Jarger. "You have the questions about clean air and decent roads," he said. "These items need address-ing, too. Of the 57 agricultural counties which are agriculture de-pendent in Nebraska, all but one experienced a decline in popula-tion during the 1980s. What does that mean? By itself it doesn't mean a thing but when you factor everything else into it, we need to determine what it means."

O'Donnell said he'd like to see anywhere from 150 to 200 people present for the meeting.

WAYNE - Attention chocolate lovers: What comes to mind when you think of chocolate? Perhaps it's chocolate's irresistibly rich and uverious flavor. That's why millions of us across the country are de-voted chocolate lover. Indulge your taste for America's favorite flavor with one of the rich chocolaty delights to be demonstrated on stage at the 1990 Homemakers School on Thursday, March 15 at the Wayne City Auditorium. The four prepared chocolate dishes will be given away at the close of the program. Some lucky winner will walk away with a chocolate dessert, ready to be eaten. All attendees will receive the Exciting New Tastes of the 90s cookbook from Homemakers Schools including all recipes demon-strated during the program, plus various other chocolate snack and dessert recipes. Don't miss the Exciting New Tastes of the 90s on March 15. A farge crowd of approximately 700 is expected to attend the with the doors opening at 5 p.m. for attendees to view the many displays set up by area merchants. It will be held at the Wayne City Auditorium. Home economist Jana Lamplot, of Lincoln (formerly of Pender), will conduct the 2 1/2 hour program. WAYNE - A number of items were addressed by the Wayne Board of Education during its reg-ular monthly meeting Tuesday, Feb. 13 at Wayne High School. The school board paid attention to several items which ranged from accreditation standards for Wayne High School to heaith insurance and the need for additional dressing room and for additional dressing room and weight room space.

weight room space. One of the more important items which caught the board's. eyes dealt with the State Depart-ment of Education's new Rule 10. The board gave a first reading to the new rule, which deals with ac-creditation topics ranging from athletics to media centers and evaluations. evaluations.

evaluations. According to Dr. Francis Haun, superintendent of Wayne Public Schools, Rule 10 replaces rules 14 and 15. Hahn added that the only difference in Rule 10 from the previous two rules is it includes making public achievement test scores. Hahn added that it will be gone over again during the board's March meeting before it's ac-cepted. cepted.

ACCORDING TO A LETTER from the school's insurance carrier, United of Omaha, there will be no increase in bealth insurance rates for the period from March 1 through August 31, 1990. The policy, as it stands now, includes $105.70 for single health insurance rates and $299.14 for family health.

(Ehrhardt) in the championship round. For Winside, Max Kant, the top-seed at 135 lbs. and a 33-0 season record, will face Shawn Pruitt, Ara-pahoe in the finals. Pruitt's record is 30-4 and he is seeded number five in the state tourney. Also in the championship round is Brian Thompson, who earned the right to be there by defeating the top seeded wrestler in the state, James Hassett, Mullen, Friday night in a 13-8 decision. Thompson will wres-tle Curt Holtz, Elwood, for top honors Saturday.

For Wayne, everyone else has been eliminated in the tournament due to losses in earlier rounds.

The board also reviewed a report from the North Central Asso-ciation which gave Wayne High School no deviations from their accreditation standards.

ACCORDING TO Athletic Director Ron Carnes, there is a need for additional dressing room space and increased facilities for a weight room. In Carnes' proposal, the present weight room, which is 12 feet by 36 feet, is too small and limits space to about 10 people.

According to meeting minutes, Carnes said this limit: creates a need to increase room space since visiting boys and girls teams have to share locker room space as it is. Carnes said by adding a new weight room, the old one could be used as a visitors locker room.

Toxic pollutants in your home Three very different pollutants have gained considerable attention re-cently whenever the issues of indoor air pollution are discussed. These three pollutants — formaldehyde, asbestos and radon — have potentially very toxic effects. However, they may or may not be of concern to you in your home very toxic effects. However, they may or may not be of concern to you in your home. Formaldehyde initially gained notoriety as an ingredient in urea formaldehyde insulation. This insulation was very effective and could be installed in existing homes. However, formaldehyde vapors were given off for an extended period of time. In sufficient concentrations, formaldehyde is a carcinogen. For sensitive individuals, very small amounts of formaldehyde vapors can cause serious allergic reactions.

formaldehyde vapors can cause serious allergic reactions. Urea formaldehyde insulation is not available today. However, formaldehyde is still used extensively in building products since it is an ef-fective ingredient in glues and binders. Reconstituted wood products and carpets are common sources. The amount of formaldehyde given off declines as the product ages. Therefore, new products are of greatest concern. Common control methods include sealing products to prevent exposure to air and in-creased ventilation after installation.

ASBESTOS IS ALSO a common ingredient in building products. As-bestos is found in many products where thermal or acoustical control is needed, such as pipe insulation or ceiling tiles. Asbestos does not give off vapors. However, breathing in the very fine asbestos particles, over a per-riod of time, causes their accumulation in the lungs and can result in se-ure boolth problems.

Asbestos particles are released into the air whenever the products with asbestos are cut, sawn, or otherwise "disturbed." Asbestos building products also tend to crumble with age, releasing fine asbestos particles

In general, if in good condition, an asbestos-containing product is best left undisturbed. If it's in deteriorating condition, or if maintenance or re-modeling activities require disturbing the asbestos, specific guidelines for working with asbestos are available from the Environmental Protection

RADON IS A radioactive gas produced from the natural decay of ura-nium and radium. As radon continues to decay, it produces radioactive particles, called radon daughters. These radon daughters can adhere to dust particles and be breathed into the lungs, and remain as a carcino-gen. The fear of radon is that it cannot be detected by the human sense.

