Potbellied pigs popular pets

NE State Prethrite

By LaVon Anderson Assistant Editor

If the pet cat leaves too much

If the pet cat leaves too much hair on the new sofa, the dog has chewed up dad's favorite slippers, and the pet canary sings at odd hours of the night, don't give up.

The perfect house pet may finally be here. That is, if you have an extra $3,000 to $5,000 laying around — and you happen to have a fancy for pigs.

Meet Sue Bita Sue and Sue Ellen Sue. They're not your average barnyard pigs.

Sue Etta and Sue Ellen are living in the lap of luxury in the home of Allen residents Mike and Val Isom. That's right — in their home.

SUE ETTA AND Sue Ellen are miniature Vietnamese potbellied pigs and they're the newest craze in household pets.

The potbellies make ideal pets, according to their owners. "They are clean animals that love affection we and baths never have fleas."

tion — and baths, never have fleas, and don't shed hair," says Val. "They also are easily house-broken, they don't climb on the furniture, and they are a non-rooting variety of pig.

"And," adds Val, "they'll walk on a leash-and even wag their long, straight tails."

VAL AND MIKE are no strangers to exotic animals. Their small farm on the north edge of Allen — Love-A-Lop Exotic Farms — is also home to such creatures as emus, Rheas (the third largest bird in the world), four-horn sheep, orra in me world), four-horn sheep, Barbado sheep, sika deer, swans, chinchillas, Egyptian and Cahadian geese, prairie dogs, Dama walla-bies and over 25 breeds of ducks, including six different kinds of call

"We just have a love for ani-mals," smiles Val, who began her collection of exotic animals nearly seven years ago.

Val's most recent possessions or include Sue Etta and Sue Ellen, the offspring of a potbelly boar and sow living at the home of Bee, Neb. resident Laurence Tickey.

Val and Tickey are in partnership gether — with Tickey owner of the potbelly sow and Val the proud owner of the father of Sue Etta and Sue Ellen — a boar she purchased in Canada.

Val adds that the price of a small boar averages $500.

"HE (TICKEY) BREEDS the potbellies and I take them at weaning age," explains Val, whose job is is to house break the small potbellies, litter break them and teach them various tricks.

"They really learn quirkly" says

"They really learn quickly," says Val, adding that she uses the same commands as she would for a dog.
"I trained 60 coon dogs one sum-mer," says Val, "and the potbellies are definitely easier to train than a dog."

So far, Sue Etta and Sue Ellen have been trained to sit, talk, stay, heel, beg for food, relieve them-selves in the litter box or outdoors, and even open the refrigerator door with their nose.

"They're also starting to play catch," says Val, "but sometimes

Mills: consolidations a possibility

By Mark Crist Managing Editor

Although Wayne County Su-perintendent Harry Mills doesn't particularly hope that small school consolidation will occur during the 1990s, he does think it's a definite possibility.

possibility.
Mills said more and more schools are having to consolidate for a variety of reasons, but two of the leading factors in mergers are due to the lack of a tax base to which is becoming commonplace lately with the legislature trying to rework school financing — as well as schools facing problems with not being able to meet the state-mandated needs of required courses for students.

But the effects of having a school close or merge are even more damaging to the community since the school is the communities. since the school is the communities center of activity. Mills said when a school closes, businesses usually either leave or stick around until the owners can no longer take care of it and there are usually not businesses which come back in to replace the old. For a variety of reasons, communities which watch their schools close either dwindle in population or become ghost towns.

"Usually when you lose the school, eventually other businesses will close," Mills said. "When the school closes, there's little reason for new businesses to open so no new businesses to open so no new businesses are generated. The closure of rural schools and the move to interstate highways have really shut things down in a short period of time."

MILLS SAID THE TREND was set in Kansas in the late 1960s, where rural schools merged with Seven area wrestlers place at state tourney

By Kevin Peterson
Sports Editor
The 1990 Nebraska State
Wrestling Tournament was held last Thursday-Friday-Saturday at the Bob Devaney Sports Center in Lincoln. Wayne County sent 17 wrestlers to the state tournament and seven came away with state medals, including three state champs!
Winside sent 11 grapplers to Lincoln and the Wildcats finished runner-up in the team championship and were rewarded with a trophy. Max Kant ended his illusonship and were rewarded with a trophy. Max Kant ended his illustrious career as a Winside Wildcat with his second consecutive state championship at 135 lbs.

With Saturday's win over Shawn Pruitt of Arapahoe in the finals, Max Kant quietly rose to the top of the Class D record books, as only one other person has ever had as many wins as Max Kant in Class D history. Both Kant and Shane history. Both Kant and Shane Strobel of Clarks finished their high School careers with 129 wins.

Kant finished the season with a perfect 34-0 record. Kant has lost a total of three matches since the end of his freshman year. As a sophomore he was 34-0 before losing to Donnie Seifred of Sargent in the state finals. As a junior he finished at 30-2 with a state championship by defeating Josh Arstingstall of Osh Kosh.

ALSO EARNING a state championship from Winside was Brian Thompson at heavyweight. Thompson was simply phenomenal at the state tournament. On Friday night he was pitted against the defending state champion in the heavyweight category in James Hassett of Mullen, who incidentally, won the Class D title this year with five state champions.

It was a classic semi final matchup, but Thompson rose to the ocup, but Thompson rose to the oc-casion and upset Hassett 13-8 to qualify for the finals where he met Curtis Holtz of Elwood. Although Thompson managed to decision Holtz by a 6-2 margin for the state title, the win over Hassett still loomed as the biggest of his state tournament. tournament.

The third state champion that came from Wayne County was Ja-son Ehrhardt of Wayne, who claimed the 189 lb. prize by abso-lutely dominating Jerry Loop of Superior who came into the finals with an undefeated mark of 31-0-1. Ehrhardt's lone loss on the year came to Brian Clausen of South

Sioux who incidentally in-all fairness to Ehrhardt, was in the state championship finals in Class A.

Ehrhardt was a piece of art in the finals as he picked apart the number one rated wrestler in the state according to the ratings before the tournament. He decisioned Loop by a 12-5 margin and two of Loop's points came on a reversal in the last ten seconds of the match.

For Wayne head coach John Murtaugh, it was his first state champion as the coach of Wayne and as far as Wayne history goes, Ehrhardt joins Kevin Koenig as the only two to ever be crowned state

"Jason had an outstanding tour-nament," Murtaugh said. "The closest match he had in the whole closest match he had in the whole tournament was against Loop in the finals and that was a seven point difference. He was simply dominant."

Unfortunately for Wayne, Ehrhardt was the only grappler of six who qualified for the state tournament, to place. "I was disappointed with where we finished as a team," Murtaugh said. "We were shooting for a top ten finish as a team," Murtaugh said. "We were shooting for a top ten finish but we weren't able to come through. I felt bad for our team because I truly believe they deserved to be in the top ten and as the head coach, I take full responsibility."

As a team Wanne finished in a team Wayne finished in 14th place but that can hardly deter from the accomplishments the Blue Devils had this season which included an undefeated dual season at 8-0, the winning of three tournaments, the tying of a school record of qualifying six wrestlers for the state tournament and an individual state champion.

"We are already looking forward to next year," Murtaugh said. "All six of our state qualifiers will be back. If we work hard in the off season it should be a very exciting year." 14th place but that can hardly de-

IT SHOULD BE a very exciting year for all of Wayne County next season as Winside returns five of its season as windle return live or its six state medal placers and they return 10 of 11 state qualifiers. Winside racked up 112 points at the state tournament which was well behind Mullen who finished with 153 points for its second consecutive state championship. the Bears went on a scoring rampage to close the gap to four, the final margin of defeat. In the nightcap the Wakefield Trojans soundly routed Emerson-Hubbard by a 76-40 margin.

"We were flat," Laurel coach Mark Hrabik said. "In the first half our point guard Todd. Erwin only took two shots from the field. We had to have him in the offensive

Erwin came out gunning in the second half and finished with 15 points but one thing Laurel couldn't over come was the absence of Troy Twohig, who didn't even-suit-up because of a bad back-problem.

Ponca collapsed heavily on John Schutte which forced the big senior out to around the 14 to 16 foot range. "There was a lot of contact inside," Hrabik said. "John got banged around pretty good."