The earth is a source of radon. Other sources include groundwater and masonry. Homes built over uranium or radium ore deposits, even trace deposits, or with groundwater or masonry sources, can have a build-up of Radon problems are very specific — one home can have a problem and not the next door neighbor's. However, they tend to cluster in geo-graphic areas and be related to soil and rock formations. At this time, no reliable method exists to predict radon problems. Solutions to radon problems include sealing foundations and basements and increasing ven-

Pierce wins in overtime Wayne Blue Devils fall short by four WAYNE - What started out looking like it might be an easy win turned into a hard to take loss for the Wayne High School boys bas-ketball team Friday night as the Blue Devils lost their season finale to Pierce 64-60 in overtime. According to Wayne High School Coach Bob Uhing, the Blue Devils demise came as a result of poor rebounding. Uhing said the overtime loss was probably the best effort he's seen from Pierce this vear.

The turning point in the contest seemed to come with only about a minute left in the first half as Wayne was ahead by seven late in the second period, only to allow Pierce to pull the game to within three at halftime. Wayne got the

Wakefield makes it look easy; tops Homer

WAKEFIELD - The Wakefield boys basketball team pretty much manhandled Homer in action Friday, as the Trojans took one step closer to the school basketball record with a 61-46 win.

Led by the balanced scoring at-tack of Mark Johnson with 16, Tony Krusemark with 14 and Matt Tappe with 12, Wakefield took command by halftime 34-27. The key to the game, according to assistant coach Arnie Cerny was offensive rebounding.

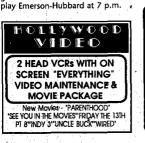

"We did a good job getting the offensive rebounding," he said. That was a big key, especially in the first half. We got a lot of easy baskets because we had sec-ond and third chances at the shot. Our ability to go inside on them if we missed a perimeter shot really gave us another chance.*

Wakefield outshot Homer 55. 3 in the contest to improve their record to 22-1. Other scoring for Wakefield included Andy McQuis-tan with 10, Keith Wenstrand with four, Chris Loofe with three and Anthony Brown with two.

In the rebounding category, the Trojans outdistanced Homer by a 34-20 advantage, while only committing nine turnovers. Wake-field forced Homer into nine 17 turnovers in the game.

"We had played them earlier in "We had played them earlier in the 'season in the post-holiday tournament," Cerny said. "And we pretty much took control in that game early because we came right at them. Tonight, they came out and played well. They played hard compared to last time. As a team, they never gave up." Leading 'scorer for Homer was Travis Bodiak with 24 points.

From the charity stripe, Wake-field sank eight of 12. For Homer, seven of their points was scored from the line from 14 attempts. Next action for Wakefield is in Wayne at Wayne State College when they will play Emerson in sub-districts. Game time is slated for 8:45 p.m., following the early game when Laurel-Concord will and fell out as the buzzer sounded. "We were up by six or seven points and they made a long three-pointer right before the half, "Uhing said. "That was proba-bly the turning point. We should've had a seven point lead at the half but it didn't turn out that way." Leading the way for Pierce's win was Todd Koehler, who had 19 points in the game. Pierce also out-rebounded Wayne 25-28 and committed fewer turnovers than the Blue Devils. Wayne had-14 turnovers to Pierce's six. Scorers for Wayne included Neil

Another problem Wayne faced was Schuyler was able to get off about 10 more shots in the contest.

Shooting from the line, Wayne converted 25 attempts into 13 points while Schuyler was six for 18 tries. Leading scorer for Schuyler was Tami Kanatz with 13.

In junior varsity action, Wayne cruised past Schuyler 42-29. Lead-ing the Lady Blue Devil's in scoring was Kim Kruse with nine.

was Kim Kruse with nine. Scoring for Wayne was, again, H. Reeg with 15, Teresa Ellis with six, Jenniferi Hamm with four and Liz Reeg and Erin Pick scored three each. No other Wayne players scored in the contest. Next action for the Wayne girls is their district game at Norfolk. Wayne will play West Point Tues-day at 6:15 p.m. The Lady Blue Devil's record is 6-14 and it will give them a seventh seed at districts.

Coleridge wins game in fourth

AREA - Going into the fourth quarter of Thursday's D-1 game at Randolph, between Coleridge and Winside, it looked like Winside might upset the fifth ranked team in D-1 ratings. That is, until the fourth quarter. fourth quarter.

"We tried to stay with them and we were within nine going into the fourth, but they just took over," Winside Coach Paul Giesselmann

WAYNE - Greenpeace activist Christopher Childs will present a lecture on his organization's...non-violent approach to protecting wildlife and the environment

Wildlife and the environment Wednesday. Eeb. 28, at 8 p.m., in Ramsey Theatre at Wayne State College. The event is sponsored by the Student Activities Board and is open to the public.

In this presentation, Green-peace comes alive through elo-quent words and compelling pho-tographic images. The audience will visit Antarctica, the last re-will visit Antarctica, the last re-maining unspoiled continent — and learn how Greenpeace is working to halt the exploitation of that re-gion, and its heroic global efforts to save endangered species such as whales, dolphins, sea turtles, seals, penguins and kangaroos. Childs will share personal expe-riences of participating in Green-peace actions and the continuing story of how this international net-work of people — bound by a common belief — are effecting planetary changes of epic propor-