Ponca jumped out to a 19-13, lead after the first quarter and by half time the lead had ballooned to 14 at 37-23. Ponca maintained a 17 point lead after three quarters of play before Laurel went on a 27-13 scoring spree in the fourth quarter.

Schutte led Laurel with 18 points in his final game in a Bear uniform while Matt Felber, also playing his final game, scored 16. Erwin netted 15 and Matt Jonas

Three minutes into the Wakefield-Emerson game, the Pirates maintained a 7-4 lead on Paul Eaton's Trojans. Wakefield then went on a 47-0 scoring run to lead 21-7 and from then on, it was all Trojans as they advanced to the figure 12-12 feet and nals of subdistrict play on Thursday

Emerson scored just nine second quarter points and could only manage seven third quarter points as Wakefield led 60-27 heading into the final stanza.

Six players managed to hit the scoring column for Wakefield but it was the balanced attack that left Emerson-Hubbard in a state of disarray. Mark Johnson led the attack with 17 points while Anthony Brown poured in 15. Matt Tappe and Andy McQuistan each managed to score 14 points while Chris Loofe and Tony Krusemark netted eight points each. There were some tense mo-ments early in the contest as Tro-

One of the positive things in Wakefield's favor was that no one was in real foul trouble at any point in the game with the exception of Matt Tappe who picked up his fourth personal foul late in the fourth quarter. Incidentally, Chris Loofe had two early fouls but re-turned in to play the whole second half with out picking up another foul. Wakefield was 12 of 20 from the free throw line while Emerson connected on just six of 12 at-

He said right now lowa, North Dakota and South Dakota are going through a similar transition, which is resulting in the demise of small, is resulting in the demise of small, rural communities. He said a story a recent Sunday issue of the Omaha World-Herald Sunday Magazine found a town in North Dakota which is almost a ghost town now but that the only thing which keeps it in existence is the fact it's the county seat.

"When you close a school, you cut the heart out of the community," Mills said. "The school and the church are the heart of activity the close days schools." and in the olden days, schools sometimes doubled as the church. When you close the school, it really hurts the community.

"You have to understand, too, that Nebraska is losing population. I can think of five families in Wakefield which used to socialize a lot and of the 15 offspring from those families, 13 have left the state."

Mills said job opportunities, higher salaries and warmer climates have played a part in the youth's departure from Nebraska. IF THERE IS AN ANSWER to saving small-town schools, Mills said a good place to start is to secure industrial growth. He said the more industry a town has, the more likely schools in the towns will remain strong. He said, however, he doesn't know if towns will be able to ston the closure of rural schools. to stop the closure of rural schools to stop the closure of rural schools (especially K-8, Class I schools) but insuring growth is a must for small communities to keep their population base strong.

"If towns don't attract industry, the town's population will level off and stagnate and that will result in problems," he said.

Consolidation, however, is coming.

coming.

"You're going to see it more and more," Mills said. "People (in small towns) will get to the point where they can't afford the taxes anymore and schools will have to merge."

Mark'n' the Spot

You know, we all have pet peeves. Don't we? I do.

One of my favorite pet peeves is when you're at the laundramat and your clothes have almost finished their rinse cycle in the washer but the cylinder hasn't stopped spinning yet, so you can't get your clothes out. Then, just before you get ready to unload the wash to put it in the dryer, a family of, oh 20 or so I'd suppose, comes in with their wet clothes, which they must have washed at home, and take up all the remaining dryers.

Then, you have to wait. And wait. And wait until someone else's load is finished or you become so frustrated you just take one of the dryers and either: A) throw the other party's clothes out of the dryer; B) combine your clothes with someone else's, which are still in the dryer; or C) wait until a dryer becomes available.

Usually I go with C, but there are times when it's tempting to do otherwice.

TO COMPOUND-MATTERS, every member of this family of, oh 30 or so — men, women, children and pets (yes, this includes the goldfish) — smokes. I've often wondered why people smoke their cigarettes in the laundramat.

Doesn't cigarette smoke kind of defeat the purpose of washing clothes? Isn't smoking in a laundramat kind of like trying to wash your clothes at the bowling alley or the local bar where people often can be found smoking — you wash and wash, but your clothes don't become clean because instead of smelling like that laundry detergent that's supposed to smell spring fresh, your clothes smell like smoke?

Here's an idea to make it easier for laundry detergents — make the detergents smell, say, ode de cigarette fresh — that will resolve the problem of washing your clothes at the local laundramat where people problem of washing your clothes at the local laundramat where people can occasionally be found smoking.

Really, cigarette smoke doesn't bother me. I just don't like what it does to the spring fresh scent of my freshly-washed clothes. Maybe I should write the makers of Tide and ask them if they can make a new scent or something.

Ahh. Finally, someone's drying cycle is complete. No actually, that's the nice lady who could tell I was becoming inpatient so she emptied her mostly-dry load out of the dryer and asked me if I wanted it. Thanks. I appreciate that. That makes my visit to the laundramat a little more welcoming.

AFTER I FINISH getting my clothes in the dryer, I try to move toward the Coke machine to buy a soda, which doesn't sound so bad, except I can't migrate to the great temple of the soda gods because there are, oh, say a family of 40 people in my way. To complicate things by the time I get there this family of, oh, say 50 or so, have emptied the machine of soda. The only thing left is diet, caffeine free coke and I don't drink anything diet, let alone caffeine free, because it defeats the purpose.

While I'm giving up on my soft drink, and about an hour has passed, I head back to the dryer to see if my load is nearing completion. One of the dryers is done and the other is still turning, so I unload the one which is finished. These warm clothes feel so good. Mmmmm.

By the time the other dryer is finished tossing and drying my clothes, I prime myself to head home. I think to myself — gosh, what a nice time I had at the laundramat. I feel like I've completed something today.

STOCK MARKET
CERTIFICATE
IDS Financial Services Inc. has introduced the IDS Stock Market Certificate, an investment certificate that provides guaranteed principal with a return tied to the performance of the stock market. The IDS Stock Market Certificate (available for an investment of $1,000 or more) offers several options that will pay the investor interest based on changes in the New York Stock Exchange Composite Index during a 12 month term. Even if the Index declines, the original value of the investment remains intact.

We're excited about this new product, said George Phelps, an IDS personal financial planner in the Wayne office of IDS. The certificate allows investors to participate in market gains, but prevents them from losing principal if the market goes down.

This is a product that has many investment uses, but is especially well-suited for retirement plans or small pensions, "Phelps added. According to Phelps, certificate investors may also choose to earn a guaranteed minimum rate of interest in addition to interest from stock market performance. More information about the certificate is contained in its prospectus, which is a wailable from all IDS financial planners.

Mineral Oil and Fat-Soluble Vitamins

Is there a nutritional benefit that can occur from use of mineral oil? Unlike vegetable and animal fats (oils), mineral oil normally is not absorbed from the stomach and intestines and provides no nutritional benefits - no calories, no vitamins, no minerals. Mineral oil is used to prevent constipa-tion and is available in at least one popular nonprescription product in combination with milk of magnesia. Short-term use of mineral oil for this purpose may be appropriate, but long-term use could result in vitamin deficiencies. Mineral oil may interfere with absorption of fat-soluble vitamins such as A, D, E, and K. Research studies have provided conflicting results. In at least one study, givfor more than two months was associated with reduced blood levels of some vitamins. In another study in which children had been given mineral oil for as long as six years, there was no demonstrated reduction in vitamin blood levels. It is possible that long-term use of mineral oil could result in vitamin deficiencies or the need to take supplements. Persons with chronic constipation should consider a psyllium-type laxative made from plantage seed husks.

Superintendent Derwin Hartman reported that the North Central Self-Study was progressing in ac-cordance to the time line and that the external visitation team would be at school on Monday and Tues-day, March 26-27. He also reported that nursing service for the 90-91 school year would be increased to 1 1/2 days per week. Currently the school is receiving one day per week and then contracts for 4 1/2 more days per year.

Mr. Hartman also reported that Mrs. Carl (Shelly) Anderson had been hired to replace Jan Faust. She assumed her duties on Feb. 15. The school board approved the option enrollment request of Brent Oetken to attend Allen High School starting with the 1990-91 school year.

Mr. Hartman reported that there are several older typewriters in the business department that aren't being used because the students are using computers and printers to greater extent. The board instructed Mr. Hartman to advertise the typewriters. The board opened the only bid received on the lot south of the Covenant Church. The bid from the Covenant Church was $1,559 for the lot and the church could also pay the paving assessment of $2,656. The bid was accepted.

What did you get for Valentine's

Due to the fact that we were on our way to Omaha, I did get taken to Marilyn's Tea Room for lunch. And, of course, to the Winside Community Club pancake feed for supper. That's an annual event. Not supper. Inat's an annual event. Not very romantic, perhaps, but filling!

I HEARD THE Voice of the People on WJAG coming home from Omaha, and they were discussing the practice of sending flowers to your sweetheart at work. They said that really made it hard for the ones who don't get any.

They said that really made it hard for the ones who don't get any.

I agree. There's a secretary in the PT department who frequently gets flowers or candy for no reason at all. Naturally, last Wednesday, she had a dozen roses, balloons and candy. I told her I was getting and candy. I told her I was getting very tired of this, and she fed me some candy.

She claims her secret is to play hard to get; but the Big Farmer says I do that every day, and it doesn't help. I think he's too much like Henry Ford.

Story is, that on their wedding day, Hank told his wife, "I love you. I wouldn't have married you if I didn't love you. And I don't intend to bring it up again." And he didn't!

BASICALLY, THERE are a lot of seemingly unromantic men out there. They go to work every day, they pay bills, keep the vehicles running, mow the lawns, and shovel

They show their love. They're home at night, especially at meal-time. They just don't look for ro-mantic cards, or send flowers, or buy eandy.

I clipped a couple of items about love last week and want to share them with you. Dr. Theodore Rubin is quoted in Good Housekeeping: Even people who love each other do get un-reasonable, angry, hurt, sulky, frus-trated, inappropriate, and down-right foolish at times.

We are only human. The above are not evidence of lack of love. When people love, these bumps in the road pass even faster if they are helpful and supportive of each other, especially during tough

And in Woman's Day, the Italian And in woman's Day, the trainant lover, Leo Buscaglia, lists 25 ways to say "I love you." My favorites include, "I'll expect you to be perfect when I am — so you're safe"; "We don't have to agree all the time. Disagreements keep our love alive"; "Sometimes I could strangle you kids, but I can't imagine what I'd do without you."

THE OTHER GREAT philosopher of Wayne County, Bev Dangberg, and I sat together at dinner after church today. We agreed, "Love is what you've been through with Drains Run Slow?

You'll never have a slow running, or clogged drain again! The secret? Clean drains don't run slow.

Slow drains, or periodic clogs, are SIGNALS that a thick layer of GOOK is choking your pipes. Grease, hair, and other waste sticks to your pipes, with every use. This gook deposits along the entire length of the pipe. It chokes your pipes graduas it gets thicker and thicker.

Conventional drain openers can't fix slow drains. They react chemically on the surface of the gook. To be effective, they must remain in contact with the waste. Even a small tun-

In the past, the only way to remove this build-up was to ooter your pipes. But that's expensive, and often only a temporary help.

Now, with just a few minutes each month, you can easily clean out your pipes... and KEEP them clean with Plumb Clean. Its totally unique formula clings, and penetrates deep build-up. Plumb Clean will clean the entire length of your pipes. It will make your drains run like new, when used as directed. This penetrating action is so revolutionary, we stand behind Plumb Clean with a money-back guarantee!

Saves Money

A 1 lb. container of Plumb Clean holds up to 41 drain treatments. Even if drain openers could fix slow drains, you would have to buy over 10 quart bottles to get the same number of treatments. Plumb Clean costs about 35¢ per treatment. We don't know of anything that cleans drains for less.

Conventional drain openers are dangerous chemicals. They can injure eyes on contact. They can release deadly vapors, in some situations. Some, may damage your fixtures. Plumb Clean will not burn skin, or eyes. It will not release harmful fumes. When used as directed, it is 100% safe for people, and of course all plumbing.

So, if your drains are giving you a signal, act now. Start cleaning your drains the safe, effective, guaranteed way. Get Plumb Clean today!
